It is yet further evident, That this House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness,

First, For that she is called a Tower, or Place of Fortification and Defence; the same Term that is given to the Church in a captivated State.

For, As the Church in the Wilderness is compared to a Woman in Travail, to shew her Fruitfulness to God-ward in her most afflicted condition; so she is called a Tower, to shew her fortitude and courage, for God and his Truth, against Antichrist.

I say therefore, unto both these is she compared in that Scripture last cited, the which you may peruse, if you please.

A Tower is a Place of receipt for the Afflicted, and so is the Church under the Rage of Antichrist; yea, and tho' it is the only Place designed by the Enemy for Ruine and Destruction; yet it is the only Place of Safety in the World.

Secondly, this Tower, this House of the Forest of Lebanon, it seems to be so built, as to confront Damascus, the chief City of the King of Assyria; and in so doing, it was a most excellent Type of the Spirit and Design of the Church in the Wilderness, who is raised up, and built to confront Antichrist. Hence Christ calls some of the Features of his Church, and compares them to this. Thy Neck, (says he) is as a Tower of Ivory; thine Eyes like the Fish-pools of Heshbon, by the Gate of Beth-rabbim; thy Nose is like the Tower of Lebanon, which looketh towards Damascus. They Thy Nose, that great Ornament of thy lovely Countenance, is as a Tower looking that Way; so set, as Christ says of his, as a Flint.

And this is a comely Feature in the Church, that her Nose stands like a Tower, or as he says in another Place, like a fenced brazen Wall against Damascus, the Metropolitan of her Enemy: for the head of Syria was Damascus.

And as Christ thus compares his Church, so she again returns, or compares the Face of her Lord to the same, saying, His Legs are as Pillars of Marble set upon sockets of fine Gold: his Countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the Cedars.

Thus in Lebanon, in this brave House, is found the Excellency of the Church, and the Beauty of Christ, for that they are both as a Rock. With Glory and Majesty, bended against the Enemies of the Truth. The Face of the Lord is against them that do evil. Pillars his Legs are here compared to, and Pillars were they that upheld this House, this Tower, which thus bravely was builded with its Face confronting the Enemy's Country.

Secondly, That this House, of the Forest of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in Affliction, yet further appears, for that at the fall of Babylon, her Cedars are said to rejoyce in special. The Fir-Trees rejoyce at thee, and the Cedars of Lebanon, saying, since thou art laid down, no feller is come upon us. This is at the Destruction of Babylon, the Type of that called Antichrist.

But why should Lebanon, the Cedars in Lebanon, in an especial Manner here, be said to rejoyce at his downfall: Doubtless to shew that as the Enemy made his Inroad upon Jerusalem; so in a particular Manner Lebanon, and the House there, was made to smock for it. This answereth to that, Rejoyce over her thou Heaven; and ye holy Apostles and Prophets, for God hath avenged you of her. Hence again, when he speaks of giving Glory to his afflicted Church, for all the Sorrow which she hath sustained in her bearing witness for the Truth against Antichrist, he calls it the Glory of Lebanon: That is, as I take it, The Glory that belongs to her, for the Afflictions which she underwent for his Name. The Glory of Lebanon shall be given unto it. And again, The Glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee.

These are Promises to the Church for her Suffering of Affliction, and they are made unto her as she bears the Name of Lebanon, who, or which was her Type in those Havocks made in it, when the Enemy, as I said, assaulted the Church of old.

Thus by these few Lines I have shewed you that there was a Similitude betwixt this House in the Forest of Lebanon, and our Gospel Church in the Wilderness: Nor need we stumble because this word House is not subjoynd in every particular Place, where this Sorrow, or Joy of Lebanon is made mention of; for it is an usual thing with the Holy Ghost, when he directs his Speech to a Man, to speak as if he spake to a Tree; and when he directs his Voice to a King, to speak as if he intended the Kingdom; so when he speaks of the House, to speak as to the Forest of Lebanon. Instances many might be given.

CHAP. III.

Of the Largeness of the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

THE House of the Forest of Lebanon was forty Cubits longer than was the Temple at Jerusalem, to shew that the Church in the Wilderness would increase more, and be far larger than she that had Peace and Prosperity: And as it was forty Cubits longer, so it was thirty Cubits wider, still shewing that every way she would abound. Hence they that came out of great Tribulation, when compared with others, are said to be a numberless Number, or a Multitude which no Man could number, of all Nations, and Kindreds, and People, and Tongues. These, saith one, are they which came out of great Tribulation, and have washed their Robes, and made them white in the Blood of the Lamb; therefore are they before the Throne of God.

The Church, as it respected Temple-Worship, was confined to the Land of Canaan; but our New-Testament persecuted One, is scattered among the Nations; as a Flock of Sheep are scattered in a Wood or Wilderness. Hence they are said to be in the Wilderness of the People, fitly answering to this House of the Forest of Lebanon.

But though the House exceeded in Length and Breadth, the Temple of Jerusalem, yet as to their Height they were the same, to shew, that what Acts that in the Wilderness doth, above what they have been capable to do, that have not been in that Condition; yet the Nature of their Grace is the same.

But, I say, as for Length and Breadth, the Church in the Wilderness exceeds, more than the House of the Forest of Lebanon did that of the Temple at Jerusalem, as it is written: More are the Children of the Desolate, than the Children of the married Wife, saith the Lord. And again: Thou shalt break forth on the right Hand and on the Left; and thy Seed shall inherit the

Isa. 54. 1, 2, 3, 4. the Gentiles, and make the desolate Cities to be inhabited.

This is spoken of the Church in the Wilderness, that made up chiefly of the Gentiles, of which the House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Figure; and how she at last shall recover herself from the Yoak and Tyranny of Antichrist. And then she shall shoulder it with her Adversary, saying, Give Place, That I may dwell.

And I will add, it was not only thus Magnificent for Length and Breadth, but for Terror; it was compacted after the Manner of a Castle, or Strong Hold; as was said before. It was a Tower built for an Armory; for Solomon put there his two hundred Targets, and three hundred Shields of Gold.

This Place therefore was a Terror to the Heathen on that Side of the Church especially because she stood with her Nose so formidable against Damascus: No marvel therefore if the Implacable cried out against them, Help Men of Israel, help! And will ye rebel against the King.

For it is the Terror, or Majesty and Fortitude, which God has put upon the Church in the Wilderness, that makes the Gentiles so bestir them to have her under Foot. Besides, they misapprehend concerning her, as if she was for destroying Kings, for subverting Kingdoms, and for bringing all to Desolation; and so they set themselves against her, crying, These that have turned the World upside down, are come hither also: Whom Jason hath received: And these all do contrary to the Decrees of Caesar, saying, that there is another King, one Jesus.

Indeed the very Name of Jesus is the very Tower of the Christian Church, and that by which she frights the World, but not designedly, but thorough their Misunderstanding; for neither she, nor her Jesus, is for doing them any Hurt: However, this is that which renders her yet in their Eye, terrible as an Army with Banners.

How then could she escape Persecution for a Time; for it was the Policy of Jeroboam, and is yet the Policy of the Nations, to secure themselves against this their imagined Danger, and therefore to use all Means, as Pharaoh did, to keep this People low enough, saying, Come, let us deal wisely with them, lest they multiply, and it come to pass when there falleth out any War, they join also to our Enemies, and fight against us, and so get them up out of the Land.

But could the House of Lebanon, though a fortified Place, assault Damascus? Could it remove from the Place on which God had set it? It only was a Place of Defence for Judah, or for the Worship of the Temple. And had the Adversary let the Temple-Worship and Worshippers alone, the Shields and Targets in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, had not been uncovered, had not been made bare against them. The same may now be said of the Church in the Wilderness, she moveth no Sedition, she abideth in her Place, let her Temple-Worshippers but alone, and she will be as if she were not in the World: But if you afflict her, Fire proceedeth out of her Mouth, and devoureth her Adversaries: And if any Man will hurt her, he must in this Manner be killed. And so die by the Sword of the Spirit.

But because the Weapons of the Church, though none of them are carnal, be so talked of in the World, the Blind are yet more afraid of her, than they in this Manner are like to be hurt by her; and therefore they of old have peeled, and pulled, and endeavoured to spoil her all along; sending their Servants, and saying to their Bayliffs and Sheriffs, Go to a Nation scattered and peeled, to a People terrible from their Beginning, a Nation meeted out, and trodden down, whose Land the Rivers have spoiled.

But this People shall prevail, though not by Worldly Force, her God will deliver her. And then, or at that Time, shall the Present be brought to the Lord of Hosts, of a People scattered and peeled, and from a People terrible from their Beginning hitherto, a Nation meeted out, and trodden under Foot, whose Land the Rivers have spoiled, to the Place of the Name of the Lord, the Mount Zion.

Now thus did the House of the Forest of Lebanon provoke, it was built defensively, it had a Tower, it had Armour; its Tower confronted the Enemy's Land. No marvel then, if the King of Assyria so threatned to lay his Army on the Sides of Lebanon, and to cut down the tall Cedars thereof.

The Largeness therefore, and Prowess of the Church, by Reason of her inherent Fortitude, and the valourous Acts that she hath done, by Suffering, by Prayer, by Faith, and a constant enduring of Hardship for the Truth, doth force into the World a Belief, thorough their own Guilt and Clamours of Conscience against them for their Debaucheries, that this House of the Forest of Lebanon will destroy them all, when she shall be delivered from her Servitude.

Come therefore, saith Balak to Balaam, and curse me this People, if peradventure I may overcome them. When he might have let them pass peaceably by, and they would not have lift up a Finger against him.

Wherefore, from all these Things it appears, That the House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness.

C H A P. IV.

Of the Materials of which the House of the Forest of Lebanon was made.

THE Foundation of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was of the same great Stones which were laid in the Foundation of the Temple of the Lord.

And this shews, that the Church in the Wilderness has the same Foundation and Support, as had the Temple that was at Jerusalem, though in a State of Sack-cloth, Tears, and Afflictions, the Lot of the Church in the Wilderness; for she, while there, is to howle.

Now, since the Foundation is the same, What is it but to shew also, that she, though in an afflicted Condition, shall certainly stand? The Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it.

Her confronting idolatrous Nations is therefore a Sign of her Troubles, not any Prediction of a Fall. Her Rock is steadfast, not like the Rock of her Adversaries, the Enemy being Judges.

But that which in special I take Notice of, is, that I find in a Manner, in this House of the Forest of Lebanon nothing but Pillars and Beams, great Timber, and thick Beams, and of those was the House builded; Pillars to hold up, and thick Beams to couple together, and thus was the House finished. I read not here of any Garnishing, either of the Pillars, Beams, Doors, Posts, Walls, or any Part of the House; all was plain, without Garnish; fitly representing the State of the Church in the Wilderness, which was cloathed with Sack-cloth, covered with Ashes, wearing her mourning Weeds; with her Tears upon her Cheeks, and a Yoak or Band about her Neck.

By this Kind of Description we may also note, with what Kind of Members this House, this Church is furnished. Here, as I said, that is, in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, you find Pillars, Pillars; so in the Church in the Wilderness, O the mighty Ones of which this Church was compacted! They were all Pillars, strong, bearing up the House against Wind and Weather; nothing but Fire and Sword could dissolve them. As therefore this House was made up of great Timber, so this Church in the Wilderness was made up of Giants in Grace. These Men had the Faces of Lions: No Prince, no King, no Threat, no Terror, no Torment, could make them yield: They loved not their Lives unto the Death. They have laughed their Enemies in the Face, they have triumphed in the Flames.

They were Pillars, they were Pillars of Cedar: The Cedar is the highest Tree in the World; wherefore in that this House was made of Cedar, it may be to denote that in the Church in the Wilderness, however contemned by Men, was the highest Perfection of Goodness; as of Faith, Love, Prayer, holy Conversation, and Affection for God and his Truth.

For indeed, none ever shewed the like, none ever shewed higher Cedars than those that were in Lebanon. None ever shewed higher Saints than were they in the Church in the Wilderness. Others talked, these have suffered; others have said, these have done: These have voluntarily taken their Lives in their Hands, For they loved them not to the Death; and have fairly, and in cool Blood, laid them down before the World, God, Angels, and Men, for the confirming of the Truth, which they have professed.

These are Pillars, these are strong Ones indeed: 'Tis meet therefore, that the Church in the Wilderness, since she was to resemble the House of the Forest of Lebanon, should be furnished with these mighty Ones.

Cedars! The same that the Holiest of All in the Temple was covered with within, (and that House was a Figure of Heaven) to shew that the Church of God in the Wilderness, how base and low soever in the Judgment of the World, is yet the only Heaven that God hath among the Children of Men. Here are many Nations, many Kingdoms, many Countries, and many Cities; but the Church in the Wilderness was but one, and she was the Heaven that God is here: Hence she is called, Thou Heaven. Rejoice over her thou Heaven.

And again, when the Combustion for Religion is in the Church in the Wilderness, it is said to be in Heaven. And there was War in Heaven. Michael fought against the Dragon, and the Dragon fought, and his Angels.

The Church therefore loseth not all her Titles of Honour, no, not when at the lowest: She is God's Heaven still. Though she may not be called now a Crown of Glory, yet she is still God's Lilly amongst Thorns; though she may not be called The Church of Jerusalem, yet she may The Church in the Wilderness; and though she may not be called Solomon's Temple, yet she may, The House of the Forest of Lebanon.

Cedars! Cedars are tall and sweet, and so are the Members of the Church in the Wilderness. Oh! their Smell, their Scent, it hath been as the Wine of Lebanon.

They that have gone before, have left this Smell still in the Nostrils of their Survivors, as that both fragrant and precious.

This House of the Forest of Lebanon was builded upon four Rows of Cedar Pillars. These four Rows were the bottom Pillars, Pillars, those upon which the whole Weight of the House did bear. The Holy Ghost saith here, four Rows, but says not how many were in a Row. But we will suppose them to allude to the Twelve Apostles, or to the Apostles and Prophets, upon whose Foundation the Church in the Wilderness is said to be built. And if so, then it shews, that as the House of the Forest of Lebanon stood upon these four Rows of Pillars, as the Names of the Twelve Tribes stood in four Rows of precious Stones upon Aaron's Breast-plate, when he went into the Holiest: So this House, or Church in the Wilderness, stands upon the Doctrine of the Apostles and Prophets.

Eph. 2.

Ex. 28. 17.
— 32. 10.

But because it only saith it stood upon four Rows, not specifying any Number; therefore as to this we may say nothing certain; yet I think such a Conjecture hath some Shew of Truth in it, however, I will leave it to wiser Judgments.

And it was covered with Cedar above, upon the Beams that lay on forty-five Pillars, fifteen in a Row.

These Pillars, as the others, are such upon which the House did also bear; this is clear, because the Beams that lay upon the four Rows of Pillars afore-mentioned, lay also upon these forty-five.

It seems therefore, that these four Rows of Pillars, were they that were the more outside ones; that is, two Rows on this Side of the House, and two Rows also on that; and that these forty-five Pillars, fifteen in a Row, stood in three Rows more inward, and so did bear up with the other, the Beams that were laid upon them, much like to those inner Pillars that usually stand in our Parish-Churches.

If so, then the first four Rows did seem to be a Guard to these, for that, as they stood more to the Outsides of the House, so more to the Weather, and nearer to the first Approach of the Enemy.

And this may shew, that the Apostles in their Doctrine are, not only a Foundation to the forty-five Pillars, but a Protection and Defence: I say, a Protection and Defence to all the Pillars that ever were besides in the Church in the Wilderness. And it is to be considered, that the four Rows are mentioned, as placed first, and so were those upon which the thick Beams, that first were for coupling of the House were laid: The which most fitly teacheth, that the Office and Graces of the Apostles were first in the Church in the Wilderness, according to 1 Cor. 12. 18.

These forty-five Pillars standing in the midst, by the others, may also be to shew, that in the Time of the Trouble of the Church in her Wilderness State, there will be those that will stand by, and maintain her Apostolical Doctrine, though for so doing, they bear the Burthen of the Whole.

But I read of no Chambers for Ease or Rest, in this House; here is no room for ^{13, 14.} Chambering. They that were for being ^{2 Thes. 1} Members in the Church in the Wilderness, must not look for Rest, until their Lord shall come.

Here therefore was but hard Lodging; the House of the Forest of Lebanon was not made for tender Skins, and for those that cannot lie out of Down Beds; but for those that were warlike-men, and that were willing to endure hardness, for that Religion that God had set up in his Temple; and is fitly answered by that of the Apostle. Thou therefore, my Son, endure ^{2 Tim. 2.} hardness as a good Soldier of Jesus Christ. No ^{3, 4.} Man that warreth entangleth himself with the Affairs of this Life, that he may please him that hath chosen him to be a Soldier.

Forty five Pillars! 'Twas forty five Years that the Church was of old in a bewildred and warlike Condition, before she enjoyed her Rest in Canaan. Now, as there were ^{Jos. 14. 10.} forty five Years of Trouble, so here are forty five Pillars for Support; perhaps to intimate, That God will have in his Church in the Wilderness, a sufficient Succession of faithful Men, that like Pillars shall bear up the Truth above Water, all the Time of Antichrist's Reign and Rage.

The thick Beams that lay over-thwart to couple this House of the Forest of Lebanon together, did bear upon these forty five Pillars, to shew, that by the Burden-bearers that have, and shall be in the Church of God in the Wilderness, the Unity of that House is through the Spirit maintained. And indeed, had it not been for these Pillars, the Sufferers, these Burden-bearers in the Church, our House in the Forest of Lebanon, or more properly, our Church in the Wilderness, had, before this, been but in a poor Condition. Thus there- ^{1 Tim. 3.} fore this Church, which in her Time is the ^{15.} Pillar and Ground of Truth in the World, has been made to stand and abide it. When ^{Isa. 25. 4.} the blast of the terrible ones has been as a storm against the Wall.

Many a Time have they afflicted me from ^{Pf. 129. 1.} my Youth, may Israel now say: Many a Time ^{2.} have they afflicted me from my Youth, yet they have not prevailed against me.

Thus you see how the House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness: And you see also by this, the Reason why the House of the Forest of Lebanon had its inward Glory, lying more in great Pillars, and thick Beams, than in other Ornaments. And indeed, here had need be Pillars and Pillars, and Beams and Beams too; since 'twas designed for Assaults to be made upon it; since it was set for a But for the Mark's-man, and to be an Object for furious Heathens to spend their Rage against its Walls.

The Glory therefore of the Temple lay ⁱⁿ in one Thing, and the Glory of this House lay in another: the Glory of the Temple lay in that she contained the true Form and Modes of Worship; and the Glory of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, lay in her many Pillars, and thick Beams, by which she was made capable, through good Management, to give Check to those of Damascus, when they should attempt to throw down that Worship.

And as I said before, these Pillars were sweet-scented Pillars, for that they were made of Cedar; but what cared the Enemy for that, they were offensive to him, for that they were placed as a Fortification against him: Nor is it any Allurement to Satan to favour the mighty ones in the Church in the Wilderness, for the fragrant Smell of their sweet Graces; nay, both he and his Angels are the more bent to oppose them, because they are so sweet-scented.

The Cedars therefore got nothing because they were Cedars, at the Hands of the barbarous Gentiles; (for they would burn the Cedars,) as the Angels, or Pillars, get nothing of Favour at the Hands of Antichrist, because they are Pillars of, and Angels for the Truth, yea, they so much the more by her are abhorred.

Well, but they are Pillars for all that; yea, Pillars to the Church in the Wilderness, (as the others were in the House of the Forest of Lebanon,) and Pillars they will abide there, dead, and alive, when the Enemy has done what he can.

The Pillars were set in three Rows, for so are forty five, when they are set fifteen in a Row.

And they were set in three Rows to bear. This manner also of their standing thus, was also doubtless significant.

But again, They, these Pillars, may be set, or placed thus in three Rows in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, to shew that the three Officers of Christ are the great Things that the Church in the Wilderness must bear up before the World.

The three Offices of Christ, they are his Priestly, his Prophetical, and his Kingly Offices. These are those in which God's Glory, and the Churches Salvation are most immediately concerned; and they that have been most opposed by the Devil, and his Angels: All Heresies, Errors and Delusions, with which Christ's Church has been assaulted in all Ages, have bent themselves against some one, or all of these.

Christ is a Priest to save, a Prophet to teach, and a King to rule his Church: But this Antichrist cannot bear; therefore he attempts to get up into the Throne himself, and to act as if he were one above all that it called God, or that is worshipped.

But behold! here are Pillars in three Rows, mighty Pillars to bear up Christ in these his Offices before the World, and against all Falshood and Deceit.

Fifteen in a Row. I can say no further than I can see; what the number of fifteen should signifie, I know not, God is wiser than Man: But yet methinks, their standing thus, should signifie a Reserve: As, suppose the first three that the Enemy comes at, should be destroyed by their Hands, there are three Times fourteen behind: Suppose again, that they should serve the next three so; yet there is a Reserve behind. When that fine one, Jezebel, had done what she could against the afflicted Church in her Time, yet there was left a Reserve, a Reserve of seven Thousand that were true Worshippers of God.

Always when Antichrist made his Inroads upon the Church in the Wilderness, to slay, to cut off, and to kill; yet some of the Pillars stood, they were not all burnt in the Fire, nor cut down.

They said indeed, Come let us cut them off from being a Nation, that the Name of Israel may be no more in Remembrance. But what then? There's a Difference 'twixt saying and doing; the Bush was not therefore consumed because 'twas set on Fire; the Church shall not be consumed although she be afflicted.

And this Reason is, because God has still his fifteens; therefore if Abel falls by the Hand of Cain, Seth is put in his Place; if Moses is taken away, Joshua shall succeed him; and if the Devil breaks the Neck of Judas, Matthias is at Hand to take his Office. God has, I say, a Succession of Pillars in his House, he has to himself a Reserve.

Yet, again, Methinks that there should be forty five Pillars, and besides them four Rows of Pillars, and all this to bear up an invisible Burden; for we read of nothing upon the Pillars, but the Heavens and Roof. It should be to shew, that it is impossible that a carnal Heart should conceive of the Weight that Truth lays upon the Conscience of a Believer: They see nothing, alas nothing at all, but a Beam, a Truth; and say they, are you such Fools to stand groaning to bear up that, or what is contained therein? They, I say, see not the Weight, the Glory, the weight of Glory that is in a Truth of God; and therefore they laugh at them that will count it worth the while to endure so much to support it from falling to the Ground. Great Pillars and Beams, great Saints, and great Truths, are in the Church of God in the Wilderness; and the Beams lie upon the Pillars, or the Truth upon the Saints.

The Tabernacle and Ark, formerly were to be born upon Men's Shoulders, even as these great Beams are born up by these Pillars: And as this Tabernacle, and Ark were to be carried hither and thither, according to the Appointment of God; so were these Beams to be by these Pillars born up, that therewith the House might be

Of the Windows of the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

THE House of the Forest of Lebanon had many Windows in it; And there was Windows in three Rows, and Light was against Light in three Ranks.

Windows are to let the Light in at, and the Eye out at, to Objects at a Distance from the House, and from those that are therein.

The Windows here are Figures of the Word of God, by which Light the Light of Life is let into the Heart; through that, the Glafs of these Windows, the Beams of the Sun of Righteousness shine into the Church. Hence the Word is compared to Glafs, through which the glorious Face of Christ is seen. This therefore, this House of the Forest of Lebanon had, it had Windows, a Figure of that Word of God, through, and by which, the Church in the Wilderness sees the Mind of God, and so what while there, she ought to believe, do, and leave undone in the World.

This House had plenty of Windows, three Rows of Windows on both Sides the House.

In three Rows, by these Windows in three Rows, perhaps was prefigured how into the Church in the Wilderness was to shine the Doctrine of the Trinity: Yea, to signify that she was to be possessed with that in her most low State, and when under her greatest Clouds. The Doctrine of the Trinity! that's the substance, that's the Ground and fundamental of all: For by this Doctrine, and by this only, the man is made a Christian; and he that has not this Doctrine, his Profession's not worth a button.

You must know that sometimes the Church in the Wilderness has but little Light, but the Diminution of her Light is not then so much in, or as to substantials, as it is as to circumstantial Things; She has then the Substantials with her, in her darkest Day, even Windows in three Rows.

The Doctrine of the Trinity! You may ask me what that is? I answer. It is that Doctrine that sheweth us the Love of God the Father, in giving of his Son: The Love of God the Son, in giving of himself; and the Love of the Lord, the Spirit, in his Work of regenerating of us, that we may be made able to lay hold of the Love of the Father by his Son, and so enjoy eternal Life by Grace. This Doctrine was always let in at these Windows into the Church in the Wilderness, for to make her found in Faith, and hearty in Obedience; as also meek and patient in Temptation and Tribulation.

And, as to the Substance of Christianity, this Doctrine is sufficient for any People, because it teaches Faith, and produceth a good moral Life. These therefore, if these Doctrines shine upon us, through these Windows of Heaven, so as that we see them, and receive them, they make us fit to glorify God here, and meet to be glorified of, and with him hereafter.

These Lights therefore cause that the Inhabitants of this Church in the Wilderness, see their Way through the dark pitch Night of this World: For as the House of the Forest of Lebanon, this Church of God in the Wilderness had always her Lights, or Windows in these three Rows, to guide, to solace and comfort her.

This House therefore, is thus discriminated and distinguished from all other Houses in the World; no House, that we read of in the Bible, was thus adorned with Light, or had Windows in three Rows, but this; and answerable hereunto, no Congregation or Church, but the true Church of God, has the true Antitype thereof.

Light! Windows! A Sufficiency of Windows was of great Use to a People that dwelt in a Forest, or Wood, as the Inhabitants of the House of the Forest of Lebanon did: But how solitary had this House been, had it had no Light at all! to be in a Wood, and that without Windows, is one of the worst of Conditions.

This also is the Relief that the Church in the Wilderness had; true, she was in a Wood, but had Light, called in another Place God's Rod, or his Word which giveth Instruction. Feed thy People with thy Rod, Mic. 7. 14. the Flock of thine Heritage, which dwell solitary in the Wood, &c.

To be, as was said, in a Wood, and without Light too, is a Condition very desolate: the Egyptians found it so, for all they were in their Houses.

But how much more then is that Peoples Case to be lamented that are under Persecution, but have not Light in three Rows to guide them. But this is not the State of the Church in the Wilderness, she has her Windows in three Rows, to wit, the Light of the Face of the Father, the Light of the Face of the Son, and the Light of the Face of the Holy Ghost; all shining through the Windows or Glafs of the Word to her Comfort and Consolation, though now in the Forest of Lebanon.

And Light was against Light in three ranks.

This is an additional Account of the Windows that were in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. Before he said, she had Windows in three Rows, but now he adds, that there was Light against Light, Light opposite to Light, and that also in three ranks.

Isa. 45. 9. was against Light.

But we will pursue our Design, Here is Opposition insinuated; in the Margent it is Sight against Sight; wherefore the Lights thus placed in the Hoase of the Forest of Lebanon, give me another Incouragement, to think that this House was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness, and that she Rev. 12. 7. is the Seat of Spiritual War also.

For as this House of the Forest of Lebanon was that which was the Object of the Rage of the King of Assyria, because it stood in his Way to hinder his ruining Jerusalem; so the Spirit and Faithfulness of the Church of God in the Wilderness, stands in the way, and hinders Antichrist's bringing of the Truth to the Ground.

And as the Enemy brake into Lebanon, and did set Fire to her Cedars; so the Boar,
Psal. 80. 13.
2 Theff. 2.
4.
Rev. 12. 7. the Antichrist; the Dragon, and his Angels got into the Church in the Wilderness.

This being so, here must needs be War;
and since the War is not carnal but spiritual, it must be made by way of Controversy, Contention, Disputation, Argument, Reasonings, &c. which were the Effect of opposite Apprehensions, fitly set out in this House of the Forest of Lebanon, for that there Light against Light, Sight against Sight, in three Ranks.

Wherefore, in that he saith Light was against Light in three Ranks, he suggesteth to the life, how it would be in the Church in the Wilderness.

And suppose they were the truly godly that made the first Assault, can they be blamed? For who can endure a Boar in a Vineyard: a Man of Sin in a holy Temple; or a Dragon in Heaven? What then if the Church made the first Assault? Who bid the Boar come there? What had he to do in God's House? The Church, as the House of the Forest of Lebanon, would have been content with its own Station; and Bread and Water will serve a Man, that may with Peace enjoy his Delights in other Things.
But when Privilege, Property, Life, Delight, Heaven and Salvation, comes to be intruded, no marvel if the Woman, tho' but a Woman, cries out, and set her Light against them; had she seen the Thief, and said nothing, she had been far worse.

I told you before, That by the Windows
Jam. 1. 23.
24, 25. is meant the Word, which is compared to Glafs.

What then, Is the Word against the Word? No, verily, 'tis therefore not the Word, but opposite Apprehensions thereabout, that the Holy Ghost now intends; for he saith not, that Window was against Window, respecting the true Sense of the Word, but Light was against Light, respecting the divers Notions and Apprehensions that Men of opposite Spirits would have about the Word.

Nor are we to take this word Light, especially in the Antitype, in a proper but a metaphorical Sense; that is, with respect to the Judgment of both Parties. Here is the true Church, and she has the true Light: here also is the Boar, the Man of Sin, and the Dragon; and they see by their way, and yet as I said, all by the self-same Windows. They that are the Church, do in God's Light, see Light; but they that are not, do in their own Way see. And let a Man, and a Beast, look out at the same Window, the same Door, the same Cafe-ment, yet the one will see like a Man, and the other but like a Beast. No marvel then, though they have the same Windows, that Light is against Light, and Sight against Sight in this House. For there are that know not, but what they know naturally as Brutes.

No marvel then, if there is here a Disagreement, the Beast can but see as a Beast, but the Church is resolved not to be guided by the Eye of a Beast, though he pretends to have his Light by that very Window by which the Church has hers. The Beast is Moon-ey'd, and puts Darkness for Light, yea, and hates the Light that is so indeed:
but the Saints will not hear him, for they know the Voice of their Lord.

How then can it be, but that Light should be against Light in this House, and that in a military Posture? And how can it be, but that here every Battle of the Warrior should be with confused Noise, and Garments rolled in Blood.

And in that he saith, Light was against Light in three Ranks, it shews their Preparations one against another; also, that they on both Sides are resolved to stand by their way: The Church is confident, the Man of Sin is confident; they both have the same Windows to see by, and so they manage their Matters; yet not so simply by the Windows, as by their divers Judgment they make of that which shineth in at them. Each one therefore hath the true and false Profession, will be confident of his own way: he that was right, knew he was right; and he that was wrong, thought he was right; and so the Battle began. There is a way that seems right to a Man, but the End thereof are the Ways of Death.

Nor is it in Man to help it; there has been reasoning, there has been disputing, there has Blood also been spilt on both sides, thorow the Confidence that each had of the Goodness of his own Way; but no Reconciliation is made, the Enmity is set here of God; Iron and Clay cannot mix;

mix; God will have things go on thus in the World, till his Words shall be fulfilled: Gen. 3. 15. the Deceived, and the Deceiver, are his. Things therefore must have their Course Dan. 2. 42. in the Church in the Wilderness, till the Job 12. 16. Mystery of God shall be fulfilled. Rev. 17. 17.

Hence 'tis said, God will bring Gog against his People of Israel, as a Cloud to cover the Land: But for what Cause? Why, that he may contend a while with them, and then fall by their Light to the Ground. Therefore he says also, Ezek. 39. 11. That he will give God a Place of graves in Israel, and it shall be called the Valley of Hamon-gog.

God will get himself great Glory, by permitting the Boar, the Man of Sin, and the Dragon to revel it in the Church of God; for they by setting up, and contending for their Darkness, and calling of it the Light; and by setting of it against that Light, which is Light in very deed, do not only prove the Power of Truth where it is, but illustrate it so much the more: For, as Black sets off White, and Darkness, Light, so Error sets off Truth: He that calls a Man a Horse, doth in Conclusion, but fix the Belief of his Humanity so much the more in the Apprehension of all rational Creatures.

Light against Light in three Ranks. The three Ranks on the Churches Side, signifie her light in the Trinity, as was said, and in the three Offices of Christ; and the Ranks against these three Ranks be to signifie, the opposite Apprehensions of the Enemy. They differ also about the Authority of the Word, and Ordinances, about the Offices, Officers, and Executions of Office, in the Church, &c. There is an Opposition every where, even round about the House. there was Light against Light in three Ranks.

This House of the Forest of Lebanon was therefore a significative Thing, wisely built and fit for the Purpose for which it was designed, which was to shew what afterward would be the State of the Church in the Wilderness. Nor could any thing in the Temple more aptly express it self in a typical Way, as to any of the Things concerning New Testament Matters, than doth this House of the Forest of Lebanon: as to the Things designed to be signified thereby. It speaks, can we but hear; It points to things, as it were with a Finger, have we but Eyes to see.

It is not therefore to be wondered at, that we hear both Parties plead so much for their Authority, crying out against each other, as those that destroy Religion. So doth the Church, so doth the Man of Sin. The living Child is mine, saith one; nay, but the dead Child is thine, and the living Child is mine, says the other. And thus they spake before the King.

Now this could not be, were there not different Apprehensions here; Light against Light then is the Cause of all this: And here is Light against Light in three Ranks; and so will be till the Beast is dead.

The Church will not give place, for she knows she has the Truth; the Dragon, and his Angels, they will not give place, but as beaten back by the Power of the Truth: For thus it is said of the Dragon and his Angels, They fought and prevailed not. Dan. 7. 11. Therefore there will, there must, there cannot but be a spiritual Warfare here, and that until one of the two are destroyed, and their Body given to the burning Flame. Rev. 19. 20.

CHAP. VI.

Of the Doors and Posts, and their Square, with the Windows of the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

AND all the Doors and Posts were 1 Kin. 7. 5. Square, with the Windows.

The Doors, they were for Entrance, the Posts were the Support of the Doors, and the Windows were, as was hinted before, for Light.

Now here they are said to be all square; Square is a Note of Perfection; but this word square, may be taken two ways.

1. Either as to the fashion of the things themselves; or,

2. With Reference to the uniform Order of the whole.

In the first Sense was the Altar of burnt Ex. 27. 1. Offering, the Altar of Incense, and the Breast-plate of Judgment, square; and so also it is 28. 16. said of our New Testament New Jerusalem. 30. 2. Rev. 21. 16.

But the Square in the Text is not thus to be understood, but if I mistake not, as is signified under the second head, that is for an uniform Order. The whole Fabrick, as the Doors, Posts, and Windows, presented themselves to Beholders in an exact uniform Order, and so right delectable to behold. Hence we may gather, that this House of the Forest of Lebanon, was so exactly built, and consequently so compleat to view, that it was alluring to the Beholders; and that the more, for that so pretty a Fabrick should be found in a Forest, or Wood. A Lilly among Thorns, a Pearl on a Dung-hil, and Beauty under a Veil, will make one turn aside to look on it.

Answerable to this, the Church, even in the Wilderness, or under Persecution, is compared not only to a Woman, but to a comely and delicate Woman. And who, that shall meet such a Creature in a Wood, unless he feared God, but would seek to ravish and defile her.

Therefore I say, That which is here said to be Square, must be understood to be so, as to Prospect and View, or right taking to the Eye.

Thus therefore they are allured, and think to defile her in the Bed of Love, but but coming to her, and finding of her chaste, and filled with nothing but Armour, and Men at Arms, to maintain her Chastity, nolens volens: Their fleshly Love is turned into cruel Rage, and so they go to Variance.

Jer. 6. 2. I have likened, says God, the Daughter of Zion to a comely and delicate Woman.

But where is she? O! she is in the Field, in the Forest among the Shepherds. But what will they do with her? Why, because she complies not with their Desires, they prepare War against her, saying, Arise, let us go up at Noon. ----- Arise, let us go up by Night, and let us destroy her Palaces.

Ver. 4. 5.

Wherefore the Beauty of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, as well as the Fortitude thereof, was a Temptation to the Enemy to come to take it into their Possession; especially since it stood, as it were, on the Borders of Israel, and so faced the Enemy's Country.

Thus the Church, though in her Weeds of Widowhood, is become the Desire of the Eyes of the Nations; for indeed her Features are such, considering who is her Head, where mostly to the Eye Beauty lies, that who so sees but the utmost Glimpse of her, is easily ravished with her Beauties; see how the Prophet words it: Many Nations are gathered together against thee, that say, let her be defiled, and let our Eye look upon Zion.

Mic. 4. 11.

The Church, the very Name of the Church of God, is beautiful in the World; and, as among Women, she that has Beauty, has her Head desired, if it might be, to stand upon another Woman's Shoulders; so this, and that, and every Nation that beholds the Beauty of the Church, would fain be called by that Name.

The Church, one would think, was but in a homely Dress when she was coming out of Captivity; and yet then, the People of the Countries desired to be one with her. Let us, said they (to Zerubbabel, and to the Fathers of the Church) build with you, for we seek your God as you do.

Ezr. 4. 1, 2.

The very Name of the Church, as I said, is striven for of the World; but that is the Church which Christ has made so, her Features also remain with her self, as this comely Prospect of the House of the Forest of Lebanon abode with it, whoever beheld or wisht for it. The Beauty therefore of this House, though it stood in the Forest, was admirable; even as is the Beauty of the Church in the Wilderness, though in a bewildered State.

Hear the Relation that the Holy Ghost gives of the intrinsick Beauty of the Church, when she was to go to be in a persecuted State: She was cloathed with the Sun, had the Moon under her Feet, and had upon her Head a Crown of twelve Stars. And yet now the Dragon stood by her. But I say, here's a Woman! Let who will attempt it, shew such another in the World, if he can.

They therefore, that have any Regard to Morality, Civility, or to ceremonial Comeliness, covet to be of the Church of God, or to appropriate that glorious Title to themselves.

And here, indeed, Antichrist came in; she took this Name to her self; and though she could not come at the Sun, nor Moon, nor Stars, to adorn herself with them, yet she has found something that makes her comely in her Followers Eyes. See how the Holy Ghost sets her forth. She was arrayed in Purple and Scarlet Colour, and decked with Gold and precious Stones, and Pearls, having a Golden Cup in her Hand, &c. Hence she is called, the well-favoured Harlot, the Lady of Kingdoms, &c.

Is. 47. 5, 7.

But because the chaste Matron, the Spouse of Christ, would not allow this Slut to run away with this Name, therefore she gets upon the Back of her Beast, and by him pushes this Woman into the Dirt; but because her Faith and Love to her Husband remains, she turns again, and pleads by her Titles, her Features, and Ornaments, that she, and she only, is she whose Square answereth to the Square of her Figure, and to the Characters which her Lord hath given of his own, and so the Game began.

For so soon as this Mistress became a Dame in the World, and found that she had her stout Abbettors, she attempts to turn all Things topsi-turvy, and to set them, and to make of them what she lists. And now she will have an Altar like that which was Tiglath-Pileser's: Now must the Lord's Brazen Altar be removed from its Place, the Borders of the Basis must be cut off, and the Laver removed from off them; the molten Sea must also now be took off the Backs of the Brazen Oxen, where Solomon set it, and be set on a Pavement of Stone.

10, to 18.

Solomon! alas Solomon's No-body now; this Woman is wiser in her own Conceit, than seven Men that can render a Reason. Now also the Court of the Sabbath must be turned to the Use of the King of Assyria, &c.

Ver. 18.

Thus has the Beauty of God's Church betrayed her into the Hands of her Lovers, who loved her for themselves, for the Devil, and for the making of her a Seat, a Throne for the Man of Sin. And poor Woman, all her struggling and striving, and crying out under the Hands of these Ravishers, has not, as yet, delivered her, though it has saved her Life.

25, to 28.

But though thus it has been with Christ's true Church, and will be as long as his Enemy Antichrist reigns; yet the Days will come, when her God will give her her Ornaments, and her Bracelets, and her her Liberty, and her Joy, that she had in the Day of her Espousals.

C H A P. VII.

Of the Repetition of Light against Light in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

TO be sure it was not superfluously done of the Holy Ghost, to make Repetition of these Words, [And Light was against Light in three Ranks;] therefore something is intended in the adding of them again, that was not intended by the first mentioning of them.

I have told you what I thought was intended by the first Rehearsal of them; namely, to shew how Antichrist got in with his Sensuality, and opposed it to the true Light of the Word of God, exalting himself above God, and also above all Divine Revelation; this was his Light against Light. But, I say, why is it repeated? For he saith, Light was against Light in three Ranks again.

Truely, I think it is repeated, to shew the evil Effects the first Antichristian Opposition would have in the Church of God, towards the end of her Wilderness-State. For, Light against Light, now, for that it is here repeated, is to shew us some new Thing, or, as far as Wood and Windows can speak, to let us understand what would be the Consequence of those Antichristian Figments that was brought into the Church at first by him.

For, can it be imagined, but that, since so much Confusion was brought into the Church, some of the truly godly themselves would be much damnified thereby. The Apostle says Evil Communication corrupts good Manners. And that their Words will eat, as doth a Canker. Mischiefe therefore must needs follow this ugly Deed of the Man of Sin.

If an House be on fire, though it is not burnt down, the Smell of the Flame may long remain there; also we count it no Wonder to see some of the Effects upon Rafter, Beams, and some of the principal Posts thereof.

Judg. 18. The Calf that was set up at Dan, defiled that People, 'till the Captivity of the Land.

And I say again, since Light against Light was so early in the Church in the Wilderness, and has also been there so long; and again, since many in this Church were both born and bred there under these Oppositions of Light; 'tis easie to conclude, that something of the Enemies Darknes might be also called Light, by the Sincere that followed after. For by Antichristian Darknes, though, they might call it Light, the true Light was Darkened, and so the Eye made dim, even the Eye of the truly godly. Also, the Holy Ghost did much withdraw it self from the Church; so the Doctrines, Traditions, and Rudiments of the World, took more hold there, and spread themselves more formidably over the Face of that whole Church.

For after the first Angel had sounded, and the Star was fallen from Heaven to the Earth, and had received the Key of the bottomless Pit, and had opened the Mouth thereof, the Smoak came out again. This Angel was one of the first Dads of Antichristianism; and this Smoak was that which they call Light, but it was Light against Light. And he opened the bottomless Pit, and there arose a Smoke out of the Pit, as the Smoke of a great Furnace, and the Sun and the Air was darkened, by Reason of the Smoke of the Pit. Rev. 9. 1, 2

The Sun I take to be the Gospel of God, and the Air, a Type of the Breathings of the Holy Ghost. The Smoke, I take to be the Doctrines and Traditions of Antichrist; that which was, as I said before, put for Light against the true Light of the Word. Now, since the Sun, and the Air were darkened, by this Smoke; yea, and so darkened, as that the Sun, nor Moon, nor Stars, nor Day, nor Night, could shine for a third Part of them; no marvel though the true Worshippers here was benighted, or at least, had but little Light to walk by; yea, I have known some that have been born and bred up in Smokey-Holes, that have been made both in Smell and Sight, to carry the Tokens of their so being bred, about them.

And I say again, as to what is now under our Consideration, no marvel if they that breathed in this Church in the Wilderness, after the Smoak came out of this Pit, suck'd in the Smoak with the Air, till it became natural to them. A House annoyed with Smoak, is a great Offence to the Eyes, whose Light being thereby impaired, the Judgment also, since that, as to Visibles, is guided by the Eye, must needs be in Danger of being in part mis-led.

And this being the Effect of Light against Light at first, is the cause of what to this Day we see in the Church among the true Brotherhood. For as a Cause produceth an Effect: so oftentimes an Effect sets on foot another Cause.

Now therefore, we have Light against Light among the Godly, as afore there was Antichristian against the Christian Light. Not that Light against Light is now Godly in the all of it. 'Tis Antichristian that opposes the Christian Light still. But, as before, the Darknes that opposed the Light, was in the Antichristians, now that Darknes is got into the Christians, and has set them against one another. Light therefore against Light, now, is in the Christians, truly prefigured by that which was in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

And I say again, as to what is now under our Consideration, no marvel if they that breathed in this Church in the Wilderness, after the Smoak came out of this Pit, suck'd in the Smoak with the Air, till it became natural to them. A House annoyed with Smoak, is a great Offence to the Eyes, whose Light being thereby impaired, the Judgment also, since that, as to VISIBLES, is guided by the Eye, must needs be in Danger of being in part mis-led.

And this being the Effect of Light against Light at first, is the cause of what to this Day we see in the Church among the true Brotherhood. For as a Cause produceth an Effect: so oftentimes an Effect sets on foot another Cause.

Now therefore, we have Light against Light among the Godly, as afore there was Antichristian against the Christian Light. Not that Light against Light is now Godly in the all of it. 'Tis Antichristian that opposes the Christian Light still. But, as before, the Darknels that opposed the Light, was in the Antichristians, now that Darknes is got into the Christians, and has set them against one another. Light therefore against Light, now, is in the Christians, truly prefigured by that which was in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

Witness the Jars, the Oppositions, the Contentions, Emulations, Strifes, Debates, Whisperings, Tumults, and Condemnations that like Cannon-shot have so frequently on all sides been let fly against one another.

Shall I need to mention particular Contentions many Years past, and presented to us in Print? Words and Papers now in Print, as also the many petty Divisions, and Names amongst us, sufficiently make this manifest.

Wherefore Light against Light in this last Place, or where it is thus repeated, cannot, I think, be more fitly applied than to that now under our Consideration; that is to say, than to the opposite Perswasions, different Apprehensions, and thwart Conclusions, that are constantly drawn from the same Texts, to maintain a diverse Practice. Though we are to acknowledge with Thankfulness, that this Opposition lies not so much in Fundamentals, as in Things of a lesser Import.

The Godly all hold the Head, for there Antichrist could never divide them: Their Divisions therefore are, as I said, only about smaller things.

I do not say that the Antichristian Darkness has done nothing in the Church as to the hurting it, in the great things of God. But, I say, it has not been able to do that which could sever their Head from them, otherwise there appears even too much of the Effect of his Doings there. For even as to the Offices of our Lord, some will have his Authority more large, some more strait. Some confine his Rules to themselves, and to their more outward Qualification, and some believe they are extended further. Some will have his power in his Church purely spiritual, others again would have it mixt. Some count his Word perfect and sufficient to guide in all religious Matters, others again hold that an Addition of something humane is necessary. Some are for confining of his Benefits in the saving Effects of them, only to the Elect, others are for a stretching of them further. I might here multiply things; but that Light against Light is now amongst the Godly, as Light against Light was in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, is not at all to be questioned.

This therefore may stand for another Argument, to prove that the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness. As to the Number here, that is to say, in three Ranks, it is also, as I think, to shew that, though, as was said afore, this Darkness could not sever the true Church from her Head; yet it has eclipsed the Glory of things. By two Lights, a Man cannot see this or that thing, so exactly, as by one single Light: no they both make all confused, though they make not all invisible.

As for Instance, Sun-light and Moonlight together; Fire-light and Sun-light together; Candle-light and Moon-light together, make things more obscure, than to look on them by a single Light.

The Word reflecting upon the Understanding without the interposing of Man's Traditions, makes the Mind of God to a Man more clear, than when attended with the other. How much more than when Light shall be against Light in three ranks?

Christ in his Offices, blessed be God, is to this Day known in his Church, notwithstanding there is yet with us Light against Light in three Ranks. But in these things he is not so distinctly, fully, and compleatly known, as he was before the Church went into the Wilderness. No, ^{Rev. 8. 12.} that Knowledge is lost to a third Part of it, as was also shewed before.

Things therefore will never be well in the Church of God, so long as there is thus light against light therein. When there is but one Lord among us, and his Name one: and when divisions, by the Consent of the whole, are banished, I mean, not persecuted, but abandoned in all by a joynt Consent: and when every Man shall submit his own single Opinion to those Truths, that by their being retained, are for the Health of all: then look for good Days, and not till then. For this House of the Forest of Lebanon, in which, as you see, there is Light against Light in three Ranks, was not built to prefigure the Church in her primitive State, but to shew us how we should be while standing before the Face of the Dragon, and while shifting for our selves in the Wilderness.

And although by her Pillars, and Beauty, and Tower, and by her facing the Metropolitan of her Enemies, she sheweth that the true Grace of God is in her, and a Strength and Courage that is invincible; yet for that she has also affixed to her Station, Light against Light in three Ranks: 'tis evident, her Eye is not so single, and consequently, that her Body is not so full of Light, as she will be when her Sackcloth is put off, and as when she has put on her beautiful Garments. For then it is that her Moon is to shine as the Sun, and that the Light of her Sun is to be seven fold, even as the Light of seven Days; then, I say, When the Lord bindeth up the Breach of his People, and healeth the Stroke of their Wound. ^{Isa. 30. 26.}

You know a Kingdom flourishes not, so long as it is the Seat of War, but when that is over, Peace and Prosperity flourishes. This House, as has been hinted, was a Type of the Church in a Wood, a Forest, a Wilderness.

C H A P.

C H A P. VIII.

Of the Shields and Targets that were in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

AS this House of the Forest of Lebanon, was that, which in the general, prefigured the State of the Church in the Wilderness, so it was accoutred with such military Materials as suited her in such a Condition, that is to say, with Shields and Targets: Consequently with other warlike Things. And Solomon made two hundred Targets of beaten Gold, six hundred Shekles of Gold went to one Target, and he made three hundred Shields of beaten Gold: three hundred Shekles of Gold went to one Shield: And the King put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

This supposes that the House of the Forest of Lebanon, would be attacked by the Enemy. And good Reason there was for such a Supposition, since it was built for Defence of that Worship that was set up in the Church. Hence 'tis said, when the Enemy used to come with his Chariots and Horsemen against them, that they did look in that Day to the Armour of the House of the Forest.

That was, to see how they were prepared at Lebanon, to make Resistance against their Foes, and to secure themselves and their Religion, from that Destruction that by the Enemy, was designed should be made upon both. And thus again, or in this Thing, the House of the Forest of Lebanon shews that it was a Figure of the Church of the Wilderness: For she also is furnished with such Weapons as were counted by the Wisdom of God necessary for the security of the Soul, and Christian Religion: To wit, the Weapons of our warfare, the whole Armour of God.

For, though this House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Place of Defence, yet her Armour is described and directed too, both as to Matter and to Measure. 'Twas Armour made of Gold, such Armour, and so much of it: And 'twas made by Direction of Solomon, who was a Type of Christ, by the Power of whose Grace and Working, our Armour is also provided for us, as in the Texts afore-mentioned may appear. By this Description, therefore, of the Armour of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, we are confined, that being a Type to the Armour of God, in the Anti-type thereto for the Defence of the Christian Religion. We then may make use of none but the Armour of God for Defence of our Souls, and the Worship of God: This alone is the golden Armour provided by our Solomon, and put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, or rather in the Church in the Wilderness, for her to resist the Enemy withal.

Two hundred Targets. There is but little mention made of Targets in the Bible, nor at all expressly how they were used, but once; and that was when Goliath came to defy Israel, he came, as without other warlike Furniture, so with a Target of Brass ^{1 Sam. 17} between his Shoulders.

A Target, that is, saith the Margent, a Gorget. A Gorget is a Thing wore about the Neck, and it serveth in that Place instead of a Shield. Wherefore in some of your old Bibles, that which in one Place is called a Target, in another is called a Shield. A Shield for that Part.

This Piece of Armour, I suppose was worn in old Time, by them that used Spears, and it was to guard the upper Part of the Back and Shoulders from the Arrows of their Enemies, that were shot into the Air, to the intent they might fall upon the upper Part of the Body.

The Shields were for them which drew Bows, and they were to catch, or beat off those Arrows that were levelled at them by the Enemy before.

Asa had at one Time an Army of Men that bare Targets and Spears, out of Judah three hundred thousand, and out of Benjamin that bare Shields, and drew Bows, two hundred and fourscore thousand. ^{2 Chr. 14. 8.}

I cannot tell what the Target should signifie here, unless it was to shew that those in the Type, were more weak and faint-hearted than those in the Anti-type: For in that this Gorget was prepared for some back Part of the Body, it supposed the Wearers subject to run away, to flee. But in the Description of the Christian Armour, we have no Provision for the Back of our Men in the Church: So in the Wilderness are supposed to be more stout. Their Face is made strong against the Face of their Enemies, and their Foreheads strong against their Foreheads. ^{Ezek. 3. 8. 9.}

The Shield was a Type of the Christian Faith, and so the Apostle applies it. The which he also counteth a principal piece of our Christian Armour: When he saith, Above all taking the Shield of Faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery Darts of the Wicked. ^{Eph. 6. 16.}

These Targets and Shields were made of Gold, to shew the excellent worth of this Armour of God: To wit, that it is not Carnal but Spiritual, not Humane but Divine; not common or mean, but of an infinite Value. Wherefore James alluding to this, saith, Hearken, my beloved Brethren, hath not God chosen the Poor of this Word Rich in Faith? (Hath he not given them this golden Shield) and made them Heirs of that Kingdom, which he hath promised to them that love him. ^{Jam. 2. 5.}

Faith! Peter saith, Faith, in the very tryal of it, is much more precious than is Gold that perisheth: If so, then what is that worth, or value, that is in the Grace it self?

This

Rev. 3. 18. This also is that which Christ intends, when he says, buy of me Gold tryed in the Fire, that thou mayest be rich.

And methinks the Apostles, and the Lord Jesus Christ, do in all these Places allude to the Shields, the Shields of Gold, that Solomon made and put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon: Which House, as I have shewed, was that which indeed prefigured the State of the Church in the Wilderness: and these Shields a Type of Faith.

Obj. But here is mention made of nothing but Shields and Targets?

Ans. True, and that perhaps to shew us that the War that the Church makes with Antichrist, is rather defensive than offensive. Shields and Targets are Weapons defensive, Weapons provided for Self-Preservation, not to hurt others with. A Christian also, if he can but defend his Soul in the sincere Profession of the true Religion, doth what by Duty, as to this, he is bound. Wherefore though the New Testament admits him to put on the whole Armour of God: Yet the whole, and every Part thereof is spiritual, and only defensive. True, there is mention made of the Sword, but that Sword is the Word of God. A Weapon that hurteth none, none at all but the Devil, and Sin, and those that love it. Indeed 'twas made for Christians to defend themselves, and their Religion with, against Hell and the Angels of Darknes.

Eph. 6. 17.

These two Pieces of Armour then that Solomon the King did put into the House of the Forest of Lebanon, were Types of the spiritual Armour that the Church in the Wilderness should make use of. And as we read of no more that was put there, at least to be typical, so we read of, and must use no more than we are bid to put on by the Apostle, for the defence of true Religion.

Object. But he that shall use none other than this, must look to come off a loser.

Ans. In the Judgment of the World, this is true; but not in the Judgment of them that have Skill, and an Heart to use it. For this Armour is not Saul's, which David refused, but God's, by which the Lives of all those have been secured, that put it on, and handled it well. You read of some of David's mighty Men of Valour, that their Faces were as the Faces of Lions, and that they were as swift of foot as the Roes upon the Mountains: Being expert in handling Spear and Shield.

1 Cor. 12. 8.

Why, God's Armour makes a Man's Face look thus, also it makes him that useth it, more lively and active, than before. God's Armour is no Burden to the Body, nor Clogg to the Mind, but rather a natural, instead of an artificial Fortification.

But this Armour comes not to any, but out of the King's Hand. Solomon put these Targets and Shields into the House of the Forest of Lebanon. So Christ distributeth his Armour to his Church. Hence 'tis said, 'Tis given to his to suffer for him. 'Tis given to his by himself, and on his Behalf. Phil. 1. 29.

That is, that they might with it fight those Battles which he shall manage against Antichrist. Hence they are called the Armies in Heaven: And are said, to follow their Lord upon white Horses cloathed in fine Linen, white and clean. But, as I said, still their war was but defensive. For a little further, do but observe, and you shall find the Beast fall upon him. And I saw the Beast, and the Kings of the Earth, and their Armies gathered together, to make War against him that sat on the Horse, and against his Army. Rev. 19. 12, to 22.

'Tis they that fall on, 'tis they that pick the Quarrel, and give the Onset. Besides, the Armour, as I said, is only spiritual; wherefore the Slaughter must needs be spiritual also. Hence, as here it is said, the Lamb did slay his Enemies, by the Sword, Spirit, or Breath of his Mouth; so his Army also slays them by the Fire that proceedeth out of his Mouth.

Here is therefore no Man's Person in danger by this War. And I say again, so far as any Man's Person is in danger, it is by wrong managing of this War. True, the Persons of the Christians are in danger, but that is because of the bloody Disposition of an Antichristian Enemy. But we speak now with Reference to the Lamb and the Army that follows him: And as to them, no Man's Person is in danger simply as such. Wherefore, it is not Men but Sin; not Men, but the Man of Sin, that wicked one, that the Son of God makes War against, in and by his Church. 2 Thes. 2. 8. Heb. 12. 4.

Let us therefore state the Matter right; no Man needs be afraid to let Jesus Christ be chief in the World, he envies no Body, he designs the hurt of none: His Kingdom is not of this World, nor doth he covet temporal Matters; let but his Wife, his Church alone, to enjoy her purchased Privileges, and all shall be well. Which Priveleges of hers, since they are Soul-concerns, make no Infringement upon any Man's Liberties: Let but Faith and Holiness walk the Streets without Controul, and you may be as happy as the World can make you. I speak now to them that contend with him.

But if seasonable Counsel will not go down, if hardness of Heart and blindness of Mind, and so perishing from the Way shall overtake you, 'tis but what you of old have been cautioned of. Be wise now therefore, O ye Kings, be instructed ye Judges of the Earth. Serve the Lord with Fear, and rejoyce with trembling. Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the Way, when his Wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their Trust in him. Ps. 2. 10, 11, 12.

Now let this also that has been said upon this Head, be another Argument to prove that that the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness.

C H A P. IX.

Of the Vessels which Solomon put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

Solomon did also put Vessels into the House of the Forest of Lebanon. And all King Solomon's Drinking-Vessels were of Gold, and all the Vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were of Gold, pure Gold, none were of Silver; it was nothing accounted of in the Days of Solomon.

Since it is not expressed what those Vessels of pure Gold were which Solomon put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, therefore, as to the Affirmative, no Man can be absolute; Vessels of Gold, Vessels of pure Gold, the Holy Ghost says they were, and so leaves it to the Prudent to make their Conjectures: And although I may not put my self among the Number of those prudent Ones, yet let me take Leave to say what I think in the Case.

First then, negatively, They were not Vessels ordained for Divine Worship; for, as that was confined to the Temple, so the Vessels, and Materials, and Circumstances for Worship, was there.

I say, The whole uniform Worship of the Jews now, was confined to the Temple.

Wherefore, the Vessels here mentioned, could not be such as was in Order to set up Worship here, for to Jerusalem they were to bring their Sacrifices: True, they had Synagogues where ordinary Service was done; there the Law was read, and there the Priests taught the People how they should serve the Lord; but for that which stood in carnal Ordinances, as Sacrificings, Washings, and using Vessels for that Purpose, that was performed at Jerusalem.

This House therefore, to wit, the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was not built to slay, or to offer Burnt-Offerings or Sacrifices in, but as that Altar was which the two Tribes and an half, built by Jordan, when they went each to their Inheritance; namely, to be a Witness of the Peoples Resolutions to preserve true Religion in the Church, to themselves, and to their Posterity.

Since this House therefore was designed for defensive War, 'twas not requisite that the Formalities of Worship should be there.

The Church in the Wilderness also, so far as she is concerned in Contention, so far she is not taken up in the practical Parts of Religion; for Religion is not to be practised in the Church in the Moments of Contention. Let us practise then our Religion in Peace, and in all peaceable Ways, and vindicate it by Way of Contention; that is, when asked, or required, by Opposites, to render a Reason thereof.

But my Contention must be, not in pragmatick Languages, or in Striving—about Words to no Profit, but by Words of Truth and Soberness, with all Meekness and Fear.

To practise and defend a Practice, you know are two Things: I practise Religion in my Closet, in my Family, in the Congregation; but I defend this Practice before the Magistrate, the King, and the Judge. Now the Temple was prepared for the Practice of Religion, and the House of the Forest of Lebanon for Defence of the same.

So far then as the Church in the Wilderness worships, so far she is compared to the Temple; and so far as she defends that Worship, so far she is called an Army: An Army my terrible with Banners. For God has given a Banner to them that fear him, that it may be displayed because of the Truth. Hence she says to God, We will rejoice in thy Salvation, and in the Name of our God, we will set up our Banners.

But here is in all this no Hurt to the World; the Kingdom, the Worship, the War is spiritual, even as the Armour is. I have spoken this to distinguish Worship from contending for Worship, and to make Way for what is yet to be said.

If the Vessels of the Forest of Lebanon, or those put into that House, were not such as related to Worship, to Worship simply as such, then it should seem.

These Vessels therefore, were for some other Use than for formal Worship, in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. The best Way then, that I know of, to find out what they were, is, first to consider to what they are joined in the Mention of them. Now I find them joined in the Mention of them, with Solomon's Drinking Vessels; and since, as they were made of fine or pure Gold, I take them also to be Vessels of the same Kind, to wit, Vessels to drink in. Now if we join to this the State of the Church in the Wilderness, of which, as we have said, this House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Type, then we must understand that by these Vessels were prefigured, such Draughts as the Church has, when in a bewildered or persecuted State, and they are of two Sorts, either,

1. Such as are exceeding bitter: Or,
2. Such as are exceeding sweet: For both these attend a State of War.

1. Such as are exceeding bitter: These are called Cups of Red Wine, signifying Blood; also, The Cup of the Lord's Fury, The Cup of Trembling, The Cup of Astonishment, &c.

Nor is there any Thing more natural to the Church, while in a Wilderness Condition, than such Cups and Draughts as these. Hence she, as there, is said to be cloathed, as was said afore, in Sack-Cloth, to mourn, to weep, to cry out, and to be in Pain, as a Woman in Travail. See the Lamentations and you will find all this verified. See also Rev. 11. 3. Chap. 12. 2.

And who so considers what has already been said, as to what the House of the Forest of Lebanon met with, will find that what is here inferred, is not foreign but natural. For, can it be imagined, that when the King of Affyria laid down his Army by the Sides of Lebanon, and when the Fire was to devour her Cedars; also, when Lebanon was to be cut down and languisht, that these Vessels, these Cups, was not then put into her Hand. And, I say again, since the Church in the Wilderness, Lebanon's Antitype, has been so persecuted, so distressed, so oppressed, and made the Seat of so much War, so much Blood, of so many Murders of her Children within her, &c. can it be imagined that she drank of none of these Cups? Yes, yes; she has drank the Red Wine at the Lord's Hand, even the Cup of Blood, of Fury, of Trembling, and of Astonishment. Witness her own Cries, Sighs, Tears, and Tremblings; with the Cries of Widows, Children and Orphans within her.

But what do I cite particular Texts, since Reason, Histories, Experience, any Thing that is intelligible, will confirm this for a Truth: Namely, that a People, whose Profession is directly in Opposition to the Devil and Antichrist, and to all Debauchery, Inhumanity, Profaneness, Superstition, and Idolatry, when suffered to be invaded by the Dragon, the Beast, the false Prophet, and Whore, must needs taste of these Cups, and drink thereof to their Astonishment.

But all these are of pure Gold. They are of God's ordaining, appointing, filling, timeing; and also sanctified by him for Good to those of his that drink them. Hence Moses chose rather to drink a Brimmer of these, than to enjoy the Pleasures of

The Afflictions therefore, that the Church in the Wilderness hath met with, these Cups of Gold, are of more Worth than are all the Treasures of Agypt; they are needful, and profitable, and Praise-worthy also, and tend to the augmenting of our Glory, when the next World is come.

Besides they are Signs, Tokens, and Golden Marks of Love; and Jewels that set off the Beauty of the Church in the Sight of God the more. They are also a Means by which Men are proved sound, honest, faithful, and true Lovers of God; as also such, whose Graces are not counterfeit, feigned, or unsound, but true, and such as will be found to Praise, and Honour, and Glory, at the Appearing of Jesus Christ.

These therefore are Vessels of pure Gold, though they contain such bitter Draughts, and though such, as at which we make so many wry Faces, before we can get their Liquor down.

Do you think that a Christian, having even this Cup in his Hand to drink it, would change it for a Draught of that which is in the Hand of the Woman that sits on the Back of the Scarlet-coloured Beast? No, verily; for he knows that her Sweet is Poison, and that his Bitter is to purge his Soul, Body, Life, and Religion, of Death.

God sends his Love Tokens to his Church two Ways, sometimes by her Friends, sometimes by her Enemies. When they come by the Hand of a Friend, as by a Minister, a Brother, or by the Holy Ghost, then they come smoothly, sweetly, and are taken, and go down like Honey. But when these Love Tokens come to them by the Hand of an Enemy, then they are handed to them roughly: Pharaoh handed Love Tokens to them roughly; The King of Babylon handed these Love Tokens to them roughly. They bring them of Malice; God sends them of Love; they bring them, and give them to us, hoping they will be our Death: They give us them therefore with many a foul Curse; but God blesses them still. Did not Haman lead Mordecai in his State, by the Hand of Anger?

Nor is this Cup so bitter, but that our Lord himself drank deep of it, before 'twas handed to his Church: He did, as loving Mothers do, drink thereof himself, to shew us it is not Poison, also to encourage us to drink it for his Sake, and for our endless Health.

And, as I told you before, I think I do not vary from the Sense of the Text, in calling them Cups; because, though there they have no Name, they are joined with King Solomon's drinking Vessels; and because as so joined in the Type, so they are also joined here: Therefore the Cup here is called called Christ's Cup. Are ye able to drink of the Cup that I drink of? Ye shall indeed drink of my Cup. Here you see they are joined in a Communion in this Cup of Affliction, as the Cups in one and the same Breath are joined with those King Solomon drank in, which he put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

But these are not all the Cups that belong to the House of the Forest of Lebanon, or rather to the Church in the Wilderness; there is also a Cup, out of which, at Times, is drunk what is exceeding sweet.

It is called The Cup of Consolation, The Cup of Salvation; a Cup in the which God himself is. As he said, The Lord is the Portion of my Cup. Or rather, The Lord is the Portion of mine Inheritance, and my Cup.

Pf. 16. 5.
Jer. 16. 7.

This Cup, they that are in the Church in the Wilderness have usually for an after-Draught to that bitter one that went before: Thus, as tender Mothers give their Children Plumbs or Sugar, to sweeten their Palate after they have drank a bitter Potion, so God gives his the Cups of Salvation, and Consolation, after they have suffered a while. For as the Sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our Consolation aboundeth by Christ.

2Cor. 1. 5.

Hence the Apostle assureth himself, concerning the Affliction of them at Corinth; yea, and also promiseth them, That as they were Partakers of the Sufferings, so should they be of the Consolation.

— 1. 7.

Some of these Cups are filled 'till they run over, as David said, his did, when the Valley of the Shadow of Death was before him. Thou preparest a Table before me, said he, in the Presence of mine Enemies: Thou anointest my Head with Oil; my Cup runneth over.

Pf. 23. 5.

This is that which the Apostle calls exceeding; that is, that which is beyond Measure. I am, says he, filled with Comfort, I am exceeding Joyful in all our Tribulations.

Now he has one answering the other. Thou hast made Summer and Winter: Thou hast made the warm Beams of thy Sun answerable to the Cold of the dark Night. This may be also yet signified by the building of this House, this Type of the Church in the Wilderness, in so pleasant a Place as the Forest of Lebanon was. Lebanon! Lebanon was one of the sweetest Places in all the Land of Canaan. Therefore we read of the Fruit of Lebanon, of the Streams from Lebanon; the Scem, the Smell, the Glory of Lebanon; and also of the Wine and Flowers of Lebanon.

paring of her to Lebanon. Thy Lips, O my Spouse, says he, drop as an Honey-Comb; Honey and Milk are under thy Tongue, and the Smell of thy Garment is like the Smell of Lebanon.

This House therefore, being placed here, might be to shew, how blessed a State God could make the State of his Church by his blessed Grace and Presence, even while she is in a Wilderness Condition.

Deut. 3. 25

We will add to this, for further Demonstration, that Letter of that godly Man, Pamponius Algerius, an Italian Martyr; some of the Words of which, are these:

'Let, faith he, the miserable worldly Man answer me; What Remedy, or safe Refuge, can there be to him that lacketh God, who is the Life and Medicine of all Men: And how can he be said to fly from Death, when himself is already dead in Sin. If Christ be the Way, Verity and Life, how can there be any Life then without Christ?

'The heat of the Prison to me is coldness; the cold Winter to me is a fresh Spring in the Lord. He that feareth not to be burned in the Fire; how will he fear the heat of Weather? Or, what careth he for the pinching Frost, which burneth with the Love of the Lord.

'The Place is sharp and tedious to them that be Guilty; but to the Innocent and Guiltless it is mellifluous. Here droppeth the delectable Dew; here floweth the pleasant Nectar; here runneth the sweet Milk; here is plenty of all good Things. And altho' the Place it self be desert and barren; yet to me it seemeth a large Walk, and a Valley of Pleasure; here to me is the better and more noble Part of the World. Let the miserable worldling say, and confess, if there be any Plot, Pasture, or Meadow, so delightful to the Mind of Man, as here. Here I see Kings, Princes, Cities, and People; here I see Wars, where some be overthrown, some be Victors, some thrust down, some lifted up. Here is Mount Sion; here I am already in Heaven it self. Here standeth first Christ Jesus in the Front; about him stand the old Fathers, Prophets, and Evangelists, Apostles, and all the Servants of God: Of whom some do embrace and cherish me, some exhort me, some open the Sacraments to me, some comfort me, others are singing about me: And how then shall I be thought to be alone, among so many, and such as these be, the beholding of whom is to me both Solace and Example. For here I see some crucified, some slain, some stoned, some cut asunder, and some quartered, some roasted, some broiled, some put in hot Caldrons, some having their Eyes bored thorough, some their Tongues cut out, some their Skin plucked over their Heads, some their Hands and Feet chopt off, off, some put into Kilns and Furnaces, some cast down headlong, and given to the Beasts, and Fowls of the Air to feed on. It would, said he, ask a long Time, if I should recite all.

To be short, divers I see with divers and sundry Torments excruciated; yet notwithstanding, all living, and all safe. One Plaister, one Salve, cureth all their Wounds, which also giveth to me Strength and Life; so that I sustain all these transitory Anguishes, and small Afflictions, with a quiet Mind, having a greater Hope laid up in Heaven. Neither do I fear mine Adversaries which here persecute me and oppress me, for he that dwells in Heaven shall laugh them to Scorn, and the Lord shall deride them. I fear not ten thousands of People which compass me about: The Lord my God shall deliver me, my Hope, my Supporter, my Comforter, who exalteth up my Head. He shall smite all them that stand up against me without Cause; and shall dash the Teeth and Faces of Sinners asunder, for he only is all Blessedness and Majesty.

The Rebukes for Christ make us joyful; for so it is written: If ye be rebuked and scorned for the Name of Christ, happy be you; for the Glory and Spirit of God resteth upon you. Be ye therefore certified (said he, by this his Letter to his Friends) that our Rebukes, which are laid upon us, redound to the Shame and Harm of the Rebukers.

In this World there is no Mansion firm to me; and therefore I will travel up to the New Jerusalem which is in Heaven, and which offereth it self to me, without paying any Fine or Income. Behold, I have entered already on my Journey, where my House standeth for me prepared, and where I shall have Riches, Kinsfolks, Delights, Honours, never-failing.

As for these earthly Things here present, they are transitory Shadows, vanishing Vapours, and ruinous Walls. Briefly, all is but very Vanity of Vanities, whereas Hope, and the Substance of Eternity to come, are wanting; which the merciful Goodness of the Lord hath given, as Companions to accompany me, and to comfort me; and now do the same begin to work, and to bring forth Fruits in me. I have travelled hitherto, laboured and sweat early and late, walking Day and Night, and now my Travels begin to come to effect. Days and Hours I have bestowed upon my Studies.

Behold the true Countenance of God is sealed upon me, the Lord hath given Mirth in my Heart; and therefore in the same will I lay me down in Peace and Rest. And who then shall dare to blame this our Age consumed; or say, that our Years be cut off? What Man can now cavil, that these our Labours are lost, which have followed, and found out the Lord and Maker of the World, and which have changed Death for Life. My Portion is the Lord, saith my Soul, and therefore I will seek and wait for him.

Now then, If to die in the Lord, be not to die, but live most joyfully, where is this wretched worldly Rebel, which blameth us of Folly, for giving away our Lives to Death? O how delectable is this Death to me! To taste the Lord's Cup, which is an assured Pledge of true Salvation; for so hath the Lord forewarned us, saying, The same that they have done to me, they will also do unto you.

Wherefore, let the doltish World, with his blind Worldlings (whom the bright Sun-shine, yet go stumbling in Darkness, being as blind as Beetles) cease thus unwisely to carp against us, for our rash suffering, as they count it. To whom, thus, we answer again, with the holy Apostle, That neither Tribulation, nor Anguish, nor Hunger, nor Nakedness, nor Jeopardy, nor Persecution, nor Sword, shall be able ever to separate us from the Love of Christ; we are slain all the Day long; we are made like Sheep ordained to the Shambles. Rom. 8.

Thus (saith he) do we resemble Christ our Head, which said, that the Disciple cannot be above his Master, nor the Servant above his Lord. The same Lord hath also commanded, that every one shall take up his Cross and follow him. Luke 9.

Rejoice, rejoice, (my dear Brethren, and fellow Servants) and be of good Comfort, when ye fall into sundry Temptations; let your Patience be perfect, in all Parts. For so it is fore-shewed us before, and is written, That they which shall kill you, shall think to do God good Service. Therefore, Afflictions and Death be as Tokens and Sacraments of our Election and Life to come.

Let us then be glad and sing unto the Lord, when as we, being clear from all just Accusations, are persecuted and given to Death: For better is it that we in doing well do suffer, if it so be the Will of God, than doing Evil. We have for our Example, Christ, and the Prophets which spake in the Name of the Lord, whom the Children of Iniquity did quell and murder. And now we bless and magnify them that then suffered. 1 Pet. 3.

Let us be glad and joyous, in our Innocency and Uprightness; the Lord shall reward them that persecute us; let us refer all Revengement to him.

I am accused of Foolishness, for that I do not shrink from the true Doctrine, and Knowledge of God, and do not rid my self out of these Troubles, when with one one Word I may. O the Blindness of Man, which seeth not the Sun-shine; neither remembreth the Lord's Words. Consider therefore what he saith, You are the Light of the World. A City built on a Hill cannot be hid; neither do Men light a Candle and put it under a Bushel, but upon a Candlestick, that it may shine, and give Light to them in the House. And in another Place (he saith) You shall be led before Kings and Rulers: Fear ye not them which kill the Body, but him which killeth both Body and Soul. Whosoever shall confess me before Men, him will I also confess before my Father which is in Heaven; and he that denieth me before Men, him will I deny before my heavenly Father.

Wherefore, seeing the Words of the Lord be so plain, How, or by what Authority, will this wise Counsellor then approve this his Counsel which he doth give? God forbid that I should relinquish the Commandments of God to follow the Counsel of Men. For, it is written, Blessed is the Man that hath not gone in the Way of Sinners, and hath not stood in the Counsel of the Ungodly, and hath not sit in the Chair of Pestilence. God forbid that I should deny Christ where I ought to confess him: I will not set more by my Life than by my Soul; neither will I exchange the Life to come for this World here present. O how foolishly speaketh he, which argueth me of Foolishness!

And a little farther he saith. And now let this carnal politick Counsellor, and Disputer of this World, tell wherein have they to blame me: If in mine Examinations I have not answered so after their Mind and Affection as they required of me, seeing it is not our selves that speak, but the Lord that speaketh in us, as he himself doth fore-witness, saying, When you shall be brought before Rulers and Magistrates, It is not you that speak, but the Spirit of my Father that shall be in you. Wherefore, if the Lord be true and faithful of his Word, as it is most certain, then there is no Blame in me; for he gave the Words that I did speak, and who was I that I could resist his Will?

If any Man shall reprehend the Things that I said, let him then quarrel with the Lord, whom it pleased to work so in me; and if the Lord be not to be blamed, neither am I herein to be accused, which did that I purposed not, and that I forethought not of. The Things that there I did utter and express [He means when he was before the Magistrates] if they were otherwise than well, let them shew it, and then will I say that they were my Words and not the Lord's. But if they were good and approved, and such as cannot justly be accused, then must it needs be granted; spite of their Teeth, that they proceed of the Lord; and then who be they that shall accuse me? People of Prudence? Or, Who shall condemn me? Just Judges? And though they so do, yet, nevertheless, the Word shall not be frustrate; neither shall the Gospel be foolish, or therefore decay; but rather, the Kingdom of God, shall the more prosper and flourish to the Israelites, and shall pass the sooner unto the Elect of Christ Jesus; and they which shall so do, shall prove the grievous Judgment of God. Neither shall they scape, without Punishment, that be persecutors and murderers of the Just.

Beloved (saith he) lift up your Eyes, and consider the Counsels of God, he hath shewed unto us of late, an Image of his Plague, which was to our Correction; and if we shall not receive him, he will draw out his Sword, and strike with Sword, Pestilence, and Famine, the Nation that shall rise against Christ.

This, as I said, is Part of a Letter, writ by Pomponius Algerius, an Italian Martyr, who when he wrote it was in Prison, in, as he calls it, his delectable Orchard, the Prison of Leomine, 12. Calend. August, Anno 1555. As is to be seen in the second Volume of the Book of Martyrs.

This Man was, when he wrote this Letter, in the House of the Forest of Lebanon; in the Church in the Wilderness; in the Place and Way of contending for the Truth of God, and he drank of both these bitter Cups of which I spake before; to wit, of that which was exceeding bitter, and of that which was exceeding sweet; and the Reason why he complained not of the Bitter, was, because the sweet had overcome it; as his Afflictions abounded for Christ, so did his Consolations by him: So, did I say? they abounded much more.

But was not this Man, think you, a Gyant? A Pillar in this House? Had he not also, now, hold of the Shield of Faith? Yea, was he not now in the Combat? And did he not behave himself valiantly? Was not his mind elevated a thousand Degrees beyond Sense, carnal Reasons, fleshly Love, self Concerns, and the Desires of embracing temporal Things? This Man had got that, by the end, that pleased him; neither could all the Flatteries, Promises, Threats, or Reproaches, make him once listen to, or desire to enquire after what the World, or the Glory of it could afford. His Mind was captivated with Delights invisible, he covered to shew his Love to his Lord, by laying down his Life for his Sake? he long'd to be there, where there shall be no more Pain, nor Sorrow, nor Sighing nor Tears, nor Troubles, He was a Man of a thousand.

But to return again to our Text. You know we are now upon the Vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon: which, I have told you, could not be Vessels for 4 T Worship;

Worship; for, that Worship that was ordained to be performed at the Temple, was also confined to that, and to the Vessels that were there. Therefore, they must be, in all probability, the Vessels that I have mentioned, the which, you see how we have expounded and applied.

If I am out, I know it not; if others can give me better Light, here about, for it I will be thankful.

There was also added to this House of ^{2 Chron. 8.} the Forest of Lebanon, ^{3, 4, 5, 6.} Store-Cities, ^{ch. 27, 3, 4.} Chariot-Cities, and Cities of Horsemen; unto which, King Jotham added Castles, and Towers.

These might be to signify, by what Ways and Means, God would at times revenge the Quarrel of his Church, even in this World, upon them that, without Cause, should for their Faith, and Worship, set themselves against them. For, here is a face of threatening Revenge, they were Store-Houses, Chariot-Cities, Cities of Horsemen, with Castles, and Towers. And they stood on the same ground that this House was builded upon, even in the Forest of Lebanon.

We know, that in Israel, God stirred up Kings, who all times suppress'd Idolatry there, and plagued the Persecutors too, as Jehu, Hezekiah, Josiah, &c. And he has promised that, even in Gospel times, Kings shall hate the Whore, make her desolate, and naked, and shall eat her Flesh, and burn her with Fire.

Here now are the Store-Houses, Chariot-Cities, Cities of Horsemen, with Towers, and Castles, for the Help of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, for the Help of the Church in the Wilderness, or, as you have it, in another Place, As the Serpent cast Floods of Water out of his Mouth, after the Woman, that he might cause her to be carried away of the Flood: So the Earth helped the Woman, and the Earth opened her Mouth, and swallowed up the Flood, which the Dragon cast out of his Mouth.

Thus the Medes and Persians helped to deliver the Church, from the Clutches and strong Hand of the King of Babylon.

This Lebanon, therefore, was a place considerable, and a Figure of great things; the Countenance of the Lord Jesus is compared to it, and so is the Face of his Spouse, and also the Smell of her Garment.

C H A P. X.

Of the Porch of the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

Solomon, also, made a Porch to this House, of the Forest of Lebanon. He made several Porches, as, one for the Temple, one for the House which he dwelt in, one for the Throne of the Kingdom, and this that was for the House of the Forest of Lebanon; of all which, this last ^{1 King 7. 6.} is that mentioned.

And he made a Porch of Pillars, the Length thereof was fifty Cubits, the breadth thereof thirty Cubits; and the Porch was before them, and the other Pillars, and the thick Beams were before them. This Porch was famous, both for Length, and Breadth, and Strength; it was able to contain a thousand Men. 'Twas like that of the Tower of David, otherwise called, the strong Hold, ^{2 Sam. 5.} the Castle of Zion, which is the City of David, ^{1 Chron. 11. 5.}

This Tower of David was built for an Armoury, whereon there hanged a thousand Bucklers, all Shields of mighty Men. ^{Song 4.}

It was fifty Cubits long, and thirty broad; a spacious Place; a large Receptacle for any that liked to take Shelter there.

It was made of Pillars, even as the House within was, or it stood upon Pillars. The Pillars, you know, I told you before, were to shew us what mighty Men, or what Men of mighty Grace, God would have his Church in the Wilderness, furnished with.

And 'tis worth your observing here also we have Pillars, Pillars. And he made the Porch of Pillars; that is, of Pillars of Cedar, as the rest of the Pillars of the House were.

And the Porch was before them. That is, as I take it, an entring Porch, less than the Space within; so that the Pillars neither as to Number nor Bigness could be seen without, until, at least, they that had a mind to see, entred the Mouth of the Porch.

And by this was fitly prefigured, how unseen the Strength of the Church under Persecution is of all that are without her. Alas! they think that she will be run down with a push; or, as they said, What do these feeble Jews? Will they fortifie themselves? Will they sacrifice? Will they make an end in a Day? Will they revive the Stones, out of the Heaps of Rubbish, which are burnt? Alas! If a Fox go up, he will even break down their stone Wall. ^{Neh. 4. 2, 3}

But do you think these Men saw the Strength of the Jews now? No, no, their Pillars were within, and so were shadowed from their Eyes. David himself could not tell what Judgment to make of the way of the World, against the People of God, until he went into the Sanctuary of God. ^{Psal. 73. 19, 17.}

How then can the World judge of the Condition of the Saints? Alas, had they known the Churches Strength; surely, they would not as they have, so furiously assaulted the same. But have they got by all they have done, either against the Head or Body of the same?

She yet has Being in the World, and will have, shall have, tho' all the Nations on Earth should gather themselves together against it: Nor is it the cutting off many that will will make her cease to flourish. Alas, were she not some times pruned, and trimmed, her boughs would stand too thick. Those therefore that are taken away, with God's Pruning Hooks, are removed that the under-Branches may grow the better.

But, I say, to extinguish her, 'tis in vain for any to hope for that; she stands upon Pillars, on Rocks, on the Munition of Rocks; stand therefore she must, whether the World believes it or no.

And the other Pillars were before them, or, as the Margent has it, according to them: The other Pillars, that is, they more inward; those that were in the Body of the House. Christ doth not do as the poor World doth, that is, set the best leg before; the Pillars that were more inward, in the House, were as good as those in the Front: 'Tis true, some are appointed to Death, to shew to the World, the Strength of Grace, not that he can help no body to that Strength but they: The most feeble of his Flock, when Christ shall stand by and strengthen them, are able to do, and bear, what the strong have under-went. For so he saith,

And the other Pillars, and the thick Beams, were according to them: nay before them? Indeed, they that are left, seem weak, and feeble, if compared to them that have already been tried with Fire and Sword, and all the Tortures of Men. But, that Grace (by which they were helped that have done such mighty Acts already,) can help those who seem more weak, yet to go beyond them. God

Amos 5.9. strengtheneth the spoiled, against the strong; so that the spoiled come against the Fortrefs:
Isa. 33. 23 Or, as another Scripture has it, The Lame take the Prey.

So that, you see, here is all substance: All here are Pillars, and thick Beams, both in the House, and in the Porch.

The Conclusion therefore is. The true Members of the Church in the Wilderness, are strong, mighty, being made able by the Grace of God, for their standing; and having also coupled, and compacted together, with the biggest Bands, or thickest Beams, that the Holy Ghost puts forth, to bind and hold this Church together.

And there is reason for it. The Church is God's Tower, or Battery, by which he beateth down Antichrist; or if you will have it in the Words of the Prophet, Thou art my battle-Ax, and Weapons of War; and with thee (saith God) will I break in Pieces, &c.

Wherefore, since the Church is set for Defence of Religion, and to be as a Battery to beat down Antichrist, 'tis requisite that she should be made up of Pillars of strong and stanch Materials.

The Largeness of the Porch was commodious, it was the next Shelter, or the Place where-unto they of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, when pursued, might resort, or retreat, with the less Difficulty. Thus the Church in the Wilderness, has her Porch, her Place, her Bosom, where-unto her discouraged may continually resort, and take up, and be refreshed. As Abiathar thrust in to David, and his Men, in the Wilderness, in the Day when Saul had slain his Father, and of his Brethren even four-score and five Persons that did wear a Linnen Ephod.

When the Apostles were persecuted, they went to their own Company, because the Lord was there. Acts 4. 23.

There we find the Pillars, and have both Solace and Example. There, as Pomponius said of his Person, stands Christ Jesus, in the front as Captain of the Lord's Host, and round about him, the old Fathers, Prophets, Apostles, and Martyrs.

This Porch, therefore, I take to be a Figure of those cordial and large Affections, which the Church, in the Wilderness, has to all, and for all them that love the Truth, and that suffer, and are afflicted, for the sincere Profession thereof.

This Porch was bigger than that which belonged to the Temple, by much; to shew that those that are made the Object of the Enemies rage most, are usually most prepared, with Affection, for them that are in the same Condition. Fellow-feeling is a great Matter. 'Tis said of the poor afflicted People, that were in Macedonia, in their great Trial of Affliction, the Abundance of their Joy, and their deep Poverty, abounded unto the Riches of their Liberality; for to their Power, yea, and beyond their Power, they shewed their Charity to the destroyed Church of Jerusalem.

2 Cor. 8. 1,

And a Porch, in a Forest; a Bosom, in a Wilderness; is seasonable to them, that in the Wilderness are faint and weary.

Jer. 38. 7,

16, 17, 18.

And he made a Porch of Pillars. The Porch is but the Entrance of the House, whither many go, that yet step not into the House, but make their Retreat from thence: But it is, because, they are Non-Residents, they only come to see; or else, if they pretended more, it was not from the Heart. They went out from us, said John, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would, no doubt, have

Jer. 51.

continued with us ; but they went out, that it might be made manifest, that they were not all of us.

And, forasmuch, as this Porch was fifty Cubits long, Men may take many a Step strait forward therein, and be but in the Porch yet. Even, as we have seen Men go, as one would think, till they are out of View, in the Porch of this Church, in the Wilderness; but presently you have them without the Door again.

True, this Porch was made of Pillars ; and so to every one, at first Entrance, it shewed the Power of the Place ; the Church, in the Wilderness, also is so builded, that Men may see it is ordained for Defence. Men also, at their first offer to step over the Threshold there, with Mouth profess, that they will dwell as Soldiers there : But Words are but Wind, when they see the Storm a coming, they will take care to shift for themselves : This House, or Church, in the Wilderness, must see to it self, for all them.

As the House therefore is a Figure of the Church, in the Wilderness ; so, so great a Porch, belonging to it, may be also to shew that Numbers may there be entertained, that, if need be, will quickly whip out again. Although therefore the Porch was made of Pillars, yet every one that walked there were not such. The Pillars was to shew them, not what they were, but what they should be that entred into this House.

The Church also, in the Wilderness, even in her Porch, or first Entrance into it, is full of Pillars, Apostles, Prophets, and Martyrs of Jesus : There also hang up the Shields that the old Warriors have used, and are plastered upon the Walls, the brave Achievements which they have done : There are also such Encouragements there, for those that stand, that one would think none that came thither, with Pretence to serve there, would for very Shame attempt to go back again ; and yet not to their Credit be it spoken, they will forsake the Place without blushing ; yea, and plead for this their so doing. But I have done with the explicatory Part, and conclude, that from these ten Particulars thus handled in this Book, the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was a Type, or Figure, of the Church in the Wilderness.

Nor do I know, if this be denied, how so fitly to apply some of these Texts, which speak to the Church to support her under her Troubles, of the Comforts that afterwards she shall enjoy ; since they are presented to her under such Metaphors, as clearly denote, she was once in a Wilderness, for Instance.

1. Sing O ye Heavens, for the Lord hath done it (that is, redeemed his Servant Jacob, from their Sins, and from the Hand of the Enemy,) shout ye lower Part of the Earth, (or Church once trampled under Feet,) break forth into singing, ye Mountains, O Forest, and every Tree therein ; (here is Comfort for the Church, under the Name of a Forest, that in which the House, we have been speaking of, was built ;) for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himself in Israel. Isa. 44. 23.

To what, I say, can this Text more fitly be applied, than to the Church in the Wilderness, put here under the Name of a Forest, as well as under the Title of Heaven. Yea, methinks 'tis cried here to her, O Forest, on purpose to intimate to us, that the House, in the Forest of Lebanon, was the Figure of the Church in this Condition.

2. Again, Is it not yet a very little while, Isa. 29. 17 and Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful Field, and the fruitful Field shall be esteemed as a Forest. to 21. And in that Day shall the Deaf hear the Words of the Book ; and the Eyes of the Blind shall see out of Obscurity, and out of Darkness. The meek also shall increase their joy in the Lord, and the poor, among Men, shall rejoyce in the holy one of Israel : For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for Iniquity are cut off. Lebanon was a Forest, but now she must be a fruitful Field. What Means he here by Lebanon, but the Church under Persecution ; and the fruitful Field, Mistress Babylon shall become as a Forest, that is, as the Church under distress. But when shall this be ? Why, when the terrible one is brought low, and the scorner is consumed, &c.

What can be more plain than this, to prove that Lebanon, even the House, in the Forest of Lebanon (for that is here intended) was a Figure of the Church, in the Wilderness, or in a tempted and persecuted State. For to be turned into a fruitful Field, signifies the recovering of the afflicted Church, into a State most quiet and fruitful ; fruitful Fields are quiet, because they are fenced, and so shall the Church be in that Day.

3. The Wilderness, and the solitary Places shall be glad for them, and the Desert shall rejoice, and blossom as a Rose. Isa. 35. 1.

What are we to understand by these Words, if they be not a Prophecy of the flourishing State of Christ's Kingdom ; who in the Days of her Persecution, is compared to a Wilderness, to a Desert, and to solitary Places. And she shall be glad for them ; for what ? For that she is rid of the Dragons, Wild Beasts, Satyrs, Screech-Owles, Great Owle, and Vulture, Types of the Beasts, and unclean Birds of Antichrist.

She shall be glad for them, that they are taken away from her, and placed far away : For then no Lion shall be there, nor any ravenous Beast : Yea, 'tis the Habitation of Dragons, where each lay, shall be Grass, Ch. 34. 13. with Reeds, and Rushes, as it is Ch. 35. to 18. And

And now, The lame Man shall leap as an Hart, and the Tongue of the Dumb shall sing; for in the Wilderness shall Waters break out, and Streams in the Desert. Read the whole Chapter.

For that the Desert and Wilderness is thus mentioned, and that to express the State of the Church in trouble by; 'tis clear that Lebanon is not excluded, nor the Thing that is signified thereby, which, I say, is the Church, in her low Estate, in her Forest, or Wilderness Condition.

Isa. 41. 18, 19. 4. I will plant in the Wilderness, the Cedar, the Shittah-Tree, the Myrtle-Tree, and the Oyl-Tree; and I will set in the Desert, the Fir-Tree, and the Pine, and the Box-Tree together.

Can any think that Trees are the Things taken care of here? They are the Men that Antichrist has murdered in his Heat and Rage against Christ, the which God will restore again to his Church, when Antichrist is dead and buried, in the Sides of the Pits Mouth.

And that you may the better understand, he meaneth so, he expresseth again the State of the Church, as like to a Wilderness Condition, and promiseth that in that very Church now so like a Wilderness, to plant it again with Christians, flourishing with Variety of Gifts and Graces, signified by the various Nature, and Name of the Trees, spoken of here.

Isa. 43. 19, 20. 5. Behold, I create a new Thing; now it shall spring forth, shall ye not know it? I will even make a Way in the Wilderness, and Rivers in the Desert; the Beasts of the Field shall honour me, the Dragons and the Owls, because I give Waters in the Wilderness, and Rivers in the Desert, to give Drink to my People, my chosen.

Here God alludes to the Condition of the Children of Israel, in the Wilderness of old, and implies they shall be in a Wilderness again; and as then he gave them Water, and delivered them from Serpents, Cockatrices, Vipers, Dragons; so he will do now, now to his People his chosen.

Isa. 51. 3. 6. The Lord shall comfort Zion, he will comfort all her waste Places, and he will make her Wilderness like Eden, and her Desert like the Garden of the Lord; Joy and Gladness shall be found therein, Thanksgiving, and the Voice of Melody.

See, here are Sion's waste Places, Sion's Wilderness, Forest, or Lebanon. Next here is a Promise that he will comfort her; and what doth this suppose, but that she was in her Wilderness State, uncomfortable at least, as to her outward Peace, her Liberty, and Gospel Privileges and Beauties. Then here is the Comparison, by which he illustrates his Promise, as to what Degree and Pitch he will comfort her. He will make her Wilderness, like Eden, and her Desert like the Garden of the Lord.

The Effects of all which will be, she will have Joy, and Gladness; she will be thankful, and be melodious in her Voice, in her Soul to the Lord. This, I say, will follow upon her Deliverance from her Desert, her Wilderness, her Desolate, and Comfortless State: Rev. 19. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6. All which is more fully expressed, by her repeated Allelujabs.

Which Allelujabs there, are the Eff & of her Deliverance from the Rage of the Beast and great Whore, of whose Greatness, and Ruin, you read in the two foregoing Chapters.

Now, I say, since the Church was to be in a Wilderness Condition, under the Gospel; and since we have this House of the Forest of Lebanon, so particularly set forth in the Scriptures; and also since this House, its Furniture, its Troubles, and State, do so paint out this Church, in this Wilderness State, I take it to be for that very Thing designed, that is to say, to prefigure this Church in this her so solitary and Wilderness State.

We will now therefore here make a brief Conclusion of all. First, this may inform us of the Reason of the deplorable State of a professing People. It is allotted to them in this World to be so. The World, and Men of the World, must have their Tranquility here, and must be posses of all; this was fore-shewn in Esau, who had of his Sons many that were Dukes and Kings before there was any King in Israel. Gen. 36. 31. God so disposing of Things that all may give Place, when his Son shall come to reign in Mount Zion, and before his Ancients gloriously, which coming of his will be at the Resurrection, and end of this World, and then shall his Saints reign with him, when Christ Col. 3. 3, 4. who is our Life shall appear, then shall we also appear with him in Glory.

Let not therefore Kings and Princes and Potentates be afraid; the Saints that are such indeed, know their Places, and are of a peaceable Deportment; the Earth God Ps. 115. 16. hath given to the Children of Men, and his Mat. 25. Kingdom, to the Sons of God. Luk. 12. 32.

I know there are extravagant Opinions in the World, about the Kingdom of Christ, as if it consisted in temporal Glory, in Part, and as if he would take it to him by carnal Weapons, and so maintain it in its greatness and grandeur; but I confess my self an Alien to these Notions, and believe and profess the quite contrary, and look for the coming of Christ to Judgment personally, 2 Thes. 2. 8. and 'twixt this and that, for his coming in Spirit, and in the Power of his Word to Isa. 49. 23. Ch. 52. 15. Ch. 60. 3. 10, 11, 16, 62, 2. destroy Antichrist, to inform Kings, and so to give Quietness to his Church on Earth; which shall assuredly be accomplished, Rev. 21. 24. when the Reign of the Beast, the Whore, the false Prophet, and of the Man of Sin is out.

2. Let this teach Men, not to think that the Church is curst of God, because she is put in a Wilderness State: Alas, that is but

continued with us; but they went out, that it might be made manifest, that they were not all of us.

And, inasmuch, as this Porch was fifty Cubits long, Men may take many a Step strait forward therein, and be but in the Porch yet. Even, as we have seen Men go, as one would think, till they are out of View, in the Porch of this Church, in the Wilderness; but presently you have them without the Door again.

True, this Porch was made of Pillars; and so to every one, at first Entrance, it shewed the Power of the Place; the Church, in the Wilderness, also is so builded, that Men may see it is ordained for Defence. Men also, at their first offer to step over the Threshold there, with Mouth profess, that they will dwell as Soldiers there: But Words are but Wind, when they see the Storm a coming, they will take care to shift for themselves: This House, or Church, in the Wilderness, must see to it self, for all them.

As the House therefore is a Figure of the Church, in the Wilderness; so, so great a Porch, belonging to it, may be also to shew that Numbers may there be entertained, that, if need be, will quickly whip out again. Although therefore the Porch was made of Pillars, yet every one that walked there were not such. The Pillars was to shew them, not what they were, but what they should be that entered into this House.

The Church also, in the Wilderness, even in her Porch, or first Entrance into it, is full of Pillars, Apostles, Prophets, and Martyrs of Jesus: There also hang up the Shields that the old Warriors have used, and are plastered upon the Walls, the brave Achievements which they have done: There are also such Encouragements there, for those that stand, that one would think none that came thither, with Pretence to serve there, would for very Shame attempt to go back again; and yet not to their Credit be it spoken, they will forsake the Place without blushing; yea, and plead for this their so doing. But I have done with the explicatory Part, and conclude, that from these ten Particulars thus handled in this Book, the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was a Type, or Figure, of the Church in the Wilderness.

Nor do I know, if this be denied, how so fitly to apply some of these Texts, which speak to the Church to support her under her Troubles, of the Comforts that afterwards she shall enjoy; since they are presented to her under such Metaphors, as clearly denote, she was once in a Wilderness, for Instance.

1. Sing O ye Heavens, for the Lord hath done it (that is, redeemed his Servant Jacob, from their Sins, and from the Hand of the Enemy,) shout ye lower Part of the Earth, (or Church once trampled under Feet,) break forth into singing, ye Mountains, O Forest, and every Tree therein; (here is Comfort for the Church, under the Name of a Forest, that in which the House, we have been speaking of, was built;) for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himself in Israel. Isa. 44. 23.

To what, I say, can this Text more fitly be applied, than to the Church in the Wilderness, put here under the Name of a Forest, as well as under the Title of Heaven. Yea, methinks 'tis cried here to her, O Forest, on purpose to intimate to us, that the House, in the Forest of Lebanon, was the Figure of the Church in this Condition.

2. Again, Is it not yet a very little while, Isa. 29. 17 and Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful Field, and the fruitful Field shall be esteemed as a Forest. to 21. And in that Day shall the Deaf hear the Words of the Book; and the Eyes of the Blind shall see out of Obscurity, and out of Darkness. The meek also shall increase their joy in the Lord, and the poor, among Men, shall rejoice in the holy one of Israel: For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for Iniquity are cut off. Lebanon was a Forest, but now she must be a fruitful Field. What Means he here by Lebanon, but the Church under Persecution; and the fruitful Field, Mistress Babylon shall become as a Forest, that is, as the Church under distress. But when shall this be? Why, when the terrible one is brought low, and the scorner is consumed, &c.

What can be more plain than this, to prove that Lebanon, even the House, in the Forest of Lebanon (for that is here intended) was a Figure of the Church, in the Wilderness, or in a tempted and persecuted State. For to be turned into a fruitful Field, signifies the recovering of the afflicted Church, into a State most quiet and fruitful; fruitful Fields are quiet, because they are fenced, and so shall the Church be in that Day.

3. The Wilderness, and the solitary Places shall be glad for them, and the Desert shall rejoice, and blossom as a Rose. Isa. 35. 1.

What are we to understand by these Words, if they be not a Prophecy of the flourishing State of Christ's Kingdom; who in the Days of her Persecution, is compared to a Wilderness, to a Desert, and to solitary Places. And she shall be glad for them; for what? For that she is rid of the Dragons, Wild Beasts, Satyrs, Screech-Owles, Great Owle, and Vulture, Types of the Beasts, and unclean Birds of Antichrist.

She shall be glad for them, that they are taken away from her, and placed far away: For then no Lion shall be there, nor any ravenous Beast: Yea, 'tis the Habitation of Dragons, where each lay, shall be Grass, Ch. 34. 13. to 18. with Reeds, and Rushes, as it is Ch. 35. And

And now, The lame Man shall leap as an Hart, and the Tongue of the Dumb shall sing; for in the Wilderness shall Waters break out, and Streams in the Desert. Read the whole Chapter.

For that the Desert and Wilderness is thus mentioned, and that to express the State of the Church in trouble by; 'tis clear that Lebanon is not excluded, nor the Thing that is signified thereby, which, I say, is the Church, in her low Estate, in her Forest, or Wilderness Condition.

Isa. 41. 18, 19. 4. I will plant in the Wilderness, the Cedar, the Shittah-Tree, the Myrtle-Tree, and the Oyl-Tree; and I will set in the Desert, the Fir-Tree, and the Pine, and the Box-Tree together.

Can any think that Trees are the Things taken care of here? They are the Men that Antichrist has murdered in his Heat and Rage against Christ, the which God will restore again to his Church, when Antichrist is dead and buried, in the Sides of the Pits Mouth.

And that you may the better understand, he meaneth so, he expresseth again the State of the Church, as like to a Wilderness Condition, and promiseth that in that very Church now so like a Wilderness, to plant it again with Christians, flourishing with Variety of Gifts and Graces, signified by the various Nature, and Name of the Trees, spoken of here.

Isa. 43. 19, 20. 5. Behold, I create a new Thing; now it shall spring forth, shall ye not know it? I will even make a Way in the Wilderness, and Rivers in the Desert; the Beasts of the Field shall honour me, the Dragons and the Owls, because I give Waters in the Wilderness, and Rivers in the Desert, to give Drink to my People, my chosen.

Here God alludes to the Condition of the Children of Israel, in the Wilderness of old, and implies they shall be in a Wilderness again; and as then he gave them Water, and delivered them from Serpents, Cockatrices, Vipers, Dragons; so he will do now, now to his People his chosen.

Isa. 51. 3. 6. The Lord shall comfort Zion, he will comfort all her waste Places, and he will make her Wilderness like Eden, and her Desert like the Garden of the Lord; Joy and Gladness shall be found therein, Thanksgiving, and the Voice of Melody.

See, here are Sion's waste Places, Sion's Wilderness, Forest, or Lebanon. Next here is a Promise that he will comfort her; and what doth this suppose, but that she was in her Wilderness State, uncomfortable at least, as to her outward Peace, her Liberty, and Gospel Privileges and Beauties. Then here is the Comparison, by which he illustrates his Promise, as to what Degree and Pitch he will comfort her. He will make her Wilderness, like Eden, and her Desert like the Garden of the Lord.

The Effects of all which will be, she will have Joy, and Gladness; she will be thankful, and be melodious in her Voice, in her Soul to the Lord. This, I say, will follow upon her Deliverance from her Desert, her Wilderness, her Desolate, and Comfortless State: All which is more fully expressed, by her repeated Allelujahs.

Which Allelujahs there, are the Eff & of her Deliverance from the Rage of the Beast and great Whore, of whose Greatness, and Ruine, you read in the two foregoing Chapters.

Now, I say, since the Church was to be in a Wilderness Condition, under the Gospel; and since we have this House of the Forest of Lebanon, so particularly set forth in the Scriptures; and also since this House, its Furniture, its Troubles, and State, do so paint out this Church, in this Wilderness State, I take it to be for that very Thing designed, that is to say, to prefigure this Church in this her so solitary and Wilderness State.

We will now therefore here make a brief Conclusion of all. First, this may inform us of the Reason of the deplorable State of a professing People. It is allotted to them in this World to be so. The World, and Men of the World, must have their Tranquility here, and must be possesst of all; this was fore-shewn in Esau, who had of his Sons many that were Dukes and Kings before there was any King in Israel. God so disposing of Things that all may give Place, when his Son shall come to reign in Mount Zion, and before his Ancients gloriously, which coming of his will be at the Resurrection, and end of this World, and then shall his Saints reign with him, when Christ who is our Life shall appear, then shall we also appear with him in Glory.

Let not therefore Kings and Princes and Potentates be afraid; the Saints that are such indeed, know their Places, and are of a peaceable Deportment; the Earth God hath given to the Children of Men, and his Kingdom, to the Sons of God.

I know there are extravagant Opinions in the World, about the Kingdom of Christ, as if it consisted in temporal Glory, in Part, and as if he would take it to him by carnal Weapons, and so maintain it in its greatness and grandeur; but I confess my self an Alien to these Notions, and believe and profess the quite contrary, and look for the coming of Christ to Judgment personally, and 'twixt this and that, for his coming in Spirit, and in the Power of his Word to destroy Antichrist, to inform Kings, and so to give Quietness to his Church on Earth; which shall assuredly be accomplished, when the Reign of the Beast, the Whore, the false Prophet, and of the Man of Sin is out.

2. Let this teach Men, not to think that the Church is curst of God, because she is put in a Wilderness State: Alas, that is but to train her up in a Way of Solitariness, to make her Canaan the more welcome to her. (Rest is sweet to the labouring Man,) Yea, this Condition is the first Step to Heaven; yea, 'tis a Preparation to that Kingdom. God's Ways are not as Man's. I have chosen thee, saith he, in the Furnace of Affliction.

Ezek. 20. 6
Pl. 107. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5,
6, 7.
When Israel came out of Egypt, they were led of God into the Wilderness; but why? That he might have them to a Land, that he had espied for them, that he might bring them to a City of Habitation.

The World know not the Way of the Lord, nor the Judgment of our God. Do you think that Saints that dwell in the World, and that have more of the Mind of God than the World, would, could, so rejoice in God, in the Cross, in Tribulations and Distresses? Were they not assured that through many Tribulations is the very Road-Way to Heaven.

Let this then encourage the Saints to hope, and to rejoice in hope of the Glory of God, notwithstanding present Tribulations. This is our Seed-time, our Winter. Afflictions are to try us of what Mettle we are made; yea, and to shake off worm-eaten Fruit, and such as are rotten at Core. Troubles for Christ's Sake are but like the prick of an Awl in the Tip of the Ear, in order to hang a Jewel there.

Let this also put the Saints upon Patience; when we know that a Tryal will have an End, we are by that Knowledge encouraged to exercise Patience. I have a bad Master, but I have but a Year to serve under him, and that makes me serve him with Patience: I have but a Mile to go in this dirty Way, and then I shall have my Path pleasant and green, and this makes me tread the dirty Way with Patience.

I am now in my Rags, but by that a quarter of a Year is come and gone, two hundred a Year comes into my Hand, wherefore I will wait, and exercise Patience. Thus might I multiply Comparisons. Be patient then my Brethren: But how long? to the coming of the Lord. But when will that be? the coming of the Lord draws nigh.

Be patient, my Brethren, belong Patient, even to the coming of the Lord: Behold, the Hu bandman waiteth for the precious Fruit of the Earth; and hath long Patience for it until he receive the early and latter Rain. Be ye also Patient, stablish your Hearts, for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh. Jam. 5. 7, 8.

Of Antichrist and his Ruine :

A N D

Of the Slaying the WITNESSES.

A PREMONITION to the READER.

AFTER that God had delivered Babylon and her King into the Hands of the Kings of the Medes and Persians, then began the Liberty of the Jews from their long and tedious Captivity: For though Nebuchadnezzar and his Sons did tyrannically enslave, and hold them under; yet God so wrought with the Hearts of those Kings that succeeded them, that they made Proclamation to them to go home and build their City, Temple, &c. and worship their own God according to his own Law. But because I would not be tedious in enumerating Instances for the clearing of this, therefore I will content myself with one, and with a brief Note upon it. It is that in the Seventh of Ezra: And whosoever will not do the Law of thy God, and the Law of the King, let Judgment be executed speedily upon him, whether it be to Death or to Banishment, or to Confiscation of Goods, or to Imprisonment. This is the Conclusion of a Letter that King Artaxerxes gave to Ezra the Priest, and Scribe, when he granted his Petition, and gave him leave to go to Jerusalem to build the Temple, and to offer Sacrifice there to the God whose House is in Jerusalem. And a Conclusion it was both comfortable and sharp; comfortable to Ezra and his Companions, but sharp unto his Enemies. I shall here present you with a Copy of the Letter at large.

Ezra 7. 12. Artaxerxes King of Kings, Unto Ezra the Priest, a Scribe of the Law of the God of Heaven, perfect Peace, and at such a Time:

13. I make a Decree, That all they of the People of Israel, and of his Priests and Levites in my Realm, which are minded of their own Free-will to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee.

14. Foras-

14. Forasmuch as thou art sent of the King, and of his seven Counsellors, to enquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem, according to the Law of thy God which is in thine Hand.

15. And to carry the Silver and Gold, which the King and his Counsellors have freely offered unto the God of Israel, whose Habitation is in Jerusalem.

16. And all the Silver and Gold that thou canst find in all the Province of Babylon, with the Free-will-offering of the People; and of the Priests, offering willingly for the House of their God; which is in Jerusalem.

17. That thou mayst buy speedily with this Money, Bullocks, Rams, Lambs, with their Meat-Offerings, and their Drink-offerings, and offer them upon the Altar of the House of your God, which is in Jerusalem.

18. And whatsoever shall seem good to thee and to thy Brethren, to do with the rest of the Silver and Gold, that do after the Will of your God.

19. The Vessels also that are given thee, for the Service of the House of thy God, those deliver thou before the God of Jerusalem.

20. And whatsoever more shall be needful for the House of thy God, which thou shalt have Occasion to bestow, bestow it out of the King's Treasure-house.

21. And I, even I Artaxerxes the King, do make a Decree to all the Treasurers which are beyond the River, that whatsoever Ezra the Priest, the Scribe of the Law of the God of Heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily.

22. Unto an hundred Talents of Silver, and to an hundred Measures of Wheat, and to an hundred Baths of Wine, and to an hundred Baths of Oil, and Salt without prescribing how much.

23. Whatsoever is commanded by the God of Heaven, let it be diligently done for the House of the God of Heaven: For why should there be Wrath against the Realm of the King and his Sons?

24. Also we certify you, that touching any of the Priests, and Levites, Singers, Porters, Nethinims, or Ministers of this House of God, it shall not be lawful to impose, toll, tribute, or custom upon them.

25. And thou, Ezra, after the Wisdom of thy God, that is in thine Hand, set Magistrates and Judges, which may judge all the People that are beyond the River, all such as know the Laws of thy God; and teach ye them that know them not.

26. And whosoever will not do the Law of thy God, and the Law of the King, let Judgment be executed speedily upon him, whether it be unto Death, or to Banishment, or to Confiscation of Goods, or to Imprisonment.

This is the Letter; and now for the Scope thereof.

First, Generally.

Secondly, Particularly.

Generally. The general Scope of the Letter is this: A Grant given by the King to Ezra the Scribe, to go to Jerusalem, and build there the Temple of God, and offer Sacrifice in it according to the Law: With Commissions annexed thereunto, to the King's Lieutenants, Treasurers and Governors on that Side the River, to further the Work with such Things as by the King was commanded they should.

But we will consider the Matter particularly.

1. As to the Manner of the Grant which the King gave to Ezra and his Brethren to go thither.

2. As to the King's Grant, with Reference to their Building, and Way of Worship.

3. With Reference to the King's Liberality and Gifts towards the building of the Temple, and by what Rules it was to be bestowed.

4. As to the Way that the King concluded they should be governed in their own Land.

5. With Reference to the King's Charge to his Officers that were thereabout, not to hinder Ezra in his Work.

6. And lastly, with Reference to the King's Threat and Commandment to do Judgment if they should hinder it.

First, As to the Manner of the Grant that the King gave to Ezra and his Brethren to go to build, it was such an one as forced none, but left every Jew to his own Choice, whether he would go or forbear. The Words are these: Artaxerxes, King of Kings, unto Ezra the Priest, a Scribe of the Law of the God of Heaven, perfect Peace, and at such a Time: I make a Decree, that all they of the People of Israel, and of his Priests and Levites in my Realm, which are minded of their own Free-will, to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee. Ver. 12. 13

Thus gracious then was the King: He made a Decree, That all they of the Captive Jews, their Priests and Levites, that would return to their own Land, to build their Temple, and to sacrifice there, might: He would hinder none, force none, but left them free to do as they would.

Secondly, As to the King's Grant, with reference to their Building, and Way of Wor- Ver. 14.
ship there, nothing was to be done therein, but according to the Law of the God of Ezra, which

which was in his Hands. Hence, when he was come to Jerusalem, he was to enquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem; to wit, What was wanting in order to the Temple and Worship of God there, according to the Law of his God, which was in his Hand. Also when they went about to build, and to sacrifice, all was to be done according as was Com-Ver. 23. manded by the God of Heaven: Yea, this was granted by the King and his seven Councillers.

Thirdly, As to the King's Liberality towards the building of this House, &c. it was large:
 Ver. 17. He gave Silver, Gold, Bullocks, Rams, Lambs; with Wheat, Wine, Oyl, and Salt;
 Ver. 22. but would by his Royal Power, give no Orders how in particular things should be bestowed, Ver. 18. but left all that to Ezra the Priest, to do with it according to the Will, Word, or Law of God.

Fourthly, As to the way that the King concluded they should be governed in their own Land, it was by their own Laws; yea, he did bid Ezra the Priest, after the Wisdom of his God that was in his Hand, set Magistrates and Judges, which might Judge all the People, &c. only he bid him make them such, which did know the Law of his God: Also the King added, That they should teach it to them that know it not.

Fifthly, As to the King's Officers, he gave them a charge not to hinder, but further this Work. To further this Work, not by putting their Hand thereto, (that was to be left to the Jews alone, especially to Ezra, according to the Law of his God,) but that they should speedily give him such things which the King had commanded, to wit, Silver, and Wheat, and
 Ver. 20. Wine, and Oyl, and Salt, for their encouragement; and to do therewith, as by the Law 21, 22.] of their God they should. Further, That they should not impose Toll, Tribute, or Custom, upon the Priests, Levites, Singers, Porters, Nethinims, or Ministers.

Sixthly, And now we come to the Conclusion, to wit, the King's Threat and Command to do Judgment on them that obeyed not the Law of Ezra's God, and the King.

Considering what hath been said before, I conclude.

1. That this King imposed no Law, no Priest, no People upon these Jews; but left them wholly to their own Law, their own Ministers, and their own People: All which were the Laws of God, the Priests of God, the People of God, as to their Building of their Temple, and the Worship of their God.

2. He forced not THIS People, no, not to their Land, their Temple, nor their Worship, by his or their Law; but left them free to their own mind, to do thereabout as they would.

3. He added not any Law therefore of his own, to prescribe Worship or to enforce it upon the Jews.

But you will say, Upon what then was the Threatning and the Command to punish grounded? I answer, Upon a supposed Breach of two Laws. He of the Jews, that in Jerusalem, rebelled against the Law of the Lord, was in his own Land left by the King to be punished by the same Law, according to the Penalties thereof: And he of the King's Officers, that refused to do the King's Laws, that refused to give the Jews such things as the King commanded, and that would yet exact such Customs and Tributes as the King forbade, should be punished by the King's Laws, whether unto Death, or unto Banishment, or unto Confiscation of Goods, or to Imprisonment.

And if all Kings would but give such Liberty, to wit, that God's People should be directed in their Temple-building, and Temple-Worship, as they find it in the Law of their God, without the Additions of Man's Inventions: And if all Kings did but lay the same Penalty upon them, of their pretended Servants that should hinder this Work, which this brave King Artaxerxes laid upon his; how many of the Enemies of the Jews, before this time, would have been hanged, banished, had their Goods confiscated to the King, or their Bodies shut up in Prison! The which we desire not; we desire only that this Letter of the King might be considered of, and we left to do as is there licens'd and directed: And when we do the contrary, let us be punish'd by the Law of God, as we are his Servants; and by the Law of the King, as we are his Subjects; and we shall never complain.

Only I cannot but observe how prettily it is done of some, who urge this Text to colour their Malice, Ignorance and Revenge withal, while they cry, The Law of God, and The Law of the King, when they will neither let, according to this Scripture, the Law of God, nor the Law of the King take place: Not the Law of God; for that they will not leave us to that, to square and govern ourselves in Temple-Work, and Sacrificing by. Nor will they do the Law of the King, which has made void, ipso facto, whatever Law is against the Word of God; but because themselves can do, they will force us to do so too.

Before I leave this, I would touch once again upon the Candour of this King Artaxerxes, who thus did: Because he gave this Leave and License to the Jews, contrary (if he had any) to his own National Worship; yea, and also to the impairing of his own Incomes. Methinks he should have a Religion of his own; and that, not that of the Jews, because he was a Gentile; and not, as we read of, proselyted to the Jews Religion. Indeed, he spake reverently of the God of Israel, and of his Temple-Worship, and Sacrifices, as did also several other Kings; but that will not prove that he was adapted to that Religion.

That

That his Incomes were impaired, 'tis evident; because he took off Toll, Tribute, and Custom from them, of whom mention is made before: nor is it, I think, to be believed, that he did exact it of their Brethren. But we may see what the Lord can do; for thus to do, was put into the Heart of the King by the God of Heaven. This therefore ariseth not of Nature: no more did the Kindness of Cyrus or Darius, of whom we read in the Beginning of this History. As God therefore did put it into the Hearts of the wicked Kings of Babylon, to distress his Church and People for their Sins; so he put it into the Hearts of the Kings of the Medes and Persians, who were to be, in a sense, their Saviours; to ease them of those Distresses, to take off the Yoke, and let them go free. Indeed, there was an Artaxerxes that put a Stop to this Work of God, and he also was of the Kings that had destroyed the Babylonians; for it doth not follow, because God hath begun to deliver his People, that therefore their Deliverance must be compleated without stop or let. The Protestants in France had more Favour formerly, than from their Prince they at this time have; yet I doubt not but that God will make that Horn also one of them (in his time) that (indeed) shall hate the Whore. As the Sins of God's People brought them into Captivity; so their Sins can hold them there; yea, and when the Time comes that Grace must fetch them out, yet the Oxen that draw this Cart may stumble; and the Way through Roughness, may shake it sorely. However, Heaven rules and over-rules; and by one Means and another, as the Captivity of Israel did seem to linger, so it came out at the Time appointed; in the Way that best pleased God, most profited them, and that most confounded those that were their implacable Enemies. This therefore should instruct those that yet dwell where the Woman sitteth, to Quietness and Patience.

To Quietness. For God rules, and has the Dispose of Things. Besides, it is a kind of arraignment of his Wisdom, to be discontent at that which at present is upon the Wheel. Above all, it displeases him than any should seek, or go about to revenge their own Injuries, or to work their own Deliverances; for that is the Work of God, and he will do it by the Kings: Nor is he weak, nor has he miss'd the Opportunity; nor doth he sleep but waketh, and waiteth to be gracious.

This also should teach them to be Patient, and put them upon bearing what at present they may undergo, patiently. Let them wait upon God, patiently let them wait upon Men, and patiently let them bear the Fruits of their own Transgressions; which though they should be none other but a deferring of the Mercy wished for, is enough to try, and crack, and break their Patience, if a continual Supply, and a daily Increase thereof be not given by the God of Heaven.

And before I do conclude this, let me also add one Word, more; to wit, To exhort them to look that they may see that which God at present may be doing among the Babylonians.

When God had his People into Babylon of old, he presented them with such Rarities there, as he never shewed them in their own Countrey. And is there nothing now to be seen by them that are not yet delivered from that Oppression, that may give them Occasion to stay themselves and wonder! What, is Preservation nothing? What, is Baffling and Bes fooling the Enemies of God's Church nothing? In the Maryan Days here at home, there was such sweet Songs sung in the Fire, such sweet Notes answering them from Prison, and such Providences, that Coals of burning Fire still dropped here and there upon the Heads of those that hated God; that it might, and doubtless did make those that did wisely consider of God's Doings, to think God was yet near, with, and for a despised and afflicted People.

I conclude then, first with a Word of Counsel, and then with a Word of Caution.

First, Let us mend our Pace in the Way of Reformation, that is the Way to hasten the Downfall of Antichrist. Ministers need reforming, particular Congregations need reforming, there are but few Church-Members but need reforming. This twenty Years we have been degenerating, both as to Principles, and as to Practice; and have grown at last into an amazing Likenths to the World, both as to Religion and civil Demeanour: Yea, I may say, so remiss have Churches been in instructing those that they have received into Fellowship with them; and so careless have the Received been, of considering the Grounds of their coming in to Churches, that most Members, in some places, seem now to be at a Loss; yea, and those Churches stand with their Fingers in their Mouths, and are as if they would not, durst not, or could not help it.

My Second is, A Word of Caution.

First, Take heed of over-looking, or of shutting your Eyes upon your own Guilt: He that covereth his Sins, shall not prosper. It is incident to some Men, when they find Repentance is far from them, to shut their Eyes upon their own Guilt, and to please themselves with such Notions of Deliverance from present Troubles, as will stand with that course of Sin which is got into their Families, Persons, and Professions, and with a State of Impenitence: But I advise you to take heed of this.

Secondly, Take heed in laying the Cause of your Troubles in the Badness of the Temper of Governours. I speak not now with Reflection upon any, excepting those concerned in this Caution: God is the chief, and has the Hearts of all, even of the worst of Men, in his hand. Good temper'd Men have sometimes brought Trouble, and bad-temper'd Men have

^{1 Sam. 14.} have sometimes brought Enlargement to the Churches of God: Saul brought Enlargement, ^{47, 48.} David brought Trouble: Ahab brought Enlargement, Jehosaphat and Hezekiah did both ^{2 Sam. 12.} sometimes bring Trouble: Therefore, the good or bad Tempers of Men sway nothing with ^{9, 10, 11.} God in this matter; they are the Sins or Repentances of his People, that make the Church ^{1 King. 12.} either happy or miserable upon Earth. ^{2 Chro. 19.}

^{Chap. 20.} Take heed, I say therefore, of laying of the Trouble of the Church of God at the Doors of ^{35, 36, 37.} Governours: especially at the Doors of Kings, who seldom trouble Churches of their own In- ^{Chap. 32.} clinations; (I say, seldom; for some have done so, as Pharaoh :) But I say, lay not the Cause ^{1 Sam. 22.} of your Trouble there; for oftentimes they see with other Mens Eyes, hear with other Mens ^{from Ver.} Ears, and act and do by the Judgments of others: (Thus did Saul, when he killed the ^{9. to Ver.} Priests of the Lord; and thus did Darius, when he cast Daniel into the Lyons Den :) But ^{19.} rather labour to see the true Cause of Trouble, which is Sin; and to attain to a Fitness to be ^{from Ver.} delivered out thence, and that is by Repentance, and Amendment of Life. If any object, ^{4. to Ver.} That God oft-times delivers his of meer Grace: I answer, That's no thanks to them; be- ^{17.} sides, we must mind our Duty. Further, When God comes to save his People, he can cut off such Objectors, if they be impenitent, as the Sinners of his People; and can save his Church, without letting them be Sharers in that Salvation: So he served many in the Wilderiness; and 'tis to be feared, so he will serve many at the downfall of Antichrist.

I shall say no more, but to testifie my Loyalty to my King, my Love to my Brethren, and Service for my Countrey, has been the Cause of this my present Scribble. Farewell.

Thine in the Lord,

J. BUNYAN.

Of ANTICHRIST.

ANTICHRIST is the Adversary of Christ; an Adversary really, a Friend pretendedly: So then, Antichrist is one that is against Christ, one that is for Christ, and one that is contrary ^{2 Thes. 2. 7} to him: (And this is that Mystery of Iniquity.) Against him in Deed, for him in Word, and contrary to him in Practice. Antichrist is so proud as to go before Christ, so humble as to pretend to come after him, and so audacious as to say that himself is he. Antichrist will cry up Christ; Antichrist will cry down Christ: Antichrist will pro- ^{Rev 13. 11} claim that himself is one above Christ. Antichrist is the Man of Sin, the Son of Perdition; a Beast, hath two Horns like a Lamb, but speaks as a Dragon.

Christ is the Son of God: Antichrist is the Son of Hell.

Christ is holy, meek, and forbearing: Antichrist is wicked, outrageous, and ex-acting.

Christ seeketh the Good of the Soul: Antichrist seeks his own Avarice and Revenge.

Christ is content to rule by his Word: Antichrist saith, The Word is not sufficient.

Christ preferreth his Father's Will above Heaven and Earth: Antichrist preferreth himself and his Traditions above all that is written, or that is called God, or worshipped.

Christ hath given us such Laws and Rules as are helpful and healthful to the Soul: Antichrist seeketh to abuse those Rules to our Hurt and Destruction.

Antichrist may be considered either more particularly, or more generally.

1. More particularly: And so there are many Antichrists. ^{1 Joh. 2. 18}

2. More generally: And so the many ^{2 Thes. 2. 3} maketh but one great Antichrist, one Man ^{Rev. 19. 2.} of Sin, one Enemy, one great Whore, one Son of Perdition.

Again, Antichrist must be distinguished with respect to his more internal and ex- ^{1 Joh. 4. 3.} ternal Parts; and so there is the Spirit, ^{2 Thes. 2. 7} Soul, or Life; and also the Body and Flesh of Antichrist. The Spirit, or Soul, or Life of Antichrist, is that Spirit of Error, that wicked, that Mystery of Iniquity, that under Colour and Pretence of Verity, draweth Men from Truth to Falshood. The Body or Flesh of Antichrist, is that Heap of Men, that Assembly of the Wicked, that Synagogue of Satan that is acted and governed by that Spirit. But God will destroy both Soul and Body; He shall consume the Glory of his Forrest, and of his ^{Ps. 10. 18.} fruitful Field, both Soul and Body, (or from the Soul, even to the Flesh) and they shall be (both Soul and Body) as when a Stand-ard-bearer fainteth.

Antichrist therefore is a mystical Man, ^{A particu- lar De- scription of Antichrist.} so made or begotten of the Devil, and sent into the World, himself being the chief and highest of him. Three Things therefore go to the making up of Antichrist, the Head, Body, and Soul. The Devil he is is the Head, the Synagogue of Satan that is the Body, that wicked Spirit of Iniquity that is the Soul of Antichrist. Christ then is the Head of his Church, the Devil is the Head of Antichrist; the Elect are the Body of Christ, the reprobate Professors are the Body of Antichrist; the Holy Ghost is the Spirit of Life that acteth Christ's Body, that wicked Spirit of Iniquity is that which acteth the Body of Antichrist. Thus therefore are the two great Mighties set forth before us, who are the Heads of those two Bodies; and thus are those two Bodies set before us, who are to be acted by these two Spirits.

^{1 John 3.8.} The Reason why Christ came into the World, was, That he might destroy all the Works of the Head of Antichrist, and they which he endeavoureth to compleat by his wicked Spirit working in his Body. And the Reason why Antichrist came into the World, was, That the Church, which is the Body of Christ, might be tried, and made White by suffering under his Tyranny, and by bearing Witness against his Falshoods. For, for the Trial of the Faithful, and for the Punishment of the World, Antichrist was admitted to come: But when he came, he first appeared there where one would have thought there had been no Place nor Corner for his Reception.

^{1 Thes. 5.4} The Devil then, made use of the Church of God to midwife this Monster into the World, as the Apostle plainly shews, there he first sat, shewing himself. Here therefore was his first Appearance, even in the Church of God: Not that the Church of God did willingly admit him there to sit as such; he had covered his Cloven-Foot; he had Plumbs in his Dragon's Mouth, and so came in by Flatteries; promising to do for Christ and his Church, that which he never meant to perform. For he shewed himself that he was God, and in Appearance, set his Heart to do as the Heart of God. And who could have found in their Hearts to shut the Door upon such an one? True, he came, when he came thither, out of the Bottomless-Pit; but there came such a Smoak out thence with him, and that Smoak so darkened the Light of the Sun, of the Moon, of the Stars, and of the Day, that had they been upon their Watch, as they were not, they could not have perceived him from another Man. Besides, there came with him so many Locusts to usher him into the House of God, and they so suited the Flesh and Reason of the Godly of that Day, that with good Words and fair Speeches, by their crafty and cunning Sleights, whereby they lay in wait to deceive, they quite got him in, and set him up, and made him a great One, even the Chief, before they were aware. Further, He quickly got him a Beast to ride on, far, for sumptuous Glory, beyond (though as to Nature, as Assish a Creature as) that on which Balaam was wont to ride: And by this Exaltation he ^{Rev. 17.13} became not only more stately, but the ^{to 6.} Horns of the Beast would push for him.

Again, This Man of Sin, when he came into the World, had the Art of Metamorphizing, and could change himself, both in Form and Shape, into the Likeness of a Beast, a Man, or Woman; and the Kings of the Earth, with the Inhabitants of the World, began then to love such Women dearly; wherefore they went to her into the Bed of Love, and defiled themselves with the Filthiness of her Fornications, gave her their Troth, and became her Husbands, and beloved Sons; took up Helmet and Shield, and stood to defend her; yea, though Christ himself, and some of the chief of his Followers, cried out of her Shame, and of the Evil of their Doings; yet would she be audacious.

Also this Woman had now arrayed herself in Flesh-taking Ornaments, of the Colour of Purple and Scarlet, and was decked with Gold, and Precious Stones, and Pearls, after the Manner or Attire of Harlots. Thus came she to them, and lay in their Bosoms; and gave them out of her Golden Cup of the Wine of her Fornication; of the which they bibbed till they were drunken; and then in requital, they also gave her of such Liquors as they could, to wit, to drink of the Blood of Saints, and of Martyrs of Jesus, till she, like these Beasts, was drunken also.

Now when they were drunken, they did as Drunkards do, revel, roar, and belch out their own Shame, in the Sight of them that were sober: Wherefore they cried out upon such Doings, and chose rather to die, than to live with such Company. And so 'tis still with them where she yet sitteth, and so will be till she shall fall into the Hands of the strong Lord, who will judge her according to her Ways. And that she must do, as is implied by this, That her Fornications are in a Cup; she has therefore but her Cup to be drank out; wherefore when it is empty, then, whether she will or no, the Lord God will call her to such a Reckoning, that all the Cloaths on her Back, with what Pearls and Jewels she has, shall not be able to pay the Shot.

ANtichrist, as was said, had a Time to come into the World, and so must have a Time to go out again: For although he saith that he is a God, yet must he be subject to the Will of God, and must go as well as come according to that Will. Nor can all the fallen Angels, with all the Members and Limbs of Antichrist, cause cause that this their Brat should abide so much as one Day longer than our God's prefixed Time. And this the Head of Antichrist understandeth very well: Wherefore the Holy Ghost saith, Wo to the Inhabiters of the Earth, and of the Sea; for the Devil is come down among you, having great Wrath, because he knows he hath but a short Time.

Rev. 12. 12
2. Thes. 2. 8
Rev. 17. 11
— 19. 20.

Besides, the Text says plainly, The Lord shall destroy him, and that he goeth into Perdition: Also the Church of God believes it, and the Limbs of Antichrist fear it.

Now when, or as his Time shall come to be destroyed, so he shall be made a hand of, and that with such Instruments and Weapons of God's Indignation, as best shall be suited to his several Parts.

Such Weapons as are best for the destroying of his Soul, shall be used for the destroying of it; and such Weapons as are best for the destroying of his Body, shall be made use of for the destroying of it.

The Soul of it destroyed, and bom.

And therefore, as to his Soul, or that Spirit of Error that governs him in all his Works of Mischief, this must be consumed by the Spirit of Christ's Mouth, and be destroyed by the Brightness of his Coming.

This we have in the Words of Paul: For (saith he) the Mystery of Iniquity (the Spirit of Antichrist) doth already work; only he who now letteth, will let, until he be taken out of the Way: And then shall that wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the Spirit of his Mouth, and shall destroy with the Brightness of his Coming.

The Apostle here treateth of Antichrist, with Reference to his more subtle and spiritual Part, since that indeed is the chiefest of Antichrist: Wherefore he calls it that wicked; not that wicked One, as referring to the Whole, but that wicked, as referring to the Mystery or Spirit of Iniquity, the Heart and Soul of Antichrist; and tells us, that the Lord shall consume him with the Spirit of his Mouth, and shall destroy him with the Brightness of his Coming.

Isa. 10. 4.
Rev. 2. 16.

Now, by The Spirit of his Mouth I understand his Holy Word, which is called The Word and Breath of his Lips: And also, The Sword of his Mouth. By The Brightness of his Coming, I also understand, not only his Presence, but an Encrease of Light by his Presence, not only to help Christians to begin to bear Witness against some Parts and Pieces of the Errors of Antichrist, but until the Whole is rooted out of the World: By this, I say, must the Soul, Spirit, or Life of Antichrist be taken away. But how shall Christ by this Rod, Sword, or Spirit of his Mouth, consume this wicked, this Mystery of Iniquity? Not by himself immediately, but by his Spirit and Word in his Church; the which he will use, and so manage in this Work, that they shall not rest till he by them has brought this Beast to his Grave. This Beast is compared to the wild Boar, and the Beast that comes out of the Wood to devour the Church of God, (as we read in the Book of Psalms;) ^{Pf. 80. 13.} But Christ, with the Dogs that eat the Crumbs of his Table, will so hunt and scour him about, that albeit he may let out some of their Bowels with the Tusshes of his Chaps, yet they will not let him alone till they have his Life: For the Church shall single him out from all Beasts, and so follow him with Cries, and pinch him with their Voices, that he alone shall perish by their Means. Thus shall Christ consume and wear him out by the Spirit of his Mouth, and destroy him with the Brightness of his Coming.

Hence you find again, That this wicked is to melt and consume away as Grease: For the Lord Jesus shall consume him, and cause him to melt away; not all at once, but now this Part, and then that; now his Soul, and after that his Body, even until Soul and Body are both destroyed.

And that you may be convinced of the Truth of this Thing, do but look back and compare Antichrist four or five hundred Years ago, with Antichrist as he is now, and you shall see what Work the Lord Jesus has begun to make with him, even with the Spirit, and Soul, and Life of Antichrist; both in confounding and blasting of it by this Spirit of his Mouth, as also by forcing of it to dishonourable Retreats, and by making of it give up to him as the Conqueror, not only some of his superstitious and diabolical Rites and Ceremonies to be destroyed, but many a goodly Truth, which this vile One had taken from his Church, to be renewed to them: Nay, further, he hath also already begun to take from him both Kingdoms and Countries, though as to some not so absolutely as he shall do by and by. And in the mean Time, this is the Plague wherewith the Lord shall plague or smite the People that have fought against Jerusalem: Their Flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their Feet, and their Eyes shall consume away in their Holes, and their Tongue shall consume away in their Mouth. ^{Zech. 14. 12. Ila. 17. 4. 5, 6.} And how has this long ago been fulfilled here in England! as also in Scotland, Holland, Germany, France, Sweden, Denmark, Hungaria, and other Places! Nor hath this Spirit of Antichrist, with all his Art and Artifices, been able to reduce to Antichrist again, those People, Nations, or Parts of Nations, that by the Spirit of Christ's Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming, have been made to forsake him, and to turn from him to Christ: The Reason is, for that the Lord has not retreated, but is still going on in the Spirit of his Mouth, and his Brightness, to make that Conquest over him that is determined, in the Way that is determined: Of which more shall be spoken afterward; for the Path-way that he goeth, is as the shining Light, which shines more and more unto Noon. True, the Fogs of Antichrist, and the Smoak that came with him out of the Bottomless-Pit, has darkened and eclipsed the glorious Light of the Gospel: But you know, in Eclipses, when they are on the recovering Hand, all the Creatures upon the Face of the Earth cannot put a Stop to that Course, until the Sun or the Moon have recovered their Glory. And thus it shall be now, the Lord is returned to visit the Earth, and his People with his primitive Lustre; he will not go back, nor slack his Hand, until he has recovered what Antichrist has darkened of his. The Anger of the Lord shall not return, until he hath executed, until he hath performed the Thoughts of his Heart; in the latter Days ye shall consider it perfectly: Therefore he saith again, The Light of the Moon shall be as the Light of the Sun (was in her Eclipse;) and the Light of the Sun shall be sevenfold, as the Light of seven Days, in the Day that the Lord bindeth up the Breach of his People, and healeth the Stroke of their Wound, &c. as the Verse before has it: In the Day when the Towers fall.

For (as was said before) as to the Recovery of the Light of the Gospel from under Antichristian Mists, and Fogs of Darknes; Christ will do that, not by Might nor Power, but by the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming. Wherefore, the Soul of Antichrist, or that Spirit of Wickedness by which this Gospel-light hath been diminished, must be consumed and destroyed by that Spirit also. Nor can any other way of Conquest over that be thorough, and lasting; because that Spirit can by no other Means be slain. The Body of Antichrist may be destroyed by other Instruments, but Spirits cannot be killed but by Spirits. The Temporal Sword then may kill the Body, but after that it hath no more that it can do, wherefore, the other must be dealt with by another kind of Weapon: And here is one sufficient, the Spirit against the Spirit; the Spirit and Face of Christ, against the Spirit, that Wicked, of Antichrist. And by this Spirit of Christ's Mouth, all the Spirit that is in all the Trinkets and Walk of Antichrist shall also be destroyed; so that those Trinkets, those Rites, Ceremonies and Ordinances of this Man of Sin, shall be left as Carrion upon the Face of the Earth, and shall stink in the Noses of Men, as doth the corrupted Blood of a dead Man.

The Ordinances of Antichrist
Now therefore will the Beauty of Antichrist fade like a Flower, and fall as doth a Leaf when the Sap of the Tree has left it; or as the Beauty departeth from the Body, when the Soul, or Life, or Spirit is gone forth. And as the Body cannot be but unpleasant and unfavoury when under such a State; so the Body of Antichrist will be to Beholders, when the Lord has slain the Spirit thereof. It is the Spirit of Antichrist that puts Life into the Body; and that puts Lustre into the Ordinances of Antichrist, as the Light of the Sun, and of the Moon, and of the Stars, do put Lustre upon the things of this Visible World: Wherefore, when this Spirit, and Soul, and Life of Antichrist is slain, then it will be with him as 'twould be with the World, had it no Light of the Sun, of the Moon, or of the Stars.

And hence, as the loss of our Natural Life is compared to the Loss of these * * Eccl. 12. 1, 2, 3. Lights; so the Loss of the Life, Soul and Spirit of Antichrist is compared to these things also. For the Soul of Antichrist is compared to a Heaven; and her Ordinances and Rites, to the Ordinances of Heaven: Wherefore, when the Lord comes to fight against her with the Spirit of his Mouth, he saith, The Stars of the Heaven thereof shall be darkened, and the Constellations thereof shall not give their Light; because he will slay that Spirit of Antichrist that is in them. Isa. 13. Isa. 34. Rev. 6. 13, 14.

Take things therefore more distinctly, thus: The Antichristians Spirit, is the Heaven of Antichristians; their Sun, Moon and Stars, are their Superstitious Ordinances; their Earth is the Body or Flesh of Antichrist, otherwise called the Church and Synagogue of Satan. Now as the Earth cannot live, and be desirable, without the Influences of the Spirit of the Heavens; so neither can Antichrist live, when the Lord shall darken the Light of his Heaven, and shall slay the Spirit thereof. Hence you read, as I touched before, that when his Heaven shall be rolled together as a Scroll, all the host thereof, unto which I compare the Ordinances of Antichrist, shall fall down, as the Leaf falleth off from the Vine, and as a falling Fig from the Fig-tree. But how, or why doth the Leaf, or the Fig fall from the Tree? Why, because the Spirit, or Sap of the Tree, is gone from them.

Therefore, the first and chief Proceeding of the Lord with the Man of Sin, is to slay his Soul, that his Body may also be consumed: And when the Spirit of Antichrist shall be made to leave both the Body and Ordinances of Antichrist, 'twill be easie to deal both with the one and the other. And First, for the Ordinances of Antichrist; because the Spirit of Error is in them, as well as in the Body it self. When that Spirit, as I said, has left them, they will of themselves even moulder away, and not be: As we have seen by Experience here in England, as others also have seen in other Countreys. For as concerning his Masses, Prayers for the Dead, Images, Pilgrimages, Monkish Vows, sinful Fasts, and the Beastly Single Life of their Priests, though when the Spirit of Antichrist was in them, they did bear some Sway in the World; yet now, of what Esteem are they? or who has Reverence for them? They are now blown together under Hedges, as the dry Leaves, for the Mice and Frogs to harbour in: yea, the Locusts too camp in the Hedges among the dry Leaves, in the could Day, and when the Sun arises, they fly away: When 'tis a cold Day for them in a Nation, then they lurk in the Hedges, though their Ordinances lye there, as Leaves that are dry, and fallen down from the Tree; but when the Sun ariseth, and waxeth warm, they abide not, but betake them to their Wings, and fly away. But one would think that fallen Leaves should have no great Nourishment in them: True, if you have respect to Men, but with Vermin any thing will do: We speak then of them with reference to Men, not with respect to the very Members of Antichrist: And I say, as to them, when the Spirit of Antichrist is gone out of these Ordinances, they will be with them as dry Leaves that no body seeketh after. The Ordinances therefore of Antichrist are not able to bear up themselves in the World, as the Ordinances of the Lord Jesus are, for even the Ordinances of Christ, where the Spirit of Christ is not, are yet in some Esteem with Men: But THESE, when the Spirit of Delusion has left them, are abhorred, both Skin and Bones: For in themselves they are without any Sense, or Rationality; yea, they look as Parts of things which are used to conjure up Devils with: These were prefigured by the Ordinances that were NOT good, and by the Judgments whereby one should not live: For what is there, or can there be of the least Dram of Truth or Profit in the things that are without the Word, that being the only Stamp by which one is distinguished from the other? I say, What is there in any of them, to the Man whose Eyes are open, but Delusion and Deceit! Wherefore, as has been express'd already, when the Lord Christ, by the Spirit of his Mouth, &c. shall drive this Mystery of Iniquity from them, and strip them of that Spirit of Delusion that now by its Craft puts bewitching Excellency upon them, they will of themselves become such stinking Rivers, Ponds and Pools, that Flesh and Blood will loath to drink of them; yea, as it was with the Ponds and Pools of Egypt, they will be fit for nought but to breed and hatch up Frogs in.

Wherefore these Ordinances shall be rejected, not one of them shall find Favour with Men on Earth; when the Lord, by the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his coming, shall have separated their Spirit from them.

Now, by Ordinances of Antichrist, I do not intend Things that only respect Matters of Worship in Antichrist's Kingdom, but those Civil Laws that impose and enforce them also; yea, that enforce that Worship with Pains and Penalties, as in the Spanish Inquisition: For these must, as the other, be overthrown by Christ, by the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his coming: For these Laws, as the other, took their Being, and have their Soul and Life by the Spirit of Antichrist; yea, as long as there is Life in them, 'tis because the Spirit of that Man of Sin yet remaineth in them. Wherefore, these are also great Ordinances, though of another Nature than are those mentioned before: Great, I say, are they; forasmuch as neither the Church of Antichrist, nor his Instruments of Worship, can either live or stand without them. Wherefore, it was admitted to the Image of the Beast, not only to speak, but to cause. To speak out his Laws of Worship, and cause that as many as would not worship the Image of the Beast, should be killed. And mark, This is because that the Life that was communicated to the Image of the Beast, was by him also communicated to his Word and Authority. Wherefore, these Laws must not be separated from those in which the Spirit of Antichrist is; yea, they are the very Pillars and Sinews by which Antichristianism remains: And were these dis-spirited, the whole Building would quickly become a ruinous Heap.

What could the King of Babylon's golden Image have done, had it not been for the burning fiery Furnace that stood within View of the Worshippers? Yea, what could that horrible Command, to pray, for thirty Days, to neither God nor Man, but to the King, have done, had it not been for the dark Den, and the roaring Lyons there in readiness to devour those that disobeyed it? As therefore the burning fiery Furnace, and the Den of Lyons, were the Support of the horrible Religion of the Babylonians of old; so Popish Edicts are the support of the Religion of Antichrist now; and as long as there is Spirit, that is, Authority, in them, they are like to those now mentioned; the Spirit of such Laws is that that makes them dreadful: For as the Furnace would have been next to nothing, if void of Fire; and the Den as little frightful, if destitute of Lyons; so these Laws will be as insignificant, when Christ has slain that Spirit that is in them; that Spirit that causes that as many as will not worship the Image of the Beast, should be killed.

Nor can any Sword reach that Life of Antichrist that is in these, but the Sword of Christ's Mouth: Therefore, as all the religious Rites and Ceremonies of Antichrist are overthrown by his Spirit working in his as Christians; so those Antichristian Laws will have their Soul and their Life taken taken from them also by this Spirit of his Mouth working in some of his, as Magistrates, and no otherwise; for before Kings and Princes, &c. come to be enlightned about the Evils that are in such Edicts, by the Spirit of the living God, they will let this Image of the Beast both speak and cause, &c. But when they shall see, they will say, Let it be decreed that this Prop of Antichrist be taken down. It was decreed by Darius, That they that prayed, for Thirty Days, to any God but him, should be cast into the Den of Lions: But this was before he saw; but when he came to see, then he decreed again; a Decree that quite took away the Power of that which he had decreed before.

Nor are we without Instances of this kind nearer home: Who is now afraid of the Act for burning of those that Papists call Hereticks, since by the King and Parliament, as by the Finger of God, the Life and Soul is taken out of it. I bring this to shew you, That as there is Life in wicked Antichristian Penal Laws, as well as in those that are superstitiously Religious; so the Life of these, of all these, must be destroyed by the same Spirit working in those that are Christ's, though in a diverse way.

Nor will the Life of these Sinews, as I have called them, be taken away, but as God shall enlighten Men to see the abominable Filthiness of that which is Antichristian Worship: As would easily be made appear, if some that dwell in those Countries where the Beast and his Image have been worshipped, would but take the Pains to enquire into Antiquity about it. As the Noble King, King Henry VIII. did cast down the Antichristian Worship; so he cast down the Laws that held it up: So also did the good King Edward his Son. The brave Queen also, the Sister to King Edward, hath left of things of this Nature, to her lasting Fame behind her. And if one such Law of Antichrist hath escaped the Hand of one, another hath taken it, and done that Execution on it that their Zeal and Piety prompted them to.

There is yet another thing that the Spirit of Antichrist is immediately concerned in; and that is, the Antichristian Names of the Men that worship the Beast: The Names, I mean, that Antichrist hath baptized them into: For those Names are breathed upon them by the very Spirit of Antichrist; and are such as are absolutely Names of Blasphemy, or such as do closely border thereupon; some such as Elibu durst not for his Life give unto Men, only he calls them Flattering Titles. Now therefore, of the Danger (though not of the Names themselves) you read sufficiently in the Scriptures; and perhaps the Holy Ghost has contented himself with giving of Items that are general, that Men might, as to them, be the more cautious of what

Names they give one to another: But this is clear, they are worn by Men of Spiritual Employ: But since they are but mentioned, and are not distinctly nominated, how should we know which are they, and which not? Verily, by searching the Word of God, and by seeing by that what Names we are allowed to give unto Men, with Reference to their Offices, Dignities and Places: For God has a Quarrel with the Names, as well as with the Persons that wear them; and when his Son shall down with Antichrist, he will slay seven thousand Names of Men, as well as the Persons of the Worshipers of the Beast.

But there are Things as well as Men; and these also have been Baptized into those Names by the very Spirit of Antichrist, and must be destroyed by Christ, the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming: The Idols he will utterly abolish; and there are Men that are Idols as well as Things: Wherefore let Men have a Care, as to shun the Worship of Idols, so that they bare not the Name, or stand in the Place of one: And the Reason of this Caution is, because Name and Thing are both abominable unto God.

To give you the Number of these Names that the Spirit of Antichrist has baptized Men into, (besides the Things that do also wear such Blasphemies upon them,) would be a Task too great for me, and too wearisome for you. It shall satisfy then, that I give you Notice that there are such Things and Men, and Names; and that I put you upon Search to find out what they be. But whatsoever of the Spirit, of the Soul, or Life of Antichrist is in these Names, Men or Things, must be consumed by Christ, by the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming.

Another thing that I would touch upon, is this; to wit, The Lying Legends, and false Miracles that Antichrist cries up: These, by the means of which such as dwell upon the Earth are deceived, and made to adore and worship the Beast: These have their Life and Soul (as had those mentioned before) from the Spirit of Wickedness; and must be destroyed as they, namely, by Christ, the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming: For these are not of the Body of Antichrist, but rather such Implements, or whatever you will call them, by which the Spirit and Soul of Antichrist is conveyed into, and kept also alive in the Body of Antichrist, which is the Church and Synagogue of Satan; you may call them Organs and Means by which that Wicked worketh in the Mysteries of Iniquity, for the begetting of, and maintaining a lying and false Belief of the Religion of the Beast: Nor can it be thought, but that, as the Antichristian Statists of Antichrist, mentioned before, do put a Dread and Fear upon Men that are Worshipers of

Masses, Prayers for the Dead, Images, Pilgrimages, Monkish Vows, sinful Fasts, and the Beastly Single Life of their Priests, though when the Spirit of Antichrist was in them, they did bear some Sway in the World; yet now, of what Esteem are they? or who has Reverence for them? They are now blown together under Hedges, as the dry Leaves, for the Mice and Frogs to harbour in: yea, the Locusts too camp in the Hedges among the dry Leaves, in the could Day, and when the Sun arises, they fly away: When 'tis a cold Day for them in a Nation, then they lurk in the Hedges, though their Ordinances lye there, as Leaves that are dry, and fallen down from the Tree; but when the Sun ariseth, and waxeth warm, they abide not, but betake them to their Wings, and fly away. But one would think that fallen Leaves should have no great Nourishment in them: True, if you have respect to Men, but with Vermin any thing will do: We speak then of them with reference to Men, not with respect to the very Members of Antichrist: And I say, as to them, when the Spirit of Antichrist is gone out of these Ordinances, they will be with them as dry Leaves that no body seeketh after. The Ordinances therefore of Antichrist are not able to bear up themselves in the World, as the Ordinances of the Lord Jesus are, for even the Ordinances of Christ, where the Spirit of Christ is not, are yet in some Esteem with Men: But THESE, when the Spirit of Delusion has left them, are abhorred, both Skin and Bones: For in themselves they are without any Sense, or Rationality; yea, they look as Parts of things which are used to conjure up Devils with: These were prefigured by the Ordinances that were NOT good, and by the Judgments whereby one should not live: For what is there, or can there be of the least Dram of Truth or Profit in the things that are without the Word, that being the only Stamp by which one is distinguished from the other? I say, What is there in any of them, to the Man whose Eyes are open, but Delusion and Deceit! Wherefore, as has been express'd already, when the Lord Christ, by the Spirit of his Mouth, &c. shall drive this Mystery of Iniquity from them, and strip them of that Spirit of Delusion that now by its Craft puts bewitching Excellency upon them, they will of themselves become such stinking Rivers, Ponds and Pools, that Flesh and Blood will loath to drink of them; yea, as it was with the Ponds and Pools of Egypt, they will be fit for nought but to breed and hatch up Frogs in.

Wherefore these Ordinances shall be rejected, not one of them shall find Favour with Men on Earth; when the Lord, by the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his coming, shall have separated their Spirit from them.

Now, by Ordinances of Antichrist, I do not intend Things that only respect Matters of Worship in Antichrist's Kingdom, but those Civil Laws that impose and enforce them also; yea, that enforce that Worship with Pains and Penalties, as in the Spanish Inquisition: For these must, as the other, be overthrown by Christ, by the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his coming: For these Laws, as the other, took their Being, and have their Soul and Life by the Spirit of Antichrist; yea, as long as there is Life in them, 'tis because the Spirit of that Man of Sin yet remaineth in them. Wherefore, these are also great Ordinances, though of another Nature than are those mentioned before: Great, I say, are they; forasmuch as neither the Church of Antichrist, nor his Instruments of Worship, can either live or stand without them. Wherefore, it was admitted to the Image of the Beast, not only to speak, but to cause. To speak out his Laws of Worship, and cause that as many as would not worship the Image of the Beast, should be killed. And mark, This is because that the Life that was communicated to the Image of the Beast, was by him also communicated to his Word and Authority. Wherefore, these Laws must not be separated from those in which the Spirit of Antichrist is; yea, they are the very Pillars and Sinews by which Antichristianism remains: And were these dis-spirited, the whole Building would quickly become a ruinous Heap.

What could the King of Babylon's golden Image have done, had it not been for the burning fiery Furnace that stood within View of the Worshippers? Yea, what could that horrible Command, to pray, for thirty Days, to neither God nor Man, but to the King, have done, had it not been for the dark Den, and the roaring Lyons there in readiness to devour those that disobeyed it? As therefore the burning fiery Furnace, and the Den of Lyons, were the Support of the horrible Religion of the Babylonians of old; so Popish Edicts are the support of the Religion of Antichrist now; and as long as there is Spirit, that is, Authority, in them, they are like to those now mentioned; the Spirit of such Laws is that that makes them dreadful: For as the Furnace would have been next to nothing, if void of Fire; and the Den as little frightful, if destitute of Lyons; so these Laws will be as insignificant, when Christ has slain that Spirit that is in them; that Spirit that causes that as many as will not worship the Image of the Beast, should be killed.

Nor can any Sword reach that Life of Antichrist that is in these, but the Sword of Christ's Mouth: Therefore, as all the religious Rites and Ceremonies of Antichrist are overthrown by his Spirit working in his as Christians; so those Antichristian Laws will have their Soul and their Life taken taken from them also by this Spirit of his Mouth working in some of his, as Magistrates, and no otherwise; for before Kings and Princes, &c. come to be enlightned about the Evils that are in such Edicts, by the Spirit of the living God, they will let this Image of the Beast both speake and cause, &c. But when they shall see, they will say, Let it be decreed that this Prop of Antichrist be taken down. It was decreed by Darius, That they that prayed, for Thirty Days, to any God but him, should be cast into the Den of Lions: But this was before he saw; but when he came to see, then he decreed again; a Decree that quite took away the Power of that which he had decreed before.

Nor are we without Instances of this kind nearer home: Who is now afraid of the Act for burning of those that Papists call Hereticks, since by the King and Parliament, as by the Finger of God, the Life and Soul is taken out of it. I bring this to shew you, That as there is Life in wicked Antichristian Penal Laws, as well as in those that are superstitiously Religious; so the Life of these, of all these, must be destroyed by the same Spirit working in those that are Christ's, though in a diverse way.

Nor will the Life of these Sinews, as I have called them, be taken away, but as God shall enlighten Men to see the abominable Filthiness of that which is Antichristian Worship: As would easily be made appear, if some that dwell in those Countries where the Beast and his Image have been worshipped, would but take the Pains to enquire into Antiquity about it. As the Noble King, King Henry VIII. did cast down the Antichristian Worship; so he cast down the Laws that held it up: So also did the good King Edward his Son. The brave Queen also, the Sister to King Edward, hath left of things of this Nature, to her lasting Fame behind her. And if one such Law of Antichrist hath escaped the Hand of one, another hath taken it, and done that Execution on it that their Zeal and Piety prompted them to.

There is yet another thing that the Spirit of Antichrist is immediately concerned in; and that is, the Antichristian Names of the Men that worship the Beast: The Names, I mean, that Antichrist hath baptized them into: For those Names are breathed upon them by the very Spirit of Antichrist; and are such as are absolutely Names of Blasphemy, or such as do closely border thereupon; some such as Elibu durst not for his Life give unto Men, only he calls them Flattering Titles. Now therefore, of the Danger (though not of the Names themselves) you read sufficiently in the Scriptures; and perhaps the Holy Ghost has contented himself with giving of Items that are general, that Men might, as to them, be the more cautious of what

Names they give one to another: But this is clear, they are worn by Men of Spiritual Employ: But since they are but mentioned, and are not distinctly nominated, how should we know which are they, and which not? Verily, by searching the Word of God, and by seeing by that what Names we are allowed to give unto Men, with Reference to their Offices, Dignities and Places: For God has a Quarrel with the Names, as well as with the Persons that wear them; and when his Son shall down with Antichrist, he will slay seven thousand Names of Men, as well as the Persons of the Worshippers of the Beast.

But there are Things as well as Men; and these also have been Baptized into those Names by the very Spirit of Antichrist, and must be destroyed by Christ, the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming: The Idols he will utterly abolish; and there are Men that are Idols as well as Things: Wherefore let Men have a Care, as to shun the Worship of Idols, so that they bare not the Name, or stand in the Place of one: And the Reason of this Caution is, because Name and Thing are both abominable unto God.

To give you the Number of these Names that the Spirit of Antichrist has baptized Men into, (besides the Things that do also wear such Blasphemies upon them,) would be a Task too great for me, and too wearisome for you. It shall satisfy then, that I give you Notice that there are such Things and Men, and Names; and that I put you upon Search to find out what they be. But whatsoever of the Spirit, of the Soul, or Life of Antichrist is in these Names, Men or Things, must be consumed by Christ, by the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming.

Another thing that I would touch upon, is this; to wit, The Lying Legends, and false Miracles that Antichrist cries up: These, by the means of which such as dwell upon the Earth are deceived, and made to adore and worship the Beast: These have their Life and Soul (as had those mentioned before) from the Spirit of Wickedness; and must be destroyed as they, namely, by Christ, the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming: For these are not of the Body of Antichrist, but rather such Implements, or whatever you will call them, by which the Spirit and Soul of Antichrist is conveyed into, and kept also alive in the Body of Antichrist, which is the Church and Synagogue of Satan; you may call them Organs and Means by which that Wicked worketh in the Mysteries of Iniquity, for the begetting of, and maintaining a lying and false Belief of the Religion of the Beast: Nor can it be thought, but that, as the Antichristian Statists of Antichrist, mentioned before, do put a Dread and Fear upon Men that are Worshippers of

of the Beast, and his Image, to the holding of them still to his Service; so these Legends and Miracles do, on the other hand, abridge and bind their Consciences to that Worship; but all because of that Spirit of Antichrist that is in them.

So then, here is the Spirit of Antichrist diffusing itself into all the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of the Beast; for it dwells in the Body of Antichrist; it dwells in the Matters and Things of Worship of Antichrist; it dwells in the Titles and Names that are Antichristian; and it dwells in the Laws, Legends and Miracles of Antichrist. And as it is the Spirit of Antichrist, so it must be destroyed; not by Sword, nor by Bow, but by Christ, as fighting against it with the Spirit of his Mouth, and as conquering of it by the Brightness of his Coming.

The Body of Anti-christ destroyed, and how.

We come now to discourse of the Body or Flesh of Antichrist, and of the Destruction of that; for that must be destroyed also. Now the Body of Antichrist, is that Church or Synagogue in which the Spirit of Antichrist dwells, or unto which the Spirit of Antichrist is become a Soul and Life.

And this is to be destroyed, either as it is a Body Mystical, or under the more gross Consideration.

First, As it is a Body Mystical, and so it is to be destroyed Absolutely.

Secondly, As it is to be considered more Grossly, and so it is to be destroyed Conditionally. That is, if Repentance doth not save the Men that have gone to the making up of this Body, and to the rejoicing in it.

As she is a Body Mystical, so she is to be destroyed the same way that the things of Antichrist, of which we discoursed before, were to be destroyed; to wit, by Christ, the Spirit of his Mouth, and the Brightness of his Coming.

This then is the Sum, as to this: That the Church of Antichrist, as a Church, shall be destroyed by the Word and Spirit of Christ. Nor can any Thing in Heaven prevent it, because the strong God has decreed it:

And a mighty Angel took up a Stone, like a great Mill-Stone, and cast it into the Sea, saying, Thus with Violence shall that great City Babylon be thrown down, and shall be found no more at all. This City, Babylon, is here sometimes considered in the Whole, and sometimes as to the Parts of it; but always, whether in whole or in part, as some, or else as the whole of the Antichristian Church; and as such, it must not be destroyed, but by the Means aforesaid. By which Means her Witchcrafts, spiritual Whoredoms, spiritual Murthers, Thefts, and Blasphemies, shall be so detected, and made manifest, so laid open, and so discovered, that the Nations shall abhor her, flee from her, and buy her Merchandize no more. Hence her tempting things rot, and moulder away; for these will not keep, they are things not lasting, but that perish in the using: What then will they do when they are laid by? Therefore it follows, All things which were (thy) goodly and dainty (Ones) are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more at all. Now, if when she had things to trade with, her Dealers left her; how shall she think of a Trade, when she hath nothing to traffick with? Her things are slain, and stink already, by the Weapons that are made mention of before; what then will her Carcase do? It follows then, that as to her Church-state, she must of Necessity tumble: Wherefore, from Ver. 22, to Ver. 24. you have the manner of her total Ruine as a Church, and something of the Cause thereof.

Ver. 14.

But as she must, with Reference to her Body, be considered mystically as a Church; so also she must be considered as a Body of Men, (this is that which I called more grossly) and as such, against whom the Wrath of God will burn, and against whom, if Repentance prevent not, he will have Indignation for ever. These, I say are them; to wit, as they are the Body of the People, that have been seduced by this Spirit of Antichrist, that have been made use of to do all the Mischiefs that have been done both to true Religion, and to the Professors of it, for this many hundred Years, wherefore these must not escape. Wherefore you find, that after Antichrist, as to the Spirit and Mystery of Antichrist, is slain, that the Body of Antichrist, or the heap of People that became her Vassals, come next to be dealt withall.

Therefore the Angel that standeth in the Sun, makes a Proclamation to all the Fowls that fly in the midst of Heaven, to gather themselves, and to come unto the Supper of the great God; that they may eat the Flesh of the several Sorts of the Men that have been the Lovers, the Countenancers, the Upholders and Defenders of her Antichristian State, Worship, and Falshoods: For abundance of their Hearts shall be hardened, and made yet more obdurate, that they may be destroyed for the Wickedness that they have done.

17, 18.

Wherefore, you find (as did the Enemies of the Church of old,) that they might revenge themselves for the loss of their Idol, or Antichristian State, begin a new War with the King, whose Name is the Lord of Hosts: And I saw the Beast, and the Kings of the Earth, and their Armies, gathered together to make War against him that sat on the Horse, and against his Army.

Ver. 19.

Their implacable Malice remained when their Church-state was gone; wherefore they will now at last make another Attempt upon the Men that had been the Instruments in Christ's Hand to torment them that dwelt on the Earth: Of which more hereafter.

Now

Rev. 20.
2. 3. Now therefore is the last Stroke of the Batter, with Reference to the destroying the Body of Antichrist; only the Head of this Monster remains, and that is SATAN himself; Wherefore the next News that we hear, is, that he is taken also: And I saw an Angel come down from Heaven, having the Key of the bottomless Pit, and a great Chain in his Hand; and he laid hold on that old Serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand Years, and cast him into the bottomless Pit, and shut him up, and set a Seal upon him, that he should deceive the Nations no more, until the thousand Years should be fulfilled, &c.

Joel 2. 3. Now therefore there will be nothing of Antichrist to be seen throughout the Nations, but ruinous Heaps, and desolate Places. It is said of the Army of the Man of Sin, when he came into the Land of God's People, though it was before him as the Garden of Eden, yet behind him 'twould be as a desolate Wilderness; such ruines would he make of the Flock of God, and of all their Ordinances, and heavenly Dainties. But when the Days that I have spoken of, shall come, it will be to him a Time of Retaliation: For it shall then be done unto Antichrist, as he hath done to the Church of God: As he hath made Women Childless, so shall he be made Childless; as he has made Zion sit upon the Ground, so now must this wicked One come down and sit in the Dust; yea, as he has made many Churches Desolations, so now shall he be also made a Desolation. Wherefore, who so will find his Body, they must look for it in the Side of the Pit's Mouth; and whoso will find his Friends and Companions, they must look for them there likewise: They have set her a Bed in the midst of the Slain, with all her Multitude: Her Graves are round about him, all of them uncircumcised, slain by the Sword: Though their Terror was caused in the Land of the living, yet have they born their Shame with them that go down to the Pit: He is put in the midst of them that be slain. There is Meshech, Tubal, and all her Multitude. There is Edom, her King, and all her Princes, &c. There be the Princes of the North, all of them, which with their Might are laid with them that are slain by the Sword, and bare their Shame with them that go down to the Pit. For as Babylon has caused the Slain of Israel to fall; so at Babylon shall fall the Slain of all the Earth.

Jer. 51. 49 The Margin reads it thus: Both Babylon is to fall, O ye slain of Israel! and with Babylon, the slain of all the Earth. Now then she is gone down, when all these Things shall be fulfilled: And what remains now, but to talk of her, as Folk use to do of them that are dead: For the Day will come that the Church of God shall have no more of Antichrist, Babylon, or the Mother of Harlots, than only the Remembrance of her; to wit, that there was such an Enemy of God in the World; that there was such a Superstitious, Idolatrous, bloody People in the World. Wherefore the People that shall be born, that shall live to serve God in these happy Days, they shall see Antichrist only in its ruines; they shall like the Sparrows, the little Robbins, and the Wren, sit and sing, and chirrup one to another, while their Eyes behold this dead Hawk. "Here (shall they say) did once the Lyon dwell; and there was once a Dragon inhabited: Here did they live that were the Murtherers of the Saints; and there another, that did use to set his Throat against the Heavens: But now in the Places where these ravenous Creatures lay, grows Grass, with Reeds and Rushes, (or else, now their Habitation is is cursed, Nettles grow, and so do Thorns and Brambles, where their Palaces were wont to be.) And as no good was with them while they lived, so their Name stinketh now they are dead: yea, as they wrought Milchiefs, and lived like the wild Beasts when they enjoyed their Abundance; so now the wild Beasts of the Desert, yea, they of the Desert, shall meet with the wild Beasts of the Island: And the Satyr shall cry to his Fellows, Their Houses shall be full of doleful Creatures, even as Devils and wicked Spirits do haunt the desolate Houses of the Wicked, when they are dead." And Babylon, the Glory of Kingdoms, the Beauty of the Chaldees excellency, shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah: It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelt in from Generation to Generation: Neither shall the Arabian pitch Tent there: Neither shall the Shepherd make their Fold there.

A while after this, as was hinted before, the Christians will begin with Detestation to ask what Antichrist was? Where Antichrist dwelt? Who were his Members? And what he did in the World? And it shall be answered by them that shall have Skill to consider his Features by the Word, by Way of Taunt and Scorn, Is this the Man that made the Earth to tremble, that did shake Kingdoms? That made the World as a Wilderness, and destroyed the Cities thereof, that opened not the House of his Prisoners? All the Kings of the Nations, even all of them lie in Glory, every one in his own House. But thou art cast out of thy Grave like an abominable Branch; and as the Raiment of those that are slain, thrust through with a Sword, that go down to the Stones of the Pit, as a Carcass trodden under Feet.

There will be a strange Alteration when Antichrist is dead, and that both in the Church, and in the World. The Church and the Members of it then, shall wear the Name of their God in their Foreheads; that is, they shall be bold in the Profession of their King, and their God; yea, it shall be their Glory to be godly; and carnal

Then there shall no more be a Canaanite in the House of the Lord: No Lyon shall be there; the Unclean shall no more tread in the Paths of God's People, but the ransomed of the Lord shall walk there.

Glory that has not been seen nor heard of by the People that used to walk in Sackcloth, shall now be set in the Land of the Living. For as it was said of Christ, with Reference to his Day; so it shall be said of Saints, with Reference to this Day: Many Kings and righteous Men have desired to see the Things that will be seen then, and shall not see them: But without all Doubt, the Men that shall be born at this Time, will consider that these Glories, and Liberties, and Privileges of theirs, cost the People that walked in the King of Babylon's fiery Furnace, or that suffered the Tryals, Troubles and Tyranny of the Antichristian Generation, more Groans and hearty Wishes, than they did them that shall enjoy them. Thus then it will go; the afflicted prayed for them, and the Possessors bless God for the Enjoyment of them.

Oh! now shall the Church walk in the Light of the Lord, and sit every Man under his Vine, and under his Fig-Tree, and none shall make him afraid!

Ver. 1. 9.

II.

For the Lord will have Mercy on Jacob, and will yet chuse Israel, and set them in their own Land, and the Stranger shall be joyned with them, and they shall cleave to the House of Jacob. And the People shall take them, and bring them to their Place: And the House of Israel shall possess them in the Land of the Lord, for Servants and Handmaids: And they shall take them Captives, whose Captives they were, and they shall rule over their Oppressors. And it shall come to pass in the Day that the Lord shall give thee rest from thy Sorrow, and from thy Fear, and from thy hard Bondage wherein thou wast made to serve. That thou shalt take up this Proverb against the King of Babylon, and say, How hath the Oppressor ceased? the golden City, (or, the Exactress of Gold) ceased? The Lord hath broken the Staff of the Wicked, and the Scepter of the Rulers. He who smote the People in Wrath with a continual Stroke; he that ruled the Nations in Anger, is persecuted, and none hindreth. The whole Earth is at Rest, and is quiet: They break forth into singing. Yea, the Fir-Trees rejoyce at thee, and the Cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid down, no Feller is come up against us.

Also the World will now be (as it were) another Thing than it was in the Days of Antichrist: Now will Kings, and Princes, and Nobles, and the whole Commonalty be rid of that Servitude and Bondage which in former Times (when they used to carry Bell and the Dragon upon their Shoulders) they were subjected to. They were then a Barthen to them, but now they are at Ease. 'Tis with the World, that are the Slaves of Antichrist now, as it is with them that are Slaves and Captives to a Whore: They must come when she calls, run when she bids, fight with and beat them that she saith miscall her, and spend what they can get by Labour or Fraud upon her, or she will be no more their Whore, and they shall be no more her Bosom ones. But now! now it will be otherwise! Now they will have no Whore to please! Now they will have none to put them upon persecuting of the Saints! Now they shall not be made, as before, guilty of the Blood of those against whom this Gentleman shall take a Pet! Now the World shall return, and discern between the Righteous and the Wicked; yea, they shall cleave to, and countenance the People of God, being persuaded, as Laban was of Jacob, that the Lord will bless them for his People's Sakes: For at this Day, the Remnant of Jacob shall be (among the Gentiles) in the midst of many People, as a Dew from the Lord, as the Showers upon the Grass, that tarrieth not for Man, nor waiteth for the Sons of Men.

Mic. 5. 7.

Also in these Days Men shall come flocking into the House of God, both Kings and Princes, and Nobles, and the Common People, as the Doves do to their Windows: And for that Cause it is spoken to the Church, with Reference to the latter Days, saying, Enlarge the Place of thy Tent, and let them stretch forth the Curtains of thy Habitations: Spare not, lengthen thy Cords, and strengthen thy Stakes; for thou shalt break forth on the right hand, and on the left; and thy Seed shall inherit the Gentiles, and make the desolate Places to be inhabited.

Isa. 54. 2, 3

Now will be broken up those Prophecies and Promises that to this Day lye as under Lock and Key, and that cannot be opened untill they be fulfilled. Now will the Spirit of God be poured forth abundantly; and our Rivers shall be in high Places, that is, shall break forth from the Hearts of Great Ones; yea, then shall our Waters be made deep: And I will cause their Rivers to run with Oyl, saith the Lord God. Then shall the Differences, the Divisions and Debates that are among the Godly, cease: For Men shall see Eye to Eye, when the Lord shall bring again Zion; yea, the Watchmen of God's People shall do so; for it is for want of Light in them, that the Lambs have so butted one another.

Ezek. 32. 14.

Isa. 52. 8.

Now the Church of God shall read with great Plainness the Depths of Providence, and the Turnings and Windings of all God's dark and intricate Dispensations, through which she hath waded in the cloudy and dark Day: Now, I say, they shall see there was an harmony in them; and that if one of them had been wanting, the Work and Way of her Deliverance could not have been been so full of the Wisdom, and Justice, and Goodness of God: Wherefore now will that Song be sung with clearer Notes than ever: Great and marvellous are thy Works, Lord God Almighty: just and true are thy Ways, thou King of Saints: Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name? for thou only art holy: For all Nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest. And again, For true and Righteous are thy judgments, for thou hast judged the great Whore which did corrupt the Earth with her Fornication, and hast avenged the Blood of thy Servants at her Hand.

Of the Manner of the Ruin of Antichrist.

WHAT Antichrist is, I have told you; and that as to his Soul and Body. I have also told you where, or in what Things the Spirit and Life of Antichrist lyeth, and how he shall reign for a Time. I have moreover shewed you that he shall be destroyed, and by what, and that with Reference both to his Soul and Body. Wherefore, waving other Things, I shall here only present you with a few short hints concerning the Manner of his Downfall.

There is the Downfall, the Time of the Downfall, and the Manner of the Downfall of Antichrist.

The Manner of the Downfall of Antichrist, may be considered, either with Respect to the suddenness, unexpectedness, terribleness, or strangeness thereof. It may also be considered with respect to the Way of God's procedure with her, as to the gradualness thereof. As to the suddenness thereof, 'tis said to be in an Hour. It is also to be, when by her unexpected; for then she saith, I sit as a Queen. For the terribleness of it, The Nations shall shake at the Sound of her Fall. And for the strangeness thereof, it shall be to the Wonder of the World, it will be as when God overthrew Sodom.

But I shall not enlarge upon this Method in my Discourse, but shall shew you the Manner of the Ruine of Antichrist, with Respect to the gradualness thereof.

Antichrist then shall be brought to Ruine gradually; that is, by Degrees: A Part after a Part; here a fenced City, and there a high Tower, even until she is made to lye even with the Ground. And yet all shall be within the Compass of God's Days, Hours, or Moments; for within the Compass of these limited Times Antichrist shall be destroyed.

Now, (as I said,) He, She, Sodom, Egypt, Babylon, Antichrist, shall be destroyed; not all at once, after the Way of our counting of Time; but by Step after Step, Piece after Piece. And perhaps there may be in the Words now following, something that signifies this: They shall strew the King of Babylon that his City is taken at one End. This is also shewed by the Vessels in which is contained the Wrath of God for her, together with the Manner of pouring of it out. The Vessels in which it is contained are called VIALS: Now a Vial is that which letteth out what is contained in it by Degrees, and not all at once.

There are also two Things to be considered, as to the Manner of its being poured out of them. The First respecteth the Nature of the Vial. The other, the Order of the Angels that poured forth this Wrath.

For the First: The Vial, as it letteth out what is in it by Degrees; so it doth it with certain Gusts, that are mixed with Strength and Violence, bolting it out with Noise, &c.

As for the Order of the Angels, or that Order that they observe, they plainly shew that this Enemy must come down by Degrees; for that these Vials are by them poured out one after another, each one working something of their own Effects, before another is poured forth. The First is poured forth upon the Antichristian Earth: The Second upon her Sea: The Third is poured forth upon her Rivers: And the Fourth upon her Sun: The Fifth is poured forth upon the Seat of the Beast: The Sixth upon her Euphrates: And the Seventh into her Air. And, I say, they are poured forth not all at one Time, but now one, and then another. Now, since by these Vials Antichrist must fall; and since also they are poured forth successively: 'Tis evident that this Man of Sin, this Son of Perdition, is to fall and die by Degrees. He would not die at all, as is manifest by his wrestling with it; but he is a strong God that judges, and therefore he must come down: His Friends also, with what Cordials they can, will labour to lengthen out his Tranquility; but God hath set his Bounds, and he cannot go beyond the Time appointed.

We must also put a Difference betwixt her being fought withal and wounded, and that of her dying the Death. Michael and his Angels have been holding of her in Play a long Season; but yet she is not dead: But, as I said, she shall descend in Battle and perish, and shall be found no more for ever.

To speak then to the Manner of the Ruin of this Antichrist, with Respect to the Gradualness thereof: It must Piece after Piece be overthrown, until at last every Whit thereof is rolled down from the Rocks, as a burnt Mountain.

And hence we read that this City falls first in a tenth Part thereof, even while nine Parts remain yet standing: Nor doth this tenth Part, notwithstanding the Faith and and faithful Testimony of the Two Witnesses, quite fall, until they are slain, and also raised again: For 'tis said, The same Hour that the Witnesses were raised, the tenth Part of the City fell: The tenth Part of that City that reigneth over the Kings of the Earth, which City is Sodom, Ægypt, Babylon, or the great Whore.

— 17. 18.

By the City then, I understand the Church of Antichrist in its utmost Bounds; and so it reacheth as far as the Beast with seven Heads and ten Horns hath Dominion. Hence this City is also called Cities, as one Universe is called by the Name of several Countries, &c. And them Cities also are called the Cities of the Nations: For as when they are put together, they all make but one; so when they are considered apart, they are found in Number ten, and answer to the ten Horns upon the Heads of the (seven Headed) Beast that carries her, and do give her Protection.

This then I take to be the Meaning: That the antichristian Church is divided into ten Parts, and each Part is put under one of the Horns of the Beast for Protection: But that Aid and Protection shall not help, when God shall come to execute Judgment upon her: For it saith, A tenth Part of the City fell; that is, First, and as a Fore-runner of the Fall of all the rest: Now where this tenth Part is, or which of the ten Parts must fall first, or whether indeed a tenth Part is already fallen, that I will leave to those that are wiser than my self to determine.

But since I am speaking of the Fall of a tenth Part of Antichrist; a Word or two about the Means of the Fall thereof.

The Means of the Fall of this tenth Part, is an Earthquake; yet not such as is universal, over the Face of all, but an Earthquake in that tenth Part where that City stood that should fall. Now by Earthquakes here, cannot be meant any thing but such a Shaking as unsettleth the Foundations of this tenth Part: But whether it shall be in this tenth Part as a City, or in it as a State, that I shall not determine; only my Thoughts are, That it shall be an Earthquake in that Kingdom where this tenth Part shall happen to be: An Earthquake not to overthrow further than is appointed; and that is the City which is called the tenth Part of the great Antichrist. So far as that State is a State, so far then it is shaken for Reformation, not for Destruction; for in the Earthquake were slain seven thousand (Names of) Men; and the Remnant were affrighted, and gave Glory to the God of Heaven. But thus much for the First: Great Babylon falleth first, in a tenth Part of it.

Again, The next Step that the strong God taketh towards the utter Overthrow of Antichrist, will be more fore upon the Whole, though not at first universal neither; yet in Conclusion, it shall throw down the nine Parts that are left: For thus it is recorded: And the Cities of the Nations fell: The Cities of the Nations, the Antichristian Churches, otherwise called the Daughters of the Mother of Harlots, and Abominations of the Earth.

The nine Parts fall.

Now to shew you the Hand of God in this second Stroke, wherewith the Lord will smite this Enemy.

1. Here we have a great Earthquake.

2. And then, The Fall of the Cities of the Nations.

For the Earthquake, it is said to be such as never was, so mighty an Earthquake, and so great; for it extended it self as far as the other nine Cities had any Ground to stand on; for it shook the Foundations of them all.

Rev 16. 18

The Fall of the Cities was not immediately upon the Shake that was made, but the Earthquake produced an Irruption, an Irruption in the nine remaining Parts of this City: And such an Irruption as is of the worser Sort, for it divided them into a three-headed Division: And the great City was divided into three Parts: The great City, to wit, the Powers by which they were upheld. The Meaning then is this; when God shall strike this Man of Sin the second Time, he will not be so sparing as he was at first, when he struck but a tenth Part to the Ground; but now he will so shake, so confound, so divide, so raise up Antichrist against himself, to wit, in the Body and Members of him, that they shall set to Fighting, and to Tearing one another in Pieces, until they have consumed the whole of these nine Parts. It was, saith the Text, divided into three Parts, which Divisions are the worst of all: It will be therefore such a Division as will bring them all to Ruin. Hence it follows, And the Cities of the Nations fell.

Wherefore, this three-cornered Irruption will be the most dreadful to Antichrist that ever was: It will be like that that was in Jerusalem when she came to be laid even with the Ground; and like that that came upon the Armies of the Gentiles, when they came up to fight against Jehosaphat.

For when the Children of Ammon and Moab stood up against the Inhabitants of Mount Seir, utterly to slay and to destroy them: And when they had made an end of the Inhabitants of Seir, every one helped to destroy another. This, I say, is the Division that this mighty Earthquake shall make betwixt the Horns that are left to these nine Parts that remained, when the tenth Part of the City fell. And this will come to pass through the Encrease of the Heat of God's Anger: For he is angry with the Waters where the Woman sitteth, because they have delivered up his Beloved to the bloody

20. 23.

Bloody Whore: wherefore, he now will give them Blood to drink in fury.

Deut. 32. Hence his beginning to deal with Antichrist, is called, the beginning of Revenges: I will make (saith God) mine arrows drunk with blood, (and my sword shall devour flesh,) and that with the blood of the slain, and of the captives, from the beginning of revenges upon the enemy. And therefore it is said again, that when God comes to do this work upon this Antichrist, it is because it is the Day of the Lord's Vengeance, and the Year of Recompences for the Controversie of Zion: For the day of vengeance will be in his heart, when the year of his redeemed is come.

A Peace therefore cannot be made among these Cities when God has forbidden it: Wherefore the Effect of all, is, The Cities of the Nations fall. There is therefore like to be no more good days for Antichrist after this Earthquake has begun to shake her: No, nothing now is to be expected of her, but Rumours, Tumults, Scirs, and Uproars: One Post shall run to meet another, to shew the King of Babylon that his City is taken at one end. And again, A rumour shall both come in one year; and after that, in another year, shall come a rumour and violence in the Land, Ruler against Ruler, &c. So that this Earthquake has driven away Peace, shaken the Foundations, and will cast the nine Cities down to the ground.

And this is a Second stroke that God will give this Man of Sin, and a Third cometh quickly. Wherefore it follows upon the Downfall of these Cities of the Nations, that Great Babylon came into Remembrance before God, to give unto her the cup of the wine of the fierceness of his wrath. Now then, have at Great Babylon. Great Babylon! What is that? Why, I take it to be the Mother, the Metropolitan, the Great Whore her self: For though sometimes, by the Great Whore, or Great Babylon, we may understand, the Church of Antichrist in general; yet by it is meant more Properly, the Mother of the Daughters, of whose Overthrow we have spoken before. We are now then come to the Threshold of the Door of the House of the OLD One; to the Door of the Mother of Harlots, and Abomination of the Earth. This then that but now is said to come into Remembrance with God, is that which gave being to the Cities destroyed before; to wit, the Mistress, the Queen, the Mother-Church, as she calleth her self.

And this is the Wisdom of God concerning her, that she should not be the first that should die; but that she should live to see the Destruction of her Daughters, and pine away under the Sight and Sense of that, even until Judgment also shall overtake her self.

Thus Pharaoh and his chief Ones did live to see the greatest Part of Egypt destroyed before Judgment overtook them, but at last it came to their Doors also.

Zedekiah lived to see his Children slain before his Face, before Judgment overtook him to his own Personal Destruction.

Babylon also, when God sent the Cup of his Fury unto her, yet was to live to see the Nations drink before her: Take the Cup of my Fury (saith God to the Prophet,) and cause all the Nations to whom I send thee, to drink it. To wit, All the Kingdoms of the World which are upon the Face of the Earth. And Shebassh shall drink after them. But what was Shebassh? may some say. I answer, It was Babylon, the Princess of the World, and at that time the Head of all those Nations, (as this Queen is now the Mother of Harlots.) Wherefore, the same Prophet, speaking of the Destruction of the same Shebassh, saith, How is Shebassh taken? How is the praise of the whole Earth surprized? How is Babylon become an Astonishment among the Nations?

Now, if this was the Method of God's Proceeding with his Enemies in the way of his Judgments of old, why may we not suppose that he will go the same way with his great Enemy now: especially since those Judgments mentioned before, were executed upon those, which, in some things, were Figures of the great Whore. Besides, we read here plainly, that when the Cities of the Nations were fallen, Great Babylon came into remembrance before God, to give her to drink of the Cup.

From all which I conclude, as I did before, that the Mother, the Metropolitan, the Lady of Kingdoms, shall live to see her Daughters executed before her Face: After which she shall come into Consideration her self; for she must assuredly drink of the Cup.

This Destruction therefore must be last, for the Reasons urged before, and also because she most deserves the Bottom of the Cup. The bottom is the dregs, the most bitter Part, and that where the most Heat, and fiercest Wrath of God doth lye. Wherefore, although you find that by the first Earthquake a great Slaughter was made, and that a tenth Part of the City fell; yet from that Judgment some did escape: And the Remnant were affrighted, and gave Glory to the God of Heaven.

But now, this Earthquake, by Virtue of which the Cities of the Nations fall, and as an Effect of which Great Babylon is come into Remembrance before God, neither spares one of the Daughters of this Whore, nor any Man that is a Lover of them; but it so is seconded by a Hail-storm, and that Hail-storm worketh so in Wrath, that not one escapes by Repentance. Every Hail-stone was the weight of a Talent, which some say is six Pounds above

Half an hundred weight: By this therefore God shews, that now his Anger was wrought up to the Height. I know not wherewith so to compare these Hail-stones, as with the Talent of Lead that was laid over the Mouth of the Ephah, which was prepared to hold the Woman, whose Name was Wickedness, this very Whore of Babylon: For that Talent of Lead was to keep down this Mistress, that she might get no more out of the Ephah, and these Hail-stones are to banish her out of the World: Therefore it follows, that she must have the most heavy Judgment, even the bottom of the Cup.

Gen. 30. 22. And great Babylon came into Remembrance before God. To remember with God, is to visit either with Grace or Wrath, God is said to remember Rachel, when he visited her with the Blessing of a Fruitful Womb. It is said also that God remembered Noah, when the time came on that he was to be delivered from the Flood. Here also he is said to remember Babylon, that is, to visit her with his Anger for the Wickedness that she had committed: To give unto her the Cup of the Wine of the Fierceness of his Wrath.

Rev. 18. 24. Now then is the time of Iniquity, when it will be come to the full; and now also is the time of God's Anger, when it will be come to the full: Now therefore must the Murthers, and Thefts, and Blasphemies, and Fornications, &c. belonging to this Mother of Harlots, be recompensed to the full, to wit, with the Dregs of this Cup: Yet since the Hail-stones come by Weight, and the Wrath comes by Measure, (for so a Talent and a Cup imports) it follows, that the Almighty God, even in the midst of the Heat of all this Anger, will keep to the Rules of Justice and Judgment while he is dealing with this Enemy: He has not Passions, to carry him beyond Rules of Judgment; nor Weakness, to cause him to fall short of doing Justice: Therefore he has (as was said) his Judgments for her by Weight, and his Indignation by Measure: But yet this Weight and Measure is not suited to her Constitution, not with an Intent to purge or refine her; but it is disposed according to the Measure and Nature of her Iniquity, and comes to sweep her, as with the Beesom of Destruction, until she is swept off from the Face of all the Earth.

And thus I have shewed you the Manner of the Ruine of Antichrist; that is, That it will be gradual, Part after Part, until the whole be overthrown. And this Truth may be applied both to the Soul, as well as to the Body of Antichrist: For the Soul, Spirit, or Life of Antichrist must also after this Manner be destroyed. And hence it is said to be consumed, that is, by Degrees: For to consume, is to destroy by Degrees: Only this Caution I would have the Reader remember, That much of the Soul of Antichrist may be destroyed, when none of her Daughters are; and that the Destruction of her Spirit is a certain forerunner of the Destruction of her Body in the Manner that we have related.

Now since she is dying, let us ring her Passing-Bell; for when she is dead, we that live to see it, intend to ring out.

Ezek. 26. 19, 20, 21. For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate City, like the Cities that are not inhabited; when I shall bring up the deep upon thee, and great Waters shall cover thee; when I shall bring thee down with them that descend into the Pit, with the People of old Time; and shall set thee in the low Parts of the Earth, in Places desolate of old, with them that go down to the Pit, that thou be not inhabited, and I shall set Glory in the Land of the living. I will make thee a Terror, and thou shalt be no more: Though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found again, saith the Lord God.

Of the Signs of the Approach of the Downfall of Antichrist.

HAVING in the fore-going Discourse spoken of Antichrist his Ruine, and the Manner thereof, I now come to speak of the Signs of the Approach of her Destruction. And whether I shall hit right, as to these, that I must leave to Time to make manifest; and in the mean while to the wise in Heart to judge.

That she shall fall, there is nothing more certain; and when she is fallen, that she never shall rise again, is also as firmly decreed; yea, and shewed too by him that cast the Millstone into the Sea, and said, Thus with Violence shall that great City, Babylon, be thrown down, and shall be found no more at all. This is therefore her Fate and Destiny, from the Mouth of the Holy One; and is sealed up in the Scriptures of Truth, for the Comfort of the People that have been afflicted by her. Rev. 18. 21.

True, the Time of her Fall is not certainly known by the Saints, nor at all believed by her; wherefore, her Plagues must come unlooked for by her. And as to the Saints, their Guesses, as to the Time of her Ruine, must needs be conjectural and uncertain. For her Part, she shall say, and that when she stands where she must suddenly fall, I shall be a Lady for ever. And as to the Saints that would very willingly see her Downfall, how often have they been mistaken as to the set Time thereof. Isa. 47. 7, 8, 9.

Nor have I been without Thought, but that this Mistake of the Godly may become a Snare to Antichrist, and a Trap to her Upholders. For what can be a greater Judgment, or more effectually harden the Hearts of the Wicked, than for them to behold that the Predictions, Prophecies, Expecta-

Expectations and Hopes of their Enemies (as to their Ruine) should quite (as to the Time) be frustrate, and made void.

Numb. 14. 40. Moses prophesied, and the People hoped that God would give Israel the Land of Canaan; and yet the Canaanites beat them.

Joi. 7. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Jer. 37. Jeremiah prophesied that the Enemy should come and take the City of Jerusalem; but because he came once, and went back without doing it, how stout and hardened were the Hearts of that People against all the rest of his Prophetick Sayings, as to such a Thing. Now the Error lay not in these Prophets, but in the People's mistaking the Times: And if Mistakes do so much harden the Heart of the Wicked, what will they do to such of them who make it their Business to blind and harden their Hearts against God, by abusing all Truths? Surely, when Men seek to harden their Hearts by abusing of Truth, they will do it to purpose, when they have also the Advantage of the weakness of their professed Enemies to do it by: Especially when their Enemies shall say they speak by the Word of the Lord, and Time shall manifest it to be both a Mistake and a Falshood.

It is to be bewailed, namely, the forwardness of some in this Matter, who have predicted concerning the Time of the Downfall of Antichrist, to the Shame of them and their Brethren: Nor will the Wrong that such by their boldness have done to the Church of God, be ever repaired by them nor their Works. But the Judgments of God are a great Deep; and therefore who can tell, since the Enemy of God would not be convinced by the power of Truth, and the vertuous Lives of some, but that God might leave them to be snared, hardened and emboldened to run upon their unavoidable Destruction, by the Lyes and Lightness of others. They begin to vaunt it already, and to say, Where is the Word of the Lord, as to this, let it come now. But when Agag said, Surely the bitterness of Death is past, then was the Time for him to be hewn in Pieces. I shall not therefore meddle with the Times and Seasons which the Father hath put in his own Power; no, though they as to Antichrist's Ruine are revealed; because by the Holy Ghost there is a Challenge made, notwithstanding the Time is set, and by the Word related to the Man of Wisdom to find it out if he can.

Rev. 13. 18.

If Samson's Riddle was so puzzling, what shall we think of this? And though the Angel hath intimated, That this sealed Matter shall be opened towards the Time of the end; yet 'tis evident, some have either been so hasty, or presumed too much upon their own Abilities: For I am sure they have missed the Mark, hardened the Heart of the Enemy, stumbled the Weak, and shamed them that loved them.

Dan. 12. 9.

But since the most High hath irreversibly determined her Downfall also, let us see if we can have better Success in discouraging upon the Signs, than others have had who have meddled with the Timing thereof.

First then, The Downfall and Ruine of Antichrist draws near, when the Church and People of God are driven from all those hiding-places that God has prepared for them in the Wilderness. The Church of God, when the Dragon did his worst, had an hiding-place prepared her of God, that she might not utterly be devoured by him; and so shall have till the Time of his End shall come.

Of this you read in the 12th of the Revelations, a Place worthy to be noted for this. But now, when the Time of the Ruine of Antichrist draws on, then is the Church deprived of her Shelter, and laid open, as one would think, to be utterly swallowed up for ever, having no more Place in the Wilderness, that is, among the Nations, to hide her self from the Face of the Serpent. But how comes this to be a Sign of the approach of the Ruine of Antichrist? Why thus: The Time of this Beast's War with the Church of God, and the Time that the Church shall have an hiding place in the Wilderness, are both of a length, the one continuing forty two Months, the other a thousand two hundred and threescore Days. Now since the War that this Beast makes with the Woman and her Seed, and the Woman's hiding-place in the Wilderness from his Face, are for length of Time, the same; what hindreth but that when the Woman and her Seed can find no more Shelter in the Nations, the Time that the Beast hath allotted him to make War against her, should be finished also? When we therefore shall see that Plots and Conspiracies, that designs for utter Ruine, are laid against God's Church all the World over; and that none of the Kings, Princes, or Mighty States of the World, will open their Doors, or give them a City for Refuge; then is the Ruine of Antichrist at Hand: For Haman's Plot, though the most universal that ever yet was hatching, (being laid in an hundred twenty seven Provinces,) did but presage the Deliverance and Exaltation of the Jews, and the hanging of Haman and his Sons: Yea, and I take it, that the very Day that this great Enemy had set for the utter Overthrow of the Church, God made the Day in which their Deliverance began, and that from whence it was compleated; and I take that to be a Type of this.

There is but one Thing that I can think of that can give Matter of a shew of Doubt about this Thing; and that is, Though the Time of this War against the Saints, and that of the Woman's Shelter in the Wilderness as to length, be one and the same; yet whether they did commence together, and begin to take their Rise, as Men do that begin to run a Race?

A Word

A Word therefore to this. I suppose they did commence much together; for else with whom should this Beast make War, and how should the Church escape? Or, if the Beast began his War before the Woman began to have a hiding-place, why was she not swallowed up, since in the Wilderness was her only Place of Shelter? Again, What needed the Woman to have a Place of Shelter in the Wilderness, when there was no War made against her? And yet this must be, if her thousand two hundred and threescore Days, began before the Beasts forty two Months: But they ended both together; for the Beast could not kill the Witnesses before they had finished their Testimony; which Testimony of theirs lasted this full Time that the Beast had granted him to make War with them, to wit, one thousand two hundred and threescore Days: Therefore their Times went out together, as will be made appear, if you consider also that the Witnesses were slain, by Virtue, not of the Old, but of a new War levied against them; and that, as it should seem, at the very Time when her hiding-place was taken from her; for then indeed, for a little Season, will the Church of God be overcome, as I shall shew by and by.

Rev. 11.3.

Wherefore, let God's People consider and remember that when God's Church is absolutely forlorn, and has no hiding-place any longer in the World, the Kingdom of Antichrist will quickly begin to tumble. Nor is this the alone Place from whence we may gather these Conclusions.

Gen. 15.

The Time of Pharaoh's Tyranny, of his Life, and of the Deliverance of the Children of Israel, came out much together; as any will discern that shall consider the History of them.

1 Sam. 27.

Ch. 30.1.

Ch. 31.1.

2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

David, when Saul did forely persecute him, fled last into the Wilderness to Achish the King of Gath, a Philistine, for Shelter; and he gave him Ziklag for his Refuge. And that Place so continued to David, till just about the Time in which Saul must die; and then behold, David's Ziklag is burnt with Fire, and himself stript naked of Harbour! But what Matter! the Time of Saul's Life, as well as of David's Ziklag, was now upon expiring; for within three or four Days after David became the King of Israel.

Dan. 5.

29, 30.

And thus also it was with the Babel Beast: His Time expired, when the Captivity of Israel was upon the finishing: Then was the Time of his Land come, and in that very Night was Belshazzar the King of the Caldeans slain.

Thus therefore it will happen to the Church in the latter Days: Her Place of Shelter in the Wilderness; her Ziklag will be taken from her, about the Time that the War that the Beast has to make upon the Woman and her Seed shall be finished. But now the Church is not therefore immediately delivered, when her Ziklag is taken from her; for after that, the Beast levieth a new War, to the overcoming and killing of the Church: I say therefore, That this is a Sign, not of the Downfall of Antichrist, but of the Approach thereof: For the Churches Bondage shall continue but three Days, and a little after this. Much like to this was that of David; for after he had lost his Ziklag, for two or three Days he had sore Distress: But lo, then came the Kingdom to him.

Indeed, Sense and Reason saith it is a fearful Thing for the Church of God to be exposed to the Rage of her Enemy all over the World at once; and that all Nations should shut up their Gates, let down their Portcullices, bolt up their Doors, and set open their Flood-gates to destroy them: But so will be the Dispensation of God, to the End Deliverance may be the sweeter, and the Enemies Fall the more headlong, and the Arm of God the more manifest, both for the one, and against the other. And in this will that Scripture be fulfilled:

And there will be a Time of Trouble, such as never was since there was a Nation; and at that Time thy People shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the Book.

Dan. 12.1.

Let us gather up what has been said again; namely, That it is a Sign of the Approach of the Ruin of Antichrist, when God's Church can find no more Shelter in the Wilderness, because when her Ziklag is burned, the Time of the War that the Beast is to make against her is finished. Wherefore, when she hath given one desperate Struggle more, and laid the Church of God, or his Witnesses, for dead, in the Street of his great City, for three Days and an half, then comes the Kingdom, and the long long-looked for Rest and Glory. Wherefore it remains, That an Angel should stand in the Sun, and make Proclamation to all the Fowls that fly in the midst of Heaven, to gather themselves together to the Supper of the Great God:

That they may eat the Flesh of Kings, and the Flesh of Captains; the Flesh of mighty Men, and the Flesh of Horses, and of them that sit on them; and the Flesh of all Men, both free and bound, both small and great. This is to be after the forty-two Months of the Beast; and consequently, after the thousand two hundred and threescore Days that the Church was to be in Sackcloth; yea, after the Resurrection of the Witnesses, as is evident by that which follows: And the Beast was taken, (that is, after the second Year) and with him the false Prophet that wrought Miracles before him, with which he deceived them that had received the Mark of the Beast, and them that worshipped his Image; these both were cast alive into a Lake of Fire burning with Brimstone.

Rev. 19.18

Secondly,

The Second
Sign.

Secondly, Another Sign of the Approach of the Ruin of Antichrist, is this: Towards the End of her Reign, the Nations will be made to see her Baseness, and to abhor her and her Ways: They will, I say, be made to see these Things, in Order to her Ruin: Also, when they shall be made to see, her Ruine will not be far off: For so long as the Nations and their Rulers shall continue in that dead Sleep that she hath bewitched them into, by their Drinking of the Wine of her Fornication; so long we have no Ground to think that her Ruine is at the Door: But when God shall lay her before Kings, and shall discover her Nakedness to the Nations, then be sure her Destruction is at hand. Hence you read, that precedent to her Downfall: An Angel comes down from Heaven, and lightens the Earth with his Glory. [The Earth,] that is, the Kingdoms, Countries, and Nations where the Woman sitteth, or they that border thereupon. [Lightned;] to let them see the Filthiness of the Whore. [With his Glory;] with the Doctrine that he had Commission to preach against her, for the discovering of her Lewdness to the Earth. This also was the Way that God took with backsliding Israel of old, (and she was a Type of our religious Babel) when he intended to bring her to Judgment for her Sins; and this is the Way that God will take to destroy our religious Antichrist, when he comes to deliver his People out of her Hand.

For though the People that suffer at her Hand, can do nothing against her, but lay in Prayers and Tears against her before the God of Heaven, and bare their Witness against her before the Gods of the Earth; yet when Kings shall come to be concerned, and they will count themselves concerned when they shall see how they have been deceived by her; then let her look to it.

Behold, I am against thee, saith the Lord of Hosts; and I will discover thy Skirts upon thy Face; and I will shew the Nations thy Nakedness, and the Kingdoms thy Shame: And I will cast abominable Filth upon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a Gazing-Stock. And what follows? And it shall come to pass, that all they that look upon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineveh is laid waste, who will bemoan her? Whence shall I seek Comforters for thee?

Wherefore, there wants nothing but that she be discovered to the Nations and their Kings; for did they but see her, though they lay yet in her Bosom, they would rise up against her, that she must die: Wherefore it is written again, I will bring forth a Fire out of the midst of thee; it shall devour thee: And I will bring thee to Ashes upon the Earth, in the Sight of all them that behold thee.

The Chief of the Wisdom of Antichrist this Day is laid out, if perhaps by it she may cover her Nakedness, and keep it from the Eyes of Kings and their People. But God has said it shall not avail: Thy Nakedness shall be uncovered; yea, thy Shame shall be seen: I will take Vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a Man. But how will he make her naked? Verily, by Kings. But how shall Kings do it? Why, by Virtue of the Glory of the Angel: Yea, They shall make her desolate and naked; they shall eat her Flesh, and burn her with Fire.

Let this, I pray, be considered, That Antichrist shall not down but by the Hand of Kings. The Preacher than kills her Soul, and the King kills her Body. And why should not the Kings have it granted unto them, that she should fall by their Hand? The Kings are those that she has abused, that she has in the grossest Manner abused, and has served herself of them: But the Time of the End of Antichrist, Mystery Babylon, is coming, And then many Nations and great Kings shall serve themselves of that.

Nor shall all the Tricks, Lies, and Deceit under which formerly she used to shroud her self, be able to prove a Balm to her any longer: No, In vain shalt thou use many Medicines, for no Cure shall be unto thee; the Nations have heard of thy Shame.

Babylon has for a long Time been a Lady of Kingdoms, and a Golden Cup in the Lord's Hand: The Nations also have largely drank of her Cup, and the Kings have committed Fornication with her: But now the Angel is come down, and hath lightned the Earth with his Glory. Wherefore now it follows immediately, Babylon is fallen! That is, in the Eyes and Esteem of the Nations, as well as otherwise.

True, some of the Kings will bewail her Fall, and will cry, Alas! Alas! when they see that they cannot help her; for that they shall see, as is evident, because they stand afar off to lament her, afar off for the Fear of her Torment. The Kings therefore into whose Hands God shall deliver her, and who shall execute his Judgments upon her, shall be more mighty and powerful to bring her down, than shall be the whole World besides to uphold her.

And this observe further, That as the Kings that shall hate her, shall hate her because in the Light of the Glory of the Angel they are made able to see her Filthiness; so the Kings that shall bewail her, are such as in Judgment are left in the Dark, and that shall be bewitched by her to the end. This therefore will let us see something of the Meaning of God, in that he has drawn off from her some of the Kings already; to wit, that he might train them up by the Light of the Gospel, that they they may be expert, like Men of War, to scale her Walls, when the King of Kings shall give out the Commandment to them so to do.

There has been a great deal of Talk in the Countries, about the Ruine and Destruction of Babylon; but could we see more of the Kings engaged against her, we should hope groundedly that her Fall was at the Door. Well, blessed be God for what Kings there are, and the Lord turn the Hearts of many more to hate her.

Some, as I said before, have adventured to fore-tell the Time of her Downfal; but give me the Signs thereof. This therefore is a Sign, a Sign that her Downfal approaches, when God shall lay her Nakedness before the Nations, and put it into the Hearts of Kings to abhor her. The Signs of the Times the Lord Jesus would have us mind; and because the Jews neglected them, though as to the Time they hit pretty right, yet they missed of the Thing that the Time brought forth.

Thirdly, A third Sign of the approach of the Ruine of Antichrist, is this: When Babylon is become the Habitation of Devils, &c. then the Downfal thereof is upon us. True, Babylon was always an Habitation for Devils, but not an Habitation only for them; Israel once dwelt there, and our Antichrist was sometimes a Place of Residence for good Men. The Meaning then is, When you shall see the Church and People of God so forsake her that she is left in a Manner to her self, and to her Disciples, than she is to fall quickly: When you hear it proclaimed by them that are yet in her, of God's People, We would have healed Babylon, but she is not healed: Forsake her, and let us go every one to his own Country: Then she will soon be hissed out of the World: For this is the Way of the Wisdom of God; namely, To bring his People out of a City or Place, when he intends the Ruine of that Place. When God was about to destroy the old World, he put his Noah into an Ark: When God was about to destroy Sodom, he sent his Lot away thence to Zoar: When Christ was about to destroy Jerusalem, he bid his Disciples flee from the midst of that: And when there shall be by God a Hissing for his People; and when they shall hear him, and obey, and gather to him, then you shall see what will become of this Enemy of Christ: I will hiss for them, and gather them; for I have redeemed them.

8, to 13.

I say therefore, when Babylon shall become the Habitation of Devils, a Hold for all foul Spirits, and a Cage for every unclean and hateful Bird, then Babylon is fallen.

And thus the Angel that lightned the Earth with his Glory, proclaimed, Babylon the Great is fallen! is fallen! and is be- come the Habitation of Devils, and a Hold for every foul Spirit, and a Cage for every unclean and hateful Bird. Wherefore it must be, that by that her Time is come that she should fall, God will have gleaned his People from the midst of her. And when God shall have gleaned his People from the midst of her, those that are left behind will appear more than ever to be what they are, to wit, Devils, foul Spirits, and hateful Birds; wherefore, now will Antichrist appear in his own most proper Colours.

But to comment a little upon the Words.

Babylon] Mystery Babylon. The Anti-Rev. 17. 5. christian Church.

Is fallen! Is fallen!] In the Eyes and Faith of the Godly, by her dropping into the Dregs of Degeneracy, and so is become the Habitation of Devils, &c. in order to her falling into utter and unavoidable Destruction for ever.

Is become] That is, through the Labour of the Fanners and Winnoers that God hath sent to fan Babylon, and to fetch out his People, that she might be left to her Chaff: I will send (saith God to Babylon) Fanners, that shall fan her, and that shall empty her Land (of good Men); for in the Day of Trouble they shall be against her round about.

An Habitation of Devils.] Devils: Not such by Nature, but by Practice. Incarnate Devils: For when the time is come that Babylon must be destroyed, she shall be found to be an Habitation for the most vile of the Sons of Men: For as Devils have acted towards the World; so shall the Sons of this Sorcerers, and this Whore, act towards Christ and his Members in the latter days. And perhaps, the departing of Zion from the Midst of her, will blow her up into this Spirit of Devilism. Let God's People therefore, when Antichrist is towards her End, look for nothing from her, but what the Devil, in Times past, used to do; to wit, all sinful Subtilty, Malice, Wrath, Fraud, Deceit, Lying, Murder, false Accusings, and implacable Madnes of Spirit to do them Mischief. (But Lord God! think I, what will become of Good Men! and where will they be safe in such Days? Only I comfort myself, by saying to myself again, This is a Sign that the Ruine of Antichrist is at the Door.) But this I say, He must needs be a tuncable Man, that shall be able in those days to sing this Song to himself at all Seasons: For this is to drive Reason backward, and to set the Cart before the Horse. For what will the good Man's Reason say, when it seeth all Babylonians are become Devils, but that the Church of God will certainly be torn in pieces? But behold! the Text and the Holy Ghost runs counter: Babylon is fallen! is fallen! and (or, for it) is become the Habitation of Devils. These Words words for certain are the words of an holy Angel; for it could not have entered into the Heart of meer Man to have conceived them.

An Habitation.] To be an Habitation (for Devils) is to be their House, their Dwelling-place, their Place of Privilege, their Place of Rest and Abode, or thither whither they have right to go. And thus will Babylon be; that is, an House, an Habitation, a Dwelling-place, and a Place of Rest, only for devilish-minded Men; thither may such Men come; for such her Doors stand open, and there may such inhabit. When therefore you see good Men come out thence, and all sorts of wicked Men flock in thither, then know that Babylon is near her End.

And a Hold for every foul Spirit.] Understand by Spirit, either those those that are Devils by Nature, or such as are such otherwise. But I think that the Angel chiefly intends all manner of unclean and filthy Spirits; and so the Church and Members of Babylon, their only Place of Safety: Or if you understand it of the Uncleaness of the Spirits and Minds of Men, then the Meaning is, that they are called foul Spirits, in Allusion to those of Devils which go by the same Name. But however, or which way soever taken, it seems Babylon is their Hold; that is, their Place of Defence: For by an Hold, we often understand a Place of Strength, a Castle, a Fort, a Tower; so that these Devils, these foul-spirited Men, these Babylonians, will not only find House-room and Harbour in Babel, but Shelter, Defence and Protection, when she is near her Ruine: yea, they will find her an Upholder to them, and a Countenancer of them, in all their foul and devilish Pranks; yea, such an Hold shall she be to such foul Spirits in such foul Acts, that it shall not be possible that they should be driven from her, or from them: For an Hold is often taken in the Scriptures for a Place that is Impregnable, and must be so taken here. This intimates then, that some faint Opposition by the Kings and Nations will be made against these Inhabiters foul Spirits, but to little purpose, until the time of her Land shall come; for in their Hold they still will be secured and defended from what Reason, Law and Scripture can or would do unto them. Thus then we see how Babel, towards her End, will be filled, and with what, to wit, with Devils and foul Spirits; yea, and that she will not only be an Habitation, but a Place of Defence for such.

And a Cage for every unclean and hateful Bird.] Those that before are called Devils, and foul Spirits, are also here called Birds, unclean and hateful Beasts. By the Term [Birds,] he may allude to that of the Prophet Isaiah, where these unclean Birds are mentioned. And by Cage, he may allude to the Prophet Jeremiah, from whom, as I think, the Holy Ghost takes these Words; but then we must put Men in the Place of Birds, and the Babylonian Kingdom for the Cage.

EVERY unclean Bird.] As was said before, A Hold for EVERY foul Spirit. These unclean Birds therefore are not all of one Feather, or Kind, but of ALL and EVERY Kind; and it intimates, that the worst Act of all Professions, shall be, as in a Cage, in Babylon, a little before her Downfall. But I say, if they will not be all of one Feather, yet in their Temper they will somewhat agree, being either in Shape, Monstrous; of Appetite, Ravenous; or of Inclination, Lovers of the Night: For of all these Sorts were the forbidden, or unclean Birds among the Jews. Now since these unclean Birds are not all of one Feather, or Kind, it intimates that the basest of all Sorts, Sects, Professions and Degrees, shall take Shelter in Babylon towards her End; and that they shall there, in their Temper, unanimously agree to shew themselves monstrous, to devour and eat up the Poor and Needy, and to blow out the Light of the Gospel.

A Cage.] Not to imprison them in, but for them to sit and sing in, to confer their Notes in, to make melodious Musick in; I mean, Melodious to their own thinking; for the Ass thinks that he sings full favourably, and the Owl endeavours to lift up her Voice above all the Birds of the Wood: But it will be a Prediction of her Fall, and that her Ruine is at the Door.

Of these Birds Zephaniah speaks, when he Prophesies of the Downfall of Nineveh, saying, The Cormorant and the Bittern lodge in the uppermost Lintels of it, their Voice shall sing in the Widows (when) Desolation shall be on the Threshold. An unreasonable Time to sing in; for when Death is coming in at the Door, Mourning should be in the Chambers: But this is the Judgment of God, That she should be a Cage for every unclean Bird to sing in, even then when her Destruction and Desolation cometh upon her.

To sing, as in a Cage, doth also denote Security, and that the Heart is far from fear; for she saith, I shall see no Sorrow, in that Hour in which her Judgment comes.

But is this a Sign of the Approach of the Ruine of Antichrist? And must those that shall live to see those Days, rejoyce when these Things begin to come to pass? Are not these Things rather a Sign that the utter Overthrow of the Church of God is at the Door? Indeed, to Sense it is, and Reason will be apt to say so: But hark what the Holy Ghost saith! She is fallen! is fallen now!

When therefore we shall see Men like Devils; yea, every foul Spirit, and hateful Bird, flock to, and take Shelter in Babylon;

let us not be frightened or dejected, but pluck up our Hearts, and say, This is one of the Signs that the Downfall of Babylon is near. Wherefore it follows, after that the Prophet had told us that these Birds should dwell in the Land of the People of God's Curse, That the Wilderness and the solitary Places should be glad for them, (for that they are there) and the Desert shall rejoyce, and blossom as a Rose: It shall blossom as a Rose: It shall blossom (saith he) abundantly, and rejoyce even with Joy and singing: The Glory of Lebanon shall be given unto it: The excellency of Carmel and Sharon: They shall see the Glory of the Lord, and Excellency of our God. And to support the Weak from those Fears that in those Days will be pulling of them down, he adds, Strengthen ye the weak Hands, and confirm the feeble Knees. Say to them that are of a fearful Heart, be strong, fear not: Behold, your God will come with Vengeance, even God with a Recompence, he will come and save you. Then the Eyes of the Blind shall be opened, and the Ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame Man leap as an Hart, and the Tongue of the dumb sing: For in the Wilderness shall Waters break out, and Streams in the Desert. And the parched Ground shall become a Pool, and the thirsty Land Springs of Water: In the Habitation of Dragons where each lay, shall be Grass, with Reeds and Rushes. And an High-way shall be there, and a Way, and it shall be called the Way of Holiness, the unclean shall not pass over it, but it shall be for those: The wayfaring Men, though Fools, shall not err therein. No Lion shall be there, nor any ravenous Beast shall go up thereon, it shall not be found there; but the redeemed shall walk there. And the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with Songs, and everlasting Joy upon their Heads: They shall obtain Joy and Gladness, and Sorrow and Sighing shall flee away.

What say ye now, ye Sons of God! Will you learn to make a Judgment of Things according to the Myſtery of the Wiſdom of God, or will you longer conclude according to Senſe and Reason? He turneth the Shadow of Death into the Morning: And commands oft-times, that the faireſt Day ſhould ſucceed the fouleſt Night. Wherefore, when we ſee theſe Devils, foul Spirits, and unclean Birds in Babylon; yea, when we ſee good Men leave her, and the vileſt run in to her, then let us ſing the Angels Song, and ſay, Babylon the Great is fallen! is fallen! and is become the Habitation of Devils, and a Hold for every foul Spirit, and a Cage for every unclean and hateful Bird.

Fourthly, Another Sign of the Approach of the Ruine of Antichrist, is, The Slaying of the Witneſſes: For the Witneſſes are to be ſlain before the Fall of Antichrist; and that by the Hand of the Beast, who ſhall manage the Members of Antichrist, having qualified them before that Work, with thoſe Qualifications of which you read in the Sign foregoing. For what can better fit a Generation for ſuch a Work, than to be themſelves all turned Devils, and alſo Succourers of all foul Spirits. Wherefore, they muſt be the wickedſt of Men that ſhall do this; the very Scum of the Nations, and the very vileſt of People. Nor is this a new Notion: God threatned to give his Sanctuary into the Hands of Strangers for a Prey, ^{Ezek. 7.} and to the Wicked of the Earth for a Spoil: ^{20, 21.} To Robbers, Burglers, and they ſhould defile it. Again, ſaith God of his People, I will bring the worſt of the Heathen, and they ^{Ver. 24.} ſhall poſſeſs their Houſes. For the Truth is, this Work is too bad for Men either of Reason or Conſcience to be found in the Practice of. The Hang-man is uſually none of the beſt: The Witneſſes are alſo to be ſlain; but not a Man, but a Beast muſt ſlay them; a Den of Thieves, a Hold of foul Spirits muſt do it.

That the Witneſſes muſt be ſlain before the Fall of Babylon, has been hinted already. Alſo, that their Death is a Fore-runner of the Ruine of Antichrist, has before been touch'd upon; but in this Place I ſhall a little enlarge.

And therefore I proceed: And when they ſhall have finiſhed their Teſtimony, the ^{Rev. 11.} Beaſt that aſcended out of the bottomleſs Pit ſhall make War againſt them, and overcome them, and kill them: And their dead Bodies ſhall lie dead in the Street of that great City, which ſpiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where alſo our Lord was crucified. And they of the People, and Kindred, and Tongues, and Nations, ſhall ſee their dead Bodies three Days and an half, and ſhall not ſuffer their dead Bodies to be put into Graves. And after three Days and an half the Spirit of Life from God entred into them, and they ſtood upon their Feet, and great Fear fell upon them that ſaw them. And they heard a great Voice from Heaven, ſaying, Come up hither: And they aſcended to Heaven in a Cloud, and their Enemies beheld them.

Thus you ſee their Death is before their Deliverance. Alſo their Death is to be by the Hand of the Beast; to wit by the Men that have and hold this Mark, and that of his Image, and that are of the Number of his Name. You ſee alſo that their Death is not only a Fore-runner of their Deliverance, but a Sign that their Deliverance, is at the Door; ſince the one is but three Days and an half before the other.

And if a ſhort Comment upon this Text will give a little Light to the Reader, I ſhall not count my Labour loſt.

And when they ſhall have finiſhed their Teſtimony.] When, or about the time they have done their Work of Witneſs-bearing for God in the World: When they have made made or are making an end of giving their Testimony for Christ, and against the Witchcrafts, Idolatries, Sorceries, Fornications, Thefts, Murthers, and Wickedness of Antichrist: Then, and not till then.

Rev. 13. 1. The Beast that ascended out of the bottom-
 Rev. 1. 7. less Pit.] The Beast: The Power that carrieth and beareth up Antichrist, the Mother of Harlots: The Beast upon which the Woman sitteth, and by the Heads and Horns of which she is protected and defended; he is said to ascend out of the Bottomless-Pit; for that he manifesteth by his Doings, that he was born there, and came to the Work of the King thereof.

Shall make War against them.] We read that he made War against them all the Time of their prophesying in Sackcloth, while they were bearing their Testimony against his Doing; and that his Commission was, That he should have Leave to make War so long. But here we read again, that when they had finished their Testimony, and so consequently he had run out the time of his first Commission for War, he makes War again. So that this War which now he raiseth against them, seems to be another, a new War and such as is grounded upon other, to wit, new Arguments, besides those upon which his first War stood. By his first War, he fought to beat down and overthrow their Testimony: By this War he seeketh to overthrow themselves. The first War he made, was grounded upon a vain Confidence of his Ability to destroy their Faith; but this last was grounded upon Madness against them, because their Testimony had prevailed against him: Wherefore, Torment wherewith these Witnesses by their Testimony tormented him and his Followers, was the Cause of this last War. And this is insinuated, when he saith, They made merry for their Victory over them, because these two Prophets, (to wit, by their Testimony,) tormented them that dwelt on the Earth.

The Beast therefore will make a War against the Witnesses all the time of their prophesying in Sackcloth, which will be a
 Ch. 11. 3. Thousand two hundred and threescore Days. In all which Time they shall give him the Foil, and overcome him by their Faith and Testimony; and be proclaimed more than Conquerors over him, thro' the Christ that loved them. But now, in this second War he overcomes them, he overcomes them, and kills them.

Jezebel for a long time made War against Elias the Prophet, seeking to overthrow the Worship of God which he maintained, and to establish the Religion of Baal: But when she saw that by all she could do she got nothing, but that the Prophet got the Day of her Worship, Priests and Worshipers, she breaks out into a Rage, as one tormented almost to Death, and raises a new War; not now against his Religion, but his Person, and desperately swears by all the Gods that she had, That by to morrow that time the Life of the Prophet should be as the Life of one of her Priests whom he had slain for an Idolater. When the Devil sees that he cannot do by Argument, he will try if he can by Blows.
 1 Kings 3. 26.

When Zedekiah, the Sun of Chenaniah, saw that with Argument he could not overcome Micaiah, he steps to him, and takes him a box o'th Ear. This new War, is a box o'th' Ear which the Beast will give the Witnesses, because they overcame him by their Faith and Testimony, all the time that the first War lasted.

Now how long this second War will last, and what struglings the Witnesses will make before he shall overcome them, I know not: This I know, that the Text saith, By this War he shall overcome them.

And shall overcome them.] Saints are not said to be overcome, when they are imprisoned, banished, and killed for their faithful Testimony: No, by these things they overcome. To overcome then, is to get the Mastery, to subdue, to turn out of Possession, to take and hold captive, to strip the Subdued of Power and Privilege, as is sufficiently manifest both by Scripture and Reason: For of whom a Man is overcome, of the same he is brought in Bondage.

So then, when he is said to overcome them, 'tis meant, he shall get the Mastery of them, they shall grow faint before him, have no Heart or Spirit to bear up in their Profession against him: Against him, I say, as she did the Thousand two hundred and threescore Days War with him; for then they were overcomers, and did bear away the Garland.

Nor do I, for my Part, wonder at this, when I consider that these Witnesses are a Succession of good Men; and that when Israel came out of Egypt of old, the feeble and weak handed did come behind. It will be the Lot therefore of the Church, in the latter end of the Reign of the Beast, to be feeble and weak in their Profession, the valiant ones have gone before: These will come in, when those that were able have bravely born their Testimony, or when they are upon finishing of that: In comparison of whom, they that come after will be but like Eggs to the Cocks of the Game; wherefore they must needs be crushed, cow'd, and overcome. And then will the Beast boast himself, as did his Type of old, and say, Mine Hand has found, as a Nest, the Riches of the People; and as one gathereth Eggs that are left, have I gathered all the Earth, and there was none that moved the Wing, or that opened the Mouth, or peeped.

A sad Time, and it is to happen to the People

People that are left, to the latter end of the Witness-bearers; and that too when they shall have finished their Testimony.

Of this Tyranny the Cruelty of Amalek was a Type; who, as was hinted before, smote the hindmost, the weak: But his Judgment is, That he shall perish for ever.

And shall overcome them.] There are two Ways of Overcoming; to wit, by Power and Policy: And perhaps by both these ways they may be overcome. However, overcome they shall be; for so saith the holy Word of God; yea, the Beast shall overcome them. Wherefore the Church of God, at that Day, will be under such a Cloud as she never was since Christ's Day. Now how long they shall thus be held captive before they are brought to Execution; whether the Beast will ride in Triumph while they are in his Bounds; or whether he will suddenly kill them; that Time, and Observation, and Experience, must make manifest: But kill them he shall, that's most certain; for so says the Holy Ghost.

And shall overcome them, and kill them.] In this Method therefore God will suffer the Beast to proceed with the Church of God, after she has sufficiently born her Testimony for him in the World. He shall war against them, but that is not all: He shall overcome them, but that is not all; he shall overcome them, and kill them.

And kill them.] Of their Slaughter also I shall speak a Word or two. But first I would note, as all know, that there is a difference to be put betwixt Killing and Overcoming: For though every one that is killed, is overcome; yet every one that is overcome, is not killed: Men may be overcome, and yet live; but when they are killed, 'tis otherwise: There may be a Cry heard from the Mouth of them that are Overcome, but not from the Mouth of them that are Killed: They that are Overcome, may consult their own Enlargement and Deliverance; but they that are Killed, cannot do so. I do therefore distinguish betwixt being killed and overcome, because the Text doth so: He shall make War against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them.

And kill them.] From these Words therefore I will take occasion to enquire,

1. How they are to be considered as to this Slaughter.

2. What Death they must die to accomplish this Prophecy.

Rev. 11. 3. First, How they are to be considered?

I Answer: Not in a Carnal or Natural, but in a Mystical Sense. For, First, They are called Witnesses. Secondly, They are put under the Number of two: My two Witnesses. Both which are to be Mystically taken.

First, Because their Testimony standeth not in their Words only, but in their Conversation; yea, in their Suffering also:

And that is a Mystical Witness-bearing.

Secondly, They go under the Number of Two: Not because there were indeed two such Men in the World, but because Two are a sufficient Number to bear Witness; and God's Church, in the most furious Heat and Rage of Antichrist, has been at least of such a Number of Professing Saints, to Proclaim against the Beast and his Worship in the Name of God. To think that there have been two such Men in the World, is ridiculous; for these Witnesses must continue to give their Testimony for God against Antichrist, a Thousand two hundred and threescore Years. Nor can they scripturally bear this Title, My two Witnesses, but with respect to their prophesying so long. The Witnesses therefore are nothing else but a successive Church, or the Congregation of God abiding for him against Antichrist, by reason of a continual Succession of Men that is joyned by the special Blessing of God unto it.

Secondly, What Death they must die? I Answer, Not a Corporeal one, but that which is Mystically such. And I chuse to understand it thus, because this suiteth best with their State and Condition, which is mystical. Besides, thus did they (when they did overcome,) slay their Enemies, even with the Fire or Sword of their Mouth: If any Man will hurt them, Fire shall proceed out of their Mouth and devour their Enemies: If any Man will hurt them, he must in this manner be killed. As therefore they went about to kill their Enemies, so their Enemies will kill them: But they sought to kill their Enemies by their Testimony, as to their Antichristian Spirit, and Church State; and their Enemies will kill them, as to their Christian Heat and Fervency of Mind; and also as to their Christian Church state. So that, (at least so I think,) there will be such Ruines brought both upon the Spirit of Christianity, and the True Christian Church State before this Antichrist is destroyed, that there will for a time scarce be found a Christian Spirit, or a True Visible Living Church of Christ in the World: Nothing but the dead Bodies of these will be to be seen of the Nations; nor them neither, otherwise than as so many ruinous Heaps. For the Love that I bare to the Church of Christ, I wish, as to this, I may prove a false Prophet: But this looks so like the Text, and also so like the Dispensations of God with his Church of old, that I cannot but think it will be so. For the Text, I have spoken to that already; wherefore I will now present you with some things that look like Parallel Cases.

First, When the Church was coming out of Egypt, just before they were delivered from Pharaoh, they were in their own Eyes, and in the Eyes of their Enemies,

Exod. 14. none other than dead: It had been better
 12. (said they to Moses) that we had served the Egyptians, than that we should die in this Wilderness. The People said so, Moses feared, and Pharaoh concluded they were all dead Men. Also Paul tells us, that they 1 Cor. 10. were baptized (that is, buried) unto Moses
 2. in the Cloud, and in the Sea. They were, for the Time, to use the Expression, a dead Church, both in the Eyes of Pharaoh, in the Eyes of Moses, and also in their own.

And 'tis to be taken notice of: As the Witnesses in the Text were slain but a little before the Ruine of Antichrist began; so this Church was Baptized in the Sea but a little before great Pharaoh was drowned
 there.

Secondly, in the Time of Elias, which Time also was typical of this, what Church was there to be seen in Israel? None but what was under Ground, buried in Dens, and in Caves of the Earth: Yea, the Prophet could see none, and therefore he 1 King. 19 cried to God, and said, Lord, they have 14, 18. digged down thine Altars, and slain thy Rom. 11. 3 Prophets; and I am left alone, and they seek my Life! What visible living Church was now in the Land, I mean, either with reference to a godly Spirit for it, or the Form and Constitution of it? What was, was known to God, but dead to every Man alive.

Thirdly, What was the dry Bones that we read of in the 37th of Ezekiel, but the Church of God, and also a Figure of what we are treating of? And why called dry Ezek. 37. 11. Bones, since the People were alive, with their Substance, Wives, and Children; but to shew, that that Church of God was now, as to their Spirit and Church-State, accounted as dead, not only by themselves, but by the King of Babylon, and the Nations round about? Babylon then was the Valley, and the Grave; and the Church of God were the Bones: Bones without Flesh, Sinews, or Skin; Bones exceeding dry; yea so dry and dead were they, that the Prophet himself could not tell whether ever they should live again.

Now this, as I said, was a State that was not to end with the Church of Israel, but to be acted over once again by the Beast with the Church of the New Testament:
 Yea, it is an easy matter to make their Witnesses in this their Death, and the Church of Israel in this their Grave, in many things to symbolize.

Fourthly, Take another Instance, or rather Comparison, unto which the Church of God compared herself, when under the King of Babylon's Tyranny: And that is, she counted herself as the Dung that the Beast lets fall to the Ground from behind him. And doth this look like a visible Church-State? Or has it the Smell or Savour of such a thing? Nebuchadnezzar
 Jer. 50. 34 (said she) hath swallowed me up like a Dra- gon; he hath filled his Belly with my Delicates; he hath cast me out. Pray, what would you think of a Man, of whom one should tell you, That he was eaten up of a Dragon; made to fill the Belly of a Dragon; and cast out as the Dung of a Dragon? Would you think that such an one did all this while retain the Shape, Form, or Similitude of a Man? Why, thus the Church said she was, and thus the Church shall be again: For she is once more to be overcome, to be overcome and killed; and that by the Beast, the Dragon's Whelp, of which the King of Babylon was a Type.

 And therefore I conclude the Premises;
 that is, That the Beast will kill the Church that shall be in the latter Days, as to her Christian Spiritedness, and her Church-State. And I could further add, That if we hold they die corporeally, we must conclude, that their natural Body being slain, shall lie three Years and an half in the Street; yea, that their Resurrection shall be corporeal, &c. But why we should think thus, as yet I can see no Reason, since the Persons are such mystically; the Beast mystically so; the Street in which they be, mystically such; and the Days of their unburied State, to be taken mystically likewise. But we will pass this, and descend to other things.

Fifthly, I will yet add another Thing.
 When Israel was coming out of Babylon;
 yea, while they were building of the Temple of God, which was a Figure of our Church State now under the Gospel; they were not only troubled, hindred and molested in their Work, but were made for a Time to cease, and let the Work lye still.

Now (says the Text) when the Copy of King Artaxerxes Letter (which we sent to forbid the Jews in their Work) was read before Rehum and Shimshai the Scribe, and their Companions, they went up in haste to Jerusalem unto the Jews, and made them to cease by force and Power. Then ceased the Work of the House of God which is at Jeru- salem: So it ceased unto the second Year of the Reign of Darius the King of Persia.

And I pray, since their Temple-Worship was a Type of a New-Testament Church State and Worship, what doth their causing of that Work to cease signifie to us, but that we must have a Time also to cease as they? and since their Temple-work was caused to cease before the House was finished, what Face could there be at present thereupon, but that, to look to, it was like some deformed, battered, broken Building, or as such an one that was begun by foolish Builders?
 Yea, and since the Jews left off to build God's House at the Command of the Heathens, what did that bespeak, but that they had lost their Spirit, were quashed, and so as to their Temple-work, killed, as it were, to all Intents and Purposes? and thus it will be, a little before the Church of God shall be set free from the Beast,
 and

and all his Angels: For these Things were writ for our Admonition, to shew us what shall be done hereafter; yea, and whether we believe or disbelieve hereabout, Time will bring it to pass.

I do not question but many good Men have writ more largely of this Matter; but as I have not seen their Books, so I walk not by their Rules. If I mistake, the Mistakes are only mine; and if I shall merit Shame, I alone must bear it.

Some may think they have said enough, when they assert, that for the Witnesses to be killed, is, To be dead in Law: But I answer, That is not to be overcome. They are here said to be overcome; and that is more than to be dead in Law: For a Man may be dead in Law, and yet not be Overcome; and if so, then far enough off from being Killed. So then, for as much as they are said to be Overcome and Killed, it must be more than to be dead in Law. Besides, the Text supposeth that they had yielded up, as dying Men do their Souls, their Spirit of Life into the Hands of God: For it saith concerning them, That at their Resurrection, the Spirit of Life from God entred (again) into them: Into them, antecedent thereunto: And after three Days and an half, the Spirit of Life from God entred into them, and they stood upon their Feet. Thus it was concerning the dry Bones, of which mention was made before: Then said he unto me, Prophesie unto the Wind, prophesie, Son of Man, and say to the Wind, thus saith the Lord God, come from the four Winds, O Breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live. And thus much concerning their Killing.

Now, as I said, since in Death, the Body doth not only lye dead, but the Spirit of Life departs therefrom; it is to shew, that not only their Bodies, their Church State, shall die, (for Churches are called Bodies) but that Spirit of Life that acted those Bodies, shall be taken up to God. There shall for a Time, be no Living Visible Church of Christ in the World: A Church but no Living Church, as to Church State: A Church in Ruines, but not a Church in Order: Even as there was once a Christ, but no living Christ in the Grave; yet the Gates of Hell shall not prevail to an utter Overthrow thereof, no more than they prevailed to an utter Overthrow of Christ; but as one did, so shall the other, revive, and rise again, to the utter Confusion and Destruction of their Enemies: Yea, and as Christ, after his Resurrection, was, as to his Body, more Glorious than he was before; so the Witnesses, after their Resurrection, shall be more Spiritual, Heavenly, and Exact in all their Ways, than they were before they were killed. Resurrections are always attended with new Additions of Glory; and so shall the Church of God, as to her Church State, be in the latter Days.

But yet the Beast shall not altogether have his Will, (if that at all was his Will) that these Witnesses, in this second War, should be conquered to a Compliance with Antichrist in his foolish and vain Religion: For it is not with dead Men to comply; but as they are dead to their own Church-state, so they are to his. When the Jews had killed Christ, it was beyond all the Art of Hell to cause that his Body should see Corruption; so when the Beast has killed the Witnesses, he shall not be able to corrupt them with any of his Vices.

Hence you find, that not the Witnesses, but the Dwellers upon the Earth were them that danced after the Devil's Pipe, when he had fulfilled their Murther.

Nor doth this Murther, as to the fulfilling of it in those Nations where the Woman sitteth, seem to be a great Way off, if all be true that from foreign Parts some have said: For what a withdrawing of God and of his Spirit is there already in some of the Churches of God! The Word worketh not that sound Repentance which it was wont to do: Preachers Preach for little, but to spend themselves, as Men that are wounded do when with Groans they let out their Life. Where (say some) is the Spirit and Life of Communion? And where that practical Holiness that formerly used to be seen in the Houses, Lives and Conversations of Professors? The whole Head is sick, and the whole Heart faint already; and how long will it be before Churches die of the Wound that the Beast has given them, Time must make appear: But die I perceive they must; for if the Wound already given will not kill, repeated Blows shall.

By all that I have said, I do not deny but that many of the People of God may die Corporeally, by the Hand of the Beast, in this second War that shall be made by him against the Witnesses: But should as many more die, that will not prove that that Death will be that that by the killing of the Witnesses is intended.

Some Thing I would bestow upon the Reader, for him to carry with him as a Memorandum, while he reads this Account of Things: As,

First, This Victory of the Beast, is not to be untill the Witnesses have finished their Testimony; and so by all that he shall do, he shall not hinder the Revelation of any of the Truths that they either were to bring to Light, or to confirm by their Witness-bearing.

Witnesses are not always bound to speak: There is a Time to keep Silence, and thou shalt be dumb. But how shall we know when this Time is come?

2. When

2. When her Enemies forbear to plead against her by Argument, and rather be- take themselves to Blows.

3. When the Spirit of Testimony-bearing is taken from the Church; for that is not essential to Christianity, but is given and taken away as there is Occasion.

Joh. 9. 27.

4. When Testimony-bearing becomes a vain or needless Repetition, when they have heard sufficiently of Things before.

Rev. 11. 9.

Secondly, This Victory of the Beast shall not invalidate or weaken their Testimony; no, not in the Eyes of the World; for they will still remember, and have a Reverence for it: This is intimated by this, That they of the People, and Kindreds, and Tongues, and Nations, (that are neither the Witnesses, nor they that in the next Verse are called the Inhabiters, or they that dwell upon the Earth,) shall not suffer their dead Bodies to be buried, or put into Graves.

Thirdly, This shall not lengthen the Reign and Tranquility of the Antichristian Kingdom; nor frustrate, drive back, (or cause to tarry) the glorious Freedom and Liberty of the Saints.

But some may say, This will be a SAD Day.

So it will and gloomy; but it will be but short, and the Righteous shall have Dominion over them next Morning: 'Twill last but three Days and an half; nor shall it come, but for the Sins of Churches and Saints, and to hasten the Downfall of the Kingdom of the Beast, and for the sweetning to the Church her future Mercies. Christ Jesus, our Lord, in Answer to the Question of his Disciples, about the Destruction of Jerusalem, presented them with a Relation of many sad Things; but when he was come even to the Hearts of Men, and had told them that they should fail for fear: He said, When these Things begin to come to pass, look up, and lift up your Heads, for your Redemption draweth nigh.

25. to 29.

'Tis as ordinary as for the Light to shine, for God to make black and dismal Dispensations, to usher in bright and pleasing; yea, and the more frightful that is which goes before, the more comforting is that which follows after. Instances abundance might be given as to this, but at present let this suffice that is here upon the Paper before us; namely, The State of the Witnesses, with their glorious Resurrection.

Fifth Sign.

Fifthly, Another Sign of the Approach of the Ruine of Antichrist, will be this: The great Joy that will be in her, and among her Disciples, when they shall see that the Witnesses are slain, and lye dead upon the Spot: And they that dwell upon the Earth shall rejoyce over them, and make merry, and send Gifts one to another, because these two Prophets tormented them that dwell on the Earth. Babylon has been always a merry City, and her Disciples merry Men; but the poor Church of Christ has been solitary, and as a Wife forsaken; her Tears upon her Cheeks bear her Witness, and so doth her Sackcloth-weed.

Rev. 11.

Hence our Babylon, under the name of Nineveh, is called, The Rejoycing City. Only her Joy is distinguished from that which is the Joy of God's People, by these two Things.

First, Either she rejoyceth in outward and carnal Glory, or elie in the Ruine of the Church of God. This last, to wit, The (supposed) Ruine of the Church of God, is that which will be now the Cause of her Glorifying. And this is the Joy that God complaineth of, and for the which he said that he would punish Babylon: Caldea shall be a Spoil: All that spoil her shall be satisfied, saith the Lord; because ye were glad, because ye rejoiced, ye Destroyers of mine Heritage, &c. The Joy therefore of Babylon, Antichrist; the Joy that she shall conceive in her Heart upon the Slaughter of the Witnesses, is a sure Sign of her unavoidable Ruine and Destruction. These two Prophets tormented her; they were to Babylon as Mordecai was to Haman, a continual Plague and Eye-sore: As also was David to the wretched Saul: But now they are overcome, now they are killed; now she rejoiceth, and maketh merry. And this her Joy was of old prefigured by them that in her Spirit have gone before her: As,

First, When the Philistines had, as they thought, for ever overcome Sampson, that Nazarite of God, how joyful were they of the Victory! And the Lords of the Philistines gathered them together for to offer a great Sacrifice unto Dagon their God, and to rejoyce; for they said, Our God hath delivered Sampson our Enemy into our Hands. And when the People saw him, (saw him in Chains) they praised their God; for they said, Our God hath delivered into our Hands our Enemy, and the Destroyer of our Country, who slew many of us. Poor Sampson! While thou hadst thy Locks, thy Liberty, and thine Eyes, thou didst shake the Pillar that did bear up their Kingdom! But now they have conquered thee, how great is their Joy! How great is their Joy, and how near their Downfall! This therefore is a Joy that is like that we have under Consideration, to wit, the Joy of them that dwell upon the Earth; for that the Witnesses that did bear up the Name of God in the World, were overcome and killed.

Secondly, Like to this, is that which you read of in the First Book of Samuel, concerning the Men that had burnt David's Ziklag. Ziklag was poor David's Place of Safety; nor had he any elie but that under the whole Heaven: But the Children of the East came upon it, and took it, set it on Fire, and carried thence all David's Substance, with his Wives and his Children.

dren. (Very ill done to a Man in Affliction; to a Man that went always in Fear of his Life, because of the Rage of his Master Saul.) But how were they that had got the Victory? Oh! joyful, and glad, and merry at Heart at the Thoughts of the Richness of the Booty! Behold, they were scattered abroad upon all the Earth, Eating, and Drinking, and Dancing, because of all the great Spoil that they had taken out of the Land of the Philistines (from Ziklag) and out of the Land of Judah. Here again you find a Joy and Merriment like these that we have under Consideration, and that upon such like Accounts. Nothing pleases the Wicked more, than to see the Godly go down the Wind; for their Words, and Lives, and Actions are a Plague and a Torment to them: As 'tis said of these two Prophets, They tormented them that dwelt on the Earth.

Thirdly, While the Church of God lay dead in Babylon, and as Bones exceeding dry; what a Trampling upon them was there by Belsazzar a little before his Death! He called for the Golden and Silver Vessels that his Father Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of the Temple of God that was at Jerusalem, (those holy Vessels once dedicated to the Worship and Service of God) that his Princes, his Wives and his Concubines might drink therein. An high Affront to Heaven: They drank Wine, and praised the Gods of Gold, and of Silver, and of Brass, of Iron, of Wood, and of Stone: And all to shew what a Conquest, as he thought, he had got over the God of Heaven, and over his People that dwelt in Jerusalem, and over his Ordinances and Vessels used in his Worship and Service: Yea, this he did with such Joy that was not usual, as is intimated by his doing of it before a thousand of his Lords, and that till he had drunk himself drunken. But all this while, as was hinted before, the Church of God, as it were, lay dead at his Feet; or as the Phrase is, as Bones exceeding dry. This too will be the Joy of the Beast and his Followers in the latter Days; they will make War with the Witnesses; they shall overcome them and kill them; and when that is done, they shall rejoyce over them and make merry. But as Belsazzar soon after this, saw the Hand-writing that made his Knees knock together; and as he lived not to see the Light of another Day; so 'twill be with the Beast and his Followers; the next News that we hear upon this Mirth and Jollity, is, the tenth Part of his Kingdom falls, and so on till the whole is ruined.

Thirdly, Moab also, in the Day that Israel was taken Captive by their Enemies, could not forbear but skip for Joy, so glad was he in his Heart thereat. But what saith the Jealous Lord? Make him drunken, for he magnifieth himself against the Lord:

Moab also shall be a Derision: For was not Israel (saith God) a Derision to thee? Was he found among Thieves? For since thou spakest of him thou skippest for Joy. Of all Things, God cannot away with this: For when the Wicked would rejoyce that they have been suffered to make Havock of the Church of God, they deny the Wisdom and Power by which they were permitted to do this, and offer Sacrifice to their own Net and Drag; which provoketh the Holiness of Israel: Shall the Axe boast it self against him that heweth therewith? Or shall the Saw magnify it self against him that shaketh it? As if the Rod should shake it self against him that lifteth it up; or as if the Staff should lift up it self, as if it were no Wood. But what follows? Why, Burning and Consuming of Soul and Body of them that do such a Thing. And this Text I the rather bring, because 'tis to be the Portion of Antichrist.

And therefore let this be a Caution to the Men that wonder after the Beast, to caution them to Repentance, for he will assuredly go into Perdition. What! shall the Witnesses of God be killed! Shall the Beast stand glorying over them while they are dead, with his Feet in their Neck, and shall none be angry at it? Let them that love themselves look to themselves: God will be concerned, and will assuredly for this quickly put a Period to the Kingdom and Reign of Antichrist.

And although this glorying Mistress of Iniquity, this Antichrist and Babylon, may say that her Power is the Hammer of the whole Earth; yet God will cut him in sunder, and break him in Pieces with his Bout-Hammers, with the * Kings of the Earth, that he will use to do this Work withal; that is, when this last Sign is fulfilled: I call it the last Sign; I find none that doth intervene betwixt the Slaying of the Witnesses, and the Beginnings of the Ruine of Antichrist but this.

But a little to comment upon their Joy, as the Holy Ghost doth set it forth. The Cause of their Joy we have touched already; which was, for that they had slain their Tormentors: For, as was shewed you, the Witnesses had been their Tormentors: But when they shall overcome them and kill them, they rejoyce, make merry, and send Gifts one to another.

This repeating, and repeating with Aggravation, doth manifest, that at that Day their Joy will be exceeding great: They shall rejoyce, and make merry, &c. They shall rejoyce over them, over their Slain, their Enemies, their tormenting Enemies. This Joy therefore is a Joy that flows from Victory, from Victory after a War that has lasted a thousand two hundred and threescore Years. They shall rejoyce, as they do that have a most potent, vexatious, and tormenting Enemy lying dead at their Foot, Foot, and as those that ride in triumph over them. They shall therefore rejoice as Conquerors use to do, who make the Slaughters of their spoiled Enemies the Trophy of their Joy.

For the Devil, that great Deceiver of Mankind, will so flush up and bewitch the Men that wonder after the Beast, with the Victory that they shall get over the faithful Witnesses for God and his Son, that they will think ('twill never be Day) that the Victory is so compleat, so universal, so thorough, that the Conquest must be lasting. And from Sense and Reason they will have Ground to think so; for who now is left in the World any more to make Head against them? But here comes in that which will utterly spoil this Joy; these conquered, killed, dead Men must come to Life again, and then what's become of their Joy? And great Fear fell upon all that saw them. Wherefore this Joy must fade and vanish: But, I say, the Followers of the Beast will be far from thinking so; for they will rejoice over them, make merry, and send Gifts one to another, concluding that these Tormentors shall never torment them more. But Jacob's Blessing upon his Son Gad, shall be fulfilled upon these Witnesses: Gad (saith he) a Troop shall overcome him; but he shall overcome at the last.

Rev. 11. 11, 12. So then, these Conquerors must not always rejoice, though they will suppose they shall, and also make merry too.

Gen. 49. 19. And make merry.] To make merry is more than to rejoice. To rejoice doth shew the present Act of the Soul, but to make merry, is to use the Means as will keep this Joy alive, and on Foot. Joy is one Thing, and the Continuance of it is another. Joy may be begotten by a Conceit, a Thought; but it cannot be maintained so; because Deliberation will come in and spoil it, if sufficient Means is not used to continue it: Wherefore he adds, They rejoiced over them, [And made merry.]

Judg. 19. 6, 9. And there are Five Things that are usually made use of to keep up wicked Joy.

Est. 5. 4. (1.) There is, The Merriment of Musick. (2.) The Merriment of Feasting. (3.) The Merriment of Laughter. (4.) The Merriment of Fleshy Solace. (5.) Revenge upon a supposed Enemy. So then, by these five Things we see what is the way that sinful Joy is maintained in the Hearts of wicked Men; and also by what Means the Limbs and Brats of Antichrist will keep up that Joy that at first will be conceived in their Hearts at the Thought that now they have killed their Tormentors. (1.) They shall have Musick. (2.) They shall have Feasting. (3.) They shall have Laughter. (4.) They shall have Fleshy Solace. And (5.) They shall have their Fill, for the Time, of Revenge. Thus therefore shall they rejoice over them, and make merry, all the Time of that little, short Everlasting that they are to live in the World.

And make merry.] To make merry, to make wicked Mirth, there must be a continual Fraternity, or Brotherhood in Iniquity, maintained among them, and that where none may come to interrupt; and that they will be capable of doing any where then, for that their Tormentors will be dead. Wickedness shall walk with open Face in those Days; for then there will be none alive for God and his Ways; wherefore, the Beast and his Train may do what they will: Now will be the Time for Men to live carelessly and wantonly, and to make their Wantonness their Joy, (after the Manner of the Zidonians.) for there will be none to put them to Shame.

And shall send Gifts one to another.] This is another Token of their Gladness, and also a Means to buoy them up still: And it will be a Sign that they have joyned hand in hand to do this Wickedness, not dreaming of the Punishment that must follow. This sending of Gifts to each other, and that after they have slain these two Prophets, doth also declare that they will be far from Repentance, for the Commission of so great an Offence. Nay, it signifies further, that they were resolved and determined to quench all manner of Convictions one in another, that might arise in their Hearts for the Sin which they had committed: For a Gift blinds the Eyes of the Wise, and perverts the Judgment of the Righteous; how much more then will it stifle and choak Appearances of such upon the Spirits of wicked Men! I question not at all but many have been, by the Favours and Gifts of wicked Men, drawn down into the Belly of Hell.

Now what these Gifts will be, either as to Kind or Quantity, that I can say nothing to: But probably, whatever they will be, there will be but little of their own Cost in them. Victors and Conquerors do use to visit their Friends with their Spoils won in Battle, with the Spoil of the Enemies of their God.

And this was David's Way, after he had recovered the Loss that he had sustained at the burning of his Ziklag; he sent to his Friends of what he had taken from his Enemies, as Token of Victory: David sent of the Spoil (says the Text) unto the Elders of Judah, even to his Friends; saying, Behold a Present for you of the Spoils of the Enemies of the Lord! And why may not those we have now under Consideration, do so to their God, and their Friends also? Spoyling is like to be one of the last of the Mischiefs that Antichrist shall do to the Church of God in this World: And methinks, since the Beast will have Power to overcome, and to kill, he should also have power to take away: Hast thou killed, and also also taken Possession? said the Prophet to wicked Abab.

However, whatever their Gifts may be, and at whose Cost soever bought, 'tis a Sign their Hearts will be open, they shall send Gifts one to another: Their merry Days will then be come, and their Enemies will then be dead at their feet; wherefore, now they will have nothing to do but to rejoyce over them, and to make merry, and to send Gifts one to another.

Thus, as to Sense and Reason, all shall be hush, all shall be quiet and still: The Followers of the Lamb shall be down; the Followers of the Beast shall be up, cry Peace and safety, and shall be as secure as an hard Heart, false Peace, and a deceitful Devil can make them: But behold! While they thus sing in the window, Death is stradling over the threshold! While they are crying Peace and Safety, sudden Destruction cometh: By that they have well settled themselves at their Table with Adonijah, they shall hear it proclaimed with Sound of Trumpet, The Witnesses are risen again.

Now the Christians Pipes will go again, and surely the Earth will be rent with the Sound of their Shouts and Acclamations, while they cry with joyful Sound, The Kingdoms of this World are become the Kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ and he shall reign for ever and ever.

But wo to the Wicked, it shall be ill with them; for the Lord Jesus will now begin to shew his Jealousy, and to make known his Indignation towards those that have thus cruelly slain his Prophets, digged down his Altars, and made such Havock of the afflicted Church of God. Now will he whet his glittering Sword, and his hand shall take hold on Vengeance, that he may render a Recompence to his Enemies, and repay them that hate him.

But this he will not do immediately by himself, but by such Instruments as have been spoken of before: Of which more particularly to treat, shall be that I shall next take in hand.

Of the Instruments that God will use to bring Antichrist to his Ruine.

ALthough I have hinted at this before, yet it may be convenient briefly to touch it again. Antichrist, as I have told you, consisteth of Soul and Body, and must be destroyed by such Instruments as may most properly be applied to each. Further, As to the Soul, Spirit or Life of Antichrist, and its Destruction, of that we have also spoken already: It remains then that now we discourse of the Ruine of his Body and Flesh.

I then take it, That the Destruction of her Flesh shall come by the Sword, as managed in the Hands of Kings, who are God's Ministers for the Punishment of evil Deeds, and the Praise of them that do well. Not that the Church, even as a Church, shall be quite exempt and have therein no hand at all; for she, even as such, shall with her Faith and Prayers help forward that Destruction.

The Church therefore, as a Church, must use such Weapons as are proper to her as such; and the Magistrate, as a Magistrate, must use such Weapons as are proper to him as such. When the Church of Israel were Prisoners in Babylon, they did not fight their Way through their Foes, and the Countreys to Jerusalem; but waited in their captivated State with Patience, until the Kings of the Medes and Persians came to deliver them. Nor is it to be flighted, but to be thought on seriously, that before there was an Israelite Captive in Babylon, their Deliverer Cyrus was prophesied of: Which Cyrus did afterwards come and take Babylon, and deliver the Captives, as it was foretold he should. He saith unto Cyrus, He is my Shepherd, and shall perform all my Pleasure, even saying to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built, and to the Temple, Thy Foundation shall be laid. And again, Thus saith the Lord to his Anointed, to Cyrus, whose right Hand I have holden to subdue Nations before him, &c. I have raised him up in Righteousness, and I will direct all his Ways: He shall build my City, and he shall let go my Captives, not for Price nor Reward, saith the Lord of Hosts. And this accordingly he did, to wit, when the Time was come; as may be seen in those holy Records where these things are made mention of. Indeed, as I said, the Church is not excluded; she may, and ought, with her Faith and Prayer, and holy Life, to second this Work of Kings. Wherefore, when God speaks of bringing down the lofty City and of laying it low in the Dust by the Church, he saith they shall do it by their Feet, and with their Steps: The Foot shall tread it down, even the Feet of the Poor, and the Steps of the Needy.

By Feet and Steps, I understand the good Lives of the Children of God: But now, when Kings come to deal with her, as Kings, they serve her as Samuel served Agag, as a Judge, cut her in Pieces with their Swords: Or as you have it elsewhere, They make her desolate and naked; they eat her Flesh, and burn her with Fire. The Sword will be put into their Hands for this very Purpose. Thus therefore must their Deliverance be begun.

It is also to be considered, That after these first Kings of the Medes and Persians had broken the Yoke of the King of Babylon from off the Neck of the captive Church, and had given her license to go to her Place to build her Temple and City, and to sacrifice there according to the Law of their their God, (as both in Ezra and Nehemiah we read;) and when their Work was hindered by Under-Officers, or they endeavoured so to do, they pleaded the License that they received to build and sacrifice by the Decree of the first Kings, and so finished their Deliverance: They went not on in headstrong Manner, as if they regarded neither King nor Cæsar: But Zerubbabel, and Josbua, and the rest of the chief of the Fathers of Israel, said unto them that sought to hinder their Work, You have nothing to do with us to build an House to the Lord our God, but we ourselves will build it unto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hath commanded us. And as they said, so also they did: The Elders of the Jews builded, and they prospered, through the prophesying of Haggai the Prophet, and Zechariah the Son of Iddo, and they builded and finished it, according to the Commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the Commandment of Cyrus, and Darius, and Artaxerxes King of Persia. Yea, they did not only accept of the Kindness of Kings, but did acknowledge that Kindness with Thanksgiving, as a Gift of the God of Heaven: For the Kings had commanded and given leave to the Jews to go to Jerusalem, to build their Temple, and to do Sacrifice there, according to the Counsel of the Priests that were at Jerusalem, and according to the Law of God that they had in their Hand. For Artaxerxes sent Ezra the Priest to enquire after the Condition that Jerusalem and Judah was in, according to, or by the Law of God that was in his Hand. And he had License also further to do with the King's Silver and Gold, which he gave for the Service of the House of the Lord, according to the Will, Word or Law of HIS God. And thou Ezra (says the King) After the Wisdom of thy God (that is, after his Word) which is in thy Hand; set Magistrates and Judges which may judge the People that are beyond the River, all such as know the Law of thy God, and teach ye them that know them not. And whosoever will not do the Law of thy God, (that is, worship, and walk by the Rule of his Testament,) and the Law of the King (that is, shall refuse to give Ezra such things as by the King was appointed for Ezra's Help in the furthering of the Worship of God according to the Law of his God,) let Judgment be executed speedily upon him, whether it be to Death, or to Banishment, or to Confiscation of Goods, or to Imprisonment. This was therefore a wonderful gracious License that the King gave now to Ezra: He imposed nothing upon him or the Jews in matters of Religion and Worship, but left him and them wholly to the Law, Will, and Word of God, only he laid Check upon wicked and ungodly People: That if they did things contrary to the Laws of Ezra's God, or did flight the King's Law, as afore said, that then such Penalties and Pains should be inflicted upon them.

To the same Purpose was the Decree of Cyrus, and that of Darius to put it in Execution. Also the Penalty enacted against such Offenders, was full as sharp and severe: Also I make a Decree (said the King,) That whosoever shall alter this Word, let Timber be pulled down from his House; and being set up, let him be hanged thereon, and let his House be made a Dung-hil for this.---And the God that hath caused his Name to dwell there, destroy all Kings and People that shall put to their Hand to alter and to destroy this House of God which is at Jerusalem: I Darius have made a Decree, let it be done with Speed.

Indeed, sometimes a stop was put to this Work by the Kings, and the Jews were made to cease by Force and Power, the which the good People did bear with Patience: Also they waited to see their God go before them among the Kings, who at length took away Artaxerxes, who for a Time had put a stop to the Work, and brought in another, who gave leave that with Speed it should be set on Foot again.

The Jews did also in these Vacancies, or Times in the which hindrances were put, carry it very tenderly and lovingly to those Kings that at present they were under, submitting of their Bodies and their Goods to their Will, and meekly endured the Tryal and Affliction, serving them with all Faithfulness, watching to save their Lives from the Hands of bloody Men. Also when the King's Laws, and the Law of their God, did at any Time come in Competition, they would indeed adhere to, and do the Law of their God; yet with that tenderness to the King, his Crown and Dignity, that they could at all Times appeal to the righteous God about it. Nor did they lose by so doing; yea, they prospered; for by this Means Mordecai was made a great Man, and a Saviour of his People. By this Means also was Daniel made a great Man, and helpful to his Brethren.

Kings, I say, must be the Men that must down with Antichrist, and they shall down with her in God's Time.

God hath begun to draw the Hearts of some of them from her already, and he will set them, in Time, against her round about. If therefore they do not that Work so fast as we would have them, let us exercise Patience and Hope in God: 'Tis a Wonder that they go so fast as they do, since the Concerns of whole Kingdoms lye upon their Shoulders, and that there are so many Sabbath's and Tobias's to flatter with them, and misinform them concerning the People that are delivered but in Part. See what an ugly Account was given of Jerusalem by the Enemies of the Jews, even then when they were in the Hands of their Deliverers;

liverers: Be it known to the King, that the Jews which came up from thee to us, are come to Jerusalem, to build the rebellious and bad City, and have set up the Walls thereof, and joyed the Foundations.--- Be it known to the King, That if this City be builded, and the Walls set up again, then will they not pay Toll, Tribute and Custom, and so thou shalt endamage the revenue of the Kings. Oh! what a Be it known, Be it known, is here! But were not these Gentlemen more afraid of losing their own Places and Preferments, than of the King's losing of his Toll and Custom? but the whole was a Lye, though it hindred the Work for a Time, and the Patience of the People, and their Loyalty to the King, did conquer and overcome all.

I speak the more to this, because, (as I have said) I believe that by Magistrates and Powers we shall be delivered and kept from Antichrist; and because God has already begun to do it by such, by which also she shall be destroyed: And I have a few Things to present to good Men, to be conversant in, in such a Day as this.

Let the King have verily a Place in your Hearts, and with Heart and Mouth give God Thanks for him; he is a better Saviour of us than we may be aware of, and may have delivered us from more Deaths than we can tell how to think. We are bidden to give Thanks to God for all Men, and in the first Place, for Kings, and all that are in Authority.

Be not angry with them, no not in thy Thought; but consider, if they go not on in the Work of Reformation so fast as thou wouldest they should, the Fault may be thine; know that thou also hast thy cold and chill Frames of Heart, and sittest still when thou shouldest be up and doing.

Pray for Kings to the God of Heaven, who has the Hearts of Kings in his Hand: And do it without Wrath and Doubting: Without Wrath, because thy self is not perfect; and without doubting, because God governeth them, and has promised to bring down Antichrist by them.

Pray for the long Life of the King.

Pray that God would always give Wisdom and Judgment to the King.

Pray that God would discover all Plots and Conspiracies against his Person and Government.

Pray also that God would make him able to drive away all Evil and evil Men from his Presence; and that he may be a greater Countenancer than ever, of them that are holy and good, and wait and believe, that God that has begun his Quarrel with Babylon, Antichrist, the Mother of Antichrist, the Whore; would in his own Time, and in his own Way, bring her down by the Means which he has appointed.

I do confess my self one of the old-fashion Professors, that covet to fear God, and honour the King. I also am for blessing of them that curse me, for doing good to them that hate me, and for praying for them that despitefully use me, and persecute me: And have had more Peace in the Practice of these Things, than all the World are aware of. I only drop this, because I would shew my Brethren that I also am one of them; and to set them right that have wrong Thoughts of me as to so weighty Matters as these.

Now these Kings whose Hearts God shall set to destroy Antichrist, shall do it without those inward Reluctancies that will accompany inferior Men: They shall be stript of all Pity and Compassion. Hence they are compared to the mighty Waves of the Sea, which saith, when the wrecked and dying Mariners cry out for Mercy for themselves, and for their Children, I am a SEA; I travel not, nor bring forth Children; neither do I nourish up young Men, or bring up Virgins: I have therefore no Pity for these, or any of them: Therefore they must be swallowed up of this Sea, and sink like a Stone in the midst of these mighty Waters.

And thus much for the Means by which God will destroy the Body and Flesh of Antichrist.

Of the Causes of the Ruine of Antichrist.

ALthough the Causes of the Ruine of Antichrist be to some conspicuous enough, yet to some they may be otherwise; yea, and will to all Kings and People whose Eyes shall be held, that they may not see the Judgment, in the Reasonableness and Equitableness thereof; and these shall wail when they see the Smoak of her Torment; and these shall cry, Alas! Alas! Wherefore, for further Edification, as I have treated of the Man of Sin already; so will I now, of the Causes of his Downfall. And, First, He must down, for that he hath usurped, and taken the Name and Attributes of God upon himself: He hath said, I am God: He hath sat in the Temple of God, shewing himself that he is God; yea, and that in Contempt and Scorn of any other, exalting himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; yea, hath cried down all Gods but himself: Wherefore it must needs be, that he be brought to Judgment, that the Truth of his Saying may be proved. And for this Cause he is threatned, under the Name of the Prince of Tyrus: Because thine Heart is lift up (saith the Lord) and thou hast said, I am a God: Therefore I will bring Strangers upon thee, the terrible of the Nations, and they shall draw their Swords against the Beauty of thy Wisdom, and they shall defile thy Brightness: They shall bring thee down to the Pit, and thou shalt die the Deaths of them that are slain, in the midst of the Seas. Wilt thou yet say before him that slayeth thee, I am a God? But thou shalt be a Man, and no God, in the Hand of him that slayeth thee.

If

If God will not give his Name or Glory to another, be sure he will not be under another; but this to have, and thus to do, Antichrist has attempted. But how? In that he has been so bold as to prescribe and impose a Worship besides, and without Reverence of that which God has prescribed and imposed: For to do this, is, to make one's self a God. Thou shalt have none other Gods but me, is the first Command: And the First, to enforce the Second, Thou shalt not made to thy self any graven Image, or the likeness of any Thing that is in Heaven above, or in the Earth beneath, or in the Waters under the Earth; thou shalt not bow down to them, nor worship them: For he that thus doth, is an Idolater; and he that these Things doth impose, is one that shews himself a God. But this doth Antichrist do: And 'tis worth the noting, That God forbids not only Images, but the Likeness of any Thing; Books, Altars, Fancies, Imaginations, or any Thing in Heaven above, or in the Earth beneath, to bow down to, or to make them a Means to worship or come to God by, if he has not commanded nor tolerated them in his Holy Word.

Thus saith the Lord. And, I am the Lord, is the Stamp, the Seal, and Sign of all true Rules of Worship; and therefore it is so often repeated both in Moses, and in the Prophets, where God commandeth Worship to be performed, and imposeth the Means and Methods of it. Now this, Thus saith the Lord, Antichrist has rejected; and I am the Lord, he hath assumed to himself; and therefore without the Law, the Word and Commandment, hath framed and imposed a Worship, exalting himself in the Temple of God, although he is but the Man of Sin, above all that is called God, or that is worshipped.

Nor is he in this his so foul a Fact, without them that adore, worship his Image, and Wonder after him; yea, he hath got by this Means almost the whole World to himself, who say, Who is like unto the Beast? Who is able to make War with him? And that they might shew their Resolvedness to stand by him, they receive his Mark in their Forehead, or in their Hand: His Mark; that is, they either openly or seriously become his Disciples, and Worship him according to the Rules, Methods, and Ways that he hath prescribed. Wherefore, these with him, are also to drink of the Fierceness of the Wrath of Almighty God: If any Man worship the Beast, and his Image, and receives his Mark in his Forehead, or in his Hand, the same shall drink of the Wine of the Wrath of God, which is poured out without Mixture into the Cup of his Indignation: And he shall be tormented with Fire and Brimstone, in the Presence of the holy Angels, and in the Presence of the Lamb.

But, I say, for that Antichrist hath thus taken the Place of God, prescribed and imposed a Worship as a God, got the World to worship and wonder after him as after a God: Therefore shall he die the Death of the Uncircumcised, both in the Soul, Spirit, Body, or Flesh of Antichrist, therefore will God enlighten, and gather, and set the Kings and Nations against him, that both he and his may be buried, and have their doleful Withdrawing-Rooms from the World in the Sides of the Pit's Mouth.

Secondly, Antichrist must be destroyed, Second Cause. because he hath set himself against the SON of God; against the Father, and against the Son. He had a Spite against the SON betimes, even then when he came forth but in little Bits, when he attempted to deny that he was come in the Flesh. But seeing he could make no Earnings of that, he hath changed his Methods, and seeks to run him out and down by other Means and Ways: Because therefore he hath set himself against the Son of God, the King, therefore he must die. That he hath set himself against the SON of God, is also evident; for he hath his Name from thence: He is therefore called Antichrist. That he hath set himself against him, is yet further evident; for that he hath endeavoured to take from him his Headship over, and his Offices for and in the Church, which is his Body. He hath plainly endeavoured to be Head, for that he hath striven to take his Wife from him, and to cause that she should be called HIS: Yea, he hath endeavoured by all Inventions to prostrate her to his Lusts, to deflower her, and to make her an Adulteress. He has been worse than Pharaoh, who took Abraham's Wife; and worse than Abimelech, who lusted after Isaac's: Yea, worse than Phalti, who run away with David's; for as much as she is higher, beloved better, and cost more than did any of these. Would it not be counted an high Affront, for a base inferior Fellow, to call himself the Head of the Queen? Yet thus has Antichrist done, and worse; he has called himself the Head of the Universal Church of God.

And as he has attempted to be Head in his Stead, so to be King, Priest, and Prophet.

[1.] He has attempted to wrest his Scepter and Kingdom from him, in that he hath endeavoured to thrust himself into his Throne, which is the Heart and Conscience of his People. The Heart and Conscience is that which Christ claimeth for his own proper and peculiar Seat: My Son, give me thy Heart. That Christ may dwell in your Heart by Faith. In this therefore the Church is not to be for another Man, so will he be for her; but this Throne Antichrist has lusted for, attempted to take, and made War with Christ and his Church, because because they would not yield up to him this glorious Throne of his, and therefore he must die.

[2.] He hath intruded upon the Priestly Office of Christ, hath called himself High-Priest, though the Lord hath said, Because thou rejectest Knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy Children. But he will make himself a Priest; he hath invented Sacrifices for the Quick and the Dead; he hath put, as he presumes, Merit and Worth into these Sacrifices; he hath commanded that those that worship, should have Faith in, and expect Benefit by these Sacrifices, although he offereth to his God nought else but the Flesh of the Hog, and of the Mouse, with the Broth of his abominable Things. Many and sundry Ways he hath set himself up to be High-Priest, though God knows no High-Priest but one, though the Church ought to know no High-Priest but one; yea, though no High-Priest but one can approach God's Mercy-Seat, to do for us the necessary and desired Work.

[3.] He hath intruded upon the Prophetical Office of Jesus Christ. What else mean his Pretences to Infallibility? And And that too when he imposes unwritten Verities, abominable Traditions, blasphemous Rites and Ceremonies; and forbids or dispenseth with the holy Commands of God: Yea, when he enforceth these his Omrian Statutes, and doth impose the Works of the House of Abab, he doth all in the Name of the Lord Christ, when himself hath set himself in his Place, and in his Room. This is Mystery Babylon, the Mystery of Iniquity: This is Antichrist's Soul and Body, and as such, must be destroyed. But,

Third Cause. Thirdly, Antichrist must be destroyed, because He hath blasphemed against the Holy Ghost, and so set himself above the Father, the Son, the Spirit; against ALL that is called God. The Holy Ghost is that Spirit of Truth that Christ has promised to give unto his Church, to help her in the understanding of his holy Word, and to enable her to believe, and walk humbly and holily before God and Man. The Spirit of Antichrist is that Spirit of Error that hath puffed up the False Church into a conceit of her self, and unscriptural Worship; and that hath made this False Church, which is his Body, to ascribe all the horrible Things and Acts thereof, to the Wisdom, Guidance, Directions or Operations of the Holy Ghost: As,

1. In all her unscriptural Councils, Assemblies and Convocations, they blasphemously father what they do upon the Holy Ghost, and make him the Inventer and Approver thereof.

2. She also blasphemeth the Holy Ghost, in accusing and condemning the Holy Scriptures of Insufficiency, for that she faith, though it is a Rule, yet but an imperfect one; one deficient, one that is not able to make the Man of God perfect in all things, without the Traditions, Inventions, and Blasphemous Helps of Antichristian Wisdom.

3. She hath also blasphemed the Holy Ghost, in that she hath set up her own Church-Government, Offices, Officers and Discipline: None of all which is the Church of Christ directed to by the Wisdom of the Spirit of God in his Testament.

4. She hath also sinned against the Holy Ghost, in that she hath, as it were, turned the Holy Ghost out of doors, in concluding that he, without the Works of the Flesh, is not sufficient to govern the Hearts of Worshippers, in the Service and Worship of God.

5. She hath also thus sinned, in that she hath wrought many lying Miracles in the Face of the World, and imposed them upon her Disciples for the confirming of her Errours and blasphemous Opinions, to the confronting of the true Miracles wrought by the Holy Ghost; and also to the concluding, that there was an Insufficiency in those that were true, to confirm the Truth, without the Addition of hers; which she has wrought by the Power of Satan, and the Spirit of Delusion, only to confirm her Lies.

6. She hath sinned against the Holy Ghost, in that she hath, with Jeroboam the Son of Nebat, striven against the Judgments wherewith God hath punished her; to call her back from her wicked Way, and persisted therein, to the effectual proving of her self to be the lewd Woman.

7. She hath sinned, by labouring to hide all her Wickedness, by Lies, Dissimulations, and filthy Equivocations of her Priests, Fryars, Jesuites, &c. I say, her labouring to hide the Wickedness that she hath committed against Kings, Countreys, Nations, Kingdoms and People. She hath hid these things by the Means or Persons made mention of before; as by the Tail; for they indeed are the Tail of the Beast, that cover his most filthy Parts: The Prophet that speaketh Lies, he is the Tail. But,

Fourthly, Antichrist must be destroyed, for the horrid Outrage, and villanous Murder that she hath committed upon the Bodies of the Saints. For there is none, as to these things, for Cruelty, to be compared with the Church of Antichrist, and her Followers: For upon whom hath not her Cruelty been shewed; have they never so little stood in her Way, though never so innocently and honestly by so doing, stood to the Truth and Verity of God? Yea, the promoting of her own Super-

Superstition, Idolatry, and blasphemous Rites and Ceremonies, have been so pursued by her, that she has waded through a Sea of innocent Blood for the Accomplishment thereof.

The poor Church of God is a sensible bleeding Witness of this, and so has been for hundreds of Years together: Witness the Chronicles of all Nations where she hath had to do; yea, and the Sackcloth and Ashes, and Tears, and Widows, and Fatherless Children, and their Cries, of all which the holy Word of God is a sufficient Confirmation: For in her, when God shall come to make Inquisition for Blood, will be found the Blood of Saints and Prophets, and of all that were slain upon the Earth. And yet has she such a Whore's Forehead, such a blindness in her Judgment, and such an hard and obdurate Heart, that it is not possible she should ever repent. Murders have been so natural to her, and in them her Hand has been so exercised, that it is now become a Custom, a Trade, a Pastime to her, to be either in the Act, or laying some Foundation for Murders: Witness those Plots, Designs, Conspiracies, and frequent Attempts that are, one or other of them, continually on Foot in the World for the Commission of Murders.

Nay, the Text last mentioned seems to import, that Blood is so natural to her, that she sticketh not at any Condition, Sex, Age, or Degree, so she may imbrue her Hands in Blood. In her was found the Blood of Saints and Prophets, and of all other Carnal, Natural, Ignorant, Graceless Men that have been slain upon the Earth. 'Tis she that sets Kings and Kingdoms at variance: 'Tis she that sets Parents and Children at variance, by her abuse of the Word of our Lord and Christ. And besides, is it not easie, if we do but consider those bloody Massacres that have been committed by her Hand, both in France, Ireland, Piedmont, and in several Places besides, without wronging of her, to conclude, that the Blood of Thousands, that have not known their right Hand from their left in Religion, hath been shed to quench, if it might have been, her insatiate Thirst after Blood. Therefore, for these Things shall she be judged, as Women that shed Blood are Judged; because she is an Adulteress, and Blood is in her Hands. She has been as a Beast of Prey: Nay, worse; for they do but kill and tear for the hunger of themselves, and of their Whelps; but she, to satisfy her wanton and beastly Lusts: They have cast Lots for my People (saith God) they have given a Boy for an Harlot, and a Girl for Wine, that they might drink; and therefore must Antichrist be destroyed. Forbearance is no Payment, God's Patience is not a Sign that he forgetteth to take Vengeance; but rather, that he waiteth till his own are come out of her, and until her Iniquity is filled up: For then he will execute the Judgment written, and will remember, as has been said, the Babylonians, and all their Ways.

Fifthly, Antichrist must be destroyed, because she hath put out of Order, and confounded the Rule and Government that God has set up in the World. I say, she has put it out of Order, and confounded it in all Places where she rules; so that it cannot accomplish the Design of him that ordained it, to wit, To be a Terror to evil Works, and a Praise to them that do well.

Wherefore we read, That those Horns or Kings where Mystery Babylon sitteth, are upon the Heads of that Beast that carrieth her, which Beast is her Protector. Magistracy is God's Ordinance, appointed for the Good of Society, and for the Peace and Safety of those that are good. But this Antichrist has, where she rules, put all out of order; and no wonder, for she has bepuddled the Word of God; no wonder then, I say, if the Foundations of the World be out of course. 'Tis she that hath turned the Sword of the Magistrate against those that keep God's Law: 'Tis she that has made it the Ruine of the Good and Vertuous, and a Protection to the Vile and Base. Wherefore, when the Holy Ghost tells us, that the Time is coming in which God will count with the bloody-minded, for the Murders that they have committed; he in a Manner doth quite excuse the Magistrate, saying, Wo to the bloody City! it is full of Lies and Robbery, the Prey departeth not: The noise of a Whip, the noise of the rattling of the Wheels, and of the Prancing Horses, and the jumping Chariots: The Horse-man lifteth up both the bright Sword, and the glittering Spear; and there is a Multitude of slain, and a great Number of Carcasses; and there is no end of their Corpses, they stumble upon their Corpses.

But what is the Cause of all this slaying, and the Reason of this abundance of Corpses? Why, it is because of the unsatiable Thirst of the bloody City after Blood; and, Because of the Multitude of Whoredoms of the well-favoured Harlot, the Mistress of Witchcrafts, that selleth Nations through her Whoredoms, and Families through her Witchcrafts. But doth this bloody City spill this Blood by her self simply, as she is the adulterated Whore? No, this Church has found out a Trick; that is to say, to quarrel with Christ in his Members; and to persuade the Powers where she rules to set ensnaring Laws to catch them, and to execute the same upon them.

Thus when the Synagogue of Satan, of old, had taken Christ, and accused him, they made Pontius Pilate to condemn and hang him. But God has begun to shew to some of the Kings this Wickedness, and has prevail'd with them to PROTEST against her. And in the mean Time, for those that are yet in the Bed of Love with her, the Holy Ghost doth, in the Text last mentioned, and in Rev. 18. 24. much excuse them for the Blood that they have shed, and for the Injuries that they have done to his People; because they have not done it of their meer Inclinations, nor in the Prosecution of their Office, but through the Whoredoms and Witchcrafts of this well-favoured Harlot, who hath with false Doctrines, false Promises, and causeless Curses, prevailed on them to do it. And they have done it, rather of Fear than Favour. Some indeed have more doted upon her Beauty, and have more thoroughly been devoted to her Service: But they also had not that aptness to do so of themselves, but have been forced to it by the Power of her Inchantments: Therefore, I say, the main Guilt shall be laid at her Door, for that she in chief has deserved it. Son of Man (says

Exek. 19.

God) take up a Lamentation for the Princes of Israel. Why? Because their Mother, the Church, was at that Time adulterated, and become a Lioness, had lain down with the Heathen, and so brought forth young Lions, that is, Rulers: And SHE brought up one of her Whelps, it became a young Lion, it learnt to catch the Prey, it devoured Men. It learnt, It learnt: But of who but of its Dam, or of the Lionness to whom she had put it to learn to do such Things? Therefore they are to be lamented and pitied, rather than condemned, and their Mother made to bear the blame. Wherefore it follows, She was pulled up in Fury, she was cast down to the Ground, and the East Wind dried up her Fruit: Her strong Rods were broken and withered, the Fire consumed them, and now she is planted in the Wilderness, (in the Provinces of Babylon,) in a dry and thirsty Ground: And Fire has gone out of a rod of her Branches, which hath devoured her Fruit. So that she hath no strong Rod to be a Scepter to rule. This is a Lamentation, and shall be for a Lamentation.

6th Cause.

Sixthly, Antichrist must be destroyed, Because of her exceeding Covetousness. Religion such as it is, is the Thing pretended to: But the great Things of this World, are the Things really intended by her in all her seeming Self-denials and Devotions. And for this Covetousness also it is that this Destruction is to fall upon her: Wo to him that coveteth an evil Covetousness to his House (to his Church) that he may set his Nest on high; (for he could not do the one, before he had obtained the other:) for then indeed they began to be high, when they had so inveigled Constantine, that he bestowed upon them much Riches and Honour; and then it was cried by an Angel, and the Cry was heard in the City, Constantinople! Wo, wo, wo! this Day is Venom poured into the Church of God! (as both my Lord Cobham and Mr. Fox witness in the Book of Acts and Monuments.)

began, been so insatiably greedy of Gain, as this poor People have been: They have got Kingdoms, they have got Crowns, they have got, ---- What have they not got? They have got every Thing but Grace and Pardon. Did I say before, that Religion is their Pretence? Doth not the whole Course of their Way declare it to their Face? Every one of them, from the least even to the greatest, is given to Covetousness; from the Prophet even to the Priest, every one dealeth falsely: Money, Money, as the Pedlar Jer. 6. 13.
Ch. 8. 10. cries, broken or whole, is the Sinews of their Religion: And 'tis for that they set Kingdoms, Crowns, Principalities, Places, Preferments, Sacraments, Pardons, Prayers, Indulgences, Liberty; yea, and Souls and Bodies of Men, Women and Children, to sale: Yea, 'tis for this that they have Invented so many Places, Offices, Names, Titles, Orders, Vows, &c. 'Tis to get Money, to rob Countries, that they may make their Nests on high: And indeed they have done it, to the Amazement of all the World: They are clambred up above Kings and Princes, and Emperors: They wear the Tripple-Crown: They have made Kings bow at their Feet, and Emperors stand bare-foot at their Gates: They have kicked the Crowns of Princes from their Heads, and set them on again with their Toes: Thus their Covetousness has set them high, even above the Suns, Moons and Stars of this World: but to what End? That they may be cast down to Hell.

Seventhly, Antichrist must be destroyed, because he standeth in the Way of the setting up of the Kingdom of Christ in the World. 7th Cause Many Princes were in Edom before there was a King in Israel; and Christ has suffered Antichrist to set up before him: And he standeth in his Way, and has so overspread the World in all Places with that which is directly contrary to him, that he cannot set up his Kingdom, until that which is Antichrist's is tumbled down to the Ground; even as a Man whose Ground is full of Thorns, and Briars, and Weeds, cannot sow in Expectation of a Crop, until he hath removed them: And these Seeds has Antichrist sown where the Kingdom of Christ should stand: Upon the land Isa. 32. 13 of my People shall come up briars and thorns; 14, 15. yea, upon all the Houses of Joy in the Joyous City: Because the Palaces shall be forsaken, the Multitude of the Cities shall be left; the Forts and Towers shall be like Dens for ever, a joy of wild Asles, a pasture for flocks, (this is to happen to the Church of God,) until the Spirit be poured upon us from on high, and the Wilderness be a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a forest: And the Antichristian Synagogue be turned into a Wilderness.

When God came from Egypt with his People, to set up his Kingdom in Canaan, he cast out the Heathen before them in order

Pfal 80. 8. der thereunto: (Thou hast brought a Vine out of Egypt, thou hast cast out the Heathen, and planted it.) Wherefore, Antichrist must be removed and destroyed for this: For 1 King. 16.

Antichrist is in flat Opposition to Christ, as Tibni was to Omri: Wherefore Antichrist must die. The Reason is, because Christ's Kingdom shall be Peaceable, without Molestation; and Glorious, without the Fumes and Fogs of Antichristian Dark-ness: Because also, as the World hath seen the manner of the Reign of Antichrist and how tyrannical and outrageous a Kingdom his is; so they shall see the Reign of Christ, by his Word and Spirit in his People, how Peaceable, how fruitful in Blessedness and Prosperity his Kingdom is. And hence it is that God purposeth to bury

Antichrist, before he sets Glory in the land of the living: As also you read in the Book of Revelations for there you find the Kingdom of Antichrist was destroyed before the New Jerusalem was set up. When Men intend to build a New House, if in the Place where the Old one stood, they first pull down the Old one, raise the Foundation, and then they begin their New. Now God, as I said, will have his Primitive Church state set up in this World, (even where Antichrist has set up his;) wherefore, in order to this, Antichrist must be pulled down, down Stick and Stone; and then they that live to see it, will behold the New Jerusalem come down from Heaven, as a Bride adorned for her Husband.

New Wine is not put into old Bottles, nor a new Piece into an old Garment; nor shall any of the old Antiscriptural Ordinances, Ceremonies, Rites, or Vessels of the Man of Sin, be made use of, or accounted any thing worth, in this Day of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ. And thus I have shewed you something of Antichrist, of his Ruin, and of the Manner and Signs of the Approach thereof; together with the Means and Causes of his Ruine: All which I leave to the Judgment of the Godly, and beg their Instruction where they see me to be out; and shall conclude, after a short Word of Application.

First, Must Antichrist be destroyed? Then this informs us, that a time is coming wherein there shall be no Antichrist to afflict God's Church any more. 'Tis Antichrist, Antichristians, and Antichristianism, that is the Cause of the Troubles of Chri-

Isa. 2. 4.

istians, for being Christians. And therefore 'tis from the Consideration of this that it is said, Men shall beat their Swords into Plow-shares, and their Spears into Pruning-hooks, and that they shall learn War no more: Yea it is from the Consideration of this, that it is said The Child shall play with venomous and destroying Beasts, and that a little Child shall lead the Wolf, the Leopard, and the young Lion, and that the weaned Child shall put his Hand into the Cockatrice's Den, and catch no Hurt thereby. For as was said before, 'tis through the Instigation of this Spirit of Errour, that the Governours of the World have heretofore done hurt to Zion, and I say now again, All things shall turn to their right Course, and occupy their Places, as do the Bodies in the higher Orbs.

Secondly, Is Antichrist to be destroyed, and must she have an end? Then this gives us to understand, that a Day is coming when Antichrist shall be unknown, not seen, nor felt by the Church of God. There are Men to be born who shall not know Antichrist, but as they read in the Word that such a thing has been. These shall talk of her, as Israel's Childrens Children were to talk of Pharaoh, of his Cruelty; of his Tasks, of his Pride, of the Red Sea, and how he was drowned there: They shall talk of them, as of those that have been long dead; as of those who for their horrible wickedness, are laid in the Pit's mouth. This will be some of that sweet Chat that the Saints shall, at their spare Hours, have in time to come.

When God has pull'd this Dragon out of the Sea, this Leviathan out of his River, and cast his dead Carcass upon the open Field, then shall those whose Ancestors have been put into Terrors by him, come flocking to see the Monster; and shall rejoyce for all the Mercy. In that day, the Church of God shall say, O Lord will praise thee, though thou wast angry with me, thine Anger is turned away, and thou comfortest me.--- In that Day shall ye say, Praise the Lord, call upon his Name, declare his Doings among the People, &c. O how sweetly did David, and the Church in his Day, sing of the Ruines of the Egyptians, and the Deliverances of their Fathers, which had been in times of old! to wit, what God did in Egypt, what he did at the Red Sea; what he did to Sihon, to Og, and to the Remnant of the Giants: How he divided the Waters of Jordan, and gave the Land of Canaan in its Fruitfulness among his People: How that tho' Pharaoh and his Horsemen and Chariots were terrible then, yet now there is nothing left but their Souls, their Feet, and the Palms of their Hands; nothing but that which can do no hurt; nothing but what may minister an Occasion of joyful Remembrance of them.

Isa. 12.

Psal. 67.
Psal. 105.
Psal. 106.
Psal. 136.

Thirdly, Is Antichrist to be destroyed? Then this calls aloud to God's People to make haste to come out of her. Ho, ho, says the Prophet: He cries out as if the People were asleep: Come forth, and flee from the Land of the North. The People of God in the latter Days will want a Heart to come out of her, with that Fear of her Plagues as they should: Wherefore another says, Come out of her, my People, that ye be not Partakers

Rev. 18. 4.

Partakers of her Sins, and that ye receive not of her Plagues. When Isaiah was carried into Babylon, 'twas not that they should dwell there for ever: Though they were bid to build them Houses, and beget them Children there. But when they had built, planted Vineyards, and got Wives and Children there, 'twas hard getting them from thence again: For now they were as it were Naturalized to the Country, and to the Manners of it. But God will have them out, (but they must not think to carry thence their Houses and Vineyards on their Backs,) or he will destroy them with those Destructions wherewith he hath threatned to destroy Babylon itself. Flesh will hang behind, because it favoureth the things of the Flesh, Plenty of which there is in that Country: But they that will live after the Flesh must die. Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate, and touch not the unclean Thing, and I will receive you, and I will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my Sons and Daughters, saith the Lord Almighty. But why (some may say) must we come out? I answer, Because God has Temple-work to do, Temple-worship to do, Temple-Sacrifices to offer, and none of these things can by any means be done, but at Jerusalem. But if you still object and say, The Lord has raised us up Prophets in Babylon, and we will not come out; you must not murmur if you feel what is to follow. And that such may know upon what Bottom they stand, let them read this last quoted in the Margin.

Fourthly, Must Antichrist be destroyed? Then what mean they who were to Appearance once come out, but now are going thither again? If it cost Lot's Wife dear for but Looking back, shall not it cost them much dearer, that are going back, that are gone back again? and that, AFTER the Angel had fled through the Midst of Heaven, preaching the Gospel to those that dwell on the Earth? They that received the Mark of the Beast at first, before this Angel came forth, are when compared with these, excusable: Wherefore, they are not threatned with that smoking Wrath, as are these which are here under Consideration.

You dread that which is like to become of them that will be so mad to run into an House, when Fire is putting to the Gunpowder Barrel, in order to its blowing up: Why thus do they, let their pretended Cause be what it will, that are returning again to Babel. Are her Plagues pleasant or easy to be born? Or dost thou think that God is at play with thee, and that he threatneth but in jest? Her Plagues are Death, and Mourning, and Eamine, and Fire; are these things to be overlooked? And they that, as before is hinted, shall receive the Mark of the Beast in their Forehead, or in their Hand, and shall worship him, they, The same shall drink the Wine of the Wrath of God: And will this be a delightful Draught? Remember how ill God took it, that his People of old, in their Hearts, though but in their Hearts, went back again into Aegypt. You may say, But I have Friends, Relations, and Concerns in Babylon. And, I answer, so had Lot in Sodom: But for all that he must either quickly come out, or run the Hazard of being burned there with them. But methinks, a People that belong to God, should be willing to leave all to follow him: Besides, his Presence is promised at Jerusalem, there also will he accept thy Offerings.

Fifthly, Is Antichrist to be destroyed? Then let them that love God, his Son, and his Zion, cry to God that it may be hastened in its Time. One of the Songs of Zion is, that Babylon shall be destroyed: The Cries of the Souls of them that were slain for the Witness of Jesus is, that Babylon may be counted with, and that their Blood may be revenged upon her: The Promise is, that Babylon shall be destroyed: And do we hold our Tongues? The Church of God will not flourish as it should, until Babylon is destroyed: The World will never be in its right Wits, until Babylon is destroyed: The Kingdom of Christ will never be set up, in and by his Church, as it ought, and shall, until Antichrist is destroyed: There will never be Peace upon Earth till Antichrist is destroyed: And God has promised that there shall be Peace, and Truth, and Glory, when Babylon is destroyed: And do we hold our Peace? Besides, your Innocency in Suffering; your Honesty towards God, in your Testimony for his Truth; the substantial Ground which you have for the Bottom of your Faith, as to Things controverted betwixt Antichrist and you, will never be manifested as it will then; and so consequently, you never so brought out to the Light, and your Enemies never so put to Shame as then: Then Shame shall cover her that said unto thee, Where is the Lord thy God? Wherefore, as I said, cry unto the Lord, keep not Silence, give him no Rest, let him not alone, until he has delivered his miserable People out of the Mouth of this Lion, and from the Paw of this Bear.

Sixthly, Is Antichrist to be destroyed? Then let us live in the Expectation of it; and let this be one of our Songs in the House of our Pilgrimage. God bids his People, while in Babylon, to let Jerusalem come into their Mind, and writes to them that then were in her, to acquaint them that he remembered them still, and would assuredly deliver them from that Place and State: And wherefore doth he thus, but to beget an Expectation in them of their Salvation and Deliverance? The Lord is so pleased with the Faith and Expectation of his People, as to this, that they seldom are herein concerned as they should, but he steps in with them, and warms their Hearts. The Reason is, because the Faith of God's People, as to the Downfall of Babylon, stands upon as sure a Foundation as doth the Salvation of their Souls; and that next to that, God is as much delighted in what he has purposed to do against Babylon, as in any Thing else in the Earth: And therefore, if you consider it well, the great and glorious Promises that are to be fulfilled on Earth, are to be fulfilled when Antichrist is dead and buried: These Bits are too good even for his Children to have, so long as this Dog is by, lest he should snatch at the Crumbs thereof; wherefore they are reserved until he is gone: For thus saith the Lord, That after seventy Years be accomplished at Babylon, I will visit you, and perform my good Word towards you, in causing you to return to this Place: For I know the Thoughts that I think towards you, saith the Lord; Thoughts of Peace, and not of Evil, to give you an expected End. This is in Jeremiah the twenty-ninth; and in Chapter the thirty-first he adds, Therefore they shall come and sing in the Height of Zion, and shall flow together to the Goodness of the Lord, for Wheat, and for Wine, and for Oil, and for the young of the Flock, and of the Herd; their Soul shall be as a watered Garden, and they shall not sorrow any more at all: Then shall the Virgin rejoice in the Dance, both young Men and old together; for I will turn their Mourning into Joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their Sorrow: And I will satiate the Soul of the Priests with Fatness, and my People shall be satisfied with my Goodness, saith the Lord. Again, in the thirty-second Chapter, still speaking of the same Thing, he saith, Yea, I will rejoice over them to do them Good, and I will plant them in this Land assuredly, with my whole Heart, and with my whole Soul.

I conclude this with that which I find in Chapter the thirty-third: And I will cleanse them from all their Iniquity whereby they have sinned against me; and I will pardon all their Iniquities whereby they have transgressed against me: And it shall be to me a Name of Joy, a Praise and an Honour before all the Nations of the Earth, which shall hear of all the Good that I do unto them, and they shall Fear and Tremble, for all the Goodness, and for all the Prosperity that I procure unto it. Ver. 8, 9.

Seventhly, Must Antichrist be destroyed? Then this should make us glad, when we see the Signs of his Fall presenting themselves to our View. Indeed, the Signs of his Fall, or those that fore-run it, are terrible and amazing to behold: But what of that, since the Wrinkles that are in their Faces threaten not us but them? A Man is angry, and will punish; yea, and whets his Sword, makes his Rod, and he speaks not a Word, but Blood, Blood, is in it. Indeed this should make them that are concerned in this Anger be afraid, (but the Judgment is, they are fast asleep) but what is in all this of Terror to them, for the pleading whose Cause he is so angry with the other? Nothing whereat the Innocent should be afraid. Cold Blasts in November are not received with that Gentleness as are colder in March and April; for that these last cold ones are but the farewell Notes of a piercing Winter; they also bring with them the Signs and Tokens of a comfortable Summer. Why, the Church is now at the rising of the Year; let then the Blasts at present, or to come, be what they will, Antichrist is assuredly drawing towards his Downfall: And though the Devil, knowing what is to be done to him, and to his Kingdom, shall so blind his Disciples, and fright the Godly, do something like it upon the Church of Christ; yet we should look thorough these Paper-Windows, and espy in all this, that Fear, yea, certain terrible Judgments are following of him at the Heels, by which not only the Soul, Spirit, and Life of Antichrist, but the Body thereof; yea, Body, and Soul, and Head, are quickly to go down thither, from whence they, as such, shall not arise again. Amen.

SAVED by GRACE:

O R,

A Discourse of the Grace of God.

S H E W I N G

- I. What it is to be Saved.
- II. What it is to be Saved by Grace.
- III. Who they are that are Saved by Grace.
- IV. How it appears that they are Saved by Grace.
- V. What should be the Reason that God should choose to save Sinners by Grace rather than by any other Means.

To the R E A D E R.

Courteous Reader,

IN this little Book thou art presented with a Discourse of the GRACE of God, and of Salvation by that Grace; In which Discourse thou shalt find how each Person in the Godhead, doth his Part in the Salvation of the Sinner.

- I. The Father putteth forth his Grace, thus.
- II. The Son putteth forth his Grace, thus.
- III. And the Spirit putteth forth his Grace, thus. Which Things thou shalt find here particularly handled.

Thou shalt also find in this small Treatise, the Way of God with the Sinner, as to his CONVERSATION, and the Way of the Sinner with God in the same: Where the Grace of God, and the Wickedness of the Sinner, do greatly shew themselves.

If thou findest me short in Things, impute that my Love to Brevity.

If thou findest me besides the Truth in ought, impute that to mine Infirmary.

But if thou findest any Thing here, that serveth to thy Furtherance and Joy of Faith, impute that to the Mercy of God, bestowed on thee and me.

Thine to serve thee,

With that Little I have,

J. Bunyan.

E P H E S. II. 5. By Grace ye are saved.

IN the first Chapter, from the 4th to the 12th Verse, the Apostle is treating of the Doctrine of Election, both with Respect to the Act itself, the End, and Means conducing thereto.

1. The Act (he tells us) was God's free Choice of some, Ver. 4. 5, 11.

2. The End was God's Glory in their Salvation. Ver. 6. 14.

3. The Means conducing to that End was Jesus Christ himself. In whom we have Redemption through his Blood, the Forgiveness of Sins, according to the Riches of his Grace, Ver. 7. This done, he treateth of the Subjection of the Ephesians to the Faith (as it was held forth to them in the Word of the Truth of the Gospel) as also of their being sealed by the Holy Spirit of God unto unto the Day of Redemption, Ver. 12, 13, 14.

Moreover he telleth them how he gave Thanks to God for them, making Mention of them in his Prayers, even that he would make them see, what is the Hope of his Calling, and what the Riches of the Glory of his Inheritance with the Saints, and what was the exceeding Greatness of his Power to themward who believe, according to the Working of his mighty Power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the Dead, &c. 15, to 21.

And lest the Ephesians at the Hearing of these their so many Privileges, should forget how little they deserved them, he tells them, That in Time past, they were dead in Trespases and Sins, and that then they walked in them according to the Course of this World, according to the Prince of the Power of the Air, the Spirit that now worketh in the Children of Disobedience, Ch. 2. 2, 3.

Having thus called them back to the remembrance of themselves, to wit, what they were in their State of Unregeneracy, he proceedeth to shew them, that their first Quickening was by the Resurrection of Christ their Head (in whom they before were chosen) and that by him they were already set down in heavenly Places, Ver. 5, 6. inserting by the Way, the true Cause of all this blessedness, with what else should be by us enjoyed in another World: And that is, the Love and Grace of God: But God who is rich in Mercy, for his great Love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in Sins, hath quickened us together with Christ: (by Grace ye are saved.) These last Words seem to be the Apostle's Conclusion rightly drawn from the Premises: As who should say, if you Ephesians were indeed dead in Trespases and Sins; if indeed you were by Nature the Children of Wrath even as others, then you deserve no more than others. Again, if God hath chosen you, if God hath justified and saved you by his Christ, and left others as good as you by Nature to perish in their Sins, then the true Cause of this your blessed Condition is, the free Grace of God; But just thus it is, therefore by Grace ye are saved; therefore all the Good which you enjoy more than others, it is of meer good Will.

By Grace ye are saved.

The Method that I shall choose to discourse upon these Words, shall be this: I will propound certain Questions upon the Words, and direct particular Answers to them; in which Answers I hope I shall answer also (somewhat at least) the Expectation of the Godly, and conscientious Reader, and so shall draw towards a Conclusion.

The Questions are,

1. What is it to be saved?
2. What is it to be saved by Grace?
3. Who are they that are saved by Grace?

4. How it appears that they that are saved, are saved by Grace?

5. What might be the Reasons which prevailed with God to save us by Grace, rather than by any other Means?

Now the Reason why I propound these five Questions upon the Words, it is because the Words themselves admit them; the first three are grounded upon the several Phrases in the Text, and the two less, are to make Way for Demonstration of the whole.

The first Question.

What is it to be Saved.

This Question supposeth, that there is such a Thing as Damnation due to Man for Sin: For to save supposeth the Person to be saved, to be at present in a sad Condition; saving, to him that is not lost, signifies nothing, neither is it any Thing in it self: To save, to redeem, to deliver, are in the general Terms equivalent, and they do all of them suppose us to be in a State of Thralldom and Misery: Therefore this Word saved, in the Sense that the Apostle here doth use it, is a Word of great Worth, forasmuch as the Miseries from which we are saved, is the Misery of all most dreadful.

The Miseries from which they that shall be saved, shall by their Salvation be delivered, are dreadful; they are no less than Sin, the Curse of God, and Flames of Hell for ever: What more abominable than Sin? What more insupportable than the dreadful Wrath of an angry God? And what more fearful than the bottomless Pit of Hell? I say, what more fearful than to be tormented there for ever with the Devil and his Angels? Now to save, (according to my Text) is to deliver the Sinner from these, with all Things else that attend them.

And although Sinners may think that it is no hard Matter to answer this Question; yet I must tell you, there is no Man that can feelingly know what it is to be saved, that knoweth not experimentally something of the dread of these three Things; as is evident, because all others do even by their Practice count it a Thing of no great Concern, when yet it is of all other, of the highest Concern among Men: For what shall it profit a Man if he shall gain the whole World and lose his own Soul? Mat. 16. 26.

But I say, if this Word saved concludeth our Deliverance from Sin, how can he tell what it is to be saved, that hath not in his Conscience groaned under the Burden of Sin? Yea, it is impossible else that he should ever cry out with all his Heart, Men and Brethren, what shall we do? That is, Do to be saved? Acts 2. 37. The Man that hath no Sores or Aches, cannot know the Virtue of the Salve, I mean, not know it from his his own Experience, and therefore cannot prize, nor have that Esteem of it, as he that hath received cure thereby: Clap a Plaster to a well Place, and that maketh not its Vertue to appear, neither can he to whose Flesh it is so applied, by that Application understand its worth: Sinners, you I mean, that are not wounded with Guilt, and oppressed with the Burden of Sin, you cannot, I will say it again, you cannot know in this senseless Condition of yours, what it is to be saved.

Again, this Word saved (as I said) concludeth Deliverance from the Wrath of God; how then can he tell what it is to be saved, that hath not felt the Burden of the Wrath of God? He, he, that is astonished with, and that trembleth at the Wrath of God, he knows best what it is to be saved, Acts 16. 29.

Further, this Word saved, it concludeth Deliverance from Death and Hell. How then can he tell what it is to be saved, that never was sensible of the Sorrows of the one, nor distressed with the Pains of the other? The Psalmist says, The Sorrows of Death compassed me, and the Pains of Hell got hold upon me, and I found Trouble and Sorrow: Then called I upon the Name of the Lord: Mark then, Then called I upon the Name of the Lord: O Lord, I beseech thee, deliver my Soul, then, in my Distress, when he knew what it was to be saved, then he called, because (I say) then he knew what it was to be saved, Psal. 18. 4, 5. Psal. 116. 3, 4.

I say, this is the Man, and this only that knows what it is to be saved: And this is evident, as is manifest by the little Regard that the rest have to saving, or the little dread they have of Damnation: Where is he that seeks and groans for Salvation! I say, where is he that hath taken his Flight for Salvation! Because of the dread of the Wrath to come. O Generation of Vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the Wrath to come? Matt. 3.

Alas! do not the most set light by Salvation? as for Sin, how do they love it, embrace it, please themselves with it, hide it still within their Mouth, and keep it close under their Tongue? Besides, for the Wrath of God they feel it not, they fly not from it; and for Hell, it is become a doubt to many if there be any, and a Mock to those whose Doubt is resolved by Atheism.

But to come to the Question, What is it to be saved? To be saved, may either respect Salvation in the whole of it, or Salvation in the Parts of it, or both: I think this Text respecteth both: to wit, Salvation compleating, and Salvation compleated; for, to save, is a Work of many Steps, or to be as plain as possible, to save, is a Work that hath its beginning before the World began, and shall not be compleated before it is ended.

First then, we may be said to be saved, in the Purpose of God before the World began. The Apostle saith, That he saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our Works, but according to his own Purpose and Grace, which was given us in Christ before the World began, 2 Tim. 1. 9. This is the beginning of Salvation, and according to this beginning, all Things concur and fall out in Conclusion: He hath saved us according to his eternal Purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus. God in thus saving, may be said to save us, by determining to make those Means effectual for the blessed compleating of our Salvation: And hence we are said, to be chosen in Christ to Salvation: And again, That he hath in that choice given us that Grace that shall compleat our Salvation: Yea, the Text is very full, He hath blessed us with all spiritual Blessings in heavenly Places in Christ, according as he hath chosen us in him before the Foundation of the World, Ephes. 1. 3, 4.

Secondly, As we may be said to be saved in the Purpose of God, before the Foundation of the World, so we may be said to be saved, before we are converted, or called to Christ. And hence saved, is put before called; he hath saved us, and called us; he saith not, he hath called us, and saved us, but he puts saving before calling. So again, we are said to be preserved in Christ, and called, he saith not called and preserved: Jude 1. And therefore God saith again, I will pardon them whom I reserve, that is, as Paul expounds it, those whom I have elected and kept, Jer. 50. 20. Rom. 11. 4, 5. and this Part of Salvation is accomplished through the forbearance of God. God beareth with his own Elect, for Christ's Sake, all the Time of their Unregeneracy, until the Time comes which he hath appointed for their Conversion. The Sins that we stood guilty of before Conversion, had the Judgment due to them been executed upon us, we had not now been in the World to partake of an heavenly calling. But the Judgment due to them hath been by the Patience of God prevented, and we saved all the Time of our ungodly and unconverted State, from that Death, and those many Hells, that for our Sins we deserved at the Hands of God.

And here lies the Reason, that long Life is granted to the Elect before Conversion, and that all the Sins they commit, and all the Judgments they deserve cannot drive them out of the World before Conversion. Manasseh, you know, was a great Sinner, and for the Trespas which he committed he was driven from his own Land, and carried to Babylon, but kill him they could not, though his Sins had deserved Death ten thousand Times, but what was the Reason? Why he was not yet called, God had chosen him in Christ, and laid up in him a stock of Grace, which must be given to Manasseh

Manasseh before he dies: Therefore Manasseh must be convinced, converted, and saved. That Legion of Devils that was in the possessed, Mark 5. with all the Sins which he had committed in the Time of his Unregeneracy, could not take away his Life before his Conversion: How many Times was that poor Creature, as we may easily conjecture, assaulted for his Life by the Devils that were in him, yet could they not kill him, yea, though his Dwelling was near the Sea side, and the Devils had Power to drive him too, yet could they not drive him further than the Mountains that was by the Sea side: Yea, they could help him often to break his Chains, and Fetters, and could also make him as mad as a Bedlam, they could also prevail with him to separate from Men, and cut himself with Stones, but kill him they could not, drown him they could not; he was saved to be called, he was, notwithstanding all this, preserved in Christ, and called. As it is said of the young Lad in the Gospel, Mark 9. 22. he was by the Devil cast oft into the Fire, and oft into the Water to destroy him, but it could not be; even so hath he served others, but they must be saved to be called. How many Deaths have some been delivered from, and saved out of before Conversion! Some have fallen into Rivers, some into Wells, some into the Sea, some into the Hands of Men; yea, they have been justly arraigned, and condemned, as the Thief upon the Cross, but must not die before they have been converted. They were preserved in Christ and called.

Called Christian, how many Times have thy Sins laid thee upon a sick Bed? and to thine and others thinking, at the very Mouth of the Grave, yet God said concerning thee, Let him live, for he is not yet converted; behold therefore that the Elect are saved before they are called. God who is rich in Mercy, for his great Love where-with he loved us, even when we were dead in our Sins, Ephes. 2. 4, 5. hath preserved us in Christ, and called us.

Now this saving of us, arises from six Causes.

1. God hath chosen us unto Salvation, and therefore will not frustrate his own Purposes, 1 Thes. 5. 9.

2. God hath given us to Christ; and his Gift, as well as his Calling, is without Repentance, Rom. 11. 29. Joh. 6. 37.

3. Christ hath purchased us with his Blood, Rom. 5. 8.

4. They are by God counted in Christ before they are converted, Ephes. 1. 3, 4.

5. They are ordained before Conversion to eternal Life; yea, to be called, to be justified, to be glorified, and therefore all this must come upon them, Rom. 8. 29, 30.

6. For all this he hath also appointed them their Portion and Measure of Grace, and that before the World began, therefore that they may partake of all these Privileges, they are saved and called; preserved in Christ, and called.

Thirdly, To be saved, is to be brought to, and helped to lay hold on, Jesus Christ by Faith: And this is called saving by Grace through Faith: For by Grace are ye saved, through Faith, and that not of your selves, it is the Gift of God, Ephes. 2. 8.

1. They must be brought unto Christ, yea, drawn unto him: For no Man (saith Christ) can come unto me, except the Father which hath sent me, draw him: Joh. 6. 44. Men, even the Elect, have too many Infirmities, to come to Christ without help from Heaven, inviting will not do. As they called them, so they went from them, therefore he drew them with cords, Hos. 11. 2, 4.

2. As they must be brought to, so they must be helped to lay hold on Christ by Faith, for as coming to Christ, so Faith is not in our own Power, therefore we are said to be raised up with him, through the faith of the operation of God: And again, we are said to believe according to the working of his mighty Power, which he wrought in Christ when he raised him from the Dead. Col. 2. 12. Eph. 1. 18, 19, 20. Now we are said to be saved by Faith, because, by Faith we lay hold of, venture upon, and put on Jesus Christ for Life: For Life I say, because God having made him the Saviour, hath given him Life to communicate to Sinners, and the Life that he communicates to them, is the merit of his Flesh and Blood, which whoso eateth and drinketh by Faith, hath eternal Life, because that Flesh and Blood hath merit in it sufficient to obtain the Favour of God: Yea, it hath done so that day it was offered through the eternal Spirit a Sacrifice of a sweet smelling Savour to him; wherefore God imputeth the Righteousness of Christ to him that believeth in him, by which Righteousness he is personally justified, and saved from that just judgment of the Law that was due unto him, Joh. 5. 26. Chap. 6. 53, 54, 55, 56, 57. Ephes. 4. 32. Chap. 5. 2. Rom. 4. 23, 24, 25.

Saved by Faith: For although Salvation beginneth in God's Purpose, and comes to us through Christ's Righteousness, yet is not Faith exempted from having a hand in saving of us: Not that it meritteth oft, but is given by God to those which he saveth, that thereby they may embrace and put on that Christ, by whose Righteousness they must be saved.

Wherefore this Faith is that which here distinguisheth them that shall be saved, from them that shall be damned. Hence it is said, He that believeth not, shall be damned; and hence again it is, that the Believers, are called, the Children, the Heirs, and the blessed with faithful Abraham: That the Promise by Faith in Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe, Gal. 3. 6, 7, 8, 9, 26. Rom. 4. 13, 14.

And here let Christians warily distinguish betwixt the meritorious, and the Instrumental cause of their justification. Christ with what he hath done and suffered is the meritorious cause of our Justification; therefore he is said to be made to us of God, Wisdom and Righteousness, and we are said to be justified by his Blood, and saved from Wrath through him, 1 Cor. 1. 30. Rom. 5. 9, 10. for it was his Life and Blood that was the Price of our Redemption. Redeemed (says St. Peter) not with corruptible things, as Silver and Gold, (alluding to the Redemption of Money under the Law) but with the precious Blood of Christ: Thou art therefore, (as I have said) to make Christ Jesus the object of thy Faith for justification; For by his Righteousness thy Sins must be covered from the Sight of the justice of the Law. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, for he shall save his People from their sins, Acts 16. 31. Mat. 1. 21.

Fourthly, To be saved, is to be preserved in the Faith to the end. He that shall endure to the end, the same shall be saved, Matth. 24. 13. not that Perseverance is an accident in Christianity, or a thing performed by humane Industry: They that are saved, are kept by the Power of God, through Faith unto Salvation, 1 Pet. 1. 3, 4, 5.

But Perseverance is absolutely necessary to the compleat saving of the Soul, because he that falleth short of the State, that they that are saved, are possessed of, as saved, cannot arrive to that saved State: He that goeth to Sea, with a Purpose to arrive at Spain, cannot arrive there, if he be drowned by the way: Wherefore Perseverance is absolutely necessary to the saving of the Soul, and therefore it is included in the compleat saving of us, Israel shall be saved in the Lord, with an everlasting Salvation, they shall not be ashamed nor confounded, World without end, Isa. 45. 17. Perseverance is here made absolutely necessary to the compleat saving of the Soul.

But (as I said) this Part of Salvation dependeth not upon humane Power, but upon him that hath begun a good Work in us, Phil. 1. 6. This Part, therefore, of our Salvation, is great, and calleth for no less than the Power of God for our Help to perform it, as will be easily granted by all those that consider,

1st, That all the Power, and Policy, Malice, and Rage of the Devils and Hell it self is against us: Any Man that understandeth this, will conclude, that to be saved, is no small thing. The Devil is called a God, a Prince, a Lyon, a roaring Lyon; it is said, that he hath Death and the Power of it, &c. but what can a poor Creature whose Habitation is in flesh, do against a God, a Prince, a roaring Lyon, and the Power of Death it self? Our Perseverance therefore lieth in the Power of God; the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it.

2^{ly}, All the World is against him that shall be saved, but what is one poor Creature to all the World, especially if you consider, that with the World, is Terror, Fear, Power, Majesty, Laws, Gaols, Gibbets, Hangings, Burnings, Drownings, Starvings, Banishments, and a thousand kinds of Deaths, 1 Joh. 5. 4, 5. Joh. 16. 33.

3^{ly}, Add to this that all the Corruptions that dwells in our Flesh, is against us, and that not only in their Nature and Being, but they lust against us, and war against us, to bring us into Captivity to the Law of Sin and Death, Gal. 5. 17. 1 Pet. 2. 11. Rom. 7. 23.

4^{ly}, All the Delusions in the world are against them that shall be saved, many of which are so cunningly woven, so plausibly handled, so rarely polished with Scripture and Reason, that 'tis ten thousand Wonders, that the Elect are not swallowed up with them; and swallowed up they would be, were they not Elect, and was not God himself engaged, either by Power to keep them from falling, or by Grace, to pardon if they fall, and to lift them up again, Mat. 24. 24. Eph. 4. 14. Rom. 3. 10.

5^{ly}, Every Fall of the saved, is against the Salvation of his Soul; but a Christian once fallen, riseth not, but as helped by Omnipotent Power. O Israel, thou art fallen by thine Iniquity, but in me is thy help, says God, Hos. 13. 9. chap. 14. 1. Psal. 37. 23.

Christians were you awake, here would be matter of wonder to you, to see a man assaulted with all the Power of Hell, and yet to come off a Conqueror: Is it not a Wonder, to see a poor Creature who in himself is weaker than the Moth, Job 4. 19. to stand against, and overcome all Devils, all the World, all his Lusts and Corruptions! Or if he fall, is it not a wonder to see him, when Devils and Guilt are upon him, to rise again, stand upon his feet again, walk with God again, and persevere after all this in the Faith and Holiness of the Gospel! He that knows himself, wonders; he that knows Temptation, wonders; he that knows what Falls and Guilt means, wonders; indeed Perseverance is a wonderful thing, and is managed by the Power of God; for he only is able to keep us from falling, and to present us faultless before the Presence of his Glory, with exceeding Joy, Jude 2. 4. Those of the Children of Israel that went from Egypt, and entred the Land of Canaan, how came they thither? why the Text says, That as an Eagle spreadeth abroad her her Wings, so the Lord alone did lead them, And again, He bore them, and carried them all the Days of old. Deut. 32. 11, 12. Isa. 63. 9. David also tells us, that Mercy and Goodness should follow him all the Days of his Life, and so he should dwell in the House of the Lord for ever. Psal. 23. 6.

Fifthly, To be saved calls for more than all this; he that is saved, must, when this World can hold him no longer, have a safe Conduct to Heaven; for that is the Place where they that are saved, must to the full enjoy their Salvation. This Heaven is called, The End of our Faith, because it is that which Faith looks at, as Peter says, Received the End of your Faith, the Salvation of your Souls: And again, But we are not of them that draw back unto Perdition, but of them that believe to the saving of the Soul. 1 Pet. 1. 9. Heb. 10. 39. For (as I said) Heaven is the Place for the Saved to enjoy their Salvation in, with that perfect Gladness that is not attainable here; here we are saved by Faith and Hope of Glory, but there we that are saved, shall enjoy the End of our Faith and Hope, even the Salvation of our Souls. There is Mount Zion, the heavenly Jerusalem, the general Assembly and Church of the First-born: There is the innumerable Company of Angels, and the Spirits of just Men made perfect: There is God the Judge of all, and Jesus the Mediator of the New Covenant. There shall our Soul have as much of Heaven as it is capable of enjoying, and that without Intermision: Wherefore, when we come there, we shall be saved indeed.

But now for a poor Creature to be brought hither, this is the Life of the Point: But how shall I come hither? There are Heights and Depths to hinder. Rom. 8. 38, 39.

Suppose the poor Christian is now upon a Sick-Bed, beset with a thousand Fears, and ten thousand at the end of that; Sick-Bed Fears! and they are sometimes dreadful Ones: Fears that are begotten by the Review of the Sin (perhaps) of forty Years Profession: Fears that are begotten by dreadful and fearful Suggestions of the Devil, the Sight of Death, and the Grave, and it may be of Hell it self: Fears that are begotten by the withdrawing and Silence of God and Christ, and by (it may be) the Appearance of the Devil himself. Some of these made David cry, O spare me a little, that I may recover Strength, before I go hence and be no more, Psal. 39. 13. The Sorrows of Death, said he, compassed me, the Pains of Hell got hold upon me, and I found Trouble and Sorrow. Psal. 116. 3. These Things in another Place, he calls, The Bands that the Godly have in their Death, and the Plagues that others are not aware of. They are not in Trouble as other Men, neither are they plagued like other Men. Ps. 73. 5. But now, out of all these the Lord will save his People; not one Sin, nor Fear, nor Devil shall hinder; nor the Grave nor Hell disappoint thee. But how must this be? Why thou must have a safe Conduct to Heaven! What Conduct? A Conduct of Angels: Are they not all ministering Spirits, sent forth to minister for them that shall be Heirs of Salvation? Heb. 1. 14.

These Angels therefore are not to fail them that are the Saved; but must, as commissioned of God, come down from Heaven to do this Office for them; they must come, I say, and take the Care and Charge of our Soul, to conduct it safely into Abraham's Bosom. 'Tis not our Meanness in the World, nor our Weakness of Faith, that shall hinder this; nor shall the Loathsomeness of our Diseases make these delicate Spirits shy of taking this Charge upon them. Lazarus the Beggar found this a Truth; a Beggar so despised of the rich Glutton, that he was not suffered to come within his Gate; a Beggar full of Sores and noisome Putrefaction; yet behold, when he dies, the Angels come from Heaven to fetch him thither. And it came to pass that the Beggar died, and was carried by the Angels into Abraham's Bosom. Luke 16. 22.

True, Sick-Bed Temptations are oft-times the most violent, because then the Devil plays his last Game with us, he is never to assault us more; besides, perhaps God suffereth it thus to be, that the entering into Heaven may be the sweeter, and ring of this Salvation the louder: O 'tis a blessed Thing for God to be our God, and our Guide, even unto Death, and then for his Angels to conduct us safely to Glory: This is Saving indeed. And he shall save Israel out of all his Troubles: Out of Sick-Bed Troubles as well as others. Psal. 25. 22. Ps. 34. 6. Ps. 48. 14.

Sixthly, To be saved, to be perfectly saved, calls for more than all this: The Godly are not perfectly saved when their Soul is possessed of Heaven. True, their Spirit is made perfect, and hath as much of Heaven as at present it can hold; but Man consisting of Body and Soul, cannot be said to be perfectly saved so long as but part of him is in the Heavens: His Body is the Price of the Blood of Christ, as well as his Spirit; his Body is the Temple of God, and a Member of the Body, and of the Flesh, and of the Bones of Christ; he cannot then be compleatly saved until the Time of the Resurrection of the Dead, 1 Cor. 6. 13, 15, 19. Eph. 5. 30. Wherefore when Christ shall come the second Time, then will he save the Body from all those Things that at present make it incapable of the Heavens. For our Conversation is in Heaven, from whence we look for the Saviour the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall change this our vile Body, that it may be fashioned like unto unto his glorious Body. Philip. 3. 20, 21. O what a great deal of Good, God hath put into this little Word Saved! We shall not see all the Good that God hath put into this Word Saved, until the Lord Jesus comes to raise the Dead. It doth not yet appear what we shall be, 1 John 3. 2. but till it appears what we shall be, we cannot see the Bottom of this Word Saved. True, we have the Earnest of what we shall be, we have the Spirit of God, which is the Earnest of our Inheritance, until the Redemption of the purchased Possession. Eph. 1. 14.

The Possession is our Body, it is called a purchased Possession, because 'tis the Price of Blood; now the Redemption of this purchased Possession is the raising of it out of the Grave, which raising is called the Redemption of our Body, Phil. 3. 21. And when this vile Body is made like unto his glorious Body, and this Body and Soul together possessed of the Heavens, then shall we be every Way saved.

There are three Things from which this Body must be saved.

1. There is that sinful Filth and Vileness that yet dwells in it, under which we groan earnestly all our Days. 2 Cor. 5. 1, 2, 3.

2. There is Mortality, that subjecteth us to Age, Sickness, Aches, Pains, Diseases, and Death.

3. And there is the Grave and Death it self, for Death is the last Enemy that is to be destroyed. So when this Corruptible shall have put on Incorruption, and this Mortal shall have put on Immortality, then shall be brought to pass that Saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in Victory. 1 Cor. 15. 54.

So then, when this comes to pass, then we shall be saved, then will Salvation in all the Parts of it meet together in our Glory, then we shall be every Way saved; saved in God's Decree, saved in Christ's Undertakings, saved by Faith, saved in Perseverance, saved in Soul, and in Body and Soul together, in the Heavens, saved perfectly, everlastingly, gloriously.

Before I conclude my Answer to the first Question, I would discourse a little of the State of our Body and Soul in Heaven, when we shall enjoy this blessed State of Salvation.

First, Of the Soul, it will then be filled in all the Faculties of it, with as much Bliss and Glory as ever it can hold.

1. The Understanding shall then be perfect in Knowledge, now we know but in part; we know God, Christ, Heaven, and Glory, but in part, but when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away. 1 Cor. 13. 10. Then shall we have perfect and everlasting Visions of God, and that blessed one his Son Jesus Christ, a good Thought of whom doth sometimes so fill us, while in this World, that it causeth Joy unspeakable and full of Glory.

2. Then shall our Will and Affections be ever in a burning Flame of Love to God and his Son Jesus Christ; our Love here hath Ups and Downs, but there it shall be always perfect with that Perfection which is not possible in this World to be enjoyed.

3. Then will our Conscience have that Peace and Joy, that neither Tongue, or Pen, of Men or Angels can express.

4. Then will our Memory be so enlarged to retain all Things that happened to us in this World, so that with unspeakable Aptness we shall call to Mind all God's Providences, all Satan's Malice, all our own Weaknesses, all the Rage of Men, and how God made all work together for his Glory and our Good, to the everlasting ravishing of our Hearts.

Secondly, For our Body, it shall be raised in Power, in Incorruption, a spiritual Body and glorious. 1 Cor. 15. 44.

The Glory of which is set forth by several Things.

1. It is compared to the Brightness of the Firmament, and to the Shining of the Stars, for ever and ever. Dan. 12. 3. 1 Cor. 15. 41, 42.

2. It is compared to the Shining of the Sun: Then shall the Righteous shine forth as the Sun in the Kingdom of their Father: Who hath Ears to hear, let him hear. Mat. 13. 43.

3. Their State is then to be equally glorious with Angels; but they which shall be counted worthy to obtain that World, and the Resurrection from the Dead, neither marry, nor are given in Marriage, neither can they die any more, for they are equal to the Angels. Luke 20. 35, 36.

4. It is said, that then this our vile Body shall be like the glorious Body of Jesus Christ. Philip. 3. 20, 21. 1 John 3. 2, 3.

5. And now, when Body and Soul are thus united, who can imagine what Glory they both possess? They will now be both in Capacity, without jarring, to serve the Lord with shouting Thanksgivings, and with a Crown of everlasting Joy upon their Head.

In this World there cannot be that Harmony and Oneness of Body and Soul, as there will be in Heaven. Here the Body sometimes sins against the Soul, and the Soul again vexes and perplexes the Body with dreadful Apprehensions of the Wrath and Judgment of God: While we be in this World, the Body oft hangs this Way, and the Soul the quite contrary; but there, in Heaven, they shall have that perfect Union as never to jarr more: But now the Glory of the Body shall so suit with the Glory of the Soul, and both so perfectly suit suit with the heavenly State, that it passeth Words and Thoughts.

Thirdly, Shall I now speak of the Place that this saved Body and Soul shall dwell in. Why,

1. It is a City, Heb. 11. 16. Eph. 2. 19.
2. It is called Heaven, Heb. 10. 34.
3. It is called God's House, John 14. 1, 2, 3.
4. It is called a Kingdom, Luke 12. 32.
5. It is called Glory, Col. 3. 3. Heb. 2. 10.
6. It is called Paradise, Rev. 2. 7.
7. It is called Everlasting Habitation, Luke 16. 9.

Fourthly, Shall I speak of their Company. Why,

1. They shall stand and live in the Presence of the glorious God the Judge of all, Heb. 12. 23.
2. They shall be with the Lamb, the Lord Jesus.
3. They shall be with innumerable Company of Holy Angels, Heb. 12. 22.
4. They shall be with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the Kingdom of Heaven, Luke 13. 28.

Fifthly, Shall I speak of their Heavenly Raiment.

1. It is Salvation, they shall be clothed with the Garment of Salvation, Psal. 132. 16. Psal. 149. 4. Isa. 61. 10.
2. This Raiment is called white Raiment, signifying their clean and innocent State in Heaven. And they (says Christ) shall walk with me in white, for they are worthy, Isa. 57. 2. Revel. 3. 4. Chap. 19. 8.
3. It is called Glory, when he shall appear, we shall appear with him in Glory, Col. 3. 4.
4. They shall also have Crowns of Righteousness, everlasting Joy and Glory, Isa. 35. 10. 2 Tim. 4. 8. 1 Pet. 5. 4.

Sixthly, Shall I speak of their Continuance in this Condition.

1. It is for ever and ever, and they shall see his Face, and his Name shall be in their Foreheads, and they shall reign for ever and ever, Revel. 24. 4, 5.
2. It is everlastingly: And this is the Will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting Life, Job. 6. 40, 47.
3. It is Life Eternal, My Sheep hear my Voice, and I know them, and they follow me, and I give unto them eternal Life. Joh. 10. 27, 28.
4. It is World without End. But Israel shall be saved in the Lord with an everlasting Salvation, they shall not be ashamed nor confounded World without End, Eph. 45. 17. Eph. 3. 20, 21.

O Sinner! What saist thou! How dost thou like being saved? Doth not thy Mouth water? doth not thy Heart twitter at being saved? Why come then, The Spirit and the Bride says come, and let him that heareth say come, and let him that is a-thirst come, and whosoever will, let him take of the Water of Life freely, Rev. 22. 17.

QUESTION II.

What is it to be saved by Grace?

NOW I come to the second Question, to wit, What is it to be saved by Grace? For so are the Words of the Text, By Grace ye are saved.

But First, I must touch a little upon the Word Grace, and shew you how diversly it is taken.

1. Sometimes it is taken for the good Will and Favour of Men, Est. 2. 17. Ruth 2. 2. 1 Sam. 1. 18. 2 Sam. 16. 4.
2. Sometimes it is taken for those sweet Ornaments, that a Life, according to the Word of God, putteth about the Neck, Prov. 1. 9. Chap. 3. 22.
3. Sometimes it is taken for the Charity of the Saints, as 2 Cor. 9. 6, 7, 8.
4. But Grace in the Text, is taken for God's good Will, the good Will of him that dwelt in the Bush; and is expressed variously.

1. Sometimes it is called, his good Pleasure.
2. Sometimes the good Pleasure of his Will, which is all one with the Riches of his Grace, Ephes. 1. 7.
3. Sometimes it is expressed by Goodness, Pity, Love, Mercy, Kindness, and the like, Rom. 2. 4. Isa. 63. 9. Tit. 3. 4, 5.
4. Yea, he styles himself, The Lord, the Lord God, merciful, gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in Goodness and Truth, keeping Mercy for Thousands, forgiving Iniquity, Transgressions and Sin, and that will by no Means clear the Guilty, Exod. 34. 6, 7.

Secondly, As the Word Grace signifieth all these, so it intimates to us, that all these are free Acts of God, free Love, free Mercy, free Kindness: Hence we have other Hints in the Word, about the Nature of Grace, as,

1. It is an Act of God's Will, which must needs be free, an Act of his own Will, of the good Pleasure of his Will; by every of these Expressions, is intimated, that Grace is a free Act of God's goodness towards the Sons of Men.
2. Therefore it is expressly said, being justified freely by his Grace, Rom. 3. 24.
3. And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both, Luk. 7. 42.
4. And again, Not for your Sakes do I this, saith the Lord God, be it known unto you, Ezek. 36. 32. Deut. 9. 5.
5. And therefore Grace and the Deservings of the Creature are set in flat Opposition one to another. And if it be by Grace, then it is no more of Works, otherwise Grace is no more Grace, but if it be of Works, then it is no more of Grace, otherwise Work is no more Work, Rom. 11. 6.

The Word Grace therefore, being understood, doth most properly set forth the true Cause of Man's Happiness with God, not but that those Expressions, Love, Mercy, Goodness, Pity, Kindness, &c. and the like, have their proper Place in our Happiness also; had not God loved us, Grace had not acted freely in our Salvation; had not God been merciful, good, pitiful, kind, he would have turned away from us, when he saw us in our Blood, Ezek. 16.

So then, when he saith, By Grace ye are saved, it is all one as if he had said, by the good Will, free Mercy, and loving Kindness of God, ye are saved; as the Words conjoined with the Text, do also further manifest: But God (saith Paul) who is rich in Mercy, for his great Love where-with he loved us, even when we were dead in Sin, hath quickened us together with Christ, by Grace ye are saved.

The Words thus understood, admits us these few Conclusions.

1. That God in saving of the Sinner hath no Respect to the Sinner's Goodness, hence it is said, he is frankly forgiven and freely justified, Luke 7. 42. Rom. 3. 24.

2. That God doth this to whom, and when he pleases, because 'tis an Act of his own good Pleasure, Gal. 1. 15, 16.

3. This is the Cause why great Sinners are saved, for God pardoneth according to the Riches of his Grace, Eph. 1. 7.

4. This is the true Cause that some Sinners are so amazed, and confounded at the Apprehension of their own Salvation, his Grace is unsearchable, and by unsearchable Grace, God oft puzzles, and confounds our Reason, Ezek. 16. 62, 63. Acts 9. 6.

5. This is the Cause that Sinners are so often recovered from their Back-sliding, healed of their Wounds, that they get by their Falls, and helped again to rejoyce in God's Mercy; why, he will be gracious to whom he will be gracious, and he will have Compassion on whom he will have Compassion, Rom. 9. 15.

But I must not here conclude this Point; we are here discoursing of the Grace of God, and that by it we are saved; saved, I say, by the Grace of God.

Now, God is set forth in the Word unto us under a double Consideration.

1. He is set forth in his own eternal Power and Godhead, and as thus set forth, we are to conceive of him by his Attributes of Power, Justice, Goodness, Holiness, Everlastingness, &c.

2. But then, we have him set forth in the Word of Truth, as consisting of Father, Son, and Spirit, and although this second Consideration containeth in it the Nature of the Godhead, yet the first doth not demonstrate the Persons in the Godhead: We are saved by the Grace of God, that is, by the Grace of the Father, who is God; by the Grace of the Son, who is God; and by the Grace of the Spirit, who is God.

Now since we are said to be saved by Grace, and that the Grace of God; and since also we find in the Word, that in the Godhead there is Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, we must conclude, that it is by the Grace of the Father, Son, and Spirit, that we are saved; wherefore Grace is attributed to the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost distinctly.

1. Grace is attributed to the Father, as these Scriptures testify, Rom. 7. 25. 1 Cor. 1. 3. 2 Cor. 1. 2. Gal. 1. 3. Ephes. 1. 2. Phil. 1. 2. Col. 1. 2. 1 Thes. 1. 1. 2 Thes. 2. 1 Tim. 1. 2. 2 Tim. 1. 2. Tit. 1. 4. Phil. 3.

2. Grace is also attributed to the Son, and I first manifest it by all those Texts above-mentioned, as also by these that follow, 2 Cor. 8. 9. Chap. 13. 14. Gal. 6. 18. Phil. 4. 23. 1 Thes. 5. 28. 2 Thes. 3. 18. Phil. 25. Rev. 22. 21.

3. It is also attributed to the Holy Ghost, Zech. 12. 10. Heb. 12. 19. now he is here called the Spirit of Grace, because he is the Author of Grace as the Father, and the Son: So then it remaineth that I shew you,

First, How we are saved by the Grace of the Father.

Secondly, How we are saved by the Grace of the Son.

Thirdly, And how we are saved by the Grace of the Spirit.

Of the Father's Grace.

First, How we are saved by the Grace of the Father: Now this will I open unto you thus.

1. The Father, by his Grace hath bound up them that shall go to Heaven in an eternal Decree of Election, and here indeed, as was shewed at first, is the beginning of our Salvation, 2 Tim. 1. 9. and Election is reckoned not the Son's Act, but the Father's, Blessed be God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual Blessings in heavenly Places in Christ, according as he hath chosen us in him before the Foundation of the World, Eph. 1. 4. Now this Election is counted an Act of Grace, So then, at this present Time also, there is a Remnant according to the Election of Grace. Rom. 11. 5.

2dly, The Father's Grace, ordaineth, and giveth the Son to undertake for us our Redemption: The Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the World, In whom we have Redemption through his Blood, the forgiveness of Sins, according to the Riches of his Grace; that in the Ages to come, he might shew the exceeding Riches of his Grace in his kindness to usward, through Christ Jesus, 1 Joh. 4. 14. Ephes. 1. 7. Chap. 2. 7. Joh.

Joh. 3. 16. Chap. 6. 32, 33. Chap. 12. 47.
3^{dly}, The Father's Grace giveth us to Christ, to be justified by his Righteousness, washed in his Blood, and saved by his Life. This Christ mentioneth, Job. 6. 37. and tells us, it is his Father's Will that they should be safe-coming at the last Day, and that he had kept them all the Days of his Life, and they shall never perish, Job. 6. 38, 39. Chap. 17. 2, 12.

4^{thly}, The Father's Grace giveth the Kingdom of Heaven to those that he hath given to Jesus Christ; Fear not little Flock, it is your Father's good Pleasure to give you the Kingdom, Luke 12. 32.

5^{thly}, The Father's Grace provideth, and layeth up in Christ for those that he hath chosen a sufficiency of all spiritual Blessings to be communicated to them at their need, for their Preservation in the Faith, and faithful perseverance through this Life; not according to our Works, but according to his own Purpose and Grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus, before the Word began, 2 Tim. 1. 9. Eph. 1. 3, 4.

6^{thly}, The Father's Grace saveth us by the blessed and effectual Call, that he giveth us the Fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ, 1 Cor. 1. 9. Gal. 1. 15.

7^{thly}, The Father's Grace saveth us by multiplying Pardons to us for Christ's sake, Day by Day. In whom we have Redemption through his Blood, even the forgiveness of Sins, according to the Riches of his Grace.

8^{thly}, The Father's Grace saves us, by exercising Patience and Forbearance towards us all the Time of our Unregeneracy, Rom. 3. 24.

9^{thly}, The Father's Grace saveth us, by holding of us fast in his Hand, and by keeping of us from all the Power of the Enemy, My Father (said Christ) that gave them me is greater than all, and no Man can pull them out of my Father's Hand, Joh. 10. 29.

10^{thly}, What shall I say? The Father's Grace saveth us, by accepting of our Persons and Services, by lifting up the Light of his Countenance upon us, by manifesting of his Love unto us, and by sending of his Angels to fetch us to himself when we have finished our Pilgrimage in this World.

Of the Grace of the Son.

I come now to speak of the Grace of the Son, for as the Father putteth forth his Grace in the saving of the Sinner, so doth the Son put forth his. For ye know the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his Poverty might be made rich. 2 Cor. 8. 9.

Here you see also, that the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ is brought in as a Partner with the Grace of his Father, in the salvation of our Souls: Now this is the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ; he was rich, but for our sakes he became poor, that we through his Poverty might be made rich.

To enquire then into this Grace, this condescending Grace of Christ, and that by searching out, how rich Jesus Christ was, and then how poor he made himself, that we through his Poverty might have the Riches of Salvation.

First, How rich was Jesus Christ?

To which I answer, First, Generally, Secondly, Particularly.

First, Generally, He was rich as the Father: All Things that the Father hath (saith he) are mine. Jesus Christ he is the Lord of all, God over all blessed for ever: He thought it no Robbery to be equal with God, being naturally and eternally God, as the Father, John 16. 15. Acts 10. 36. Phil. 2. 6. Rom. 9. 4, 5. John 10. 30. but of his Godhead he could not strip himself.

Secondly, Jesus Christ had Glory with the Father, yea, a manifold Glory with him, which he stript himself of.

First, He had the Glory of Dominion, he was Lord of all the Creatures, they were under him upon a double Account.

1. As he was their Creator, Col. 1. 16.

2. As he was made the Heir of God, Heb. 1. 2.

Secondly, Therefore the Glory of Worship, Reverence, and Fear, from all Creatures was due unto him; the Worship, Obedience, Subjection, and Service of Angels was due unto him; the Fear, Honour and Glory of Kings, and Princes, and Judges of the Earth, was due unto him; the Obedience of the Sun, Moon, Stars, Clouds, and all Vapours was due unto him; all Dragons, Deeps, Fire, Hail, Snow, Mountains and Hills, Beasts, Cattle, creeping Things, and flying Fowls, the Service of them all, and their Worship was due unto him. Psal. 148.

Thirdly, The Glory of the Heavens themselves was due unto him; in a Word, Heaven and Earth was his.

Fourthly, But above all, the Glory of Communion with his Father was his; I say, the Glory of that unspeakable Communion that he had with the Father before his Incarnation, which alone was worth ten thousand Worlds, that was ever his.

But again, As Jesus Christ was possessed with this, so besides he was Lord of Life: This Glory also was Jesus Christ's; In him was Life, therefore he is called the Prince of it: Because it was in him originally as in the Father, Acts 3. 15. He gave to all Life and Breath; and all Things, Angels, Men, Beasts, they had all their Life from him.

Again, as he was Lord of Glory, and Prince of Life, so he was also Prince of Peace, Peace, Isa. 9. 6. and by him was maintained that Harmony and goodly Order which was among Things in Heaven, and Things on Earth.

Take Things briefly in these few Particulars.

1. The Heavens were his, and he made them.

2. Angels were his, and he made them.

3. The Earth was his, and he made it.

4. Man was his, and he made him.

Now this Heaven he forsook for our sakes, He came into the World to save Sinners, 1 Tim. 1. 15.

He was made lower than the Angels for the Suffering of Death, Heb. 2. 9.

When he was born, he made himself, as he saith, a Worm, or one of no Reputation, he became the Reproach and By-word of the People, he was born in a Stable, laid in a Manger, earned his Bread with his Labour, being by Trade a Carpenter, Psal. 22. 6. Philip. 2. 7. Mark 6. 3. When he betook himself to his Ministry, he lived upon the Charity of the People, when other Men went to their own Houses, Jesus went to the Mount of Olives. Hark what himself saith for the clearing of this! Foxes have Holes, and Birds of the Air have Nests, but the Son of Man hath not whereon to lay his Head. Luke 8. 2, 3. John 7. 35. and 8. 1. Luke 9. 58. He denied himself of this World's Good.

Again, As he was Prince of Life, so he for our sakes laid down that also; for so stood the Matter, that he or we must die; but the Grace that was in his Heart wrought with him to lay down his Life: He gave his Life a Ransom for many. He laid down his Life that we might have Life; he gave his Flesh and Blood for the Life of the World; he laid down his Life for his Sheep.

Again, he was Prince of Peace, but he forsook his Peace also.

1. He laid aside Peace with the World, and chose upon that Account, to be a Man of Sorrows and acquainted with Grief, and therefore was persecuted from his Cradle to his Crois, by Kings, Rulers, &c.

He laid aside his Peace with his Father, and made himself the Object of his Father's Curse, insomuch that the Lord smote, stroke, and afflicted him; and in conclusion hid his Face from him (as he expressed with great Crying) at the Hour of his Death.

But perhaps some may say, What need was there that Jesus Christ should do all this? Could not the Grace of the Father save us without this Condescension of the Son?

Ans. As there is Grace, so there is Justice in God: And Man having sinned, God concluded to save him in a Way of Righteousness; therefore it was absolutely necessary, that Jesus Christ should put himself into our very Condition, Sin only excepted.

Now by Sin we had lost the Glory of God, therefore Jesus Christ lays aside the Glory that he had with the Father, Rom. 3. 23. John 17. 5.

2. Man by Sin had shut himself out of an earthly Paradise, and Jesus Christ will leave his heavenly Paradise to save him, Gen. 3. 24. 1 Tim. 1. 15. John 6. 38, 39.

3. Man by Sin had made himself lighter than Vanity, and this Lord God, Jesus Christ, made himself lower than the Angels to redeem him, Isa. 40. 17. Heb. 2. 7.

4. Man by Sin lost his Right to the Creatures, and Jesus Christ will deny himself of a whole World to save him, Luke 9. 58.

5. Man by Sin had made himself Subject to Death, but Jesus Christ will lose his Life to save him, Rom. 6. 23.

6. Man by Sin had procured to himself the Curse of God, but Jesus Christ will bear that Curse in his own Body to save him, Gal. 3. 13.

7. Man by Sin had lost Peace with God, but this would Jesus Christ lose also, to the end Man might be saved.

8. Man should have been mocked of God, therefore Christ was mocked of Men.

9. Man should have been Scourged in Hell, but to hinder that Jesus was Scourged on Earth.

10. Man should have been crowned with Ignominy and Shame, but to prevent that Jesus was crowned with Thorns.

11. Man should have been pierced with the Spear of God's Wrath, but to prevent that Jesus was pierced both by God and Men.

12. Man should have been rejected of God and Angels, but to prevent that Jesus was forsaken of God, and denied, hated, and rejected of Men, Isa. 48. 22. Mat. 27. 46. Prov. 1. 24, 25, 26. Psal. 22. 7. Mat. 27. 39. Psal. 9. 17. and 11. 6. Mat. 27. 26. Dan. 12. 2. John 19. 2, 3, 4, 5. Numb. 24. 8. Zech. 12. 10, John 19. 37.

I might thus enlarge, and that by Authority from this Text, He became poor, that we through his Poverty might be made rich. All the Riches he stript himself of, it was for our sakes; all the Sorrows he underwent, it was for our sakes; to the least Circumstance of the Sufferings of Christ, there was a Necessity that so it should be, all was for our sakes: For our sakes he became poor, that ye through his Poverty might be made rich.

And you see the Argument that prevailed with Christ to do this great Service for Man, the Grace that was in his Heart; as also the Prophet saith, in his Love, and in his Pity he redeemed them: According to this in the Corinthians, You know the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ; both which agree with the Text, By Grace ye are saved.

I say, this was the Grace of the Son, and the Exercise thereof: The Father therefore shews his Grace one Way, and the Son his another: 'Twas not the Father, but the Son, that left his Heaven for Sinners; 'twas not the Father but the Son that Spilt his Blood for Sinners. The Father indeed gave the Son, and blessed be the Father for that; and the Son gave his Life and Blood for us, and blessed be the Son for that.

But methinks we should not yet have done with this Grace of the Son: Thou Son of the Blessed, What Grace was manifest in thy Condescension? Grace brought thee down from Heaven, Grace stript thee of thy Glory, Grace made thee poor and despicable, Grace made thee bear such Burdens of Sin, such Burdens of Sorrow, such Burdens of God's Curse as is unspeakable: O Son of God! Grace was in all thy Tears, Grace came bubbling out of thy Side with thy Blood, Grace came forth with every Word of thy sweet Mouth, Psalms 45. 2. Luke 4. 22. Grace came out where the Whip smote thee, where the Thorns prickt thee, where the Nails and Spear pierced thee: O blessed Son of God! Here is Grace indeed! Unsearchable Riches of Grace! Unthought of Riches of Grace! Grace to make Angels wonder, Grace to make Sinners happy, Grace to astonish Devils: And what will become of them that trample under Foot this Son of God.

Of the Grace of the Spirit.

I come now to speak of the Grace of the Spirit, for he also saveth us by his Grace: The Spirit, I told you, is God, as the Father and the Son, and is therefore also the Author of Grace; yea, and it is absolutely necessary that he put forth his Grace also, or else no Flesh can be saved. The Spirit of God hath his Hand in saving of us many Ways; for they that go to Heaven, as they must be beholding to the Father and the Son, so also to the Spirit of God. The Father chooseth us, giveth us to Christ, and Heaven to us, and the like: The Son fulfills the Law for us, takes the Curse of the Law from us, bears in his own Body our Sorrows, and sets us justified in the Sight of God. The Father's Grace is shewed in Heaven and Earth; the Son's Grace is shewed on the Earth, and on the Cross; and the Spirit's Grace must be shewed in our Souls and Bodies, before we come to Heaven.

Quest. But some may say, Wherein doth the saving Grace of the Spirit appear?

Ans. In many Things.

1. In taking Possession of us for his own, in his making of us his House and Habitation, 1 Cor. 3. 16. Chap. 6. 19. Eph. 2. 21, 22. so that though the Father and the Son have both gloriously put forth gracious

Acts in order to our Salvation, yet the Spirit is the first that makes Seizure of us. Christ therefore when he went away, said not, that he would send the Father, but the Spirit, and that he should be in us for ever: If I depart, (said Christ) I will send him, the Spirit of Truth, the Comforter, John 14. 14. and 16. 7, 13.

The Holy Spirit coming into us, and dwelling in us, worketh out many Salvations for us now, and each of them in order also to our being saved for ever.

1. He saveth us from our Darknes, by illuminating of us; hence he is called The Spirit of Revelation, because he openeth the blind Eyes, and so consequently delivereth us from that Darknes, which else would drown us in the Deeps of Hell, Eph. 1. 17.

2. He it is that convinceth us of the Evil of our Unbelief, and that shews us the Necessity of our believing in Christ; without the Conviction of this we should perish, John 16. 9.

3. This is that Finger of God, by which the Devil is made to give Place unto Grace, by whose Power else we should be carried headlong to Hell, Luke 11. 20, 21, 22.

4. This is he that worketh Faith in our Hearts, without which neither the Grace of the Father, nor the Grace of the Son can save us, For he that believeth not shall be damned, Rom. 15. 13. Mark 16. 16.

5. This is he by whom we are born again, and he that is not so born, can neither see nor inherit the Kingdom of Heaven, John 3. 3, 5, 6, 7.

6. This is he that setteth up his Kingdom in the Heart, and by that Means keepeth out the Devil after he is cast out, which Kingdom of the Spirit, whoever wanteth, they lie liable to a worse Possession of the Devil than ever, Mat. 13. 33. Luke 11. 24, 25.

7. By this Spirit we come to see the Beauty of Christ, without a Sight of which we should never desire him, but should certainly live in the Neglect of him, and perish, John 16. 14. 1 Cor. 2. 9, to 13. Isa. 53. 1, 2.

8. By this Spirit we are helped to praise God acceptably, but without it, 'tis impossible to be heard unto Salvation, Rom. 8. 26. Eph. 6. 18. 1 Cor. 14. 15.

9. By this blessed Spirit the Love of God is shed abroad in our Hearts, and our Hearts are directed into the Love of God, Rom. 5. 5. 2 Thes. 2. 5.

10. By this blessed Spirit we are led from the Ways of the Flesh into the Ways of Life, and by it our mortal Body, as well as our immortal Soul is quickened in the Service of God, Gal. 5. 18, 25. Rom. 8. 11.

11. By this good Spirit we keep that good Thing, even the Seed of God, that at the first by the Word of God was infused into us, and without which we are liable to the worst Damnation, 1 John 3. 9.

1 Pet. 1. 23. 2 Tim. 1. 14.

12. By this good Spirit we have Help and Light against all the Wisdom and Cunning of the World, which putteth forth it self in its most cursed Sophistifications, to overthrow the Simplicity that is in Christ, Mat. 10. 19, 20. Mark 13. 11. Luke 12. 11, 12.

13. By this good Spirit our Graces are maintained in Life and Vigour; as Faith, Hope, Love, a Spirit of Prayer, and every Grace, 2 Cor. 4. 13. Rom. 15. 13. 2 Tim. 1. 7. Eph. 6. 18. Titus 3. 5.

14. By this good Spirit we are sealed to the Day of Redemption, Eph. 1. 14.

15. And by this good Spirit we are made to wait with Patience until the Redemption of the purchased Possession comes, Gal. 5. 5.

Now all these Things are so necessary to our Salvation, that I know not which of them can be wanting; neither can any of them be by any Means attained but by this blessed Spirit.

And thus have I in few Words, shewed you the Grace of the Spirit, and how it putteth forth it self towards the Saving of the Soul. And verily, Sirs, it is necessary that you know these Things distinctly; to wit, the Grace of the Father, the Grace of the Son, and the Grace of the Holy Ghost; for it is not the Grace of One, but of all these Three, that saveth him that shall be saved indeed.

The Father's Grace saveth no Man without the Grace of the Son; neither doth the Father and the Son save any without the Grace of the Spirit; for as the Father loves, the Son must die, and the Spirit must sanctify, or no Soul must be saved.

Some think that the Love of the Father, without the Blood of the Son, will save them, but they are deceived: For without shedding of Blood is no Remission, Heb. 9. 22.

Some think that the Love of the Father, and Blood of the Son will do, without the Holiness of the Spirit of God; but they are deceived also: For if any Man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of his: And again, Without Holiness no Man shall see the Lord, Rom. 8. 9. Heb. 12. 14.

There is a Third sort, that think the Holiness of the Spirit is sufficient of it self; but they (if they had it) are deceived also; for it must be the Grace of the Father, the Grace of the Son, and the Grace of the Spirit jointly, that must save them.

But yet, as these three do put forth Grace jointly and truly in the Salvation of a Sinner; so they put it forth (as I also have shewed you before) after a diverse Manner: The Father designs us for Heaven, the Son redeems from Sin and Death, and the Spirit makes us meet for Heaven; not by electing, that's the Work of the Father; not by dying, that's the Work of the Son; but by his revealing Christ, and applying Christ to our Souls, by shedding the Love of God abroad in our Hearts, by sanctifying of our Souls, and taking Possession of us as an Earnest of our possessing of Heaven.

QUESTION III.

Who are they that are to be Saved by Grace?

I Come now to the Third Particular; namely to shew you who they are that are to be saved by Grace.

First, Not the self Righteous, not they that have no need of the Physician. The whole have no need of the Physician, said Christ. I come not to call the Righteous, but Sinners to Repentance, Mar. 2. 17. And again, He hath filled the Hungry with good Things, but sends the rich Empty away, Luke 1. 53. Now when I say, not the self-righteous, nor the rich, I mean not that they are utterly excluded; for St. Paul was such an one; but he saveth not such without he first awaken them to see they have need to be saved by Grace.

Secondly, The Grace of God Saveth, not him that hath sinned the Unpardonable Sin. There is nothing left for him but a certain, fearful, looking for of Judgment which shall devour the Adversaries, Heb. 10. 26, 27.

Thirdly, That Sinner that persevereth in final Impenitency and Unbelief shall be damned, Luke 13. 3. 5. Rom. 2. 2, 3, 4, 5. Mark 16. 15, 16.

Fourthly, That Sinner whose Mind the God of this World hath blinded, that the glorious Light of the Gospel of Christ, who is the Image of God, can never shine into him, is lost, and must be damned, 2 Cor. 4. 3, 4.

Fifthly, The Sinner that maketh Religion his Cloak for Wickedness, he is an Hypocrite, and continuing so, must certainly be damned, Psal. 125. 5. Isa. 33. 14. Matth. 24. 50, 51.

Sixthly, In a Word, every Sinner that persevereth in his Wickedness, shall not inherit the Kingdom of Heaven: Know you not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the Kingdom of God: Be not deceived, neither Fornicator, nor Idolater, nor Adulterers, nor Effeminate, nor Abusers of themselves with Mankind, nor Thieves, nor Covetous, nor Drunkards, nor Revilers, nor Extortioners, shall inherit the Kingdom of God: Let no Man deceive you with vain Words; for because of these things cometh the Wrath of God upon the Children of Disobedience, 2 Cor. 6. 9, 12. Ephes. 5. 5, 6.

Quest. But what kind of Sinners shall then be Saved?

Ans.

Ans. Those of all these Kinds that the Spirit of God shall bring the Father by Jesus Christ; these, I say, and none but these can be Saved? because else the Sinners might be saved without the Father, or without the Son, or without the Spirit.

Now, in all that I have said, I have not in the least suggested, that any Sinner is rejected, because his Sins, in the Nature of them, are great; Christ Jesus came into the world to save the chief of Sinners: It is not therefore the Greatness of, but the continuance in Sins, that indeed dameth the Sinner: But I always exclude him that hath sinned against the Holy Ghost; That it is not the Greatness of Sin that excludeth the Sinner, is evident;

1. From the Words before the Text; which doth give an Account of what kind of Sinners were here saved by Grace; as namely they that were dead in Trespasses and Sins, those that walked in these Sins, according to the Course of this World, even according to the Prince of the Power of the Air, the Spirit that now worketh in the Children of Disobedience, among whom also we have all our Conversation in Times past, in the Lusts of the Flesh, fulfilling the Desires of the Flesh and of the Mind, and were by Nature the Children of Wrath even as others, Eph. 2. 2, 3.

2. It is evident also from the many Sinners that we find to be saved, by the revealed Will of God; for in the Word we have mention made of the Salvation of great Sinners, where their Names and their Sins stand recorded, for our Encouragement; as,

1. You read of Manasseh, who was an Idolater, a Witch, a Persecutor; yea, a Rebel against the Word of God, set unto him by the Prophets; and yet this Man was saved, 2 Chron. 33. 2, to 13. 2 King. 21. 16.

2. You read of Mary Magdalene, in whom was seven Devils! her Condition was dreadful; yet she was saved, Luke 8. 2.

3. You read of the Man that had a Legion of Devils in him; O how dreadful was his Condition! and yet by Grace he was saved, Mark 5. 1. 19.

4. You read of them that murdered the Lord Jesus, and how they were converted and saved, Acts 2. 23.

5. You read of the Exorcists in Acts 19. 13. how they closed with Christ, and were saved by Grace.

6. You read of Saul the Persecutor, and how he was saved by Grace, Acts 9. 15.

Object. But thou saist, I am a backslider.

Ans. So was Noah, and yet he found Grace in the Eyes of the Lord, Gen. 9. 21, 22.

2. So was Lot, and yet God saved him by Grace, Gen. 20. 36. and, 2 Pet. 2. 7, 8, 9.

3. So was David, yet by Grace he was forgiven his Iniquities, 2 Sam. 12. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13.

4. So was Solomon, and a great one too; yet by Grace his Soul was saved, Psal. 89. 28, 29, 30, 32, 33, 34.

4. So was Peter, and that a dreadful one; yet by Grace he was saved, Mat. 26. 69, 70, 72, 74. Mark 16. 7. Acts 15. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.

6. Besides, For further Encouragement, read Jer. 3. chap 33. 25, 26. chap. 51. 5. Ezek. 36. 25. Hos. 14. 1, 2, 3, 4. And stay thy self, and wonder at the Riches of the Grace of God.

Quest. But how should we find out what Sinners shall be saved? All it seems shall not: Besides, for ought can be gathered by what you have said, there is as bad saved as damned, (set him that hath sinned the unpardonable Sin aside.)

Ans. True, there are as bad saved as damned; but to this Question:

1. They that are effectually called, are saved.

2. They that believe on the Son of God shall be saved.

3. They that are sanctified and preserved in Christ, shall be saved.

4. They that take up their Cross daily, and follow Christ, shall be saved.

Take a Catalogue of them thus?

1. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, Mark 16. 16. Acts 16. 31.

2. Confess with thy Mouth the Lord Jesus, and believe in thine Heart that God hath raised him from the Dead, and thou shalt be saved, Rom. 10. 9.

3. Be justified by the Blood of Christ, and thou shalt be saved, Rom. 5. 9.

4. Be reconciled to God by the Death of his Son, and thou shalt be saved by his Life, Rom. 5. 10.

5. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call upon the Name of the Lord shall be saved, Rom. 10. 13. See some other Scriptures.

1. He shall save the humble Person, Job 22. 29.

2. Thou shalt save the afflicted People, Psal. 18. 27.

3. He shall save the Children of the Needy, Psal. 72. 4.

4. He shall save the Souls of the Needy, Psal. 72. 13.

5. O thou my God, save thy Servant that trusteth in thee, Psal. 86. 2.

6. He will fulfil the Desire of them that fear him, he will hear their cry, and will save them, Psal. 145. 19.

But Sinner, if thou wouldst indeed be Saved, beware of these four things.

1. Beware of delaying Repentance, Delays are dangerous, and damnable; they are dangerous because they harden the Heart, they are damnable because their Tendency Tendency is to make thee out-stand the Time of Grace, Psal. 95. 7. Heb. 3. to 12.

2. Beware of resting in the Word of the Kingdom, without the Spirit and Power of the Kingdom of the Gospel, for the Gospel coming in Word only, saves no Body, for the Kingdom of God or the Gospel where it comes to Salvation, is not in Word, but in Power, 1 Thes. 1. 4, 5, 6. 1 Cor. 4. 19.

3. Take heed of living in a Profession, a Life that is provoking to God: For that is the Way to make him cast thee away in his Anger.

4. Take heed that thy inside and outside be alike, and both conformable to the Word of his Grace; labour to be like the living Creatures which thou mayest read of in the Book of the Prophet Ezekiel, whose Appearance and themselves were one, Ezek. 10. 22.

In all this, I have advertised you not to be content without the Power and Spirit of God in your Hearts, for without him you partake of none of the Grace of the Father or Son, but will certainly miss of the Salvation of the Soul.

QUESTION IV.

How it appears, that they that are saved, are saved by Grace?

THIS Fourth Question requireth, that some Demonstration be given of the Truth of this Doctrine; to wit, that they that are saved, are saved by Grace.

What hath been said before, hath given some Demonstration of the Truth, wherefore first repeating in few Words, the sum of what hath been said already, I shall come to further Proof.

1. That this is true, the Scriptures testify, because God chose them to Salvation before they had done good, Rom. 9. 11.

2. Christ was ordained to be their Saviour before the Foundation of the World, Ephes. 1. 4. 1 Pet. 1. 19, 20, 21.

3. All Things that concur and go to our Salvation, were also in the same laid up in Christ to be communicated in the Dispensation of the fulness of Times to them that shall be saved, Ephes. 1. 3, 4. 2 Tim. 1. 9. Ephes. 1. 10. Chap. 3. 8, 9, 10, 11. Rom. 8. 30.

Again, As their Salvation was contrived by God, so as was said, this Salvation was undertaken by one of the three, to wit, the Son of the Father, Job. 1. 29. Isa. 48. 16.

Had there been a Contrivance in Heaven about the Salvation of Sinners on Earth, yet if the Result of that Contrivance had been, that we should be saved by our own good Deeds, it would not have been proper for an Apostle or an Angel to say, By Grace ye are saved. But now, when a Counsel is held in Eternity about the Salvation of Sinners in Time, and when the Result of that Counsel shall be, that the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, will themselves accomplish the Work of this Salvation this is Grace, this is naturally Grace, Grace that is Rich and Free. Yea, this is unthought of Grace; I will say it again, this is unthought of Grace; for who could have thought that a Saviour had been in the Bosom of the Father, or that the Father would have given him to be the Saviour of Men, since he refused to give him to be the Saviour of Angels, Heb. 2. 16, 17.

Again, Could it have been thought, that the Father would have sent his Son to be the Saviour, we should in Reason have thought also, that he would never have taken the Work wholly upon himself, especially that fearful, dreadful Soul astonishing, and amazing Part thereof! Who could once have imagined, that the Lord Jesus would have made himself so Poor, as to stand before God in the nauseous Rags of our Sins, and subject himself to the Curse and Death that was due to our Sin; but thus he did to save us by Grace.

Blessed be God, and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual Blessings in heavenly Places in Christ, according as he hath chosen us in him before the Foundation of the World, that we should be holy, and without blame before him in Love. Having predestinated us unto the Adoption of Children, by Jesus Christ, to himself, according to the good Pleasure of his Will, to the Praise of the Glory of his Grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved: In whom we have Redemption through his Blood, the forgiveness of Sins, according to the Riches of his Grace, Ephes. 1. 3, to 7.

Again, If we consider the Terms and Condition upon which this Salvation is made over to them that are saved, it will further appear, we are saved by Grace.

1. The Things that immediately concern our Justification and Salvation, they are offered, yea, given to us freely, and we are commanded to receive them by Faith: Sinner hold up thy Lap: God so loved the World that he giveth his Son, that he giveth his Righteousness, that he giveth his Spirit, and the Kingdom of Heaven, Joh. 3. 16. Rom. 5. 17. 2 Cor. 1. 21, 22. Luke 12. 32.

2. He also giveth Repentance, he giveth Faith, he giveth Everlasting Consolation, and good Hope through Grace, Acts 5. 30, 31. Phil. 1. 29. 2 Thes. 2. 16.

3. He giveth Pardon, and giveth more Grace, to keep us from sinking into Hell, then we have Sin to sink us in thither, Acts 5. 3. Prov. 3. 34. Jam. 4. 6. 1 Pet. 5. 5.

4. He hath made all these Things over to to us in a Covenant of Grace, we call it a Covenant of Grace, because 'tis set in Opposition to the Covenant of Works, and because it is establiſhed to us in the doing of Chriſt, founded in his Blood, ſtabliſhed upon the beſt Promiſes made to him, and to us by him: For all the Promiſes in him are yea, and in him Amen, to the Glory of God by us, 2 Cor. 1. 20.

But to paſs theſe, and to come to ſome other Demonſtrations for the clearing of this.

Fiſt, Let us a little conſider, what Man is upon whom the Father, the Son, and the Spirit beſtows this Grace.

By Nature he is an Enemy to God, an Enemy in his Mind: The carnal Mind is enmity to God; for it is not ſubject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be, Col. 1. 21. Rom. 8. 7.

So that the State of Man was this, he was not only over-perſuaded on a ſudden to ſin againſt God, but he drank this Sin like Water, into his very Nature, mingled it with every Faculty of his Soul, and Member of his Body; by the means of which, he became alienate from God, and an Enemy to him in his very Heart; and wilt thou, O Lord, as the Scripture hath it, And doſt thou open thine Eyes upon ſuch an one? Job 14. 3. Yea, open thy Heart, and take this Man, not into Judgment, but into Mercy with thee.

Further, Man, by his Sin, had not only given himſelf to be a Captive-Slave to the Devil; but continuing in his Sin, he made head againſt his God, ſtruck up a Covenant with Death, and made an Agreement with Hell, but for God to open his Eyes upon ſuch an one, and to take hold of him by Riches of Grace, this is amazing, Iſa. 28. 16, 17, 18.

See where God found the Jew when he came to look upon him to ſave him: *As for thy Nativity ſays God, in the Day thou waſt born, thy Navel was not cut, neither waſt thou waſhed in Water to ſupple thee; thou waſt not ſalted at all, nor ſwadled at all; none Eye pitied thee, to do any of theſe Things to thee, to have Compaſſion on thee; but thou waſt caſt out into the open Field, to the loathing of thy Perſon, in the Day that thou waſt born. And when I paſſed by thee, and ſaw thee polluted in thy Blood, I ſaid unto thee, when thou waſt in thy Blood, live yea, I ſaid unto thee when thou waſt in thy Blood; live: Now, when I paſſed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold thy Time was the Time of Love; and I ſpread my Skirt over thee, and covered thy Nakedneſs; yea, I ſwore unto thee, and entered into a Covenant with thee, ſaith the Lord God, and thou becameſt mine: Sinner ſee farther into the Chapter, Ezek. 16. All this is the Grace of God: Every Word in this Text ſmells of Grace.*

But before I paſs this, let us a little take Notice of the Carriage of God to Man, and again of Man to God in his Conversion.

Fiſt, Of God's Carriage to Man, he comes to him while he is in his Sins; in his Blood; he comes to him now, not in the Heat, and Fire of his Jealouſie; but in the cool of the Day, in unſpeakable Gentleneſs, Mercy, Pity, and Bowels of Love; not in cloathing himſelf with Vengeance; but in a Way of Entreaty, and meekly beſeecheth the Sinner to be reconciled unto him, 2 Cor. 5. 19, 20.

It is expected among Men, that he which giveth the Offence, ſhould be the fiſt in ſeeking Peace: But Sinner, betwixt God and Man it is not ſo; not that we loved God, not that we choſe God; but God was in Chriſt reconciling the World unto himſelf, not imputing their Trefpaſſes to them. God is the fiſt that ſeeketh Peace; and as I ſaid, in a Way of Entreaty, he bids his Miniſters pray you in Chriſt's ſtead; as if God did beſeech you by us, we pray you in Chriſt's ſtead, be ye reconciled to God, O Sinner, wilt thou not open! Behold; God the Father, and his Son Jeſus Chriſt, ſtand both at the Door of thy Heart, beſeeching there for Favour from thee, that thou wilt be reconciled to them, with Promiſe, if thou wilt comply, to forgive thee all thy Sins. O Grace! O amazing Grace! To ſee a Prince entreat a Beggar to receive an Alms, would be a ſtrange Sight; to ſee a King entreat the Traitor to accept of Mercy, would be a ſtranger Sight than that; but to ſee God entreat a Sinner, to hear Chriſt ſay, I ſtand at the Door and knock, with an Heart full, and an Heaven full of Grace, to beſtow upon him that opens; this is ſuch a Sight as dazzles the Eyes of Angels. What ſaiſt thou now, Sinner, Is not this God rich in Mercy? Hath not this God great Love for Sinners? Nay, further, that thou mayeſt not have any Ground to doubt that all this is but complementing, thou haſt alſo here declared, That God hath made his Chriſt to be Sin for us, who knew no Sin; that we might be made the Righteouſneſs of God in him. If God would have ſtuck at any Thing, he would have ſtuck at the Death of his Son but he delivered him up for us freely; how ſhall he not then with him, freely give us all Things? Rom. 8.

But this is not all; God doth not only beſeech thee to be reconciled to him; but farther for thy Encouragement, he hath pronounced in thy hearing, exceeding great and precious Promiſes; and hath confirmed them by an Oath, that by two immutable Things in which it is not poſſible that God ſhould lie, we might have a ſtrong Conſolation who have fled for Refuge to lay hold on the Hope ſet before us, Heb. 6. 18, 19. Iſa. 1. 18. Chap. 55. 6, 7. Jer. 51. 5.

Secondly, Let us come now to the Carriage of theſe Sinners to God, and that from the fiſt Day he beginneth to deal with their Souls, even to the Time that they are to be taken up into Heaven.

And fiſt to begin with God's ordinary dealing dealing with Sinners, when as first he ministreth Conviction to them by his Word, how strangely do they behave themselves? They love not to have their Consciences touched; they like not to ponder upon what they have been, what they are, or what is like to become of them hereafter: Such Thoughts they count unmanly, hurtful, disadvantageous; therefore they refuse to hearken, they pull away their Shoulder, they stop their Ears that they should not hear, Zech. 7. 11. And now they are for any Thing, rather than the Word: An Ale-house, a Whore-house, a Play-house, Sports, Pleasures, Sleep, the World, and what not, so they may stave off the Power of the Word of God.

2dly, If God now comes up closer to them, and begins to fasten Conviction upon the Conscience, though such Conviction be the first Step to Faith and Repentance, yea, and to Life Eternal; yet what Shifts will they have to forget them, and wear them off! Yea, although they now begin to see that they must either turn or burn; yet oftentimes, even then, they will study to wave a present Conversion: They object, they are too young to turn yet; seven Years hence time enough, when they are old, or come upon a sick-bed: O what an Enemy is Man to his own Salvation! I am persuaded that God hath visited some of you often with his Word, even twice, and thrice; and you have thrown Water as fast, as he hath by the Word cast Fire upon your Conscience, Christian, what had become of thee, if God had took thy Denial, for an Answer, and said, then will I carry the Word of Salvation to another, and he will hear it! Sinner turn, (says God,) Lord, I cannot tend it, says the Sinner: Turn or burn (says God) I will venture that, says the Sinner: Turn and be saved (says God) I cannot leave my Pleasures, says the Sinner: Sweet Sins, sweet Pleasures, sweet Delights, says the Sinner. But what Grace is it in God, thus to parley with the Sinner! O the Patience of God to a poor Sinner! What if God should now say, Then get thee to thy Sins, get thee to thy Delights, get thee to thy Pleasures, take them for thy Portion, they shall be all thy Heaven, all thy Happiness, and all thy Portion.

3dly, But God comes again, and shews the Sinner the necessity of turning now; now, or not at all; yea, and giveth the Sinner this Conviction so strongly, that he cannot put it off. But behold the Sinner has one Spark of Enmity still. If he must needs turn now, he will either turn from one Sin to another, from great ones to little ones, from many to few, or from all to one and there stop. But perhaps Convictions will not thus leave him: Why then he will turn from Prophaneness to the Law of Moses, and will dwell as long as God will let him upon his own seeming Goodness. And now observe him, he is a great stickler for legal Performance, now he will be a good Neighbour, he will pay every Man his own, will leave off his Swearing, the Alehouse, his Sports, and Carnal Delights: He will read, Pray, talk of Scripture, and be a very busie one in Religion (such as it is;) Now he will please God, and make him amends, for all the wrong he hath done him, and will feed him with Chapters and Prayers, and Promises, and Vows, and a great many more such dainty Dishes as these: Persuading himself that now he must need be fair for Heaven, and thinks besides, that he serveth God as well as any Man in England can. But all this while he is as ignorant of Christ, as the Stool he sits on, and no nearer Heaven than was the blind Pharisee, only he has got in a cleaner Way to Hell, than the rest of his Neighbours are, There is a Generation that are pure in their own Eyes, and yet are not purged from their Filthiness, Prov. 20. 12.

Might not God now cut off this Sinner, and cast him out of his Sight; might he not leave him here to his own choice, to be deluded by, and to fall in his own Righteousness, because he trusteth to it, and commits Iniquity, Ezek. 33. 13. But Grace preventing Grace preserves him, 'tis true this Turn of the Sinner, (as I said) is a turning short of Christ: But 4thly, God in this Way of the Sinner will mercifully follow him, and shew him the shortness of his Performances, the emptiness of his Duties, and the uncleanness of his Righteousness, Isa. 28. 20. Chap. 64. 6. This I speak of the Sinner, the Salvation of whose Soul is graciously intended and contrived of God, for he shall by Gospel-light be wearied out of all; he shall be made to see the Vanity of all, and that the personal Righteousness of Jesus Christ, and that only, is it which of God is ordained to save the Sinner from the due Reward of his Sins; but behold, the Sinner now, at the Sight and Sense of his own nothingness, falleth into a kind of despair; for although he hath it in him, to presume of Salvation, through the delusiveness of his own good Opinion of himself, yet he hath it not in himself, to have a good Opinion of the Grace of God, in the Righteousness of Christ: Wherefore he concludeth, That if Salvation be alone of the Grace of God through the Righteousness of Christ, and that all of a Man's own, is utterly rejected, as to the Justification of his Person with God, then he is cast away. Now the Reason of this sinking of Heart, is the Sight that God hath given him, a Sight of the uncleanness of his best Performance, the former Sight of his Immoralities, did somewhat distress him, and make him betake himself to his own good Deeds to ease his Conscience, wherefore this was his prop, prop, his stay, but behold, now God hath taken this from under him, and now he falls, wherefore his best doth also now forsake him, and flies away like the Morning dew, or a Bird, or as the Chaff that is driven with the Whirlwind, and the Smoak out of a Chimney, Hof. 9. 11. chap. 13. 3.

Besides, this Revelation of the Emptiness of his own Righteousness, brings also with it a further discovery of the Naughtiness of his heart, in its Hypocrisies, Pride, Unbelief, hardness of Heart, Deadness, and backwardness to all Gospel, and New Covenant Obedience, which sight of himself, lies like Millstones upon his Shoulders, and sinks him yet further into doubts and fears of Damnation. For, bid him now receive Christ, he answers, he cannot, he dares not: Ask him why he cannot, he will answer, He has no faith, nor hope in his Heart; tell him that grace is offered him freely, he says, But I have no heart to receive it; besides he finds not, as he thinks, any gracious disposition in his Soul, and therefore concludes, he doth not belong to God's mercy, nor hath an interest in the Blood of Christ, and therefore dares not presume to believe; wherefore, as I said, he sinks in his Heart, he dies in his Thoughts, he doubts, he despairs, and concludes, he shall never be saved.

5^{ly}, But behold, the God of all Grace leaveth him not in this distress, but comes up now to him closer than ever, he sends the Spirit of Adoption, the Blessed Comforter to him, to tell him, God is Love, and therefore not willing to reject the broken in Heart; bids him cry, and Pray for an evidence of Mercy to his Soul, and says, Peradventure you may be bid in the Day of the Lord's Anger. At this the Sinner takes some Encouragement; yet he can get no more than that which will hang upon a meer Probability, which by the next doubt that ariseth in the Heart, is blown quite away, and the Soul left again in his first plight, or worse; where he lamentably bewails his miserable state, and is tormented with a Thousand fears of perishing, for he hears not a word from Heaven, perhaps for several Weeks together: Wherefore Unbelief begins to get the mastery of him, and takes off the very Edge and Spirit of Prayer, and inclination to hear the word any longer: Yea, the Devil also claps in with these Thoughts, saying, that all your Prayers, and hearing and reading, and godly Company, which you frequent, will rise up in judgment against you at last; therefore better it is, if you must be damned, to chuse as easie a Place in Hell as you can. The Soul at this, being quite discouraged, thinks to do as it hath been taught, and with dying Thoughts, it begins to faint when it goeth to Prayer, or to hear the Word; but behold, when all hope seems to be quite gone, and the Souls concludes, I die, I perish, in comes on a sudden the Spirit of God again with some good Word of God, which the Soul never thought of before; which Word of God commands a Calm in the Soul, makes Unbelief give place, encourageth to hope and wait upon God again; perhaps it gives some little Sight of Christ to the Soul, and of his blessed Undertaking for Sinners. But behold, so soon as the Power of things do again begin to wear off the Heart, the Sinner gives Place to Unbelief, questions God's Mercy, and fears damning again; he also entertains hard Thoughts of God and Christ, and thinks former Encouragements were Fancies, Delusions, or meer Thinkso's. And why doth not God now cast the Sinner to Hell, for his thus abusing his Mercy and Grace? O no! He will have Mercy on whom he will have Mercy, and he will have Compassion on whom he will have Compassion, wherefore Goodness and Mercy shall follow him all the Days of his Life that he may dwell in the House of the Lord for ever, Psalm. 23. 6.

6^{thly}, God therefore, after all these Provocations, comes by his Spirit to the Soul again, and brings sealing Grace and Pardon to the Conscience, testifying to it, that its Sins are forgiven, and that freely, for the sake of the Blood of Christ, and now has the Sinner such a Sight of the Grace of God in Christ, as kindly breaks his Heart with Joy and Comfort. Now the Soul knows what it is to eat Promises; it also knows what it is to eat and drink the Flesh and Blood of Jesus Christ by Faith: Now it is driven by the Power of his Grace to its Knees, to thank God for Forgiveness of Sins, and for Hopes of an Inheritance amongst them that are sanctified by Faith which is in Christ: Now it hath a Calm and Sun-shine: Now He washeth his Steps with Butter, and the Rock pours him out Rivers of Oil.

7^{thly}, But after this, perhaps the Soul grows cold again; it also forgets the Grace received, and waxeth carnal, begins again to itch after the World, loseth the Life and Savour of heavenly Things, grieves the Spirit of God, wofully backslides, casteth off Closet-Duties quite, or else retains only the Formality of them, is a Reproach to Religion, grieves the Hearts of them that are awake and tender of God's Name, &c. But what will God do now? Will he take this Advantage to destroy the Sinner? No. Will he let him alone in his Apostasy? No. Will he leave him to recover himself by the Strength of his now languishing Graces? No. What then? Why he will seek this Man out till he finds him, and bring him home to himself again: For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, even I, will

I, will both search my Sheep, and seek them out, as a Shepherd seeketh out his Flock, in the Day that he is among the Sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my Sheep, and will deliver them out of all Places where they have been scattered. I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away; I will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick, Ezekiel 34. 11, 16.

Thus he dealt with the Man that went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among Thieves: And thus he dealt with the Prodigal you read of also, Luke 10. 30 to 36. Luke 15. 20.

Of God's ordinary Way of fetching the Backslider home, I will not now discourse, namely, whether he always breaketh his Bones for his Sins, as he broke David's; or whether he will all the Days of their Life, for this, leave them under Guilt and Darknes; or whether he will kill them now, that they may not be damned in the Day of Judgment, as he dealt with them at Corinth, 1 Cor. 11. 30, 31, 32. He is wise, and can tell how to imbitter Backsliding to them he loveth.

He can break their Bones, and save them; he can lay them in the lowest Pit, in Darknes, in the Deep, and save them; he can slay them as to this Life, and save them. And herein again appears wonderful Grace, that Israel is not forsaken, nor Judah of his God, though their Land be filled with Sin against the Holy One of Israel, Jer. 51. 5.

8thly, But suppose God deals not either of these Ways with the Backslider, but shines upon him again, and seals up to him the Remission of his Sins a second Time, saying, I will heal their Backslidings, and love them freely: What will the Soul do now? Surely it will walk humbly now, and holily all its Days: It will never backslide again, will it? It may happen it will not, it may happen it will; it is just as his God keeps him; for although his Sins are of himself, his Standing is of God; I say, his Standing, while he stands, and his Recovery, if he falls, are both of God. Wherefore, if God leaves him a little, the next Gap he finds, away he's gone again: My People, says God, are bent to backsliding from me. How many Times did David backslide? Yea, Jehosaphat and Peter? 2 Sam. 11. and 24. 2 Chron. 19. 1, 2, 3. and 20. 5. Mat. 26. 69, 70, 71. Gal. 2. 11, 12, 13. As also in the 3d of Jeremiah, 'tis said, But thou hast played the Harlot with many Lovers, yet return unto me, saith the Lord, Ver. 1. Here is Grace! So many Times as the Soul backslides, so many Times God brings him again, (I mean, the Soul that must be saved by Grace) he renews his Pardons, and multiplies them: Lo all these Things worketh God oftentimes with Man, Job 33. 29.

9thly, But see yet more Grace; I will speak here of Heart-wanderings, and of daily Miscarriages; I mean, of these common Infirmities that are incident to the best of Saints, and that attend them in their best Performances; not that I intend, for I cannot mention them particularly, that would be a Task impossible; but such there are, worldly Thoughts, unclean Thoughts, too low Thoughts of God, of Christ, of the Spirit, Words, Ways, and Ordinances of God, by which a Christian transgresses many Times; may I not say, sometimes many hundred Times a Day; yea, for ought I know, there are some Saints, and them not long-lived neither, that must receive, before they enter into Life, millions of Pardons from God for these; and every Pardon is an Act of Grace, through the Redemption that is in Christ's Blood. Seventy times seven Times a Day we sometimes sin against our Brother; but how many Times in that Day do we sin against God? Lord, who can understand his Errors? Cleanse thou me from my secret Sins, said David: And again, If thou, Lord, shouldest mark Iniquity, O Lord, who should stand: But there is Forgiveness with thee that thou mayest be feared, Mat. 18. 2, 22. Psalm 19. 12. and 130. 3, 4.

But to mention some of them; sometimes they question the very Being of God, or foolishly ask how he came to be at first; sometimes they question the Truth of his Word, and suspect the Harmony thereof, because their blind Hearts and dull Heads cannot reconcile it; yea, all fundamental Truths lie open sometimes to the Censure of their Unbelief and Atheism; as namely, Whether there be such an one as Christ? Such a Thing as the Day of Judgment? Or whether there will be a Heaven or Hell hereafter? And God pardons all these by his Grace. When they believe these Things, even then they sin, by not having such reverent, high, and holy Thoughts of them as they ought; they sin also by having too good Thoughts of themselves, of Sin, and the World; sometimes, let me say, often, they wink too much at known Sin, they bewail not, as they should, the Infirmities of the Flesh; the itching Inclinations which they find in their Hearts after Vanity, go too often from them unrepented of: I do not say but they repent them in the general. But all these Things, O how often doth God forgive through the Riches of his Grace?

They sin by not walking answerable to Mercies received; yea, they come short in their Thanks to God for them, even then when they most heartily acknowledge how unworthy they are of them; also how little of the strength of them is spent to his praise, who freely poureth them into their Bosomes; but from all these sins are they saved by Grace.

They

They sin in their most exact and spiritual Performance of Duties: they pray not, they hear not, they read not, they give not Alms, they come not to the Lord's Table, or other holy Appointments of God, but in, and with much coldness, deadness, wandrings of Heart, ignorance, mis-apprehensions, &c. They forget God, while they pray unto him; they forget Christ, while they are at his Table; they forget his Word, even while they are reading of it.

How often do they make Promises to God, and afterwards break them? Yea, or if they keep Promise in shew, how much doth their Heart even grudge the Performing of them? how do they shuck at the Cross? and how unwilling are they to lose that little they have for God, though all they have was given them to glorifie him withal? All these things, and a thousand times as many more dwell in the flesh of Man; and they may as soon go away from themselves, as from these Corruptions; yea, they may sooner cut the Flesh from their Bones, than these Motions of Sin from their Flesh, these will be with them in every Duty; I mean, some or other of them: Yea, as often as they look, or think, or hear, or speak. These are with them, especially when the Man intends good in so doing: When I would do Good, says Paul, Evil is present with me: And God himself complains, that every Imagination of the Thought of the Heart of Man is only evil, and that continually, Rom. 7. 21. Gen. 6. 5.

By these Things therefore we continually defile our selves, and every one of our Performances, I mean, in the Judgment of the Law, even mixing Iniquity with those Things which we hallow unto the Lord. For from within, out of the Heart of Man proceed evil Thoughts, Adulteries, Fornications, Murthers, Thefts, Covetousness, Wickedness, Deceits, Lasciviousness, an evil Eye, Blasphemy, Foolishness; all these Things come from within, and they defile the Man, Mark 7. 21, 22. Now what can deliver the Soul from these, but Grace? By Grace ye are saved.

QUESTION V.

What might be the Reason moved God to ordain, and chuse to save those that he saveth, by his Grace, rather than by any other Means?

I Come now to answer the Fifth Question: Namely, to shew why God saveth those that he saveth, by Grace, rather than by any other Means.

First, God saveth us by Grace, because since Sin is in the World, he can save us no other Way: Sin and Transgression cannot be removed but by the Grace of God, through Christ: Sin is the Transgression of the Law of God, who is perfectly just. Infinite Justice cannot be satisfied with the Recompence that Man can make; for if it could, Christ Jesus himself needed not to have died; besides, Man having sinned, and defiled himself thereby, all his Acts are the Acts of a defiled Man: Nay farther, the best of his Performances are also defiled by his Hands; their Performances therefore cannot be a Recompence for Sin. Besides, to affirm, that God saveth defiled Man for the sake of his defiled Duties; for so, I say is every Work of his Hand, Hag. 2. 14. What is it but to say, God accepteth of one sinful Act as a Recompence and Satisfaction for another? But God, even of old hath declared how he abominates imperfect Sacrifices; therefore we can by no means be saved from Sin, but by Grace, Rom. 3. 24.

Secondly, To assert, that we may be saved any other way than by the Grace of God, what is it, but to object against the Wisdom and Prudence of God, wherein he aboundeth toward them whom he hath saved by Grace? Ephes. 1. 5, 6, 7, 8. His Wisdom and Prudence found out no other way; therefore he chuseth to save us by Grace.

Thirdly, We must be saved by Grace because else it follows, that God is mutable in his Decrees, for so hath he determined before the foundation of the World; therefore he saveth us not, nor chooseth to save us by any other way than by Grace, Ephes. 1. 3, 4. chap. 3. 8, 9, 10, 11. Rom. 9. 23.

Fourthly, If a Man should be saved any other way than by Grace, God would be disappointed in his Design to cut off boasting from his Creature, but God's design to cut off boasting from his Creature, cannot be frustrate or disappointed; therefore he will save Man by no other means than by Grace; he (I say) hath designed, that no flesh should Glory in his Presence, and therefore he refuseth their Works; Not of Works, lest any Man should boast: Where is boasting then? It is excluded, by what Law? Of Works, nay, but by the Law of Faith: Ephes. 2. 8, 9. Rom. 3. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28.

Fifthly, God hath ordained, that we should be saved by Grace, that he might have the Praise and Glory of our Salvation, That we should be to the Praise of the Glory of his Grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the Beloved, Ephes. 1. 5, 6. Now God will not lose his Praise; and his Glory he will not give to another; therefore God doth choose to save Sinners but by his Grace.

Sixthly, God hath ordained, and doth choose to save us by Grace, because were there another way apparent, yet this is the way that is safest, and best secureth the Soul. Therefore it is by Faith, that

I, will both search my Sheep, and seek them out, as a Shepherd seeketh out his Flock, in the Day that he is among the Sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my Sheep, and will deliver them out of all Places where they have been scattered. I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away; I will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick, Ezekiel 34. 11, 16.

Thus he dealt with the Man that went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among Thieves: And thus he dealt with the Prodigal you read of also, Luke 10. 30 to 36. Luke 15. 20.

Of God's ordinary Way of fetching the Backslider home, I will not now discourse, namely, whether he always breaketh his Bones for his Sins, as he broke David's; or whether he will all the Days of their Life, for this, leave them under Guilt and Darkness; or whether he will kill them now, that they may not be damned in the Day of Judgment, as he dealt with them at Corinth, 1 Cor. 11. 30, 31, 32. He is wise, and can tell how to imbitter Backsliding to them he loveth.

He can break their Bones, and save them; he can lay them in the lowest Pit, in Darkness, in the Deep, and save them; he can slay them as to this Life, and save them. And herein again appears wonderful Grace, that Israel is not forsaken, nor Judah of his God, though their Land be filled with Sin against the Holy One of Israel, Jer. 51. 5.

8thly, But suppose God deals not either of these Ways with the Backslider, but shines upon him again, and seals up to him the Remission of his Sins a second Time, saying, I will heal their Backslidings, and love them freely: What will the Soul do now? Surely it will walk humbly now, and holily all its Days: It will never backslide again, will it? It may happen it will not, it may happen it will; it is just as his God keeps him; for although his Sins are of himself, his Standing is of God; I say, his Standing, while he stands, and his Recovery, if he falls, are both of God. Wherefore, if God leaves him a little, the next Gap he finds, away he's gone again: My People, says God, are bent to backsliding from me. How many Times did David backslide? Yea, Jehosaphat and Peter? 2 Sam. 11. and 24. 2 Chron. 19. 1, 2, 3. and 20. 5. Mat. 26. 69, 70, 71. Gal. 2. 11, 12, 13. As also in the 3d of Jeremiah, 'tis said, But thou hast played the Harlot with many Lovers, yet return unto me, saith the Lord, Ver. 1. Here is Grace! So many Times as the Soul backslides, so many Times God brings him again, (I mean, the Soul that must be saved by Grace) he renews his Pardons, and multiplies them: Lo all these Things worketh God oftentimes with Man, Job 33. 29.

9thly, But see yet more Grace; I will speak here of Heart-wanderings, and of daily Miscarriages; I mean, of these common Infirmities that are incident to the best of Saints, and that attend them in their best Performances; not that I intend, for I cannot mention them particularly, that would be a Task impossible; but such there are, worldly Thoughts, unclean Thoughts, too low Thoughts of God, of Christ, of the Spirit, Words, Ways, and Ordinances of God, by which a Christian transgresses many Times; may I not say, sometimes many hundred Times a Day; yea, for ought I know, there are some Saints, and them not long-lived neither, that must receive, before they enter into Life, millions of Pardons from God for these; and every Pardon is an Act of Grace, through the Redemption that is in Christ's Blood. Seventy times seven Times a Day we sometimes sin against our Brother; but how many Times in that Day do we sin against God? Lord, who can understand his Errors? Cleanse thou me from my secret Sins, said David: And again, If thou, Lord, shouldest mark Iniquity, O Lord, who should stand: But there is Forgiveness with thee that thou mayest be feared, Mat. 18. 2, 22. Psalm 19. 12. and 130. 3, 4.

But to mention some of them; sometimes they question the very Being of God, or foolishly ask how he came to be at first; sometimes they question the Truth of his Word, and suspect the Harmony thereof, because their blind Hearts and dull Heads cannot reconcile it; yea, all fundamental Truths lie open sometimes to the Censure of their Unbelief and Atheism; as namely, Whether there be such an one as Christ? Such a Thing as the Day of Judgment? Or whether there will be a Heaven or Hell hereafter? And God pardons all these by his Grace. When they believe these Things, even then they sin, by not having such reverent, high, and holy Thoughts of them as they ought; they sin also by having too good Thoughts of themselves, of Sin, and the World; sometimes, let me say, often, they wink too much at known Sin, they bewail not, as they should, the Infirmities of the Flesh; the itching Inclinations which they find in their Hearts after Vanity, go too often from them unrepented of: I do not say but they repent them in the general. But all these Things, O how often doth God forgive through the Riches of his Grace?

They sin by not walking answerable to Mercies received; yea, they come short in their Thanks to God for them, even then when they most heartily acknowledge how unworthy they are of them; also how little of the strength of them is spent to his praise, who freely poureth them into their Bosomes; but from all these sins are they saved by Grace.

They

They sin in their most exact and spiritual Performance of Duties: they pray not, they hear not, they read not, they give not Alms, they come not to the Lord's Table, or other holy Appointments of God, but in, and with much coldness, deadness, wandrings of Heart, ignorance, mis-apprehensions, &c. They forget God, while they pray unto him; they forget Christ, while they are at his Table; they forget his Word, even while they are reading of it.

How often do they make Promises to God, and afterwards break them? Yea, or if they keep Promise in shew, how much doth their Heart even grudge the Performing of them? how do they shuck at the Cross? and how unwilling are they to lose that little they have for God, though all they have was given them to glorifie him withal? All these things, and a thousand times as many more dwell in the flesh of Man; and they may as soon go away from themselves, as from these Corruptions; yea, they may sooner cut the Flesh from their Bones, than these Motions of Sin from their Flesh, these will be with them in every Duty; I mean, some or other of them: Yea, as often as they look, or think, or hear, or speak. These are with them, especially when the Man intends good in so doing: When I would do Good, says Paul, Evil is present with me: And God himself complains, that every Imagination of the Thought of the Heart of Man is only evil, and that continually, Rom. 7. 21. Gen. 6. 5.

By these Things therefore we continually defile our selves, and every one of our Performances, I mean, in the Judgment of the Law, even mixing Iniquity with those Things which we hallow unto the Lord. For from within, out of the Heart of Man proceed evil Thoughts, Adulteries, Fornications, Murthers, Thefts, Covetousness, Wickedness, Deceits, Lasciviousness, an evil Eye, Blasphemy, Foolishness; all these Things come from within, and they defile the Man, Mark 7. 21, 22. Now what can deliver the Soul from these, but Grace? By Grace ye are saved.

QUESTION V.

What might be the Reason moved God to ordain, and chuse to save those that he saveth, by his Grace, rather than by any other Means?

I Come now to answer the Fifth Question: Namely, to shew why God saveth those that he saveth, by Grace, rather than by any other Means.

First, God saveth us by Grace, because since Sin is in the World, he can save us no other Way: Sin and Transgression cannot be removed but by the Grace of God, through Christ: Sin is the Transgression of the Law of God, who is perfectly just. Infinite Justice cannot be satisfied with the Recompence that Man can make; for if it could, Christ Jesus himself needed not to have died; besides, Man having sinned, and defiled himself thereby, all his Acts are the Acts of a defiled Man: Nay farther, the best of his Performances are also defiled by his Hands; their Performances therefore cannot be a Recompence for Sin. Besides, to affirm, that God saveth defiled Man for the sake of his defiled Duties; for so, I say is every Work of his Hand, Hag. 2. 14. What is it but to say, God accepteth of one sinful Act as a Recompence and Satisfaction for another? But God, even of old hath declared how he abominates imperfect Sacrifices; therefore we can by no means be saved from Sin, but by Grace, Rom. 3. 24.

Secondly, To assert, that we may be saved any other way than by the Grace of God, what is it, but to object against the Wisdom and Prudence of God, wherein he aboundeth toward them whom he hath saved by Grace? Ephes. 1. 5, 6, 7, 8. His Wisdom and Prudence found out no other way; therefore he chuseth to save us by Grace.

Thirdly, We must be saved by Grace because else it follows, that God is mutable in his Decrees, for so hath he determined before the foundation of the World; therefore he saveth us not, nor chooseth to save us by any other way than by Grace, Ephes. 1. 3, 4. chap. 3. 8, 9, 10, 11. Rom. 9. 23.

Fourthly, If a Man should be saved any other way than by Grace, God would be disappointed in his Design to cut off boasting from his Creature, but God's design to cut off boasting from his Creature, cannot be frustrate or disappointed; therefore he will save Man by no other means than by Grace; he (I say) hath designed, that no flesh should Glory in his Presence, and therefore he refuseth their Works; Not of Works, lest any Man should boast: Where is boasting then? It is excluded, by what Law? Of Works; nay, but by the Law of Faith: Ephes. 2. 8, 9. Rom. 3. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28.

Fifthly, God hath ordained, that we should be saved by Grace, that he might have the Praise and Glory of our Salvation, That we should be to the Praise of the Glory of his Grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the Beloved, Ephes. 1. 5, 6. Now God will not lose his Praise; and his Glory he will not give to another; therefore God doth choose to save Sinners but by his Grace.

Sixthly, God hath ordained, and doth choose to save us by Grace, because were there another way apparent, yet this is the way that is safest, and best secureth the Soul. Therefore it is by Faith, that it might be by Grace, to the end the Promise (the Promise of eternal Inheritance, Hebr. 9. 14, 15, 16.) might be sure to all the Seed: No other way could have been sure: This is evident in Adam, the Jews, and I will add, the fallen Angels, who being turned over to another way than Grace, you see in short time what became of them.

To be saved by Grace, supposeth that God hath taken the Salvation of our Souls into his own Hand, and to be sure, it is safer in God's Hand than ours. Hence it is called the Salvation of the Lord, the Salvation of God and Salvation, and that of God.

When our Salvation is in God's Hand, himself is engaged to accomplish it for us.

1. Here is the Mercy of God engaged for us, Rom. 9. 15.

2. Here is the Wisdom of God engaged for us, Ephes. 1. 7, 8.

3. Here is the Power of God engaged for us, 1 Pet. 1. 3, 4, 5.

4. Here is the Justice of God engaged for us, Rom. 3. 24, 25.

5. Here is the Holiness of God engaged for us, Psal. 89. 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35.

6. Here is the Care of God engaged for us, and his watchful Eye is always over us for our good, 1 Pet. 5. 7. Isa. 27. 1, 2, 3.

What shall I say?

1. Grace can take us into Favour with God, and that when we are in our Blood, Ezek. 16. 7, 8.

2. Grace can make Children of us, though by Nature we have been Enemies to God, Rom. 9. 25, 26.

3. Grace can make them God's People, which were not God's People, 1 Pet. 2. 9, 10.

4. Grace will not trust our own Salvation in our own hands, He putteth no trust in his Saints, Job 15. 15.

5. Grace can pardon our ungodliness, justify us with Christ's Righteousness, it can put the Spirit of Jesus Christ within us, it can help us up when we are down, it can heal us when we are wounded, it can multiply Pardons, as we through Frailty multiply Transgressions: What shall I say.

1. Grace, and Mercy is everlasting.

2. 'Tis built up for ever.

3. 'Tis the Delight of God.

4. It rejoiceth against Judgment.

5. And therefore it is the most safe and secure way of Salvation, and therefore hath God chosen to save us by his Grace and Mercy rather than any other way, Isa. 43. 25. Rom. 3. 24, 25. Isa. 44. 2, 4. Psal. 37. 23. Luk. 10. 33, 34. Isa. 55. 7, 8. Psal. 136. Psal. 89. 2. Mala. 7. 18. Jam. 2. 13.

Seventhly, We must be saved by the Grace of God, or else God will not have his Will. They that are saved, are Predestinated to the adoption of Children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his Will, to the praise of the Glory of his Grace, Ephes. 1. 5, 6.

1. But if it be his Will, that Men should be saved by Grace, then to think of another way, is against the Will of God. Hence they that seek to establish their own Righteousness, are such as are accounted to stand out in defiance against, and that do not submit, to the Righteousness of God; that is, to the Righteousness that he hath willed to be, that through which alone we are saved by Grace.

2dly, If it be his Will, that Men should be saved through Grace, then it is his Will that Men should be saved by Faith in that Christ, who is the contrivance of Grace: Therefore they that have sought to be justified another way, have come short of; and perished notwithstanding that Salvation that is provided of God for Men by Grace, Rom. 9. 31, 32, 33.

3dly, God is not willing that Faith should be made void, and the promise of none effect: Therefore they of the Righteousness of the Law are excluded: For if the Inheritance be of the Law, then it is no more of Promise, but God gave it to Abraham by Promise, Rom. 4. 14. Gal. 3. 18.

4ly, God is not willing that Men should be saved by their own natural Abilities; but all the Works of the Law, which Men do to be saved by, they are the Works of Mens natural Abilities, and are therefore called, the Work of the Flesh, Rom. 4. 1. Gal. 3. 1, 2, 3. Philip. 3. 3. but, God is not willing that Men should be saved by these, therefore, no way but by his Grace.

Eighthly, We must be saved by Grace, or else the main Pillars, and Foundations of Salvation, are not only shaken but overthrown; to wit, Election, the New Covenant, Christ, and the Glory of God, but these must not be overthrown, therefore we must be saved by Grace.

1. Election, which layeth hold of Men by the Grace of God, God hath purposed that that shall stand; the Election of God standeth sure, Rom. 9. 11. 2 Tim. 2. 19. Therefore Men must be saved by vertue of the Election of Grace.

2. The Covenant of Grace, that must stand: Brethren, I speak after the Manner of Men: Though it be but a Man's Covenant, yet if it be confirmed, (as this is by the Death of the Testator, Heb. 9. 16, 17.) no Man disalloweth, or addeth thereunto; therefore Man must be saved by Vertue of a Covenant of Grace.

3. Christ who is the Gift of the Grace of God to the World, he must stand, because he is a sure Foundation, the same Yesterday, to Day, and for ever, Isa. 28. 16, 17. Heb. 13. 8. therefore Men must be saved by Grace, through the Redemption that is in Christ.

4. God's

4. God's Glory, that also must stand, to wit, the Glory of his Grace, for that he will not give to another, therefore Men must so be saved from the Wrath to come, that in their Salvation Praise may redound to the Glory of his Grace.

Ninthly, There can be but one Will, the Master in our Salvation, but that shall never be the Will of Man, but of God; therefore Man must be saved by Grace, Joh. 1. 11, 12. Rom. 9. 16.

Tenthly, There can be but one Righteousness, that shall save a Sinner, but that shall never be the Righteousness of Men, but of Christ, therefore Men must be saved by Grace, that imputeth this Righteousness to whom he will.

Eleventhly, There can be but one Covenant, by which Men must be saved, but that shall never be the Covenant of the Law, for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof: Therefore Men must be saved by the Covenant of Grace, by which God will be merciful to our Unrighteousnesses, and our Sins and Iniquities will remember no more, Heb. 8. 6, to 13.

POSTSCRIPT.

A FEW Words by Way of Use, and so I shall conclude.

The First USE.

First, Is the Salvation of the Sinner by the Grace of God? Then here you see the Reason, Why God hath not Respect to the personal Vertues of Men in the bringing of them to Glory: Did I say, personal Vertues, how can they have any to Godward, that are Enemies to him in their Minds, by wicked Works? Indeed, Men one to another seem to be, some better, some worse, by Nature, but to God they are all alike, dead in Trespasses and Sins.

We will therefore state it again, Are Men saved by Grace? Then here you may see the Reason, why Conversion runs at that Rate among the Sons of Men, that none are converted for their good Deeds, nor rejected for their bad, but even so many of both, and only so many, are brought home to God, as Grace is pleased to bring home to him.

1. None are received for their good Deeds, for then they would not be saved by Grace, but by Works, Works and Grace, as I have shewed, are in this matter opposite each to other; if he be saved by Works, then not by Grace; if by Grace, then not by Works, Rom. 11.

That none are received of God for their good Deeds, is evident, not only because he declares his Abhorrence of the Supposition of such a Thing, but hath also rejected the Persons that have at any Time attempted to present themselves to God in their own good Deeds for Justification. This I have shewed you before.

2. Men are not rejected for their bad

Deeds. This is evident by Manasseh, by the Murderers of our Lord Jesus Christ, by the Men that you read of in the nineteenth of the Acts, with many others, whose Sins were of as deep a Dye as the Sins of the worst of Men, 2 Chron. 33. 2, 13. Acts 2. 23, 41. Chap. 19. 19.

Grace respecteth, in the Salvation of a Sinner, chiefly the Purpose of God, wherefore those that it findeth under that Purpose, those it justifies freely through the Redemption that is in Jesus Christ.

At Saul's Conversion, Ananias of Damascus, brought in a most dreadful Charge against him to the Lord Jesus Christ, saying, Lord, I have heard by many, of this Man, how much Evil he hath done to thy Saints at Jerusalem, and here he hath Authority from the Chief Priests to bind all that call upon thy Name: But what said the Lord unto him? Go thy Ways for he is a chosen Vessel unto me, Acts 9. 13, 14, 15. This Man's Cruelty, and Outrage must not hinder his Conversion, because he was a chosen Vessel: Men's good Deeds are no Argument with God to convert them; Men's bad Deeds are no Argument with him to reject them. I mean them that come to Christ by the drawings of the Father; besides Christ also saith, I will in no wise cast such out, John 6. 37, 44.

Secondly, Is the Salvation of the Sinner, by the Grace of God? Then here you see the Reason, why some Sinners, that were wonderfully averse to Conversion by Nature, are yet made to stoop to the God of their Salvation: Grace takes them to do, because Grace hath designed them to this very Thing: Hence some of the Gentiles were taken from among the Rest; God granted them Repentance unto Life, because he had taken them from among the rest, both by Election and Calling, for his Name, Acts 11. 18. Chap. 15. 14. These Men, that were not a People, are thus become the People of God; these Men that were not beloved for their Works, were yet beloved by the Grace of God. I will call them my people, which were not my people, and her beloved, which was not beloved: But their minds are averse; But are they the People, on whom God doth magnifie the Riches of his Grace? Why then they shall be in the Day of his Power made willing, and be able to believe through Grace, Psal. 110. 3. Acts 18. 27. But doth the Guilt, and Burden of Sin so keep them down, that they can by no Means lift up themselves? Why God will by the exceeding greatness of that Power, by which he raised Christ from the dead, work in their Souls also by the Spirit of Grace, to cause them to believe and to walk in his Ways, Ephes. 1. 18, 19, 20.

St. Paul tells us in that Epistle of his to the Corinthians, that it was by Grace he was what he was. By the Grace of God I am what I am, says he, and his Grace which was was bestowed upon me was not in vain, 1 Cor. 15. 10. This Man kept always in his Mind a warm Remembrance, of what he was formerly by Nature, and also how he had added to his vileness by Practice; yea, moreover, he truly concluded in his own Soul, that had not God by unspeakable Grace put a stop to his wicked Proceedings, he had perished in his Wickedness: Hence he lays his Call and Conversion at the Door of the Grace of God. When it pleased God, says he, who separated me from my Mother's Womb, and called me by his Grace, to reveal his Son in me, Gal. 1. 14, 15. And hence it is again, that he saith, He obtained Grace and Apostleship: Grace, to convert his Soul, and the Gifts and Authority of an Apostle, to preach the Gospel of the Grace of God.

This blessed Man ascribes all to the Grace of God.

1. His Call, he ascribes to the Grace of God.

2. His Apostleship, he ascribes to the Grace of God.

3. And all his Labour in that Charge, he also ascribes to the Grace of God.

This Grace of God, it was that which saved from the beginning.

1. Noah found Grace in the eyes of the Lord, and was therefore converted, and preserved from the Flood, Gen. 6. 7. 8.

2. Abraham found Grace in the Sight of the Lord; and therefore he was called out of his Country, Gen. 12. 1, 2.

3. Moses found Grace in the Eyes of the Lord; and therefore he must not be blot- ted out of God's Book, Exod. 33. 12, 17.

Neither may it be imagined, that these Men, were, before Grace laid hold on them, better than other Men; for then they would not have been saved by Grace: Grace should not have had the Dominion and Glory of their Salvation. But as St. Paul says of himself, and of those that were saved by Grace in his Day, What, are we better than they? No, in no wise; for we have proved before that both Jews and Gentiles are all under Sin, Rom. 3. 9. So it may be said of these blessed ones; for indeed this Conclusion is general, and reacheth all the Children of Men, Christ Jesus alone only excepted; But,

Thirdly, Is the Salvation of the Sinner by the Grace of God? Then here you may see the Reason why one Backslider is recovered, and another left to perish in his Back- sliding.

There was Grace for Lot, but none for his Wife: Therefore she was left in her Transgression; but Lot was saved notwithstanding. There was Grace for Jacob, but none for Esau; therefore Esau was left in his Back-sliding, but Jacob found Mercy notwithstanding. There was Grace for David, but none for Saul; therefore David obtained Mercy, and Saul perished in his Backsliding. There was Grace for Peter, but none for Judas; therefore Judas is left to perish in his Backsliding, and Peter is saved from his Sin. That Text stands good to none but those that are elect by Grace. Sin shall not have Dominion over you; for you are not under the Law, but under Grace, Rom. 6. 14.

It will be said, Repentance was found in one, but not in the other: Well, but who granted and gave the one Repentance? The Lord turned, and looked upon Peter; he did not turn and look upon Judas; yea, the Lord told Peter before he fell, that he should follow him to the Kingdom of Heaven; but told him, that he should deny him first; but withal, told him also, he should not let his Heart be troubled, that is, utterly dejected; for he would go and prepare a Place for him, and come again and receive him to himself, John 13. 36, 37, 38. Chap. 14. 1, 2, 3. That is a blessed Word of God, The Steps of a good Man are ordered by the Lord, and he delighteth in his Way; though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down; for the Lord upholdeth him with his Hand, Psal. 37. 23, 24.

The Second USE.

My second USE shall be to them that are dejected in their Souls at the Sight and Sense of their Sins.

First, Are they that are saved, saved by Grace? Then they that would have their guilty Consciences quieted, they must study the Doctrine of Grace.

It is Satan's great Design, either to keep the Sinner senseless of his Sins; or if God makes him sensible of them, then to hide and keep from his Thoughts the sweet Doctrine of the Grace of God, by which alone the Conscience getteth Health and Cure: For everlasting Consolation, and good Hope is given through Grace, 2 Thes. 2. 16. How then shall the Conscience of the bur- thened Sinner be rightly quieted, if he perceiveth not the Grace of God?

Study therefore this Doctrine of the Grace of God. Suppose thou hast a Dis- ease upon thee, which is not to be cured by such or such Medicines, the first Step to thy Cure, is to know the Medicines: I am sure this is true, as to the Case in Hand; the first Step to the Cure of a wounded Con- science, is for thee to know the Grace of God, especially the Grace of God as to Justification, from the Curse, in his Sight.

A Man under a wounded Conscience, naturally leaneth to the Works of the Law, and thinks God must be pacified by some- thing that he should do, whereas the Word says, I will have Mercy, and not Sacrifice; for I am not come to call the Righteous, but Sinners to Repentance, Mat. 9. 13.

Wherefore thou must study the Grace of God. 'Tis a good Thing (saith the Apostle) that the Heart be established with Grace.

Thereby

Thereby insinuating, that there is no establishment in the Soul, that is right, but by the Knowledge of the Grace of God, Heb. 13. 9.

I said, That when a Man is wounded in his Conscience, he naturally leaneth to the Works of the Law: Wherefore thou must therefore be so much the more heedful to study the Grace of God; yea, so to study it as rightly, not only in Notion, but in thy Practices, to distinguish it from the Law. The Law was given by Moses, but Grace and Truth came by Jesus Christ, John 1. 17. Study it, I say, so as to distinguish it, and that, not only from the Law, but from all those Things that Men blasphemously call this Grace of God.

There are many Things which Men call the Grace of God, that is not.

1. The Light and Knowledge that is in every Man.

2. That natural willingness that is in Man to be saved.

3. That Power that is in Man by nature, to do something, as he thinketh, towards his own Salvation.

I name these Three, There are also many other which some will have entituled the Grace of God: But do thou remember, that the Grace of God is his good-will and great Love to Sinners in his Son Jesus Christ: by the which good will they are sanctified through the offering up of the Body of Jesus Christ, once for all, Heb. 10. 10.

Again, When thou hast smelt out this Grace of God, and canst distinguish it from that which is not, then Labour to strengthen thy Soul with the blessed Knowledge of it. Thou therefore, my Son, said Paul, be strong in the Grace that is in Christ Jesus, 2 Tim. 2. 1. Fortifie thy Judgment and Understanding; but especially Labour to get down all into thy Conscience, that that may be purged from dead Works, to serve the living God.

And to enforce this Use upon thee yet farther, consider, a Man gets yet more advantage by the Knowledge of, and by growing strong in this Grace of God.

1. It ministreth to him matter of Joy; for he that knows this Grace aright, he knows God is at peace with him, because he believeth in Jesus Christ, who by Grace tasted Death for every man; by whom also we have access by Faith into this Grace wherein we stand, and rejoyce in hope at the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 1, 2, 3. And indeed what joy, or what rejoycing is like rejoycing here? To rejoyce in hope of the Glory of God, it is to rejoyce in hope to enjoy him for ever, with that eternal Glory that is in him.

2ly, As it manifesteth matter of joy and rejoycing; so it causeth much fruitfulness in all Holiness and Godliness. For the Grace of God that bringeth Salvation, hath appeared to all men, teaching us, that denying ungodliness, and worldly Lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present World, Tit. 2. 11, 12. Yea, it so naturally tendeth this way, that it can no sooner appear to the Soul, but it causeth this blessed fruit in the Heart and Life: We our selves were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers Lusts and pleasures; living in malice and envy, hateful and hating one another; but after the Love and kindness of God our Saviour appeared. What then? Why then, he that believeth, being justified by his Grace, and expecting to be an heir according to the hope of eternal Life, is careful to maintain good works, Tit. 3. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

See also that in St. Paul's Epistle to the Colossians, We give thanks, say he, to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you since we heard of your Faith in Christ Jesus, and of the Love which ye have to all the Saints; for the hope which is laid up for you in Heaven; whereof ye heard before in the word of the Truth of the Gospel, which is come unto you, as it is also in all the World, and bringeth forth fruit, as it doth also in you, since the Day you heard it, and knew the Grace of God in Truth, Col. 1. 3, 4, 5, 6.

3ly, The Knowledge of, and Strength that comes by the Grace of God, is a sovereign Antidote against all, and all manner of Delusions that are, or may come into the World. Wherefore S. Peter exhorting the Believers to take heed that they were not carried away with the Errors of the Wicked, and so fall from their own steadfastness, adds, as their only help, this exhortation; But grow in Grace and in the Knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, 2 Pet. 3. 18.

1. Suppose it should be urged, That Man's own Righteousness saveth the Sinner; why then we have this at Hand, God hath saved us, and called us, not according to our Works, but according to his own purpose and Grace, which was given us in Christ, &c. 2 Tim. 1. 9.

2. Suppose it should be urged, That by the Doctrine of free Grace, we must not understand, God's extending free Forgiveness as far as we have, or do sin. The Answer is, But where Sin abounded, Grace hath much more abounded; that as Sin hath reigned unto Death, so Grace might reign through Righteousness, (through the Justice of God, being satisfied by his Son,) unto eternal Life, Rom. 5. 20, 21.

3. Suppose it should be urged, That this is a Doctrine tending to Looseness and Lasciviousness; the Answer is ready: What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin that Grace may abound? God forbid: How shall we that are dead to sin, live any longer therein? for the Doctrine of free Grace believed, is the most Sin-killing Doctrine in the World, Rom. 6. 1, 2.

4. Suppose Men should attempt to burden the Church of God with unnecessary Ceremonies, and impose them, even as the false Apostles urged Circumcision of old, saying, unless you do these things, ye cannot be saved. Why, the Answer is ready: Why tempt ye God to put a yoke upon the necks of the Disciples, which neither our Fathers, nor we were able to bear; but we believe that through the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, we shall be saved, even as they, Acts 15. 1, 10, 11. But not to enlarge;

5ly, This Doctrine, By Grace ye are saved, it is the only remedy against despairing Thoughts, at the Apprehension of our own Unworthiness: as,

1. Thou criest out, O cursed Man that I am, my Sins will sink me into Hell.

Answer. Hold Man, there is a God in Heaven that is the God of all Grace, 1 Pet. 5. 10. Yet thou art not the Man of all Sin; if God be the God of all Grace, then if all the Sins in the World were thine, yet the God of all Grace can pardon, or else it should seem, that Sin is stronger in a Man penitent, to damn, than the Grace of God can be to save.

2. But my Sins are of the worst sort; Blasphemy, Adultery, Covetousness, Murder, &c.

Answer, All manner of Sins and Blasphemy shall be forgiven unto Men, whosoever they shall blaspheme: Let the Wicked forsake his Way and the unrighteous man his Thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have Mercy upon him, and to our God for he will abundantly Pardon, Matt. 12. 31. Mark 3. 28. Isa. 55. 7, 8.

3. But I have a stout and Rebellious Heart, a Heart that is far from good.

Answer. Hearken to me (saith God,) ye stout hearted, that are far from Righteousness, I bring near my Righteousness; that is the Righteousness of Christ, by which stout hearted Sinners are justified, though ungodly, Isa. 46. 12, 13. Philip. 3. 7, 8. Rom. 4. 5.

4. But I have an heart as hard as any stone.

Answer. A new heart also will I give you (says God) and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh, Ezek. 36. 26.

5. But I am as blind as a Beetle, I cannot understand any thing of the Gospel.

Answer. I will bring the blind a way that they know not, I will lead them in paths that they have not known; I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight; these things will I do unto them, and not forsake them, Isa. 42. 16.

6. But my heart will not be affected with the Sufferings and Blood of Christ.

Answer, I will pour upon the house of David, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and supplication, and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him as one mourneth for only Son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his first born, Zech. 12. 10.

7. But though I see what is like to become of me if I find not Christ, yet my Spirit, while I am thus, will be running after Vanity, Foolishness, Uncleaness, Wickedness.

Answer. Then will I sprinkle clean Water upon you, and you shall be clean, from all Filthiness, and from all your Idols will I cleanse you, Ezek. 36. 25.

8. But I cannot believe in Christ.

Answer. But God hath promised to make thee believe. I will also leave in the midst of thee an afflicted and poor People, and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord: And again, There shall be a Root of Jesse, and he shall rise to reign over the Gentiles, and in him shall the Gentiles trust, Zeph. 3.

12. Rom. 15. 12.

9. But I cannot pray to God for Mercy.

Answer. But God hath graciously promised a Spirit of Prayer, yea, Many People and strong Nations, shall come to seek the Lord of Hosts in Jerusalem, and to pray before the Lord: They shall call on my Name, and I will hear them, I will say, it is my People, and they shall say, the Lord is my God; Zech. 8. 22. chap. 13. 9. chap. 12. 10.

10. But I cannot repent.

Answer. The God of our Fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew, and hanged on a Tree: Him hath God exalted with his right Hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, to give Repentance to Israel, and the Forgiveness of Sins, Acts 5. 30, 31.

Thus might I enlarge, for the Holy Bible is full of this exceeding Grace of God. O these Words, I will and You shall, they are the Language of a gracious God: They are Promises by which our God has engaged himself to do that for poor Sinners, which would else be left undone for ever.

The Third USE.

Thirdly, Are they that are saved, saved by Grace? Then let Christians labour to advance God's Grace.

1. In Heart.

2. In Life.

First in Heart, and that in this manner.

1. Believe in God's Mercy, through Jesus Christ, and so advance the Grace of God; I mean, venture heartily, venture confidently, for there is a Sufficiency in the Grace of God. Abraham magnified the Grace of God, when he considered not his own Body now dead, neither yet the Barrenness of Sarah's Womb: when he staggered not at the Promise of God through Unbelief, but but was strong in Faith, giving Glory to God, Rom. 4. 19, 20.

2. Advance it by heightning of it in thy Thoughts: Have always good and great Thoughts of the Grace of God, narrow and slender Thoughts of it are a great Disparagement to it.

And to help thee in this Matter, consider.

1. This Grace is compared to a Sea, and thou wilt cast all our Sins into the depth of the Sea, Mich. 7. 19. now a Sea can never be filled up by casting into it.

2. This Grace is compared to a Fountain, to an open Fountain: In that Day there shall be a Fountain opened to the House of David, and to the Inhabitants of Jerusalem for Sin and for Uncleanness: Now a Fountain can never be drawn dry, Zech. 13. 1.

3. The Psalmist cries out concerning the Grace and Mercy of God, it endureth for ever, he says so twenty six Times in one Psalm: Surely he saw a great deal in it, surely he was taken a great deal with it, Psal. 136.

4. St. Paul says, the God of all Grace, can do more than we ask, or think, Ephes. 3. 20.

5. Therefore as God's Word says, so thou shouldest conclude of the Grace of God.

3dly, Come boldly to the Throne of Grace by hearty Prayer, for this is the Way also to magnifie the Grace of God: This is the Apostle's Exhortation, Let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain Mercy, and find Grace to help in Time of need, Heb. 4. 16.

See here a little and wonder.

We have been all this while discoursing of the Grace of God; and now we are come to his Throne; as Job says, even to his Seat; and behold, that is a Throne of Grace. O, when a God of Grace is upon a Throne of Grace, and a poor Sinner stands by, and begs for Grace, and that in the Name of a gracious Christ, in and by the help of the Spirit of Grace, can it be otherwise, but such a Sinner must obtain Mercy and Grace to help in Time of need? But not to forget the Exhortation, Come boldly. Indeed we are apt to forget this Exhortation; we think, being we are such abominable Sinners, we should not presume to come boldly to the Throne of Grace: But yet so we are bidden to do; and to break a Commandment here, is as bad as to break it in another Place.

You may ask me, What is it to come boldly?

Answer 1. It is to come confidently, Let us draw near with a true Heart, in full Assurance of Faith, having our Hearts sprinkled from an evil Conscience, and our Bodies washed with pure Water, Heb. 10. 21, 22.

2. To come boldly, it is to come frequently, at Morning, at Noon, and at Night will I pray: We use to count them bold Beggars that come often to our Door.

3. To come boldly, it is to ask for great Things when we come: That's the bold Beggar, that will not only ask, but also choose the Thing that he asketh.

4. To come boldly, it is to ask for others as well as our selves, to beg Mercy and Grace for all the Saints of God under Heaven, as well as for our selves: Praying with all Prayer and Supplication in the Spirit for all Saints, Ephes. 6. 18.

5. To come boldly, it is to come and take no nay; thus Jacob came to the Throne of Grace. I will not let thee go except thou bless me, Gen. 32. 26.

6. To come boldly, it is to plead God's Promises with him, both in a Way of Justice and Mercy, and to take it for granted, God will give us (because he hath said it) whatever we ask in the Name of his Son.

4thly, Labour to advance God's Grace in thy Heart, by often admiring, praising and blessing God in secret for it, God expects it: He that offereth Praise glorifies me, says he: By Jesus Christ therefore let us offer the Sacrifice of Praise to God continually; that is, the Fruit of our Lips, giving Thanks in his Name, Psal. 50. 23. Heb. 13. 15.

But again Secondly, As we should advance this Grace in our Hearts, so we should do it in our Life: We should in our Conversation adorn the Doctrine of God our Saviour in all Things. 'Tis a great Word of the Apostle; Only let your Conversation be as becomes the Gospel of Christ, which is the Gospel of the Grace of God, Phil. 1. 27. God expecteth that there should in our whole Life be a blessed Tang of the Gospel; or that in our Life among Men, there should be preached to them the Grace of the Gospel of God.

The Gospel shews us, That God did wonderfully stoop and condescend for our good, and to do accordingly it is to stoop and condescend to others.

The Gospel shews us, That there was abundance of Pity, Love, Bowels, and Compassion in God towards us, and accordingly we should be full of Bowels, Pity, Love, and Compassion to others.

The Gospel shews us, That in God there is a great deal of willingness to do good to others.

The Gospel shews us, That God acteth towards us, according to his Truth and Faithfulness, and so should we be in all our Actions one to another.

By the Gospel God declares, that he forgiveth us ten thousand Talents, and we ought likewise to forgive our Brother the hundred Pence.

And now before I conclude this Use let me give you a few Heart indearing Considerations, to this so good and so happy a Work.

First, Consider, God hath saved thee, by his Grace: Christian, God hath saved thee, thee, thou hast escaped the Lyon's Mouth, thou art delivered from Wrath to come, advance the Grace that saves thee, in thy Heart and Life.

Secondly, consider, God left Millions in their Sins that Day he saved thee by his Grace: He left Millions out and pitched upon thee: It may be hundreds also, yea Thousands, were in the Day of thy Conversion, lying before him under the preaching of the Word as thou wert, yet he took thee: Considerations of this Nature affected David much, and God would have it affect thee to the advancing of his Grace in thy Life and Conversation, Psal. 78. 67, to 72. Deut. 7. 7.

Thirdly, Consider, perhaps the most Part of those that God refused, that Day that he called thee by his Grace, were as to Conversation far better than ever thou wert. I was a Blasphemer, I was a Persecutor, I was an injurious Person, but I obtained Mercy! O this should affect thy Heart, this should engage thy Heart to study to advance this Grace of God, 1 Tim. 1. 14, 15.

Fourthly, Perhaps in the Day of thy Conversion thou wast more unruly than many; Like a Bullock unaccustomed to the Yoak hardly tamed, thou wast brought home by strong Hands; thou wouldest not drive, the Lord Jesus must take thee up, lay thee upon his Shoulder, and carry thee home to his Father's House, this should engage thy Heart to study to advance the Grace of God, Luke 15. 1, to 6.

Fifthly, It may be, many did take even offence at God in his converting and saving of thee by his Grace, even as the elder Son was offended with his Father for killing the fatted Calf for his Brother, and yet that did not hinder the Grace of God, nor make God abate his Love to thy Soul: This should make thee study to advance the Grace of God in thy Heart and Life. Luke 15. 25, to 33.

Sixthly, Consider again, that God hath allowed thee but a little Time for this good Work, even the few Days that thou hast now to live, I mean for this good Work among sinful Men, and then thou shalt go to receive that Wages that Grace also will give thee for thy Work to eternal Joy.

Seventhly, Let this also have some Place upon thy Heart, every Man shews Subjection to the God that he serveth: Yea, though that God be none other but the Devil and his Lusts, and wilt not thou, O Man! saved of the Lord! Be much more subject to the Father of Spirits and Love: Alas! They are pursuing their own Damnation, yet they sport it, and dance all the Way they go. They serve that God with Chearfulness and Delight, who at last will plunge them into the everlasting Gulf of Death, and torment them in the fiery Flames of Hell: But thy God is the God of Salvation, and to God thy Lord belongs the Issues from Death: Wilt not thou serve him with Joyfulness in the Enjoyment of all good Things? Even him by whom thou art to be made blessed for ever.

Object. This is that which kills me, honour God I cannot; my Heart is so wretched, so spiritless, and desperately wicked I cannot.

Answer. What dost thou mean by cannot?

1. If thou meanest, thou hast no Strength to do it, thou hast said an untruth, for stronger is he that is in us, than he that is in the World, Joh. 4. 4.

1. If thou meanest thou hast no Will, then thou art out also, for every Christian (in his right Mind) is a willing Man, and the Day of God's Power hath made him so, Psal. 110. 3.

3. If thou meanest, that thou wantest Wisdom, that's thine own Fault: If any Man lacks Wisdom, let him ask it of God, who giveth to all Men liberally, and upbraideth not. Jam. 1. 5.

Object. I cannot do Things as I would.

Answer. No more could the best of the Saints of old, to will is present with me, said Paul, but how to perform that which is good I find not: And again, the Flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the Flesh, and these are contrary the one to the other, so that ye cannot do the Things that ye would, Rom. 7. 18. Gal. 5. 17.

And here indeed lies a great discovery of this Truth, ye are saved by Grace, for the Children of God, whilst here, notwithstanding their Conversion to God, and Salvation by Christ through Grace, are so infirm and weak, by Reason of a Body of Death that yet remaineth in them, that should even the Sin that is in the best of their Performances be laid to their Charge, according to the Tenour of a Covenant of Works, they would find it impossible ever to get into Glory. But why do I talk thus? 'Tis impossible that those that are saved by Grace should have their Infirmities laid to their Charge as afore, for they are not under the Law, they are included by the Grace of God, in the Death and Blood of the Son of God, who ever liveth to make Intercession for them at the right Hand of God. Whose Intercession is so prevalent with the Father, as to take away the Iniquity of our holy Things from his Sight, and to present us holy and unreprieveable, and unblameable in his Sight: To him, by Christ Jesus, through the help of the blessed Spirit of Grace, be given, Praise and Thanks, and Glory, and Dominion, by all his Saints, now and for ever, Amen.

CHRISTIAN BEHAVIOUR:

Being the FRUITS of

TRUE CHRISTIANITY.

TEACHING

Husbands, Wives, Parents, Children, Masters, Servants, &c. how to walk so as to please God.

With a Word of Direction to all Backsliders.

The Epistle to the READER.

COURTEOUS READER,

HAVING formerly writ some small Matter, touching the Doctrine of Faith; as Justification by Grace, through the Faith of Christ's Blood, &c. I do here as the Second to that Doctrine, present thee with a few Lines, touching Good Works, that I might, as at first I shewed thee the Good and Glory of the one, so now shew thee the Beauty and Excellency of the other: For though we are justified, (Rom. 3. 24. &c.) freely by Grace through Christ before God; yet we are justified before Men (Jam. 2. 18.) by our Works: Nay, a Life of Holiness flowing from Faith in us that are saved by Grace, it doth justify that Grace before the World, that justifies us before God, 2 Cor. 6. 1, 3. 2 Cor. 9. 12, 13. 1 Pet. 2. 11, 12.

I have not here only in general treated of this Doctrine of good Works; but particularly (after some Discourse about Works flowing from Faith, and what makes it truly and gospelly good,) I discourse of them as we stand under our several Relations, in this World among Men.

As first, The Duty of the Master of a Family: Of the Husband to his Wife; and of hers to him: Of the Duty of Parents to their Children; and of Children to their Parents: Of Masters also to their Servants; and of the Servant again to his Master: with a brief Touch upon good Neighbourhood; and a Discovery of Covetousness, Pride, and Uncleaness, which are great Obstructions to a truly Gospel-Conversation.

I know there are many that have treated of good Works in large and learned Discourses; but I doubt all have not so Gospelised their Discourses as becomes them, and as the Doctrine of the Grace of God calleth for.

However, I thought it my Duty to add this Discourse to all that are past; and that for these Reasons:

First, To take away those Aspersions that the Adversaries cast upon our Doctrine, (Rom. 3. 8. as also in the Days of Paul,) that because we preach Justification without the Works of the Law: therefore they pretend we plead for looseness of Life, whose Damnation is just.

Secondly, Because, though there be much Discourse about Works in general, yet a particular Discourse of them, as before is touched, is too much neglected; and by this Means every one too much left at Uncertainties (as from them) of their several Works under their particular Relations; which I think is one Reason of that Disorder in Families and Places, where God's People live, to their Shame, and the Dishonour of God.

Thirdly, Because these few Books that do particularly treat thus of good Works, are, I think, now so scarce, or so big, that but few have them, and few buy them, if they may be had, especially our new Converts, for whose Sakes principally this short Discourse is intended; and indeed, this is one Reason of my Brevity, that the Price might neither be burthensome, nor the Reading long and tedious: Multitude of Words drown the Memory; and an Exhortation in few Words, may yet be so full, that the Reader may find that in the side of a Sheet, which some are forced to hunt for in a whole Quire, &c. The Lord teach us this Wisdom.

Fourthly, I have written this Book, to shew that I bear a Fellow-Testimony and Witness (with all that know God,) of the Operation that Grace hath, and will have in the Heart that hath savingly received it.

Lastly, I have thus written, because it is amiable and pleasant to God, when Christians keep their Rank, Relation and Station, doing all as become their Quality and Calling. When Christians stand every one in their Places, and do the Work of their Relations, then they are like the Flowers in the Garden, that stand and grow where the Gardiner hath planted them, and then they shall both honour the Garden in which they are planted, and the Gardiner that hath so disposed of them. From the Hyssop in the Wall, to the Cedar in Lebanon, their Fruit is their Glory. And seeing the Stock into which we are planted, is the fruitfulness Stock; the Sap conveyed thereout, the fruitfulness Sap, and the Dresser of our Souls the wisest Husbandman, John 15. 1. How contrary to Nature, to Example, and Expectation, should we be, if we should not be rich in good Works.

Wherefore take heed of being painted Fire, wherein is no warmth; and painted Flowers, which retain no Smell; and of being painted Trees, whereon is no Fruit. Whoso boasteth himself of a false Gift, is like Clouds and Wind without Rain, Prov. 25. 14.

FAREWELL.

The Lord be with thy Spirit, that thou mayest profit for Time to come.

J. BUNYAN.

TIT. III. 7, 8.

That being justified by his Grace, we should be made Heirs according to the Hope of eternal Life.

This is a faithful Saying; and these Things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God, might be careful to maintain good Works. These Things are good and profitable unto Men.

I shall not at this Time discourse of every Particular at large, included in these Words; but shall briefly fall upon those Things that I judge most necessary for the People of God: Neither shall I need to take any great Preamble to the Words for their Explication; they themselves being plain, and without that Ambiguity that calleth for such a Thing; the general Scope being this, That they which have believed in God, should be careful to maintain good Works.

But yet to prosecute what I intend, with what clearness I may, I shall in a Word or two make Way for what is to be the Main of this Book.

[This is a faithful Saying;] This; Which? Why that which goeth before; namely, That being justified by Grace, we should be made Heirs according to the Hope of Eternal Life. This is a faithful Saying; and these Things I will that thou affirm constantly.

Why so?

Why, That they which have believed in God, might be careful to maintain good Works.

The Meaning is, that the Way to provoke others to good Works, is constantly (in the Evidence and Demonstration of the Spirit) to shew them the certainty of their being by Grace made Heirs of Eternal Life.

From this Scripture therefore I do gather these Things observable:

First, That good Works do flow from Faith. Yea,

Secondly, That every one that believeth should be careful that their Works be good.

Thirdly, That every Believer should not only be careful that their Works be good, and for the present do them, but should also be careful to maintain them; that is, they should carefully study to keep in a constant Course of good Works.

And lastly, That the best Way to provoke both our selves and others to this Work; it is to be often affirming to others, the Doctrine of Justification by Grace, and to believe it our Selves. This is a faithful Saying: And these Things I will, saith Paul, that thou affirm constantly, that they who have believed in God, might be careful to maintain good Works.

I begin with the First.

That good Works do flow from Faith.

This is evident divers Ways: First from the Impossibility of their flowing from any other Thing; they must either flow from Faith, or not at all: For whatsoever is not of Faith, is Sin. And again, Without Faith it is impossible to please him, (Rom. 14. 23. Heb. 11. 6.) Every Man by Nature, before Faith, is an evil and a corrupt Tree: And a corrupt Tree cannot bring forth good Fruit. Do Men gather Grapes of Thorns, or Figs of

of Thistles? Mat. 7. 16, 17. Now a Man is made good by Faith, and by that bringeth forth the Fruits that are acceptable to God, Heb. 11. 4. Col. 1. 4, 5, 6.

Wherefore, Sinners, before Faith, are compared to the Wilderness, whose Fruits are Briars and Thorns; and whose Hearts are the Habitation of Dragons; that is, of Devils, Isa. 35. 6, 7, Heb. 6. 7, 8.

And hence again it is, that they are said to be Godless, Christless, Spiritless, Faithless, Hopeless; without the Covenant of Grace, without Strength; Enemies in their Minds by wicked Works, and possessed by the Spirit of Wickedness, as a Castle by a Conqueror, Ephes. 2. 12. Jude 19. 2 Thes. 3. 2. Col. 1. 21. Luk. 11. 21.

Now these things being thus, it is impossible that all the Men under Heaven, that are Unconverted, should be able to bring forth one Work rightly good; even as impossible, as for all the Briars and Thorns under Heaven, to bring forth one Cluster of Grapes, or one Bunch of Figs; for indeed they want the Qualification. A Thorn bringeth not forth Figs, because it wanteth the Nature of the Fig-tree; and so doth the Bramble the Nature of the Vine. Good Works must come from a good Heart.

Now, this the Unbeliever wanteth, because he wanteth Faith; for 'tis that which purifieth the Heart, Luke 6. 45. Acts 15. 9. Good Works must come from Love to the Lord Jesus; but this the Unbeliever wanteth also: Because he wanteth Faith: For Faith worketh by Love, and by that Means doth good, as Gal. 5. 6.

And hence again it is, that though the carnal Man doth never so much which he calleth good, yet it is rejected, slighted, and turned as Dirt in his Face again; his Prayers are abominable, his plowing is Sin, and all his Righteousness as menstruous Rags, Prov. 15. 8. Prov. 21. 4. Isa. 64. 6. Thus you see that without Faith there are no good Works.

Now then to shew you that they flow from Faith: And that,

For that Faith is a Principle of Life, by which a Christian lives (Gal 2. 20, 21.) a Principle of Motion, by which it walks towards Heaven in the Way of Holiness, Rom. 4. 12. 2 Cor. 5. 7. It is also a Principle of Strength, by which the Soul opposeth its Lust, the Devil, and this World, and overcomes them; This is your Victory, even your Faith, 1 Joh. 5. 4, 5. Faith in the Heart of a Christian, is like the Salt that was thrown into the corrupt Fountain, that made the naughty Waters good, and the barren Land fruitful, 2 Kings 2. 19, 20, 21. Faith, when it is wrought in the Heart, is like Leaven hid in the Meal, Mat. 13. 33. or like perfume that lighteth upon stinking Leather, turning the Smell of the Leather into the Savour of the Perfume; it being then planted in the Heart, and having its natural Inclination to Holiness. Hence it is that there followeth an Alteration of the Life and Conversation, and so bringeth forth Fruit accordingly. A good Man out of the good Treasure of his Heart bringeth forth good Fruit, Luke 6. 45. Which Treasure, I say, is this Faith (Jam. 2. 5. 1 Pet. 1. 7.) And therefore it is that Faith is called, The Faith according to Godliness, and the most holy Faith, Tit. 1. 1. Jude 20.

2. Good Works must needs flow from Faith, or no way; because that alone carrieth in it an Argument sufficiently prevalent to win upon our Natures, to make them comply with Holiness.

Faith sheweth us that God loveth us, that he forgiveth us our Sins; that he accounteth us for his Children, having freely justified us through the Blood of his Son, Rom. 3. 24, 25. Ch. 4. Heb. 11. 13. 1 Pet. 1. 8.

Faith receiveth the Promise, imbraceth it, and comforteth the Soul unspeakably with it.

Faith is so great an Artist in arguing and reasoning with the Soul, that it will bring over the hardest Heart that it hath to deal with: It will bring to my Remembrance at once, both my Vileness against God, and his Goodness towards me; it will shew me, that though I deserve not to breath in the Air, yet that God will have me an Heir of Glory.

Now, there is no Argument greater than this: This will make a Man run through ten thousand Difficulties, to answer God (though he never can) for the Grace he hath bestowed on him.

Further, Faith will shew me how distinguishingly this Love of God hath set it self upon me: It will shew me, that though Esau was Jacob's Brother, yet he loved Jacob, Mal. 1. 2. That though there were thousands more besides me that were as good as me, yet I must be the Man that must be Chosen.

Now this, I say, is a marvellous Argument, and unspeakably prevaieth with the Sinner, as faith the Apostle, For the Love of Christ constrains us, because we thus judge, That if one died for all, then are all dead; and that he died for all, that they which live (that is, by Faith) should not henceforth live unto themselves, but to him that died for them, and rose again, 2 Cor. 5. 14. Love (saith the Wise-man) is strong as Death: Many waters cannot quench Love, neither can the floods drown it. If a Man would give all the Substance of his House for Love, it would be utterly contemned, Song. 8. 6, 7.

Oh! when the broken, dying, condemned Soul, can but see, by Faith, the Love of a tender hearted Saviour; and also see what he underwent to deliver it from under that Death, Guilt and Hell, that now it feels and fears; which also it knoweth it hath most justly and highly deserved:

Then bless the Lord, O my Soul; and what shall I render unto the Lord for all his Benefits? Psal. 103. 1, 2, 3. Psal. 116. 1, to 14.

Thus is Faith a prevailing Argument to the Sinner, whereby he is fetched off from what he was, and constrained to bend and yield to what before he neither would nor could, 1 Cor. 2. 14. Rom. 8. 7.

And hence it is, that Gospel Obedience is called the Obedience of Faith, as well as Obedience to the Faith, Rom. 16. 26. For it must be by the Faith of Christ in my Heart, that I submit to the Word of Faith in the Bible, otherwise all is to no Profit! (as saith the Apostle) The Word preached did not profit them, it not being mixed with Faith in them that heard it, (Heb. 4. 2.) For Faith alone can see the Reality of what the Gospel saith; and so I say, argue over the Heart to the embracing of it.

4. Faith is such a Grace, as will represent to the Soul all things in their proper Colours: It doth not (as doth Unbelief and Ignorance) shew us all things out of order, putting Darkness for Light, and Bitter for Sweet, but will set every thing in its proper Place before our eyes; God and Christ shall be with it, the chiefest Good, the most lovely and amiable, a Heavenly Life shall be of greater Esteem, and more desireable, than all the Treasures of Egypt! Righteousness and Sanctification will be the thing after which it will most vehemently press; because it seeth not only Death and Damnation, as the Fruits of Sin, but Sin also in it self, distinct from the Punishment belonging to it, a detestable, horrible, and odious thing, Heb. 11. 25, 26, 27. Phil. 3. 7, to 12. Rom. 12. 9.

By Faith we see this World hath no abiding in it for us, nor no Satisfaction if it were otherwise, Heb. 11. 15, 16. and 13. 14. 1 Cor. 7. 29, 30, 31. And hence it is, that the People of God have groaned to be gone from hence, into a state that is both sinless, and temptationless: And hence, it is again, that they have run through so many Trials, Afflictions and Adversities, even because of that Love to Holiness of Life that Faith being in their Hearts did prompt them to, by shewing them the Worth and Durableness of that which was good, and the Irksomeness and Evil of all things else, 2 Cor. 5. 1, to 8. Heb. 11. 33, to 39.

5. Faith layeth hold of that which is able to help the Soul to bring forth Good Works: It layeth hold of, and engageth the Strength of Christ, and by that overcometh that which oppresseth. I can do all things through Christ that strengtheneth me, Phil. 4. 13.

In a word, a Life of Holiness and God-

liness in this World, doth so inseparably follow a Principle of Faith, that it is both monstrous and ridiculous to suppose the contrary. What, shall not he that hath Life have Motion? Gal. 2. 20.

He that hath by Faith received the Spirit of Holiness, shall not he be holy? Gal. 3. 2. And he that is called to Glory and Virtue, shall not he add to his Faith Virtue? 2 Pet. 1. 4, 5. We are by Faith made good Trees, and shall not we bring forth good Fruit? Luke. 6. 43. They that believe are created in Christ Jesus unto good Works; and God hath, before the World was, ordained that we should walk in them; and shall both our second Creation, and God's Fore-ordination be made frustrate? Ephes. 1. 4. and 2. 10. Besides, the Children of Faith are the Children of Light, and of the Day, 1 Tim. 5. 5. Lights upon a Hill, and Candles on a Candlestick, and shall not they shine? They are the Salt of the Earth, Shall not they be seasoning? Mat. 5. 13, 14.

The Believer is the alone Man, by whom God sheweth to the World, the Power of his Grace, the Operation of his Peoples Faith, &c. The Unbelievers read indeed of the Power of Grace, of the Faith, Hope, Love, Joy, Peace, and Sanctification of the Heart of the Christian, but they feel nothing of that Sin-killing Operation that is in these Things, these are to them as a Story of Rome or Spain: Wherefore, to shew them in others, what they find not in themselves, God worketh Faith, Hope, Love, &c. in a Generation that shall serve him; and by them they shall see what they cannot find in themselves; and by this Means they shall be convinced, that though Sin, and the Pleasures of this Life, be sweet to them, yet there is a People otherwise minded, even such a People, that do indeed see the Glory of that which others read of, and from that Light, take Pleasure in those things which they are most averse unto. To this, I say, are Christians called; herein is God glorified; hereby are Sinners convinced; and by this is the World condemned; 1 Thes. 4. 7. 1 Pet. 2. 12. and 3. 1. Heb. 11. 7.

Object. But if Faith doth so naturally cause good Works, what then is the Reason that God's People find it so hard a Matter to be faithful in good Works?

I answer. First, God's People are fruitful in good Works according to the Proportion of their Faith; if they be slender in good Works, it is because they are weak in Faith. Little Faith is like small Candles, or weak Fire, which tho' they shine and have Heat, yet but dim Shining and small Heat, when compared with bigger Candles and greater Fire. The Reason why Sardis had some in it whose Works were not perfect before God; it was, because they did not hold hold fast, by Faith, the Word that they have formerly heard, and received, Rev. 3. 1, 2, 3.

Secondly, There may be a great Mistake in our judging of our own Fruitfulness: The Soul that indeed is candid and right at Heart, is taught by Grace to judge itself, though fruitful, yet barren upon two Accounts: 1. When it compareth its Life to the Mercy bestowed upon it: For when a Soul doth indeed consider the Greatness and Riches of the Mercy bestowed upon it, then it must needs cry out, O wretched man that I am! Rom. 7. 24. for it seeth itself wonderfully to fall short of a Conversation becoming one who hath received so great a Benefit. 2. It may also judge itself barren, because it falleth so far short of that it would attain unto; it cannot do the thing that it would, Gal. 5. 17. 3. The Heart of a Christian is naturally very barren; upon which, though the Seed of Grace (that is the fruitfulness of all Seeds) be sown, yet the Heart is naturally subject to bring forth Weeds, Mat. 15. 19.

Now, to have a good Crop from such Ground, doth argue the Fruitfulness of the Seed: Wherefore I conclude upon these three Things.

First, That the Seed of Faith is a very fruitful Seed, in that it will be fruitful in so barren a Soil.

Secondly, That Faith is not beholding to the Heart, but the Heart to it, for all its Fruitfulness.

Thirdly, That therefore the Way to be a more fruitful Christian, it is to be stronger in believing.

Now for the second thing, to wit,

That every one that Believeth, should be careful that their Works be good. This followeth from what went just before; to wit, That the Heart of a Christian is a Heart subject to bring forth Weeds.

There is Flesh as well as Spirit in the best of Saints: And as the Spirit of Grace will be always putting forth something that is good, so the Flesh will be putting forth continually that which is evil.

For the Flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the Flesh, Gal. 5. 17. Now this considered, is the Cause why you find so often in the Scriptures so many Items and Cautions to the Christians to look to their Lives and Conversations; As, Keep thy Heart with all Diligence, Prov. 4. 23. Watch ye, stand fast in the Faith; quit you like Men, be strong, 1 Cor. 16. 13. Be not deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a Man soweth, that shall he reap: For he that soweth to the Flesh, shall of the Flesh reap Corruption: But he that soweth to the Spirit, shall of the Spirit reap Life everlasting, Gal. 6. 7, 8.

All Works are not good that seem to be so: It is one thing for a Man's ways to be right in his own eye, and another for them to be right in God's. Often that which is in high estimation with Men, is abomination in the sight of God, Prov. 30. 12. Luk. 16. 15.

Seeing Corruption is not yet out of our Natures, there is a Proneness in us to build upon the right Foundation, Wood, Hay, and Stubble, instead of Gold and Silver, and precious Stones, 1 Cor. 3. 11, to 16. How was both David the King, Nathan the Prophet, and Uzza the Priest deceived, touching good Works? 1 Chron. 17. 1, 2, 3, 4. 1 Chron. 13. 9, 10, 11. Peter also, in both his defending his Master in the garden, and in dissuading of him from his Sufferings, though both out of Love and Affection to his Master, was deceived touching good Works, Matth. 16. 22, 23. John 18. 9, 10.

Many have miscarried both as to Doctrine, Worship, and the Prosecution of each.

1. For Doctrine, Christ tells the Jews that they taught for the Doctrines of God the Doctrines and Traditions of Men, Mat. 15. Mark 7. As also saith the Apostle, They teach things they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake, Tit. 1. 11.

2. Also, touching Worship, we find how frequently Men have mistaken, both for Time, Place, and Matter, with which they worshipped.

1. For Time. It hath been that which Man hath devised, not which God hath commanded, 1 Kin. 12. 32. They change the Ordinances, saith Isaiab, Isa. 24. 5. They change God's Judgments into Wickedness, saith Ezekiel, Ezek. 5, 6.

2. For Place. When they should have worshipped at Jerusalem, they worshipped at Bethel, at Gilgal and Dan, in Gardens, under Poplars and Elms, 1 Kings 12. 26, to 30. Hos. 4. 13, 14, 15. Isa. 65. 2, 3, 4, 5.

3. For the Matter with which they worshipped. Instead of bringing according to the Commandment, they brought the Lame, the Torn, and the Sick; they would sanctifie themselves in Gardens, with Swines-flesh and Mice, when they should have done it at Jerusalem, with Bullocks and Lambs, Isa. 66. 17.

Again, Touching Mens prosecuting their Zeal for their Worship, &c. that they do think right: How hot hath it been, though with no Reason at all. Nebuchadnezzar will have his fiery Furnace, and Darius his Lions Den for Nonconformists, Dan. 3. 6. and 6, 7, &c.

Again, They have Persecuted Men even to strange Cities; have laid Traps and Snares in every Corner, to entrap and to entangle their Words; and if they could at any time but kill the Persons that dissented from them, they would think they did God good Service, Acts 26. 11. Luke 11. 53, 54. John 16. 1, 2. But what need need we look so far from Home, (were it not that I would seal my Sayings with Truth) we need look no farther to affirm this Position, than to the Papists and their Companions: How many have they in all Ages hanged, burned, starved, drowned, wracked, dismembred, and murdered, both openly and in Secret? And all under a Pretence of God, his Worship, and good Works.

Thus you see how wise Men and Fools, Saints and Sinners, Christians and Heathens, have erred in the Business of good Works; wherefore every one should be careful to see that their Works be good.

Now, Then to prevent, if God will, Miscarriage in this Matter, I shall propound unto you what it is for a Work to be rightly good.

First, A good Work must have the Word for its Authority.

Secondly, It must, as afore was said, flow from Faith.

Thirdly, It must be both rightly timed and rightly placed.

Fourthly, It must be done willingly, cheerfully, &c.

First, It must have the Word for its Authority.

Zeal without Knowledge, is like a mettled Horse without Eyes, or like a Sword in a mad Man's Hand, and there is no Knowledge where there is not the Word; For if they reject the Word of the Lord, and act not by that, what Wisdom is in them? saith the Prophet, Jer. 8. 9. Isa. 8. 20. Wherefore see thou have the Word for what thou dost.

Secondly, As there must be the Word for the authorizing of what thou dost, so there must be Faith, from which it must flow, as I shewed you before: For, Whatever is not of Faith, is Sin; and without Faith it is impossible to please God. Now, I say, without the Word there is no Faith, Rom. 10. 17. As without Faith there is no Good, let Mens Pretences be what they will.

Thirdly, As it must have these two aforementioned, so also it must have, 1st, right Time, and 2dly, right Place.

1st, It must be rightly timed: Every Work is not to be done at the same Time; every Time not being convenient for such a Work: There is a Time for all Things, and every Thing is beautiful in its Time, Eccles. 3. 11. There is a Time to pray, a Time to hear, a Time to read, a Time to confer, a Time to meditate, a Time to do, and a Time to suffer. Now, to be hearing when we should be preaching and doing, that is, yielding active Obedience to that under which we ought to suffer, is not good. Christ was very wary, that both his Doings and Sufferings were rightly timed, John 2. 3, 4. and 13. 1, 2. And herein we ought to follow his Steps. To be at Plough in the Field, when I should be hearing the Word, is not good; and to be talking abroad when I should be instructing my Family at home, is as bad. Who so keepeth the Commandment, shall feel no evil Thing: And a wise Man's Heart discerneth both Time and Judgment, Eccles. 8. 5. Good Things, mis-timed, are fruitless, unprofitable, and vain.

2dly, As Things must have their right Time, so they must be rightly placed; for the mis-placing of any Work, is as bad as the mis-timing of it.

When I say Things, if good, must be rightly placed, I mean, we should not give to any Work more than the Word of God alloweth it, neither should we give it less: Mint, Anise, and Cummin, are not so weighty Matters as Faith and the Love of God; as in Mat. 22. 23. For a Pastor to be exercising the Office of a Deacon, instead of the Office of a Pastor, it is mis-placing of Works, Acts 6. 2. For Martha to be making outward Provision for Christ, when she should have sat at his Feet to hear his Word, was the mis-placing a Work; and for her Sister to have done it at her Request, (though the Thing in it self was good) had been her Sin also, Luke 10. 39, to 43.

Now to prevent the misplacing of good Works.

First, They misplace them that set them in the room of Christ, Rom. 10. 1, 2, 3.

Secondly, They also misplace them that make them Co-partners with him, Rom. 9. 31, 32. Acts 15. 1.

This is, setting up our Posts by God's Posts; and Man's Righteousness by the Righteousness of Christ, Ezek. 43. 7, 8. These are said to be Teachers of the Law, not knowing what they say, nor whereof they affirm, 1 Tim. 1. 7.

Thirdly, They also misplace Works, who ascribe to a Work of less Moment, that Honour that belongs to a Work more noble; and such are,

1. Those who count the ceremonial Part of an Ordinance, as good as the Doctrine and Signification of it.

2. Such who account the Dictates and Impulses of a meer natural Conscience, as good, as high, and divine, as the Leadings and Movings of the Spirit of Christ.

3. Those also who count it enough to do something of what God hath commanded, (and that something, possibly the least) instead of all, and the Things more necessary and weighty.

4. They also much misplace them, who count Things indifferent, as high as those that are absolutely necessary in the Worship of God.

5. But the grosser, who places Mens Traditions above them.

6. And they greatest of all, who put Bitter for Sweet, and Darknes for Light.

All

All these Things we must shun and avoid, as Things absolutely obstructive to good Works.

Wherefore, touching good Works; Obedience is better than Sacrifice; that is, to do Things according to the Word of God, is better than to do them according to my Fancy and Conceit, 1 Sam. 15. 22. Wherefore let all Things be done decently and in order, 1 Cor. 14. 40.

Again, As good Works should be ordered and qualified, as before is touched, so they should be done from the Heart willingly, chearfully, with Simplicity and Charity, according to what a Man hath, 1 John 5. 3. 2 Cor. 9. 7. Rom. 12. 8. Col. 3. 20. 1 Cor. 10. 14. 1 Cor. 8. 12.

Farther, There are three Things that a Man should have in his Eye in every Work he doth.

1. The Honour of God, 1 Cor. 6. 20.
2. The Edification of his Neighbour, 1 Cor. 14. 26.

3. The Expediency or Inexpediency of what I am to do, 1 Cor. 6. 12. And always observe it, that the Honour of God is wrapped up in the Edification of thy Neighbour; and the Edification of thy Neighbour, in the Expediency of what thou doest.

Again, If thou wouldest walk to the Edification of thy Neighbour, and so to God's Honour, in the midst of thy Observers; Beware,

1. That thou in thy Words and Carriages, dost so demean thy self, that Christ in his precious Benefits may be with clearness spoken forth by thee; and take heed, that thou dost not enter into doubtful Points with them that are weak, Rom. 15. 1. but deal chiefly, lovingly, and wisely, with their Consciences about those Matters that tend to their Establishment in the Faith of their Justification, and Deliverance from Death and Hell, Comfort the feeble-minded, confirm the Weak, 1 Thes. 5. 14.

2. If thou be stronger than thy Brother, take heed that thou do not that before him, that may offend his weak Conscience: I mean, Things that in themselves may be lawful; All that is lawful is not expedient; all that is lawful edifieth not, 1 Cor. 6. 12. Wherefore here is thy Wisdom and Love, that thou in some Things deny thy self for thy Brother's sake, 1 Cor. 8. 13. I will not eat meat while the World standeth, saith Paul, lest I make my Brother to offend. Wherefore have this Faith to thy self before God, Rom. 14. 22. But if thou walk otherwise, know, thou walkest not charitably, and so not to Edification, and so not to Christ's Honour, but dost sin against Christ, and wound thy weak Brother, for whom Christ died, Rom. 14. 15. 1 Cor. 8. 12.

But I say, all this while keep thy Eye upon the Word; take heed of going contrary to that under any Pretence whatever;

for without the Word, there is nothing to God's Glory, nor thy Brother's Edification. Wherefore, walk wisely in a perfect Way, Psal. 101. 2, 3.

Having thus, in few Words shewed you what are Works rightly good, I beseech you in the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ, that you put your selves into a conscientious Performance of them, that you may, while you live here, be Vessels of Honour, and fit for the Master's Use, and prepared to every good Work, 1 Tim. 6. 17. Study to approve Things that are excellent, that you may be sincere, and without Offence until the Day of Christ, Phil. 1. 10. Covet Communion with God; covet earnestly the best Gifts, 1 Cor. 12. 31. Ah! we that are redeemed from among Men, Rev. 14. 4. and that rejoice in Hope of the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 2. we that look, I say, for the blessed Hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God, and our Saviour Jesus Christ, Tit. 2. 13. What manner of Persons should we be in all holy Conversation and Godliness, 2 Pet. 3. 11.

To conclude, for your further Edification, take a plain Rehearsal of your several general Duties and Works, to which God engageth you in his Word, according to your Places, Callings, and Relations in this World:

Touching the Master of a Family.

IF thou have under thee a Family, then thou art to consider the several Relations thou standest under; and art to know, that thou in each of them hast a Work to do for God, and that he expecteth thy faithful Deportment under every one of them. As,

First, Then in General, He that is the Master of a Family, he hath, as under that Relation, a Work to do for God; to wit, The right governing of his own Family. And his Work is twofold.

1. Touching the spiritual State thereof.
2. Touching the outward.

As touching the spiritual State of his Family; He ought to be very diligent and circumspect, doing his utmost Endeavour, both to encrease Faith where it is begun, and to begin it where it is not.

Wherefore to this End, he ought diligently and frequently to lay before his Household such Things of God, out of his Word, as are suitable for each particular: And let no Man question his Rule in the Word of God for such a Practice; for if the Thing it self were but of good Report, and a Thing tending to civil Honesty, it is within the Compass and Bounds even of Nature it self, and ought to be done; much more Things of a higher Nature: Besides, the Apostle exhorts us to, Whatsoever Things are honest, whatsoever Things are true, just, and of good Report, to think of them, that is, to be mindful to do them, Phil.

thee, thou hast escaped the Lyon's Mouth, thou art delivered from Wrath to come, advance the Grace that saves thee, in thy Heart and Life.

Secondly, consider, God left Millions in their Sins that Day he saved thee by his Grace: He left Millions out and pitched upon thee: It may be hundreds also, yea Thousands, were in the Day of thy Conversion, lying before him under the preaching of the Word as thou wert, yet he took thee: Considerations of this Nature affected David much, and God would have it affect thee to the advancing of his Grace in thy Life and Conversation, Psal. 78. 67, to 72. Deut. 7. 7.

Thirdly, Consider, perhaps the most Part of those that God refused, that Day that he called thee by his Grace, were as to Conversation far better than ever thou wert. I was a Blasphemer, I was a Persecutor, I was an injurious Person, but I obtained Mercy! O this should affect thy Heart, this should engage thy Heart to study to advance this Grace of God, 1 Tim. 1. 14, 15.

Fourthly, Perhaps in the Day of thy Conversion thou wast more unruly than many; Like a Bullock unaccustomed to the Yoak hardly tamed, thou wast brought home by strong Hands; thou wouldest not drive, the Lord Jesus must take thee up, lay thee upon his Shoulder, and carry thee home to his Father's House, this should engage thy Heart to study to advance the Grace of God, Luke 15. 1, to 6.

Fifthly, It may be, many did take even offence at God in his converting and saving of thee by his Grace, even as the elder Son was offended with his Father for killing the fatted Calf for his Brother, and yet that did not hinder the Grace of God, nor make God abate his Love to thy Soul: This should make thee study to advance the Grace of God in thy Heart and Life. Luke 15. 25, to 33.

Sixthly, Consider again, that God hath allowed thee but a little Time for this good Work, even the few Days that thou hast now to live, I mean for this good Work among sinful Men, and then thou shalt go to receive that Wages that Grace also will give thee for thy Work to eternal Joy.

Seventhly, Let this also have some Place upon thy Heart, every Man shews Subjection to the God that he serveth: Yea, though that God be none other but the Devil and his Lusts, and wilt not thou, O Man! saved of the Lord! Be much more subject to the Father of Spirits and Love: Alas! They are pursuing their own Damnation, yet they sport it, and dance all the Way they go. They serve that God with Chearfulness and Delight, who at last will plunge them into the everlasting Gulf of Death, and torment them in the fiery Flames of Hell: But thy God is the God of Salvation, and to God thy Lord belongs the Issues from Death: Wilt not thou serve him with Joyfulness in the Enjoyment of all good Things? Even him by whom thou art to be made blessed for ever.

Object. This is that which kills me, honour God I cannot; my Heart is so wretched, so spiritless, and desperately wicked I cannot.

Answer. What dost thou mean by cannot?

1. If thou meanest, thou hast no Strength to do it, thou hast said an untruth, for stronger is he that is in us, than he that is in the World, Joh. 4. 4.

1. If thou meanest thou hast no Will, then thou art out also, for every Christian (in his right Mind) is a willing Man, and the Day of God's Power hath made him so, Psal. 110. 3.

3. If thou meanest, that thou wantest Wisdom, that's thine own Fault: If any Man lacks Wisdom, let him ask it of God, who giveth to all Men liberally, and upbraideth not. Jam. 1. 5.

Object. I cannot do Things as I would.

Answer. No more could the best of the Saints of old, to will is present with me, said Paul, but how to perform that which is good I find not: And again, the Flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the Flesh, and these are contrary the one to the other, so that ye cannot do the Things that ye would, Rom. 7. 18. Gal. 5. 17.

And here indeed lies a great discovery of this Truth, ye are saved by Grace, for the Children of God, whilst here, notwithstanding their Conversion to God, and Salvation by Christ through Grace, are so infirm and weak, by Reason of a Body of Death that yet remaineth in them, that should even the Sin that is in the best of their Performances be laid to their Charge, according to the Tenour of a Covenant of Works, they would find it impossible ever to get into Glory. But why do I talk thus? 'Tis impossible that those that are saved by Grace should have their Infirmities laid to their Charge as afore, for they are not under the Law, they are included by the Grace of God, in the Death and Blood of the Son of God, who ever liveth to make Intercession for them at the right Hand of God. Whose Intercession is so prevalent with the Father, as to take away the Iniquity of our holy Things from his Sight, and to present us holy and unreprieveable, and unblameable in his Sight: To him, by Christ Jesus, through the help of the blessed Spirit of Grace, be given, Praise and Thanks, and Glory, and Dominion, by all his Saints, now and for ever, Amen.

CHRISTIAN BEHAVIOUR:

Being the FRUITS of

TRUE CHRISTIANITY.

TEACHING

Husbands, Wives, Parents, Children, Masters, Servants, &c. how to walk so as to please God.

With a Word of Direction to all Backsliders.

The Epistle to the READER.

COURTEOUS READER,

HAVING formerly writ some small Matter, touching the Doctrine of Faith; as Justification by Grace, through the Faith of Christ's Blood, &c. I do here as the Second to that Doctrine, present thee with a few Lines, touching Good Works, that I might, as at first I shewed thee the Good and Glory of the one, so now shew thee the Beauty and Excellency of the other: For though we are justified, (Rom. 3. 24. &c.) freely by Grace through Christ before God; yet we are justified before Men (Jam. 2. 18.) by our Works: Nay, a Life of Holiness flowing from Faith in us that are saved by Grace, it doth justify that Grace before the World, that justifies us before God, 2 Cor. 6. 1, 3. 2 Cor. 9. 12, 13. 1 Pet. 2. 11, 12.

I have not here only in general treated of this Doctrine of good Works; but particularly (after some Discourse about Works flowing from Faith, and what makes it truly and gospelly good,) I discourse of them as we stand under our several Relations, in this World among Men.

As first, The Duty of the Master of a Family: Of the Husband to his Wife; and of hers to him: Of the Duty of Parents to their Children; and of Children to their Parents: Of Masters also to their Servants; and of the Servant again to his Master: with a brief Touch upon good Neighbourhood; and a Discovery of Covetousness, Pride, and Uncleaness, which are great Obstructions to a truly Gospel-Conversation.

I know there are many that have treated of good Works in large and learned Discourses; but I doubt all have not so Gospelised their Discourses as becomes them, and as the Doctrine of the Grace of God calleth for.

However, I thought it my Duty to add this Discourse to all that are past; and that for these Reasons:

First, To take away those Aspersions that the Adversaries cast upon our Doctrine, (Rom. 3. 8. as also in the Days of Paul,) that because we preach Justification without the Works of the Law: therefore they pretend we plead for looseness of Life, whose Damnation is just.

Secondly, Because, though there be much Discourse about Works in general, yet a particular Discourse of them, as before is touched, is too much neglected; and by this Means every one too much left at Uncertainties (as from them) of their several Works under their particular Relations; which I think is one Reason of that Disorder in Families and Places, where God's People live, to their Shame, and the Dishonour of God.

Thirdly, Because these few Books that do particularly treat thus of good Works, are, I think, now so scarce, or so big, that but few have them, and few buy them, if they may be had, especially our new Converts, for whose Sakes principally this short Discourse is intended; and indeed, this is one Reason of my Brevity, that the Price might neither be burthensome, nor the Reading long and tedious: Multitude of Words drown the Memory; and an Exhortation in few Words, may yet be so full, that the Reader may find that in the side of a Sheet, which some are forced to hunt for in a whole Quire, &c. The Lord teach us this Wisdom.

Fourthly, I have written this Book, to shew that I bear a Fellow-Testimony and Witness (with all that know God,) of the Operation that Grace hath, and will have in the Heart that hath savingly received it.

Lastly, I have thus written, because it is amiable and pleasant to God, when Christians keep their Rank, Relation and Station, doing all as become their Quality and Calling. When Christians stand every one in their Places, and do the Work of their Relations, then they are like the Flowers in the Garden, that stand and grow where the Gardiner hath planted them, and then they shall both honour the Garden in which they are planted, and the Gardiner that hath so disposed of them. From the Hyssop in the Wall, to the Cedar in Lebanon, their Fruit is their Glory. And seeing the Stock into which we are planted, is the fruitfulest Stock; the Sap conveyed thereout, the fruitfulest Sap, and the Dresser of our Souls the wisest Husbandman, John 15. 1. How contrary to Nature, to Example, and Expectation, should we be, if we should not be rich in good Works.

Wherefore take heed of being painted Fire, wherein is no warmth; and painted Flowers, which retain no Smell; and of being painted Trees, whereon is no Fruit. Whoso boasteth himself of a false Gift, is like Clouds and Wind without Rain, Prov. 25. 14.

FAREWELL.

The Lord be with thy Spirit, that thou mayest profit for Time to come.

J. BUNYAN.

TIT. III. 7, 8.

That being justified by his Grace, we should be made Heirs according to the Hope of eternal Life.

This is a faithful Saying; and these Things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God, might be careful to maintain good Works. These Things are good and profitable unto Men.

I shall not at this Time discourse of every Particular at large, included in these Words; but shall briefly fall upon those Things that I judge most necessary for the People of God: Neither shall I need to take any great Preamble to the Words for their Explication; they themselves being plain, and without that Ambiguity that calleth for such a Thing; the general Scope being this, That they which have believed in God, should be careful to maintain good Works.

But yet to prosecute what I intend, with what clearness I may, I shall in a Word or two make Way for what is to be the Main of this Book.

[This is a faithful Saying;] This; Which? Why that which goeth before; namely, That being justified by Grace, we should be made Heirs according to the Hope of Eternal Life. This is a faithful Saying; and these Things I will that thou affirm constantly.

Why so?

Why, That they which have believed in God, might be careful to maintain good Works.

The Meaning is, that the Way to provoke others to good Works, is constantly (in the Evidence and Demonstration of the Spirit) to shew them the certainty of their being by Grace made Heirs of Eternal Life.

From this Scripture therefore I do gather these Things observable:

First, That good Works do flow from Faith. Yea,

Secondly, That every one that believeth should be careful that their Works be good.

Thirdly, That every Believer should not only be careful that their Works be good, and for the present do them, but should also be careful to maintain them; that is, they should carefully study to keep in a constant Course of good Works.

And lastly, That the best Way to provoke both our selves and others to this Work; it is to be often affirming to others, the Doctrine of Justification by Grace, and to believe it our Selves. This is a faithful Saying: And these Things I will, saith Paul, that thou affirm constantly, that they who have believed in God, might be careful to maintain good Works.

I begin with the First.

That good Works do flow from Faith.

This is evident divers Ways: First from the Impossibility of their flowing from any other Thing; they must either flow from Faith, or not at all: For whatsoever is not of Faith, is Sin. And again, Without Faith it is impossible to please him, (Rom. 14. 23. Heb. 11. 6.) Every Man by Nature, before Faith, is an evil and a corrupt Tree: And a corrupt Tree cannot bring forth good Fruit. Do Men gather Grapes of Thorns, or Figs

of Thistles? Mat. 7. 16, 17. Now a Man is made good by Faith, and by that bringeth forth the Fruits that are acceptable to God, Heb. 11. 4. Col. 1. 4, 5, 6.

Wherefore, Sinners, before Faith, are compared to the Wilderness, whose Fruits are Briars and Thorns; and whose Hearts are the Habitation of Dragons; that is, of Devils, Isa. 35, 6, 7, Heb. 6, 7, 8.

And hence again it is, that they are said to be Godless, Christless, Spiritless, Faithless, Hopeless; without the Covenant of Grace, without Strength; Enemies in their Minds by wicked Works, and possessed by the Spirit of Wickedness, as a Castle by a Conqueror, Ephes. 2. 12. Jude 19. 2 Thes. 3. 2. Col. 1. 21. Luk. 11. 21.

Now these things being thus, it is impossible that all the Men under Heaven, that are Unconverted, should be able to bring forth one Work rightly good; even as impossible, as for all the Briars and Thorns under Heaven, to bring forth one Cluster of Grapes, or one Bunch of Figs; for indeed they want the Qualification. A Thorn bringeth not forth Figs, because it wanteth the Nature of the Fig-tree; and so doth the Bramble the Nature of the Vine. Good Works must come from a good Heart.

Now, this the Unbeliever wanteth, because he wanteth Faith; for 'tis that which purifieth the Heart, Luke 6. 45. Acts 15. 9. Good Works must come from Love to the Lord Jesus; but this the Unbeliever wanteth also: Because he wanteth Faith: For Faith worketh by Love, and by that Means doth good, as Gal. 5. 6.

And hence again it is, that though the carnal Man doth never so much which he calleth good, yet it is rejected, slighted, and turned as Dirt in his Face again; his Prayers are abominable, his plowing is Sin, and all his Righteousness as menstruous Rags, Prov. 15. 8. Prov. 21. 4. Isa. 64. 6. Thus you see that without Faith there are no good Works.

Now then to shew you that they flow from Faith: And that,

For that Faith is a Principle of Life, by which a Christian lives (Gal 2. 20, 21.) a Principle of Motion, by which it walks towards Heaven in the Way of Holiness, Rom. 4. 12. 2 Cor. 5. 7. It is also a Principle of Strength, by which the Soul opposeth its Lust, the Devil, and this World, and overcomes them; This is your Victory, even your Faith, 1 Joh. 5. 4, 5. Faith in the Heart of a Christian, is like the Salt that was thrown into the corrupt Fountain, that made the naughty Waters good, and the barren Land fruitful, 2 Kings 2. 19, 20, 21. Faith, when it is wrought in the Heart, is like Leaven hid in the Meal, Mat. 13. 33. or like perfume that lighteth upon stinking Leather, turning the Smell of the Leather into the Savour of the Perfume; it being then planted in the Heart, and having its natural Inclination to Holiness. Hence it is that there followeth an Alteration of the Life and Conversation, and so bringeth forth Fruit accordingly. A good Man out of the good Treasure of his Heart bringeth forth good Fruit, Luke 6. 45. Which Treasure, I say, is this Faith (Jam. 2. 5. 1 Pet. 1. 7.) And therefore it is that Faith is called, The Faith according to Godliness, and the most holy Faith, Tit. 1. 1. Jude 20.

2. Good Works must needs flow from Faith, or no way; because that alone carrieth in it an Argument sufficiently prevalent to win upon our Natures, to make them comply with Holiness.

Faith sheweth us that God loveth us, that he forgiveth us our Sins; that he accounteth us for his Children, having freely justified us through the Blood of his Son, Rom. 3. 24, 25. Ch. 4. Heb. 11. 13. 1 Pet. 1. 8.

Faith receiveth the Promise, imbraceth it, and comforteth the Soul unspeakably with it.

Faith is so great an Artist in arguing and reasoning with the Soul, that it will bring over the hardest Heart that it hath to deal with: It will bring to my Remembrance at once, both my Vileness against God, and his Goodness towards me; it will shew me, that though I deserve not to breath in the Air, yet that God will have me an Heir of Glory.

Now, there is no Argument greater than this: This will make a Man run through ten thousand Difficulties, to answer God (though he never can) for the Grace he hath bestowed on him.

Further, Faith will shew me how distinguishingly this Love of God hath set it self upon me: It will shew me, that though Esau was Jacob's Brother, yet he loved Jacob, Mal. 1, 2. That though there were thousands more besides me that were as good as me, yet I must be the Man that must be Chosen.

Now this, I say, is a marvellous Argument, and unspeakably prevaleth with the Sinner, as faith the Apostle, For the Love of Christ constrains us, because we thus judge, That if one died for all, then are all dead; and that he died for all, that they which live (that is, by Faith) should not henceforth live unto themselves, but to him that died for them, and rose again, 2 Cor. 5. 14. Love (saith the Wise-man) is strong as Death: Many waters cannot quench Love, neither can the floods drown it. If a Man would give all the Substance of his House for Love, it would be utterly condemned, Song. 8. 6, 7.

Oh! when the broken, dying, condemned Soul, can but see, by Faith, the Love of a tender hearted Saviour; and also see what he underwent to deliver it from under that Death, Guilt and Hell, that now it feels and fears; which also it knoweth it hath most justly and highly deserved:

Then bless the Lord, O my Soul; and what shall I render unto the Lord for all his Benefits? Psal. 103. 1, 2, 3. Psal. 116. 1, to 14.

Thus is Faith a prevailing Argument to the Sinner, whereby he is fetched off from what he was, and constrained to bend and yield to what before he neither would nor could, 1 Cor. 2. 14. Rom. 8. 7.

And hence it is, that Gospel Obedience is called the Obedience of Faith, as well as Obedience to the Faith, Rom. 16. 26. For it must be by the Faith of Christ in my Heart, that I submit to the Word of Faith in the Bible, otherwise all is to no Profit! (as saith the Apostle) The Word preached did not profit them, it not being mixed with Faith in them that heard it, (Heb. 4. 2.) For Faith alone can see the Reality of what the Gospel saith; and so I say, argue over the Heart to the embracing of it.

4. Faith is such a Grace, as will represent to the Soul all things in their proper Colours: It doth not (as doth Unbelief and Ignorance) shew us all things out of order, putting Darknes for Light, and Bitter for Sweet, but will set every thing in its proper Place before our eyes; God and Christ shall be with it, the chiefest Good, the most lovely and amiable, a Heavenly Life shall be of greater Esteem, and more desirable, than all the Treasures of Egypt! Righteousness and Sanctification will be the thing after which it will most vehemently press; because it seeth not only Death and Damnation, as the Fruits of Sin, but Sin also in it self, distinct from the Punishment belonging to it, a detestable, horrible, and odious thing, Heb. 11. 25, 26, 27. Phil. 3. 7, to 12. Rom. 12. 9.

By Faith we see this World hath no abiding in it for us, nor no Satisfaction if it were otherwise, Heb. 11. 15, 16. and 13. 14. 1 Cor. 7. 29, 30, 31. And hence it is, that the People of God have groaned to be gone from hence, into a state that is both sinless, and temptationless: And hence, it is again, that they have run through so many Trials, Afflictions and Adversities, even because of that Love to Holiness of Life that Faith being in their Hearts did prompt them to, by shewing them the Worth and Durableness of that which was good, and the Irksomeness and Evil of all things else, 2 Cor. 5. 1, to 8. Heb. 11. 33, to 39.

5. Faith layeth hold of that which is able to help the Soul to bring forth Good Works: It layeth hold of, and engageth the Strength of Christ, and by that overcometh that which oppresseth. I can do all things through Christ that strengtheneth me, Phil. 4. 13.

liness in this World, doth so inseparably follow a Principle of Faith, that it is both monstrous and ridiculous to suppose the contrary. What, shall not he that hath Life have Motion? Gal. 2. 20.

He that hath by Faith received the Spirit of Holiness, shall not he be holy? Gal. 3. 2. And he that is called to Glory and Virtue, shall not he add to his Faith Virtue? 2 Pet. 1. 4, 5. We are by Faith made good Trees, and shall not we bring forth good Fruit? Luke. 6. 43. They that believe are created in Christ Jesus unto good Works; and God hath, before the World was, ordained that we should walk in them; and shall both our second Creation, and God's Fore-ordination be made frustrate? Ephes. 1. 4. and 2. 10. Besides, the Children of Faith are the Children of Light, and of the Day, 1 Tim. 5. 5. Lights upon a Hill, and Candles on a Candlestick, and shall not they shine? They are the Salt of the Earth, Shall not they be seasoning? Mat. 5. 13, 14.

The Believer is the alone Man, by whom God sheweth to the World, the Power of his Grace, the Operation of his Peoples Faith, &c. The Unbelievers read indeed of the Power of Grace, of the Faith, Hope, Love, Joy, Peace, and Sanctification of the Heart of the Christian, but they feel nothing of that Sin-killing Operation that is in these Things, these are to them as a Story of Rome or Spain: Wherefore, to shew them in others, what they find not in themselves, God worketh Faith, Hope, Love, &c. in a Generation that shall serve him; and by them they shall see what they cannot find in themselves; and by this Means they shall be convinced, that though Sin, and the Pleasures of this Life, be sweet to them, yet there is a People otherwise minded, even such a People, that do indeed see the Glory of that which others read of, and from that Light, take Pleasure in those things which they are most averse unto. To this, I say, are Christians called; herein is God glorified; hereby are Sinners convinced; and by this is the World condemned; 1 Thes. 4. 7. 1 Pet. 2. 12. and 3. 1. Hebr. 11. 7.

Object. But if Faith doth so naturally cause good Works, what then is the Reason that God's People find it so hard a Matter to be faithful in good Works?

I answer. First, God's People are fruitful in good Works according to the Proportion of their Faith; if they be slender in good Works, it is because they are weak in Faith. Little Faith is like small Candles, or weak Fire, which tho' they shine and have Heat, yet but dim Shining and small Heat, when compared with bigger Candles and greater Fire. The Reason why Sardis had some in it whose Works were not perfect before God; it was, because they did not hold hold fast, by Faith, the Word that they have formerly heard, and received, Rev. 3. 1, 2, 3.

Secondly, There may be a great Mistake in our judging of our own Fruitfulness: The Soul that indeed is candid and right at Heart, is taught by Grace to judge itself, though fruitful, yet barren upon two Accounts: 1. When it compareth its Life to the Mercy bestowed upon it: For when a Soul doth indeed consider the Greatness and Riches of the Mercy bestowed upon it, then it must needs cry out, O wretched man that I am! Rom. 7. 24. for it seeth itself wonderfully to fall short of a Conversation becoming one who hath received so great a Benefit. 2. It may also judge itself barren, because it falleth so far short of that it would attain unto; it cannot do the thing that it would, Gal. 5. 17. 3. The Heart of a Christian is naturally very barren; upon which, though the Seed of Grace (that is the fruitfulness of all Seeds) be sown, yet the Heart is naturally subject to bring forth Weeds, Mat. 15. 19.

Now, to have a good Crop from such Ground, doth argue the Fruitfulness of the Seed: Wherefore I conclude upon these three Things.

First, That the Seed of Faith is a very fruitful Seed, in that it will be fruitful in so barren a Soil.

Secondly, That Faith is not beholding to the Heart, but the Heart to it, for all its Fruitfulness.

Thirdly, That therefore the Way to be a more fruitful Christian, it is to be stronger in believing.

Now for the second thing, to wit,

That every one that Believeth, should be careful that their Works be good. This followeth from what went just before; to wit, That the Heart of a Christian is a Heart subject to bring forth Weeds.

There is Flesh as well as Spirit in the best of Saints: And as the Spirit of Grace will be always putting forth something that is good, so the Flesh will be putting forth continually that which is evil.

For the Flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the Flesh, Gal. 5. 17. Now this considered, is the Cause why you find so often in the Scriptures so many Items and Cautions to the Christians to look to their Lives and Conversations; As, Keep thy Heart with all Diligence, Prov. 4. 23. Watch ye, stand fast in the Faith; quit you like Men, be strong, 1 Cor. 16. 13. Be not deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a Man soweth, that shall he reap: For he that soweth to the Flesh, shall of the Flesh reap Corruption: But he that soweth to the Spirit, shall of the Spirit reap Life everlasting, Gal. 6. 7, 8.

All Works are not good that seem to be so: It is one thing for a Man's ways to be right in his own eye, and another for them to be right in God's. Often that which is in high estimation with Men, is abomination in the sight of God, Prov. 30. 12. Luk. 16. 15.

Seeing Corruption is not yet out of our Natures, there is a Proneness in us to build upon the right Foundation, Wood, Hay, and Stubble, instead of Gold and Silver, and precious Stones, 1 Cor. 3. 11, to 16. How was both David the King, Nathan the Prophet, and Uzza the Priest deceived, touching good Works? 1 Chron. 17. 1, 2, 3, 4. 1 Chron. 13. 9, 10, 11. Peter also, in both his defending his Master in the garden, and in dissuading of him from his sufferings, though both out of Love and Affection to his Master, was deceived touching good Works, Matth. 16. 22, 23. John 18. 9, 10.

Many have miscarried both as to Doctrine, Worship, and the Prosecution of each.

1. For Doctrine, Christ tells the Jews that they taught for the Doctrines of God the Doctrines and Traditions of Men, Mat. 15. Mark 7. As also saith the Apostle, They teach things they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake, Tit. 1. 11.

2. Also, touching Worship, we find how frequently Men have mistaken, both for Time, Place, and Matter, with which they worshipped.

1. For Time. It hath been that which Man hath devised, not which God hath commanded, 1 Kin. 12. 32. They change the Ordinances, saith Isaiab, Isa. 24. 5. They change God's Judgments into Wickedness, saith Ezekiel, Ezek. 5, 6.

2. For Place. When they should have worshipped at Jerusalem, they worshipped at Bethel, at Gilgal and Dan, in Gardens, under Poplars and Elms, 1 Kings 12. 26, to 30. Hos. 4. 13, 14, 15. Isa. 65. 2, 3, 4, 5.

3. For the Matter with which they worshipped. Instead of bringing according to the Commandment, they brought the Lame, the Torn, and the Sick; they would sanctifie themselves in Gardens, with Swines-flesh and Mice, when they should have done it at Jerusalem, with Bullocks and Lambs, Isa. 66. 17.

Again, Touching Mens prosecuting their Zeal for their Worship, &c. that they do think right: How hot hath it been, though with no Reason at all. Nebuchadnezzar will have his fiery Furnace, and Darius his Lions Den for Nonconformists, Dan. 3. 6. and 6, 7, &c.

Again, They have Persecuted Men even to strange Cities; have laid Traps and Snares in every Corner, to entrap and to entangle their Words; and if they could at any time but kill the Persons that dissented from them, they would think they did God good Service, Acts 26. 11. Luke 11. 53, 54. John 16. 1, 2. But what need need we look so far from Home, (were it not that I would seal my Sayings with Truth) we need look no farther to affirm this Position, than to the Papists and their Companions: How many have they in all Ages hanged, burned, starved, drowned, wracked, dismembred, and murdered, both openly and in Secret? And all under a Pretence of God, his Worship, and good Works.

Thus you see how wise Men and Fools, Saints and Sinners, Christians and Heathens, have erred in the Business of good Works; wherefore every one should be careful to see that their Works be good.

Now, Then to prevent, if God will, Miscarriage in this Matter, I shall propound unto you what it is for a Work to be rightly good.

First, A good Work must have the Word for its Authority.

Secondly, It must, as afore was said, flow from Faith.

Thirdly, It must be both rightly timed and rightly placed.

Fourthly, It must be done willingly, cheerfully, &c.

First, It must have the Word for its Authority.

Zeal without Knowledge, is like a mettled Horse without Eyes, or like a Sword in a mad Man's Hand, and there is no Knowledge where there is not the Word; For if they reject the Word of the Lord, and act not by that, what Wisdom is in them? saith the Prophet, Jer. 8. 9. Isa. 8. 20. Wherefore see thou have the Word for what thou dost.

Secondly, As there must be the Word for the authorizing of what thou dost, so there must be Faith, from which it must flow, as I shewed you before: For, Whatever is not of Faith, is Sin; and without Faith it is impossible to please God. Now, I say, without the Word there is no Faith, Rom. 10. 17. As without Faith there is no Good, let Mens Pretences be what they will.

Thirdly, As it must have these two afore-named, so also it must have, 1st, right Time, and 2dly, right Place.

1st, It must be rightly timed: Every Work is not to be done at the same Time; every Time not being convenient for such a Work: There is a Time for all Things, and every Thing is beautiful in its Time, Eccles. 3. 11. There is a Time to pray, a Time to hear, a Time to read, a Time to confer, a Time to meditate, a Time to do, and a Time to suffer. Now, to be hearing when we should be preaching and doing, that is, yielding active Obedience to that under which we ought to suffer, is not good. Christ was very wary, that both his Doings and Sufferings were rightly timed, John 2. 3, 4. and 13. 1, 2. And herein we ought to follow his Steps. To be at Plough in the Field, when I should be hearing the Word, is not good; and to be talking abroad when I should be instructing my Family at home, is as bad. Who so keepeth the Commandment, shall feel no evil Thing: And a wise Man's Heart discerneth both Time and Judgment, Eccles. 8. 5. Good Things, mis-timed, are fruitless, unprofitable, and vain.

2dly, As Things must have their right Time, so they must be rightly placed; for the mis-placing of any Work, is as bad as the mis-timing of it.

When I say Things, if good, must be rightly placed, I mean, we should not give to any Work more than the Word of God alloweth it, neither should we give it less: Mint, Anise, and Cummin, are not so weighty Matters as Faith and the Love of God; as in Mat. 22. 23. For a Pastor to be exercising the Office of a Deacon, instead of the Office of a Pastor, it is mis-placing of Works, Acts 6. 2. For Martha to be making outward Provision for Christ, when she should have sat at his Feet to hear his Word, was the mis-placing a Work; and for her Sister to have done it at her Request, (though the Thing in it self was good) had been her Sin also, Luke 10. 39, to 43.

Now to prevent the misplacing of good Works.

First, They misplace them that set them in the room of Christ, Rom. 10. 1, 2, 3.

Secondly, They also misplace them that make them Co-partners with him, Rom. 9. 31, 32. Acts 15. 1.

This is, setting up our Posts by God's Posts; and Man's Righteousness by the Righteousness of Christ, Ezek. 43. 7, 8. These are said to be Teachers of the Law, not knowing what they say, nor whereof they affirm, 1 Tim. 1. 7.

Thirdly, They also misplace Works, who ascribe to a Work of less Moment, that Honour that belongs to a Work more noble; and such are,

1. Those who count the ceremonial Part of an Ordinance, as good as the Doctrine and Signification of it.

2. Such who account the Dictates and Impulses of a meer natural Conscience, as good, as high, and divine, as the Leadings and Movings of the Spirit of Christ.

3. Those also who count it enough to do something of what God hath commanded, (and that something, possibly the least) instead of all, and the Things more necessary and weighty.

4. They also much misplace them, who count Things indifferent, as high as those that are absolutely necessary in the Worship of God.

5. But the grosser, who places Mens Traditions above them.

6. And they greatest of all, who put Bitter for Sweet, and Darknes for Light.

All

All these Things we must shun and avoid, as Things absolutely obstructive to good Works.

Wherefore, touching good Works; Obedience is better than Sacrifice; that is, to do Things according to the Word of God, is better than to do them according to my Fancy and Conceit, 1 Sam. 15. 22. Wherefore let all Things be done decently and in order, 1 Cor. 14. 40.

Again, As good Works should be ordered and qualified, as before is touched, so they should be done from the Heart willingly, cheerfully, with Simplicity and Charity, according to what a Man hath, 1 John 5. 3. 2 Cor. 9. 7. Rom. 12. 8. Col. 3. 20. 1 Cor. 10. 14. 1 Cor. 8. 12.

Farther, There are three Things that a Man should have in his Eye in every Work he doth.

1. The Honour of God, 1 Cor. 6. 20.
2. The Edification of his Neighbour, 1 Cor. 14. 26.

3. The Expediency or Inexpediency of what I am to do, 1 Cor. 6. 12. And always observe it, that the Honour of God is wrapped up in the Edification of thy Neighbour; and the Edification of thy Neighbour, in the Expediency of what thou doest.

Again, If thou wouldest walk to the Edification of thy Neighbour, and so to God's Honour, in the midst of thy Observers; Beware,

1. That thou in thy Words and Carriages, dost so demean thy self, that Christ in his precious Benefits may be with clearness spoken forth by thee; and take heed, that thou dost not enter into doubtful Points with them that are weak, Rom. 15. 1. but deal chiefly, lovingly, and wisely, with their Consciences about those Matters that tend to their Establishment in the Faith of their Justification, and Deliverance from Death and Hell, Comfort the feeble-minded, confirm the Weak, 1 Thes. 5. 14.

2. If thou be stronger than thy Brother, take heed that thou do not that before him, that may offend his weak Conscience: I mean, Things that in themselves may be lawful; All that is lawful is not expedient; all that is lawful edifieth not, 1 Cor. 6. 12. Wherefore here is thy Wisdom and Love, that thou in some Things deny thy self for thy Brother's sake, 1 Cor. 8. 13. I will not eat meat while the World standeth, saith Paul, lest I make my Brother to offend. Wherefore have this Faith to thy self before God, Rom. 14. 22. But if thou walk otherwise, know, thou walkest not charitably, and so not to Edification, and so not to Christ's Honour, but dost sin against Christ, and wound thy weak Brother, for whom Christ died, Rom. 14. 15. 1 Cor. 8. 12.

But I say, all this while keep thy Eye upon the Word; take heed of going contrary to that under any Pretence whatever;

for without the Word, there is nothing to God's Glory, nor thy Brother's Edification. Wherefore, walk wisely in a perfect Way, Psal. 101. 2, 3.

Having thus, in few Words shewed you what are Works rightly good, I beseech you in the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ, that you put your selves into a conscientious Performance of them, that you may, while you live here, be Vessels of Honour, and fit for the Master's Use, and prepared to every good Work, 1 Tim. 6. 17. Study to approve Things that are excellent, that you may be sincere, and without Offence until the Day of Christ, Phil. 1. 10. Covet Communion with God; covet earnestly the best Gifts, 1 Cor. 12. 31. Ah! we that are redeemed from among Men, Rev. 14. 4. and that rejoice in Hope of the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 2. we that look, I say, for the blessed Hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God, and our Saviour Jesus Christ, Tit. 2. 13. What manner of Persons should we be in all holy Conversation and Godliness, 2 Pet. 3. 11.

To conclude, for your further Edification, take a plain Rehearsal of your several general Duties and Works, to which God engageth you in his Word, according to your Places, Callings, and Relations in this World:

Touching the Master of a Family.

IF thou have under thee a Family, then thou art to consider the several Relations thou standest under; and art to know, that thou in each of them hast a Work to do for God, and that he expecteth thy faithful Deportment under every one of them. As,

First, Then in General, He that is the Master of a Family, he hath, as under that Relation, a Work to do for God; to wit, The right governing of his own Family. And his Work is twofold.

1. Touching the spiritual State thereof.
2. Touching the outward.

As touching the spiritual State of his Family; He ought to be very diligent and circumspect, doing his utmost Endeavour, both to encrease Faith where it is begun, and to begin it where it is not.

Wherefore to this End, he ought diligently and frequently to lay before his Household such Things of God, out of his Word, as are suitable for each particular: And let no Man question his Rule in the Word of God for such a Practice; for if the Thing it self were but of good Report, and a Thing tending to civil Honesty, it is within the Compass and Bounds even of Nature it self, and ought to be done; much more Things of a higher Nature: Besides, the Apostle exhorts us to, Whatsoever Things are honest, whatsoever Things are true, just, and of good Report, to think of them, that is, to be mindful to do them, Phil.

Phil. 4. 8. But to be conversant in this godly Exercise in our Family, is very worthy of Praise, and doth much become all Christians. This is one of the Things for which God so highly commended his Servant Abraham, and that with which his Heart was so much affected: I know Abraham, saith God, (I know him to be a good Man in very Deed) for he will command his Children, and his Household after him, and they shall keep the Way of the Lord, Gen. 18. 19. This was a Thing also which good Joshua designed should be his Practice as long as he had a breathing Time in this World: As for me, saith he, I and my Household we will serve the Lord, Josh. 24. 15.

Further, we find also in the New Testament, that they are look'd upon as Christians of an inferior Rank that have not a due Regard to this Duty, yea, so inferior, as not fit to be chosen to any Office in the Church of God. A Pastor must be one that ruleth well his own House, having his Children in Subjection with all Gravity: For if a Man knoweth not how to rule his own House, how shall he take care of the Church of God? the Deacon also, saith he, must be the Husband of one Wife; ruling their Children and their own House well, 1 Tim. 3. Mark a little, the Apostle seems to lay down thus much, that a Man that governs his Family well, hath one Qualification belonging to a Pastor or Deacon in the House of God, (For he that knoweth not how to rule his own House, how shall he take care of the Church of God?) which Thing considered, it giveth us Light into the Work of the Master of a Family, touching the governing of his House.

1. Then a Pastor must be found and incorrupt in his Doctrine: And indeed so must the Master of a Family, Tit. 1. 9. Ephes. 6. 4.

2. A Pastor should be apt to teach, to reprove, and to exhort: And so should the Master of a Family, 1 Tim. 3. 2. Deut. 6. 7.

3. A Pastor must himself be exemplary in Faith and Holiness: And so also should the Master of a Family, 1 Tim. 3. 2, 3, 4. and 4. 12.

I, saith David, will behave myself in a perfect Way; I will walk in (or before) my House in a perfect Way, Psal. 101. 2.

4. The Pastor is for getting the Church together, and when they are so come together, then to pray among them, and to preach unto them: This is also commendable in Christian Masters of Families.

Object. But my Family is ungodly and unruly touching all that is good, What shall I do?

Ans^r. I Answer, First, Though this be true, yet thou must rule them, and not they thee: Thou art set over them of God, and thou art to use the Authority which God hath given thee, both to rebuke their Vice, and to shew them the evil of their rebelling against the Lord. This did Eli, though not enough; and thus did David, 1 Sam. 2. 24, 25. 1 Chron. 28. 9.

Also, thou must tell them how sad thy State was when thou wast in their Condition, and so labour to recover them out of the Snare of the Devil, Mark 5. 19.

2. Thou oughtest also to labour to draw them forth to God's Publick Worship, if peradventure God may convert their Souls. saith Jacob to his Household, and to all that were about him, Let us arise and go to Bethel, and I will make there an Altar to God, that answered me in the Day of my Distress, Gen. 35. 3.

Hannah would carry Samuel to Shilo, that he might abide with God for ever, 1 Sam. 1. 22. Indeed a Soul rightly touched, will labour to draw, not only their Families, but a whole City after Jesus Christ, John 4. 28, 29.

3. If they are obstinate, and will not go forth with thee, then do thou get godly and sound Men to thy House, and there let the Word of God be preached, when thou hast, as Cornelius, gathered thy Family and Friends together, Acts 10.

You know that the Taylor, Lydia, Crispus, Gaius, Stephanus, and others, had not only themselves, but their Families, made gracious by the Word preached, and that some of them, if not all, by the Word preached in their Houses, Acts 16. 14, to 35. Acts 18. 7, 8. 1 Cor. 1. 16. And this, for ought I know, might be one Reason among many, why the Apostles taught in their Day, not only publickly, but from House to House. I say, that they might, if possible, bring in those in some Family, which yet remained unconverted, and in their Sins, Acts 5. 24. and 20. 20, 21. for some, you know, how usual it was in the Day of Christ, to invite him to their Houses, if they had any afflicted, that either would not, or could not come unto him; Luke 7. 2, 3. and 8. 41.

If this be the Way with those that have outward Diseases in their Families, how much more then, where there are Souls that have need of Christ, to save them from Death and eternal Damnation?

4. Take heed that thou do not neglect Family Duties among them thy self; as reading the Word and Prayer; if thou hast one in thy Family that is gracious, take Encouragement; nay, if thou art alone, yet know that thou hast both Liberty to go to God through Christ, and also art at that Time in a Capacity of having the universal Church join with thee, for the whole Number of those that shall be saved.

5. Take heed that thou suffer not any ungodly, prophane or heretical Books, or Discourse in thy House; Evil Communica- tion corrupts good Manners, 1 Cor. 15. 33. I mean, such prophane, or heretical Books, &c. as either tend to provoke to looseness of Life, or such as do oppose the Fundamentals of the Gospel.

I know, that Christians must be allowed their Liberty as to Things indifferent; but for those Things that strike either at Faith or Holiness, they ought to be abandoned by all Christians, and especially by the Pastors of Churches, and Masters of Families; which Practice was figured out by Jacob's commanding his House, and all that was with him, to put away the strange Gods from among them, and to change their Garments, Gen. 35. 1, 2.

All those in the Acts, set a good Example for this, who took their curious Books and burned them before all Men, though they were worth five thousand Pieces of Silver, Acts 19. 18, 19.

The neglect of this fourth Particular, hath occasioned Ruine in many Families, both among Children and Servants. It is easier for vain Talkers, and their deceitful Works, to subvert whole Households, than many are aware of.

Thus much touching the spiritual State of thy Household.

And now to its outward.

Touching the outward State of thy Family, thou art to consider these three Things.

First, That it lieth upon thee to care for them, that they have a convenient Livelihood: If any Man provide not for his own, and especially for those of his own House, he hath denied the Faith, and is worse than an Infidel, 1 Tim. 5. 8. But mark, when the Word saith, thou art to provide for thy House, it giveth thee no Licence to distracting Carefulness; neither doth it allow thee to strive to grasp the World in thy Heart or Coffers, nor to take Care for Years or Days to come, but so to provide for them, that they may have Food and Raiment; and if either they or thou be not content with that, you launch out beyond the Rule of God, 1 Tim. 6. 8. Mat. 6. 34. This is to labour, that you may have wherewith to maintain good Works for necessary Uses.

Tit. 3. 14.

And never object, that unless you reach farther, it will never do; for that is but Unbelief. The Word saith, That God feedeth Ravens, careth for Sparrows, and cloatheth the Grass; in which Three, to feed, cloath, and care for, is as much as Heart can wish, Luke 12. 6, 24, 27, 28.

Secondly, Therefore though thou shouldest provide for thy Family, yet let all thy Labour be mixed with Moderation. Let your Moderation be known unto all Men, Phil. 4. 5. Take heed of driving so hard after this World, as to hinder thy self and Family from those Duties towards God, which thou art by Grace obliged to; as private Prayer, reading the Scriptures, and Christian Conference. It is a base Thing for Men so to spend themselves and Families after this World, as that they disengage their Heart to God's Worship.

Christians, The Time is short: It remaineth then, that they that have Wives, be as those that have none; and they that weep, as though they wept not; and they that rejoyce, as those that rejoyced not; and they that use this World, as not abusing it; for the fashion of this World passeth away. 1 Cor. 7. 29, 30, 31.

Many Christians live and do in this World, as if Religion were but a By-busines, and this World the one Thing necessary; when indeed all the Things of this World are but Things by the by; and Religion only the one Thing needful, Luke 10. 40, 41, 42.

Thirdly, if thou wouldest be such a Master of a Family as becomes thee, thou must see that there be that Christian Harmony among those under thee, as becomes that House where one ruleth that feareth God.

1. Thou must look that thy Children and Servants be under Subjection to the Word of God: for though it is of God only to rule the Heart; yet he expecteth that thou shouldest rule their outward Man; which if thou dost not, he may in a short Time cut off all of thy Stock that pisseth against the Wall, 1 Sam. 3. 11, to 15. See therefore, that thou keep them temperate in all Things, in Apparel, in Language, that they be not Gluttons, nor Drunkards; not suffering either thy Children vainly to domineer over thy Servants, nor they again to carry themselves foolishly towards each other.

2. Learn to distinguish between that Injury that in thy Family is done to thee, and that which is done to God; and though thou oughtest to be very zealous for the Lord, and to bear nothing that is open Transgression to him; yet here will be thy Wisdom, to pass by personal Injuries, and to bury them in Oblivion. Love covereth a Multitude of Sins. Be not then like those that will rage and stare like mad Men, when they are injured; and yet either laugh, or at least not soberly rebuke, and warn, when God is dishonoured.

Rule thy own House well, having thy Children (with others in thy Family) in Subjection, with all Gravity. 1 Tim. 3. 4.

Solomon was so excellent, sometimes this Way, that he made the Eyes of his Beholders to dazzle, 2 Chron. 9. 3, 4.

But to break off from this General, and to come to Particulars.

First, Hast thou a Wife? Thou must consider how thou oughtest to behave thy self under that Relation: and to do this aright, thou must consider the Condition of thy Wife, whether she be one that indeed believeth, or not: If she believeth, then,

First, Thou art engaged to bless God for her; For her Price is far above Rubies, and

The Duty of Hufbands to believing

she is the Gift of God unto thee, and is for thy adorning and Glory, Prov. 12. 4. Prov. 31. 10. 1 Cor. 11. 7. Favour is deceitful, and Beauty is vain; but a Woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised.

Secondly, Thou oughtest to love her, under a double Consideration; 1. As she is thy Flesh and thy Bone; (For never Man yet hated his own Flesh, Ephes. 5. 29.) 2. As she is together with thee an Heir of the Grace of Life, 1 Pet. 3. 7. This, I say, should engage thee to love her with Christian Love; to love her as believing you both are dearly beloved of God and the Lrd Jesus Christ, and as those that must be together with him in eternal Happiness.

Thirdly, Thou oughtest so to carry thy self to, and before her, as doth Christ, to and before his Church; as saith the Apostle, So ought Men to love their Wives, even as Christ loved the Church, and gave himself for it. Eph. 5. 25. When Husbands behave themselves like Husbands indeed, then will they be not only Husbands, but such an Ordinance of God to the Wife, as will preach to her the Carriage of Christ to his Spouse. There is a sweet Scent wrapped up in the Relations of Husbands and Wives (Ephes. 5. 32.) that believe. The Wife, I say, signifying the Church, and the Husband the Head and Saviour thereof; Eph. 5. 32. For the Husband is the head of the Wife, even as Christ is the head of the Church; and he is the Saviour of the Body.

This is one of God's chief Ends in instituting Marriage, that Christ and his Church, under a Figure, might be wherever there is a Couple that believe through Grace.

Wherefore that Husband that carrieth it undiscreeily toward his Wife, he doth not only behave himself contrary to the Rule, but also maketh his Wife lose the Benefit of such an Ordinance, and crosseth the Mystery of his Relation. Therefore, I say, So ought Men to love their Wives as their own Bodies: He that loveth his Wife, loveth himself; for no Man ever yet hated his own Flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, even as the Lord the Church, Ephes. 5. 28, 29. Christ laid out his Life for his Church, covereth her Infirmities, communicates to her his Wisdom; protecteth her, and helpeth her in her Employments in this World, and so ought Men to do for their Wives.

Solomon and Pharaoh's Daughter had the Art of thus doing, as you may see in the Book of the Canticles.

1 Pet. 3. 7. Wherefore bear with their Weaknesses, help their Infirmities, and honour them as the weaker Vessels, and as being of a frailer Constitution.

In a Word, be such a Husband to thy believing Wife, that she may say, God hath not only given me a Husband, but such a Husband, as preacheth to me every Day the Carriage of Christ to his Church.

2. If thy Wife be unbelieving or carnal, then thou hast also a Duty lying before thee, which thou art engaged to perform under a double Engagement. 1. For that she lieth liable every Moment to eternal Damnation. 2. That she is thy Wife, that is in this evil Case.

Oh! how little Sense of the Worth of Soul's is there in the Hearts of some Husbands, as is manifest by their unchristian Carriage to and before their Wives!

Now, to qualifie thee for a Carriage suitable,

1. Labour seriously after a Sense of her miserable State, that thy Bowels may yern towards her Soul.

2. Beware that she take no Occasion from any unseemly Carriage of thine, to proceed in Evil: and here thou hast need to double thy Diligence, for she lyeth in thy Bosom, and therefore is capable of espying the least Miscarriage in thee.

3. If she behave herself unseemly and unruly, as she is subject to do, being Christless and Graceless, then labour thou to overcome her Evil with thy Goodness, her Frowardness with thy Patience and Meekness: It is a shame for thee who hast another Principle, to do as she.

4. Take fit Opportunities to convince her: Observe her Disposition, and when she is most likely to hear, then speak to her very Heart.

5. When thou speakest, speak to Purpose; 'tis no Matter for many Words, provided they be pertinent. Job in a few Words answers his Wife, and takes her off from her foolish talking; Thou speakest, saith he, like one of the foolish Women; shall we receive good at the Hands of God, and shall we not receive Evil? Job 2. 10.

6. Let all be done without Rancor, or the least appearance of Anger; With meekness instruct those that oppose themselves, if peradventure they may recover themselves out of the Snare of the Devil, who are taken Captive by him at his Will, 2 Tim. 2. 25, 26.

And how knowest thou, O Man, but thou mayest save thy Wife, 1 Cor. 7. 16.

Touching Parents.

IF thou art a Parent, a Father, or a Mother, then thou art to consider thy Calling under this Relation.

Thy Children have Souls, and they must be begotten of God as well as of thee, or they perish.

And know, also, that unless thou be very circumspect in thy Behaviour, to and before them, they may perish through thee: The Thoughts of which should provoke thee, both to instruct, and also to correct them.

1. To instruct them as the Scripture saith, and to bring them up in the Nurture and Admonition of the Lord; and to do this dili-diligently, when thou sittest in thy House, when thou liest down, and when thou risest up, Ephes. 6. 4. Deut. 6. 7.

Now to do this to purpose;

First, Do it in terms and words, easie to be understood: Affect not high Expressions, they will drown your Children. Thus God spake to his Children, and Paul to his, Hol. 12. 10. 1 Cor. 3. 2.

Secondly, Take heed of filling their Heads with Whimzies, and unprofitable Notions, for this will sooner learn them to be Malepert and proud, than sober and humble. Open therefore to them the State of Man by Nature: Discourse with them of Sin, of Death, and Hell; of a crucified Saviour, and the Promise of Life through Faith. Train up a Child in the Way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it, Prov. 22. 6.

Thirdly, there must be much Gentleness and Patience in all thy Instructions, lest they be discouraged, Col. 3. 21. And Fourthly, Labour to convince them by a Conversation answerable, that the Things of which thou instructest them, are not Fables, but Realities, yea, and Realities so far above what can be here enjoyed, that all Things, were they a thousand Times better than they are, are not worthy to be compared with the Glory and Worthiness of these Things.

Isaac was so holy before his Children, that when Jacob remembered God, he remembered that he was the fear of his Father Isaac, Gen. 31. 53.

Ah! When Children can think of their Parents, and bless God for that Instruction and Good they have received from them, this is not only profitable for Children, but honourable and comfortable to Parents. The Father of the Righteous shall greatly rejoice; and he that begetteth a wise Child, shall have Joy of him, Prov. 23. 24, 25.

Touching Correction.

Jer. 25. 4. FIRST, See if fair Words will win them from Evil: This is God's Way with his Children.

Secondly, Let those Words you speak to them in your Reproof, be both sober, few, and pertinent, adding always some suitable Sentence of the Scripture therewith; as if they lie, then such as Rev. 21. 8, 27. If they refuse to hear the Word, such as 2 Chron. 25. 14, 15, 16.

Thirdly, Look to them that they be not Companions with those that are rude and ungodly, shewing with Soberness a continual Dislike of their Naughtiness; often crying out to them, as God did of old unto his, O! do not this abominable thing that I hate, Jer. 44. 4.

Fourthly, Let all this be mixed with such Love, Pity, and Compunction of Spirit, that if possible they may be convinced, you dislike not their Persons, but their Sins. This is God's Way.

Psal. 99. 8.

Fifthly, Be often endeavouring to fasten on their Consciences the Day of their Death and Judgment to come. Thus also God deals with his.

Deut. 32. 29.

Sixthly, If thou art driven to the Rod, then, 1. Strike advisedly in cool Blood; and soberly shew them, 1. Their Fault; 2. How much it is against thy Heart thus to deal with them; 3. And that what thou dost, thou dost in Conscience to God, and Love to their Souls; 4. And tell them that if fair Means would have done, none of this Severity should have been: This, I have proved it, will be a Means to afflict their Hearts as well as their Bodies; and it being the Way that God deals with his, it is the most likely to accomplish its End.

Seventhly, Follow all this with Prayer to God for them, and leave the Issue to him.

Folly is bound up in the Heart of a Child; but the Rod of Correction will fetch it out, Prov. 22. 15.

Lastly, Observe these Cautions.

1. Take heed that thy Misdeeds for which thou correctest thy Children, be not learned them by thee. Many Children learn that Wickedness of their Parents, for which they beat and chastise them.

2. Take heed thou smile not upon them to encourage them in small Faults, lest that thy Carriage to them, be an encouragement to them to commit greater.

3. Take heed thou use not unfavoury and unseemly Words in thy chastising of them, as railing, miscalling, and the like; this is devilish.

4. Take heed thou do not use them to many chiding Words and Threatnings, mixed with Lightness and Laughter; this will harden: Speak not much, not often, but pertinent to them, with all Gravity.

Of Masters to Servants.

Masters also have a Work to do as they stand related to their Servants. And

First, If possible they can, to get them that fear God. He that worketh Deceit, saith David, shall not dwell within my House; And he that telleth Lies, shall not tarry in my Sight, Psal. 101. 7.

Secondly, But if none at the present but Unbelievers can be got to do thy Labour; Then,

1. Know that it is thy Duty so to behave thy self to thy Servant, that thy Service may not only be for thy Good, but for the Good of thy Servant, and that both in Body and Soul: Wherefore deal with him, as to Admonition, as with thy Children; give him the same Bread of God thou givest to them; and who knows, but but that thou with spiritual Delicates, bringest up thy Servant, but he may become thy Spiritual Son in the end, Prov. 29. 21.

2. Take Heed thou do not turn thy Servants into Slaves, by over-charging them in thy Work, through thy Greediness. To make Men serve with Rigour, is more like to Israel's Enemies, than Christian Masters, Exod. 1. 14.

3. Take heed thou carry not thy self to thy Servant, as he of whom it is said, he is such a Man of Belial, that his Servants could not speak to him; 1 Sam. 25. 14, to 18.

And the Apostle bids you forbear to threaten them, because you also have a Master in Heaven, Ephes. 6. 9. As who should say, your Servants cannot be guilty of so many Miscarriages against you, as you are guilty of against Christ: Wherefore do with, and to your Servants, as you would have your Master do with you.

4. Take heed that thou neither circumvent him at his coming into thy Service, nor at his going out.

Servants at their going into Service, may be beguiled two ways.

First, by their Masters lying unto them, saying, their Work is so small and so easy, when it is indeed, if not too burdensome, yet far beyond what at first was said of it. This is beguiling of them.

2. The other way is, when Masters greedily seek to wiew-draw their Servants to such Wages, as indeed is too little and inconsiderable for such Work and Labour. Both these the Apostle opposeth where he saith, Masters give unto your Servants that which is just, just Labour, and just Wages, knowing that you also have a Master in Heaven, Col. 4. 1.

2. As Servants may be circumvented at their coming into their Labour, so also they may be at their going out. Which is done by Masters that either change their Wages, like heathenish Laban, Gen. 31. 7. or by keeping it back, like those against whom God will be a swift Witness. Mal. 3. 5.

3. Take heed that thou make not a Gain of thy Place, because thou art gracious, or livest conveniently for the Means of Grace.

Servants that are truly godly, they care not how cheap they serve their Masters, provided they may get into godly Families, or where they may be convenient for the Word. But now, if a Master or Mistress should take this Opportunity to make a prey of their Servant, this is abominable; this is making a Gain of Godliness, and Merchandize of the things of God, (1 Tim. 6. 5.) and of the Soul of thy Brother.

I have heard some poor Servants say, That in some Carnal Families, they have had more Liberty to God's things and more Fairness of Dealing, than among Professors. But this stinketh: And as Jacob said concerning the Cruelty of his two Sons, so may I say of such Masters, they make Religion stink before the Inhabitants of the Land, Gen. 34. 30.

In a Word, Learn of the Lord Jesus, to carry yourselves well to your Servants, that your Servants also may learn something of the Kindness of Christ by your Deportment to them: Servants are Goers as well as Comers; take heed that thou give them no occasion to scandal the Gospel when they are gone, for what they observed thee unrighteously to do when they were with thee. Then Masters carry it rightly toward their Servants, when they labour both in Word and Life to convince them, that the things of God are the One thing necessary. That which Servants, are commanded to do touching their Fear, their Singleness of Heart, their doing what they do as to the Lord, and not to Men; the Master is commanded to do the same Things unto them, Eph. 5. 6, 7, 8, 9.

The Duty of Wives.

BUT passing the Master of the Family, I shall speak a Word or two to those that are under him.

And first, to the Wife: The Wife is bound by the Law to her Husband, so long as her Husband liveth, Rom. 7. 2. Wherefore, she also hath her Work and Place in the Family, as well as the rest.

Now there are these things considerable in the carriage of a Wife toward her Husband, which she ought conscientiously to observe.

First, That she look upon him as her Head and Lord. The Head of the Woman is the Man. And so Sarah called Abraham Lord. 1 Cor. 11. 3. 1 Pet. 3. 6.

Secondly, She should therefore be subject to him, as is fit in the Lord. The Apostle saith, That the Wife should submit her self to her Husband, as to the Lord, 1 Pet. 3. 1. Col. 3. 18. Ephes. 5. 22. I told you before, that if the Husband doth walk towards his Wife as becomes him, he will therein be such an Ordinance of God to her, besides the relation of an Husband, that shall preach to her the Carriage of Christ to his Church. And now I say also, that the Wife, if she walk with her Husband as becomes her, she shall preach the obedience of the Church to her Husband. Therefore as the Church is subject to Christ, so let the Wives be to their own Husbands in every thing. Eph. 5. 24.

Now for thy Performing of this work, thou must first shun these Evils:

1. The Evil of a wandering and a Gossiping Spirit; this is evil in the Church, and is is evil also in a Wife, who is the Figure of a Church. Christ loveth to have his Spouse keep at home; that is, to be with him in the Faith and Practice of his things, not ranging, and meddling with the things of Satan; no more should Wives be given to wander and gossip abroad. You know that Prov. 7. 11. faith, She is loud and stubborn, her Feet abide not in her House.

Wives should be about their own Husband's Business at home; as the Apostle Tit. 2. 5. faith, Let them be discreet, chaste keepers at home, good, obedient to their own Husband: And why? Because otherwise the Word of God will be blasphemed.

2. Take heed of an idle, talking, or brangling tongue. This also is odious either in Maids or Wives, to be like Parrots, not bridling their tongue, whereas the Wife should know, as I said before, that her Husband is her Lord, and is over her, as Christ is over the Church. Do you think it is seemly for the Church to Parrot it against her Husband? Is she not to be silent before him, and to look to his Laws, rather than her own Fictions? Why so, faith the Apostle, ought the Wife to carry it towards her Husband. Let the Woman, faith Paul, learn in silence with all subjection; but I suffer not a Woman to teach, or to usurp authority over the Man; but to be in silence.

It is an unseemly thing to see a Woman so much as once in all her Life time, to offer to over-top her Husband; she ought in every thing to be in Subjection to him, and to do all she doth, as having her Warrant, License, and Authority from him. And indeed here is her Glory, even to be under him, as the Church is under Christ. Now she openeth her Mouth in Wisdom, and in her tongue is the Law of Kindness.

3. Take heed of affecting immodest Apparel, or a wanton Gate; this will be evil both abroad and at home; abroad, it will not only give ill Example, but also tend to tempt to Lust and Lasciviousness; and at home it will give an Offence to a godly Husband, and be cankering to ungodly Children, &c. Wherefore, as faith the Apostle, Let Womens Apparel be modest, as becometh Women professing Godliness, with good Works, 1 Tim. 2. 10. not with brodered Hair, or Gold, or Pearls, or costly Array. And as it is said again, Whose adorning, let it not be that outward adorning, of plaiting the Hair, and of wearing Gold, and of putting on of Apparel; but let it be the hidden Man of the Heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the Ornament of a meek and quiet Spirit, which is in the Sight of God of great Price: For after this manner in old Time, the holy Women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in Subjection to their own Husbands, 1 Pet. 3. 3, 4, 5, 6.

But yet, do not think that by the Subjection I have here mentioned, that I do intend Women should be their Husbands Slaves. Women are their Husbands Yoke-fellows, their Flesh and their Bones; and he is not a Man that hateth his own Flesh, or that is bitter against it, Eph. 5. 29. Wherefore let every Man love his Wife as himself: and the Wife see that she reverence her Husband, Eph. 5. 33.

The Wife is Master next her Husband, and is to rule all in his Absence; yea, in his Presence, she is to guide the House, to bring up the Children, provided she do it, as the Adversary have no Occasion to speak reproachfully, 1 Tim. 5. 10, 13. Who can find a virtuous Woman? For her Price is far above Rubies. A gracious Woman retaineth Honour, and guideth her Affairs with Discretion, Prov. 31. 10. and 11. 16. and 12. 4.

Object. But my Husband is an Unbeliever; what shall I do?

Ans. If so, then what I have said before, lieth upon thee with an Engagement so much the stronger. For, 1. Thy Husband being in this Condition, he will be watchful to take thy Slips and Infirmities, to throw them as Dirt in the Face of God and thy Saviour. 2. He will be apt to make the worst of every one of thy Words, Carriages, and Gestures. 3. And all this doth tend to the possessing his Heart with more Hardness, Prejudice, and Opposition to his own Salvation. Wherefore, as Peter faith, Ye Wives, be in Subjection to your own Husbands; that if any obey not the Word, they may also without the Word be won by the Conversation of the Wives, while they behold your chaste Conversation coupled with Fear, 1 Pet. 3. 1, 2. Thy Husband's Salvation or Damnation lieth much in thy Deportment and Behaviour before him; wherefore, if there be in thee any Fear of God, or Love to thy Husband, seek, by a Carriage full of Meekness, Modesty, and Holiness, and an humble Behaviour before him, to win him to the Love of his own Salvation, and by thus doing, how knowest thou, O Woman, but thou shalt save thy Husband?

Object. But my Husband is not only an Unbeliever, but one very froward, peevish, and testy, yea, so froward, &c. that I know not how to speak to him, to behave myself before him.

Ans. Indeed there are some Wives in great Slavery by reason of their ungodly Husbands: and as such should be pitied, and prayed for; so they should be so much the more watchful and circumspect in all their Ways.

1. Therefore be thou very faithful to him in all the things of this Life.

2. Bear with Patience his unruly and unconverted Behaviour; thou art alive, he is dead; thou art principled with Grace, he with Sin. Now then, seeing Grace is stronger than Sin, and Virtue than Vice; be not overcome with his Vileness, but overcome that with thy Virtues, Rom. 12. 21. It is a shame for those that are gracious, to be as lavishing in their Words, &c. as those that are graceless. They that are slow to Wrath are of great Understanding; but they that are hasty in Spirit, exalt Folly, Prov. 14. 29.

3. Thy Wisdom therefore, if at any time thou hast a Desire to speak to thy Husband for his Conviction concerning any thing either good or evil, it is to observe convenient Times and Seasons.

There is a Time to keep Silence and a Time to speak, Eccles. 3. 7.

Now for the right timing thy Intentions,

1. Consider his Disposition; and take him when he is farthest off of those filthy Passions that are thy Afflictions. Abigail would not speak a Word to her churlish Husband, till his Wine was gone from him, and he in a sober Temper, 1 Sam. 25. 36, 37. The Want of this Observation, is the Cause why so much is spoken, and so little effected.

2. Take him at those times when he hath his Heart taken with thee, and when he sheweth Tokens of Love and Delight in thee. Thus did Esther with the King her Husband, and prevailed, Esth. 5. 3, 6. and 7. 1, 2.

3. Observe when Convictions seize his Conscience, and then follow them with found and grave Sayings of the Scriptures. Somewhat like to this dealt Manoah's Wife with her Husband, Judg. 13. 22, 23. Yet then,

1. Let thy Words be few.

2. And none of them favouring of a lording it over him; but speak thou still as to thy Head and Lord, by way of Intreaty and Beseeching.

3. And that in such a Spirit of Sympathy, and Bowels of Affection after his Good, that the manner of thy Speech and Behaviour in speaking, may be to him an Argument that thou speakest in Love, as being sensible of his Misery, and inflamed in thy Soul with Desire after his Conversion.

4. And follow thy Words and Behaviour with Prayers to God for his Soul.

5. Still keeping thy self in a holy, chaste, and modest Behaviour before him.

Object. But my Husband is a Sot, a Fool, and one that hath not wit enough to follow his outward Employment in the World.

Ans. 1. Though all this be true; yet thou must know he is thy Head, thy Lord, and thy Husband.

2. Therefore thou must take heed of desiring to usurp Authority over him; he was not made for thee; that is, for thee to have Dominion over him, but to be thy Husband and to rule over thee, 1 Tim. 2. 12. 1 Cor. 1. 3, 8.

3. Wherefore, though in truth thou maist have more Discretion than he, yet thou oughtest to know, that thou, with all that is thine, is to be used as under thy Husband: even every thing, Ephes. 5. 24.

Take heed therefore, that what thou doest, goes not in thy Name, but his; not to thy Exaltation, but his; carrying all things so, by thy Dexterity and Prudence, that not one of thy Husband's Weaknesses be discovered to others by thee. A virtuous Woman is a Crown to her Husband; but she that causeth Shame, is as Rottiness to his Bones. For then, as the Wife Man saith, she will do him good, and not evil, all the Days of her Life, Prov. 12. 4. Prov. 31. 14.

4. Therefore act, and do still, as being under the Power and Authority of the Husband.

Now touching thy Carriage to thy Children and Servants.

Thou art a Parent, and a Mistress, and so thou oughtest to demean thy self.

And besides, seeing the believing Woman is a Figure of the Church, she ought, as the Church to nourish and instruct her Children and Servants, as the Church, that she may answer in that Particular also: And truly, the Wife being always at home, she hath great Advantage that way; wherefore do it, and the Lord prosper your Proceeding.

Of Children to Parents.

There lieth also a Duty upon Children, to their Parents, which they are bound both by the Law of God and Nature, conscientiously to observe. Children, obey your Parents in the Lord, for this is right. And again, Children, obey your Parents in all things; for this is well pleasing to the Lord, Eph. 6. 1. Col. 3. 20.

There are these general things in which Children should shew forth that honour that is due to their Parents from them.

First, They should always count them better than themselves. I observe a vile Spirit among some Children, and that is, they are apt to look over their Parents, and to have slighting and scornful Thoughts of them: this is worse than heathenish; such a one hath got just the Heart of a Dog or a Beast, that will bite those that begot them, and her that brought them forth.

Object. But my Father, &c. is now poor, and I am rich, and it will be a Disparagement, or at least a Hinderance to me, to shew that Respect to him as otherwise I might.

Ans. I tell thee thou arguest like an Atheist and a Beast, and standest in this full flat against the Son of God. Mark 7. 9, to 14.

Must a Gift, and a little of the Glory of the Butter-fly, make thee that thou shalt shalt not do for, and honour to, thy Father and Mother? A wise Son maketh a glad Father, but a foolish Son despiseth his Mother, Prov. 15. 20. Though thy Parents, be never so low, and thou thy self never so high, yet he is thy Father, and she thy Mother, and they must be in thy Eye in great Esteem. The Eye that mocketh at his Father, and that despiseth to obey his Mother, the Ravens of the Valley shall pick it out, and the young Eagles shall eat it.

Secondly, Thou oughtest to shew thy Honour to thy Parents, by a Willingness to help them with such Necessaries and Accommodations which they need. If any have Nephews or Children, let them learn to shew Pity at home, and to requite their Parents, saith Paul, for that is good and acceptable before God, 1 Tim. 5. 4.

And this Rule Joseph observed to his poor Father, though he himself was next the King in Egypt, Gen. 47. 12. Gen. 41. 39, to 44.

But mark; Let them requite their Parents.

There are three things, for which, as long as thou livest thou wilt be a Debtor to thy Parents.

1. For thy Being in this World: They are they from whom immediately under God thou didst receive it.

2. For their Care to preserve thee when thou wast helpless, and couldst neither care for, nor regard thyself.

3. For the Pains they have taken with thee to bring thee up. Until thou hast Children of thy own, thou wilt not be sensible of the Pains, Watchings, Fears, Sorrow and Affliction, that they have gone under to bring thee up; and when thou knowest it, thou wilt not easily yield, that thou hast recompenced them for their Favour to thee: How often have they sustained thy Hunger, cloathed thy Nakedness? What Care have they taken that thou mightest have wherewith to live and do well when they were dead and gone? They possibly have spared it from their own Belly and Back for thee, and have also impoverished themselves, that thou mightest live like a Man. All these things ought duly, and like a Man to be considered by thee, and Care ought to be taken on thy Part to requite them; the Scripture saith so; Reason saith so; and there be none but Dogs and Beasts that deny it. It is the Duty of Parents to lay up for their Children; and the Duty of Children to requite their Parents.

Thirdly, Therefore shew by all humble and Son-like Carriage, that thou dost to this Day, with thy Heart, remember the Love of thy Parents.

Thus much for Obedience to Parents in general.

Again, If thy Parents be godly and thou wicked (as thou art if thou hast not a second Work or Birth from God upon thee) then thou art to consider, that thou art more strongly engaged to respect and honour thy Parents, not now only as a Father in the Flesh; but as godly Parents, thy Father and Mother is now made of God thy Teachers and Instructors in the way of Righteousness: Wherefore to alude to that of Solomon, My Son, hearken to the Law of thy Father, and forsake not the Law of thy Mother; bind them continually upon thy Heart, and tie them about thy Neck, Prov. 6. 20, 21.

Now to provoke thee here to consider.

First, That this hath been the practice always of those that are and have been obedient Children; yea, of Christ himself to Joseph and Mary, though he himself was God blessed for ever, Luke 2. 51.

Secondly, Thou hast also the severe Judgments of God upon those that have been disobedient, to awe thee. As,

1. Ishmael, for but mocking at one good Carriage of his Father and Mother, was both thrust out of his Father's Inheritance, and the Kingdom of Heaven, and that with God's Approbation, Gen. 21. 8, to 14. Gal. 4. 30.

2. Hophni and Phinehas, for refusing the good Counsel of their Father, provoked the great God to be their Enemy. They hearkened not to the Voice of their Father, because the Lord would slay them, 1 Sam. 2. 23, 24, 25.

3. Abolom was hanged, as I may say, 2 Sam. 18. by God himself, for rebelling against his Father.

Besides, little dost thou know how heart-aching a Consideration it is to thy Parents, when they do but suppose thou mayest be damned: How many Prayers, Sighs, and Tears are there wrung from their Hearts upon this Account?

Every Miscarriage of thine goeth to their Heart, for fear God should take an Occasion thereat to shut thee up in Hardness for ever.

How did Abraham groan for Ishmael? Gen. 17. 18 O, saith he to God, That Ishmael might live before thee.

How was Isaac and Rebekah grieved for the Miscarriage of Esau? Gen. 26. 34, 35.

And how bitterly did David mourn for his Son, who died in his Wickedness? 2 Sam. 18. 32, 33.

Lastly, And can any imagine, but that all these Carriages of thy godly Parents, will be to thee the increase of thy Torments in Hell, if thou die in thy Sins, notwithstanding?

Again, If thy Parents, and thou also be godly, how happy a thing is this? How shouldest thou rejoyce, that the same Faith should dwell both in thy Parents and thee? Thy Conversion, possibly, is the Fruits of of thy Parents Groans and Prayers for thy Soul; and they cannot chuse but rejoyce; do thou rejoyce with them: 'Tis true, in the Salvation of a Natural Son, which is mentioned in the Parable; This my Son was dead, and is alive again; was lost, and is found; and they began to be merry, Luke 15. 24.

Let therefore the Consideration of this, that thy Parents have Grace as well as thee, ingage thy Heart so much the more to honour, reverence, and obey them.

Thou art better able now to consider the Pains and Care that thy Friends have been at, both for thy Body and Soul; wherefore strive to requite them: Thou hast Strength to answer in some measure the Command: wherefore do not neglect it.

It is a double Sin in a gracious Son not to remember the Commandment, yea, the first Commandment with Promise, Ephes. 6. 1, 2.

Take heed of giving thy sweet Parents one snappish word, or one unseemly Carriage. Love them because they are thy Parents; because they are godly; and because thou must be in Glory with them.

Again, If thou be godly, and thy parents wicked, as often it sadly falls out: Then,

First, Let thy Bowels yearn towards them, 'tis thy Parents that are going to Hell.

Secondly, As I said before to the Wife, touching her Unbelieving Husband, so now I say to thee, Take heed of a Parrotting Tongue: speak to them wisely, meekly, and humbly; do for them faithfully without repining; and bear, with all child-like Modesty, their reproaches, their railing, and evil speaking. Watch fit Opportunities to lay their Condition before them. O! how happy a thing would it be, if God should use a Child to beget his Father to the Faith! Then indeed might the Father say, With the fruit of my own Bowels hath God converted my Soul. The Lord, if it be his Will, convert our poor Parents, that they, with us, may be the Children of God.

Concerning Servants.

Servants also, they have a Work to do for God, in their Place and Station among Men.

The Apostles assert Masters under a threefold Consideration.

1. The Believing Master.
2. The Unbelieving Master.
3. The Froward Master.

For all which, Servants are furnished with Counsel and Advice in the Word, for the demeaning of themselves under each of them.

But before I speak in particular to any of these, I will in general, shew you the Duty of Servants.

First, Thou art to look upon thy self as thou art; that is, as a Servant, not a Child, nor a Wife, thou art inferior to these; wherefore count thy self under them, and be content with that station. For three things the Earth is disquieted, and for four which it cannot bear: One is a Servant when he reigneth, Prov. 30. 21, 22.

It is out of thy Place, either to talk or do, as one that reigneth.

Secondly, Consider, that thou being a Servant, what is under thy Hand, is not thy own, but thy Master's: Now because it is not thy own, thou oughtest not to dispose of it; but because it is thy Master's, thou oughtest to be faithful. Thus it was with Joseph, Gen. 39. 7, 8, 9. But if thou do otherwise, know that thou shalt receive of God for the Wrong that thou doest; and there is with God no respect of Persons, Col. 3. 25. Wherefore, Thirdly, Touching thy Work and Employment, thou art to do it as unto the Lord, and not for Man; and indeed then Servants do their Business as becomes them, when they do all in Obedience to the Lord, as knowing that the Place in which they now are, it is the Place where Christ hath put them, and in which he expecteth they should be faithful.

Servants (saith Paul) be obedient to them that are your Masters---with Fear and Trembling, in Singleness of Heart as unto Christ; not with Eye-service, as Men-pleasers, but as the Servants of Christ, doing the Will of God from the Heart, Eph. 6. 5, 6.

Observe a little the Word of God to Servants.

1. Servants must be obedient. Yet,
2. Not with that Obedience that will serve Man only: Servants must have their Eye on the Lord, in the Work they do for their Masters.
3. That their Work in this Service is the Will and Ordinance of God.

From which I conclude, That thy Work in thy Place and Station, as thou art a Servant, is as really God's Ordinance, and as acceptable to him, in its Kind, as is Preaching, or any other Work for God; and that thou art as sure to receive a Reward for thy Labour, as he that hangs, or is burnt for the Gospel. Wherefore saith the Apostle to Servants, Whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to Men, knowing that of the Lord you shall receive the Reward of Inheritance; for ye serve the Lord Christ, Col. 3. 22, 23, 24.

And now touching the three Sorts of Masters mentioned before.

First, For the Believing Master; saith Paul, They that have believing Masters, let them not despise them because they are Brethren, but rather do them Service because they they are faithful and beloved, and Partakers, (with the Servants) of the heavenly Benefits, 1 Tim. 6. 2. (Servants, if they have not a Care of their Hearts, will be so much in the Consideration of the Relation that is betwixt their Masters and they, as Brethren, that they will forget the Relation that is between them as Masters and Servants: Now, though they ought to remember the one, yet let them take heed of not forgetting the other: Know thy Place as a Servant, while thou considerest that thy Master and thee are Brethren, and do thy Work for him faithfully, humbly, and with Meekness, because he is a Master faithful and beloved, and Partaker of the heavenly Benefit.) If any Man teach otherwise, saith the Apostle Paul, and consent not to wholesome Words, even the Words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the Doctrine which is according to Godliness, he is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about Questions, and Strife of Words, whereof cometh Envy, Strife, Railings, evil Surmises, perverse Disputings of Men of corrupt Minds, and destitute of the Truth, supposing that Gain is Godliness, from such withdraw thyself..

3, 4, 5.

Secondly, For the unbelieving Masters (for of them Paul speaks in the first Verse of this 6th of Timothy) Let as many Servants, saith he, as be under the Yoke, count their own Masters worthy of all Honour, that the Word of God and his Doctrine be not blasphemed.

Servants living with unbelieving Masters, are greatly engaged to be both watchful, faithful and trusty. Ingaged, I say, 1. From the Consideration of the Condition of their Master; for he being unbelieving, will have an evil Eye upon thee, and upon thy Doings, and so much the more because thou professest: As in the Case of Saul and David, 1 Sam. 18. 8, 9, &c.

2. Thou art ingaged because of the Profession thou makest of the Word of God; for by thy Profession, thou dost lay both God and his Word before thy Master, and he hath no other Wit but to blaspheme them, if thou behave thyself unworthily. Wherefore Paul bids Titus, Exhort Servants to be obedient to their own Masters, and to please them well in all things, not answering again (not giving parroting Answers, or such as are crois or provoking) not purloining, but shewing all good Fidelity, that they may adorn the Doctrine of God our Saviour in all things, Tit. 2. 9, 10.

That Servant, who in an Unbeliever's Family, doth his Work before God, as God's Ordinance, he shall adorn the Doctrine of God, if not save his Master by so doing; but if he doth otherwise, he shall both stumble the Unbeliever, dishonour God, offend the Faithful, and bring Guilt upon his own Soul.

Thirdly, For the froward Master, though I distinguish him from the Unbeliever, yet it is not because he may not be such, but because every Unbeliever doth not properly go under that Name. Now with this froward and peevish Fellow, thou art to serve as faithfully for the time thou standest bound, as with the most pleasant and rational Master in the World. Servants, saith Peter, be subject to your Masters with all Fear, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward, Pet. 2. 18. And if thy peevish Master will still be froward, either out of Spite to thy Religion, or because he is without Reason concerning thy Labour, (thou to the utmost of thy Power labouring faithfully) God then reckoneth thee a Sufferer for well-doing, as truly as if thou wert called upon the Stage of this World before Men for the Matters of thy Faith. Wherefore Peter adds this Encouragement to Servants, to the Exhortation he gave them before: This is thank-worthy, saith he, if a Man for Conscience toward God endureth Grief, suffering wrongfully; for what Glory is it, if when ye be buffeted for your Faults, you take it patiently? But if when you do well, and suffer for it, you take it patiently, this is acceptable with God, 1 Pet. 2. 19, 20.

Wherefore be comforted concerning thy Condition, with considering that God looks upon thee, as on Jacob in the Family of Laban; and will right all thy Wrongs, and recompence thee for thy faithful, wise, and Godly Behaviour, before, and in the Service of thy froward Master.

Wherefore, be patient, I say, and abound in Faithfulness in thy Place and Calling, till God make a way for thy Escape from this Place; and when thou mayst be made free, use it rather.

1 Cor. 7. 21

Of Neighbours each to other.

HAVING thus in few Words shewed you what is Duty under your several Relations, I shall now at last speak, in a Word or two, touching good Neighbourhood, and then draw towards a Conclusion.

Touching Neighbourhood, there are these things to be considered and practised, if thou wilt be found in the practical Part of good Neighbourhood.

First, Thou must be of a good and sound Conversation in thy own Family, Place, and Station, shewing to all, the Power that the Gospel and the things of another World hath in thy Heart, That ye may be blameless and harmless, the Sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse Nation, among whom ye shine as Lights in the World, Phil. 2. 15, 16.

Secondly, As Persons must be of Good Behaviour at home, that will be good Neighbours, so they must be full of Courtesy and Charity to them that have need about them, Luke 10. 36, 37.

Right good Neighbourhood, is, for Men readily to Communicate, as of their Spirituals, so of their Temporalities, as Food, Rayment, and Help to those that have need; to be giving to the poor as thou seest them go by thee, or to enquire after their Condition, and according to thy Capacity to send unto them, Job 31. 15, 16, 17, &c.

Thirdly, Thou must be always humble and meek among them, as also grave and gracious; not light and frothy, but by thy Words and Carriage, Ministring Grace to the Hearers, Eph. 4. 29.

Thus also Job honoured God among his Neighbours, Job 30. 6, to 12.

Fourthly, Thy Wisdom will be, rightly to discountenance Sin, and to reprove thy Neighbour for the same, Levit. 19. 17. denying thy self in some things, for the preventing an Injury to thy Neighbour, that thou mayest please him for his Edification, Rom. 15. 2.

Fifthly, If thou wouldest be a good Neighbour, take heed of thy Tongue upon two Accounts.

1. That thou with it give no offensive Language to thy Neighbour, to the provoking of him to Anger: Bear much, put up wrongs, and say little: It is an Honour for a Man to cease from Strife: But every Fool will be meddling, Prov. 20. 3. And again, He loveth Transgression that loveth Strife.

And as thou shouldest take heed that thou be not the Original of Contention and Anger, so also take heed that thou be not an Instrument to beget it between Parties, by tale bearing and gossiping Spirit: He that passeth by, and medleth with Strife belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a Dog by the Ears. As Coals are to burning Coals, and Wood to Fire: so is a contentious Man to kindle Strife.

I do observe two things very odious in many Professors, the one is a head-strong and stiff-necked Spirit, that will have its own Way. And the other is, a great deal of tatling and Talk about Religion, and but a very little, if any thing, of those Christian Deeds that carry in them the Cross of a Christian in the doing thereof, and Profit to my Neighbour.

1. When I say a head-strong and stiff-necked Spirit, I mean, they are for pleasing themselves and their own Fancies, in things of no Weight, though their so doing be as the very Slaughter-knife to the weak Conscience of a Brother or Neighbour. Now this is base: A Christian in all such things as intrench not the Matters of Faith and Worship, should be full of self-denial, and seek to please others rather than themselves; Giving none offence to the Jew, nor to the Greek, nor to the Church of God; not seeking their own Profit, but the Profit of many, that they may be saved, 1 Cor. 10. 32, 33.

And the Second is as bad, to wit, when Professors are great Pratlers, and Talkers, and Disputers, but do little of any thing that bespeaketh Love to the Poor, or self-denial in outward things. Some People think Religion is made up of Words; a very wide Mistake: Words without Deeds, is but a half-faced Religion: Pure Religion, and undefiled before God and the Father, is this; To visit the Fatherless and Widows in their affliction, and to keep thy self unspotted from the World, Jam. 1. 27. Again, If a Brother or a Sister be destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, Depart in Peace, be warmed and filled (which are very fine Words,) yet if you give them not those things that are necessary to the Body, what doth it profit? Jam. 2. 15, 16.

Now then, before I go any farther, I will here take an occasion to touch a little upon those Sins that are so rife in many Professors in this Day; and they are, Covetousness, Pride, and Uncleanness; I would speak a Word to them in this Place, the rather, because they are they which spoil both Christian Brotherhood, and Civil Neighbourhood, in too great a Measure.

First, For Covetousness.

1. Covetousness, it is all one with Desire; he that desires, covets; whether the thing he desires be evil or good. Wherefore that which is called coveting, in Exod. 20. 17. is called Desire, in Deut. 5. 21. As the Apostle also saith, I had not known Lust except the Law had said, Thou shalt not covet, Rom. 7. 7. That is, I had not known Lust to be a Sin, unless the Law had forbid it. Wherefore though lawful Desires are good, 1 Cor. 12. 31. and to be commended; yet Covetousness as commonly understood, is to be fled from, and abhorred, as of the Devil.

2. Covetousness, or evil Desire, it is the first Mover, and giveth to every Sin its Call, as I may say, both to move, and act; as was said before, the Apostle had not known Sin, except the Law had said, Thou shalt not desire, or covet; for where there is no Desire to sin, there appears no Sin.

3. Therefore Covetousness carrieth in it every Sin, (we speak of Sins against the Second Table) even as a Serpent carrieth her young ones in her Belly. This the Scripture affirms, where it saith, Thou shalt not covet thy Neighbour's Wife, nor his Man-servant, nor his Maid-servant, nor his Ox, nor his Ass, nor any thing that is thy Neighbour's Exod. 20. 17. Covetousness will meddle with any thing.

Now there are in my Mind at present, these eight Notes of Covetousness, which hinder good Works, and a Christian Conversation among Men, where-ever they are harboured.

First, When Men, to whom God hath given a comfortable Livelihood, are yet not content therewith. This is against the Apostle, Apostle, where he saith, Let your Conversation be without Covetousness, and be content with such Things as ye have, for he hath said, I will never leave thee nor forsake thee, Heb. 13. 5.

Secondly, It is Covetousness in the Seller, that puts him to say of his Traffick, it is better than it is, that he may heighten the Price of it; and Covetousness in the Buyer, that prompts him to say worse of a thing, than he thinks in his Conscience it is, and that for an Abatement of a reasonable Price. This is that which the Apostle forbids under the Name of Defraud, 1 Cor. 6. 7, 8. And that which Solomon condemns.

Thirdly, It is through Covetousness, that Men think much of that which goeth beside their own Mouth, though possibly it goeth to those that have more Need than themselves, and also that better deserve it than they.

Luke 14.
18, 19, 20.

Fourthly, It argueth Covetousness, when Men will deprive themselves, and those under them, of the Privileges of the Gospel, for more of this World, and is condemned by Christ.

Fifthly, It argueth Covetousness, when Men that have it, can go by, or hear of the Poor, and shut up their Bowels and Compassions from them, 1 John 3. 17.

Sixthly, Also when Men are convinced it is their Duty to communicate to such and such that have need; yet they defer it, and if not quite forget it, yet linger away the Time, as being loth to distribute to the Necessities of those in Want. This is forbidden by the Holy Ghost. Withhold not Good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the Power of thy Hand to do it. Now, it is due from thee to the Poor, by the Commandment of God, if they want, and thou hast it: Say not then to thy Neighbour, go, and come again To-morrow, and I will give, when thou hast it by thee, Prov. 3. 27, 28.

Seventhly, It argueth a greedy Mind also, when, after Men have cast in their Minds what to give, they then from that will be pinching, and clipping, and taking away; whereas the Holy Ghost saith, Every one, as he purposeth in his Heart, so let him give, not grudgingly, nor of Necessity; for God loveth a cheerful Giver, 2 Cor. 9. 7.

Lastly, It argueth a filthy greedy Heart also when a Man, after he hath done any Good, then in his Heart to repent, and secretly wish that he had not so done, or at least, that he had not done so much: This is to be weary of well-doing; (I speak now of communicating) and carrieth in it two Evils, First, It spoileth the Work done: And, Secondly, It (if entertained) spoileth the Heart for doing any more so. The vile Person shall be no more called Liberal, nor the Churl said to be boun- tiful; for the Liberal deviseth liberal Things, Isa. 32. 6, 8. and by liberal Things he shall stand.

Now then, to dissuade all from this poisonous Sin, observe, that above all Sins in the New Testament, this is called Idolatry, Eph. 5. 5. Col. 3. 5. And therefore God's People should be so far from being taken with it, that they should be much afraid of the naming of it one among another, lest it should as adulterous Thoughts, infect the Heart, by the talking of it, Eph. 5. 3.

Quest. But why is Covetousness called Idolatry?

Ans. 1. Because it engageth the very Heart of a Man in it, to mind earthly Things; it gets our Love, which should be set on God; and sets it upon poor empty Creatures; it puts our Affections out of Heaven, where they should be, and sets them on Earth, where they should not be, Ezek. 33. 31. Phil. 3. 18, 19. Col. 3. 1, 2, 3. Thus it changeth the Object on which the Heart should be set, and setteth it on that on which it should not: It makes a Man forsake God, The Fountain of living Water, and causeth him to hew to himself Cisterns, broken Cisterns, which can hold no Water, Jer. 2. 11, 12, 13.

For, 2. It rejecteth the Care, Government, and Providence of God towards us, and causeth us to make of our Care and Industry a God, to whom, instead of God, we fly continually, both for the keeping what we have, and for getting more.

This was Israel's Idolatry of old, and the Original of all her idolatrous Practices, Hos. 2. 5. For their Mother hath played the Harlot; (that is, committed Idolatry) she that conceived them hath done shamefully; for she said, I will go after my Lovers, that gave me my Bread and my Waters, my Wooll and my Flax, my Oil and my Drink.

3. It disalloweth of God's Way of disposing his Creatures, and would have them ordered and disposed of otherwise than his heavenly Wisdom seemeth meet; and hence ariseth all Discontents about God's dealing with us. Covetousness never yet said, It is the Lord, let him do what he pleaseth; but is ever objecting, like God, against every Thing that goeth against it; and it is that which, like a God, draweth away the Heart and Soul from the true God, and his Son Jesus Christ. And he went away sorrowful; for he had great Possessions, Mat. 19. 16, to 23. Now then, that which engageth the Heart, that rejecteth the Providence of God, and that is for ordering and disposing of Things contrary to God, and for breaking with God upon these Terms, is Idolatry; and all these do Covetousness. The Wicked boasteth of his Heart's Desire, and blesteth the Covetous, whom the Lord abhorreth, Psal. 10. 3. Now the Way to remedy this Disease, is, is, to learn the Lesson which Paul had got by Heart; to wit, In whatsoever State you are, therewith to be content. Phil. 4. 11, 12, 13.

I come in the second Place, to speak a Word of Pride and Loftiness of Heart and Life.

Of Pride.

1. PRIDE in general, it is that, which causeth a Man to think of Man and his Things, above what is written, 1 Cor. 4. 6.

2. It hath its Seat in the Heart among these Enormities, Fornications, Adulteries, Lasciviousness, Murders, Deceit, &c. Mark 7. 21, 22, 23. and sheweth it self in these following Particulars.

First, When you slight this or that Person, though gracious; that is, look over them, and shun them for their Poverty in this World, and chuse rather to have Converse with others, that possibly are less gracious, because of their Greatness in this World. This the Apostle James writes against, James 2. 1, 2, 3. under the Name of Partiality; for indeed the Fruits of a puffed up Heart, is to deal in this Manner with Christians, 1 Cor. 4. 6, 7.

Now this Branch of Pride floweth from Ignorance of the Vanity of the Creature, and of the Worth of a gracious Heart: Wherefore get more of the Knowledge of these two, and this Sprig will be nipt in the Head, and you will learn to condescend to Men of low Degree, Rom. 12. 16.

Secondly, It argues Pride of Heart, when Men will not deny themselves in Things what they may, for the Good and Profit of their Neighbours. And it argueth now, that Pride is got so much up into Self-Love and Self-Pleasing, that they little care who they grieve or offend, so they may have their Way, Obad. 12. 13, 14, 15.

Thirdly, It argueth Pride of Heart, when sober Reproofs for Sin, and unbecoming Carriages will not down with thee, but that rather thou snuffest, and givest Way to thy Spirit to be peevish, and to retain Prejudice against those that thus reprove thee. Saith the Prophet, Hear ye, and give Ear, be not proud, for the Lord hath spoken: That is, Hear the Reproofs of God for your Sins, and break them off by Repentance. But if you will not hear, my Soul shall weep in Secret for your Pride, &c. Jer. 13. 15, 16, 17. So also in Hosea, They will not frame their Doing to turn unto their God; for the Spirit of Whoredom is in the midst of them: They have not known the Lord; and the Pride of Israel doth testify to his Face, &c. Hof. 5. 4, 5.

This argueth great Senselessness of God, and a Heart greatly out of Frame.

Fourthly, It argueth Pride also, when a Reproof or Admonition will not down as well from the poorest Saint, as from the greatest Doctor; and it argueth a Glory in Men, 1 Col. 3. 21. and that they would, that their Faith should stand in their Wisdom, and not in the Power of God: That is, of naked Truth, 1 Cor. 2. 5.

Fifthly, It argueth Pride of Heart, when a Man that hath this or that in his Heart to do, in reference to God, but yet will slight a sober asking Counsel and Direction of God in this Matter. The Wicked, through the Pride of his Countenance, will not seek after God, saith David, Psal. 10. 4.

Sixthly, It argueth Pride of Heart, when Persons are tickled with Thoughts of their own Praise, that secretly Lust after it; that think of themselves and others above what is written; which those do, who do not acknowledge that Man in his best Estate is altogether Vanity: But such kind of People have forgot the Exhortation, Be not high-minded, but fear, Rom. 11. 10. And also, That there is a Knowledge that puffeth up, and edifieth neither themselves nor others. 1 Cor. 8. 1, 2.

Wherefore, to such the Apostle saith, Be not desirous of Vain-glory, but in Lowliness of Mind, let each esteem others better than themselves, Phil. 2. 3. Gal. 5. 26.

Pride also there is in outward Carriage, Behaviour, and Gesture, which is odious for Christians to be tainted with; and this Pride is discovered by mincing Words, a made Carriage, and an affecting the Toys and Baubles that Satan, and every light-headed Fool bringeth into the World. As God speaketh of the Daughters of Zion, They walk with stretched-out Necks, wanton Eyes, mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their Feet, Isa. 3. 16. A very unhandsome Carriage for People that profess Godliness, and that use to come before God to confess their Sins, and to bemoan themselves for what they have done: How can a Sense of thy own Baseness, of the Vileness of thy Heart, and of the Holiness of God, stand with such a Carriage? Dost thou see the Vileness of thy Heart, the Fruit of Sin? And art thou afflicted with that Disagreement that is between God and thy Heart, that layest the Reins on the Neck of thy Lusts, and lettest them run whither they will? Be not deceived; Pride ariseth from Ignorance of these things, 1 Tim. 6. 3, 4. A Sense of my Vileness, of what I have deserved, and of what continually in my Heart opposeth God, cannot stand with a foolish, light, and wanton Carriage: thou wilt then see there is other things to mind than to imitate the Butterfly: Alas, all these kind of things, are but a painting the Devil, and setting a carnal Gloss upon a Castle of his; thou art but making gay the Spider: is thy Heart ever the founder for thy fine Gate, thy mincing Words, and thy lofty Looks? Nay, doth not this argue; that thy Heart is a rotten, cankered and besotted Heart? Oh! that God would but let thee see a little of thy own Inside, as thou hast others to behold thy Outside: thou painted Sepulchre; thou whited Wall, will these things be found Vertues in the Day of God? Or, is this the Way that thou takest to mortifie Sin? An high Look, a proud Heart, and the plowing of the Wicked is Sin, Prov. 21. 4. Pride is the Ring-leader of the seven Abominations that the wise Man nameth, Prov. 6. 16, 17. And is that above all that causeth to fall into the Condemnation of the Devil, 1 Tim. 3. 6.

Of Adultery or Uncleanness.

NOW I come in the last Place to touch a Word or two of Adultery, and then to draw towards a Conclusion.

Adultery, it hath its Place in the Heart among the rest of those Filthinesses I mentioned before, Mark 7. 21, 22. of which Sin I observe two things.

First, That almost in every Place where the Apostle layeth down a Catalogue of Wickednesses, he layeth down Adultery, Fornication, and Uncleanness, in the Front; as that in Mark 7. 21. Rom. 1. 29. 1 Cor. 6. 9. Gal. 5. 19. Eph. 5. 3. 1 Thes. 4. 3, 4, 5. Heb. 12. 16. Jam. 2. 11. 1 Pet. 2. 11. 2 Pet. 2. 10.

From this I gather that the Sin of Uncleanness is a very predominant and master Sin, easy to overtake the Sinner, as being one of the first that is ready to offer itself at all Occasions to break the Law of God.

Secondly, I observe, that this Sin is committed unawares to many, even so soon as a Man hath but looked upon a Woman. I say unto you, saith Christ, that whosoever looketh on a Woman to lust or desire after her, he hath already committed Adultery with her in his Heart, Mat. 5. 28.

This Sin of Uncleanness, I say, is a very taking Sin, it is natural above all Sins to Mankind; as it is most natural, so it wants not tempting Occasions, having Objects for to look on in every Corner: Wherefore there is need of a double and treble Watchfulness in the Soul against it. It is better here to make a Covenant with our Eyes, like Job, (Job. 31. 1.) than to let them wander to God's Dishonour, and our own Discomfort.

There are these three Things which discover a Man or Woman too much inclining to the Uncleanness of their own Hearts.

The first is a wanton Eye, or an Eye that doth secretly affect it self with such Objects as are tickling of the Heart with the Thoughts of Immodesty and Uncleanness. Isaiah calls this a wanton Eye; and Peter, an Eye full of Adultery, that cannot cease from Sin, 2 Pet. 2. 14. Isa. 3. 16. This is that also which Christ calleth an evil Eye; and John, the Lust of the Flesh, and of the Eyes, and doth defile those who are not very watchful over their own Hearts, Mark 7. 22. 1 John 2. 16.

This wanton Eye, is that which the most holy Saints should take Heed of, because it is apt to seize upon them also. When Paul bids Timothy beseech the younger Woman to walk as becomes the Gospel, he bids him do it with all Purity: As who should say, Take Heed that while thou instructest them to Holiness, thou thy self be not corrupted with the Lust of thy Eye, 1 Tim. 5. 1, 2. O how many Souls in the Day of God, will curse the Day that ever they gave Way to a wanton Eye!

2. The second Thing that discovereth one much inclining to the Lusts of Uncleanness, it is wanton and immodest Talk; such as that brazen-faced Whore in the seventh of the Proverbs had, or such as they in Peter, who allured, through the Lust of the Flesh, through much Wantonness, those who were clean escaped from them, who live in Error, 2 Pet. 2. 18. Out of the Abundance of the Heart the Mouth speaketh: Wherefore if we be Saints, let us take Heed, as of our Eye, so of our Tongue, and let not the Lust of Uncleanness, or of Adultery, be once named among us, named among us as becometh Saints, Ephes. 5. 3. Mark: Let it not be once named. This implies, that the Lusts of Uncleanness are devilishly taking; they will both take the Heart with Eyes and Tongue: Let it not be once named among you, &c.

Thirdly, Another Thing that bespeaks a Man or Woman inclining to Wantonness and Uncleanness, it is an adorning themselves in light and wanton Apparel. The Attire of an Harlot is too frequently in our Day the Attire of Professors; a vile Thing, and argueth much Wantonness and Vileness of Affections. If those that give way to a wanton Eye, wanton Words, and immodest Apparel, be not Whores, &c. in their Hearts, I know not what to say. Doth a wanton Eye argue Shamefacedness? Doth wanton Talk argue Chastity? And doth immodest Apparel, with stretched-out Necks, naked Breasts, a made Speech, and mincing Gates, &c. argue mortification of Lusts?

If any say that these Things may argue Pride as well as carnal Lusts. Well: But why are they proud? Is it not to trick up the Body? And why do they with Pride trick up the Body, if it be not to provoke both themselves and others to Lusts: God knoweth their Hearts without their Outsides; and we know their Hearts by their Outsides.

My Friends, I am here treating of Good Works, and persuading you to fly those Things that are Hinderances to them; wherefore bear with my Plainness when I speak against Sin; I would strike it through ¹ Tim. 6. 9, 10. with every Word, because else it will strike us through with many Sorrows.

I do not treat of good Works as if the doing of them would save us, (For we are justified by his Grace, according to the Hope of Eternal Life;) yet our Sins and Evil Works will lay us obnoxious to the Judgments both of God and Man. He that walketh not uprightly, according to the Truth of the Gospel, is like to have his Peace assaulted often, both by the Devil, the Law, Death, and Hell; yea, and is like to have God hide his Face from him also, for the Iniquity of his Covetousness, Isa. 57. 17.

How can he that carrieth himself basely in the Sight of Men, think he yet well-behaveth himself in the Sight of God? And if so dim a Light as is in Man, can justly count thee as a Transgressor, How shall thy Sins be hid from him, whose Eye-Lids try the Children of Men?

'Tis true, Faith without Works justifies us before God: Yet that Faith that is alone, will be found to leave us Sinners in the Sight both of God and Man, Rom. 3. 28. and 4. 5. James 2. 18. And though thou addest nothing to that which saveth thee by what thou canst do, yet thy Righteousness may profit the Son of Man; as also saith the Text: But if thou shalt be so careless as to say, What care I for being righteous to profit others? I tell thee, that the Love of God is not in thee, Job 35. 18. 1 John 3. 17. 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2, 3.

Walk therefore in God's Ways, and do them, for this is your Wisdom, and your Understanding in the sight of the Nations, which shall hear of all these Statutes, and say, this great Nation is a wise and understanding People, Deut. 4. 6.

Observat. 3. Every Believer should not only take heed that their Works be good, and so for the present do them, but should carefully study to maintain them; that is, to keep in a continual exercise of them.

It is an easier matter to begin to do good, than it is to continue therein; and the Reason is, there is not so much of a Christian's Cross in the beginning of a Work, as there is in a continual, hearty, conscientious Practice thereof. Therefore Christians have need, as to be pressed to do good, so to continue the Work: Man by Nature, is rather a hearer than a doer, Athenian like, continually listning after some new Thing; seeing many Things, but observing nothing, Acts 17. 20. Isa. 42. 20. It is observable, that after Christ had divided his Hearers into four Parts, he condemned three of them for fruitless Hearers, Luk. 8. 5, 6, 7, 8. O it is hard continuing believing, continuing loving, continuing resisting all that opposeth; we are subject to be weary of well-doing, Gal. 6. 7. To pluck out right Eyes, to cut off right Hands and Feet, is no pleasant Thing to Flesh and Blood: and yet none but these shall have the Promise of Life; because none but these will be found to have the effectual Work of God's Grace in their Souls: If ye continue in my Word, then are you my Disciples [indeed] Mat. 18. 8, 9. and 24. 13. John 8. 31. And hence it is that you find so many If's in the Scripture about Men's Happiness; as, if you be Sons, then Heirs, and if you continue in the Faith; and if we hold the beginning of our Confidence stedfast to the End, Rom. 8. 17. Col. 1. 23. Heb. 3. 14. Not that their continuing in the Way of God, is the Cause of the Work being right; but the Work being right; causeth the continuance therein. As John saith in another Place, They went out from us, because they were not of us; for had they been of us, [no doubt] saith he, they would have continued with us, 1 John 2. 19. But I say, where the Work of God indeed is savingly begun, even there is Flesh, Corruption, and the Body of Death to oppose it: Therefore should Christians take heed, and look that against these Opposites, they maintain a continual course of good Works among Men.

Besides, as there is that in our own Bowels that opposeth Goodness, so there is the Tempter, the wicked One, both to animate these Lusts, and to join with them in every Assault against every Appearance of God in our Souls. And hence it is, that he is called the Devil, the Enemy, the Destroyer, and him that seeks continually to devour us, 1 Pet. 5. 8. I need say no more but this; he that will walk like a Christian indeed, as he shall find it is requisite, that he continue in good Works; so his continuing therein, will be oppos'd; if therefore he will continue therein, he must make it his Business to study how to oppose those that oppose such a Life, that he may continue therein. Now then to help in this, here fitly comes in the last Observation: to wit,

That the best Way both to provoke our selves and others to good Works, it is to be often affirming to others, the Doctrine of Justification by Grace, and to believe it our selves, This is a faithful saying; and these Things I will that thou affirm constantly, that those which have believed in God, might be careful to maintain good Works.

I told you before, that good Works must flow from Faith: And now I tell you, that the best Way to be fruitful in them, is to be much in the exercise of the Doctrine of Justification by Grace; and they both agree; for as Faith animates to good Works, so the Doctrine of Grace animates Faith: Wherefore, the Way to be rich in good Works, it is to be rich in Faith; and the Way to be rich in Faith, is to be conscientiously affirming the Doctrine of Grace to others, and believing it our selves.

First, To be constantly affirming it to others. Thus Paul tells Timothy, that if he put the Brethren in mind of the Truths of the Gospel, he himself should not only be a good Minister of Christ, but should be nourished up in the Words of Faith and of good Doctrine, 1 Tim. 4. 6.

It is the Ordinance of God, that Christians should be often asserting the Things of God each to others; and that by their so doing, they should edifie one another, Heb. 10. 24, 25.

The Doctrine of the Gospel is like the Dew and the small Rain that distilleth upon the tender Grasse, wherewith it doth flourish, and is kept green, Deut. 32. 1.

Christians are like the several Flowers in a Garden, that have upon each of them the Dew of Heaven, which being shaken with the Wind, they let fall their Dew at each others Roots, whereby they are jointly nourished, and become Nourishers of one another, for Christians to commune favourly of God's Matters one with another, it is as if they opened to each others Nostrils Boxes of Perfume. Saith Paul to the Church at Rome, I long to see you, that I may impart unto you some spiritual Gift, to the end you may be established; that is, that I may be comforted together with you, by the mutual Faith both of you and me, Rom. 1. 11, 12.

Christians should be often affirming the Doctrine of Grace, and Justification by it, one to another.

Secondly, As they should be thus doing, so they should live in the Power of it themselves, they should by Faith suck and drink in this Doctrine, as the good Ground receiveth the Rain; which being done, forthwith there is proclaimed good Works. Paul to the Colossians, saith thus, We give Thanks to God, and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you, since we heard of your Faith in the Lord Jesus, and Love to all the Saints; for the Hope which is laid up in Heaven for you, whereof ye heard before in the Word of the Truth of the Gospel, which is come unto you, as it is also in all the World, and bringeth forth Fruit, as it doth also in you. But how long ago? Why, since the Day ye heard it, saith he, and knew the Grace of God in Truth, Col. 1. 3, to 7.

Apples and Flowers are not made by the Gardiner; but are an effect of the planting and watering. Plant in the Sinner good Doctrine, and let it be watered with the Word of Grace; and as the effect of that, there is the Fruits of Holiness, and the end everlasting Life, Rom. 6. 22.

Good Doctrine is the Doctrine of the Gospel, which sheweth to Men, that God cloatheth them with the Righteousness of his Son, freely, and maketh him with all his Benefits over to them; by which free Gift the Sinner is made righteous before God; and because he is so, therefore there is infused a Principle of Grace into the Heart, whereby it is both quickened, and bringeth forth Fruit, Rom. 3. 21, to 26. 1 Cor. 1. 30. 2 Cor. 5. 21. John 1. 16.

Now then, seeing good Works do flow from Faith, and seeing Faith is nourished by an affirming of the Doctrine of the Gospel, &c. take here these few Considerations from the Doctrine of the Gospel, for the Support of thy Faith, that thou mayest be indeed fruitful and rich in good Works.

First, The whole Bible was given for this very End, that thou shouldest both believe this Doctrine, and live in the Comfort and Sweetness of it: For whatsoever Things Rom. 15. was written afore-time, was written for 4. Joh. 20. 31 our learning, that we through Patience and Comfort of the Scriptures might have Hope.

Secondly, That therefore every Promise in the Bible is thine, to strengthen, quicken, and encourage thy Heart in believing.

Thirdly, Consider that there is nothing that thou dost, can so please God as believing: The Lord takes Pleasure in them that fear him, in them that hope in his Mercy, Psal. 147. 11.

They please him because they imbrace his Righteousness, &c.

Fourthly, Consider that all the Withdrawings of God from thee, are not for the weakening, but for the Tryal of thy Faith; and also, that what-ever he Job 23. 8, suffers Satan, or thy own Heart, to do, it 9, 10. 1 Pet. 1. 7. is not to weaken Faith.

Fifthly, Consider, that believing is that which will keep in thy view the Things of Heaven and Glory; and that at which the Devil will be discouraged, Sin weakened, and thy Heart quickened and sweetened, Heb. 11. 27. Jam. 4. 7. 1 Pet. 5. 9. Eph. 6. 16. Rom. 15. 13.

Lastly, By believing, the Love of God is kept with warmth upon the Heart, and that this will provoke thee continually to bless God for Christ, for Grace, for Faith, Hope, and all these Things, either in God, or thee, that doth accompany Salvation, 2 Cor. 2. 14. Psal. 103. 1, 2, 3, 4. The Doctrine of the Forgiveness of Sins received by Faith, will make notable Work in the Heart of a Sinner, to bring forth good Works.

But Secondly, Forasmuch as there is a Body of Death and Sin in every one that hath the Grace of God in this World; and because this Body of Death will be ever opposing that which is good, as the Apostle saith, Rom. 7. 21. therefore take these few Particulars further, for the suppressing that which will hinder a fruitful Life.

1. Keep a continual Watch over the wretchedness of thy own Heart (not to be discouraged at the Sight of thy Vileness) but to prevent its Wickedness; for that will labour labour either to hinder thee from doing good Works, or else will hinder thee in the doing thereof; for Evil is present with thee for both these Purposes; Take heed, then, that thou do not listen to that at any Time, but deny, though with much struggling, the workings of Sin to the contrary.

2. Let this be continually before thy Heart, that God's Eye is upon thee, and seeth every secret turning of thy Heart, either too or from him: All Things are naked and bare before the Eyes of him with whom we have to do, Heb. 4. 13.

3. If thou deny to do that good which thou oughtest, with what thy God hath given thee; then consider, that though he love thy Soul, yet he can chastise; First, Thy inward Man with such Troubles, that thy Life shall be restless and comfortless: Secondly, And can also so blow upon thy outward Man, that all thou gettest, shall be put in a Bag with Holes, Psal. 89. 31, 32, 33. Hag. 1.6. And set the Case he should license but one Thief among thy Substance, or one Spark of Fire among thy Barns, how quickly might that be spent ill, and against thy Will, which thou shouldest have spent to God's Glory, and with thy Will? And I tell thee further, that if thou want a Heart to do good when thou hast about thee, thou mayest want Comfort in such Things thy self from others, when thine is taken from thee. See Judg. 1. 6, 7.

4. Consider, that a Life full of good Works, is the only Way, on thy Part, to answer the Mercy of God extended to thee; God hath had Mercy on thee, and hath saved thee from all thy Distresses; God hath not stuck to give thee his Son, his Spirit, and the Kingdom of Heaven: Saith Paul, I beseech you therefore by the Mercies of God, that you present your Bodies a living Sacrifice to God, holy, acceptable, which is your reasonable Service, Rom. 12.

1. See Mat. 18. 32, 33.

5. Consider, that this is the Way to convince all Men, that the Power of God's Things hath taken hold of thy Heart (I speak to them that hold the Head) and say what thou wilt, if thy Faith be not accompanied with a holy Life, thou shalt be judged a withered Branch, a wordy Professor, Salt without Savour, and as lifeless as a sounding Brass, and a tinkling Cymbal, Joh. 15. Mat. 13. 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2. For, say they, shew us your Faith by your Works, for we cannot see your Hearts, Jam. 2. 18. But I say on the contrary, if thou walk as becomes thee who art saved by Grace, then thou wilt witness in every Man's Conscience, that thou art a good Tree; now thou leavest Guilt on the Heart of the Wicked, 2 Sam. 24. 16, 17. Now thou takest off Occasion from that desire Occasion, and now thou art clear from the Blood of all Men,

2 Cor. 11. 12. Acts 20. 26, 31, to 35. This is the Man also that provoketh others to good Works: The Ear that heareth such a Man, shall bless him; and the Eye that seeth him, shall bear Witness to him. Surely, saith David, he shall never be moved: The Righteous shall be had in everlasting Remembrance, Heb. 10. 24. Job 29. 11. Psal. 112. 6.

6. Again, the Heart that is fullest of good Works, hath in it least room for Satan's Temptations: And this is the meaning of Peter, where he saith, Be sober, be vigilant; that is, be busying thy self in Faith and Holiness, for the Devil, your Adversary, goeth about like a roaring Lion, seeking whom he may devour, 1 Pet. 5. 8. He that walketh uprightly, walketh safely; and they that add to Faith, Vertue; to Vertue Knowledge; to Knowledge, Temperance; to Temperance, Brotherly Kindness; and to these Charity, and that abounds therein, he shall neither be barren nor unfruitful; he shall never fall, but so an entrance shall be ministered to him abundantly, into the ever-^{2 Pet. 1. 5, to 12.}lasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour ^{Prov. 10. 9.}Jesus Christ.

7. The Man who is fullest of good Works, he is fittest to live, and fittest to die: I am now (at any Time) ready to be offered up, saith fruitful Paul, 2 Tim. 4. 6. Whereas he that is barren, he is neither fit to live, nor fit to die: To die, he himself is convinced he is not fit; and to live, God himself saith, he is not fit; Cut him down, Why doth he cumber the Ground? Luke 13. 7.

Lastly, Consider, to provoke thee to good Works, thou shalt have of God when thou comest to Glory, a Reward for every Thing thou dost for him on Earth. Little do the People of God consider, how richly God will reward, what from a right Principle and to a right End, is done for him here; not a bit of Bread to the poor, not a draught of Water to the meanest of them that belong to Christ, or the loss of a hair of your Head, shall in that Day go without its Reward, Luke 14. 13, 14. Mat. 10. 42.

For this light Affliction (and so all other Pieces of Self-denial) which is but for a Moment, worketh out for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of Glory, 2 Cor. 4. 17. I tell thee Christian, be but rich in good Works, and thou shalt have more than Salvation; thy Salvation thou hast freely by Grace through Christ, without Works. Ephes. 2. 8, 9, 10. but now being justified and saved, and as the Fruits hereof, reviewed by the Holy Ghost; after this, I say, thou shalt be rewarded for every Work that proves good; For God is not unrighteous to forget your Works and Labour of Love, which you have shewed to his Name, in that you have ministered to his Saints, and do Minister. Heb. 6. 10. 1 Cor. 3. 14. Moses

Moses counted the Reward that he was to have, for a short suffering with the People of God, of greater worth, than the Treasures of Egypt, the Smiles of the King, or the Honour of his Kingdom. Heb. 11. 25, 26, 27.

The fruitless Professors must meet with disappointments. In a Word, Let the Disappointments that do, and shall most surely befall the fruitless Professors, provoke thee to look with all Diligence to thy standing. For

First, Such a one is but deceived and disappointed touching the Work of Grace he supposeth to be in his Heart, he thinks he is a Christian, and hath Grace, as Faith, Hope, and the like, in his Soul, yet no Fruits of these Things manifest themselves in him; indeed his Tongue is tipt with a Talk and Tattle of Religion: Poor Man, poor empty Man! Faith without Works is dead; thy Hope shall be as the giving up of the Ghost; thy Gifts with which thy Soul is possessed, are but such as are common to Reprobates; thou art therefore disappointed, God reputes thee still but wicked, though thou comest and goest to the Place of the Holy, Jam. 2. 19, 20. Job 11. 20. 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2, 3.

Secondly, Therefore all thy Joy and Comfort must needs fall short of saving Comfort, and so leave thee in the Suds notwithstanding; thy Joy is the Joy of the Pharisees, Job. 5. 33. and thy Gladness as that of Herod; Mark 6. 20. and the longest Time it can last, it is but a Scripture Moment, Job 20. 5. Alas, in all thy Gladness and Content with thy Religion, thou art but like the Boy that plays with Brass instead of Gold; and with Counters instead of that which will go for currant Coin: Thus, If a Man think himself to be something when he is nothing, he deceiveth or disappoints himself, Gal. 6. 3.

Thirdly, This is not all, but look thou certainly for an eternal Disappointment in the Day of God, for it must be; thy Lamp will out at the first Sound the Trump of God shall make in thine Ears; thou canst not hold up at the Appearance of the Son of God in his Glory; his very Looks will be to thy Profession, as a strong Wind is to a blinking Candle, and thou shalt be left only to smoke.

Oh the Alteration that will befall a foolish Virgin! She thought she was happy, and that she should have received Happiness with those that were right at the Heart; but behold the contrary, her Lamp is going out, she is now to seek for saving Grace, when the Time of Grace is over; her Heaven she thought of, is proved a Hell, and her God is proved a Devil; God hath cast her out of his Presence, and claps the Door upon her; she pleads her Profession, and the like, and she hath for her Answer repulses from Heaven: So are the Paths of all that forget God; and the Hypocrites Hope shall perish; whose Hope shall be cut off, and whose Trust shall be the Spiders Web; though he lean upon his House, it shall not stand; he shall hold it fast, but it shall not endure, Mat. 25. 1, to 10. Luk. 13. 25, to 29. Job 8. 13, 14, 15.

Take heed therefore; thy Soul, Heaven, and Eternity lies at Stake; yea, they turn either to thee or from thee upon the Hinge of thy Faith: If it be right, all is thine; if wrong, then all is lost, however thy Hopes and Expectations are to the contrary; For in Christ Jesus neither Circumcision availeth any Thing, nor Uncircumcision, but Faith which worketh by Love: Let no Man therefore deceive you with vain Words, for because of these Things cometh the Wrath of God upon the Children of Unbelief: For the Earth that drinketh in the Rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth Herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing from God; but that which beareth Briars and Thorns, is [rejected] and is nigh unto cursing, whose end is to be burned, Gal. 5. 6. Eph. 5. 3, 4, 5, 6. Heb. 6. 7, 8.

Object. But what shall I do, who am so cold, slothful and heartless, that I cannot find any Heart to do any Work for God in this World? Indeed Time was when his Dew rested all Night upon my Branches, and when I could with Desire, with earnest Desire, be doing and working for God; but alas, now it is otherwise.

Answer. If this be true, thy Case is sad, thou art to be pitied; the Lord pity thee: And for thy recovery out of this Condition, I would give thee no other Counsel, than was given to Ephesus, when she had lost her first Love; Remember, saith Christ, from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do thy first Works, &c.

Mark: Thy first Works, is to enter into a serious considering, and remembrance from whence thou art fallen: Remember that thou hast left thy God, the Stay of thy Soul, and him without whom there is no Stay, Comfort, or Strength, for thee either to do or suffer any Thing in this World. Without me, saith he, you can do nothing, John 15. 5. A sad Condition; the remembrance of this, for certain, is the first Step to the recovering a back-sliding Heart; for the right Remembrance of this, doth bring to Mind what Loss that Soul hath sustained that is in this Condition, how it hath lost its former Visits, Smiles, and Confolations of God: When thy Conscience was supplied with the Blood of thy Saviour; when every Step thou tookest, was, as it were in Honey and Butter; and when thy Heart could meditate Terror with Comfort, Job 29. 2, to 7. Isa. 33. 14, to 19. Instead of which, thou feelest darkness, hardness of Heart, and the Thoughts of God are terrible to thee, Psal. 77. 3. Now God never visits thee; or if he doth, it is but as a wayfaring Man, that tarrieth but for a Night.

Jer. 14. 8.

This also brings to mind, how the Case is altered with thee, touching thy Confidence in God for thy future Happiness, how uncertain thou now art of thy Hopes for Heaven, how much this Life doth hang in doubt before thee, Deut. 28. 65, 66.

2. Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent.] These are Words well put together; for a solid considering of what I have lost in my declining, will provoke in my Heart a Sorrow, and godly heaviness, whereby I shall be forced to bemoan my Condition, and say, I will go and return to my first Husband, for then it was better with me than now, Hos. 2. 7.

And believe it, the Reason of God's standing off from giving thee comfortable Communion with himself, it is, that thou mightest first see the difference between sticking close to God, and forsaking of him; and next, that thou mightest indeed acknowledge thy Offence, and seek his Face, Hos. 5. 15. He taketh no Pleasure in thy forlorn Condition; he had rather thou shouldst have him in thy Bosom, only he will have it in his own Way: He looketh down upon Men, and if any say, I have sinned, and perverted that which is right, and it profiteth me not; then he will deliver his Soul from going down into the Pit, and his Life shall see the Light, Job 33. 27, 28.

3. Remember from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do thy first Works.

As there should be a remembring and a repenting; so there should be a hearty doing our first Works; a believing as before; a laying hold of the Things of Heaven and Glory, as at the first; for now is God returned to thee, as before; Zech. 1. 16. And tho' thou maist thro' the Loss of thy Locks, with Samson, be weak at the first, yet, in short time, thy Hair will grow again; that is, thy former Experience will in short Space be as long, large and strong as in the former times; indeed at the first thou wilt find all the Wheels of thy Soul rusty, and all the Strings of thine Heart out of tune; as also when thou first beginnest to stir, the Dust and Filth of thy Heart, will, like Smoak, trouble thee from that clear beholding the Grace of thy God, and his Love to thy Soul; but yet wait, and go on, and though thou findest thyself as unable to do any thing as thou formerly couldest; yet I say, up, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee; for he hath not despised the Day of thy small things, 1 Chron. 22. 16. Zech. 4. 10.

I know thou wilt be afflicted with a thousand Temptations, to drive thee to despair, that thy Faith may be faint, &c. But against all them set thou the Word of God, the Promise of Grace, the Blood of Christ, and the Examples of God's Goodness to the great Back-sliders, that are for thy Encouragement, recorded in the Scriptures of Truth; and remember, that turning to God after Back-sliding, is the greatest Piece of Service thou canst do for him, and the greatest Honour thou canst bring to the Blood of Christ; and know farther, that God, to shew his willing Reception of so unworthy a Creature, saith, There shall be Joy in Heaven at thy Conversion to him again, Luke 15. 7, 10.

To Conclude.

IF thou yet, notwithstanding what hath been said, dost remain a Back-slider.

First, Then remember that thou must die; and remember also, that when the Terrors of God, of Death, and a Back-slidden Heart meet together, there will be sad Work in that Soul; this is the Man that hangeth tilting over the Mouth of Hell, while Death is cutting the Thread of his Life.

Secondly, Remember, that though God doth sometimes, yea, often, receive Back-sliders; yet it is not always so: Some draw back unto Perdition; for because they have flung up God, and would none of him, he in Justice flings up them and their Souls for ever, Prov. 1. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28.

I have observed that sometimes God, as it were, in Revenge for Injury done him, doth snatch away Souls in the very Nick of their Back-sliding; as he served Lot's Wife, when he turned her into a Pillar of Salt, even while she was looking over her Shoulder to Sodom, Gen. 19. 26. An Example that every Back-slider should remember with Astonishment, Luke 17. 32.

Thus have I in few Words, written to you, (before I die) a Word to provoke you to Faith and Holiness, because I desire that you may have the Life that is laid up for all them that believe in the Lord Jesus, and love one another when I am deceased; though there I shall rest from my Labours, and be in Paradise, as through Grace I comfortably believe; yet it is not there, but here, I must do you good; wherefore I not knowing the shortness of my Life, nor the Hindrance that hereafter I may have of serving my God and You, I have taken this Opportunity to present these few Lines unto you for your Edification.

Consider what hath been said, and the Lord give you Understanding in all things.

A Dis-

A Discourse touching PRAYER.

Wherein is briefly Discovered,

1. What PRAYER is.
2. What it is to PRAY with the Spirit.
3. What it is to PRAY with the Spirit, and with the Understanding also.

But, we know not what we should pray for as we ought; only the Spirit helpeth our Infirmities, ROM. VIII. 26.

I CORINTHIANS XIV. 15.

I will pray with the Spirit, and I will pray with the Understanding also.

PRAYER is an Ordinance of God, and that to be used both in Publick and Private; yea, such an Ordinance, as brings those that have the Spirit of Supplication, into great Familiarity with God; and is also so Prevalent an Action, that it getteth of God, both for the Person that Prayeth, and for them that are Prayed for, great things. It is the Opener of the Heart of God, and a Means by which the Soul though empty, is filled. By Prayer, the Christian can open his Heart to God, as to a Friend, and obtain fresh Testimony of God's Friendship to him. I might spend many Words in distinguishing between Publick and Private Prayer; as also between that in the Heart, and that with the Vocal Voice: Something also might be spoken to distinguish between the Gifts and Graces of Prayer; but eschewing this Method, my Business shall be at this time only to shew you the very Heart of Prayer, without which, all your lifting up, both of Hands, and Eyes, and Voices, will be to no Purpose at all, I will Pray with the Spirit.

The Method that I shall go in at this time, shall be, First, To shew you what true Prayer is. Secondly, To shew you, what it is to pray with the Spirit. Thirdly, What it is to Pray with the Spirit, and Understanding also. And so, Fourthly, To make some short Use and Application of what shall be spoken.

What Prayer is.

FOR the First, What Prayer is. Prayer is a sincere, sensible, affectionate pouring out of the Heart or Soul to God, through Christ, in the Strength and Affistance of the Holy Spirit, for such things as God hath Promised, or according to the Word, for the Good of the Church, with Submission, in Faith, to the Will of God.

In this Description are these seven things.

1. It is a Sincere. 2. A Sensible. 3. An Affectionate pouring out of the Soul to God, through Christ. 4. By the strength or Assistance of the Spirit. 5. For such things as God hath promised, or, according to his Word. 6. For the Good of the Church. 7. With Submission in Faith to the Will of God.

For the First of these, It is a sincere pouring out of the Soul to God. Sincerity is such a Grace as runs through all the Graces of God in us, and through all the Actings of a Christian, and hath the Sway in them too, or else their Actings are not any thing regarded of God, and so of and in Prayer, of which particularly David speaks, when he mentions Prayer. IPsal. 56. 17. cried unto the Lord with my Mouth, and 18. he was extolled with my Tongue. If I regard Iniquity in my Heart, the Lord will 2, 3, 4. not hear my Prayer. Part of the Exercise of Prayer is Sincerity, without which, God looks not upon it as Prayer in a good Sense: Then shall you seek me and find me, when you shall search for me with your whole Heart, Jer. 29. 12, 13. The want of this made the Lord reject their Prayers in Hosea 7. 14. where he saith, They have not cryed unto me with their Heart, (that is, in Sincerity) when they howled upon their Beds. But for a Pretence, for a shew in Hypocrisie, to be seen of Men, and applauded for the same, they Pray. Sincerity was that which Christ commended in Nathaniel, when he was under the Fig tree;

Fig-tree; Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no Guile. Probably this good Man was Pouring out of his Soul to God in Prayer under the Fig-tree, and that in a Sincere, and unfained Spirit before the Lord. The Prayer that hath this in it as one of the principal Ingredients, is the Prayer that God looks at. Thus, The Prayer of the upright is his Delight, Prov. 15. 8.

And why must Sincerity be one of the Essentials of prayer, which is accepted of God, but because Sincerity carries the Soul in all Simplicity to open its Heart to God, and to tell him the Case plainly without Equivocation; to condemn it self plainly without dissembling; to cry to God heartily, without complementing. I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself thus. Thou hast chastized me, and I was chastized, as a Bullock unaccustomed to the Yoke. Sincerity is the same in a corner alone, as it is before the Face of all the World. It knows not how to wear two Vizards, one for an Appearance before Men, and another for a short snatch in a Corner; but it must have God, and be with him in the Duty of Prayer. It is not a Lip-labour that it doth regard, for it is the Heart that God looks at, and that which Sincerity looks at, and that which Prayer comes from, if it be that Prayer which is accompanied with Sincerity.

2. It is a sincere and sensible pouring out of the Heart or Soul. It is not as many take it to be, even a few babling, prating, complementary Expressions, but a sensible Feeling there is in the Heart. Prayer hath in it a Sensibleness of divers things: Sometimes Sense of Sin, sometimes of Mercy received, sometimes of the Readiness of God to give Mercy, &c.

First a Sense of the Want of Mercy, by Reason of the Danger of Sin. The Soul I say, feels, and from feeling sighs, groans, and breaks at the Heart. For right Prayer bubbleth out of the Heart when it is over-pressed with Grief and Bitterness, as Blood is forced out of the Flesh, by reason of some heavy Burthen that lieth upon it. David roars, cries, weeps, faints at Heart, fails at the Eyes, loseth his Moisture, &c. Hezekiah mourns like a Dove. Ephraim bemoans himself. Peter weeps bitterly, Christ hath strong cryings and Tears, and all this from a Sense of the Justice of God, the Guilt of Sin, the Pains of Hell and Destruction. The Sorrows of Death compassed me about, the Pains of Hell got hold upon me, and I found Trouble and Sorrow. Then cried I unto the Lord. And in another Place, My Sore ran in the Night. Again, I am bowed down greatly, I go mourning all the Day long. In all these Instances, and in Hundreds more that might be named, you may see that Prayer carrieth in it a sensible feeling Disposition, and that first from a Sense of Sin.

Secondly, Sometimes there is a sweet Sense of Mercy received; encouraging, comforting, strengthening, enlivening, enlightening Mercy, &c. Thus David pours out the Soul to blefs, and praise, and admire the great God for his loving Kindness to such poor vile Wretches. Bless the Lord, O my Soul, and all that is within me blefs his holy Name. Bless the Lord, O my Soul, and forget not all his Benefits. Who forgiveth all thine Iniquities, who healeth all thy Diseases, and crowneth thee with Loving-kindness and tender Mercies; who redeemeth thy Life from Destruction, who satisfieth thy Mouth with good things, so that thy Youth is renewed as the Eagles. And thus is the Prayer of Saints sometimes turned into Praise and Thanksgiving, and yet are Prayers still. This is a Mystery, God's People pray with their Praises, as it is written, Be careful for nothing, but in every thing by Prayer with Supplication and thanksgiving, let your Request be made known to God. A sensible Thanksgiving for Mercies received, is a mighty Prayer in the Sight of God; It Prevails with him unspeakably.

Thirdly, In Prayer, there is sometimes in the Soul, a Sense of Mercy to be received. This again sets the Soul all on a Flame. Thou O Lord God, (saith David) hast revealed to thy Servant saying, I will build thee an House; therefore hath thy Servant found in his Heart to pray unto thee. This provoked Jacob, David, Daniel, with others, even a Sense of Mercies to be received; which caused them, not by Fits and Starts, nor yet in a foolish, frothy way to babble over a few Words written in a Paper; but mightily, fervently, and continually, to groan out their Conditions before the Lord, as being sensible; sensible, I say, of their Wants, their Misery, and the Willingness of God to shew Mercy.

A good Sense of Sin, and the Wrath of God, with some Encouragement from God to come unto him, is a better Common-Prayer-Book than that which is taken out of the Papistical* Mass-Book; being the Scraps and Fragments of the Devices of some Popes, some Friars, and I wot not what.

3. Prayer is a sincere, sensible, and an affectionate pouring out of the Soul to God. O the Heat, Strength, Life, Vigour, and Affection that is in right Prayer! As the Hart panteth after the Water-Brooks, so longeth my Soul after thee, O God. I have longed for thy Precepts: I have longed after thy Salvation. My Soul longeth, yea, fainteth for the Courts of the Lord; my Heart and my Flesh crieth out for the living God. My Soul breaketh for the Longing that it hath unto thy Judgments at all Times. Mark ye here, My Soul longeth, it longeth, it longeth, &c. O what Affection is here discovered in Prayer! The like you have in Daniel:

Dan. 9. 19. Daniel; O Lord hear; O Lord forgive; O Lord hearken and do; defer not for thy Names sake, O my God. Every Syllable carrieth a mighty Vebemency in it. This is called the fer-vent, or the working Prayer, by James. And so again, Luke 22. 44. And being in an Agony, he prayed more earnestly, or had his Affections more and more drawn out after God for his helping Hand. O how wide are the most of Men with their Prayers from this Prayer, that is Prayer in God's Account. Alas! the greatest Part of Men make no Conscience at all of the Duty; and as for them that do, it is to be feared that many of them are very great Strangers to a sincere, sensible and affectionate pouring out their Hearts or Souls to God; but even content themselves with a little Lip-Labour and bodily Exercise, mumbling over a few imaginary Prayers. When the Affections are indeed engaged in Prayer, then the whole Man is engaged, and that in such sort, that the Soul will spend itself to nothing, as it were, rather than it will go without that Good desired, even Communion and Solace with Christ. And hence it is that the Saints have spent their Strengths, and lost their Lives, rather than go without the Blessing, Psal. 69. 3. and 38. 9, 10. Gen. 32. 24, 25, 26.

All this is too too evident by the Ignorance, Prophaneness, and Spirit of Envy, that reigns in the Hearts of those Men that are so hot for the Forms, and not the Power of Praying: Scarce one of forty among them know what it is to be born again, to have Communion with the Father through the Son; to feel the Power of Grace sanctifying their Hearts; but for all their Prayers, they still live cursed, drunken, whorish, and abominable Lives, full of Malice, Envy, Deceit, persecuting of the dear Children of God. O what a dreadful After-clap is coming upon them! which all their hypocritical assembling themselves together, with all their Prayers, shall never be able to help them against, or shelter them from.

Again, It is a pouring out of the Heart or Soul. There is in Prayer an unbofoming of a Man's self, an opening of the Heart to God, an affectionate pouring out of the Soul in Requests, Sighs, and Groans. All my Desires are before thee (saith David) my Groanings are not hid from thee. And again, My Soul thirsteth for God, even for the living God: When shall I come and appear before God? When I remember these Things, I pour out my Soul in me, Psal. 42. 2, 3. Mark, I pour out my Soul: It is an Expression, signifying, that in Prayer there goeth the very Life and whole Strength to God. As in another Place, Trust in him at all Times ye People; pour out your Hearts before him. This is the Prayer to which the Promise is made, for the delivering of a poor Creature out of Captivity and Thralldom. If from thence thou shalt seek the Lord, thou shalt find him, if thou seekest him with all thy Heart, and with all thy Soul, Deut. 4. 29.

Again, It is a pouring out of the Heart or Soul to God. This sheweth also the Excellency of the Spirit of Prayer: It is the great God to which it retires: When shall I come and appear before God? And it argueth that the Soul that thus prayeth indeed, sees an Emptiness in all Things under Heaven; that in God alone there is Rest and Satisfaction for the Soul. Now she that is a Widow, and desolate, trusteth in God. So saith David, In thee, O Lord, do I put my Trust; let me never be put to Confusion: Deliver me in thy Righteousness, and cause me to escape; incline thine Ear to me and save me: Be thou my strong Habitation, whereunto I may continually resort. For thou art my Rock and my Fortress; deliver me, O God, out of the Hand of the unrighteous and cruel Man: For thou art my Hope, O Lord my God, thou art my Trust from my Youth. Many in a wording Way speak of God; but right Prayer makes God his Hope, Stay, and ALL. Right Prayer sees nothing substantial, and worth the looking after, but God. And that (as I said before) it doth in a sincere, sensible, and affectionate Way.

Again, It is a sincere, sensible, affectionate pouring out of the Heart or Soul to God, through Christ. This through Christ must needs be added, or else it is to be questioned, whether it be Prayer, though in Appearance it be never so eminent and eloquent.

Christ is the Way through whom the Soul hath Admittance to God, and without whom it is impossible, that so much as one Desire should come into the Ears of the Lord of Sabbath. If you ask any Thing in my Name: Whatsoever you ask the Father in my Name, I will do it. This was Daniel's Way in praying for the People of God, he did it in the Name of Christ. Now therefore, O our God, hear the Prayer of thy Servant, and his Supplications, and cause thy Face to shine upon thy Sanctuary that is desolate, for the Lord's sake. And so David, For thy Name sake, (that is, for thy Christ's sake) pardon mine Iniquity; for it is great. But now, it is not every one that maketh mention of Christ's Name in Prayer, that doth indeed, and in Truth effectually pray to God in the Name of Christ, or through him. This coming to God through Christ, is the hardest Part that is found in Prayer. A Man may more easily be sensible of his Works, ay, and sincerely too desire Mercy, and yet not be able to come to God by Christ. That Man that comes to God by Christ, he must first have the Knowledge of him. For he that comes to God, must believe that he is. And

Exod. 33. 13. so he that comes to God through Christ, must be enabled to know Christ. Lord, (saith Moses) shew me thy Way, that I may know thee.

Mat. 11. 27. This Christ, none but the Father can reveal. And to come through Christ, is for the Soul to be enabled of God to shroud it self under the Shadow of the Lord Jesus, as a Man shroudeth himself under a Thing

Pf. 18. 2. for safeguard. Hence it is that David so often terms Christ his Shield, Buckler, Tower Pf. 27. 1. Pf. 28. 1. Fortress, Rock of Defence, &c. Not only, because by him he overcame his Enemies; but, because through him he found Favour with God the Father. And so he saith to

Gen. 15. 1 Abraham, Fear not, I am thy Shield, &c. The Man then that comes to God through Christ, must have Faith, by which he puts on Christ, and in him appears before God.

Now he that hath Faith, is born of God, born again, and so becomes one of the Sons of God; by vertue of which, he is joyned

Joh. 3. 5, 7. Joh. 1. 12. to Christ, and made a Member of him. Eph. 5. 30. And therefore, Secondly, He as a Member of Christ, comes to God; I say, as a Member of him, so that God looks on that Man as Part of Christ, part of his Body, Flesh, and Bones, united to him by Election, Conversion, Illumination, the Spirit being conveyed into the Heart of that poor Man by God. So that now he comes to God in Christ's Merits, in his Blood, Righteousness, Victory, Intercession, and so stands before him; being accepted in his beloved. And because this poor Creature is thus a Member of the Lord Jesus, and under this Consideration hath admittance to come to God: Therefore, by vertue of this Union, also is the holy Spirit conveyed into him, whereby he is able to pour out himself, (to wit) his Soul before God, with his Audience. And this leads me to the next, or Fourth Particular.

4. Prayer is a sincere, sensible, affectionate pouring out of the Heart or Soul to God through Christ, by the Strength or Assistance of the Spirit. For these Things do so depend one upon another, that it is impossible that it should be Prayer, without there be a joint Concurrence of them; for though it be never so famous, yet without these Things, it is only such Prayer as is rejected of God. For without a sincere, sensible, affectionate pouring out of the Heart to God, it is but Lip-labour; and if it be not through Christ, it falleth far short of ever sounding well in the Ears of God. So also, if it be not in the

Lev. 10. 1, 2. Strength and Assistance of the Spirit, it is but like the Sons of Aaron, offering with strange Fire. But I shall speak more to this under the Second Head; and therefore in the mean Time, That which is not petitioned through the teaching and assistance of the Spirit, it is not possible that it should be according to the Will of God.

5. Prayer is a sincere, sensible, affectionate pouring out of the Heart or Soul to God through Christ, in the Strength, and Assistance of the Spirit, for such Things as God hath promised, &c. Prayer it is, when it is within the Compass of God's Word; and it is Blasphemy, or at best, vain Babbling, when the Petition is beside the Book. David therefore still, in his Prayer, kept his Eye on the Word of God. My Soul, saith he, cleaveth to the Dust; quicken me according to thy Word. And again, My Soul melteth for heaviness; strengthen me according to thy Word. And, Remember thy Word unto thy Servant; on which thou hast caused me to hope. And indeed, the holy Ghost doth not immediately quicken and stir up the Heart of the Christian without, but by, with, and through the Word, by bringing that to the Heart, and by opening of that, whereby the Man is provoked to go to the Lord, and to tell him how it is with him; and also to argue, and supplicate, according to the Word. Thus it was with Daniel, that mighty Prophet of the Lord. He understanding by Books, that the Captivity of the Children of Israel was hard at an end; then according unto that Word, he maketh his Prayer to God. I Daniel (saith he) understood by Books, (viz. the Writings of Jeremiah,) the number of the Tears whereof the Word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, that he would accomplish seventy Years on the Desolation of Jerusalem, And I set my Face to the Lord

God, to seek by Prayer and Supplication, with Fasting, and Sackcloth and Ashes. So that I say, as the Spirit is the helper and the governor of the Soul, when it prayeth according to the Will of God; so it guideth by and according to the Word of God, and his Promise. Hence it is that our Lord Jesus Christ himself did make a Stop, although his Life lay at Stake for it; I could now pray to my Father, and he should give me more than twelve Legions of Angels; but how then must the Scripture be fulfilled, that thus it must be. As who should say, were there but a Word for it in the Scripture, I should soon be out of the Hands of mine Enemies, I should be help'd by Angels; but the Scripture will not warrant this kind of praying, for that faith otherwise. It is a praying then according to the Word and Promise. The Spirit by the Word must direct, as well in the Manner, as in the Matter of Prayer. I will pray with the Spirit, and I will pray with the Understanding also. But there is no understanding without the Word: For if they reject the Word of the Lord, what Wisdom is in them?

6. For the Good of the Church. This Clause reacheth in whatsoever tendeth either to the honour of God, Christ's Advancement, or his People's Benefit. For God, and Christ, and his People are so linked together, that if the Good of one be prayed for, to wit, the Church, the Glory of God, and Advancement of Christ must needs be included. For as Christ is in the Father, so the Saints are in Christ; and he that toucheth the Saints, toucheth the Apple of God's Eye; and therefore pray for the Peace of Jerusalem, and you pray for all that is required of you. For Jerusalem will never be in perfect Peace until she be in Heaven; and there is nothing that Christ doth more desire than to have her there. That also is the Place that God through Christ hath given her. He then that prayeth for the Peace and Good of Sion, or the Church, doth ask that in Prayer which Christ hath purchased with his Blood; and also that which the Father hath given to him as the Price thereof. Now he that prayeth for this, must pray for abundance of Grace for the Church, for help against all its Temptations, that God would let nothing be too hard for it, that all Things might work together for its good; that God would keep them blameless and harmless, the Sons of God, to his Glory, in the midst of a crooked and perverse Nation. And this is the Substance of Christ's own Prayer in John 17. And all Paul's Prayers did run that Way, as one of his Prayers do eminently shew. And this I pray, that your Love may abound yet more and more in all Knowledge, and all Judgment; that ye may approve Things that are excellent; that you may be sincere, and without offence until the Day of Christ. Being filled with the Fruits of Righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, to the Glory and Praise of God.

But a short Prayer you see, and yet full of good Desires for the Church, from the beginning to the end; That it may stand and go on, and that in the most excellent Frame of Spirit, even without blame, sincere, and without Offence until the Day of Christ, let its Temptations or Persecutions be what they will. And because, as I said, Prayer doth submit to the Will of God, and say, Thy Will be done, as Christ hath taught; therefore the People of the Lord in all Humility are to lay themselves and their Prayers, and all that they have, at the foot of their God, to be disposed of by him as he in his heavenly Wisdom seeth best. Yet not doubting but God will answer the Desire of his People, that Way that shall be most for their Advantage, and his Glory. When the Saints therefore do pray with Submission to the Will of God, it doth not argue, that they are to doubt or question God's Love and Kindness to them. But because they at all Times are not so wise, but that sometimes Satan may get Advantage of them, as to tempt them to pray for that, which if they had it, would neither prove to God's Glory, nor his Peoples good: Yet, this is the Confidence we have in him, that if we ask any Thing according to his

Will, he heareth us: And if we know, that he heareth us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the Petition that we ask of him; That is, we asking in the Spirit of Grace and Supplication. For, as I said before, that Petition that is not put up in and through the Spirit, it is not to be answered, because it is beside the Will of God. For the Spirit only knoweth that, and so consequently knoweth how to pray according to that Will of God. For what Man knoweth the Things of a Man, save the Spirit of a Man that is in him; even so the Things of God knoweth no Man, but the Spirit of God. But more of this hereafter. Thus you see, first, what Prayer is. Now to proceed:

II. I will pray with the Spirit.

Now to pray with the Spirit; for that's the praying Man, and none else, so as to be accepted of God: It is for a Man (as aforesaid) sincerely, and sensibly, with Affection to come to God through Christ, &c. which sincere, sensible, and affectionate coming, must be by the working of God's Spirit.

There is no Man, nor Church in the World, that can come to God in Prayer, but by the Assistance of the holy Spirit; For through Christ we all have access by one Spirit unto the Father.

Wherefore Paul saith, We know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit it self maketh Intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered. And he that searcheth the Heart, knoweth the meaning of the Spirit, because he maketh Intercession for the Saints according to the Will of God. And because there is in this Scripture so full a Discovery of the Spirit of Prayer, and of Man's inability to pray without it; therefore I shall in a few Words comment upon it.

For we] Consider first, the Person speaking, even Paul, and in his Person, all the Apostles. We Apostles, we extraordinary Officers, the wise Master-Builders, that have some of us been caught up into Paradise: We know not what we should pray for.

Surely there is no Man but will confess, that Paul and his Companions were as able to have done any Work for God, as any Pope or proud Prelate in the Church of Rome, and could as well have made a Common-Prayer-Book, as those who at first composed this; as being not a whit behind them, either in Grace or Gifts.

For we know not what we should pray for.] We know not the Matter of the Things for which we should pray, neither the Object to whom we pray, nor the Medium by, or through whom we pray; none of these Things know we, but by the Help and Assistance of the Spirit. Should we pray for for Communion with God through Christ; should we pray for Faith, for Justification by Grace, and a truly sanctified Heart? None of these Things know we. For,

 1 Cor. 2. As no Man knoweth the Things of a Man,
 11. save the Spirit of a Man that is in him; even so the Things of God knows no Man, but the Spirit of God. But here, alas, the Apostles speak of inward and spiritual Things, which the World knows not.

Again, As they know not the Matter, &c. of Prayer, without the help of the Spirit, so neither know they the Manner thereof without the same; and therefore he adds. We know not what we should pray for as we ought; but, the Spirit helpeth our Infirmities, with Sighs and Groans which cannot be uttered. Mark here, they could not so well and so fully come off in the Manner of performing this Duty, as these in our Days think they can.

The Apostles, when they were at the best, yea, when the Holy Ghost assisted them, yet then they were fain to come off with Sighs and Groans, falling short of expressing their Mind, but with Sighs and Groans which cannot be uttered.

But here now, the wise Men of our Days are so well skill'd, as that they have both the Manner and Matter of their Prayers at their Finger ends; setting such a Prayer for such a Day, and that twenty Years before it comes. One for Christmas, another for Easter, and six Days after that. They have also bounded how many Syllables must be said in every one* of them. For each Saints Day also, they have them ready for the Generations yet unborn to say. They can tell you also, when you shall kneel, when you shall stand, when you should abide in your Seats, when you should go up into the Chancel, and what you should do when you come there. All which the Apostles came short of, as not being able to compose so profound a Manner. And that for this Reason included in the Scripture, because the Fear of God tied them to pray as they ought.

For we know not what we should pray for as we ought.] Mark this; as we ought. For the not thinking of this Word, or at least, the not understanding it in the Spirit and Truth of it; hath occasioned these 1 King 12. 26, to 34. Men to devise, as Jeroboam did, another Way of Worship, both for Matter and Manner, than is revealed in the Word of God. But saith Paul, We must pray as we ought; and this we cannot do by all the Art, Skill, Cunning, and Device of Men or Angels. For we know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit: Nay farther, it must be the Spirit it self that helpeth our Infirmities; not the Spirit and Man's Lusts, what Man of his own Brain may imagine and devise, is one Thing, and what they are commanded, and ought to do, is another. Many ask and have not, because they ask amiss, Jam. 4. 3. and so are never the nearer the enjoying of those Things they petition for. It is not to pray at random, that will put off God, or cause him to answer. While Prayer is making, God is searching the Heart, to see from what Root and Spirit it doth arise. And he that searcheth the Heart, knoweth, (that is, approveth only) 14. the meaning of the Spirit, because he maketh Intercession for the Saints according to the Will of God. For in that which is according to his Will only he, heareth us, and in nothing else. And it is the Spirit only that can teach us so to ask: It only being able to search out all Things, even the deep Things of God. Without which Spirit, though we had a thousand Common-Prayer-Books, yet we know not what we should pray for as we ought, being accompanied with those Infirmities that make us absolutely incapable of such a Work. Which Infirmities, although it is a hard Thing to name them all, yet some of them are these that follow.

First, Without the Spirit, Man is so infirm, that he cannot with all other means whatsoever, be enabled to think one right saving Thought of God, of Christ, or of his blessed Things; and therefore he saith of the Wicked, God is not in all their Thoughts, Psal. 10. 4. Unless it be that they imagine him altogether such a one as themselves, Psal. 50. 20. For every Imagination of the Thought of their Heart is only Evil, and that continually, Gen. 6. 5. Gen. 8. 21. They then, not being able to conceive a right of God to whom they pray, of Christ through whom they pray, nor of the Things for which they pray, as is before shewed, how shall they be able to address themselves to God, without the Spirit help this Infirmity? Peradventure you will say, by the help of the Common-Prayer-Book; but, that cannot do it unless it can open the Eyes, and reveal to the Soul all these Things before touched. Which, that it cannot, it is evident; because that is the Work of the Spirit only: The Spirit it self is the revealer of these Things to poor Souls and that which doth give us to understand them; wherefore, Christ tells his Disciples when he promised to send the Spirit, the Comforter, He shall take of mine and shew unto you; as if he had said, I know, you are naturally dark and ignorant, as to the understanding any of my Things; though ye try this Course and the other, yet your ignorance will still remain; the Vail is spread over your Heart, and there is none can take away the same, nor give you spiritual understanding, but the Spirit. The Common-Prayer-Book will not do it, neither can any Man expect that it should be instrumental that Way, it being none of God's Ordinances; but a Thing since the Scriptures were written, patched together one one Piece at one Time, and another at that ; a meer humane Invention and Institution, which God is so far from owning of, that he expressly forbids it, with any other such like, and that by manifold Sayings in his most holy and blessed Word. ward Expression, as in the inward Intention, come from what the Soul doth apprehend in the Light of the Spirit ; otherwise it is condemned as vain and an Abomination ; because the Heart and Tongue do not go along jointly in the same ; neither indeed can they, unless the Spirit help our Infirmities. And this David knew full well, which did make him cry, Lord open thou my Lips, and my Mouth shall shew forth thy Praise. I suppose, there is none can imagine, but that David could speak, and express himself as well as others, nay, as any in our Generation, as is clearly manifested by his Word, and his Works. Nevertheless when this good Man, this Prophet, comes into God's Worship, then the Lord must help, or he can do nothing ; Lord open thou my Lips, and then my Mouth shall shew forth thy Praise. He could not speak one right Word, except the Spirit it self gave utterance : For we know not what we should pray for as we ought, but the Spirit it self helpeth our Infirmities. But

Secondly, It must be a praying with the Spirit, that is, the effectual praying ; because, without that, as Men are senseless, so hypocritical, cold, and unseemly in their Prayers ; and so, they with their Prayers are both rendered abominable to God. It is not the excellency of the Voice, nor the seeming Affection, and Earnestness of him that prayeth, that is any Thing regarded of God without it. For Man, as Man, is so full of all manner of Wickedness, that as he cannot keep a Word, or Thought, so much less a Piece of Prayer clean, and acceptable to God through Christ. And for this Cause, the Pharisees, with their Prayers, were rejected. No Question, but they were excellently able to express themselves in Words, and also for length of Time too they were very notable ; but they had not the Spirit of Jesus Christ to help them, and therefore they did what they did with their Infirmities or Weaknesses only, and so fell short of a sincere, sensible, affectionate pouring out of their Souls to God, through the Strength of the Spirit. That is the Prayer that goeth to Heaven, that is sent thither in the Strength of the Spirit. For,

Thirdly, Nothing but the Spirit can shew a Man clearly his Misery by Nature, and so put a Man into a Posture of Prayer. Talk is but Talk, as we use to say, and so it is but Mouth-worship, if there be not a Sense of Misery, and that effectually too. O the cursed Hypocrisie that is in most Hearts, and that accompanieth many Thousands of praying Men that would be so looked upon in this Day, and all for want of a Sense of their Misery ! But now the Spirit, that will sweetly shew the Soul its Misery, where it is, and what is like to become of it ; also the intolerableness of that Condition : For it is the Spirit that doth effectually convince of Sin and Misery, Joh. 16. 7, without the Lord Jesus, and so puts the Soul into a sweet, serious, sensible, affectionate Way of Praying to God according to his Word.

Fourthly, If Men did see their Sins, yet without the Help of the Spirit, they would not Pray. For they would run away from God, with Cain and Judas, and utterly despair of Mercy, were it not for the Spirit. When a Man is indeed sensible of his Sin, and God's Curse, then it is an hard thing to persuade him to Pray ; For saith his heart, There is no hope, It is in vain to seek God ; I am so vile, so wretched, and so cursed a Creature, that I shall never be regarded. Now here comes the Spirit, and stayeth the Soul, helpeth it to hold up its Face to God, by letting into the Heart some small Sense of mercy to encourage it to go to God ; Joh. 14. 26 and hence it is called the Comforter.

Fifthly, It must be in, or with the Spirit ; For without that, no Man can know how he should come to God the right Way. Men may easily say, they come to God in his Son : But it is the hardest thing of a thousand to come to God aright and in his own Way, without the Spirit. It is the Spirit that searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God. 1 Cor. 2. 12. It is the Spirit, that must shew us the Way of coming to God, and also what there is in God that makes him desirable. I beseech thee (saith Moses) shew me thy Way that I may know thee, Exod. 33. 13. And Joh. 16. 14. He shall take of mine, and shall shew it unto you.

Sixthly, Because without the Spirit, though a Man did see his Misery, and also the Way to come to God ; yet he would never be able to claim a Share in either God, Christ, or Mercy, with God's Approbation. O how great a task is it, for a poor Soul that comes sensible of Sin and the Wrath of God, to say in Faith, but this one Word, Father ! I tell you, however Hypocrites think, yet the Christian, that is so indeed, finds all the Difficulty, in this very thing it cannot say, God is its Father. Oh ! saith he, I dare not call him Father ; and hence it is that the Spirit must be sent into the Hearts of God's People for this very thing, to cry Father ; Gal. 4. 6. it being too great a Work for any Man to do knowingly, and believingly without it. When I say, knowingly, I mean, knowing what it is to be a Child of God and to be born again. And when I say believingly, I mean, for the Soul to believe, and that from good Experience, that the Work of Grace is wrought in him: This is the right calling of God Father: and not as many do, to say in a babbling Way, the Lord's Prayer, (so called) by Heart, as it lieth in the Words of the Book. No, here is the Life of Prayer, when in, or with the Spirit, a Man being made sensible of Sin, and how to come to the Lord for Mercy; he comes, I say, in the Strength of the Spirit, and crieth Father. That one word spoken in Faith, is better than a thousand Prayers, as Men call them, written and read, in a formal, cold, luke-warm way. O how far short are the People of being sensible of this, who count it enough to teach themselves and Children, to say the Lord's prayer, the Creed, with other Sayings; when as God knows they are senseless of themselves, their Misery, or what it is to be brought to God through Christ! Ah poor Soul! Study your Misery, and cry to God to shew you your confused Blindness, and Ignorance, before you be too rife in calling God your Father, or learning your Children either so to say. And know, that to say, God is your Father, in a Way of Prayer, or Conference, without an Experiment of the Work of Grace on your Souls, it is to say, you are Jews and are not, and so to lie. You say, Our Father, God saith you blaspheme. You say, you are Jews, that is, true

Rev. 3. 9. Christians: God saith, You lye. Behold I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which say, they are Jews, and are not,

Rev. 2. 9. but do lie. And I know the Blasphemy of them that say, they are Jews, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan. And so much the greater the Sin is, by how much the more the Sinner boasts it with a pretended Sanctity, as the Jews did to Christ, in the 8th. of John, which made

Joh. 8. 41, 10. 45. Christ even in plain Terms to tell them their Doom, for all their hypocritical pretences. And yet for so h, every cursed Whore-Master, Thief, and Drunkard, Swearer, and Perjured Person, they that have not only been such in times past, but are even so still; these I say, by some must be counted the only honest Men, and all because with their Blasphemous Throats, and hypocritical Hearts, they will come to Church and say Our Father. Nay further, these Men though every time they say to God, Our Father, do most abominably blaspheme, yet they must be compelled thus to do. And because others that are of more sober Principles, scruple the Truth of such vain Traditions; therefore they must be looked upon to be the only Enemies of God and the Nation; when as it is their own cursed Superstition, that doth set the great God against them, and cause him to count them for his Enemies. And yet just like to Bonner, that Blood-red Persecutor, they commend (I say) these Wretches, although never so vile (if they close in with their Traditions) to be good Church-men, the honest Subjects; while God's People are (as it hath always been) looked upon to be a turbulent seditious, and factious People. Ezra 4. 12 to 16.

Therefore give me leave a little to reason with thee, thou poor, blind, ignorant Sot: It may be, thy great Prayer is to say, Our Father which art in Heaven, &c. Dost thou know the Meaning of the very first Words of this Prayer? Canst thou indeed, with the rest of the Saints, cry, Our Father? Art thou truly born again? Hast thou received the Spirit of Adoption? Dost thou see thyself in Christ, and canst thou come to God as a Member of him? Or, art thou ignorant of these things, and yet darest thou say, Our Father? Is not the Devil thy Father? Joh. 8. 44. And dost thou not do the Deeds of the Flesh? and yet darest thou say to God, Our Father? Nay, art thou not a desperate Persecutor of the Children of God? Hast thou not cursed them in thine Heart many a time? And yet dost thou out of thy blasphemous Throat suffer these Words to come, even Our Father? He is their Father whom thou hatest and persecutest. But as the Devil presented himself amongst the Sons of God, Job 1. when they were to present themselves before the Father, even our Father; so it is now, because the Saints are commanded to say, Our Father; therefore all the blind, ignorant Rabble in the World, they must also use the same Words, Our Father.

Secondly, And dost thou indeed say, Hallowed be thy Name, with thy Heart? Dost thou study by all honest and lawful Ways, to advance the Name, Holiness and Majesty of God? Doth thy Heart and Conversation agree with this Passage? Dost thou strive to imitate Christ in all the Works of Righteousness, which God doth command of thee, and prompt thee forward to? It is so, if thou be one that can truly with God's Allowance cry, Our Father. Or is it not the least of thy Thoughts all the Day? And dost thou not clearly make it appear, that thou art a cursed Hypocrite, by condemning that with thy daily Practice which thou pretendest in thy praying, with thy dissembling Tongue.

Thirdly, Wouldest thou have the Kingdom of God come indeed, and also his Will to be done in Earth as it is in Heaven? Nay, notwithstanding, thou, according to the Form, sayest, Thy Kingdom come, yet would it not make thee ready to run mad, to hear the Trumpet sound, to see the Dead arise, and thy self just now to go and appear before God, to reckon for all the

the Deeds thou hast done in the Body? Nay, are not the very Thoughts of it altogether displeasing to thee? and if God's will should be done on Earth as it is in Heaven, must it not be thy Ruine? There is never a Rebel in Heaven, against God, and if he should so deal on Earth, must he not whirle thee down to Hell? And so of the rest of the Petitions. Ah! How sadly would even those Men look, and with what Terrour would they walk up and down the World, if they did but know the Lying and Blaspheming that proceedeth out of their Mouth, even in their most pretended Sanctity? The Lord awaken you, and learn you, poor Souls, in all Humility, to take heed, that you be not rash and unadvised with your Heart, and much more with your Mouth; when you appear before God, (as the wise Man saith) Be not rash with thy Mouth, and let not thine Heart be hasty to utter any thing; especially to call God Father, without some blessed Experience when thou comest before God. But I pass this.

Seventhly, It must be a Praying with the Spirit if it be accepted, because, there is nothing but the Spirit that can lift up the Soul or Heart to God in Prayer. The Preparation of the Heart in Man, and the answer of the Tongue is from the Lord, Prov. 16. 1. That is, In every Work for God (and especially in Prayer) if the Heart run with the Tongue, it must be prepared by the Spirit of God. Indeed the Tongue is very apt (of it self) to run without either Fear or Wisdom. But when it is the Answer of the Heart, and that such an Heart as is prepared by the Spirit of God; then it speaks so as God commands and doth desire.

They are mighty Words of David, where he saith, That he lifteth his Heart, and his Soul to God, Psal. 25. 1. It is a great Work for any Man without the Strength of the Spirit; and therefore I conceive that this is one of the great Reasons why the Spirit of God is called, a Spirit of Supplication, because it is that which helpeth the Heart when it supplicates indeed, to do it. And therefore saith Paul, Praying with all Prayer and Supplication in the Spirit. And so in my Text, I will pray with the Spirit, Ephes. 6. 18.

Prayer, without the Heart be in it, is like a Sound without Life; and an Heart, without it be lifted up of the Spirit, will never pray to God.

Eighthly, As the Heart must be lifted up by the Spirit, if it pray aright, so also it must be held by the Spirit when it is up, if it continue to pray aright. I do not know what, or how, it is with others Hearts, whether they be lifted up by the Spirit of God, and so continued, or no: But this I am sure of;

First, That it is impossible that all the Prayer-books that Men have made in the World should lift up, or prepare the Heart; that is the Work of the great God himself.

And in the Second Place, I am sure, that they are as far from keeping it up, when it is up. And indeed, here is the Life of Prayer, to have the Heart kept with God in the Duty. It was a great Matter for Moses to keep his Hands lifted up to God ^{Exod. 17.} in Prayer; but how much more then to ^{12.} keep the Heart in it.

The want of this is that which God complains of; That they draw nigh to him with their Mouth, and honour him with their Lips, but their Hearts were far from him (but chiefly) they that walk after the Commandments and Traditions of Men, as the Scope of Matth. 15. 8, 9. doth testify. And verily, may I but speak my own Experience, and from that tell you the Difficulty of praying to God as I ought; it is enough to make your poor, blind, carnal Men to entertain strange Thoughts of me. For, as for my Heart, when I go to pray, I find it so loth to go to God, and when it is with him, so loth to stay with him, that many times I am forced in my Prayers, first, to beg of God that he would take mine Heart, and set it on himself in Christ, and when it is there, that he would keep it there. Nay, many times I know not what to pray for, I am so blind, nor how to pray I am so ignorant; only blessed be Grace, the Spirit helps our Infirmities. ^{Pf. 36. 11.}

Oh, the Starting-holes, that the Heart hath in the time of Prayer! None knows how many By-ways the Heart hath, and Back-lanes to slip away from the Presence of God. How much Pride also, if enabled with Expressions? How much Hypocrisy if before others? And how little Conscience is there made of Prayer between God and the Soul in Secret, unless the Spirit of Supplication be there to help.

When the Spirit gets into the Heart, then there is Prayer indeed, and not till then.

Ninthly, The Soul that doth rightly pray, it must be in and with the Help and Strength of the Spirit; because it is impossible that a Man should express himself in Prayer without it: When I say, it is impossible for a Man to express himself in Prayer without it, I mean, that it is impossible, that the Heart in a sincere, and sensible, affectionate Way, should pour out itself before God, with those Groans and Sighs, that come from a truly praying Heart, without the Assistance of the Spirit. It is not the Mouth that is the main thing to be looked at in Prayer, but whether the Heart be so full of Affection, and Earnestness in Prayer with God, that it is impossible to express their Sense and Desire. For then a Man desires indeed, when when his Desires are so strong, many, and mighty, that all the Words, Tears, and Groans, that can come from the Heart cannot utter them. The Spirit helps our Infirmities, and makes Intercession for us, with Sighs and Groans that cannot be uttered.

That is but poor Prayer, which is only discovered in so many Words.

A Man that truly prays one Prayer, shall after that never be able to express with his Mouth or Pen, the unutterable Desires, Sense, Affection, and Longing, that went to God in that Prayer.

The best Prayers have often more Groans than Words; and those Words that it hath, are but a lean and shallow Representation of the Heart, Life, and Spirit of that Prayer. You do not find any Words of Prayer that we read of, come out of the Mouth of Moses, when he was gone out of Aegypt, and was followed by Pharaoh, and yet he made Heaven ring again with his Cry: But it was the unexpressible and unsearchable Groans and Cryings of his Soul, in and with the Spirit. God is the God of Spirits, and his Eyes look further than at the Outside of any Duty whatsoever. I doubt this is but little thought on by the most of them that would be looked upon as a praying People.

Ex. 14. 15.

1 Sam. 16. 7.

The nearer a Man comes in any Work that God commands him, to the doing of it according to his Will; so much the more hard and difficult it is. And the Reason is, because Man as Man is not able to do it. But Prayer (as afore said) is not only a Duty, but one of the most eminent Duties; and therefore so much the more difficult. Therefore Paul knew what he said, when he said, I will pray with the Spirit. He knew well it was not what others writ or said, that could make him a praying Person, nothing less than the Spirit could do it.

Tenthly, It must be with the Spirit, or else, as there will be a Failing in the Act it self, so there will be a Failing, yea, a Fainting in the Prosecution of the Work. Prayer is an Ordinance of God, that must continue with a Soul, so long as it is on this side Glory. But as I said before, it is not possible for a Man to get up his Heart to God in Prayer; so it is as difficult to keep it there, without the Assistance of the Spirit. And if so, than for a Man to continue from Time to Time in Prayer with God, it must of Necessity be with the Spirit.

Christ tells us, That Men ought always to pray and not to faint, Luke 18. 1, 2. And again tells us, that this is one Definition of an Hypocrite, that either he will not continue in Prayer, or else if he do it, it will not be in the Power, (Job 27. 10.) that is, in the Spirit of Prayer, but in the Form for a Pretence only, Mat. 23. 14. It is the easiest Thing of an hundred, to fall from the Power to the Form; but it is the hardest Thing of many, to keep in the Life, Spirit, and Power of any one Duty, especially Prayer: That is such a Work that a Man, without the Help of the Spirit, cannot so much as pray once, much less continue, without it, in a sweet praying Frame, and in Praying, so to pray, as to have his Prayers ascend into the Ears of the Lord of Sabboath.

Jacob did not only begin, but held it: I will not let thee go, unless thou bless me, Gen. 32. So did the rest of the Godly, Hos. 12. 4. But this could not be without the Spirit of Prayer: It is through the Spirit that we have Access to the Father, Ephes. 2. 18.

That same is a remarkable Place in Jude, when he stirreth up the Saints by the Judgment of God upon the Wicked, to stand fast, and continue to hold out in the Faith of the Gospel, as one excellent Means thereto, without which he knew they would never be able to do it. Saith he, Build up yourselves in your most holy Faith, praying in the Holy Ghost, Jude 20. As if he had said, Brethren, as eternal Life is laid up for the Persons that hold out only, so you cannot hold out unless you continue praying in the Spirit. The great Cheat that the Devil and Antichrist deludes the World withal, it is to make them continue in the Form of any Duty, the Form of Preaching, of Hearing, of Praying, &c. These are they that have a Form of Godliness, but deny the Power; from such turn away, 2 Tim. 3. 5.

Here followeth the Third Thing; to wit,

What it is to pray with the Spirit, and with the Understanding.

And now to the next Thing, what it is to pray with the Spirit, and to pray with the Understanding also. For the Apostle put a clear Distinction between praying with the Spirit, and praying with the Spirit and Understanding. Therefore when he saith he will pray with the Spirit, he adds, and will pray with the Understanding [also]. This Distinction was occasioned through the Corinthians not observing, that it was their Duty to do what they did to Edification of themselves and others too; whereas they did it for their own Commendations: So I judge: For many of them having extraordinary Gifts, as to speak with divers Tongues, &c. therefore they were more for those mighty Gifts, than they were for the Edifying of their Brethren; which was the Cause that Paul wrote this Chapter to them, to let them understand, that though extraordinary Gifts were excellent, yet, to do what they did did for the Edification of the Church was more excellent. For I will pray in an unknown Tongue, my Spirit prayeth, but my Understanding (and also the Understanding of others) is unfruitful. Therefore, I will pray with the Spirit, and I will pray with the Understanding also.

It is expedient then that the Understanding should be occupied in Prayer, as well as the Heart and Mouth; I will pray with the Spirit, and I will pray with the Understanding also. That which is done with Understanding, is done more effectually, sensibly, and heartily, as I shall shew farther anon, than that which is done without it. Which made the Apostle pray for the Colossians, That God would fill them with the Knowledge of his Will, in all Wisdom and Spiritual Understanding, Col. 1. 9. And for the Ephesians, That God would give unto them the Spirit of Wisdom and Revelation, in the Knowledge of him, Eph. 1. 17. And so for the Philippians, That God would make them abound in Knowledge, and in all Judgment, Phil. 1. 9. A suitable Understanding is good in every Thing a Man undertakes, either Civil or Spiritual; and therefore it must be desired by all them that would be a praying People. In my speaking to this, I shall shew you what it is to pray with Understanding.

Understanding is to be taken both for speaking in our Mother-Tongue, and also experimentally.

I pass the first, and treat only on the second.

For the making of right Prayers, it is to be required that there should be a good or spiritual Understanding in all them who pray to God.

First, To pray with Understanding, is to pray as being instructed by the Spirit, in the understanding of the Want of those Things which the Soul is to pray for. Though a Man be in never so much need of Pardon of Sin, and Deliverance from Wrath to come, yet if he understand not this, he will either not desire them at all, or else be so cold and lukewarm in his Desires after them that God will even loath their Frame of Spirit in asking for them. Thus it was with the Church of the Laodiceans, they wanted Knowledge of spiritual Understanding: They knew not that they were poor, wretched, blind, and naked. The Cause whereof made them, and all their Services, so loathsome to Christ, that he threatens to spue them out of his Mouth, Rev. 3. 17. Men without Understanding, may say the same Words in Prayer as others do; but if there be an Understanding in the one, and none in the other, there is, O there is a mighty Difference in speaking the very same Words! The one speaking from a spiritual Understanding of those Things that he in Words desires, and the other words it only, and there is all.

Secondly, Spiritual understanding espieth in the Heart of God a readiness and willingness to give those Things to the Soul that it stands in need of. David by this could guess at the very Thoughts of God towards him, Psal. 40. 5. And thus it was with the Woman of Canaan, (Mat. 15. 22, to 29.) she did by Faith and a right Understanding, discern, (beyond all the rough Carriage of Christ) tenderness and willingness in his Heart to save, which caused her to be vehement and earnest, yea, restless until she did enjoy the Mercy she stood in need of.

An understanding of the willingness that is in the Heart of God to save Sinners, there is nothing will press the Soul more to seek after God, and to cry for Pardon, than it. If a Man should see a Pearl, worth an hundred Pounds lie in a Ditch; yet, if he understood not the value of it, he would lightly pass it by; but if he once get the Knowledge of it, he would venture up to the Neck for it. So it is with Souls concerning the Things of God: If a Man once get an understanding of the worth of them, then his Heart, nay the very Strength of his Soul runs after them, and he will never leave crying till he have them. The two blind Men in the Gospel, because they did certainly know that Jesus, who was going by them, was both able and willing to heal such Infirmities as they were afflicted with; therefore they cried, and the more they were rebuked, the more they cried, Mat. 20. 29, 30, 31.

Thirdly, The Understanding being spiritually enlightned, hereby there is the Way (as aforesaid) discovered, through which the Soul should come unto God; which gives great Encouragement unto it.

It is else with a poor Soul, as with one who hath a Work to do, and if it be not done, the Danger is great; if it be done, so is the Advantage: But he knows not how to begin, nor how to proceed; and so through discouragement, lets all alone, and runs the Hazard.

Fourthly, The enlightned Understanding sees largeness enough in the Promises to encourage it to pray; which still adds to it Strength to Strength. As when Men promise such and such Things to all that will come for them, it is great Encouragement to those that know what Promises are made to come and ask for them.

Fifthly, The Understanding being enlightned, Way is made for the Soul to come to God with suitable Arguments, Sometimes in a Way of Expostulation; as Jacob, Gen. 32. 9. Sometimes in Way of Supplication; yet not in a verbal Way only, but even from the Heart there is forced by the Spirit, through the Understanding, such effectual Arguments, as moveth the Heart of God. When Ephraim gets a right Understanding of his own unseemly Carriages towards the Lord, then he begins to bemoan himself, Jer. 31. 18, 19, 20. And in bemoaning of himself, he used such Arguments with the Lord, that it affects his Heart, draws out Forgiveness, and makes Ephraim pleasant in his Eyes through Jesus Christ our Lord. I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself thus, (saith God) Thou hast chastised me, and I was chastised; as a Bullock unaccustomed to the Yoke; turn thou me, and I shall be turned; for thou art the Lord my God. Surely after I was turned, I repented, and after I was instructed, (or had a right understanding of my self) I smote upon my Thigh, I was ashamed; yea, even confounded; because I did bear the Reproach of my Youth. These be Ephraim's Complaints and Bemoanings of himself; at which the Lord breaks forth into these Heart-melting Expressions; saying, Is Ephraim my dear Son? Is he a pleasant Child? For since I spake unto him, I do earnestly remember him still; therefore my Bowels are troubled for him; I will surely have Mercy upon him, saith the Lord. Thus you see, that as it is required to pray with the Spirit, so it is to pray with the Understanding also. And to illustrate what hath been spoken by a Similitude. Set the Case, there should come Two a begging to your Door, the one is a poor, lame, wounded, and almost starved Creature; the other is a healthful lusty Person, these two use the same Words in their begging; the one saith, he is almost starved, so doth the other; but yet the Man that is indeed the poor, lame, or maimed Person, he speaks with more Sense, Feeling, and Understanding of the Misery that is mentioned in their begging, than the other can do; and it is discovered more by his affectionate speaking, his bemoaning himself: His Pain and Poverty makes him speak more in a Spirit of Lamentation than the other, and he shall be pitied sooner than the other, by all those that have the least Dram of natural Affection or Pity. Just thus it is with God, there are some who out of Custom and Formality, go and pray; there are others who go in the bitterness of their Spirits: The one he prays out of bare Notion, and naked Knowledge, the other hath his Words forced from him by the anguish of his Soul: Surely, that is the Man that God will look at, even him that is of an humble and contrite Spirit, and that trembleth at his Word, Isa. 66. 2.

Sixthly, An Understanding well enlightened is of admirable use also, both as to the matter and manner of Prayer. He that hath his Understanding well exercised, to discern between good and evil, and in it placed a Sense, either of the misery of Man, or the mercy of God; that Soul hath no need of the Writings of other Men, to teach him by Forms of Prayer: For as he that feels the Pain, needs not to be learned to cry Oh! Even so he that hath his Understanding opened by the Spirit, needs not so to be taught of other Mens Prayers, as that he cannot Pray without them: the present Sense, Feeling, and Pressure that lieth upon his Spirit, provokes him to groan out his request unto the Lord. When David had the Pains of Hell catching hold on him, and the Sorrows of Hell compassing him about, he needs not a Bishop in a Surplice, to learn him to say, O Lord I beseech thee, deliver my Soul, Psal. 116. 3, 4. Or to look into a Book, to teach him in a Form to pour out his Heart before God. It is the Nature of the Heart of sick Men, in their Pain and Sickness to vent it self for Ease, by dolorous Groans and Complaining to them that stand by. Thus it was with David, in Psal. 38 to the 12. vers. And thus Blessed be the Lord it is with them that are indued with the Grace of God.

Seventhly, It is necessary that there be an enlightned Understanding, to the end that the Soul be kept in a Continuation of the Duty of Prayer.

The People of God are not ignorant how many Wiles, Tricks, and Temptations the Devil hath to make a poor Soul, who is truly willing to have the Lord Jesus Christ, and that upon Christ's terms too; I say to tempt that Soul to be weary of seeking the Face of God, and to think that God is not willing to have Mercy on such a one as him. I saith Satan, thou mayest Pray indeed, but thou shalt not prevail. Thou feest thine Heart is hard, cold, dull and dead, thou dost not Pray with the Spirit, thou dost not Pray in good earnest, thy Thoughts are running after other things, when thou pretendest to Pray to God. Away Hypocrite, go no further, it is but in vain to strive any longer. Here now, if the Soul be not well informed in its Understanding, it will presently cry out, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my God hath forgotten me. Whereas the Soul rightly informed and enlightened, saith, Isa. 45. 27. Well I will seek the Lord and wait; I will not leave off, though the Lord keep Silence, and speak not one Word of Comfort. He loved Jacob dearly, and yet he made him Wrestle before he had the Blessing. Seeming Denials in God are no tokens of his Displeasure; he may hide his Face from his dearest Saints. He loves to keep his People praying, and to find them ever knocking at the Gate of Heaven; it may be, says the Soul, the Lord tries me, or he loves to hear me groan out my Condition before him.

The Woman of Canaan would not take seeming Denials for real ones; she knew the Lord was gracious, and, the Lord will avenge his People, though he bear long with with them. The Lord hath waited longer upon me, than I have waited on him; and thus it was with David; I waited patiently, saith he: That is, It was long before the Lord answered me, though at the last he inclined his Ear unto me, and heard my Cry, Ps. 40. 1. And the most excellent Remedy for this, is an understanding well informed and enlightened. Alas, how many poor Souls are there in the World, that truly fear the Lord, who, because they are not well informed in their understanding, are oft ready to give up all for lost, upon almost every Trick and Temptation of Satan. The Lord pity them, and help them to pray with the Spirit, and with the Understanding also. Much of mine own Experience could I here discover; when I have been in my Fits of Agonies of Spirit, I have been strongly persuaded to leave off, and to seek the Lord no longer; but being made to understand, what great Sinners the Lord hath had Mercy upon; and how large his Promises were still to Sinners; and that it was not the whole, but the sick, not the Righteous, but the Sinner, not the Full, but the Empty, that he extended his Grace and Mercy unto. This made me through the Assistance of his holy Spirit, to cleave to him, to hang upon him, and yet to cry, though for the present he made no answer; and the Lord help all his Poor, tempted and afflicted People to do the like, and to continue though it be long, according to the Saying of the Prophet; and to help them (to that End) to pray, not by the Inventions of Men, and their stinted Forms, but with the Spirit, and with Understanding also.

Hab. 2. 3

And now to answer a Query or two, and so to pass on to the next Thing.

Query 1. But what would you have us poor Creatures to do, that cannot tell how to pray; the Lord knows I know not either how to pray, or what to pray for.

Ans. Poor Heart! Thou canst not (thou complaineest) pray, canst thou see thy Misery? Hath God shewed thee that thou art by Nature under the Curse of his Law? If so, do not mistake, I know thou dost groan, and that most bitterly. I am persuaded, thou canst scarcely be found doing any Thing in thy calling but Prayer breaketh from thy Heart. Have not thy Groans gone up to Heaven from every corner of thy House; I know 'tis thus; and so also doth thine own sorrowful Heart, witness thy Tears, thy Forgetfulness of thy calling, &c. Is not thy Heart so full of Desires after the things of another World, that many times thou dost even forget the things of this World; Pristhee read this Scripture, Job 23. 12.

Rom. 8. 28

Query 2. Yea, but when I go into secret, and intend to pour out my Soul before God, I can scarce say any thing at all.

Answer. Ah sweet Soul! It is not thy Words that God so much regards, as that he will not mind thee except thou comest before him with some eloquent Oration. His Eye is on the Brokenness of thine Heart; and that it is, that makes the very Bowels of the Lord run over; A broken and a contrite Heart, O God, thou wilt not despise, Psal. 51. 17.

2. The stopping of thy Words may arise from overmuch trouble in thy Heart. David was so troubled sometimes, that he could not speak, Psal. 77. 3, 4. But this may comfort all such sorrowful Hearts as thou art, that though thou canst not through the Anguish of thy Spirit, speak much, yet the Holy Spirit stirs up in thine Heart Groans and Sighs, so much the more vehement; when the Mouth is hindred, yet the Spirit is not.

Moses, as afore said, made Heaven ring again with his Prayers, (that we read of) not one Word came out of his Mouth. But,

3. If thou wouldest more fully express thy self before the Lord; study, First, Thy filthy Estate. Secondly, God's Promises. Thirdly, The Heart of Christ. Which thou maist know or discern, 1. By his Condescension and Blood shed. 2. By the Mercy he hath extended to great Sinners formerly; and plead thine own Vileness, by way of bemoaning; Christ's Blood, by way of Expostulation; and in thy Prayers, let the Mercy that he hath extended to other great Sinners, together with his rich Promises of Grace, be much upon thy Heart. Yet let me counsel thee; 1. Take heed that thou content not thy self with Words. 2. That thou do not think that God looks only at them neither. But, 3. However, whether thy Words be few or many, let thine Heart go with them; And then shalt thou seek him, and find him, when thou shalt seek him with thy whole Heart, Jer. 29. 13.

Object. But though you have seemed to speak against any other way of Praying, but by the Spirit, yet here you your self can give Direction how to Pray.

Answer. We ought to prompt one another forward to Prayer, though we ought not to make for each other Forms of Prayer.

To exhort to pray with Christian Direction, is one thing, and to make stinted Forms for the tying up the Spirit of God to them, is another thing.

The Apostle gives them no Form to pray withal; yet directs to Prayer, Ephes. 6. 18. Rom. 15. 30, 31, 32.

Let no man therefore conclude, that because we may with allowance give Instructions and Directions to pray; that therefore it is lawful to make for each other Forms of Prayer.

Object. But if we do not use Forms of Prayer, how shall we teach our Children to pray?

Ans.

Ans. My Judgment is, that Men go the wrong way to learn their Children to Pray, in going about so soon to learn them any set Company of Words, as is the common use of poor Creatures to do.

For to me it seems to be a better way for People betimes to tell their Children what cursed Creatures they are, and how they are under the Wrath of God by reason of original and actual Sin; also to tell them the Nature of God's Wrath, and the Duration of the Misery; which if they conscienciously do, they would sooner learn their Children to pray than they do. The way that Men learn to pray, it is by Conviction for Sin; and this is the way to make our sweet Babes do so too. But the other way, namely, to be busie in learning Children Forms of Prayer, before they know any thing else, it is the next way to make them cursed Hypocrites, and to puff them up with Pride. Learn therefore your Children to know their wretched State and Condition! tell them of Hell Fire, and their Sins, of Damnation, and Salvation; the way to escape the one, and to enjoy the other, (if you know it your selves) and this will make Tears run down your sweet Babes Eyes, and hearty Groans flow from their Hearts; and then also you may tell them to whom they should pray, and through whom they should pray: you may tell them also of God's Promises, and his former Grace extended to Sinners, according to the Word.

Ah! poor sweet Babes, the Lord open their Eyes, and make them holy Christians. Saith David, Come ye Children, hearken unto me, I will teach you the Fear of the Lord, Psal. 34. 11.

He doth not say, I will muzzle you up in a Form of Prayer; but I will teach you the Fear of the Lord: which is, to see their sad States by Nature and to be instructed in the Truth of the Gospel; which doth through the Spirit, beget Prayer in every one that in truth learns it: And the more you learn them this, the more will their Hearts run out to God in Prayer.

God never did account Paul a praying Man, until he was a convinced and converted Man; no more will it be with any else, Acts 9. 11.

Object. But we find that the Disciples desired that Christ would teach them to Pray, as John also taught his Disciples; and that thereupon he taught them that Form called the Lord's Prayer.

Ans. 1. To be taught by Christ, is that which not only they, but we desire, and seeing he is not here in his Person to teach us, the Lord teach us by his Word and Spirit; for the Spirit is it which he hath said he would send to supply in his room when he went away, as it is, John 14. 16. and 16. 7.

2. As to that called a Form, I cannot think that Christ intended it as a stinted Form of Prayer.

First, Because he himself layeth it down diversly, as is to be seen, if you compare, Mat. 6. Luk. 11. Whereas if he intended it as a set Form, it must not have been so laid down, for a set Form is so many Words and no more.

Secondly, We do not find that the Apostles did ever observe it as such, neither did they admonish others so to do; Search all their Epistles: Yet surely they, both for Knowledge to discern, and Faithfulness to practise, were as eminent as any He ever since in the World which would impose it.

But in a Word, Christ by those Words, Our Father, &c. doth instruct his People what Rules they should observe in their Prayers to God.

1. That they should pray in Faith.

2. To God in the Heavens.

3. For such Things as are according to his Will, &c. Pray thus; or after this Manner.

Object. But Christ bids, pray for the Spirit; this implieth that Men without the Spirit, may notwithstanding pray and be heard; See Luke 11. 9, to 14.

Ans. 1. The Speech of Christ there is directed to his own, Vers. 1.

2. Christ is telling of them, that God would give his holy Spirit to them that ask him, is to be understood of giving more of the holy Spirit; for still they are the Disciples spoken to, which had a Measure of the Spirit already; for he saith, when ye pray, say, Our Father, Vers. 2. I say unto you, Vers. 8. And, I say unto you, Vers. 9. If ye then being evil, know how to give good Things to your Children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give the holy Spirit to them that ask him. Christians ought to pray for the Spirit, that is, more of it, though God hath endued them with it already.

Quest. Then would you have none pray, but those that know they are Disciples of Christ.

Ans. Yes.

1. Let every Soul that would be saved, pour out it self to God, though it cannot through Temptation, conclude it self a Child of God. And,

2. I know if the Grace of God be in thee, it will be as natural to thee to groan out thy Condition, as it is for a sucking Child, to cry for the Breast. Prayer is one of the first Things that discovers a Man to be a Christian, Acts 9. 12. But yet if it be right it is such Prayer as followeth.

First, To desire God in Christ, for himself, for his Holiness, Love, Wisdom, and Glory. For right Prayer, as it runs only to God through Christ, so it centers in him, and in him alone, Whom have I in Heaven but thee?

And

And there is none in Earth that I desire (long for, or seek after) besides thee, Psal. 73. 25.

Secondly, That the Soul might enjoy continual Communion with him, both here and hereafter. I shall be satisfied, when I awake with thine Image, or in thy Likeness, Psal. 17. 15. For in this we groan earnestly, &c. 2 Cor. 5. 2.

Thirdly, Right Prayer is accompanied with a continual Labour after that which is prayed for; My Soul waiteth for the Lord, more than they that watch for the Morning, Psal. 130. 6. I will arise now, and seek him whom my Soul loveth, Cant. 3. 2. For mark I beseech you, there is two Things that provoke to Prayer: The one is a Detestation to Sin, and the Things of this Life; the other is a longing Desire after Communion with God, in an holy and undefiled State and Inheritance. Compare but this one Thing with most of the Prayers that are made by Men, and you shall find them but mock Prayers, and the Breathings of an abominable Spirit; for even the most of Men, either not pray at all, or else only endeavour to mock God and the World, by so doing; for do but compare their Prayer and the Course of their Lives together, and you may easily see, that the Thing included in their Prayer is the least looked after by their Lives. O sad Hypocrites!

Thus have I briefly shewed you, 1. What Prayer is. 2. What it is to pray with the Spirit. 3. What it is to pray with the Spirit, and with the Understanding also.

I shall now speak a Word or two of Application, and so conclude with, 1. A Word of Information. 2. A Word of Encouragement. 3. A Word of Rebuke.

U S E I.

A Word of Information.

FOR the first to inform you; As Prayer is the Duty of every one of the Children of God, and carried on by the Spirit of Christ in the Soul: So every one that doth but offer to take upon him to pray to the Lord, had need be very wary, and go about that Work especially, with the dread of God, as well as with Hopes of the Mercy of God through Jesus Christ.

Prayer is an Ordinance of God, in which a Man draws very near to God; and therefore, it calleth for so much the more of the Assistance of the Grace of God, to help a Soul to pray, as becomes one that is in the presence of him. It is a shame for a Man to behave himself irreverently before a King, but a Sin to do so before God. And as a King (if wise) is not pleased with an Oration made up with unseemly Words and Gestures; so God takes no Pleasure in the Sacrifice of Fools, Eceles. 5. 1, 4. It is not long Discourses, nor eloquent Tongues, that are the Things which are pleasing in the Ears of the Lord; But a humble, broken, and contrite Heart; that is, sweet in the Nostrils of the Heavenly Majesty. Therefore for Information, know that there are these five Things that are Obstructions to Prayer, and even make void the Requests of the Creature.

*First, When Men regard Iniquity in their Hearts, at the Time of their Prayers before God. If I regard Iniquity in my Heart, the Lord will not hear my Prayer, Psal. 66. 18. When there is a * Secret Love to that very Thing, which thou with thy dissembling Lips, dost ask for Strength against. For this is the Wickedness of Man's Heart, that it will even love, and hold fast that which with the Mouth it prays against; and of this Sort are they, that honour God with their Mouth, but their Heart is far from him, Ezek. 33. 31. O how ugly would it be in our Eyes, if we should see a Beggar ask an Alms, with Intention to throw it to the Dogs; or, that should say with one Breath, pray bestow this upon me; and with the next, I beseech you give it me not. And yet thus it is with these kind of Persons; with their Mouth they say, Thy Will be done; and with their Hearts nothing less. With their Mouth say, Hallowed be thy Name; and with their Hearts and Lives, they delight to dishonour him all the Day long. These be the Prayers that become Sin, Psal. 109. 7. and though they put them often, yet the Lord will never answer them, 2 Sam. 22. 42.*

Secondly, When Men pray for shew, to be heard, and thought some Body in Religion, and the like.

These Prayers also fall short of God's Approbation, and are never like to be answered, in reference to eternal Life.

There are two Sorts of Men that pray to this End.

1. Your Trencher Chaplains, that thrust themselves into great Mens Families, pretending the Worship of God, when in Truth, the great Business is, their own Bellies; and were notably painted out by Ahab's Prophets, and also Nebuchadnezzar's; who, though they pretended great Devotion, yet their Lusts and their Bellies were the great Things aimed at by them in all their Pieces of Devotion. 1 Kin. 18.

2. Them also that seek Repute and Applause for their eloquent Terms, and seek more to tickle the Ears and Heads of their Hearers, than any else. These be they that pray to be heard of Men, and have all their Reward already, Mat. 6. 5.

These Persons are discovered thus; 1. They eye only their Auditory in their Expressions. 2. They look for Commendation when they have done. 3. Their Hearts either rise or fall according to their Mat. 6. 7. Praise or Enlargement. 4. The length of their Prayer pleaseth them; and that it might be long, they will vainly repeat Things over and over; they study for Enlargements; but look not from what Heart they come: They look for Returns; but it is the windy Applause of Men: And therefore they love not to be in their Chamber, but among Company; and if at any Time Conscience thrusts them into their Closet, yet Hypocrisie will cause them to be heard in the Streets; and when their Mouths have done going, their Prayers are ended; for they wait not to hearken what the Lord will say, Psal. 85. 8.

Thirdly, A third Sort of Prayer that will not be accepted of God, it is, when either they pray for wrong Things, or if for right Things, yet that the Thing prayed for, might be spent upon their Lusts, and laid out to wrong Ends: Some have not, because they ask not, saith James: and others ask and have not, because they ask amiss, that they may consume it on their Lusts, Jam. 4.
 2, 3, 4. Ends contrary to God's Will, is a great Argument with God, to frustrate the Petitions presented before him. Hence it is that so many pray for this, and that, and yet receive it not, God answers them only with Silence; they have their Words for their Labour; and that is all.

Psal. 106. 14. Object. But God hears some Persons though their Hearts be not right with him, as he did Israel, in giving Quails, though they spent them on their Lusts.

Ans. If he doth, it is in Judgment, not in Mercy; he gave them their Desire indeed; but they had better have been Psal. 106. 15 without it; for he sent Leanness into their Souls. Wo be to that Man that God answereth thus.

Fourthly, Another Sort of Prayers there are that are not answered, and those are such as are made by Men, and presented to God in their own Persons only, without their appearing in the Lord Jesus. For though God hath appointed Prayer, and promised to hear the Prayer of the Creature, yet not the Prayer of any Creature that comes not in Christ, If you ask any Thing in my Name. And whether ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all in the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ. If you ask any Thing in my Name, &c. Though you be never so devout, zealous, earnest, and constant in Prayer, yet, it is in Christ only that you must be heard and accepted.
 But alas, the most of Men know not what it is to come to him in the Name of our Lord Jesus, which is the Reason they either live wicked, pray wicked, and also die wicked. Or else, 2. That they attain to nothing else but what a meer natural Man may attain unto, as to be exact in Word and Deed, betwixt Man and Man, and only with the Righteousness of the Law, to appear before God.

Fifthly, The last Thing that hindereth Prayer, is, the Form of it, without the Power. It is an easie Thing for Men to be very hot for such Things, as Forms of Prayer, as they are written in a Book:
 but yet they are altogether forgetful to enquire with themselves, with themselves, whether they have the Spirit and Power of Prayer; these Men are like a painted Man, and their Prayers like a false Voice: They in Person appear as Hypocrites, and their Prayers are an Abomination. When they say they have been pouring out their Souls to God, he saith, they have been howling like Dogs, Hos. 7. 14. Prov. 28. 9

When therefore thou intendest, or art minded to pray to the Lord of Heaven and Earth, consider these following Particulars.

1. Consider seriously what thou wantest; do not as many, who in their Words only beat the Air, and ask for such Things, as indeed they do not desire, nor see that they stand in need thereof.

2. When thou seest what thou wantest, keep to that, and take heed thou pray sensibly.

Object. But I have a Sense of nothing; then, by your Argument, I must not pray at all.

Answer. First, If thou findest thy self senseless in some sad Measure, yet thou canst not complain of that senselesness, but by being sensible. There is a Sense of senselessness; according to thy Sense then, that thou hast of the need of any Thing, so pray, (Luke 8. 9.) and if thou art sensible of thy senselessness, pray the Lord to make thee sensible of whatever thou findest thy Heart senseless of. This was the usual Practice of the holy Men of God; Lord, make me to know my End, Psal. 39. 4. Lord open to us this Parable, said the Disciples, Luke 8. 9.

And to this is annexed the Promise,
Call upon me, and I will hear thee, and shew thee great and mighty Things that thou know-est not, Jer. 33. 3. that thou art not sensible of. But,

Secondly, Take heed that thine Heart go to God as well as thy Mouth; let not thy Mouth go any further than thou strivest to draw thine Heart along with it. David would lift his Heart and Soul to the Lord, and good Reason: For so far as a Man's Mouth goeth along with his Heart, so far it is but Lip-Labour only; and tho' God calls for, and accepteth the Calves of the Lips, yet the Lips without the Heart argueth, not only senselessness, but our being without Sense of our senselessness; and therefore if thou hast a Mind to enlarge in Prayer before God, see that it be with thy Heart.

Thirdly, Take heed of affecting Expressions, and so to please thy self with the Use

use of them, that thou forget not the Life of Prayer.

I shall conclude this Use with a Caution or two.

And the First is, Take heed thou do not throw off Prayer, through sudden Persuasions that thou hast not the Spirit, neither prayest thereby. It is the great Work of the Devil to do his best, or rather worst, against the best Prayers. He will flatter your false dissembling Hypocrites, and feed them with a thousand Fancies of Well-doing, when their very Duties of Prayer, and all other, stink in the Nostrils of God; when he stands at a poor Josua's hand to resist him, that is, to persuade him, that neither his Person nor Performances are accepted of God. Take heed therefore of such false Conclusions and groundless Discouragements; and tho' such Persuasions do come in upon thy Spirit, be so far from being discouraged by them, that thou use them to put thee upon further Sincerity and Restlessness of Spirit, in thy approaching to God.

Isa. 65. 5.
Zach. 3. 1.

Let not thy Cor-ruptions stop thy Prayers.

Secondly, As such sudden Temptations should not stop thee from Prayer, and pouring out thy Soul to God; so neither should thine own Heart's Corruption hinder thee. It may be thou maist find in thee all those things beforementioned, and that they will be endeavouring to put forth themselves in thy praying to him: Thy business then is to judge them, to pray against them, and to lay thyself so much the more at the Foot of God, in a Sense of thy own Vileness, and rather make an Argument from thy Vileness and Corruption of Heart, to plead with God for justifying and sanctifying Grace, then an Argument of Discouragement and Despair. David went this way, O Lord (saith he) pardon mine Iniquity, for it is great, Psal. 25.

USE II.

A Word of Encouragement.

AND therefore Secondly, to speak a Word by way of Encouragement (to the poor tempted and cast-down Soul) to pray to God through Christ. Though all Prayer that is accepted of God in Reference to eternal Life must be in the Spirit; for that only maketh Intercession for us according to the Will of God: Yet because many a poor Soul may have the Holy Spirit working on them, and stirring of them to groan unto the Lord for Mercy, though through Unbelief they do not, nor, for the present, cannot believe that they are the People of God, such as he delights in; yet forasmuch as the Truth of Grace may be in them, therefore I shall to encourage them, lay down further these few Particulars.

Rom. 8. 27

1. That Scripture in Luke 11. 8. is very encouraging to any poor Soul that doth hunger after Christ Jesus. In the 5th, 6th and 7th Verses, he speaketh a Parable of a Man that went to his Friend to borrow three Loaves, who, because he was in Bed denied him, yet for his Importunity sake he did arise and give him; clearly signifying, that though poor Souls, through the Weakness of their Faith, cannot see that they are the Friends of God, yet they should never leave asking, and knocking at God's Door for Mercy. Mark, saith Christ, I say unto you, although he will not arise and give him because he is his Friend, yet because of his Importunity, (or restless Desires) he will arise, and give him as many as he needeth. Poor Heart! Thou criest out that God will not regard thee, thou dost not find that thou art a Friend to him, but rather an Enemy in thine Heart by wicked Works; and thou art as though thou didst hear the Lord saying to thee, Trouble me not, I cannot give unto thee; as he in the Parable; yet, I say, continue knocking, crying, moaning, and bewailing thyself: I tell thee, though he will not arise and give thee, because thou art his Friend; yet because of thy Importunity, he will arise and give thee as many as thou needest. The same in Effect, you have discovered, Luke 18, in the Parable of the unjust Judge, and the poor Widow; her Importunity prevailed with him. And verily mine own Experience tells me, that there is nothing that doth more prevail with God than Importunity. Is it not so with you in respect of your Beggars that come to your Door? Though you have no Heart to give them any thing at their first asking, yet if they follow you, bemoaning themselves, and will take no Nay without an Alms, you will give them; for their continual begging overcometh you. Is there Bowels in you that are wicked, and will they be wrought upon by an importuning Beggar? Go thou and do the like. It is a prevailing Motive, and that by good Experience; he will arise and give thee as many as thou needest. Luke 11.

2. Another Encouragement for a poor trembling convincing Soul, is, to consider the Place, Throne, or Seat, on which the great God hath placed himself to hear the Petitions and Prayers of poor Creatures; and that is a Throne of Grace, Heb. 4. 16. The Mercy-seat, Exod. 25. 22. Which signifieth, that in the Days of the Gospel, God hath taken up his Seat, his Abiding-place in Mercy and Forgiveness; and from thence he doth intend to hear the Sinner, and to commune with him, as he saith, Exod. 25. 22. (speaking before of the Mercy-seat) And there will I meet with thee. Mark, it is upon the Mercy-seat; There will I meet with thee, and there will I commune with thee, from above the Mercy-seat. Poor Souls! They are very apt to entertain strange Thoughts of God, and his Carriage riage towards them, and suddenly conclude, that God will have no regard unto them; when yet he is upon the Mercy-seat, and hath taken up his Place on purpose there, to the end he may hear and regard the Prayers of poor Creatures. If he had said, I will commune with thee from my Throne of Judgment; then indeed, you might have trembled and fled from the face of the great and glorious Majesty. But when he saith he will hear and commune with Souls upon the Throne of Grace, or from the Mercy-Seat; this should encourage thee, and cause thee to hope, nay, to come boldly to the Throne of Grace, that thou mayest obtain Mercy, and find Grace to help in time of need, Heb. 4. 16.

3. There is yet another Encouragement to continue in Prayer with God, and that is this.

As there is a Mercy-Seat, from whence God is willing to commune with poor Sinners; so there is also by this Mercy-Seat, Jesus Christ who continually besprinkles it with his Blood. Hence it is called, The Blood of sprinkling, Hebr. 12. 14. When the High Priest under the Law was to go into the Holiest, where the Mercy-seat was, he might not go in without Blood, Heb. 9. 7.

Why so? Because, though God was upon the Mercy-seat, yet he was perfectly just as well as merciful. Now the Blood was to stop Justice from running out upon the Persons concerned in the Intercession of the High Priest, as in Levit. 16. 13, to 17. To signifie, that all thine Unworthiness that thou fearest, should not hinder thee from coming to God in Christ for Mercy. Thou cryest out that thou art vile, and therefore God will not regard thy Prayer; 'tis true, if thou delight in thy Vileness, and come to God out of a meer Pretence. But if from a Sense of thy Vileness thou do pour out thy Heart to God, desiring to be saved from the Guilt, and cleansed from the Filth, with all thy Heart; fear not, thy Vileness will not cause the Lord to stop his Ear from hearing of thee. The Value of the Blood of Christ which is sprinkled upon the Mercy-seat, stops the Course of Justice, and opens a Flood-gate for the Mercy of the Lord to be extended unto thee. Thou hast therefore, as aforesaid, Boldness to enter into the Holiest, by the Blood of Jesus, that hath made a new and living way for thee, thou shalt not die, Heb. 10. 19, 20.

Besides, Jesus is there, not only to sprinkle the Mercy-seat with his Blood; but he speaks, and his Blood speaks; he hath Audience; and his Blood hath Audience; in-somuch, that God saith, when he doth but see the Blood, he will pass over you, and the Ex. 12. 13. Plague shall not be upon you, &c.

I shall not detain you any longer. Be sober and humble; go to the Father in the Name of the Son, and tell him your Case, in the Assistance of the Spirit, and you will then feel the Benefit of praying with the Spirit and the Understanding also.

U S E III.

A Word of Reproof.

THIS speaks sadly to you who never pray at all.

I will pray, saith the Apostle, and so saith the Heart of them that are Christians. Thou then art not a Christian that art not a praying Person. The Promise is, That every one that is righteous shall pray, Psal. 32. 6. Thou then art a wicked Wretch that prayest not. Jacob got the Name of Israel by wrestling with God, Gen. 32. And all his Children bare that Name with him, Gal. 6. But the People that forget Prayer, that call not on the Name of the Lord, they have Prayer made for them, but it is such as this, Pour out thy Fury upon the Heathen, O Lord, and upon the People that call not upon thy Name, Jer. 10. 25. How likest thou this, O thou that art so far off from pouring out thine Heart before God, that thou goest to Bed like a Dog, and risest like an Hog, or a Sot, and forgettest to call upon him? What wilt thou do when thou shalt be damned in Hell, because thou couldest not find in thine Heart to ask for Heaven? Who will grieve for thy Sorrow, that didst not count Mercy worth asking for? I tell thee, the Ravens, the Dogs, &c. shall rise up in Judgment against thee, for they will according to their kind make Signs, and a Noise for something to refresh them when they want it; but thou hast not the Heart to ask for Heaven, though thou must eternally perish in Hell, if thou hast it not.

2. This rebukes you that make it your Business to slight, mock at, and undervalue the Spirit, and praying by that. What will you do, when God shall come to reckon for these Things? You count it High Treason to speak but a Word against the King. Nay, you tremble at the Thoughts of it; and yet in the mean Time you will blaspheme the Spirit of the Lord. Is God indeed to be dallied with, and will the End be pleasant unto you? Did God send his Holy Spirit into the Hearts of his People, to that End that you should taunt at it? Is this to serve God? And doth this demonstrate the Reformation of your Church? Nay, is it not the Mark of implacable Reprobates? O fearful! Can you not be content to be damned for your Sins against the Law, but you must sin against the Holy Ghost?

Must the holy, harmless, and undefiled Spirit of Grace; the Nature of God, the Promise Promise of Christ, the Comforter of his Children; that without which, no Man can do any Service acceptable to the Father: Must this, I say, be the Burthen of your Song, to taunt, deride, and mock at? If God sent Corah and his Company headlong to Hell, for speaking against Moses and Aaron, Numb. 16. do you that mock at the Spirit of Christ, think to escape unpunished? Heb. 10. 29. Did you never read what God did to Ananias and Saphira, for telling but one Lie against it? Acts 5. 1, to 8. Also to Simon Magus, for but undervaluing of it, Acts 8. 18, to 22. And will thy Sin be a Vertue, or go unrewarded with Vengeance, that makest it thy Business to rage against, and oppose its Office, Service, and Help, that it giveth to the Children of God? It is a fearful Thing to do despite unto the Spirit of Grace: compare Mat. 12. 31. with Mark 3. 30.

3. As this is the doom of those who do openly blaspheme the Holy Ghost, in a Way of disdain and reproach to its Office and Service: So also it is sad for you, who resist this Spirit of Prayer, by a Form of Man's inventing. A very Juggle of the Devil; that the Traditions of Men should be of better esteem, and more to be owned, than the Spirit of Prayer. What is this less than that accursed Abomination of Jeroboam, which kept many from going to Jerusalem, the Place and Way of God's Appointment to worship; and by that Means brought such Displeasure from God upon them, as to this Day is not appeased? One would think that God's Judgments of old upon the Hypocrites of that Day, should make them that have heard of such Things, take heed and fear to do so. Yet the Doctors of our Day are so far from taking of warning by the Punishment of others, that they do most desperately rush into the same Transgression, (viz.) To set up an Institution of Man, neither commanded nor commended of God: and whosoever will not obey herein, they must be driven either out of the Land or the World.

Hath God required these Things at your Hands? if he hath, shew us where. If not (as I am sure he hath not) Then what cursed Presumption is it in any Pope, Bishop, or other, to command that in the Worship of God which he hath not required? Nay, further: It is not that Part only of the Form, which is several Texts of Scripture, that we are commanded to say; but even all must be confessed as the divine Worship of God, notwithstanding those Absurdities contained therein, which because they are at large discovered by others, I omit the Rehearsal of them. Again, though a Man be willing to live never so peaceably; yet because he cannot for Conscience sake own that, for one of the most eminent Parts of God's Worship, which he never commanded: Therefore must that Man be looked upon as Factious, Seditious, Erroneous, Heretical; a Disparagement to the Church, a Seducer of the People, and what not? Lord, what will be the Fruit of these Things! when for the Doctrine of God there is imposed (that is more than taught) the Traditions of Men? Thus is the Spirit of Prayer disowned, and the Form imposed; the Spirit debased, and the Form extolled: They that pray with the Spirit, though never so humble and holy, counted Phanaticks; and they that pray with the Form, though with that only, counted the Vertuous. And how will the Favourites of such a Practice answer that Scripture, which commandeth, that the Church should turn away from such as have a Form of Godliness, and deny the Power thereof? ^{2Tim. 3. 5} And if I should say, that Men that do these Things afore said, do advance a Form of Prayer of other Men's making, above the Spirit of Prayer, it would not take long Time to prove it? For, he that advanceth the Book of Common Prayer above the Spirit of Prayer, he doth advance a Form of Men's making above it. But this do all those who banish, or desire to banish, them that pray with the Spirit of Prayer; while they hug and embrace them that pray by that Form only, and that because they do it. Therefore they love and advance the Form of their own or others inventing, before the Spirit of Prayer, which is God's special and gracious Appointment.

If you desire the clearing of the Minor, look into the Goals in England, and into the Ale-houses of the same; and I trow, you will find those that plead for the Spirit of Prayer in the Goal, and them that look after the Form of Men's Inventions only, in the Ale-house. It is evident also by the silencing of God's dear Ministers, though never so powerfully enabled by the Spirit of Prayer; if they in Conscience, cannot admit of that Form of Common-Prayer. If this be not an exalting the Common-Prayer-Book above either praying by the Spirit, or preaching the Word, I have taken my Mark amiss. It is not pleasant for me to dwell on this; the Lord in Mercy turn the Hearts of the People to seek more after the Spirit of Prayer; and in the Strength of that, to pour out their Souls before the Lord. Only let me say, it is a sad Sign, that that which is one of the most eminent Parts of the pretended Worship of God, is Antichristian; when it hath nothing but the Tradition of Men, and the Strength of Persecution to uphold, or plead for it.

The CONCLUSION.

I shall Conclude this Discourse with this Word of Advice to all God's People.

1. Believe that as sure as you are in the Way of God, you must meet with Temptations.

2. The first Day therefore that thou dost enter into Christ's Congregation, look for them.

3. When they do come, beg of God to carry thee thorough them.

4. Be jealous of thine own Heart, that it deceive thee not in thy Evidences for Heaven, nor in thy walking with God in this World.

5. Take heed of the Flatteries of false Brethren.

6. Keep in the Life and Power of Truth.

7. Look most at the Things which are not seen.

8. Take heed of little Sins.

9. Keep the Promise warm upon thy Heart.

10. Renew thy Acts of Faith in the Blood of Christ.

11. Consider the Work of thy Generation.

12. Count to run with the foremost therein.

Grace be with you.

The STRAIT GATE:

O R,

Great Difficulty of going to H E A V E N.

Plainly proving by the Scriptures,

That not only the Rude and Prophane, but many great Professors will come short of that Kingdom.

Enter ye in at the Strait Gate, for wide is the Gate, and broad is the Way that leadeth to Destruction, and many there be that go in thereat. Because strait is the Gate, and narrow is the Way that leadeth unto Life, and few there be that find it, Mat. 7. 13, 14.

To the R E A D E R.

COURTEOUS READER,

GOD (I hope) hath put it into my Heart to write unto thee another Time, and that about Matters of the greatest Moment (for now we discourse not about Things controverted among the Godly, but directly about the Saving or Damning of the Soul, yea, moreover this Discourse is about the fewness of them that shall be saved, and it proves, that many an high Professor will come short of eternal Life;) wherefore the Matter must needs be sharp, and so disliked by some, but let it not be rejected by thee. The Text calls for sharpness, so do the Times, yea, the faithful Discharge of my Duty towards thee, hath put me upon it.

I do not now Pipe but Mourn, and 'twill be well for thee, if thou canst graciously lament, Mat. 11. 17. Some (say they) make the Gate of Heaven too wide, and some make it too narrow; For my Part I have here presented thee with as true a Measure of it as by the Word of God I can: Read me therefore, yea, read me, and compare me with the Bible, and if thou findest my Doctrine, and that Book of God concur; embrace it, as thou wilt answer the contrary in the Day of Judgment: This awakening Work (if God will make it so) was prepared for thee: If there be need and it wounds, get healing by Blood: If it disquiets get Peace by Blood: If it takes away all thou hast because 'twas naught, (for this Book is not prepared to take away true Grace from any) then buy of Christ Gold tried in the Fire, that thou mayest be rich, and white Raiment that thou mayest be cloathed, and that the shame of thy Nakedness doth not appear, and anoint thine Eyes with Eye-Salve, that thou mayest see, Rev. 3. 18. Self-Flatteries, Self-Deceivings, are easy and pleasant, but damnable! The Lord give thee an Heart to judge right of thy Self, right of this Book, and so so prepare for Eternity, that thou mayest not only expect entrance, but be received into the Kingdom of Christ, and of God, Amen.

So Prays thy Friend,

John Bunyan.

LUKE XIII. Ver. 24.

Strive to Enter in at the Strait Gate, for many, I say unto you, seek to Enter in, and shall not be able.

THESE are the Words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and are therefore in especial Manner to be heeded; besides, the subject Matter of the Words, is the most weighty, to wit, how we should attain Salvation, and therefore also to be heeded.

The occasion of the Words, was a Question which one that was at this Time in the Company of the Disciples, put to Jesus Christ; the Question was this, Lord are there few that be saved? ver. 23. A serious Question, not such as tended to the Subversion of the Hearers, as too many now a-days do; but such as in its own Nature tended to the awakening of the Company to good, and that called for such an Answer that might profit the People also: This Question also, well pleased Jesus Christ, and he prepareth, and giveth such an Answer, as was without the least Retort, or Shew of Distaste, such an Answer I say, as carried in it the most full Resolve to the Question it self, and help to the Persons questioning; And he said unto them, strive to enter in, &c. The Words are an Answer, and an Instruction also.

1. An Answer, and that in the Affirmative, the Gate is strait, many that seek will not be able, therefore but few shall be saved.

2. The Answer, is an Instruction also, strive to enter in, &c. good Counsel, and Instruction; pray God help me, and my Reader, and all that love their own Salvation to take it.

My manner of handling the Words will be, first by way of Explication, and then by Way of Observation.

By Way of Explication.

1. The Words are to be considered, with reference to their general Scope.

2. And then with Reference to their several Phrases.

1. The general Scope of the Text is to be considered, and that is that great Thing Salvation; for these Words do immediately look at, point to, and give Direction about Salvation. Are there few that be saved? strive to enter in at the strait Gate.

The Words, I say, are to direct us, not only to talk of, or to wish for, but to understand how we shall, and to seek that we may be effectually saved; and therefore of the greatest Importance. To be saved! what is like being saved? To be saved from Sin, from Hell, from the Wrath of God, from eternal Damnation, what is like it? To be made an Heir of God! of his Grace! Of his Kingdom and eternal Glory! What is like it? and yet all this is included in this Word, saved, and in the Answer to that Question, are there few that be saved? indeed this Word, saved, is but of little Use in the World, save to them that are heartily afraid of Damning. This Word lies in the Bible, as excellent Salves lie in some Men's Houses, thrust into a Hole, and not thought on for many Months, because the Household People have no Wounds nor Sores: In Time of Sicknes, what so set by, as the Doctor's Glasses, and Gally-pots full of his excellent Things; but when the Person is grown well, the rest is thrown to the Dunghill. Oh! when Men are Sick of Sin, and afraid of Damning, what a Text is that, where this Word saved is found? Yea, what a Word of Worth and Goodness and Blessedness is it to him that lies continually upon the Wrath of a guilty Conscience? But the whole need not the Physician: He therefore, and he only knows what saved means, that knows, what Hell and Death and Damnation means: What shall I do to be saved? Is the Language of the trembling Sinner; Lord save me, is Language of the sinking Sinner; and none admire the Glory that is in that Word saved, but such as see without being saved, all Things in Heaven and Earth are emptiness to them; they also that believe themselves privileged in all the blessedness that are wrapped up in that Word, bless and admire God that hath saved them: Wherefore, since the Thing intended both in the Question and the Answer is no less then the Salvation of the Soul, I beseech you to give the more earnest heed, Heb. 21.

But to come to the particular Phrases in the Words, and to handle them orderly in the the Words I find four Things.

1. An Intimation of the Kingdom of Heaven.

2. A Description of the Entrance into it.

3. An Exhortation to enter into it; and,

4. A Motive to enforce that Exhortation.

First, An intimation of the Kingdom of Heaven, for when he saith, strive to Enter in; and in such Phrases there is supposed a Place or State or both to be enjoyed; Enter in, enter into what, or whether but into a State or Place or both; and therefore when you read this Word, enter in, you must say there is certainly included in the Text that good thing that yet is not expressed; Enter in, into Heaven, that's the Meaning where the saved are, and shall be, into Heaven, that Place, that glorious Place, where God, and Christ, and Angels are, and the Souls or Spirits of just Men made perfect: Enter in; that thing included, tho' not expressed in the Words, is called in another Place, the Mount Sion, the Heavenly Jerusalem, the general Assembly and Church of the First-Born which are written in Heaven, Heb. 12. And therefore the Words signifie unto us, that there is a State most glorious, and that when this World is ended; and that this Place and State is likewise to be enjoyed, and inherited by a Generation of Men for ever. Besides, this Word, enter in, signifieth that Salvation to the full is to be enjoyed only there, and that there only is Eternal Safety; all other Places and Conditions are hazardous, dangerous, full of Snares, Imperfections, Temptations and Afflictions, but there all is well; there is no Devil to Tempt, no desperately wicked Heart to deliver us up, no deceitful Lust to intangle, nor any inchanting World to bewitch us: there all shall be well to all Eternity. Further all the Parts of, and Circumstances that attend Salvation, are only there to be enjoyed: there only is Immortality and Eternal Life; there is the Glory and Fullness of Joy, and the everlasting Pleasures; there is God and Christ to be enjoyed by open Vision, and more; there are the Angels, and the Saints; further, there is no Death, nor Sickness, no Sorrow, nor sighing, for ever: there is no Pain, nor Persecutor, nor Darknes to eclipse our Glory. O this Mount Sion, O this Heavenly Jerusalem! 2 Cor. 5. 1, to 5. Psa. 16. 11. Luke 20. 35, 36. Heb. 12. 12, 13, 14.

Behold therefore what a great thing the Lord Jesus hath included by this little Word, in, in this Word is wrapt up an whole Heaven, and Eternal Life: even as there is also by other little Words in the Holy Scriptures of Truth; as where he saith, knock and it shall be opened unto you, and the Elect have obtained it. This should teach us, not only to read, but to attend in reading; not only to read, but to lift up our Hearts to God in reading; for if we be not heedful, if he give us not Light and Understanding; we may easily pass over without any great Regard, such a Word as may have a glorious Kingdom and Eternal Salvation in the Bowels of it: Yea sometimes, as here, a whole Heaven is intimated, where it is not at all expressed. The Apostles of old, did use to fetch great things out of the Scriptures, even out of the very Order and timing of the several things contained therein, see Rom. 4. 9, 10, 11. Gal. 3. 16, 17. Heb. 8. 13. but,

Secondly, As we have here an Intimation of the Kingdom of Heaven, so we have a Description of the Entrance into it, and that by a double Similitude.

1. It is called a Gate.

2. A strait Gate: strive to enter in at the strait Gate.

1. It is set forth by the Similitude of a Gate. A Gate, you know, is of a double Use, it is to open and shut, and so consequently, to let in, or to keep out; and to do both these at the Season; as he said, let not the Gates of Jerusalem be opened till the Sun be hot; and again, I commanded that the Gate should be shut, and charged that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath. Neh. 7. 3. ch. 13. 19, 20. And so you find of this Gate of Heaven, when the five wise Virgins came, the Gate was opened, but afterwards came the other Virgins, and the Door was shut, Matt. 11. So then, the Entrance into Heaven, is called a Gate; to shew, there is a time when there may be Entrance, and there will come a time when there shall be none; and indeed this is a chief Truth contained in the Text; strive to enter in at the strait Gate, for many I say unto you will seek to enter in and shall not be able. I read in the Scriptures of two Gates or Doors, through which they that go to Heaven must enter.

1. There is the Door of Faith, the Door which the Grace of God hath opened to the Gentiles; this Door is Jesus Christ, as also himself doth testify, saying, I am the Door. &c. Acts 14. 27. Joh. 10. 9. By this Door Men enter into God's Favour, and Mercy, and find Forgiveness through Faith in his Blood, and live in hope of eternal Life; and therefore himself also hath said, I am the Door, by me if any Man enter in, he shall be saved, that is, received to Mercy and inherit eternal Life: But,

2. There is another Door, or Gate; (for that which is called in the Text, a Gate, is twice in the next Verse, called, a Door) there is, I say, another Gate, and that is the Passage into the very Heaven it self; the Entrance into the Celestial Mansion-House, and that is the Gate mentioned in the Text, and the Door mentioned twice in the Verse that follows. And thus

Jacob

Jacob called it, when he said Bethel was the House of God, and this is the Gate of Heaven, that is, the Entrance, for he saw the Entrance into Heaven, one end of Jacob's Ladder stands in Bethel, God's House, and the other end reacheth up to the Gate of Heaven, Gen. 28. 10, to 18. Jacob's Ladder was the Figure of Christ, which Ladder was not the Gate of Heaven, but the way from the Church to that Gate which he saw above at the Top of the Ladder, Gen. 28. 12. and John 1. 51. But again that the Gate in the Text, is the Gate, or Entrance into Heaven, consider,

1. It is that Gate that letteth Men into, or shutteth Men out of that Place or Kingdom where Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob is, which Place is that Paradise where Christ promised the Thief, that he should be that Day, that he asked to be with him in his Kingdom: it is that Place into which Paul said, he was caught, when he heard Words unlawful or impossible for a Man to utter, Luke 13. 20. chap. 23. 24. 2 Cor. 12. 1, to 6.

Quest. But is not Christ the Gate or Entrance into this heavenly Place?

Ans. He is he without whom no Man can get thither, because by his Merits Men obtain that World, and also because he (as the Father) is the Donor and Disposer of that Kingdom to whom he will; farther, this Place is called his House, and himself the Master of it (when once the Master of the House is risen up, and hath shut to the Door, Ver. 25.) But we use to say, that the Master of the House, is not the Door: Men enter into Heaven then by him, not as he is the Gate or Door, or Entrance into the Celestial Mansion-House, but as he is the Giver and Disposer of that Kingdom to them who he shall count worthy, because he hath obtained it for them.

2. That this Gate is the very Passage into Heaven, consider the Text hath special Reference to the Day of Judgment, when Christ will have laid aside his mediatory Office, which before he exercised for the bringing to the Faith his own Elect; and will then act, not as one that justifies the Ungodly, but as one that judgeth Sinners; he will now be risen up from the Throne of Grace, and shut up the Door against all the Impenitent, and will be set upon the Throne of Judgment, from thence to proceed with ungodly Sinners.

Object. But Christ bids strive, strive now to enter in at the strait Gate, but if that Gate be as you say, the Gate or Entrance into Heaven, then it should seem, that we should not strive till the Day of Judgment, for we shall not come at that Gate till then.

Answer. Christ, by this Exhortation, strive, &c. doth not at all admit of, or countenance Delays, or that a Man should neglect his own Salvation, but putteth poor Creatures upon preparing for the Judgment, and counselleth them now to get those Things that will then give them Entrance into Glory. This Exhortation is much like these, Be ye therefore ready also, for at such an Hour as you think not, the Son of Man cometh: And they that were ready went in with him to the Marriage, and the Door was shut, Mat. 24. 44. and 25. 10.

So that when he saith, Strive to enter in, it is as much as if he should say, Blessed are they that shall be admitted another Day to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, but they that shall be accounted worthy of so unspeakable a Favour, must be well prepared and fitted for it before hand; Now the Time to be fitted is not the Day of Judgment but the Day of Grace; not then, but now: Therefore strive now for those Things that will then give you Entrance into the Heavenly Kingdom. But,

Secondly, As it is called a Gate, so it is called a strait Gate. Strive to enter in at the strait Gate.

The Straitness of this Gate is not to be understood carnally, but mystically: You are not to understand it, as if the Entrance into Heaven was some little pinching Wicket, no, the Straitness of this Gate is quite another Thing. This Gate is wide enough, for all them that are the truly gracious and sincere Lovers of Jesus Christ, but so strait, as that not one of the other can by any Means enter in: Open to me the Gates of Righteousness, I will go into them, and I will praise the Lord, this Gate of the Lord into which the Righteous shall enter, Psal. 118. 19, 20. By this Word therefore Christ Jesus hath shewed unto us, that without due Qualifications there is no Possibility of entering into Heaven; the strait Gate will keep all others out. When Christ spake this Parable he had doubtless his Eye upon some Passage or Passages of the Old Testament, with which the Jews were well acquainted. I will mention two, and so go on.

1. The Place by which God turned Adam and his Wife out of Paradise: Possibly our Lord might have his Eye upon that, for though that was wide enough for them to come out at, yet it was too strait for them to go in at. But what should be the Reason of that? Why, they had sinned, and therefore God set at the East of that Garden Cherubims and a flaming Sword, turning every Way, to keep the Way of the Tree of Life, Gen. 3. 24. The Cherubims and this flaming Sword, they made the Entrance too strait for them to enter in. Souls, there are Cherubims and a flaming Sword at the Gates of Heaven to keep the Way of the Tree of Life, therefore none but them that are duly fitted for Heaven can enter in at this strait Gate, the flaming Sword will keep all others out. Know you not that the Unrighteous shall not inherit the Kingdom of God; be not deceived, neither Fornicators, nor Idolaters, nor Adulterers, nor Effeminate, nor Abusers of themselves with Mankind, nor Thieves, nor Covetous, nor Drunkards, nor Revilers, nor Extortioners, shall inherit the Kingdom of God, 1 Cor. 6. 9.

2. Perhaps our Lord might have his Eye upon the Gates of the Temple, when he spoke this Word unto the People, for though the Gates of the Temple were six Cubits wide, yet they were so strait, that none that were unclean in any thing might enter in thereat, Ezek. 40. 48. because there were placed at them Gates, Porters, whose Office was to look that none but those that had Right to enter, might go in thither: And so it is written, Jehoiadab set Porters at the Gates of the House of the Lord, that none that were unclean in any Thing might enter in, 2 Cor. 23. 19. Souls, God hath Porters at the Gates of the Temple, at the Gate of Heaven, Porters, I say, placed there by God, to look that none that are unclean in any Thing may come in thither. In at the Gate of the Church, none may enter now, that are open profane and scandalous to Religion; no, though they plead they are beloved of God; What hath my Beloved to do in mine House, (saith the Lord) seeing she hath wrought Lewdness with many, Jer. 11. 15.

I say, I am very apt to believe that our Lord Jesus Christ had his Thoughts upon these two Texts, when he said The Gate is strait; and that which confirms me the more in the Thing is this, a little below the Text he saith, There shall be Weeping and Gnashing of Teeth, when you shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the Kingdom of Heaven, and you your selves thrust out. Ver. 28. Thrust out, which signifieth a violent Act, resisting with striving; those that would (though unqualified) enter: The Porters of the Temple were, for this very Thing, to wear Arms if need were, and to be Men of Courage and Strength, lest the unsanctified or unprepared should by some Means enter in. We read in the Book of the Revelations, of the Holy City, and that it had twelve Gates, and at the Gates twelve Angels, but what did they do there? Why amongst the rest of their Service, this was one Thing, that there might in no wise enter in any Thing that defileth, or worketh Abomination, and that maketh a Lie, Rev. 21. 12, 21. But more particularly to shew what it is, that maketh this Gate so strait: There are three Things that maketh it strait. 1. There is Sin. 2. There is the Word of the Law. 3. There are the Angels of God. First, There is Sin, the Sin of the Profane, and the Sin of the Professor.

1. The Sin of the Profane; but this needs not be enlarged upon, because it is concluded upon at all Hands, where there is the common Belief of the Being of God, and the Judgment to come, that the Wicked shall be turned into Hell, and all the Nations that forget God, Psal. 9. 17.

2. But there is the Sin of Professors, or take it rather thus, there is a Profession that will stand with an unsanctified Heart and Life; the Sin of such will over-poise the Salvation of their Souls, the Sin End being the heaviest End of the Scale: I say, that being the heaviest End which hath Sin in it, they tilt over, and so are, notwithstanding their glorious Profession, drowned in Perdition and Destruction: For none such hath any Inheritance in the Kingdom of Christ and of God; therefore let no Man deceive you with vain Words, for because of these Things, comes the Wrath of God upon the Children of Disobedience; neither will a Profession be able to excuse them, Eph. 5. 3, 4, 5, 6. The Gate will be too strait for such as these to enter in thereat. A Man may partake of Salvation in part, but not of Salvation in whole: God saved the Children of Israel out of Egypt, but overthrew them in the Wilderness. I will therefore put you in remembrance, though you once knew this, how that the Lord having saved the People out of the Land of Egypt, afterwards destroyed them that believed not: So we see (that notwithstanding their beginning) they could not enter in, because of Unbelief, Jude 5. Heb. 3. 19.

Secondly, There is the Word of the Law, and that will make the Gate strait also: None must go in thereat but those that can go in by the Leave of the Law, for though no Man be, or can be, justified by the Works of the Law, yet unless the Righteousness and Holiness by which they attempt to enter into this Kingdom, be justified by the Law, 'tis in vain once to think of entering in at this strait Gate. Now the Law justifieth not, but upon the Account of Christ's Righteousness; if therefore thou be not indeed found in that Righteousness, thou wilt find the Law lye just in the Passage into Heaven to keep thee out; every Man's Work must be tried by Fire, that it may be manifest of what Sort it is. There are two Errors in the World about the Law, one is, when Men think to enter in at the strait Gate, by the Righteousness of the Law: The other is, when Men think they may enter into Heaven, without the Leave of the Law. Both these, I say, are Errors: For as by the Works of the Law no Flesh shall be justified, so without the Consent of the Law no Flesh shall be saved: Heaven and Earth shall pass away, before one jot or tittle of the Law shall fail, till all be fulfilled. He therefore must be damned, that cannot be saved by the Consent Consent of the Law: And indeed this Law is the flaming Sword that turneth every Way; yea, that lieth to this Day in the Way to Heaven, for a Bar to all Unbelievers and unsanctified Professors; for it is taken out of the Way for the truly Gracious only: It will be found as a roaring Lyon to devour all others: Because of the Law, therefore the Gate will be found too strait for the Unsanctified to enter in. When the Apostle had told the Corinthians that the Unrighteous should not inherit the Kingdom of God, and that such were some of them, he adds, But ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified, in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God, 1 Cor. 6. 9, 10, 11. closely concluding, that had they not been washed and sanctified, and justified, in the Name of the Lord Jesus, the Law, for their Transgressions, would have kept them out; it would have made the Gate too strait for them to enter in.

Thirdly, There are also the Angels of God, and by Reason of them the Gate is strait. The Lord Jesus calleth the End of the World, his Harvest; and faith moreover, that the Angels are his Reapers; these Angels are therefore to gather his Wheat into his Barn, but to gather the Ungodly into Bundles to burn them, Mat. 13. 39, 41, 49. unless therefore, the Man that is unsanctified can master the Law, and conquer Angels; unless he can, as I may say, pull them out of the Gate-way of Heaven, himself is not to come thither for ever. No Man goeth to Heaven but by the Help of the Angels, I mean at the Day of Judgment, For the Son of Man shall send forth his Angels, with a great Sound of a Trumpet, and they shall gather together his Elect from the four Winds, from one End of Heaven to the other. If those that shall enter in at the strait Gate, shall enter in thither by the Conduct of the holy Angels; pray when do you think those Men will enter in thither, concerning whom the Angels are commanded, to gather them, to bind them in Bundles to burn them. This therefore is a third Difficulty: The Angels will make this Entrance strait; yea, too strait for the unjustified and unsanctified to enter in thither.

I come now to the Exhortation, which is to strive to enter in; strive to enter in at the strait Gate. These Words are fitly added, for since the Gate is strait, it follows, that they that will enter in must strive. Strive, this Word Strive supposeth that great Idleness is natural to Professors, they think to get to Heaven by lying as it were on their Elbows. 2dly, It also suggesteth, that many will be the Difficulties that Professors will meet with before they get to Heaven. 3dly, It also concludeth, that only the labouring Christian, Man or Woman, will get in thither. Strive, &c.

Three Questions I will propound upon the Word, an Answer to which may give us Light into the Meaning of it.

1. Quest. What doth this Word Strive import?

2. Quest. How should we strive?

3. Quest. Why should we strive?

First, What doth this Word Strive import?

Ans. When he saith strive, it is as much as to say, bend your selves to the Work with all your Might: Whatsoever thy Hand findeth to do, do it with all thy Might, for there is no Work, nor Device, nor Knowledge, nor Wisdom in the Grave, whither thou goest, Eccles. 9. 10. Thus Sampson did, when he set himself to destroy the Philistines, he bowed himself with all his Might, Judges 16. 30. Thus David did also, when he made Provision for the building and beautifying of the Temple of God, 1 Chron. 29. 2. And thus must thou do if ever thou enterest into Heaven.

2dly, When he saith strive, he calleth for the Mind and Will, that they should be on his Side, and on the Side of the Things of his Kingdom; for none strive indeed, but such as have given the Son of God their Heart, of which the Mind and Will are a principal Part; for saving Conversion lieth more in the turning of the Mind and Will to Christ, and to the Love of his heavenly Things, then in all Knowledge and Judgment: And this the Apostle confirmeth when he saith, Stand fast in one Spirit, with one Mind, striving, &c. Phil. 1. 27.

Thirdly, And more particularly, this Word Strive, is expressed by several other Terms, as, 1. It is expressed by that Word, so run that you may obtain, 1 Cor. 9. 24, 25. 2. It is expressed by that Word, Fight the good Fight of Faith, lay hold of eternal Life, 1 Tim. 6. 12. 3. It is expressed by that Word, Labour not for the Meat that perisheth, but for that Meat that endureth to everlasting Life, John 6. 27. 4. It is expressed by that Word, We wrestle with Principalities and Powers, and the Rulers of the Darkness of this World, Ephes. 6. 12. Therefore when he saith strive, it is as much as to say run for Heaven, fight for Heaven, labour for Heaven, wrestle for Heaven, or you are like to go without it.

Secondly, The Second Question, is, How should we strive?

Ans. 1. The Answer in general, is, Thou must strive lawfully; and if a Man also strive for the Mastery, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully, 2 Tim. 25.

But you will say, What is it to strive lawfully?

Ans. 1. To strive against the Things which are abhorred by the Lord Jesus; yea, to resist to the spilling of your Blood, striving striving against Sin; Heb. 12. 4. To have all those Things that are condemned by the Word; yea, though they be thine own right Hand, right Eye, or right Foot, in Abomination; and to seek by all godly Means the utter suppressing of them, Mar. 9. 43, 45, 47.

2. To strive lawfully, is to strive for those Things that are commended in the Word. But thou, O Man of God, fly the World, and follow after, that is, strive for Righteousness, Godliness, Faith, Love, Patience, Meekness, fight the good Fight of Faith, lay hold on eternal Life, &c. 1 Tim. 6. 11, 12.

3. He that striveth lawfully, must be therefore very temperate in all the good and lawful Things of this Life. And every one that striveth for the Mastery, is temperate in all Things; now they do it to obtain a corruptible Crown; but we an incorruptible, 1 Cor. 9. 25. Most Professors give leave to the World, and Vanity of their Hearts, to close with them, and to hang about their Necks, and make their striving to stand rather in an out-cry of Words, than a hearty Labour against the Lusts and Love of the World, and their own Corruptions; but this kind of striving is but a beating of the Air, and will come to just nothing at last, 1 Cor. 9. 26.

4. He that striveth lawfully, must take God and Christ along with him to the Work, otherwise he will certainly be undone: Whereunto, said Paul, I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily, Col. 1. 29. And for the right performing of this, he must observe these following Particulars.

1. He must take heed, that he doth not strive about Things, or Words to no Profit; for God will not then be with him: Of these things, saith the Apostle, put them in Remembrance; charging them before the Lord, that they strive not about Words to no Profit, but to the subverting of the Hearers, 1 Tim. 2. 14. But alas! How many Professors in our Days are guilty of this Transgression, whose Religion stands chiefly, if not only in a few unprofitable Questions, and vain Wranglings, about Words and things to no Profit, but to the Destruction of the Hearers.

2. He must take heed, that whilst he strives against one Sin, he does not harbour and shelter another, or that whilst he cries out against other Mens sins, he does not countenance his own.

3. In the striving, strive to believe, strive for the Faith of the Gospel; for the more we believe the Gospel, and the Reality of the things of the world to come, with the more Stomach and Courage shall we labour to possess the Blessedness, Phil. 1. 27. Heb. 4. Let us labour therefore to enter into that Rest, lest any man fall after the same example of Unbelief.

4. As we should strive for, and by Faith, so we should strive by Prayer, Rom. 15. 30. by fervent and effectual Prayers; O the swarms of our Prayerless Professors! What do they think of themselves? Surely the Gate of Heaven was heretofore as wide as in these our Days; but what striving by Prayer was there then among Christians for the thing that gives Admittance into this Kingdom, over there is in these latter Days?

5. We should also strive by Mortifying our Members that are upon the Earth: I therefore so run, said Paul, so fight I, not as one that beats the Air, but I keep under my Body, and bring it into Subjection, lest that by any Means when I have preached the Gospel to others, I my self should be a Cast-away, 1 Cor. 9. 27. But all this is spoken principally to Professors, so I would be understood.

I come now to the third Question, namely, But why should we strive?

Ans. 1. Because the thing for which you are here exhorted to strive, it is worth the striving for; it is for no less than for a whole Heaven, and an Eternity of Felicity there; how will Men that have before them a little Honour, a little Profit, a little Pleasure, strive? I say again, how will they strive for this? Now they do it for a corruptible Crown; but we an incorruptible. Methinks this Word Heaven, and this eternal Life, what is there again either in Heaven or Earth like them to provoke a Man to strive?

2. Strive, because otherwise the Devil, and Hell will assuredly have thee. He goes about like a roaring Lyon, seeking whom he may devour, 1 Pet. 5. 8. These fallen Angels, they are always watchful, diligent, unwearied; they are also mighty, subtil, and malicious, seeking nothing more than the Damnation of thy Soul; O thou that art like the heartless Dove, strive.

3. Strive, because every Lust strives and wars against thy Soul; The Flesh lusteth against the Spirit: Dearly beloved, I beseech you, said Peter, as Strangers and Pilgrims, abstain from fleshly Lusts, which war against the Soul, Gal. 5. 17. 'Tis a rare thing to see or find out a Christian, that indeed can bridle his Lusts; but no strange thing to see such Professors that are not only bridled, but saddled too, yea, and ridden from Lust to Sin, from one Vanity to another, by the very Devil himself, and the Corruptions of their Hearts.

4. Strive, Because thou hast a whole World against thee; the World hateth thee if thou beest a Christian; the Men of the World hate thee; the things of the World are Snares for thee, even thy Bed and Table, thy Wife and Husband, yea, thy most lawful Enjoyments have that in them that will certainly sink thy Soul to Hell, if thou dost not strive against the Snares that are in them, Rom. 11. 9. The

The World will seek to keep thee out of Heaven, with Mocks, Flouts, Taunts, Threatnings, Goals, Gibbets, Halters, Burnings, and a thousand Deaths; therefore strive. Again, if it cannot overcome thee with these, it will flatter, promise, allure, entice, entreat, and use a thousand Tricks on this Hand, to destroy thee; and observe, many that have been stout against the Threats of the World, have yet been overcome with the bewitching Flatteries of the same. There ever was enmity betwixt the Devil and the Church, and betwixt his Seed and her Seed too; Michael and his Angels, and the Dragon and his Angels, these make War continually, Gen. 3. Rev. 12. There hath been great Desires and Endeavours among Men, to reconcile these two in one, to wit, the Seed of the Serpent, and the Seed of the Woman; but it could never yet be accomplished: The World says, They will never come over to us; and we again say, by God's Grace, we will never come over to them; but the Business hath not ended in Words, both they and we have also added our Endeavours to make each other submit; but Endeavours have proved ineffectual too: They for their Part, have devised all Manner of cruel Torments to make us submit; as, slaying with the Sword, stoning, sawing asunder, Flames, wild Beasts, Banishments, Hunger, and a thousand Miseries; we again on the other Side, have laboured by Prayers and Tears, by Patience, and Long-Suffering, by Gentleness and Love, by sound Doctrine, and faithful Witness-bearing against their Enormities, to bring them over to us, but yet the Enmity remains; so that they must conquer us, or we must conquer them; one Side must be overcome; but the Weapons of our Warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God.

5. Strive, because there is nothing of Christianity got by Idleness; Idleness cloaths a Man with Rags, and the Vineyard of the slothful is grown over with Nettles, Prov. 23. 21. Chap. 24. 30, 31, 32. Profession that is not attended with spiritual Labour, cannot bring the Soul to Heaven: The Fathers before us, were not slothful in Business, but fervent in Spirit, serving the Lord. Therefore be not slothful; but Followers of them who through Faith and Patience inherit the Promises, Rom. 12. 11. Heb. 6. 12.

Strive to enter in.

Methinks the Words at the first reading, do intimate to us, that the Christian in all that ever he does in this World, should carefully heed and regard his Soul, I say, in all that ever he does: Many are for their Souls by Fits and Starts; but a Christian indeed, in all his Doing and Designs which he contriveth and manageth in this World, should have a special Eye to his own future and everlasting good, in all his Labours he should strive to enter in. Wisdom (Christ) is the principal Thing; therefore get Wisdom, and in all thy gettings get Understanding, Prov. 4. 7. Get nothing, if thou canst not get Christ and Grace, and further Hopes of Heaven, in that getting; get nothing with a bad Conscience, with the Hazard of thy Peace with God, and that in getting it, thou weakenest thy Graces which God hath given thee; for this is not to strive to enter in: Add Grace to Grace, both by religious and worldly Duties; for so an Entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, 2 Pet. 1. 8, to 12. Religious Duties are not only the striving Times; he that thinks so, is out: Thou mayest help thy Faith and thy Hope, in the godly Management of thy Calling, and mayest get farther footing in eternal Life, by studying the Glory of God in all thy worldly Employment. I am speaking now to Christians that are justified freely by Grace; and am encouraging, or rather counselling them to strive to enter in; for there is an entering in by Faith and good Conscience now, as well as our entering in Body and Soul hereafter; and I must add, that the more common it is to thy Soul to enter in now by Faith, the more steadfast Hope shalt thou have of entering in hereafter in Body and Soul.

Strive to enter in.

By these Words also the Lord Jesus giveth sharp Rebuke to those Professors that have not eternal Glory, but other temporal Things in their Eye, by all the Bustle that they make in the World about Religion: Some there be, what a Stir they make, what a Noise and Clamour, with their Notions and Forms, and yet perhaps all is for the Loaves; because they have eaten of the Loaves, and are filled, John 6. 26. These strive indeed to enter, but it is not into Heaven: They find Religion hath a good Trade at the end of it; or, they find that it is the Way to Credit, Repute, Preferment, and the like; and therefore they strive to enter into these: But these have not the strait Gate in their Eye, nor yet in themselves have they Love to their poor and perishing Souls; wherefore this Exhortation nippeth such, by predicting of their Damnation.

Strive to enter in.

These Words also sharply rebuke them who content themselves as the Angel of the Church of Sardis did, to wit, to have a Name to live, and be dead, Rev. 3. 1. or as they of the Laodiceans, who took their Religion upon Trust, and was content with a poor, wretched, lukewarm Profession: For such as these do altogether unlike to the Exhortation in the Text, that says strive; and they sit and sleep; that says, strive to enter in, and they content themselves

Strive to enter in.

Further, these Words put us upon proving the Truth of our Graces now; I say, they put us upon the Proof of the Truth of them now; for if the strait Gate be the Gate of Heaven, and yet we are to strive to enter into it now, even while we live, and before we come thither, then, doubtless Christ means by this Exhortation, that we should use all lawful means to prove our Graces in this World, whether they will stand in the Judgment or no: Strive to enter in; get those Graces now, that will prove true Graces then; and therefore try them you have; and if upon Trial, they prove not right, cast them away, and cry for better, lest they cast thee away, when better are not to be had. Buy of me Gold tried in the Fire: Mark that, Rev. 13. 23. Buy of me Faith and Grace that will stand in the Judgment; strive for that Faith, buy of me that Grace, and also white Raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, that the shame of thy Wickedness doth not appear, and anoint thine Eyes with Eye-Salve, that thou mayest see. Mind you this Advice, this is right striving to enter in.

But you will say, How should we try our Graces? Would you have us run into Temptation to try if they be sound or rotten?

Ans. You need not run into Trials; God hath ordained that enough of them shall overtake thee to prove thy Graces either rotten or sound before the Day of thy Death: Sufficient to the Day is the Evil thereof, if thou hast but a Sufficiency of Grace to withstand. I say, thou shalt have Trials enough overtake thee, to prove thy Graces sound or rotten. Thou maist therefore if God shall help thee, see how it is like to go with thee before thou goest out of this World, to wit, whether thy Graces be such as will carry thee in at the Gates of Heaven or no.

But how should we try our Graces now?

Ans. How dost thou find them in outward Trials? See Heb. 11. 15, 16. How dost thou find thyself in the inward Workings of Sin: (Rom. 7. 24.) How dost thou find thyself under the most high Enjoyment of Grace in this World? Phil. 3. 14.

But what do you mean by these three Questions?

Ans. I mean Graces shew themselves at these their Seasons whether they be rotten or sound.

How do they shew themselves to be true under the first of these?

Ans. By mistrusting our own Sufficiency, by crying to God for Help, by desiring rather to die than to bring any Dishonour to the Name of God, and by counting that if God be honoured in the Trial, thou hast gained more than all the World could give thee, 2 Chron. 20. 12. chap. 14. 11. Acts 4. Acts 20. 22. 2 Cor. 4. 17, 18. Heb. 11. 24, 25.

How do they shew themselves to be true under the Second?

Ans. By mourning and confessing, and striving, and Praying against them; by not being content, shouldest thou have Heaven if they live, and defile thee, and by counting of Holiness the greatest Beauty in the World, and by flying to Jesus Christ for Life, Zech. 12. 10. John 19. Heb. 12. 4. Psal. 19. 12.

How do they shew themselves to be true under the Third?

Ans. By Prizing the true Graces above all the World, by praying heartily that God will give thee more, by not being content with all the Grace thou canst be capable of enjoying on this side Heaven and Glory, Psal. 84. 10. Luke 17. 5. Philip. 3.

Strive to enter in.

The Reason why Christ addeth these Words, to enter in, is obvious; to wit, because there is no true and lasting Happiness on this side Heaven; I say, none that is both true and lasting; I mean, as to our Sense and Feeling, as there shall; for here have we no continuing City, but we seek one to come, Heb. 13. 14. The Heaven is within; strive therefore to enter in: The Glory is within; strive therefore to enter in: The Mount Sion is within; strive therefore to enter in: The heavenly Jerusalem is within; strive therefore to enter in: Angels and Saints are within; strive therefore to enter in; and to make up all, the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, and that glorious Redeemer is within; strive therefore to enter in.

Strive to enter in;

For without are Dogs, Sorcerers, and Whoremongers, and Murtherers, and Idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a Lie: Without are also the Devils, and Hell, and Death, and all damned Souls; without is howling, weeping, wailing, and gnashing of Teeth; yea, without are all the Miseries, Sorrows, and Plagues that an infinite God can in Justice and Power inflict upon an evil and wicked Generation: Strive therefore to enter in at the strait Gate, Rev. 22. 15. Mat. 25. 41. Rev. 12. 9. Isa. 65. 13, 14. Mat. 22. 13. Deut. 29. 18, 19, 20.

Strive to enter in at the strait Gate, [for many] I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

We are now come to the Motive which our Lord urges to enforce his Exhortation. He told us before, That the Gate was strait; he also exhorted us to strive to enter in thereat, or to get those things now that will further our Entrance then, and to set our selves against those things that will hinder our entering in.

In this Motive there are five things to be minded.

1. That there will be a Disappointment to some at the Day of Judgment, they will seek to Enter in, and shall not be able.

2. That not a few, but many, will meet with this Disappointment; for [many] will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

3. This Doctrine of the Miscarriage of many, then, it standeth upon the Validity of the Word of Christ; for many [I say] will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

4. Professors shall make a great Heap among the many that shall fall short of Heaven, for many I say [unto you] will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

5. Where Grace and striving are wanting now, seeking and contending to enter in, will be unprofitable then; for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

But I will proceed in my former Method, to wit, to open the Words unto you.

For many, &c.

If he had said, for [some] will fall short; it had been a Sentence to be minded: If he had said, for some that seek, will fall short, it had been very awakening; but when he saith, many, many will fall short, yea, many among Professors will fall short; this is not only awakening, but dreadful.

For many, &c.

I find this Word Many, variously applied in Scripture.

1. Sometimes, it intendeth the open Profane, the wicked and ungodly World, as where Christ saith, wide is the Gate and broad is the Way that leadeth to Destruction, and many there be that go in thereat, Mat. 7. 13. I say by the many here, he intends those chiefly, that go on in the broad Way of Sin, and prophaneness, bearing the Tokens of their Damnation in their Foreheads, those whose daily Practice proclaims, that their Feet go down to Death, and their Steps take hold of Hell, Job 21. 29, 30. Isa. 3. 9. Pro. 55.

2. Sometimes this Word, many, intendeth those that cleave to the People of God deceitfully, and in Hypocrisie; or as Daniel hath it, many shall cleave unto the Church with Flatteries, Dan. 11. 34. The Word many, in this Text, includeth all those who feign themselves better than they are in Religion; it includeth I say those that have Religion only, for an Holyday Saint to set them out at certain Times and when they come among suitable company.

3. Sometimes this Word many, intendeth them that Apostatize from Christ, such as for a while believe, and in time of Temptation fall away, as John saith of some of Christ's Disciples, from that time many of his Disciples went back and walked no more with him, Joh. 6. 65,

4. Sometimes this Word many, intendeth them that make a great Noise, and do many great things in the Church, and yet want saving Grace: Many, saith Christ, will say unto me in that Day, Lord, Lord, have we not Prophesied in thy Name, and in thy Name cast out Devils, and in thy Name done many wonderful Works: Mark there will be many of these.

5. Sometimes this word many intendeth those poor ignorant deluded Souls that are led away with every Wind of Doctrine: those who are caught with the cunning and crafty deceiver, who lieth in wait to beguile unstable Souls. And many shall follow their pernicious ways, by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of, 2 Pet. 2. 2.

6. Sometimes this word many includeth all the World, good and bad. And many of them that sleep in the Dust of the Earth shall awake, some to everlasting Life, and some to everlasting shame and contempt: Dan. 12. 2. compare with John 5. 28, 29.

7. Lastly, Sometimes this Word many intendeth the Good only, even them that shall be saved, Luke 1. 10. chap. 2. 34.

Since then that the Word is so variously applied, let us inquire how it must be taken in the Text, and,

1. It must not be applied to the sincerely godly, for they shall never perish, John 10. 27, 28.

2. It cannot be applied to all the World, for then no Flesh should be saved.

3. Neither is it to be applied to the open Profane only, for then the Hypocrite is by it excluded.

4. But by the Many in the Text our Lord intendeth in special the Professor, the Professor I say, how high soever he seems to be now, that shall be found without saving Grace in the Day of Judgment.

Now that the Professor, is in special intended in this Text, consider, so soon as the Lord had said, many will seek to enter in, and shall not be able, he pointeth, as with his Finger, at the Many that then he in special intendeth, to wit, them among whom he had taught; them that had eat and Drunken in his Presence; them that had Prophesied, and cast out Devils in his Name, and in his Name had done many wonderful Works, Luke 13. 26. Mat. 7. 27. These are the Many intended by the Lord in this Text, though others are also included under the Sentence of Damnation by his Word in other Places. For many &c. Matthew saith concerning this strait Gate, That there are but few that find it. But it seems the Cast-aways in my Text, did find it, for you read that they knocked at it, and cried, Lord open unto us: so then, the meaning may seem to be this, many of the few that find it, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. I find at the Day of Judgment, some will be be crying to the Rocks to cover them, and some at the Gates of Heaven for Entrance: Suppose that those that cry to the Rock to cover them, are they whose Conscience will not suffer them once to look God in the Face, because they are fallen under present Guilt, and the dreadful Fears of the Wrath of the Lamb, Rev. 6. 16. And that those that stand crying at the Gate of Heaven, are those whose Confidence holds out to the last, even those whose Boldness will enable them to contend even with Jesus Christ for Entrance. Them I say, that will have, Profession, casting out of Devils, and many wonderful Works to plead: Of this sort are the Many in my Text; for many I say unto you will seek to enter in and shall not be able. For many, &c. Could we compare the Professors of the times with the everlasting Word of God, this Doctrine would more easily appear to the Children of Men. How few among the many, yea, among the Swarms of Professors have Heart to make Conscience of walking before God, in this World, and to study his Glory among the Children of Men: How few, I say, have his Name lie nearer their Hearts, than their own carnal Concerns, nay, do not many make his Word, and his Name, and his Ways a Stalking Horse, to their own worldly Advantages: God calls for Faith, good Conscience, Moderation, Self-denial, Humility, Heavenly mindedness, love to Saints, to Enemies, and for Conformity in Heart, in Word, and Life to his Will, but where is it? Mark 11. 22. Pet. 3. 16. Heb. 13. 5. Phil. 4. 5. Mat. 10. 37, 38, 39. Col. 3. 1, 2, 3, 4. Mich. 6. 8. Revel. 2. 10. Job. 15. 17. 1 Joh. 4. 21. Mat. 5. 44. Pro. 23. 26. Col. 4. 6.

For many [I say unto you].

These latter Words carry in them a double Argument to prove the Truth asserted before. First, in that he directly pointeth at his Followers. I say unto [you]: many I say unto You, even to You that are my Disciples, to You that have eat and drank in my Presence. I know that sometimes Christ hath directed his Speech to his Disciples, not so much upon their Accounts, as upon the Accounts of others: but here it is not so; the I say unto you in this Place, it immediately concerned some of themselves. I say unto you, ye shall begin to stand without, and to knock, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us, and he shall answer and say unto You, I know You not, whence You are; then shall ye begin to say, We have eat and drank in thy Presence, and thou hast taught in our Streets: But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence you are, depart from me, all ye Workers of Iniquity, 'tis you; you, you, that I mean. I say unto you. It is common with a professing People, when they hear a smart and thundring

Sermon, to say, Now has the Preacher paid off the Drunkard, the Swearer, the Liar, the Covetous, and Adulterer; forgetting that these Sins may be committed in a spiritual and mystical Way. There is spiritual Drunkenness, spiritual Adultery, and a Man may be a Liar that calls God his Father when he is not; or that calls himself a Christian, and is not. Wherefore perhaps all these Thunders and Lightnings in this terrible Sermon, may more concern thee than thou art aware of; I say unto you: unto you Professors, may be the Application of all this Thunder, Rev. 2. 9. chap. 3. 9. I say unto you.

Had not the Lord Jesus designed by these Words, to shew what an Overthrow will one Day be made among Professors, he needed not have you'd it at this Rate, as in the Text, and afterwards he has done, the Sentence had run intelligible enough without it; I say, without his saying, I say unto you; but the Truth is, the Professor is in Danger; the Preacher and the Hearer, the Workers of Miracles, and Workers of Wonders, may be all in danger of damning, notwithstanding all their Attainments. And to awaken us all about this Truth therefore, the Text must run thus, For many, I say unto you, shall seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

See you not yet that the Professor is in Danger, and that these Words, I say unto you, are a Prophecy of the everlasting Perdition of some that are famous in the Congregation of Saints: I say, if you do not see it, pray God your Eyes may be opened, and beware that thy Portion be not as the Portion of one of those that are wrapped up in the 28th Verse of the Chapter. There shall be Weeping and Gnashing of Teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the Kingdom of Heaven, and you yourselves thrust out.

For many [I say] unto you.

These Words, I told you, carry in them a double Argument for Confirmation of the Truth asserted before: First, That Professors are here particularly pointed at: And secondly, It is the saying of the Truth himself: For these Words I say, are Words full of Authority; I say it, I say unto you, says Christ, as he saith in another Place, It is I that speak; behold it is I. The Person whose Words we have now under Consideration, was no blundering raw-headed Preacher, but the very Wisdom of God, his Son, and him that hath lain in his Bosom, from everlasting, and consequently, had the most perfect Knowledge of his Father's Will, and how it would fare with Professors at the End of this World. And now hearken what himself doth say of the Words which he hath spoken; Heaven and Earth shall pass away, but my Word shall not pass away, Mat. 24. 35. [I say] unto you.

The

The Prophets used not to speak after this Manner, nor yet the holy Apostles; for thus to speak, is to press Things to be received upon their own Authority. They used to say, Thus saith the Lord, or Paul, or Peter, an Apostle, or a Servant of God. But now we are dealing with the Words of the Son of God; it is he that hath said it; wherefore we find the Truth of the perishing of many Professors asserted, and confirmed by Christ's own Mouth. This Consideration carrieth great awakening in it; but into such a fast Sleep are many now-a-Days fallen, that nothing will awaken them, but that shrill and terrible Cry, Behold the Bridegroom comes, go ye out to meet him. I say unto you.

There are two Things upon which this Assertion may be grounded. 1. There is in the World a Thing like Grace, that is not. 2. There is a Sin called the Sin against the Holy Ghost, from which there is no Redemption. And both these Things befall Professors.

First, There is in the World a Thing like Grace, that is not. This is evident, because we read that there are some that not only make a fair Shew in the Flesh, that glory in Appearance, that appear beautiful outward, that do as God's People, but have not the Grace of God's People, Gal. 6. 12. 2 Cor. 5. 12. Mat. 23. 27. Isa. 57. 2. 'Tis evident also from those frequent Cautions that are every where in the Scriptures given us about this Thing: Be not deceived: Let a Man examine himself: Examine your selves, whether you be in the Faith, Gal. 6. 7. 1 Cor. 11. 28. 2 Cor. 13. 5. All these Expressions intimate to us, that there may be a Shew of, or a Thing like Grace, where there is no Grace indeed. 3. This is evident from the Conclusion made by the Holy Ghost upon this very Thing: For if a Man thinketh himself to be Something when he is Nothing, he deceiveth himself, Gal. 6. 3. The Holy Ghost here concludeth, that a Man may think himself to be Something, may think he hath Grace when he hath none, may think himself something for Heaven and another World, when indeed he is just nothing at all with Reference thereto; the Holy Ghost also determineth upon this Point, to wit, that they do so deceive themselves: For if a Man thinketh himself to be Something when he is Nothing, he deceiveth himself; he deceiveth his own Soul; he deceiveth himself of Heaven and Salvation: So again, Let no Man beguile you of your Reward, Col. 2. 18. 4. It is manifest from the Text, For many I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. Alas! Great Light, great Parts, great Works, and great Confidence of Heaven, may be where there is no Faith of God's Elect, no Love of the Spirit, no Repentance unto Salvation, no Sanctification of the Spirit, and so consequently, no Saving Grace. But,

Secondly, As there is a Thing like Grace, which is not, so there is a Sin, called the Sin against the Holy Ghost, from which there is no Redemption, and this Sin doth more ordinarily befall Professors.

1. There is a Sin called the Sin against the Holy Ghost, from which there is no Redemption: This is evident both from Matthew and Mark; But whosoever speaketh against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this World, neither in the World to come. But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost, hath never Forgiveness, but is in Danger of eternal Damnation, Mat. 12. 32. Mark 3. 29. Wherefore when we know that a Man hath sinned this Sin, we are not to pray for him, or to have Compassion on him, 1 John 15. 16. Judges 22.

1st, This Sin doth most ordinarily befall Professors, for there are few, if any, that are not Professors, that are at present capable of sinning this Sin. They which were once enlightened, and have tasted the heavenly Gift, that were made Partakers of the Holy Ghost, and have tasted the good Word of God, and the Power of the World to come, Heb. 6. 4, 5. Of this Sort are they that commit this Sin; Peter also describes them to be such, that sin the unpardonable Sin. For if after they have escaped the Pollution of the World, through the Knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again intangled therein and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning, 2 Pet. 2. 2. The other Passage in the tenth of the Hebrews holdeth forth the same Thing: For if we sin wilfully, after we have received the Knowledge of the Truth, there remaineth no more Sacrifice for Sin, but a certain fearful looking for of Judgment, and fiery Indignation, that shall devour the Adversaries, Heb. 10. 26, 27. These therefore are the Persons that are the Prey for this Sin: This Sin feedeth upon Professors, and they that are such, do very often fall into the Mouth of this Eater. Some fall into the Mouth of this Sin, by Delusions and Doctrines of Devils; and some fall into the Mouth of it, by returning with the Dog to his own Vomit again, and with the Sow that was washed, to her wallowing in the Mire, 1 Pet. 2. 22. I shall not here give you a particular Description of this Sin, that I have done elsewhere; but such a Sin there is, and they that commit it shall never have Forgiveness: And I say again, there be Professors that commit this unpardonable Sin, yea, more than most are aware of: Let all therefore look about them: The Lord awaken them that they may so do: For what with a Profession without Grace, and by the Venom of the Sin against the Holy Ghost, many will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. Will seek to enter in.

This Kingdom, at the Gate of which the Reprobate will be stopt, will be at the last Judgment, the Desire of all the World, and they, especially they in my Text, will seek to enter in: For then they will see that the Blessedness is to those that shall get into this Kingdom, according to that which is written, Blessed are they that do his Commandments, that they may have Right to the Tree of Life, and may enter in through the Gates into the City, Rev. 22. 14. To prove that they will seek, although I have done it already, yet read these Texts at your Leisure, Mat. 25. 11. and 7. 22. Luke 13. 28. And in a Word, to give you the Reason why they will seek to enter in.

1. Now they will see what a Kingdom it is, what Glory there is in it, and how they shall also see the blessedness which they shall have, that shall then be counted worthy to enter in: The Reason why this Kingdom is so little regarded, it is because it is not seen, the Glory of it is hid from the Eyes of the World: Their Eye hath not seen, nor their Ear heard, &c. I, but then they shall hear and see too, and when this comes to pass, then even then he that now most seldom thinks thereof, will seek to enter in.

2. They will now see what Hell is, and what Damnation in Hell is, more clear than ever: They will also see how the Breath of the Lord, like a Stream of Brimstone doth kindle it: O the sight of the burning fiery Furnace which is prepared for the Devil and his Angels! This, this will make Work in the Souls of cast-aways at that Day of God Almighty, and then they will seek to enter in.

3. Now they will see what the meaning of such Words as these are, Hell Fire, everlasting Fire, devouring Fire, Fire that never shall be quenched: Now they will see what for ever, means: What Eternity means: Now they will see what this Word means, the bottomless Pit: Now they will hear roaring of Sinners in this Place, howling in that, some crying to the Mountains to fall upon them, and others to the Rocks to cover them; now they will see blessedness is no where but within.

4. Now they will see what Glory the godly are possessed with, how they rest in Abraham's Bosom, how they enjoy eternal Glory, how they walk in their white Robes, and are equal to the Angels. O the Favour, and Blessedness, and unspeakable Happiness that now God's People shall have, and this shall be seen by them that are shut out, by them that God hath rejected for ever, and this will make them seek to enter in, Luk. 16. 22, 23. 13. 28. Will seek to enter in.

Quest. But some may say, How will they seek to enter in?

Answer. They will put on all the Confidence they can, they will trick and trim up their Profession, and adorn it with what Bravery they can. Thus the foolish Virgins sought to enter in, they did trim up their Lamps, made themselves as fine as they could, they made shift to make their Lamps to shine a while, but the Son of God, discovering himself, their Confidence failed, their Lamps went out, the Door was shut upon them, and they were kept out. Mat. 25. 1, to 12.

2. They will seek to enter in, by croud- ing themselves in among the Godly. Thus the Man without the wedding Garment, sought to enter in, he goes to the Wedding, gets into the Wedding-Chamber, sits close among the Guests, and then without doubt, concluded, he should escape Dam- nation, but you know, one black Sheep is soon seen, though it be among an hundred white ones, why even thus it fared with this poor Man; and when the King came in to see the Guests, he saw there a Man that had not on a Wedding Garment. He spied him presently, and before one Word was spo- ken to any of the other, he had this dread- ful Salutation, Friend, how camest thou in hither, not having on a Wedding Garment? And he was speechless, tho' he could swag- ger it out amongst the Guests, yet the Master of the Feast, at first coming in, strikes him dumb, and having nothing to say for himself, the King had something to say against him: Then said the King to the Ser- vants (the Angels) bind him Hand and Foot, and take him away, and cast him into outer Darknes, there shall be weeping and gnash- ing of Teeth.

3. They will seek to enter in by plead- ing their Profession and Admittance to the Lord's Ordinances, when they were in the World, Lord we have eat and drank in thy Presence, and thou hast taught in our Streets, we sat at thy Table, and used to frequent Sermons and Christian Assemblies; we were well thought of by thy Saints, and were admitted into thy Churches, we professed the same Faith as they did, Lord, Lord open unto us. Mat. 22. 11, 12, 13.

4. They will seek to enter in, by plead- ing their Virtues, how they subjected to his Ministry, how they wrought for him, what good they did in the World, and the like, Mat. 7. 22. but neither will this help them; the same Answer that the two former had, the same have these: Depart from me ye Workers of Iniquity.

5. They will seek to enter in, by pleading Excuses, where they cannot evade Con- viction. The slothful Servant went this Way to work, when he was called to Ac- count for not improving his Lord's Money. Lord (says he) I knew thou wast an hard Man, reaping where thou hast not sowed, and gathering where thou hast not strewed, and I was afraid, &c. (either that I should not please in laying out thy Money, or that that I should put it into Hands, out of which I should not get it again at thy need) and I went and hid thy Talent in the Earth, lo, there thou hast that is thine, and if he had said, true Lord, I have not improved, I have not got, but consider also, I have not imbezzled, I have not spent, nor lost thy Money, Lo there thou hast what is thine, Mat. 25. 24, to 28. There are but few will be able to say these last Words at the Day of Judgment; the most of Professors are for imbezzling, mispending and slothing away their Time, their Talents, their Opportunities to do good in; but, I say, if he that can make so good an Excuse as to say, Lo, there thou hast what is thine: I say, if such an one shall be called a wicked and slothful Servant, if such an one shall be put to shame at the Day of Judgment, yea, if such an one, shall, notwithstanding this Care to save his Lord's Money, be cast as unprofitable into utter Darkness, where shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth, what will they do that have neither took Care to lay out, nor Care to keep what was committed to their Trust?

6. They will seek to enter in by pleading, that Ignorance was the Ground of their miscarrying in the Things wherein they offended; wherefore when Christ charges them with want of Love to him, and with want of those Fruits that should prove their Love to be true, as, that they did not feed him, did not give him Drink, did not take him in, did not cloath him, visit him, come unto him, and the like: They readily reply, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a Stranger, or naked, or sick, or in Prison, and did not minister unto thee, Mat. 25. 41, to 45. As who should say, Lord, we are not conscious to our selves, that this Charge is worthily laid at our Door. God forbid that we should have been such Sinners, but Lord, give an Instance; when was it, or where? True, there was a Company of poor sorry People in the World very inconsiderable, set by with no Body, but for thy self we professed thee, we loved thee, and hadst thou been with us in the World, wouldest thou have worn Gold, wouldest thou have eaten the sweetest of the World, we would have provided it for thee; and therefore, Lord, Lord open to us. But will this Plea do? No, then shall he answer them, Inasmuch as you did it not to one of the least of these my Brethren, ye did it not to me. This Plea then, though grounded upon Ignorance, which is one of the strangest Pleas for neglect of Duty, would not give them Admittance into the Kingdom. These shall go away into everlasting Punishment, but the Righteous into Life eternal.

I might add other Things by which 'twill appear how they will seek to enter in; as,

1. They will make a stop at this Gate, this beautiful Gate of Heaven, they will begin to stand without at the Gate, as being loath to go any further: Never did Malefactor so unwillingly turn off the Ladder, when the Rope was about his Neck, as these will turn away, in that Day, from the Gates of Heaven to Hell.

2. They will not only make a stop at the Gate; but there they will knock and call, this also argueth them willing to enter: They will begin to stand without and to knock at the Gate, saying, Lord, Lord open to us. This Word, Lord, being doubled, shews the Vehemency of their Desires: Lord, Lord open to us. The Devils are coming; Lord, Lord, the Pit opens her Mouth upon us: Lord, Lord there is nothing but Hell and Damnation left us, if Lord, Lord thou hast not Mercy upon us; Lord, Lord open to us.

3. Their last Argument for Entrance is their Tears, when groundless Confidence, pleading of Vertues, Excuses, and Ignorance, will not do; when standing at the Gate, knowing and calling Lord, Lord open to us, will not do, then they betake themselves to their Tears: Tears are sometimes the most powerful Arguments, but they are nothing worth here: Esau also sought it carefully, with Tears, but it helped him nothing at all, Heb. 12. 15, 16. There shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth, for the Gate is shut for ever, Mercy is gone for ever, Christ hath rejected them for ever: All their Pleas, Excuses, and Tears, will not make them able to enter into this Kingdom.

For many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in and shall not be able.

I come now to the latter Part of the Words which closely shews us the Reason of the Rejection of these many that must be damned, they will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

An Hypocrite, a false Professor may go a great Way, they may pass through the first and second Watch, to wit, may be approved of Christians and Churches, but what will they do when they come at this Iron Gate that leadeth into the City? There the workers of Iniquity will fall, be cast down, and shall not be able to rise.

And shall not be able.

The Time, as I have already hinted, which my Text respecteth, it is the Day of Judgment, a Day when all Masks and Vizards shall be taken off from all Faces: It is a Day wherein God will bring to Light the hidden Things of Darkness, and will make manifest the Counsels of the Heart, 1 Cor. 4. 5. It is also the Day of his Wrath, the Day in which he will pay Vengeance, even a Recompence to his Adversaries.

At this Day those Things that now these many count sound and good, will then shake like a Quagmire, even all their naked Knowledge, Knowledge, their feigned Faith, pretended Love, glorious Shews of Gravity in the Face, their Holiday Words, and specious Carriages will stand them in little stead: I call them Holiday Ones, for I perceive that some Professors do with Religion, just as People do with their best Apparel, hang it against the Wall all the Week, and put them on on Sundays: For as some scarce ever put on a Suit, but when they go to a Fair or a Market, so little House-Religion will do with some; they save Religion till they go to a Meeting, or till they meet with a godly Chapman: O poor Religion! O poor Professor! What wilt thou do at this Day, and the Day of thy Trial and Judgment? Cover thy self thou canst not; go for a Christian thou canst not; stand against the Judge thou canst not; What wilt thou do? The Ungodly shall not stand in Judgment, nor Sinners in the Congregation of the Righteous.

And shall not be able.

The Ability here intended, is not that which standeth in carnal Power of fleshly Subtility, but in the Truth and Simplicity of those Things, for the Sake of which God giveth the Kingdom of Heaven to his People.

There are five Things, for the Want of which, this People will not be able to enter.

First, This Kingdom belongs to the Elect, to those for whom it was prepared from the Foundation of the World, Mat. 25. Hence Christ saith, when he comes, He will send forth his Angels with a great Sound of a Trumpet, and they shall gather together his Elect, from the four Winds, from one End of Heaven to another, Mat. 24. And hence he saith again, I will bring forth a Seed out of Jacob, and out of Judah, an Inheritor of my Mountains, and mine Elect shall inherit it, and my Servants shall dwell there. They shall deceive, if it were possible, the very Elect. But the Elect hath obtained it, and the rest were blinded, Rom. 11. 7.

Secondly, They will not be able to enter, because they will want the Birth-Right; the Kingdom of Heaven is for the Heirs, and if Children, then Heirs; if born again, then Heirs: Wherefore it is said expressly, Except a Man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God: By this one Word, down goes all carnal Privilege of being born of Flesh and Blood, and of the Will of Man, Canst thou produce the Birth-Right; but art thou sure thou canst? For it will little profit thee to think of the blessed Kingdom of Heaven, if thou wantest a Birth-Right to give thee Inheritance there. Esau did despise his Birth-Right, saying, What Good will this Birth-Right do me? And there are many in the World of his Mind to this Day. Tush, say they, they talk of being born again, What Good shall a Man get by that? They say, No going to Heaven without being born again: But God is merciful; Christ died for Sinners; and we will turn when we can tend it, and doubt not but all will be well at last. But I will answer thee, thou Child of Esau, that the Birth-Right and Blessing go together, miss of one and thou shalt never have the other; Esau found this true, for having first despised the Birth-Right, when he would afterwards have inherited the Blessing he was rejected, For he found no Place of Repentance, though he sought it carefully with Tears, Gen. 25. Heb. 12. 14, 15, 16.

Thirdly, They shall not be able to enter in, who have not believed with the Faith of God's Operation; the Faith that is most holy, even the Faith of God's Elect. He that believeth on the Son of God, hath everlasting Life; he that believeth not the Son shall not see Life, but the Wrath of God abideth on him, John 3. But now, this Faith is the Effect of electing Love, and of a new Birth, John 11. 12. Therefore all the Professors that have not that Faith which floweth from being born of God, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Fourthly, They shall not be able to enter in, that have not Gospel Holiness; Holiness that is the Effect of Faith, is that which admits into the Presence of God, and into his Kingdom too. Blessed and holy are they that have part in the first Resurrection, on such the second Death (which is Hell and eternal Damnation, Rev. 20. 14.) have no Power, Rev. 20. 6. Blessed and holy, with the Holiness that flows from Faith which is in Christ, for to these the Inheritance belongs. That they may receive Forgiveness of Sins, and Inheritance among them that are sanctified by Faith (said Christ) which is in me, Acts 26. 18. This Holiness which is the natural Effect of Faith in the Son of God, Christ Jesus the Lord, will at this Day of Judgment distinguish from all other Shews of Holiness and Sanctity, be they what they will, and will admit the Soul that hath this Holiness into his Kingdom, when the Rest will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Fifthly, They shall not be able to enter in, that do not Persevere in this blessed Faith and Holiness, not that they that have them indeed, can finally fall away, and everlastingly perish; but it hath pleased Jesus Christ to bid them that have the Right, to hold fast that they have; to endure to the End; and then tells them they shall be saved: Though 'tis as true, that none is of Power to keep himself; but God worketh together with his Children, and they are kept by the Power of God, through Faith, unto Salvation, which is also laid up in Heaven for them, 1 Pet. 1. 3, 4, 5.

The Foolish shall not stand in thy Sight, thou thou hatest the Workers of Iniquity. The Foolish are the unholy Ones, that neither have Faith nor Holiness, nor Perseverance in Godliness, and yet lay Claim to the Kingdom of Heaven: but better is a little with Righteousness, than great Revenues without Right, Psal. 55. Prov. 16. 8. what is it for me to claim a House, or a Farm without right? or to say, all this is mine, but have nothing to shew for it: this is but like the Revenues of the Foolish: his Estate lieth in his Conceit; he hath nothing by Birth-right, and Law, and therefore shall not be able to inherit the Possession: for many I say unto you will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Thus you see, that the Non-Elect, shall not be able to enter, that he that is not Born again, shall not be able to enter, that he that hath not saving Faith, with Holiness and Perseverance flowing therefrom, shall not be able to enter: wherefore consider of what I have said.

I come now to give you some Observations from the Words, and they may be three.

First, When Men have put in all the Claim they can for Heaven, but few will have it for their Inheritance; for many I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Secondly, Great therefore will be the Disappointment that many will meet with at the Day of Judgment: for many will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Thirdly, Going to Heaven therefore will be no trivial Business, Salvation is not got by a Dream, they that would then have that Kingdom, must now strive lawfully to enter: for many I say unto you will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

I shall speak chiefly, and yet but briefly to the first of these Observations, to wit,

That when Men have put in all the Claim they can to the Kingdom of Heaven, but few will have it for their Inheritance: The Observation standeth of two Parts.

First, That the time is coming, when every Man will put in whatever Claim they can to the Kingdom of Heaven.

Secondly, There will be but few of them that put in Claim thereto, that shall enjoy it for their Inheritance.

I shall speak but a Word or two, to the first Part of the Observation, because I have prevented my Enlargement thereon, by my Explication upon the Words; but you find in the 25th of Matthew, that all they on the left Hand of the Judge did put in all the Claim they could for this blessed Kingdom of Heaven: If you shall take them on the left Hand, as most do, for all the Sinners that shall be damned, then that completely proveth the first Part of the Observation, for it is expressly said, then shall they, (all of them jointly, and every one apart) also answer him saying, Lord, when saw

we thee thus and thus, and did not minister unto thee, Mat. 25. 44. I could here bring you in the Plea of the slothful Servant, the cry of the foolish Virgins; I could also here enlarge upon that Passage; Lord, Lord, have we not eat and drank in thy Presence, and thou hast taught in our Streets; but these things are handled already, in the handling of which this first Part of the Observation is proved; wherefore without more Words, I will, God assisting by his Grace, descend to the second Part thereof, to wit,

There will be but Few of them that put in Claim thereto, that will enjoy it for their Inheritance.

I shall speak distinctly to this Part of the Observation, and shall first confirm it by a Scripture or two.

Strait is the Gate, and narrow is the Way that leadeth unto Life, and few there be that find it, Mat. 7. 13, 14.

Fear not, little Flock, it is your Father's good Pleasure to give you the Kingdom, Luke 12. 32. By these two Texts, and by many more that will be urged anon, you may see the Truth of what I have said. To enlarge therefore upon the Truth; and, First, more generally. Secondly, more particularly.

First, More generally, I shall prove that in all Ages, but few have been saved.

Secondly, More particularly, I shall prove but few of them that Profess have been saved.

First, In the old World, when it was most populous, even in the Days of Noah, we read but of eight Persons that were saved out of it; well therefore might Peter call them but few, but how few? Why but eight Souls; wherein few, that is, eight Souls were saved by Water, 1 Pet. 3. 20. He touches a second time upon this Truth, saying, he spared not the old World, but saved Noah the eighth Person, a Preacher of Righteousness, bringing in the Flood upon the World of the ungodly: Mark, all the rest are called the Ungodly, and there were also a World of them, 2 Pet. 2. 5. These are also taken notice of in Job, and go there also by the Name of wicked Men, Hast thou marked the old Way, which wicked Men have trodden, which were cut down out of nine, whose Foundation was overflowed with a Flood, which said unto God, depart from us, and what can the Almighty do for them? Job. 22. 15, to 19.

There were therefore but eight Persons that escaped the Wrath of God, in the Day that the Flood came upon the Earth, the rest were ungodly; there was also a World of them, and they are to this Day in the Prison of Hell, Heb. 11. 6. 1 Pet. 3. 19, 20.

Nay, I must correct my Pen, there were but seven of the eight that were good, for Ham, though he escaped the Judgment of the the Water, yet the Curse of God overtook him to his Damnation.

Secondly, When the World began again to be replenished, and People began to multiply therein: How few even in all Ages do we read of, that were saved from the Damnation of the World?

1. One Abraham and his Wife, God called out of the Land of the Caldeans, I called (said God) Abraham alone, Isa. 51. 1, 2.

2. One Lot out of Sodom and Gomorrhah, out of Adma and Zeboim, one Lot out of four Cities; indeed his Wife and two Daughters, went out of Sodom with him, but they all three proved naught, as you may see in the Nineteenth of Genesis: Wherefore Peter observes, that Lot only was saved: He turned the Cities of Sodom and Gomorrhah into Ashes, condemning them with an overthrow, making them an Example unto those that often should live ungodly, and delivered just Lot, that Righteous Man; read 2 Pet. 2. 6, 7, 8.

Jude says, that in this Condemnation, God over-threw, not only Sodom and Gomorrhah, but the Cities about them also: and yet you find none but Lot could be found that was righteous either in Sodom or Gomorrhah, or the Cities about them, wherefore they, all of them, suffer the Vengeance of Eternal Fire, ver. 7.

Thirdly, Come we now to the time of the Judges, how few then were the Godly, even then when the Inhabitants of the Villages ceased, they ceased in Israel, the High-ways (of God) were then unoccupied, Judg. 5. 6, 7.

Fourthly, There were but few in the Days of David: Help Lord, says he, for the Godly Man ceaseth, for the Faithful fail, from among the Children of Men, Psal. 12. 1.

Fifthly, In Isaiab's time the saved were come to such a few, that he positively says, but that there were a very small Number left, God had made them like Sodom, and they had been like unto Gomorrhah, Isa. 1. 8, 9.

Sixthly, It was cryed unto them in the time of Jeremiah, that they should run to and fro through the Streets of Jerusalem, and see, and know, and seek in the broad Places thereof, if ye can find a Man, if there be any that executeth Judgment, that seeketh the truth, and I will pardon it, Jer. 5. 1.

Seventhly, God shewed his Servant Ezekiel how few there would be saved in his Day, by the Vision of a few Hairs, saved out of the midst of a few Hairs; for the saved were a few saved out of a few, Ezek. 5. 3, 4, 5.

Eighthly, You find in the time of the Prophet Micah, how the Godly complain, that as to Number, they then were so few, that he compares them to those that are left behind, when they had gathered the Summer-Fruit, Mic. 7. 1.

Ninthly, when Christ was come, how did he confirm this Truth, that but few of them that put in Claim for Heaven, will have it for their Inheritance. But the common People could not hear it, and therefore upon a time when he did but a little hint at this Truth, the People, even all in the Synagogue where he preached it, were filled with Wrath, rose up, thrust him out of the City, and led him unto the Brow of the Hill (whereon their City was built) that they might cast him down headlong, Luk. 4. 24, to 30.

Tenthly, John, who was after Christ, faith, the whole World lies in Wickedness, that all the World wandered after the Beast, and that Power was given to the Beast, over all Kindreds, Tongues and Nations; Power to do what? Why to cause all, both great and small, rich and poor, bond and free, to receive his Mark, and to be branded for him: John 5. 10. Rev. 13. 3, 8, 16.

Eleventhly, Should we come to Observation and Experience, the Shew of the Countenance, of the Bulk of Men, doth witness against them, they declare their Sin like Sodom, they hide it not, Isa. 3. 9. where is the Man that maketh the Almighty God his Delight, and that designeth his Glory in the World; Do not even almost all, pursue this World, their Lusts and Pleasures? And so, consequently, say unto God, Depart from us, for we desire not the Knowledge of thy Ways, or what's the Almighty that we should serve him? It's in vain to serve God, &c.

So that without doubt, it will appear a Truth in the Day of God, That but few of them, that shall put in their Claim to Heaven, will have it for their Inheritance.

Before I pass this Head, I will shew you to what the Saved are compared in the Scriptures.

First, They are compared to an Handful, there shall be an Handful of Corn in the Earth upon the top of the Mountains, &c. Psal. 27. 16. this Corn is nothing else but them that shall be saved, Matt. 3. 12. Chap. 13. 30. But mark, There shall be an Handful; what's an Handful when compared with the whole Heap, or what's an Handful out of the rest of the World.

Secondly, As they are compared to an Handful, so they are compared to a Lilly among the Thorns, Song. 2. 2. which is rare, and not so commonly seen. As the Lilly among Thorns, faith Christ, so is my Beloved among the Daughters. By Thorns, we understand the worst and best of Men, even all that are destitute of the Grace of God, for the best of them is as a Briar, and the most upright of them as a Thorn-hedge, Mich. 7. 4. 2 Sam. 23. 6. 2. I know that she may be called a Lilly amongst Thorns Thorns also, because she meets with the Pricks of Persecution, Ezek. 2. 6. chap. 29. 24. 3. She may also be thus termed, to shew the Disparity that is betwixt Hypocrites and the Church, Luk. 8. 14. Heb. 8. But this is not all, the saved are compared to a Lilly among Thorns, to shew you, that they are but few in the World; to shew you, that they are few and rare; for as Christ compares her to a Lilly among Thorns, so she compares him to an Apple-tree among the Trees of the Wood, which is rare, and scarce, not common.

Thirdly, They that are saved, are called but one of many, for though there be threescore Queens, and fourscore Concubines, and Virgins without number, yet my love, saith Christ, is but one, my undefiled is but one, Song. 6. 8, 9. according to that of Jeremiah, I will take you, one of a City, Jer. 3. That saying of Paul is much like this, know you not, that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the Prize, 1 Cor. 9. 24. but one, that is, few of many, few of them that run, for he is not here comparing them that run with them that sit still, but with them that run, some run and lose, some run and win; they that run and win, are few in Comparison of them that run and lose: They that run in a race run all, but one receives the Prize: Let there then be threescore Queens, and fourscore Concubines, and Virgins without number, yet the saved are but few.

Fourthly, They that are the Saved, are compared to the gleaning after the Vintage is in: Wo is me, said the Church, for I am as when they have gathered the Summer-Fruit, as the Grape Gleanings after the Vintage is in, Mich. 7. 1. The Gleanings! What's the Gleanings to the whole Crop? And yet you here see, to the Gleanings are the Saved compared; 'tis the Devil and Sin that carry away the Cart-loads, while Christ and his Ministers come after a Gleaning: But the Gleaning of the Grapes of Ephraim, are better than the Vintage of Abiezer, Jud. 8. Them that Christ and his Ministers glean up and bind up in the Bundle of Life, are better than the Loads that go the other way: You know it is often the Cry of the Poor in Harvest, poor gleaning, poor gleaning: And the Ministers of the Gospel, they also cry, Lord who hath believed our Report? And to whom is the Arm of the Lord revealed? Isa. 53. 1. When the Prophet speaks of the saved under this Metaphor of gleaning, how doth he amplify the Matter? Gleaning Grapes shall be left, says he, two or three Berries in the Top of the uppermost Bough, four or five, in the outmost fruitful Branches thereof, saith the Lord, Isa. 17. 6. Thus you see what gleaning is left in the Vineyard, after the Vintage is in, two or three here, four or five there. Alas! They that shall be saved, when the Devil and Hell have had their Due, they will be but as the Gleaning, they will be but few, they that go to Hell, go thither in Clusters, but the saved go not so to Heaven, Matt. 13. 30. Mich. 7. wherefore when the Prophet speaketh of the Saved, he saith, there is no Cluster, but when he speaketh of the Damned, he saith, they are gathered by Clusters, Revel. 14. 18, 19. O sinners, but few will be saved. O Professors, but few will be saved!

Fifthly, They that shall be saved, are compared to Jewels; And they shall be mine, saith the Lord, in the Day that I make up my Jewels. Malachi 3. 13. Jewels, you know, are rare things, things that are not found in every house: Jewels will lie in little room, being few and small; though Lumber takes up much; in almost every House, you may find Brass, and Iron, and Lead; and in every Place you may find hypocritical Professors, but the saved are not these common things: They are God's peculiar Treasure, Psal. 35. 4. wherefore Paul distinguisheth betwixt the Lumber, and the Treasure in the House; there is, saith he, in a great House, not only Vessels of Gold and Silver, but also of Wood, and of Earth, and some to Honour, and some to Dishonour, 2 Tim. 2. 20. here is a Word for wooden and earthy Professors, the Jewels and Treasure are Vessels to Honour, they of Wood and Earth, are Vessels of Dishonour, that is, Vessels for Destruction, Rom. 9. 21.

Sixthly, They that shall be saved, are compared to a Remnant; except the Lord had left in us a very small Remnant, we should have been as Sodom, and should have been like unto Gomorrah, Isa. 1. 9. A Remnant, a small Remnant, a very small Remnant: O how doth the Holy Ghost word it? And all to shew you how few shall be saved: Every one knows what a Remnant is, but this is a small Remnant, a very small Remnant. So again, sing with Gladness for Jacob, and shout among the chief of the Nations, publish ye, praise ye, and say, O Lord save thy People, the Remnant of Israel, Jer. 31. 7. What shall I say? The Saved are often in Scripture called, a Remnant, Ezek. 9. 8, 14. Isa. 10. 20, 21, 22. and 11. 11, 16. Jer. 23. 3. Joel 2. 32. But what's a Remnant to the whole Piece? What's a Remnant of People to the whole Kingdom? Or, What's a Remnant of Wheat to the whole Harvest?

Seventhly, The Saved are compared to the tythe or tenth Part, wherefore when God sendeth the Prophet to make the Hearts of the People fat, their Ears dull, and to shut their Eyes: The Prophet asketh, How long? To which God answereth, Until the Cities be wasted without Inhabitant, and the Houses without Man, and the Land be utterly desolate, and the Lord have removed removed Man far away, and there be a great forsaking in the midst of the Land: But yet, (as God saith in another Place, I will not make a full end) in it shall be a Tenth, so the holy Seed shall be the Substance thereof, Isa. 6. 10, 11, 12, 13. But what's a Tenth? What's One in Ten? And yet so speaks the Holy Ghost, when he speaks of the holy Seed, of those that was to be reserved from the Judgment; and observe it, the fatning and blinding of the rest, it was to their everlasting Destruction; and so both Christ and Paul expounds it often in the New Testament, Mat. 13. 14, 15. Mark 4. 12. Luke 8. 10. John 12. 40. Acts 28. 26. Rom. 11. 8. So that those that are reserved from them that perish, will be very few, one in ten. A Tenth shall return, so the holy Seed shall be the Substance thereof.

I shall not add more Generals at this Time, I pray God that the World be not offended at these: But without doubt, But few of them that shall put in their Claim for Heaven will have it for their Inheritance; which will yet farther appear in the reading of that which follows.

Secondly, Therefore I come more particularly to shew you, that but few will be saved, I say, but few of Professors themselves will be saved: For that is the Truth that the Text doth more directly look at and defend. Give me therefore thy Hand, good Reader, and let us soberly walk through the rest of what shall be said, and let us compare as we go each Particular with the Holy Scripture.

First, 'Tis said, The Daughter of Zion is left as a Cottage in a Vineyard, as a Lodge in a Garden of Cucumbers, as a besieged City, Isa. 18. The Vineyard was the Church of Israel, Isa. 5. 1. the Cottage in that Vineyard, was the Daughter of Zion, or the truly gracious amongst, or in that Church: A Cottage, God had but a Cottage there, but a little Habitation in the Church, a very few that were truly gracious amongst that great Multitude that professed; and had it not been for these, for this Cottage, the rest had been ruined as Sodom: Except the Lord of Hosts had left in us, in the Church, a very few, they had been as Sodom, V. 9. Wherefore among the Multitude of them that shall be damned, Professors will make a considerable Party.

Secondly, For though thy People Israel, be as the Sand of the Sea, a Remnant shall return, a Remnant shall be saved, Isa. 10. 22. Rom. 9. 27. For though thy People Israel, whom thou broughtest out of Egypt, to whom thou hast given Church Constitution, holy Laws, holy Ordinances, holy Prophets, and holy Covenants: Thy People, by Separation from all People, and thy People by Profession: Though this thy People be as the Sand of the Sea, a Remnant shall be saved; wherefore among the Multitude of them that shall be damned, Professors will make a considerable Party.

Thirdly, Reprobate Silver shall Men call them because the Lord hath rejected them, Jer. 6. 30. the People here under Consideration, are called in Verse 27. God's People, his People by Profession. I have set thee for a Tower and a Fortress among my People, that thou mayest know, and try their Way. What follows? They are all grievous Revolters, walking with Slanders, reprobate Silver; the Lord hath rejected them. In Chap. 7. Ver. 29. they are called also the Generation of his Wrath: For the Lord hath rejected and forsaken the Generation of his Wrath. This therefore I gather out of these holy Scriptures; that with Reference to Profession and Church-Constitution, a People may be called the People of God, but with Reference to the Event and final Conclusion that God will make with some of them, they may be truly the Generation of his Wrath.

Fourthly, In the 5th of Isaiah you read again of the Vineyard of God, and that it was planted on a very fruitful Hill, planted with the choicest Vines, had a Wall, a Tower, a Wine-Press belonging to it, and all Things that could put it into right Order and good Government, as a Church; but this Vineyard of the Lord of Hosts brought forth wild Grapes, Fruits unbecoming her Constitution and Government, wherefore the Lord takes from her his Hedge and Wall, and lets her be trodden down. Read Christ's Exposition upon it in Mat. 2. and 23. &c. Look to it Professors, these are the Words of the Text, For many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Fifthly, Son of Man, said God to the Prophet, the House of Israel is to me become Dross, all they are Brass and Tin, and Iron and Lead, in the midst of the Furnace they are the Dross of Silver, Ezek. 22. 18. God had Silver there, some Silver, but it was but little, the Bulk of that People was but the Dross of the Church, though they were the Members of it: But what doth he mean by the Dross? Why he looked upon them as no better, notwithstanding their Church-membership, than the Rabble of the World, that is, with Respect to their latter End; for to be called Dross, it is to be put amongst the rest of the Sinners of the World, in the Judgment of God, though at present they abide in his House. Thou puttest away all the Wicked of the Earth like Dross; therefore I love thy Testimonies, Psal. 119. 119.

God saith of his saved Ones, He hath chosen them in the Furnace of Affliction. The Refiner, when he putteth the Silver into his Furnace, he puts Lead in also among it; now this Lead being ordered as he knows how, works up the Dross from the the Silver, which Dross still as it riseth, he putteth by, or taketh away with an Instrument: And thus deals God with his Church; there is Silver in his Church, I, and there is also Dross; now the Dross are the Hypocrites and graceless Ones that are got into the Church, and these will God discover, and afterwards put away as Dross. So that it will without Doubt prove a Truth of God, that many of their Professors that shall put in Claim for Heaven, will not have it for their Inheritance.

Sixthly, It is said of Christ, His Fan is in his Hand, and he will thoroughly purge his Floor, and will gather his Wheat into his Garner, but will burn up the Chaff with unquenchable Fire, Mat. 3. 12.

1. The Floor is the Church of God. (O my threshing, and the Corn of my Floor) said God by the Prophet, Isa. 21. 10. to his People.

2. The Wheat are those good ones in his Church that shall be undoubtedly saved, therefore he saith, Gather my Wheat into my Garner.

3. The Chaff groweth upon the same Stalk and Ear, and so is in the same visible Body with the Wheat, but there is not Substance in it; wherefore in time they must be severed one from the other; the Wheat must be gathered into the Garner, which is Heaven; and the Chaff, or Professors that want true Grace, must be gathered into Hell, that they may be burned up with unquenchable Fire. Therefore let Professors look to it.

Seventhly, Christ Jesus casts away two of the three Grounds that are said to receive the Word, Luke 8. The Stony Ground received it with Joy, and the Thorny Ground brought forth Fruit almost to Perfection: Indeed the Highway Ground was to shew us that the Carnal, whilst such, receive not the Word at all; but here is the Pinch, Two of the Three that received it, fell short of the Kingdom of Heaven; for but One of the Three received it so as to bring forth Fruit to Perfection. Look to it Professors.

Eighthly, The Parable of the unprofitable Servant; the Parable of the Man without a Wedding Garment, and the Parable of the unsavoury Salt, do each of them justify this for Truth, Mat. 25. 24, 25. and 22. 11, 12, 13. also 5. 13. That of the unprofitable Servant, is to shew us the Sloth and Idleness of some Professors: That of the Man without a Wedding Garment, is to shew us how some Professors have the Shame of their Wickedness seen by God, even when they are among the Children of the Bridegroom: And that Parable of the unsavoury Salt, is to shew, that as the Salt that hath lost its Savour is fit for nothing, no, not for the Dunghil, but to be trodden under Foot of Men; so some Professors (yea, and great ones too, for this Parable reached One of the Apostles) will in God's Day be counted fit for nothing but to be trodden down as the Mire in the Streets: Oh! the slothful, the naked, and unsavoury Professors, how will they be rejected of God and his Christ in the Judgment! Look to it Professors.

Ninthly, The Parable of the Tares also, giveth Countenance to this Truth: For though it be said, the Field is the World, yet it is said, the Tares were sown even in the Church: And while Men slept, the Enemy came and sowed Tares among the Wheat, and went his way, Mat. 13. 24, 25.

Object. But some may object, The Tares might be sowed in the World among the Wheat, though not in the Churches.

Ans. But Christ, by expounding this Parable, tells us, the Tares were sown in his Kingdom, (the Tares, that is, the Children of the Devil, Ver. 30. 39.) As therefore the Tares are gathered and burned in the Fire, so shall it be in the End of this World. The Son of Man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his Kingdom, all Things that offend, and them that do Iniquity, and shall cast them into a Furnace of Fire; there shall be Wailing and Gnashing of Teeth, Ver. 40, to 44. Look to it Professors.

Tenthly, The Parable of the ten Virgins also suiteth our Purpose: Them ten are called, the Kingdom of Heaven, Mat. 25. 1. that is, the Church of Christ, the visible rightly-constituted Church of Christ, for they went all out of the World, had all Lamps, and all went forth to meet the Bridegroom, yet behold what an Overthrow the one Half of them met with at the Gate of Heaven; they were shut out, bid to depart, and Christ told them he did not know them, Ver. 10, 11. Tremble Professors. Pray Professors.

Eleventhly, The Parable of the Net that was cast into the Sea, Mat. 13. 41, 42. that also countenanceth this Truth. The Substance of that Parable is to shew, that Souls may be gathered by the Gospel, there compared to a Net, may be kept in that Net, drawn to Shoar (to the World's End) by that Net, and yet may then prove bad Fishes, and be cast away. The Parable runs thus, The Kingdom of Heaven (the Gospel) is like unto a Net, which was cast into the Sea, (the World) and gathered of every Kind, (good and bad) which when it was full, they drew it to Shoar, (to the End of the World) and sat down (in Judgment) and gathered the Good into Vessels, and cast the Bad away. Some bad Fishes; nay, I doubt a great many, will be found in the Net of the Gospel, at the Day of Judgment. Watch and be sober, Professors.

Twelfthly, And many shall come from the East, and from the West, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the Kingdom of Heaven; and the Children of the Kingdom shall be cast out, Mat. 8.
5 G with

12. The Children of the Kingdom, whose Privileges were said to be these, to whom pertained the Adoption, and the Glory, and the Covenants, and the Giving of the Law, and the Service of God, and the Promise, Rom. 9. 4. I take Liberty to harp the more upon the first Church, because that that happened to them, happened as Types and Examples, intimating there is Ground to think, that Things of as dreadful a Nature are to happen among the Church of the Gentiles, 1 Cor. 10. 11, 12. neither indeed have the Gentile Churches Security from God, that there shall not as dreadful Things happen to them. And concerning this very Thing, sufficient Caution is given to us also, 1 Cor. 6. 9. 10. Gal. 5. 19, 20, 21. Eph. 5. 3, to 7. Phil. 3. 10, 19. 2 Thes. 2. 11, 12. 2 Tim. 2. 20, 21. Heb. 6. 4, to 9. and 10. 26, 27, 28. 2 Pet. 2. and 3. 1 John 5. 10. Rev. 2. 20, 21, 22.

Thirteenthly, The Parable of the true Vine and its Branches, confirm what I have said, John 15. 1, to 6. By the Vine there, I understand Christ; Christ as Head: By the Branches, I understand his Church. Some of these Branches proved fruitless Cast-aways, were in Time cast out of the Church, were gathered by Men, and burned.

Fourteenthly and lastly, I will come to particular Instances.

1. The Twelve had a Devil among them, John 6. 70.

2. Ananias and Sapphira were in the Church of Jerusalem, Acts 5.

3. Simon Magus was among them at Samaria, Acts 8.

4. Among the Church of Corinth were them that had not the Knowledge of God, 1 Cor. 15.

5. Paul tells the Galatians, false Brethren crept in unawares; and so does the Apostle Jude, and yet they were as quick-fighted to see as any now-a-Days, Gal. 2. Jude 3. 4.

6. The Church in Sardis had but a few Names in her, to whom the Kingdom of Heaven belonged: Thou hast a few Names, even in Sardis, which have not defiled their Garments, and they shall walk with me in White, for they are worthy.

7. As for the Church of the Laodiceans, it is called a wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked, Rev. 3. So that put all Things together, and I may boldly say, as I also have said already, that among the Multitude of them that shall be damned, Professors will make a considerable Party: Or, to speak in the Words of the Observation, When Men have put in all the Claim they can for Heaven, but few will have it for their Inheritance.

I will now shew you some Reasons of the Point, besides those five that I shewed you before.

But first I will shew you why the poor, carnal, ignorant World miss of Heaven, and then why the knowing Professors miss of it also.

First, The poor, carnal, ignorant World miss of Heaven, even because they love their Sins, and cannot part with them: Men love Darkneſs rather than Light, because their Deeds be evil, John 3. The poor ignorant World miss of Heaven, because they are Enemies in their Minds to God, his Word and Holineſs: They must be all damned who take Pleasure in Unrighteousneſs, 2 Thes. 2. 10, 11, 12. The poor ignorant World miss of Heaven, because they stop their Ears against Convictions, and refuse to come when God calls: Because I have called, and ye refused, I have stretched out my Hand, and no Man regarded, but have set at nought all my Counsels, and would none of my Reproof; I also will laugh at your Calamities, and mock when your Fear cometh as Desolation, and your Destruction like a Whirlwind, when Distress and Anguish cometh upon you; then shall you call upon me, but I will not answer; they shall seek me early, but shall not find me, Prov. 1. 24, to 29.

Secondly, The poor ignorant World miss of Heaven, because the God of this World hath blinded their Eyes, that they can neither see the evil and damnable State they are in at present, nor the Way to get out of it; neither do they see the Beauty of Jesus Christ, nor how willing he is to save poor Sinners, 2 Cor. 4. 2, 3.

Thirdly, The poor ignorant World miss of Heaven, because they put off and defer coming to Christ, until the Time of God's Patience and Grace is over: Some indeed are resolved never to come; but some again say, we will come hereafter, and so it comes to pass, that because God called, and they did not hear; so they shall cry, and I will not hear, saith the Lord, Zech. 7. 11, 12, 13.

Fourthly, The poor ignorant World miss of Heaven, because they have false Apprehensions of God's Mercy. They say in their Hearts, we shall have Peace, though we walk in the Imagination of our Heart, to add Drunkenneſs to Thirst: But what saith the Word? The Lord will not spare him; but then the Anger of the Lord, and his Jealousy shall smite against that Man, and all the Curses that are written in this Book, shall be upon him, and God shall blot out his Name from under Heaven, Deut. 29. 19, 20, 21.

Fifthly, The poor ignorant World miss of Heaven, because they make light of the Gospel that offereth Mercy to them freely, and because they lean upon their own good Meanings, and Thinkings, and Doings, Mat. 22. 1, to 6. Rom. 9. 30, 31.

Sixthly,

Sixthly, The poor carnal World mis of Heaven, because by Unbelief, which reigns in them, they are kept for ever from being clothed with Christ's Righteousness, and from washing in his Blood, without which there is neither Remission of Sin, nor Justification. But to pass these till anon.

I come in the next Place, to shew you some Reasons why the Professor falls short of Heaven.

First, In the general, they rest in Things below special Grace, as in Awakenings that are not special, in Repentance that is not special, &c. and a little to run parallel betwixt the one and the other, that, if God will, you may see and escape.

1. Have they that shall be saved Awakenings about their State by Nature? So have they that shall be damned. They that never go to Heaven may see much of Sin, and of the Wrath of God due thereto; this had Cain and Judas, and yet they came short of the Kingdom, Gen. 4. Mat. 27. 4. The Saved have Convictions, in order to their Eternal Life; but the others Convictions are not so: The Convictions of the one doth drive them sincerely to Christ; the Convictions of the other doth drive them to the Law, and the Law to Desperation at last.

2. There is a Repentance that will not save, a Repentance to be repented of, and a Repentance to Salvation, not to be repented of, 2 Cor. 7. 10. Yet so great a Similitude and Likeness there is betwixt the one and the other, that most Times the wrong is taken for the right, and through this Mistake Professors perish.

As 1. In saving Repentance there will be an acknowledgment of Sin; and one that hath the other Repentance, may acknowledge his Sins also, Mat. 27. 4.

2. In saving Repentance there is a crying out under Sin, but one that hath the other Repentance may cry out under Sin also, Gen. 4. 13.

3. In saving Repentance there will be Humiliation for Sin, and one that hath the other Repentance may humble himself also, 1 Kings 21. 29.

4. Saving Repentance is attended with Self-loathing; but he that hath the other Repentance may have Loathing of Sin too, 2 Peter 2. 22. a Loathing of Sin, because it is Sin, that he cannot have; but a Loathing of Sin because it is offensive to him, that he may have. The Dog doth not loath that which troubleth his Stomach, because it is there, but because it troubleth him; when it has done troubling of him, he can turn to it again, and lick it up as before it troubled him.

5. Saving Repentance is attended with Prayers and Tears; but he that hath none but the other Repentance, may have Prayers and Tears also, Gen. 27. 34, 35. Heb. 12. 14, 15, 16.

6. In saving Repentance there is Fear and Reverence of the Word and Ministers that bring it; but this may be also where there is none but the Repentance that is not saving: For Herod feared John, knowing that he was a just Man, and holy, and observed him; when he heard him, he did many Things, and heard him gladly, Mark 6. 20.

7. Saving Repentance makes a Man's Heart very tender of doing any Thing against the Word of God: But Balaam could say, If Balak would give me his House full of Silver and Gold, I cannot go beyond the Word of the Lord, Numb. 24. 13. Behold then how far a Man may go in Repentance, and yet be short of that which is called, Repentance unto Salvation, not to be repented of.

1. He may be awakened. 2. He may acknowledge his Sin. 3. He may cry out under the Burden of Sin. 4. He may have Humility for it. 5. He may loath it. 6. May have Prayers and Tears against it. 7. May delight to do many Things of God. 8. May be afraid of Sinning against him; and after all this may perish for want of saving Repentance.

Secondly, Have they that shall be saved Faith; why they that shall not be saved may have Faith also. Yea, a Faith in many Things so like the Faith that saveth, that they can hardly be distinguished, (though they differ both in Root and Branch). To come to Particulars,

1. Saving Faith hath Christ for its Object, and so may the Faith have that is not saving: Those very Jews, of whom it is said, they believed on Christ, Christ tells them, and that after their believing, Ye are of your Father the Devil, and the Lusts of your Father ye will do, John 8. from Ver. 30. to Ver. 44.

2. Saving Faith is wrought by the Word of God, and so may the Faith be that is not saving, Luke 3. 13.

3. Saving Faith looks for Justification without Works, and so may a Faith do that is not saving, James 2. 18.

4. Saving Faith will sanctify and purify the Heart, and the Faith that is not saving may work a Man off from the Pollutions of the World, as it did Judas, Demas, and others. See 2 Pet. 2.

5. Saving Faith will give a Man Tastes of the World to come, and also Joy by them Tastes, and so will the Faith do that is not saving, Heb. 6. 4, 5. Luke 8. 13.

6. Saving Faith will help a Man, if called thereto, to give his Body to be burned for his Religion, and so will the Faith do that is not saving, 1 Cor. 13. 1, to 5.

7. Saving Faith will help a Man to look for an Inheritance in the World to come, and that may the Faith do that is not saving: All those Virgins took their Lamps, and went forth to meet the Bridegroom, Mat. 25. 1.

8. Saving

8. Saving Faith will not only make a Man look for, but prepare to meet the Bridegroom, and so may the Faith do that is not saving: Then all these Virgins arose and trimmed their Lamps, Mat. 25. 7.

9. Saving Faith will make a Man look for an Interest in the Kingdom of Heaven with Confidence, and the Faith that is not saving will even demand Entrance of the Lord: Lord, Lord, open unto us, Mat. 25. 11.

10. Saving Faith will have good Works follow it into Heaven, and the Faith that is not saving may have great Works follow it, as far as to Heaven Gates. Lord, have we not prophesied in thy Name, and in thy Name cast out Devils, and in thy Name done many wondrous Works, Mat. 7. 22.

Now then, if the Faith that is not saving, may have Christ for its Object, be wrought by the Word, look for Justification without Works, work Men off from the Pollutions of the World, and give Men Tastes of, and Joy in the Things of another World: I say, again, if it will help a Man to burn for his Judgment, and to look for an Inheritance in another World, yet if it will help a Man to prepare for it, claim Interest in it, and if it can carry great Works, many great and glorious Works, as far as Heaven Gates, then no Marvel if abundance of People take this Faith for the saving Faith, and so fall short of Heaven thereby. Alas Friends! There are but few that can produce such for Repentance, and such Faith, as yet you see, I have proved even Reprobates have had in several Ages of the Church. But,

Thirdly, They that go to Heaven are a praying People; but a Man may pray that shall not be saved: Pray; he may pray, pray daily; yea, he may ask of God the Ordinances of Justice, and may take Delight in approaching to God; nay, further, such Souls may, as it were, cover the Altar of the Lord with Tears, with Weeping and Crying out, Isa. 28. 2. Mal. 12. 13.

Fourthly, Do God's People keep Holy Fasts; they that are not his People may keep Fasts also, may keep Fasts often, even twice a Week. The Pharisee stood, and prayed thus with himself, God I thank thee, that I am not as other Men are, Extortioners, Unjust, Adulterers, or even as this Publican: I fast twice a Week, I give Tythes of all that I possess, Luke 16. 11, 12. I might enlarge upon Things, but I intend but a little Book: I do not question but many Ealaamites will appear before the Judgment-Seat to Condemnation: Men that have had Visions of God, and that knew the Knowledge of the Most High; Men that have had the Spirit of God come upon them, and that have by that been made other Men; yet these shall go to the Generations of their Fathers, they shall never see Light, Numb. 24. 2, 4, 16. 1 Sam. 10. 6, 10. Psal. 49. 19.

I read of some Men, whose Excellency in Religion mounts up to the Heavens, and their Head reaches unto the Clouds, who yet shall perish for ever like their own Dung, and he that in this World hath seen them, shall say at the Judgment, Where are they? Job 20. 5, 6, 7. There will be many a one that were gallant Professors in this World, be wanting among the Saved in the Day of Christ's coming; yea, many whose Damnation was never dream'd of: Which of the Twelve ever thought that Judas would have proved a Devil? Nay, when Christ suggested that one among them were naught, they each were more afraid of themselves than of him, Matt. 26. 21, 22, 23. Who questioned the Salvation of the foolish Virgins? the wise ones did not, they gave them the Privilege of Communion with themselves, Matt. 25. The discerning of the Heart, and the infallible proof of the Truth of saving Grace, is reserved to the Judgment of Jesus Christ at his coming; the Church and best of Saints, sometimes hit, and sometimes miss in their Judgments about this Matter: and the Cause of our missing in our Judgment, is, 1. Partly, because we cannot infallibly, at all times, distinguish Grace that saveth, from that which doth but appear to do so. 2. Partly also because some Men have the Art to give right Names to wrong Things. 3. And partly because we being commanded to receive him that is weak, are afraid to exclude the least Christian, by a hid means, Hypocrites creep into the Churches; but what saith the Scripture? I the Lord search the Heart, I try the Reins: And again, All the Churches shall know that I am he that searches the Reins and Hearts, and I will give to every one of you according to your Works, Jer. 11. 20. chap. 17. 10. Rev. 2. 23. To this searcher of Hearts, is the time of infallible discerning reserved, and then you shall see how far Grace that is not saving, hath gone; and also how few will be saved indeed. The Lord awaken poor Sinners by my little Book.

I come now to make some brief Use and Application of the whole; and my first Word shall be to the open Profane: Poor Sinner, thou readest here, that but a few will be saved, that many that expect Heaven, will go without Heaven; what saith thou to this, poor Sinner? Let me say it over again. There are but few to be saved, but very few; let me add, but few Professors; but few eminent Professors; what saith thou now Sinner? If Judgment begins at the House of God, what will the end of them be that obey not the Gospel of God? This is Peter's Question; canst thou answer it, Sinner? yea, I say again, if Judgment must begin at them, will will it not make thee think, what shall become of me? And I add, when thou shalt see the Stars of Heaven to tumble down to Hell, canst thou think that such a Muck-heap of Sin as thou art, shall be lifted up to Heaven? Peter asks thee another Question, to wit, If the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the Ungodly and Sinners appear? 1 Pet. 14. 18, 19. Canst thou answer this Question, Sinner? Stand among the Righteous thou maist not; (the ungodly shall not stand in the Judgment, nor Sinners in the Congregation of the Righteous, Psal. 1. 5.) Stand among the Wicked thou then wilt not dare to do; where wilt thou appear, Sinner? To stand among the Hypocrites will avail thee nothing: The Hypocrite shall not come before him, that is, with acceptance, but shall perish, Job 13. 16. Because it concerns thee much, let me over with it again: When thou shalt see less Sinners than thou art, bound up by Angels in Bundles, to burn them, where wilt thou appear, Sinner? Thou maist wish thyself another Man, but that will not help thee Sinner. Thou maist wish, would I had been converted in time; but that will not help thee neither. And if like the Wife of Jeroboam, thou shouldst feign thyself to be another Woman, the Prophet, the Lord Jesus, would soon find thee out; what wilt thou do, poor Sinner? Heavy Tidings, heavy Tidings will attend thee, except thou repent, poor Sinner! 1 Kings 14. 2, 5, 6, Luke 13. 3, 5. O the dreadful State of a poor Sinner, of an open profane Sinner! Every Body that hath but common Sense, knows that this Man is in the broad Way to Death, yet he laughs at his own Damnation.

Shall I come to Particulars with thee?

1. Poor unclean Sinner, the Harlot's House is the way to Hell, going down to the Chambers of Death, Prov. 2. 18. chap. 5. 5. chap. 7. 27.

2. Poor swearing, and thievish Sinner, God hath prepared the Curse, that every one that stealeth shall be cut off, as on this Side, according to it; and every one that sweareth, shall be cut off on that Side, according to it, Zech. 5. 3.

3. Poor Drunken Sinner, what shall I say to thee? Woe to the Drunkards of Ephraim, woe to them that are mighty to drink Wine, and Men of strong Drink; they shall not inherit the Kingdom of Heaven, Isa. 28. chap. 5. 11, 12. 1 Cor. 6. 9, 10.

4. Poor covetous worldly Man, God's Word says, that the covetous the Lord abhorreth; that the covetous man is an Idolater; and that the covetous shall not inherit the Kingdom of God, Psal. 10. 3. Ephes. 5. 5. John 2. 15. 1 Cor. 6. 9, 10.

5. And thou Liar, what wilt thou do? All Liars shall have their Part in the Lake that burneth with Fire and Brimstone, Rev. 21. 8, 27.

I shall not enlarge, poor Sinner, let no Man deceive thee; for because of these things cometh the Wrath of God upon the Children of Disobedience, Ephes. 5. 6. I will therefore give thee a short Call, and so leave thee.

Sinner, awake; yea, I say unto thee, awake: Sin lieth at thy Door, and God's Axe lieth at thy Root, and Hell-fire is right underneath thee: I say again, awake. Every Tree therefore that bringeth not forth good Fruit, is hewn down, and cast into the Fire, Gen. 4. 7. Matt. 3. 10.

Poor Sinner, awake; Eternity is coming, and his Son, they are both coming to judge the World; awake, art yet asleep, poor Sinner? Let me set the Trumpet to thine ear once again. The Heavens will be shortly on a burning Flame; the Earth and the Works thereof shall be burned up, and then Wicked Men shall go into Perdition; dost thou hear this, Sinner, 2 Pet. 3. Hark again, the sweet Morfels of Sins will then be fled and gone, and the bitter burning Fruits of them only left; What saist thou now Sinner? Canst thou drink Hell-fire? Will the Wrath of God be a pleasant Dish to thy Taste? This must be thine every Day's Meat and Drink in Hell, Sinner.

I will yet propound to thee God's ponderous Question, and then for this Time leave thee: Can thine Heart endure, or can thine Hands be strong in the Day that I shall deal with thee, saith the Lord? Ezek. 22. 14. What saist thou? Wilt thou answer this Question now? or wilt thou take Time to do it? or wilt thou be desperate, and venture all? and let me put this Text in thine Ear to keep it open; and so the Lord have Mercy upon thee: Upon the Wicked shall the Lord rain Snares, Fire and Brimstone, and an horrible Tempest, this shall be the Portion of their Cup, Psal. 11. 6. Repent Sinners.

Secondly, My second Word is to them that are upon the Potter's Wheel, concerning whom, we know not, as yet, whether their Convictions and Awakenings will end in Conversion, or no; several Things I shall say to you, both to further your Convictions, and to caution you from staying any where below, or short of saving Grace.

1. Remember that but few shall be saved; and if God should count thee worthy to be one of that few, what a Mercy would that be? Eph. 2. 4.

2. Be thankful therefore for Convictions; Conversion begins at Conviction, though all Conviction doth not end in Conversion. It is a great Mercy to be convinced that we are Sinners, and that we need a Saviour; count it therefore a Mercy, and that thy Convictions

Convictions may end in Conversion ; Do thou,

1. Take heed of stifling of them : It is the Way of poor Sinners to look upon Convictions, as Things that are hurtful ; and therefore they use to shun the awakening Ministry, and to check a convincing Conscience ; such poor Sinners are much like to the wanton Boy that stands at the Maid's Elbow to blow out her Candle as fast as she lights it at the Fire. Convinced Sinner, God lighteth thy Candle, and thou puttest it out, God lights it again, and thou puts it out ; (Yea, how oft is the Candle of the Wicked put out ? Job 21. 17.) At last God resolveth he will light thy Candle no more ; and then, like the Egyptians, you dwell all your Days in Darkness, and never see Light more, but by the Light of Hell-Fire ; wherefore give Glory to God, and if he awakens thy Conscience, quench not thy Convictions ; do it, saith the Prophet, before he cause Darkness, and before your Feet tumble upon the dark Mountains, and he turn your Convictions into the Shadow of Death, and make them gross Darkness, Jer. 13. 16.

1. Be willing to see the worst of thy Condition ; 'tis better to see it here than in Hell ; for thou mayest see thy Misery here or there.

2. Beware of little Sins, they will make Way for great ones, and they again will make Way for bigger, upon which, God's Wrath will follow ; and then may thy latter End be worse than thy Beginning, 2 Pet. 2. 20.

3. Take heed of bad Company, and evil Communication, for that will corrupt good Manners. God saith, evil Company will turn thee away from following him, and will tempt thee to serve other Gods, Devils ; so the anger of the Lord will be kindled against thee, and destroy thee suddenly, Deut. 7. 3.

4. Beware of such a Thought as bids thee delay Repentance ; for that is damnable, Prov. 1. 24. Zech. 7. 12, 13.

5. Beware of taking Example by some poor carnal Professor, whose Religion lies in the tip of his Tongue. Beware I say, of the Man whose Head swims with Notions, but his Life is among the unclean, Job 36. 14. He that walketh with wise Men, shall be wise ; but a Companion of Fools shall be destroyed, Prov. 13. 20.

6. Give thy self much to the Word, and Prayer, and good Conference.

7. Labour to see the Sin that cleaveth to the best of thy Performances, and know that all is nothing if thou beest not found in Jesus Christ.

8. Keep in Remembrance that God's Eye is upon thy Heart, and upon all thy Ways : Can any hide himself in secret Places, that I should not see him, saith the Lord ? Do not I fill Heaven and Earth, saith the Lord ? Jer. 23. 24.

9. Be often meditating upon Death and Judgment, Eccles. 11. 9. Chap. 12. 14.

10. Be often thinking what a dreadful End, Sinners, that have neglected Christ, will make at that Day of Death and Judgment, Heb. 10. 31.

11. Put thy self often, in thy Thoughts, before Christ's Judgment Seat, in thy Sins, and consider with thy self, were I now before my Judge, how should I look, how should I shake and tremble ?

12. Be often thinking of them that are now in Hell past all Mercy ; I say, be often thinking of them, thus ;

1. They were once in the World, as I now am.

2. They once took Delight in Sin, as I have done.

3. They once neglected Repentance, as Satan would have me do.

4. But now they are gone, now they are in Hell, now the Pit hath shut her Mouth upon them.

Thou mayest also double thy Thoughts of the damned, thus ;

1. If these poor Creatures were in the World again would they sin as they did before ? would they neglect Salvation as they did before ?

2. If they had Sermons, as I have ; if they had the Bible, as I have ; if they had good Company, as I have ; yea, if they had a Day of Grace, as I have ; would they neglect it as they did before ? Sinner couldest thou soberly think of these Things they might help (God blessing them) to awaken thee, and to keep thee awake to Repentance, to the Repentance that is to Salvation, never to be repented of.

Object. But you have said, few shall be saved, and some that go a great Way, yet are not saved ; at this therefore, I am even discouraged, and awakened : I think I had as good go no further, I am indeed under Conviction, but I may perish, and if I go on in my Sins I can but perish, and 'tis ten, twenty, an hundred to one, if I be saved, should I be never so earnest for Heaven.

Answer. That few will be saved must needs be a Truth, for Christ hath said it ; that many go far, and come short of Heaven, is as true, being testified by the same Hand : But what then ? Why then had I as good never seek ; who told thee so ? must no Body seek, because few are saved, this is just contrary to the Text, that bids us, therefore strive, strive to enter in, because the Gate is strait, and because many will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. But why go back again, seeing that is the next Way to Hell, never go over Hedge and Ditch to Hell, if I must needs go thither, I will go the farthest Way about ; but who can tell though there should not be saved so many as there shall, but thou mayest be one of that few. They that miss of Life perish, because they will not not let go their Sins, or because they take up in Profession short of the saving Faith of the Gospel: They perish I say, because they are content with such Things as will not prove Graces of a saving Nature, then they come to be tried in the Fire, otherwise the Promise is free and full, and everlasting. Him that cometh to me, says Christ, I will in no wise cast out; for God so loved the World, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him might not perish, but have everlasting Life, Joh. 6. 37. wherefore let not this Thought, few shall be saved, weaken thy Heart, but let it cause thee to mend thy Pace, to mend thy Cry, to look well to thy Grounds for Heaven; let it make thee fly faster from Sin, to Christ, let it keep thee awake and out of carnal Security, and thou mayest be saved.

Thirdly, My third Word is to Professors, Sirs, give me leave to set my Trumpet to your Ears again a little, when every Man hath put in all the claim they can for Heaven, but few will have it for their Inheritance. I mean but few Professors, for so the Text intendeth, and so I have also proved, for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Let me therefore a little expostulate the Matter with you, O ye thousands of Professors.

First, I begin with you whose Religion lieth only in your Tongues, I mean you who are little or nothing known from the rest of the Rabble of the World, only you can talk better than they; hear me a Word or two. If I speak with the Tongue of Men and Angels, and have not Charity, that is, Love to God, and Christ, and Saints, and Holiness, I am nothing, no Child of God, and so have nothing to do with Heaven, 1 Cor. 13. A prating Tongue will not unlock the Gates of Heaven, nor blind the Eyes of thy Judge; look to it; the wise in Heart will receive Commandments; but a prating Fool shall fall, Prov. 10. 8.

Secondly, Covetous Professors, thou that makest a Gain of Religion, that usest thy Profession to bring Grist to thy Mill, look to it also; Gain is not Godliness; Judas's Religion lay much in the Bag, but his Soul is now burning in Hell; all Covetousness is Idolatry; but what is that, or what will you call it, when Men are Religious for filthy Lucre Sake, Ezek. 33. 31.

Thirdly, Wanton Professors I have a Word for you; I mean you that can tell how to misplead Scripture, to maintain your Pride, your Banqueting, and abominable Idolatry: Read what Peter says, you are the Snare and Damnation of others; you allure through the Lust of the Flesh, through much Wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in Error, 2 Pet. 2. 18. Besides, the Holy Ghost hath a great deal against you, for your Feastings, and eating without Fear, not for Health, but Gluttony, Jude 12. Farther, Peter says, that you that count it Pleasure to riot in the Day-Time, are Spots and Blemishes, sporting your selves with your own Deceivings, 2 Pet. 2. 14. And let me ask, did God give his Word to justify your Wickedness: or doth Grace teach you to plead for the Flesh, or the making Provision for the Lusts thereof: Of these also are they that feed their Bodies to strengthen their Lusts, under Pretence of strengthening frail Nature. But pray remember the Text; Many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Fourthly, I come next to the Opinionist, I mean, to him whose Religion lieth in some Circumstantials of Religion; with this sort this Kingdom swarms at this Day; these think all out of the Way that are not of their Mode, when themselves may be out of the Way in the midst of their Zeal for their Opinions; pray do you also observe the Text, Many I say unto you, seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Fifthly, Neither is the Formalist exempted from this Number; he is a Man that hath lost all but the Shell of Religion; he is not indeed for his Form; and no marvel, for that is his All to contend for; but his Form being without the Power and Spirit of Godliness, it will leave him in his Sins; nay, he standeth now in them, in the Sight of God, 2 Tim. 3. 5. And is one of the many that will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Sixthly, The Legalist comes next, even him that hath no Life but what he makes out of his Duties; this Man hath chosen to stand and fall by Moses, who is the condemner of the World, There is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust, John 5. 45.

Seventhly, There is in the next Place, the Libertine, he that pretendeth to be against Forms and Duties, as Things that gender to Bondage, neglecting the Order of God: This Man pretends to pray always, but under that Pretence, prays not at all; he pretends to keep every Day a Sabbath, but this Pretence serves him only to cast off all set Times for the Worship of God. This is also one of the many that will seek to enter in, and shall not be able, Tit. 1. 16.

Eighthly, There is the temporizing Latitudinarian; he is a Man that hath no God but his Belly, nor any Religion but that by which his Belly is worshipped; his Religion is always like the Times, turning this Way and that Way, like the Cock on the Steeple; neither hath he any Conscience but a benumm'd and fear'd one, and is next Door to a down-right Atheist; And also is one of them many that will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Ninthly, There is also the wilfully ignorant rant Professor, or him that is afraid to know more, for fear of the Cross; he is for picking and chusing of Truth, and loveth not to hazard his All for that worthy Name by which he would be called: When he is at any Time overfet by Arguments, or Awakenings of Conscience, he uses to heal all, by, I was not brought up in this Faith; as if it were unlawful for Christians to know more than hath been taught them at first Conversion, there are many Scriptures that lie against this Man, as the Mouths of great Guns, and he is one of the many that will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Tenthly, We will add to all these, the Professor that would prove himself a Christian, by comparing himself with others, instead of comparing himself with the Word of God. This Man comforts himself because he is as holy as such, and such; he also knows as much as that old Professor, and then concludes he shall go to Heaven: As if he certainly knew, that those with whom he compareth himself would be undoubtedly saved, but how if he should be mistaken, nay may they not both fall short; but to be sure he is in the wrong that hath made the Comparison, 2 Cor. 10. 12. and a wrong Foundation will not stand in the Day of Judgment. This Man therefore is one of the many that will seek to enter in and shall not be able.

Eleventhly, There is yet another Professor; and he is for God and for Baal too, he can be any thing for any Company: he can throw stones with both hands, his Religion alters as fast as his Company; he is a Frog of Egypt, and can live in the Water and out of the Water; he can live in religious Company and again as well out, nothing that is disorderly comes amiss to him, he'll hold with the Hare, and run with the Hound, he carries Fire in one hand, and Water i' th' other; he is a very any thing but what he should be: This is also one of the many that will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

Twelfthly, There is also that Free-willer who denies to the Holy Ghost the sole Work in Conversion, and that Socinian, who denieth to Christ that he hath made to God Satisfaction for Sin; and that Quaker who takes from Christ the two Natures in his Person, and I might add as many more; touching whose Damnation (they dying as they are) the Scripture is plain: These will seek to enter in and shall not be able.

But Fourthly, if it be so, what a strange Disappointment will many Professors meet with at the Day of Judgment: I speak not now to the open Profaner, every body (as I have said) that hath but common Understanding between Good and Evil, knows that they are in the broad way to Hell and Damnation, and they must needs come thither, nothing can hinder it, but Repentance unto Salvation, except God should prove a Liar to save them, and 'tis hard vent'ring of that.

Neither is it amiss, if we take Notice of the Examples that are briefly mentioned in the Scriptures concerning Professors that have miscarried.

1. Judas perished from among the Apostles, Acts 1. 2. Demas as I think perished from among the Evangelists, 2 Tim. 4. 10. 3. Diotrephes from among the Ministers, or them in Office in the Church, John 9. 10. 4. And as for Christian Professors, they have fell by Heaps, and almost by whole Churches, 2 Tim. 1. 15. Revel. 3. 4, 15, 16, 17. 5. Let us add to these, that the Things mentioned in the Scriptures about these matters, are but brief Hints, and Items of what is afterwards to happen; as the Apostle said, Some mens sins are open beforehand, going before unto Judgment, and some men they follow after, 1 Tim. 5. 24. So that, Fellow-Professors, let us fear, lest a Promise being left us of entering into this Rest, any of us should seem to come short of it: O to come short! nothing kills it, nothing will burn like it. I intend not Discouragements but Awakenings; the Churches have need of awakening, and so have all Professors; do not despise me therefore, but hear me over again: What a strange Disappointment will many Professors meet with at the Day of God Almighty? A Disappointment, I say, and that as to several things.

1. They will look to escape Hell, and yet fall just into the Mouth of Hell: What a Disappointment will here be?

2. They will look for Heaven, but the Gate of Heaven will be shut against them: What a Disappointment is here?

3. They will expect that Christ should have Compassion for them; but will find that he hath shut up all Bowels of Compassion from them: What a Disappointment is here?

Again, Fifthly, As this Disappointment will be fearful; so certainly it will be very full of Amazement.

1. Will it not amaze them to be unexpectedly excluded from Life and Salvation.

2. Will it not be amazing to them to see their own Madness and Folly, while they consider how they have dallied with their own Souls, and took lightly for granted, that they had that Grace that would save them, but hath left them in a damnable State.

3. Will they not also be amazed one at another, while they remember how in their Life-time they counted themselves Fellow-heirs of Life. To allude to that of the Prophet, They shall be amazed one of another, their Faces shall be as Flames, Isa. 13. 8.

4. Will it not be amazing to some of the Damned themselves, to see some come to Hell that then they shall see come thither?

ther? To see Preachers of the Word, Professors of the Word, Practisers in the Word, to come thither; What wondring was there among them at the Fall of the King of Babylon, since he thought to have swallowed up all because he was run down by the Medes and Persians? How art thou fallen from Heaven, Lucifer, Son of the Morning? How art thou cut down to the Ground that didst weaken the Nations? If such a thing as this will with Amazement surprize the Damned, what an Amazement will it be to them to see such a one as he, whose Head reached to the Clouds, to see him come down to the Pit, and perish for ever like his own Dung. Hell from beneath is moved for thee, to meet thee at thy coming; it stirreth up the dead for thee, even all the chief ones of the Earth, Isa. 14. They that see thee, shall narrowly look upon thee, and consider thee, saying, Is this the Man? Is this he that professed, and disputed, and forsook us; but now he is come to us again? Is this he that separated from us, but now is he fallen with us into the same eternal Damnation with us?

Sixthly, Yet again, one Word more, if I may awaken Professors. 1. Consider, tho' the poor carnal World shall certainly perish, yet they will want these Things to aggravate their Sorrow, which thou wilt meet with in every Thought that thou wilt have of the Condition thou wast in, when thou wast in the World.

1. They will not have a Profession to bite them when they come thither.

2. They will not have a taste of a lost Heaven, to bite them when they come thither.

3. They will not have the Thoughts of, I was almost at Heaven, to bite them when they come thither.

4. They will not have the Thoughts of, how they cheated Saints, Ministers, Churches, to bite them when they come thither.

5. They will not have the dying Thoughts of false Faith, false Hope, false Repentance, and false Holiness, to bite them when they come thither. I was at the Gates of Heaven, I looked into Heaven, I thought I should have entred into Heaven; O how will these Things sting! They will, if I may call them so, be the Sting of the Sting of Death in Hell-Fire.

Seventhly, Give me leave now in a Word, to give you a little Advice.

1. Dost thou love thine own Soul? then pray to Jesus Christ for an awakened Heart, for an Heart so awakened with all the Things of another World, that thou mayest be allured to Jesus Christ.

2. When thou comest there, beg again for more awakenings about Sin, Hell, Grace, and about the Righteousness of Christ.

3. Cry also for a Spirit of discerning, that thou mayest know that which is saving Grace indeed.

4. Above all Studies, apply thy self to the Study of those Things that shew thee the evil of Sin, the shortness of Men's Life, and which is the Way to be saved.

5. Keep Company with the most godly among Professors.

6. When thou hearest what the Nature of true Grace is, defer not to ask thine own Heart if this Grace be there? And here take heed,

1. That the Preacher himself be sound, and of good Life.

2. That thou takest not seeming Graces for real ones, nor seeming Fruits for real Fruits.

3. Take heed that a Sin and thy Life goes not unrepented of; for that will make a Flaw in thine Evidence, a Wound in thy Conscience, and a breach in thy Peace; and a hundred to one, if at last, it doth not drive all the Grace in thee into so dark a Corner of thy Heart, That thou shalt not be able, for a Time, by all the Torches that are burning in the Gospel, to find it out to thine own Comfort and Consolation.

SCRIPTURES.

O R,

The Divine and Humane Nature of Christ Jesus,
His coming into the World ; his Righteousness, Death, Resurrection, Ascension, Intercession, and second Coming to Judgment, plainly Demonstrated and Proved.

A N D A L S O,

Answers to several Questions, with profitable Directions to stand fast in the Doctrine of J E S U S the the Son of M A R Y, against those blustering Storms of the Devil's Temptations, which do at this Day, like so many Scorpions, break loose from the bottomless Pit, to bite and torment those that have not tasted the Vertue of J E S U S, by the Revelation of the Spirit of God.

Jesus saith, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no Man cometh to the Father, but by me, John 14. 6.

Neither is there Salvation in any other, Acts 4. 12.

The Author to the READER.

SEEING the Lord hath been pleased to put it into mine Heart, to write a few Things to thee (Reader) touching those Things which are most surely believed by all those that are, or shall be saved, Luke 1. 1. Acts 13. 38. I think it meet also, to stir up thy Heart by Way of Remembrance, touching those Things that are the hindrances of thy believing the Things that are necessary to the welfare of thine immortal Soul.
And indeed, this is the only Thing necessary ; it is better to lose all that ever thou hast, than to have thy Soul and Body for ever cast into Hell : And therefore, I beseech thee to consider with me a few Things touching the Stratagems, or subtle Temptations of the Devil, whereby he lieth in wait, if by any Means he may, to make thee fall short of eternal Life, 1 Pet. 5. 8.

And first of all, he doth endeavour by all Means to keep thee in Love with thy Sins and Pleasures, knowing that he is sure of thee, if he can but bewitch thee to live and die in them, 1 Cor. 6. 9, 10. 2 Thes. 2. 12. Yea, he knows that he is as sure of thee, as if he had thee in Hell already, John 3. 19. And that he might accomplish his Design on thee in this Particular, he laboureth by all Means possible to keep thy Conscience asleep in Security and Self-conceitedness, keeping thee from all Things that might be a Means to awaken and rowse up thine Heart : As first, he will endeavour to keep thee from hearing of the word, by suggesting unto this and the other worldly Business which must be performed ; so that thou wilt not want Excuse to keep thee from the Ordinances of Christ, in Hearing, Reading, Meditation, &c. or else, he seeks to disturb, and distract thy Mind when thou art conversant in these Things, that thou canst not attend to them diligently, and so they become unprofitable ; or else if thou art a little more stirred, he labours to rock thee asleep again, by casting thee upon, and keeping thee in evil Company, as among Rioters, Drunkards, Jesters, and other of his Instruments, which he imployeth on Purpose to keep thee secure, and so ruin thy Soul and Body for ever and ever.

If not thus, then peradventure he will seek to persuade thee it is but a melancholly Fit, and will put thee upon the Works of thy Calling, or thy Pleasures, or Physick ; or some other Trick he will invent such as best agreeth with thy Nature : And thus thy Heart is again deadened, and thou art kept in carnal Security, that thou mightest perish for ever. But if notwithstanding these, and many cunning Sights more which might be named, he cannot so blind, and benumb thy Conscience, but that it doth see and feel Sin to be a Burden, intolerable and exceeding sinful : Then in the second Place, his Design is
to

to drive thee to Despair, by persuading thee that thy Sins are too big to be pardoned, he will seek by all Means possible to aggravate them by all the Circumstances of Time, Place, Person, Manner, Nature, and Continuance of thy Sins, he will object in thy Soul, thou hast outsinned Grace, by rejecting so many Exhortations, and Admonitions, so many Reproofs, so many tenders of Grace; hadst thou closed in with them it had been well with thee, but now thou hast stood it out so long, that there is no Hope for thee: Thou mightest have come sooner, if thou didst look to be saved, but now it is too late. And withal, that he might carry on his design upon thee to purpose, he will be sure to present to thy conscience, the most sad sentences of the Scripture; yea, and set them home with such cunning Arguments, that if it be possible, he will make thee despair, and make away thy self, as did Judas.

But if he be prevented in this his intended purpose; the next thing he doth beset thee with, is to make thee rest upon thy own Righteousness, telling thee, that if thou wilt needs be saved, thou must earn Heaven with thy fingers ends; and it may be, he represents to thy Soul such a Scripture; If thou do well, shalt thou not be accepted? And thou having (but in the Strength of Nature) kept thy self from thy former grosser Pollutions, and it may be from some more secret Sins, art ready to conclude, now thou dost well; now God accepts thee; now he will pardon, yea, hath pardoned thee; now thy Condition is good, and so goest on till thou meetest with a searching Word, and Ministry, which tells thee, and discovers plainly unto thee, that thou dost all this while deceive thy self, by a vain Hope and Confidence; for tho' thou seek after the Law of Righteousness, thou hast not yet attained to the Law of Righteousness, nor yet canst, because, thou seekest it not by Faith, but as it were, by the Works of the Law, Rom. 9. 31. 32. Here again, thou art left in the Mire, and now peradventure thou seest, that thou art not profited by the Works of the Law, nor thy own Righteousness: And this makes thee stir a little, but in process of time, (through the subtil Sleights of the Devil, and the Wickedness of thine own Heart;) thou forgettest thy trouble of Conscience, and slippest into a Notion of the Gospel, and the Grace thereof, and now thou thinkest thy self cock-sure: Now thou art able to say, He that lives and dies in his Sins, shall be Damned for them: He that trusts in his own Righteousness, shall not be saved: Now thou canst cry, Grace, Grace, it's freely by Grace, it's through the Death of the Man Christ Jesus, that Sinners do attain unto eternal Life, Heb. 9. 14. This, I say, thou hast in the Notion, and hast not the Power of the same in thine Heart, and so it may be thine Head is full of the Knowledge of the Scriptures, though thine Heart be empty of sanctifying Grace. And thus thou dost rejoyce for a time. Yet because thou hast not the root of the matter within thee, in time of Temptation thou fallest away, Luke 8. 13.

Now being in this Condition, and thinking thy self to be wondrous well, because of that Notion of the Truth, and that Notion thou hast in the things of God: I say, being in this State, thou art liable to these Dangers.

First, Thou art like to Perish if thou die with this Notion in thine head, except God out of his rich Grace do work a saving Work of Grace and Knowledge in thy Heart; for know this, thou mayest understand glorious Mysteries, and yet be a Cast-away, 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2, 3. Or else, Secondly, Thou art liable to the next Damnable Heresie that the Devil sendeth into the World. See and consider, Luk. 8. 13. 2 Tim. 2. 18. I say, thou dost lie liable to be carried away with it, and to be captivated by it; so that at last, through the Delusions of the Devil, thou mayest have thy Conscience seared as with an hot Iron, so hard, that neither Law, nor Gospel, can make any Entrance thereinto, to the doing of thee the least good. And indeed, who are the Men that at this Day are so deluded by the Quakers, and other pernicious Doctrines; But those who thought it enough to be Talkers of the Gospel, and Grace of God, without seeking and giving all Diligence to make it sure unto themselves? And for this Cause God hath sent them strong Delusions, that they should believe a Lye: That they all might be damned, who believed not the Truth but had Pleasure in Unrighteousness, as it is written, 2 Thes. 2. 11, 12. And indeed if you mark it, you shall see, that they be such kind of People, who at this Day are so carried away with the Quakers Delusions; namely, a Company of loose Ranters, and light Notionists, with here and there a Legalist, which were shaking in their Principles from time to time, sometimes on this Religion, sometimes on that. And thus these Unstable Souls are deluded and beguiled at last, 2 Pet. 2. 14. So that these who before (as one would have thought) had something of God in them, are now turned such Enemies to the glorious Truths of the Gospel, that there is none so obstinately erroneous as they. And indeed it is just with God, to give them over to believe a Lye, 2 Thes. 2. 11. who before were so idle that they would not receive the Truth of God into their Hearts, in the Love of it. And to be bewitched by the Devil to obey his Temptations, and be damned, who would not obey the Truth, Gal. 3. 1. that they might be saved.

But you will say, what Lyes are those, that the Devil beguileth poor Souls withal? I shall briefly tell you some of them, but having before said, that they especially are liable to the the Danger of them, who slip into high Notions, and rest there; taking that for true Faith which is not. I shall desire thee seriously to consider this one Character of a Notionist. Such an one, whether he perceives it or not, is puffed up in his fleshly Mind, and advanceth himself above others, thinking but few may compare with him for Religion and Knowledge in the Scriptures, but are ignorant and foolish in Comparison of him: (Thus Knowledge puffeth up, 1 Cor. 8. 1.) whereas when Men receive Truth in the Love of the Truth, the more the Head and Heart is filled with the Knowledge of the Mystery of Godliness, the more it is emptied of its own Things, and is more sensible of its own Vileness, and so truly humbled in its own Eyes.

And further, a Notionist, though he fall from his former Strictness and seeming Holiness, and appear more loose, and vain in his Practices, yet speaks as confidently of himself, as to assurance of Salvation, the Love of God, and Union with God, as ever. But now to return, and declare some of those Lyes which the Devil persuades some of these Men to believe.

1. That Salvation was not fully, and completely wrought out for poor Sinners by the Man Christ Jesus, though he did it gloriously, Acts 13. 38, 39. by his Death upon the Cross, without the Gates of Jerusalem, Heb. 13. 12. compared with Joh. 19. 20.

2. This is another of his Lyes wherewith he doth deceive poor Sinners, bidding them follow the Light that they brought into the World with them, telling them, that Light will lead them to the Kingdom; for (say they) it will convince of Sin, as Swearing, Lying, Stealing, Covetousness, and the rest of the Sins against the Law, Rom. 3. 20. But the Law is not of Faith, Gal. 3. 13. And then I am sure, that it, with all its Motions and Convictions, is never able to justify the Soul of any poor Sinner. For as many as are of the Works of the Law are under the Curse; for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all Things that are written in the Book of the Law to do them, Gal. 3. 10. but that no Man is justified by the Law is evident, for, The just shall live by Faith, ver. 11. Now because I am not altogether ignorant of the Delusion of the Devil touching this Grace of Faith also, I shall therefore in short give thee (Reader) a brief, yet true Description from the Scripture. 1. What true justifying Faith is, and what it lays hold upon. 2. I shall shew who it doth come from. 3. That every one hath it not. 4. What are the Fruits of it. First therefore true Faith is a Fruit, Work, or Gift of the Spirit of God. (Gal. 5. 22. 2 Thes. 1. 11. and 1 Cor. 12. 9.) whereby a poor Soul is enabled through the mighty Operation of God (Col. 2. 12.) in a Sense of its Sins and wretched Estate to lay hold on the Righteousness, Blood, Death, Resurrection, Ascension, Intercession, and coming again of the Son of God which was crucified without the Gates of Jerusalem, for eternal Life; Joh. 3. 16, 18. compared with Mat. 3. 17. Gal. 2. 20. Rom. 5. 8, 9, 10. Rom. 3. 25. Act. 16. 31. Heb. 13. 12. according to that Saying in Heb. 11. 1. Now Faith is the Substance of Things hoped for, and the Evidence of Things not seen, that is, the Things that are hoped for Faith sees, lays hold upon, and embraces them, Heb. 11. 13. as if they were present; yea, it seals up the certainty of them to the Soul. Therefore saith the Apostle, it is the Evidence, or Testimony, or Witness, of those Things that are not seen as yet with a bodily Eye; which are obtained by the Blood of the Man Christ Jesus, Heb. 9. 14. compared with Heb. 10. 12. 19, 20. by which the Soul sees as in a Glass the Things that God hath laid up for them that fear him, 1 Cor. 13. 12. 2 Cor. 3. 18.

Secondly, If you would know who this Faith comes from, read Ephes. 2. 8. For by Grace ye are saved (saith the Scripture) through Faith, and that not of your selves, it is the Gift of God, Again, in Phil. 1. 29. it is thus written: For unto you (that are Believers) it is given in the Behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his Sake: And thus much doth the Apostles hold forth to us in their Prayer, or Request to the Lord Jesus, when they say, Lord increase our Faith, Luke 17. 5. and he is therefore called the Author and Finisher of our Faith, Heb. 12. 3. also we find in Jam. 1. 17. that every good and perfect Gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of Lights, &c. and therefore Faith comes from God, for true justifying Faith is a good Gift, and perfect in Respect of the Author God, in Respect of its Object, Christ; and in respect of the Nature, though not in Respect of the Degree, and Measure of it in us: Even as a Grain of Gold, is as perfect Gold, as a Pound of Gold, though not so much.

All Men have not Faith, This the Apostle witnesseth in so many Words as we find, 2 Thes. 3. 2. and Deut. 32. 20. Also in Tit. 1. 15. To them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure, &c. It appeareth also in this, that all do not attain Salvation, which they must needs do if they had true justifying Faith; compare Luke 13. 24. and 1 Joh. 5. 19. with Mar. 16. 16. And Heb. 4. 3. with ver. 6. and 11. they that believe shall be saved.

4. The Fruits of it are, first, to purifie the Heart, Acts 15. 9. and 1 Joh. 3. 3. and that as I said before, by laying hold on what Jesus Christ had done and suffered for Sinners, Acts 13. 38, 39.

2. It fills the Soul with Peace and Joy, in that it lays hold on the Things that are obtained for it, Rom. 5. 1. 2 Tim, 1. 9, 10. 1 Pet. 1. 8.

3. It makes the Soul to wait patiently, for the Glory that is to be revealed at the second appearing of the Man Christ Jesus, whom God hath raised from the Dead; which hath also delivered it from the Wrath to come, as in Tit. 2. 13, 14. 1 Pet. 4. 13. and 5. 1, 4. 1 Thes. 1. 10.

But how (may some say) doth the Devil make his Delusions take Place in the Hearts of poor Creatures? Answ. Why, 1. He labours to render the Doctrine of the Lord Jesus, and Salvation by him alone, very odious and low: And also his Ordinances, as Hearing, Reading, Meditation, Use of the Scriptures, &c. telling poor Sinners that these Things are but poor, low, carnal, beggarly, empty Notions; preached up by the Clergymen, who are the Scribes and Pharisees of this Generation; who have the Letter, but not the Spirit of God in them; which lead Men into the Form, but not into the Power of the Lord Jesus: And with this Persuasion he also represents the ungodly and base Carriage, or Behaviour, of some, who have taken in hand to preach the Doctrine of the Lord Jesus Christ, and thereby he doth render the Gospel of our Lord Jesus the more contemptible and base. But woe, woe, woe, be to them by whom such Offences come, Mat. 18. 7. Luke 17. 1, 2.

2. He pretends to lead them up into some higher Light, Mysteries, and Revelations of the Spirit, into which but a very few have attained or can attain, also bewitching their Affections, and taking them with an earnest Pursuit after these his pretended Truths; persuading them, that they shall be as God himself, able to discern between Good and Evil, Gen. 3. 5. And in this he is exceeding subtle and expert, as having practised it ever since the Days of Adam. These Things being thus considered, and in some measure hungered after, and the rather because they are good (as they think) to make one wise, Gen. 3. 6. The poor Soul is all on the sudden possessed with a desperate Spirit of Delusion, which carries it away headlong with some high, light, frothy Notions, and spiritual Wickedness (which drown it in Perdition and Destruction) that doth feed and tickle the Heart a while, to the end it may make way for a farther Manifestation of it self in the poor deluded Soul; which when it hath attained to, it doth then begin to bring the Soul into a clearer Sight of those Things, which it was loth it should know at the first; but having fitted the Soul by Degrees for a further Possession of it self, at last it begins to hold forth its new Gospel, shewing the Soul a new Christ, and new Scriptures. The new and false Christ, is a Christ crucified within, dead within, risen again within, and ascended within, in Opposition to the Son of Mary, who was crucified without, dead without, risen again without, and ascended in a Cloud away from his Disciples into Heaven (Acts 1. 9, 10, 11.) without them.

Now this new and false Christ, hath a new and false Faith belonging to his Gospel, which Faith is this, to apprehend this Christ crucified within, dead within, risen again within, and ascended within: But ask them for a Scripture that doth positively prove their Doctrine, they also have a Scripture, but it is within, it doth bear witness within, and if they had not that, (though that be of the Devil's making) I am sure they would have none out of God's Holy Scriptures, for they will allow of no crucified Christ, but he that was crucified without the Gates of Jerusalem, Heb. 13. 12. John 16. 20. Dead and buried in the Sepulchre of Joseph of Arimathea, John 19. 38, to 42. Was raised again out of that Sepulchre into which Joseph had laid him, John 20. 1, 12. Who went before his Disciples into Galilee, Mark 16. 7. And to Emaus, Luke 24. 16. Shewed them his Hands and his Feet, Luke 24. 39, 40. where the Nails had gone through: Did eat and drink with them after his Resurrection: Was seen of them on Earth forty Days after his Resurrection, Acts 1. 3. And after that ascended away in a Cloud, out of the Sight of his Disciples into Heaven, Acts 1. 9, 10, 11. Which Christ ever lives to make Intercession for us, Heb. 7. 24, 25. Who will come again also at the End of the World to Judgment, Acts 10. 42. and 17. 31. 2 Pet. 3. 10, 11. Who also is the same that hath obtained eternal Redemption for us, Acts 13. 37, 38, 39. Rom. 3. 25. Eph. 1. 7. Rev. 1. 5. This I say, or rather the Scriptures say, is God's Christ, Mat. 16. 16. In whom he is well pleased, Mat. 3. 17. Neither doth God own any other, or allow of any other: For there is none other Name under Heaven given among Men, whereby we must be saved, than the Name of Jesus of Nazareth, Acts 4. 10. compared with Ver. 11. 12. But as I told you before, the Way to be thus deluded, is first to render God's Christ odious and low, with a Pretence of some further Light and Revelations; and thus professing themselves to be wise, they became Fools, Rom. 1. 22. But you will say, Doth not the Scripture make mention of a Christ within? Col. 1. 27. and 2 Cor. 13. 5. Rom. 8. 10. I answer, * 1. God's Christ was, and is, true God and true Man; he was born of the Virgin Mary, true God, and true Man, Mat. 1. 23. And They shall call his Name Emanuel, which being interpreted, is God with us, or God in our Nature, according to 1 Tim. 3. 16. God was manifested in the Flesh: And 1 John 1. 14. The Word was made Flesh, and dwelt among us, and we beheld his Glory, as of the only begotten of the Father, full of Grace and Truth. And in Heb. 1. 14. Forasmuch then as the Children are partakers of Flesh and Blood, he, that is, God, Heb. 1. 8. also himself likewise took Part of the same, that through Death he must destroy him that had the Power of Death, that is, the Devil. Now as he was thus true God, and true Man, so he became our Redeemer and Saviour. Compare the first and second Chapters to the Hebrews together, and you may clearly see that this is a glorious Truth, that He who is the first and the last, Rev. 1. 17, 18, and 2. 8. humbled himself, and made himself of no Reputation, and took upon him the Form of a Servant, and was made in the Likeness of Men: And was this all? No. He humbled himself unto Death, even the Death of the Cross, Phil. 2. 7, 8. compared with Rev. 1. 17, 18. and Rev. 2. 8. with Gal. 1. 4. Now after this Christ of God, true God and true Man, had wrought out eternal Redemption for us poor miserable Sinners, Heb. 9. 14. compared with 1 Tim. 1. 15. I say, after he had done this he ascended up into Heaven, and there ever lives to make Intercession for us. Now this Christ, having thus completely wrought out our Salvation, sends his Disciples abroad to preach the same to poor Sinners, Acts 2. and 2 Cor. 5. 19, 20. and so many as were ordained to eternal Life, when they heard the Word, or the Gospel, preached by the Apostles, which Gospel was this Christ, 1 Cor. 1. 17. compared with Ver. 23. I say, So many as were ordained to eternal Life, when they heard the Word, the Holy Ghost, or Spirit of Christ, fell upon them, Acts 10. 44. compared with Acts 13. 48. which did lead them into the Redemption and glorious Things that the Lord Jesus had laid up and prepared for them, John 16. 13, to 16. 1 Cor. 2. 9. Which Spirit was the Earnest of their Inheritance, until the Redemption of the purchased Possession, to the Praise of his Glory, Eph. 1. 13, 14. This Earnest of their Inheritance was a glorious Encouragement to them that had it, to hope for the Glory that was to be revealed at the appearing of Jesus Christ, which is the Meaning of that Place in * Col. 1. 27. And that will be seen clearly, if we compare it with Eph. 1. 13, 14. before recited. Now this Spirit, which sometimes is called the Spirit of Christ, 2 Cor. 13. 5. This Spirit, I say, being given to all those that were ordained to eternal Life, it must needs follow, that those that had not this Spirit, but did live and die without it, were not ordained to eternal Life, and so were none of Christ's; but were Reprobates, Rom. 8. 9. for the Spirit of Christ is the distinguishing Character betwixt a Believer and an Unbeliever, he that hath it, and is led by it, is a Child of God, Rom. 7. 14. but he that hath it not is none of Christ's.

* Though I shall go seemingly about in answer to this Question, yet it will be very profitable to them who shall weigh and consider the several Sentences hereof.

* The Spirit of Christ is the Earnest of that Inheritance that Christ as he was God and Man did obtain.

* The Objection answered.

So then, the * Answer that I give to the Question, is this. The Spirit of Christ that is given to Believers, is the Earnest or Hope of that Inheritance that Christ hath already purchased, and is now preparing for so many as he hath given, or shall give this Holy Spirit unto. And for the Proof hereof, read Eph. 1. 13, 14. In whom (saith the Scripture) ye also trusted, after that ye heard the Word of Truth, the Gospel of your Salvation. In whom also, after that ye believed, ye were sealed with the Holy Spirit of Promise, which is the Earnest of our Inheritance; (which Inheritance is the eternal Redemption that was purchased by Christ for poor Sinners, Heb. 9. 14.) until the Redemption of the purchased Possession, unto the praise of his Glory. Again, Gal. 5. 5. For ye through the Spirit, wait for the Hope of Righteousness by Faith. And Col. 1. 27. the Apostle speaking of this great Mystery, saith, To whom God would make known what is the Riches of the Glory of this Mystery among the Gentiles, which is Christ, in you the Hope of Glory, which Glory was then revealed to the Saints no otherwise then by Faith, as the Apostle saith, We rejoice in the Hope of the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 2. Which Hope is begotten by the Spirit's shedding abroad the Love of God in our Hearts, Ver. 5. which Hope is not yet seen, that is, not yet actually enjoyed; for we are saved by Hope: But Hope that is seen is not Hope; For what a Man seeth, why doth he yet hope for? But if we hope for that we see not, then do we with Patience wait for it, Rom. 8. 24, 25. And as, I say, the Cause of Believers Hope is this, Christ, or the Spirit of Christ, in them, the Hope of Glory. And indeed he may well hope for Glory to come, who hath already an Earnest thereof given him of God, and that Earnest no less than the Spirit of the Lord Jesus, Rom. 8. 16, 17.

But now, this Spirit, which is the Cause of a Believer's Hope, all Men have not, Jude 19. Eph. 2. 12. Rom. 8. 9. John 14. 16, 17. Therefore what a sad Doctrine is that which saith, Follow the Light that Christ hath enlightened every Man withal which cometh into the World; which Light is the Conscience, that convinceth of Sins against the Law; and that you may see clearly if you mind that Scripture, John 8. 9. which saith, That the Pharisee, which had neither the Love of God, nor his Word, abiding in them, John 5. 38, 43. when they had heard Christ speaking thus to them, He that is without Sin among you, &c. being convicted by their own Consciences, went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, even to the least. But the * Devil, that he might be sure not to miss of his Design, labours by all Means to render the Scriptures also odious and low, telling them of the Scriptures within; which Christ never taught, nor yet his Disciples: But they being given up of God to a reprobate Mind, have given themselves over, rather to follow the Suggestions of the Devil, than the Holy Scriptures which God hath commanded us to betake our selves to, Isa. 8. 20. compared with John 5. 39. which Scripture is called the Sword of the Spirit, Eph. 6. 17. which Weapon our Lord Jesus himself held up, to overcome the Devil withal, Mat. 4. 4, 7, 10. Luke 4. 4, 8, 12. But this Design (as I told you) the Devil carries on, by pretending to shew them a more excellent Way which they may may attain to, if they be but wise, and follow what is made known unto them from the Light within them.

* It is the Spirit of the Devil that doth render the Scriptures contemptible and low.

But (Reader) that thou mayest be able to escape the Snare of this cunning Hunter, I shall lay thee down some few Directions, which if the Lord give thee Grace to follow, thou shalt escape these wicked Delusions.

And first of all, I do admonish thee to be very serious touching thine Estate and Condition, and examine thine own Heart by the Rule of the Word of God, whether or no thou hast as yet any Beginnings of desiring after Religion; and if thou findest that thou hast lived until now in Ignorance, and hast not set thy self to remember thy Creator as thou art commanded, Eccl. 12. 1. then I beseech thee consider that thou art under the Wrath of Almighty God, and hast been so ever since thou camest into the World, Eph. 2. 1, 2. being thou in thy first Parents didst transgress against thy Maker, Rom. 5. 18. Therefore as by the Offence of one, that is, of Adam, Ver. 14. Judgment came upon all Men unto Condemnation. Besides the many Sins thou hast committed ever since thou wast born: Sins against the Law of God, and sins against the Gospel of the Grace of God; sins against the Long-suffering and Forbearance of God, and sins against his Judgments; sins of Omission, and sins of Commission, in Thoughts, Words, and Actions: Consider, I say, thy Condition; yea, get a very great Sense of thy Sins that thou hast committed; and that thou mayest so do, beg of God to convince thee by his Holy Spirit, not only of Sins against Law, but also of that damning Sin, the Sin of Unbelief.

2. If thou, by Grace, art but brought into such an Estate as to see thy self in a lost Condition because of Sin, without the Lord Jesus; then in the next Place, have a Care of Resting on any Duty done, though it be never so specious; I say, have a Care of making any Stay any where on this side the Lord Jesus Christ: But above all strive to believe, that that very Man that was born of the Virgin Mary, did come into the World on purpose to save thee, as well as other poor Sinners: I say, thou must not be content till thou art enabled to say, He loved me, and gave himself for me, Gal. 2. 20. And that thou mayest be sure to attain to this most precious Faith, (for so it is) be much in applying the freest Promises to thy own Soul; yea, those that have no Conditions annexed to them, as these, or other like, Jer. 31. 3. Jer. 3. John 6. 37. also John 14. 19. Hos. 14. 3. I say, labour to apply to thy own Soul in particular, the most glorious and freest Promises in the Book of God. And if at any Time the Devil besets thee by his Temptations, (for so is his wanted Manner to do, and so much the more, as he sees thee labour to get out of his Reach) I say, when he assails thee with his fiery Darts, be sure to act Faith on the most free Promises, and have a Care that thou dost not enter into any Dispute with him, but rather resist him by those blessed Promises that are laid down in the Word of God: And withal, be sure to meditate upon the Blood of the Man Christ Jesus, who also is the true God, and read those Scriptures that do most fully and clearly speak of it; as, 1 John 1. 7. Eph. 1. 7. Heb. 9. 14. Rom. 3. 25.

But if thou say (as it is often the Speech of poor Souls lying under a Sense of Sin, and the apprehensions of Wrath due to it) I cannot apply the Promises to mine own Soul; and the Reason is, because my Sins are so great, and so many. Consider, and know it for a Truth, that the more and greater thou seest thy Sins to be, the more Cause hast thou to believe; yea, thou must therefore believe because thy Sins are great: David made it an Encouragement to himself, or rather the Spirit of the Lord made it his Encouragement, to crave, yea to hope for Pardon, because he had greatly transgressed, Psal. 25. 11. For thy Name sake, O Lord, (saith he) pardon mine Iniquity, for it is great. As if he had said, O Lord, Thy Name will be more glorified, the Riches of thy Grace will be more advanced, thy Mercy and Goodness will more shine, and be magnified in pardoning me who am guilty of great Iniquity, than if thou pardonest many others who have not committed such heinous Offences. And I dare say, the Reason why thou believest not, is not because thy Sins are great, but because thou dost reason too much with that wicked Enemy of Man's Salvation, and givest Way too much to the fleshly reasoning of thine own Heart. For Christ hath said, He that cometh unto me, I will in no wise cast out, John 6. 37. And again, Though thy Sins be as red as Scarlet, they shall be as white as Snow, Isa. 1. 18. And Christ calleth those that labour, and are heavy laden, to come to him, with Promise to give them Rest, Mat. 11. 28. Wherefore thou must not say, my Sins are too big; but thou must say, because I am a great Sinner; yea, because I have sinned above many of my Companions, and am nearer to Hell and eternal Damnation than they, because of my Sins, therefore will I cry unto the Lord, and say, O Lord, pardon my Sins, for they are great.

Now that thou mayest not be deceived in a Matter of so great Concernment, have a special Care of these three Things. First, Have a care of putting off thy Trouble of Spirit the wrong Way, which thou mayest do three Ways; 1. When thy Conscience slieth in thy Face, and tells thee of thy Sins, thou dost put off Convictions the wrong Way, if thou dost stop thy Conscience, by promising to reform thy self and lead a new Life, and gettest off thy Guilt by so doing: For though thou mayest by this Means still and quiet thy Conscience for a Time, yet thou canst not hereby satisfy and appease the Wrath of God; Yea, saith God to such,

Though

Though thou wash thee with Nitre, and take thee much Sope, yet thine Iniquity is marked before me, Jer. 2. 22.

2. If when thou art under the Guilt of thy Sins, thou puttest off Convictions by thy Performances or Duties, and so satisfiest thy Conscience, then also thou dost put off thy Convictions the wrong Way: For God will not be satisfied with any Thing less than the Blood, Righteousness, Resurrection, and Intercession of his own Son, Acts 4. 12. And thou shouldest not satisfy thy self with any less than God would have thee to satisfy thy self withal, and that is the Water of Life, Isa. 55. 1, 2. which Water of Life thy Duties, and all thy Righteousness, is not; for it is but menstrous Rags, Isa. 64. 6.

3. Have a Care that when thou art under Conviction, thou dost not satisfy thy self with a Notion of the free Grace of the Gospel; my meaning is, do not content thy self with any Measure of Knowledge that thou canst attain unto, or bottom thy Peace upon it, thinking thou art now well enough, because thou canst speak much of the Grace of God, and his Love in Christ to poor Sinners. For this thou mayest have, and do; and yet be but a Companion for Demas, yea, for Judas and the rest of the damned Multitude: As the Apostle saith, For all this thou mayest be but as sounding Brass, and as a tinkling Cymball; that is, nothing but a Sound, 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2, 3.

But Secondly, If thou wouldest not be deceived, then have a Care to avoid false Doctrines, which are according to the Spirit of the Devil, and not after Christ.

Nothing can make us accepted with God but the Merits of Jesus Christ.
The Rangers Doctrine is false.

As first, if any Doctrine doth come unto thee, that tells thee, except thou art circumcised after the Manner of Moses, thou canst not be saved: That is, if any Man come unto thee, and tells thee, thou must do such and such Works of the Law, to the End thou mayest present thy self the better before God, do not receive him: For to him that worketh not, but believeth in him that justifieth the ungodly, his Faith is counted for Righteousness, Rom. 4. 5.

2. If any come unto thee, and bring such a Doctrine as this; That thou mayest be saved by Grace, though thou walk in the Imaginations of thy own wicked Heart: His Doctrine also is devilish, do not receive him, Deut. 29. 19, to 24.

3. But if any come unto thee, and doth in Truth advance the Blood, Righteousness, Resurrection, Intercession, and second coming of that very Man in the Clouds of Heaven, that was born of the Virgin Mary; and doth Press thee to believe on what he hath done (shewing thee thy lost Condition without him) and to own it as done for thee in particular, and withal doth admonish thee, not to trust in a bare Notion of it, but to receive it into thy Heart, so really, that thy very Heart and Soul may burn in Love to the Lord Jesus Christ again: And doth also teach thee, that the Love of Christ should and must constrain thee, not to live to thy self: But to him that loved thee, and gave himself for thee, 2 Cor. 5. 14, 15. Eph. 4. 21, to 24. 1 Cor. 7. 23. Ye are bought with a Price, Be not ye the Servants of Men. If his Conversation be also agreeable to his Doctrine, a believing, honest, loving, Self-denying, courteous Conversation, (he also is a true Christian.) Receive that Doctrine* and receive it really; for it is the Doctrine of God, and of Christ, Gal. 4. 4. Gal. 1. 4. Eph. 1. 7. Rev. 1. 5. Acts 13. 38. John 1. 19. Acts 4. 12. Acts 10. 40, 41, 42. and 1 Thes. 1. 10. Mark 13. ult. 2 Pet. 1. 5, to 11. Considering the End of their Conversation Jesus Christ, yesterday, and to Day, and the same for ever, Heb. 13. 7, 8.

*The Doctrine is true, and of God, whatever

Again, if thou wouldest not be deceived, then, beware of slighting any known Truth that thou findest revealed, or made known to thee in the Gospel; but honour and obey it in its Place, be it (as thou thinkest) never so low, John 14. 15.

2. Have a Care that thou do not undervalue, or entertain low Thoughts of God, Christ the Son of Mary, and the Holy Scriptures, but search them, John 5. 39. And give Attendance to the reading of them, 1 Tim. 4. 13. For, I will tell thee, he that slights the Scriptures, doth also slight him of whom they testify. And I will tell thee also, that for this Cause God hath given up many to strong Delusions, that they might believe a Lye: That they all might be damned who believed not the Truth, but had Pleasure in Unrighteousness, 2 Thes. 2. 11, 12.

Therefore I say unto thee, in the Name of the Lord Jesus, the Son of Mary, the Son of God, the very Creator of Heaven and Earth, and all Things that are therein; have a Care of thy self; for the Devil doth watch for thee Day and Night, 1 Pet. 5. 8. Thine own Heart also doth labour to deceive thee, if by any means it may, Jer. 17. 10. Therefore do not thou trust it; for if thou do, thou wilt not do wisely, Prov. 28. 26. I say therefore, have a Care that thou labour in the Strength of the Lord Jesus, to escape all these Things; for if thou fall into any one of them, it will make Way for a farther income of Sin and the Devil, through whose Deceitfulness thy Heart will be hardened, and thou wilt be more incapable of receiving Instruction, or reaping Advantage, by and from the Ordinances of Jesus Christ, the rather therefore, give all Diligence to believe in the Christ of God, which is the Son of Mary, and be sure to apply all that he hath done, and is doing, unto thy self, as for thee in particular; which Thing if thou dost, thou shalt never fall.

And now Reader, I shall also give thee some few Considerations, and so I shall commit thee to the Lord.

1. Consider

1. Consider, That God doth hold out his Grace, and Mercy freely, and that to every one, Rev. 22. 17. Isa. 55. 1, to 8.

2. Consider, That there is no Way to attain to this free Mercy and Grace, but by him that was born of the Virgin Mary; for he himself saith, I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life; no Man cometh to the Father but by me, John 14. 6. compared with Matt. 1. 20, 21.

3. Consider, if thou strivest to go over any other way, thou wilt be but a thief and a robber, John 10. 1. Compared with v. 9. And know that none of those (so continuing) shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, 1 Cor. 6. 9, 10.

4. Consider, that if the Devil should be too hard for thee, and deceive thee, by persuading thee to embrace, or entertain a new Gospel, which neither Christ nor his Disciples did allow of, it would make thee gnash Teeth when it is too late.

5. Consider, that though thou hast been deluded by Satan to this Day, yet if now thine Eyes be opened to see and acknowledge it though as yet thou hast been either exceedingly wicked, 1 Tim. 1. 13. or an idle, Mat. 20. 6, 7. lukewarm, hypocritical Professor; Rev. 3. 17, 18, 19. and hast stood it out to the last; Ezek. 18. 21, 22. for all this there is hope; and if now thou receive the Truth in the Love of the Truth, being as willing to be rid of the filth of Sin, as the Guilt of it, thou shalt be saved.

6. Consider, that the Lord will call thee to Judgment for all thy Sins past, present, and what else thou shalt practise hereafter, especially for thy rejecting and trampling on the Blood of his Son, the Man Christ Jesus: And if thou dost not agree with thine Adversary, now, while thou art in the Way, he will deliver thee to the Judge, and the Judge will deliver thee to the Officer, and if he cast thee into Prison, I tell thee, thou shalt not come out thence till thou hast paid the very last Mite, Luke 12. 58, 59.

And therefore I beseech thee to consider; Here is at this Time Life and Death, Heaven and Hell, everlasting Joy, and everlasting Torment set before thee. Here is also the Way to have the one, and the Way to escape the other. Now if the Lord shall do thee any good by what I have spoken, I hope it will be a Means to stir me up to thank the Lord that ever he did use such a Sinner as I am, in the Work of his Gospel. And here I shall close up what I have said, desiring thee (if thou be a Christian) to pray for him who desires to continue

Thy Servant in the Lord Jesus

Christ, though less than the least of all Saints,

J. BUNYAN.

The Epistle writ by Mr. BURTON, Minister at Bedford.

To the READER,

READER, thou hast in this small Treatise, set before thee, the several Pieces of that great and glorious Mystery, Jesus Christ, God manifested in the Flesh: And if thou art enlightned by the Spirit of Christ, here thou mayest see by that Spirit how Jesus Christ the Son of God, the Son of Mary, is both true God and true Man, both Natures making but one Christ, one Jesus, as Phil. 2. 5, to 10. where speaking first of his being God, and then of his taking upon him the Nature of Man; after ward in the 8th and 9th Verses, he saith, he (meaning this Jesus) humbled himself, &c. and God (meaning the Father) hath highly exalted him, &c. speaking of both Natures God and Man as together making but one Christ; who is the Saviour, and is to be believed and trusted in for Salvation not only as God, but as Man also; and those who do not thus make him the Object of their Faith, will surely fall short of Pardon of Sin, and of Salvation, Acts 13. 38, 39. through this Man (speaking of Christ as crucified at Jerusalem) is preached unto you Forgiveness of Sins: And saith he, there is one Mediator between God and Men, 1 Tim. 2. 5. the Man Christ Jesus; and this discovers the damnable Errors of those commonly called Socinians, who on the one Hand deny him that was born of the Virgin Mary to be true God as well as true Man: And this is also quite contrary to those commonly called Familists, Ranters, Quakers, or others, who on the other Hand either deny Christ to be a real Man without them, blasphemously fancying him to be only God manifest in their Flesh; or else make his human Nature with the Fulness of the Godhead in it, to be but a Type of God, to be manifest in the Saints, and so according to their wicked Imagination, his human Nature was to be laid aside after he had offered it up upon the Cross without the Gate at Jerusalem, contrary to Acts 1. 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, 11 Verses, compared with the last Chapter of Luke, Ver. 39, 40, 50, 51. where it is clearly held forth that the Man Christ rose again out of the Grave, with the same Body which was crucified and laid in the Grave, and was taken up above the Clouds into Heaven with the same real Body, and that he shall again descend from Heaven in that same glorious Body of Flesh, as Acts 3. 9, 10, 11. And this sure Truth of Christ being the Saviour and Mediator, as Man, and not only as God, will also shew serious Believers what to think of some, who though they will not (it may be) deny that Christ is a real Man without them in the Heavens as well as God, yet do own him to be the Saviour only as God, first dwelling in that Flesh that was born of the Virgin, and then dwelling in Saints, and thus both beginning and perfecting their Salvation within them, and so indeed do hold Christ as Man, to be only (I say to be only) the saved or glorified one of God, together with the Saints his Members, only something in another and more glorious Manner and Measure than the Saints; and these high-flown People are in this very like to Familists and Quakers, undervaluing the Lord Jesus Christ, God-Man, and though they may speak much of Christ, yet they do not rightly and savingly lay him for their Foundation.

Now as a Help against all these dangerous Things, thou hast here the main Things of Christ laid down before thee briefly, and fully proved by the Scriptures: First, Of his being true God out of Flesh from Eternity, and then of his taking Flesh, or the Nature of Man, upon him in the Womb of the Virgin, and so his fulfilling the Law, his dying for Sins at Jerusalem, his rising again without, his ascending into Heaven without, and not into a fancied Heaven only within, as some say; his interceding in Heaven for all his, and his coming again in his Body of Flesh to judge the World. And if thou art yet in a State of Nature, though covered over with an outside Profession, here thou mayest find something (if the Spirit of Christ meet thee in Reading) to convince thee of the sad Condition thou art in, and to shew thee the Righteousness thou art to fly to by Faith, and to trust in for Salvation, when convinced of Sin; which is a Righteousness wrought by that God-Man Jesus Christ without thee, dying without thee at Jerusalem for Sinners: Here also thou mayest see the Difference between true and false Faith. If thou art a true Believer, as these Things are the Foundation of thy Faith, so they may be of great Use for thee to meditate upon, and to exercise thy Faith in, particularly in Meditation, and in this Way to seek Daily for a higher Faith in these Truths, to be given into thy Heart from Heaven; and there is a great Need of this, for though these Truths be commonly known amongst Professors to the Notion of them, yet very few know or believe them aright: Nay, it may well be said in this Age, that if the Faith of the true Saints was well sifted, and Tradition, Notion, and the Apprehensions of their own Reason and Fancy was sifted out, most of them would be found to have very little Knowledge of, and Faith in, these common Truths.

Secondly, These Truths being put thus together, and plainly proved by the Scriptures, may be a great Help (through the Spirit concurring) to strengthen thee against all those damnable Heresies which are spread abroad, which deny the Lord Jesus Christ either plainly, or more cunningly and mysteriously. And Thirdly, The more thou art rooted and set down from Heaven in the Faith of these Truths of Christ, to believe fully the glorious Reality of them, and their Interest in them, the more heavenly Peace and Joy thou wilt have, 1 Pet. 1. 7, 8. and also thou wilt hereby attain the more true Holiness and Purity of Heart and Life, purifying their Hearts by Faith, Acts 15. 9. And then the more thou hast of the right Faith of Christ, and of his Things in thy Heart, the more strong and valiant wilt thou be in Spirit, to do any Work private or publick for Jesus Christ, like Stephen, Acts 6. 8. who being full of Faith, and of the Holy Spirit, was also full of Power.

In this Book thou hast also laid down from the Scriptures, how Jesus Christ is without the Saints as Man, and yet dwelleth within them, that is, something of his Divine Nature or his blessed Spirit dwells within them, which Spirit is sometime called, The Spirit of Christ, Rom. 8. 9. He that hath not the Spirit of Christ, &c. and sometime called Christ, If Christ be in you, &c. Rom. 8. 10. And also how we may know whether it be Christ and the Spirit of Christ within, or a false Spirit calling it self Christ, and that is thus; If it be indeed Christ within, that is, the Spirit of Christ God-Man; why then it teaches that Man or Woman in whom it is, to apply, and trust in Christ without for Salvation; Christ as born of the Virgin Mary, as fulfilling the Law without them, as dying without the Gate of Jerusalem as a Sacrifice for Sin; it teaches them to trust in the Man Christ as rising again out of the Grave without them, as ascending into, and interceding in Heaven without for them; and as to come from that Heaven again in his Flesh to judge the

the World. Thus the Man Christ himself saith, When he (the Spirit of Truth) is come, &c. he shall glorifie me, John 13. He shall make you more to prize, admire and glorifie me, who am both God and Man, and who shall be absent from you touching my Body. Then follows, for he shall take of mine (of my glorious Things) and shew them to you; he shall take my Divine and Humane Nature, my Birth, my Person and Offices, my Obedience, Death, Satisfaction, my Resurrection, Ascension and Intercession, and of my second coming in the Clouds with my mighty Angels to Judgment, and shall shew them, or clear them up to you: He shall take of my Salvation, which I have wrought for you in my own Person without you: And he shall take of my Glory and Exaltation in the Heavens, and shew to you. Now to mind this one Thing, and to be set down in a right Understanding of it, by the Spirit, from the Scriptures, will be of great Concernment to thee and me; for, for want of this, many Professors have split themselves, some looking only on what Christ hath done and suffered without them, resting in an Historical, Traditional, and indeed a fancied Faith of it, without looking for the Spirit of Jesus Christ to come with Power into their Hearts, without which they cannot rightly know, nor rightly believe in Christ the Son of God without them, so as to have any Share or Interest in him, if any Man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his, Rom. 8. 9. Others have been depending too much upon something they call Christ, and the Righteousness of Christ within them, in Opposition to Christ and his Righteousness without them, from which all true Saints have their Justification and Comfort, it being received through the Operation of the Spirit which dwells in them; and however these may talk much of Christ within them, yet it is manifest, that it is not the Spirit of Christ, but the Spirit of the Devil; in that it doth not glorifie, but slight and reject the Man Christ and his Righteousness which was wrought without them: Reader, in this Book thou wilt not meet with high flown airy Notions, which some delight in, counting them high Mysteries, but the sound, plain, common, (and yet spiritual and mysterious) Truths of the Gospel, and if thou art a Believer, thou must needs reckon them so, and the more, if thou hast not only the Faith of them in thy Heart, but art daily living in the spiritual Sense and Feeling of them, and of thy Interest in them. Neither doth this Treatise offer to thee doubtful controversial Things, or Matters of Opinion, as some Books chiefly do, which when insisted upon the weightier Things of the Gospel have always done more hurt than good: But here thou hast Things certain, and necessary to be believed, which thou canst not too much study. Therefore pray, that thou mayest receive this Word which is according to the Scriptures in Faith and Love, not as the Word of Man, but as the Word of God, without Respect of Persons, and be not offended because Christ holds forth the glorious Treasure of the Gospel to thee in a poor earthen Vessel, by one who hath neither the Greatness nor the Wisdom of this World to commend him to thee; for as the Scripture saith Christ, (who was low and contemptible in the World himself) ordinarily chuseth such for himself, and for the doing of his Work, 1 Cor. 1. 26, 27, 28. Not many wise Men after the Flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called: But God hath chosen the foolish Things of the World, &c. This Man is not chosen out of an Earthly, but out of the Heavenly University, the Church of Christ, which Church, as furnished with the Spirit, Gifts and Graces of Christ, was in the beginning, and still is, and will be to the end of the World, that out of which End the Word of the Lord, and so all true Gospel Ministers must proceed, 1 Cor. 12. 27, 28. whether learned or unlearned, as to humane Learning. And though this Man hath not the Learning or Wisdom of Man, yet through Grace he hath received the teaching of God, and the learning of the Spirit of Christ, which is the Thing that makes a Man both a Christian and a Minister of the Gospel, Isa. 50. 4. The Lord God hath given me the Tongue of the Learned, &c. compared with Luke 2. 18. Where Christ, as Man, saith the Spirit of the Lord, is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the Gospel to the Poor, &c. He hath, through Grace taken these three heavenly Degrees, to wit, Union with Christ, the anointing of the Spirit, and Experience of the Temptations of Satan, which do more fit a Man for that weighty Work of preaching the Gospel, than all University Learning and Degrees that can be had.

My End in writing these few Lines is not to set up Man, but having had experience with many other Saints of this Man's Soundness in the Faith of his Godly Conversation, and his Ability to preach the Gospel, not by humane Art, but by the Spirit of Christ, and that with much Success in the Conversion of Sinners when there are so many carnal empty Preachers both learned and unlearned; I say having had Experience of this, and judging this Book may be profitable to many others, as well as to my self: I thought it my Duty upon this Account (though I be very unfit for it) to bear Witness with my Brother to the plain and simple (and yet glorious) Truths of our Lord Jesus Christ. And now Reader, the Lord give thee and me a right understanding in these Things, that we may live and die not with a traditional notional dead Faith, but with a right spiritual lively Faith of Christ in our Heart, wrought by the mighty Power of God; such a Faith as may make Jesus Christ more real and precious to us than any Thing in the World, as may purifie our Hearts, and make us new Creatures, that so we may be sure to escape the Wrath to come, and and after this Life enjoy eternal Life and Glory through the Lord Jesus Christ, to whom be Glory for ever and ever. Amen.

Farewell,

Thine to serve thee in the Lord Jesus,

J O H N B U R T O N.

Some Gospel-Truths Opened, &c.

Forasmuch as many have taken in Hand to set forth their several Judgments concerning the Son of the Virgin MARY, the Lord JESUS CHRIST; and some of those many having most grossly erred from the Simplicity of the Gospel, it seemed good to me, having had some Knowledge of these things, to write a few Words, to the end if the Lord will, Souls might not be so horribly deluded by those several corrupt Principles that are gone into the World concerning him.

NOW, that there is such a Thing as a Christ, I shall not spend much Time in proving of; only I shall shew you, that he was first promised to the Fathers, and afterward expected by their Children: But before I do that, I shall speak a few Words concerning God's fore-ordaining and purposing, that a Christ, a Saviour should be, and that before the World began. Now God in his own Wisdom and Counsel, knowing what would come to pass, as if it were already done, Rom. 4. 17. He knowing that Man would break his Commandments, and so throw himself under eternal Destruction, did in his own purpose Fore-ordain such a Thing as the rise of him that should fall, and that by a Saviour, Eph. 1. 4. According as he hath chosen us in him, (meaning the Saviour) before the Foundation of the World. That is, God seeing that we would transgress, and break his Commandment, did before Chuse some of those that would fall, and give them to him that should afterward purchase them actually, though in the account of God, his blood was shed before the World was, Rev. 13. 8. I say in the Account of God his Son was slain? that is, according to God's Purpose and Conclusion, which he purposed in himself before the World was; as it is written, 2 Tim. 1. 9. Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy Calling, according to his own Purpose and Grace which was given us in Christ before the World began. As also, in 1 Pet. 1. 20. Where the Apostle speaking of Christ, and the Redemption purchased by him for Sinners, saith of him, Who verily was fore-ordained before the Foundation of the World, but was manifest in these last Days for you who by him do believe in God that raised him from the Dead. God having thus purposed in himself, that he would save some of them that by Transgression had destroyed themselves, did with the everlasting Son of his Love, make an Agreement, or Bargain, that upon such and such Terms, he would give him a company of such poor Souls as had by Transgression fallen from their own Innocency and Uprightness, into those wicked Inventions that they themselves had sought out, Eccles. 7. 29. The Agreement also how this should be, was made before the Foundation of the world was laid, Tit. 1. 2. The Apostle, speaking of the Promise, or Covenant made between God and the Saviour (for that is his Meaning,) saith on this wise, In hope of eternal Life, which God that cannot lie, promised before the World began. Now this Promise, or Covenant was made with none but with the Son of God, the Saviour: And it must needs be so; for there was none with God before the World began, but he by whom he made the World; as in Prov. 8. from ver. 22. to ver. 31. which was and is the Son of his Love.

This Covenant, or Bargain, had these Conditions in it.

First, that the Saviour should take upon him Flesh and Blood, the same Nature that the Sons of Men were partakers of (Sin only only excepted) Heb. 2. 14. Heb. 4. 15. And this was the Will or Agreement that God had made with him: And therefore when he speaks of doing the will of God, Heb. 10. 5. he saith, a Body hast thou prepared me, (as according to thy Promise Gen. 3. 15. which I was to take of a Woman,) and in it I am come to do thy will, O God, as it is written of me in the Volume of thy Book, v. 7.

2. The Saviour was to bring Everlasting Righteousness to justify Sinners withal, Dan. 9. 24, 25. The Messiah, or Saviour, shall bring in everlasting Righteousness, and put an End to Iniquity, as it is there written. To make an End of Sins, and to make Reconciliation for Iniquity, and to bring in everlasting Righteousness. This, I say, was to be brought into the World by the Saviour, according to the Covenant, or Agreement, that was between God and Christ before the World began, which God, that cannot lie, promised at that time, Tit. 1. 2.

3. He was to accomplish this everlasting Righteousness by spilling his most precious Blood, according to the Terms of the Covenant, or Bargain; and therefore when God would shew his People what the Agreement was that he and the Saviour had made, even before the Covenant was accomplished and sealed actually. See for this Zech. 9. (where he is speaking of him that should be the Saviour,) v. 11. And as for thee also (meaning the Saviour) by the Blood of thy Covenant; or as some render it, whose Covenant is by Blood (which is all to one Purpose.) I (meaning God) have sent forth the Prisoners out of the Pit wherein there was no Water. The meaning is this: As for thee also, seeing the Covenant, or Bargain that was made between me and thee before the World was, is accomplished in my Account, as if it were actually and really done, with all the Conditions that were agreed upon by me and thee; I have therefore, according to that Agreement that was on my part, sent forth the Prisoners, and those that were under the Curse of my Law, out of the Pit wherein there is no Water; seeing thou also hast compleatly fulfilled in my Account whatsoever was on thy Part to be done, according to our Agreement. And thus is that Place to be understood in John 17. 9. I pray for them, I pray not for the World, but for those that thou hast given me (which I covenanted with thee for) thine they were and thou gavest them me, (but on such and such Conditions as are before mentioned, Zech. 9.) And again, According as he hath chosen us in him, (that is, in Christ,) *before the Foundation of the World, that we should be holy and * without blame before him in*

* To be holy, and without blame, is that which God intended for us in that glorious Covenant; and by it alone we are holy and without blame before him in Love; for we are compleat in him alone with whom the Covenant was made, Col. 2. 10. Tit. 1. 2.

Love. Now, seeing this was thus concluded upon by those that did wish well to the Souls and Bodies of poor Sinners, after the World was made by them, and after they had said, Let us make Man after our own Image, after our Likeness, Gen. 1. 26. And after Man, whom God had made upright, had by Transgression fallen from that State into which God at first placed him, and thrown himself into a miserable Condition by his Transgression, then God brings out of his Love that which he and his Son had concluded upon, and begins now to make forth that to the World, which he had purposed in himself before the World began, Eph. 1. 4, 9. 2 Tim. 1. 9. Now the first Discovery that was made to a lost Creature of the Love of God, was made to fallen Adam, Gen. 3. 15. Where it is said, I will put Enmity between thee and the Woman, and between thy Seed and her Seed, which is the Saviour, Gal. 4. 4. It shall break thy Head, and thou shalt bruise his Heel. This was the first Discovery of the Love of God to lost Man: This was the Gospel which was preached to Adam in his Generation; in these Words was held forth to them in that Generation, that which should be farther accomplished in After-generations.

2. Another Discovery of the Love of God in the Gospel, was held forth to Noah, in that he would have him to prepare an Ark to save himself withal; which Ark did type out the Lord that was to come, and be the Saviour of those whom he before had covenanted for with God the Father. And God said to Noah, the End of all Flesh is before me; make thee an Ark of Gopher Wood, Gen. 6. 13, 14. And Chap. 7. 1. The Lord said unto Noah, Come thou and all thy House into the Ark, for thee have I seen righteous before me in this Generation.

3. God breaks out with a farther Discovery of himself in Love to that Generation in which Abraham lived, Gen. 12. 3. Where he saith, And in thee, (that is, from thee shall Christ come through, in whom) shall all the Families of the Earth be Blessed. This was also a farther manifestation of the good will of God to poor lost Sinners; and through this Discovery of the Gospel, did Abraham see that which made him rejoice, John 8. 56.

4. When the time was come that Moses was to be a Prophet to the People of his Generation, then God did more gloriously yet break forth with one Type after another; as the Blood of Bulls, and Lambs, and Goats: Also Sacrifices of divers manners, and of several things, which held forth that Saviour more clearly which God had in his own Purpose and Decree determined to be sent; for these things (the Types) were a Shadow of that which was to come, which was the Substance, Heb. 9. 9, 10. Heb. 10. 1, 5, 6, 7. Now when these things were thus done when God had thus signified to the World, what he intended to do in after-times, presently all that had Faith to believe that God would be as good as his Word, began to look for, and to expect that the Lord should accomplish and bring to pass what he had promised, what his Hand and Counsel had before determined to be done.

Now Abraham begins to look for what God had promised and signified; namely, that he would send a Saviour into the World in his appointed time, which thing being promised, Abraham embraces, being perswaded of the Certainty of it; as in Heb. 11. 13. And this did fill his Heart with Joy and Gladness, as I said before; for he saw it, and was glad, John 8. 56.

2. Jacob also, while he was blessing his Sons, concerning things to come, breaks forth with these Words, I have waited for thy Salvation. He was also put in Expectation of Salvation to come by this Saviour.

3. David was in earnest Expectation of this, which was held forth by Types and Shadows in the Law; for as yet the Saviour was not come, which made him cry out with a longing after it, O that the Salvation of Israel were come out of Sion, Psal. 53. 6. And again, O that the Salvation of Israel were come out of Sion, Psal. 147. The thing that David waited for, was not in his time come, though before his time it was promised; which makes him cry out, O that it were come, that were come out of Sion! Where, by the way, take notice, that the true Salvation and Saviour of Israel was to come out of Sion, that is, out of the Church of God, touching the Flesh, as it is written, A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your Brethren like unto me, Deut. 18. 15, 18. And again, I have laid Help upon one that is Mighty; I have exalted one chosen out of the People, Psal. 89. 19. And, Rom. 9. 5. Whose are the Fathers, of whom as concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is over all, God blessed for ever. Christ, as concerning the flesh, did come of the Fathers.

4. Isaiah did prophesie of this, that God would thus save his People; yea, he breaks forth with these Words, But Israel shall be saved with an everlasting Salvation, Isa. 45. 17. He also tells them how it shall be accomplished in that 53^d Chap. Yea, he had such a glorious Taste of the Reality of it, that he speaks as though it had been actually done.

5. In the days of Jeremiah, this that God had promised to the Fathers, was not yet accomplished; in chap. 23. 5. he saith, Behold the days come, saith the Lord, that I will (mark, it was not yet done) but I will (saith God) raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prof-

per. In his days Judas shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely; and this is his Name wherewith he shall be called, The Lord our Righteousness.

6. He was also to come in Zechariah's time, Zech. 3. 8. Where he saith, For behold I will bring forth my Servant the Branch.

7. He was not come in the time of Malachy neither, though he was indeed at that time near his coming. For he saith himself, Behold, I will send my Messenger, (meaning John the Baptist,) Isa. 40. v. 3. Luke. 1. 76. and he shall prepare the way before me; And the Lord whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his Temple, even the Messenger of the Covenant, whom ye delight in. Behold he shall come, saith the Lord of Hosts.

8. Old Simeon did also wait for the Consolation of Israel a long time, Luke 2. 25. Where it is said, And behold there was a Man in Jerusalem, whose Name was Simeon, the same was a just Man, and devout, waiting for the Consolation of Israel. That is, waiting for him that was to be the Saviour, as is clear, if you read with understanding a little farther: *And it was revealed to him by the Spirit, that he should not see Death before he had seen the * Lord Christ, v. 26.*

* God has a Christ, one distinct from all other Things whatsoever that is called Christ, whether they be Spirit or Body, or both Spirit and Body, and this is signified, where he saith, the Lord Christ.

And thus have I in brief shewed you, 1. That there is such a thing as Christ. 2. That this Christ was promised and signified out by many things before he did come. 3. How he was waited for, and expected before the time that God had appointed in the which he should come.

The Second Thing that I will (through the strength of Christ) prove, is this, that he that was of the Virgin, is he that is the Saviour.

AND first, I shall lay down this for a Truth; That it is not any Spirit only by, and of it self, without it do take the Nature of Man, that can be a Saviour of Man from eternal Vengeance.

Or thus: That that will be a Saviour of Man, must in the Nature of Man satisfy and appease the Justice and Wrath of God. And the Arguments that I do bring to prove it by, are these.

1. Because it was Man that had offended; and Justice required that Man must give the Satisfaction: And therefore, when he that should be the Saviour, was come, he took upon him the form of a Servant, and was made in the Likeness of Men, Phil. 2. 7. And in Heb. 2. 14. Because the Children were Partakers of Flesh and Blood; he

he also himself likewise took Part of the same: To what end? That through Death he might destroy him that had the power of Death, that is the Devil. And is that all? No; but also that he might deliver them who through fear of Death, were all their Life time subject to Bondage.

The second Argument is this; because, if a Spirit only could have made Satisfaction for the Sin of Mankind, and have subdued Satan for Man, without the Nature of Man, either there had been Weakness in God when he made that Promise to fallen Adam, That the Seed of the Woman should break the Serpent's Head; (for there hath been no Need of and so no room for that Promise) or else God having made it, would have appeared unfaithful, in not fulfilling his Promise, by redeeming the World without it.

3. If a Spirit only could have made Satisfaction, and so have saved Man; then Christ needed not to have come into the World, and to have been born of a Woman, Gal. 4. 4. But in that he must come into the World, and must be born of a Woman, it is clear, that without this, he could not have been a Saviour: For he was made of a Woman, made under the Law, to this End, that he might redeem them that were under the Law; implying, No Subjection to this, (viz. the taking of the Nature of Man) no Redemption from the Curse of the Law. But Christ hath delivered from the Curse of the Law (all that believe in his Name) being in their Nature made a Curse for them.

And this is the Reason, why the fallen Angels are not recovered from their damnable Estate, because he did not take hold of their * Nature, For he took not on him the Nature of Angels, but he took on him the Seed of Abraham, Heb. 2. 16.

Gal. 3. 13. * They that are redeemed must have redemption wrought out for them thro' their Natures; for except that Nature that sinned do bring in Recovery from the Curse that is due to it for its Sin, that Nature that sinned must suffer for its own Sin.

Now then, seeing this is the very Truth of God, I shall next prove, that Jesus that was born of the Virgin, to be the Saviour: And first, I shall prove it by comparing some Place of the Old and New Testament together, and by some Arguments drawn from the Scriptures.

And first, see Gen. 3. 15. where he is called the Seed of the Woman, saying, I will put Enmity between thee and the Woman, and between thy Seed and her Seed; and so was Jesus, Gal. 4. 4. where it is said, God sent forth his Son made of a Woman, or born of a Woman.

2. This Woman must be a Virgin, Isa. 7. 14. where it is said, a Virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and shall call his Name Emanuel. And Jesus is he that was the fulfilling of this Scripture, Matth. 1. 22, 23. Now all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying, Behold a Virgin shall conceive, and bring forth a Son, and they shall call his Name Emanuel.

3. The Saviour must be of the Tribe of Judah. And this Jacob prophesied of on his Death-bed, saying, Judah, thou art he whom thy Brethren shall praise, or honour, thine Hand shall be on the Neck of thine Enemies, thy Father's Children shall bow down before thee. Gen. 49.

And again, Mac. 5. 2. But thou Bethel Ephratah, though thou be little among the Thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come, that is to be Ruler in Israel. Jesus also came of the Tribe of Judah, and that will clearly appear, if you read Matt. 1. Matthew he begins first with Abraham, v. 2. and thence to Judah v. 3. from Judah to David, v. 6. from David to Zerobabel, v. 13. then to Jacob the Father of Joseph, the Husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, ver. 16.

Now Mary was one of the same House also, and for this consider, Jesus came from the Loins of David; see Mat. 1. but that he could not do, if Mary had not been of the Seed of David: For Christ came from her, not from him, for Joseph knew her not till she had brought forth her First born, Mat. 1. 25. Again, the Angel told her, that he was the Son of David, saying, And the Lord God will give unto him the Throne of his Father David, Luke 1. 32.

And again, The Jews knew this very well, or else they would have been sure to have laid it open before all the World; for they sought by all means to disown him. And though they did through the Devilishness of their Unbelief disown him, yet could they find no such thing as to question the Right of his Birth from Mary. If it had been to be done, they would no doubt have done it; they did not want Malice to whet them on; neither did they want Means so far as might help forward their Malice; without manifest and apparent Injury; For they had exact Registers, or Records of their Genealogies, so that, if they had had any Colour for it, they would sure have denied him to have been the Son of David. There was reasoning concerning him when he was with them, John 7. 27, 43. and I do believe, part of it was about the Generation of which he came. And this was so commonly known, that the blind Man that sat by the Wayside could cry out, Jesus thou Son of David, have Mercy on me; thou Son of David, have Mercy on me, Luke 18. 38, 39. It was so common, that he came from the Loins of his Father David according to the Flesh, that it was not so much as once questioned. And when Herod demanded (Matth. 2. 4, 5, 6.) of the chief Priests and Scribes of the People where Christ should be born, They said unto him, in Bethlehem of Judea: For thus it is written by the Prophet, And thou Bethlehem in the Land of Judea, art not the least among the Princes of Judah, for out of thee shall come a Governour that shall shall rule my People Israel: (For out of thee) Mark that; if Mary had not been of Judah, Christ had not come out of Judah, but Christ came out of Judah; therefore Mary is also a Daughter of Judah. And this is evident, as saith the Scripture, for our Lord sprang out of Judah, Heb. 7. 14.

Again, when Christ the Saviour was to come into the World, at that time the Scepter was to depart from Judah, according to the Prophecy of Jacob. The Scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor a Law-giver from between his Feet until Shiloh come, Gen. 49. 10.

Now the Scepter was then departed from those that were Jews by Nature, and also the Law-giver, and Herod who was a Stranger, and not of Judea, was King over them, as Cæsar's Deputy; and Cæsar Augustus imposed Laws on them.

The stubborn Jews also confessed the Scepter to be departed, when before Pontius Pilate a Roman Governour of Judea, they cryed out against Christ: We have no King but Cæsar, Joh. 19. 15.

Nay farther, the Jews from that Day to this, have been without a King of their own Nation to govern them: they never had the Scepter swayed since by any of themselves, but have been a scattered despised People, and have been as it were liable to all Dangers, and for a long time driven out from their Countrey, and scattered over all the Nations of the Earth, as was prophesied concerning them, Jer. 14. 9. Zech. 5. 14, 15. And yet these poor Souls are so horribly deluded by the Devil, that though they see these things come to pass, yet they will not believe. And one Reason among many, of their being thus deluded, is this, they say that the word Scepter in Gen. 49. is not meant of a Kingly Government; but the meaning is, (say they) a Rod, or Persecutions shall not depart from Judah till Shiloh come. Now they do most grossly mistake that Place; for though I am not skilled in the Hebrew Tongue, yet through Grace, I am enlightned into the Scriptures; whereby I find that the Meaning is not Persecutions, nor the Rod of Afflictions, but a Governor or Scepter of the Kingdom shall not depart from Judah till Shiloh come. And that this is the Meaning of the Place, weigh but the very next Words of the same Verse, and you will find it to be the Scepter of a King that is meant; for he addeth, nor a Law-giver from between his Feet. Mark it, The Scepter, nor a Law-giver; the Legislative Power depending on the Scepter of the Kingdom, shall not depart from Judah till Shiloh come. According to that Scripture, written in Isa. 7. 16. For before the Child shall know to refuse the evil, and chuse the good, the Land which thou abhorrest shall be forsaken of both her Kings: which Scripture hath been fulfilled from that same time.

But a word to the Jews Exposition of the Scepter to be a Rod, or Persecutions; saying, that Persecutions shall not depart from Judah till Shiloh come. This cannot be the meaning of the Place; for the Jews have had rest oftentimes, and that before Shiloh did come; at one time they had rest fourscore years, Judges 3. 30. Again, And the Land had rest from war, Josh. 14. 15. And again, And the Lord gave them rest round about, according to all that he swore unto their Fathers, and there stood not up a Man of all their Enemies before them, Josh. 21. 44. And the Land had rest forty years, Judg. 3. 11. There was rest many a time from Persecution and from the Rod, though it were but for a Season; but the Scepter, or Kingdom, did not depart from Judah, and a Law-giver from between his Feet till Shiloh came.

Again, To prove that Jesus is the Christ, it is clear from the hand of God against the Jews, for putting him to death. What was the Reason why they did put him to Death, but this, He did say that he was the Christ the Son of God? Luke 22. 70. Then said they all, Art thou the Son of God? And he said, ye say that I am: that is, I am he as you say, I am the Son of God; yea, John 9. 37. the only begotten Son of the Father, and 17. 5. I was with him before the World was.

Now the Jews did put him to Death for his thus owning his own; that is, for not denying of his Sonship, but making himself equal with God, therefore did they put him to Death, John 19. 7.

Now God did, and doth most miserably plague them to this very Day, for their crucifying of him; But, I say, had he not been the Christ of God, God's Son, he would not have laid Sin to their Charge, for crucifying him; but rather have praised them for their Zeal, and for taking him out of the way, who did rob God of his Honour, in that he made himself equal with God, and was not. He would have praised them for doing the Thing that was right, as he did Phineas the Son of Eleazar, for executing Judgment in his Time, on the Adulterer and Adulterers, Numb. 25. 8.

But in that he said he was the Son of God, and accounted it no Robbery so to call himself, Phil. 2. And seeing that they did put him to Death, because he said he was the Son of God; and in that God doth so severely charge them with, and punish them for their Sin in putting him to Death, for saying that he was the Son of God, it is evident that he was and is the Son of God, and that Saviour that should come into the World. For his Blood hath been upon them to this very Day for their Hurt, according to their Desire, Mat. 27. 25.

Again, Jesus himself doth in this Day hold forth that he is the Christ, where he saith faith, the Time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, Mark 1. 15. What Time is this that Jesus speaks of? Surely, 'tis that of Daniel's Seventy Weeks, spoken of in Chap. 9. 24. where he saith, Seventy Weeks are determined upon thy People to finish Transgression, and to make an end of Sin, and to make Reconciliation or Satisfaction for Iniquity, and to bring in everlasting Righteousness, and to anoint the most holy: This Time, that here Daniel speaks of, is it that Christ saith hath an End; and the Argument that he brings to persuade them to believe the Gospel, is this, The Kingdom of God is at hand, (according as was prophesied of it by Daniel) repent, and believe the Gospel. Repent, and believe that this is the Gospel, and that this is the Truth of God; consider that Daniel had a Revelation of these Days from the Angel of God, and also the Time in which it should be accomplished: namely, Seventy Weeks was the determined Time of the Messias's Coming, from the Time when the Angel spake these Words to Daniel: Seventy Weeks, that is, about 490 Years, if you reckon every Day in the said Seventy Weeks for a Year: A Day for a Year, a Day for a Year; for so is the Holy Spirit's Way sometime to reckon Days, Ezek. 46. And this the Jews were convinced of, when Christ saith to them, Ye Hypocrites, ye can discern the Face of the Sky, but can you not discern the Signs of the Times? Mat. 16. 3. Do you not see that those Things that are spoken of as Forerunners of my Coming, are accomplished? Do you not see that the Scepter is departed from Judah? Do you not see the Time that Daniel spake of is accomplished also? There shall no Sign be given you but the Sign of the Prophet Jonah: O ye hypocritical Generation! Ver. 4.

Another Argument to prove that Jesus is the Christ, is this, By his Power the Blind see, the Lame walk, the Deaf hear, the Dumb speak, the Dead are raised up, the Devils are dispossessed. In Isa. 35. 4. it is thus prophesied of him, Behold your God will come with a Vengeance; even God with a Recompence; he will come and save you. But how shall we know when he is come? Why, Then the Eyes of the Blind shall be opened, and the Ears of the Deaf shall be unstopped, then shall the lame Man leap as an Hart, and the Tongue of the Dumb shall sing; for in the Wilderness shall Waters break forth, and Streams in the Desert, Ver. 5, 6. Now when John would know whether he were the Christ or no, Jesus sends him this very Answer, Go and tell John (saith he) what you hear and see; the Blind receive their Sight, and the Lame walk, the Lepers are cleansed, the Deaf hear, the Dead are raised, and the Poor have the Gospel preached unto them, Mat. 11. 3, 4, 5.

Another Argument that doth prove this Jesus to be the Christ, is this, namely, he to whom it was revealed, that he should see him, though he waited long for him. So soon as ever he did but see that sweet Babe that was born of the Virgin Mary, he cried out, Lord now lettest thou thy Servant depart in Peace, according to thy Word: For mine Eyes have seen thy Salvation, which thou hast prepared before all People, as it is in Luke 2. 26, to 32. The Prophetess Anna also, so soon as she had seen him, gave Thanks to the Lord, and spake of him to all those that waited for Redemption in Israel, Ver. 36, 37, 38.

Another Argument is the Sign of the Prophet Jonah: He, even Jonah, was three Days and three Nights in the Whale's Belly, Jonah 1. 17. and Jesus makes this very Thing an Argument to the Jews, that he was the true Messias, where he saith, A wicked and an adulterous Generation seeketh after a Sign, that is, they would have me to shew them a Sign to prove that I am the Saviour, and there shall no Sign be given to them, but the Sign of the Prophet Jonah, for as Jonah was three Days and three Nights in the Whale's Belly, so shall the Son of Man be three Days and three Nights in the Heart of the Earth, Mat. 12. 39, 40. And this, the Apostle makes mention of to be accomplished, where he says, The Jews slew Jesus, and hanged him on a Tree, Acts 10. 39. and laid him in a Sepulchre, Mat. 27. But God raised him up the third Day, and shewed him openly, Acts 10. 40.

Another Scripture Argument to prove that Jesus is the Christ, is this, that there was not one of his Bones broken; which Thing was foretold and typed out by the Paschal Lamb, where he saith, Thou shalt not leave any of it until the Morning, nor break a Bone of him, Exod. 12. 46. Num. 9. 12. which Thing was fulfilled in the Son of the Virgin, (though contrary to the Customs of this Nation,) as it is written, Then came the Soldiers, and brake the Legs of the first, and of the other that was crucified with him. But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his Legs, John 19. 31, 32. that the Scripture should be fulfilled, a Bone of him shall not be broken, ver. 36.

Another Scripture Demonstration is, in that they did fulfil the Saying that was written, they parted my Raiment among them, and for my Vesture they did cast Lots, Psal. 22. 18. But this was also fulfilled in Jesus, as it is written: Then the Soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his Garments, and made four Parts, to every Soldier a Part, and also his Coat. Now the Coat was without Seam; They said therefore among themselves, let us not rent it, but let us cast Lots whose it shall be; that the Scripture might be fulfilled which saith, They parted my Raiment among them, and for my Vesture they did did cast Lots, John 19. 23, 24.

Again, the Scripture saith, they shall look on me whom they have pierced, Zech. 12. 10. But the Soldier thrust a Spear into his Side, that it might be fulfilled which was written, they shall look on him whom they have pierced, John 19. 34, 35, 36, 37.

Now then, seeing this is the Truth of God, that Jesus that was born of the Virgin, is the Christ of God; how horribly are those deceived who look on Jesus the Son of Mary, to be but a Shadow or Type, of something that was afterward to be revealed; whereas the Scriptures most lively hold him forth to be the Christ of God, and not a Shadow of a Spirit, or of a Body afterwards to be revealed, but himself was the very Substance of all Things that did any Way type out Christ to come; and when he was indeed come, then was an end put to the Law for Righteousness, or Justification to every one that Believeth; Christ is the end of the Law for Righteousness to every one that believeth, as it is written, Rom. 10. 4. That is, he was the end of the Ceremonial Law, and of that commonly called the Moral Law, the Substance of which is laid down, Exod. 20. from the first to the 17th Verse, though that Law, as handed out by Christ, still remains of great Use to all Believers, which they are bound to keep for Sanctification, as Christ saith, Mat. 5. 19 Verse, to the end of the Chapter. But Christ Jesus hath obtained everlasting Righteousness, having fulfilled all the Law of God in the Body of his Flesh, wherein he also suffered on the Cross without the Gates, and doth impute this Righteousness to poor Man, having accomplished it for him in the Body of his Flesh, which he took of the Virgin, Gal. 4. 4. God sent forth his Son made of a Woman *, made

A Believer hath no Law to fulfil for Justification; only believe on what the Man Christ Jesus hath done and be saved.

* That is, born of the Virgin under the Law, that is, to obey it, and to bear the Curse of it, being made a Curse for us, Gal. 3. 13. to redeem them that were under the Law, that is, to redeem such as were ordained to Life eternal, from the Curse of the Law. And this he did by his Birth, being made or born of a Woman; by his Obedience, yea, by his perfect Obedience he became the Author of eternal Salvation to all them that obey him, Heb. 5. 8, 9. and by his doing and suffering, did completely satisfy the Law and the Justice of God, and bring in that glorious and everlasting Salvation, without which we had all eternally been undone, and that without Remedy; for without shedding of his Blood there was no Remission.

See Heb. 9. 22. and compare it with Heb. 8. v. 3.

where he saith it is of necessity that this Man hath somewhat also to of-

Secondly, Seeing Jesus Christ, the Son of the Virgin Mary, was and is the Christ of God; And that Salvation came in alone by him, for there is Salvation in no other, Acts 4. 12. then how are they deceived, that think to obtain Salvation by following the Convictions of the Law, which they call Christ (though falsely) when alas, let them follow those Convictions that do come from the Law, and Conscience set on work by it; I say, let them follow all the Convictions that may be hinted in upon their Spirits from that Law, they shall never be able to obtain Salvation by their Obedience to it, for by the Law is the Knowledge of Sin, Rom. 3. 20. And, It is not of Works least any Man should boast, as those fond Hypocrites call'd Quakers would do. And again, If Righteousness comes by the Law, then Christ is dead in vain, Gal. 2. 21. But that no Man is justified by the Works of the Law, it is evident, for the just shall live by Faith, Gal. 3. 10. Which living by Faith, is to apply the Lord Jesus Christ his Benefits, as Birth, Righteousness, Death, Blood, Resurrection, Ascension, and Intercession, with the glorious Benefits of his second coming to me, as mine, being given to me, and for me, and thus much doth the Apostle signify, saying; The Life which I now live in the Flesh, I live by the Faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me, Gal. 2. 20.

Again, Seeing God's Christ which was with him before the World was, John 17. ver. 5. took upon him Flesh and Blood from the Virgin Mary, (who was espoused to Joseph the Carpenter) and in that humane Nature yielded himself an Offering for Sin, (for it was the Body of his Flesh by which Sin was purged, Col. 1. 22.) I say, seeing the Son of God, as he was in a Body of Flesh, did bring in Salvation for Sinners, and by this Means, as I said before, we are saved, even by Faith in his Blood, Righteousness, Resurrection, &c. How are they then deceived who own Christ no otherwise as than he was before the World began, who was then without Flesh and Blood (for he took that in Time of the Virgin, Gal. 4. 4. Heb. 2. 14.) I say, they are wickedly deluded, who own him no otherwise but as he was before the World was: For in their owning of him thus and no otherwise, they do directly deny him to be come in the Flesh, and are of that Antichristian Party which John speaks of, Joh. 4. 3. Every Spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the Flesh, is not of God; and this is that Spirit of Antichrist, whereof you have heard that it should come, and even now already it is in the World.

Now because the Enemy doth most notably wrest this Scripture, as they do others, to their own Damnation, I shall speak something to it; and therefore, when he saith, every Spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the Flesh, is not of God, his meaning is, every Spirit that doth not confess that that Christ that was with the Father before the World was, did in the appointed Time of the Father come into the World, took on him a Body from the Virgin, and was very Man as well as very God, and in that Body of Flesh did fer, which Man was Jesus, c. 7. 22.

Gal. 2. 10. John 10.

did do and suffer whatsoever belonged to the Sons of Men for the breach of the Holy Law of God, and impute his glorious Righteousness which he fulfilled in that Body of his Flesh, to the Souls that shall believe, on what he hath done, and is a doing in the same Body. And that this is the Mind of the Spirit of God, consider, First, he himself saith, handle me and see, for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, as ye see me have, when his Disciples had thought he had been but a Spirit, Luke 24. 39, 40. Now that in this Flesh he died for Sins: Consider Secondly, that Scripture which saith, Who his own self, (that is, the Christ that was born of the Virgin) did bear our Sins in his own Body on the Tree. See Col. 1. 22. in the Body of his Flesh, saith he, to present you holy and unblameable, and unreproueable in his Sight. Now that he arose again from the Dead, with the Body of Flesh wherewith he was crucified, consider, that forenamed Scripture, Luke 24. 39, 40. spoken after his Resurrection.

Now that he went away with the same Body from them into Heaven, consider that it is said, And he led them out as far as Bethany, and he lift up his Hands and blessed them: And it came to pass while he blessed them, he was carried from them, and carried into Heaven, Luk. 24. 50, 51. This is the meaning of those Words therefore; Jesus Christ is come into the Flesh, that is, Jesus Christ hath come in the Flesh that he took of the Virgin, hath brought us who were enthralled to the Law, the Devil, and Sin, to Liberty; and that by his Obedience and Death. Forasmuch then as the Children were Partakers of Flesh and Blood (saith the Scripture) he, Christ also himself took Part of the same; Wherefore? That through Death he might destroy him that had the power of Death, that is the Devil; and deliver them who through fear of Death, were all their Time subject to Bondage, Heb. 2. 14, 15. For he was delivered for our Offences, and was raised again for our Justification, Rom. 4. 25. For he, even that Man, through the Power of the eternal Spirit, did offer up himself without Spot to God, and thereby, or by that Offering, obtained eternal Redemption for us, Heb. 9. 12, 14. And therefore I say again and again, look to your selves, that you receive no Christ except God's Christ: For he is like to be deceived that will believe every Thing that calls it self a Christ. For many, saith he, shall come in my Name, and shall deceive many, Matth. 24. 5.

Now having spoken thus much touching the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ, I shall, according to the Assistance of the Lord Jesus, proceed, and shall speak something of his Godhead, Birth, Death, Resurrection, Ascension, and Intercession; together with his most glorious and personal appearing the second Time, which will be to raise the Dead, and bring every Work to Judgment, Eccles. 12. 14.

AND first I shall shew you that he (Christ) is very God, Co-eternal, and also Co-equal with his Father.

2. That by this Son of Mary (which is equal with his Father) the World was made.

3. That he in the fulness of Time, was made of a Woman, made under the Law, to redeem them that were (or are) under the Law; that is, was born of a Woman: And in our Nature (for he made himself of no Reputation, and took on him the Form of a Servant, and was made in the likeness of Men) and in our stead he did fulfill the Law in Point of Justification, Rom. 10. 4. and was Crucified for our Transgressions, 1 Cor. 1. 23, 24, 25.

4. That very Body of the Son of Mary which was crucified, did rise again from the Dead, after he had been buried in Joseph's Sepulchre; that he in that very Body ascended up into Heaven; and in that very Body shall come again to these Ends.

1. First, to judge the Quick and the Dead.

2. To receive his Saints to himself.

3. To pass eternal Condemnation on his Enemies.

These Things in brief I shall touch upon, according to the Wisdom given me.

And therefore that Christ is very God, I shall first prove by plain Texts of Scripture.

2. From the Testimony of God, Angels, and Men, witnessed by the Scriptures.

3. By several Arguments drawn from Scripture, which will prove the same clearly.

1. Then to prove it by the Scriptures; tho' indeed the whole Book of God's Holy Scripture, testifie these Things plainly to be most true, yet there be some Places more pregnant and pertinent to the Thing than others; and therefore I shall mention some of them: As first, Mind that in Prov. 8. v. 22, &c. and there you shall find him spoken of under the Name of Wisdom, the same Name that is given him in 1 Cor. 1. 24. I say in that Place of the Proverbs above mentioned, you shall find these Expressions from his own Mouth. The Lord possessed me in the Beginning of his Way before his Works of old. I was set up from everlasting, from the Beginning, or ever the Earth was, when there was no Depths, I was brought forth; while there was no Fountain abounding with water. Before the Mountains were settled, before the Hills, was I brought forth. While as yet he had not made the Earth, nor the Fields, nor the highest Places of the Dust of the World. When he prepared the Heavens, I was there: When he set a Compass upon the Face of the Depth: When he established the Clouds above; when he strengthened the Fountains of the Deep: When he gave to the Sea his his Decree, That the Waters should not pass his Commandment. When he appointed the Foundations of the Earth; then was I by him, as one brought up with him: And I was daily his Delight, rejoycing in the habitable Parts of the Earth, and my Delight was with the Sons of Men. Also John 1. 1, 2. you have these Words spoken of Christ, In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. As also in Heb. 1. 2. the Apostle being about to prove the Son of Mary to be very God, saith; He hath in these latter Days spoken to us by his Son; which Son is the Son of Mary, as in Mat. 3. But (saith the Apostle) Heb. 1. 8. to the Son he saith, Thy Throne, O God, is for ever and ever, a Scepter of Righteousness is the Scepter of thy Kingdom. Again, in John 17. 5. you have the Words of the Son of Mary for it, saying, And now Father, glorifie thou me with thine own self, with the Glory that I had with thee before the World was. Again, he himself saith, before Abraham was, I am: And again, I and my Father are one. And in Phil. 2. 5. the Apostle saith, Let the same Mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus; who being in the Form of God, thought it no Robbery to be equal with God, but made himself of no Reputation, and took on him the Form of a Servant, and was made in the likeness of Men. Also Rev. 2. 8. Christ himself saith, I am the first and the last, which was dead, but am alive. And thus have I quoted some few Scriptures to prove that the Son of Mary is the true God.

2. I shall give you the Testimony of God himself touching the Truth of this, viz. That Christ the Son of the Virgin, is the true God. And first see Zach. 13. 7. and there you shall find these Words, Awake O Sword, against my Shepherd, and against the Man that is my Fellow, saith the Lord of Hosts. In this Placethe Lord doth call that Man his Fellow, which he doth not do to any meer Creature. Again, in Mat. 3. 17. he calls him his beloved Son, saying, This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased. And in the aforesaid Place of the Hebrews, Chap. 1. the Apostle advancing the Lord Jesus, brings in this Question, To which of the Angels, said he at any Time, thou art my Son? Ver. 5. But to the Son he saith, Ver. 8. Thy Throne O God, is for ever and ever. And thus far of the Testimony that God himself hath given of the Son of Mary, Jesus Christ.

3. The Angels do shew that he is God: First, In that they do obey him.

Secondly, In that they worship him.

1. That they obey him, is clear, if we compare Rev. 21. 9. with Rev. 22. 6. In the first of these Places we find, that there came one of the Angels of the seven Vials, which had the seven last Plagues, and talked with John. He came not of himself;

for in that 22 Chap. ver. 6. he saith, The Lord sent his Angel, to shew unto his Servants the Things that must be done. Now in the 16th Verse, you may see who this Lord God is: He saith there, I Jesus, have sent mine Angel, to testifie these Things in the Churches. * *I am the Root (as well * Com- pare Rev. 1. 1. as) the Off-spring of David, and the bright and Morning Star.* I say this Obedience of the Angels doth testifie that Jesus, which is the Son of Mary, is the true and very God; for they do obey God only.

Secondly, The Angels do shew that the Son of Mary, is the true God, in that they do not only obey him, but worship him also; yea, they are commanded so to do, Heb. 1. 6. where it is written, When he bringeth his first begotten into the World, he (i. e.) God, saith, And let all the Angels of God worship him, viz. the Son of Mary. Now the Angels themselves command that we worship none but God, Rev. 22. 8, 9. When John fell down to worship the Angel, the Angel said, See thou do it not, for I am thy Fellow-Servant; worship God. Now if the Angels should command to worship God, and they themselves should worship him that by Nature is no God, they should overthrow themselves, in commanding one Thing, and doing another, and so lose their own Habitations, and be shut up in Chains of Darkness, to be punished with everlasting Destruction from God himself at the great Day. And thus much concerning the Testimony of Angels touching Jesus the Son of Mary, the Son of God, yea, very and true God, Isa. 9. 6.

Now followeth David his Testimony among other of the Saints, who witness Jesus the Son of Mary to be true God; and that you may find in Psal. 110. 1. where he saith, The Lord said unto my Lord, sit thou on my right Hand, till I make thine Enemies thy Footstool. Also Isaiah in the 9th Chap. Ver. 6. saith, For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given, and the Government shall be upon his Shoulders, and his Name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. Of the Increase of his Government and Peace there shall be no end, upon the Throne of David (which is not, nor never was the Heart of any Believer) and upon his Kingdom to order it, and to establish it with Judgment and Justice, from henceforth even for ever. The Zeal of the Lord of Hosts will do this. Again, see Peter's Testimony of the Son of Mary; When Jesus asked his Disciples, Whom say ye that I am? Peter, as the Mouth of the rest, said, Thou art Christ, the Son of the living God, Matth. 16. 16. Also when Thomas, one of Christ's Disciples, would not be persuaded by the others that they had seen the Lord, except he did also see in his Hands the Print of the Nails, and put put his Fingers into the Print of the Nails, and thrust his Hand into his Side, he would not believe. Saith the Son of Mary, Reach hither thy Fingers, and behold my Hands, and reach hither thy Hand, and thrust it into my Side, and be not faithless but believing; and then Thomas breaks out with a mighty Faith, and a glorious Testimony for his Master; and saith, My Lord, and my God, John 20. 27. 28.

Again, see Paul's Testimony of him, Rom. 9. 5. where speaking of the Son of Mary, he saith, That Christ came of the Father, who is over all, God blessed for ever, Amen. And the Apostle John doth also witness as much, 1 John 5. 20. where speaking of Jesus Christ, he saith on this wise, And we know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an Understanding, that we might know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, (Who is that? Why, saith John) even in his Son Jesus Christ. Who is he? Why, This is the true God, and Eternal Life.

I could here also bring in the Testimony of the very Devils themselves, as Luke 4. 41. Luke 8. 28. where he is by them acknowledged to be the Son of the living God: But it is needless so to do; for we have plainly proved it already.

Now followeth the several Scripture Arguments, which will prove that Jesus the Son of Mary is very God.

And first, There is none but he that is the true God, can satisfy the Justice of the true God, for the Breach of his holy Law: But if you compare Isa. 53. 6. with Matth. 3. 17. you shall find, that Jesus the Son of Mary did give God a full and compleat Satisfaction for the Breach of his holy Law; therefore Jesus the Son of Mary must needs be the great and true God.

Secondly, He that hath Power of his own to lay down his Life, and hath Power of his own to take it up again, must needs be the true God: but this did Jesus the Son of Mary the Virgin; therefore he must needs be the true God, John 10. 8. Rom. 1. 4.

Thirdly, There was never any able to bear the Sins of all the Believers in the World, that ever were, now are, or hereafter shall be, but the true God: But Jesus, the Son of the Virgin Mary, did bear them all in his own Body on the Tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24. Isa. 53. 6. Therefore Jesus the Son of Mary must needs be the true God as well as Man.

Fourthly, There was never any meer Man able, by his own Power, to overcome the Devil in all his Temptations, but he that is also the true God (for Adam in his State of Innocency was overcome by them, and fell under them:) But Jesus the Son of the Virgin did overcome them all by his own Power; therefore (see Gen. 3. 15. Isa. 51. 9. Isa. 63. 5. Matth. 4. Luke 4. 12.) he is very God, as well as very Man.

Fifthly, There was never any that did call himself the true God (and was not) which did please God in so doing. But Jesus the Son of Mary did call himself the true God, or account himself equal with God (which is all one) yet God was well pleased with him, Phil. 2. 6, 7. John 8. 29. And therefore Jesus the Son of Mary must needs be true God as well as Man. Mat. 3. 17.

Sixthly, There was never any that had all Power in Heaven and in Earth, but the true God. Jesus the Son of the Virgin Mary, who was espoused to Joseph, hath all power in Heaven and in Earth in his own hand. Therefore, Matth. 28. 18. he is the true and great God.

Seventhly, There was never any able to keep poor souls from Falling from God, saving he that is the true God. Jesus the Son of Mary did, and doth this, John 10. 27, 28, 29, 30. John 17. 12. Therefore, &c.

Eighthly, Never could any justly call himself the First and the last, except the true God, nor truly (as the Lord did say) I am. But these did Jesus the Son of Mary, Revel. 1. 1. compared with v. 17, 18. Rev. 2. 8. and John 8. 58. Therefore Jesus must needs be true God as well as Man.

9. Never was there any that could absolutely Forgive Sins but God, Mar. 27. Luke 5. 21. But Jesus the Son of the Virgin Mary, can forgive Sins, Luk. 5. 20. Mar. 2. 5. Therefore Jesus the Son of Mary, must needs be true God as well as Man.

10. The Scriptures never call any the true and living God; but he that is the true God. The Scriptures call Jesus, the Son of the Virgin, the true God, Isa. 9. 6. 1 John 5. 20. Therefore he is the true and great God.

11. He that made all things, whether they be visible, or invisible, whether they be Thrones or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, must needs be the true God. But Jesus the Son of the Virgin Mary did make all these, Col. 1. 14. to the 18. John 1. v. 16. Hebr. 1. 2. 3. And therefore he is the true God, as well as Man.

12. The blood of a mere finite Creature could never obtain Eternal Redemption for Sinners. But the Blood of Jesus, the Son of the Virgin Mary, hath obtained Eternal Redemption for Sinners, Eph. 1. 7. Heb. 9. 12. 14. Heb. 10. 19, 20. Therefore the Blood of the Son of the Virgin, must needs be the Blood of God. And so the Apostle calleth it, saying to the Pastors of the Churches, Feed the Church of God, which he hath purchased with his own Blood, Acts 20. 28. 1 John 3. 16. Rom. 3. 25
Rom. 5. 9.
Heb. 9. 12

13. Never was there any that could overcome Death in his own Power, but the true God, Hos. 13. 4. Jesus the Son of the Virgin 1 Tim. 1. 10.
Heb. 1. 2.

Virgin Mary did overcome Death by himself, Heb. 2. 14. Therefore, &c.

14. He that searcheth the Hearts, and knoweth the Thoughts of Men, must needs be the true God, Jer. 17. 10. But Jesus the Son of the Virgin doth, Luke 5. 22. Luke 9. 47. John 2. 24, 25. Therefore, &c.

15. He that by his own Power commandeth the raging Sea, must needs be the true God, Job 38. 10, 11. Prov. 8. 29. But this did Jesus the Son of Mary, Mark 4. 39, 41. Luke 8. 24. Therefore, &c.

16. He that is the Wisdom, Power, and Glory of God, must needs be the true God. But Jesus the Son of the Virgin is all these, as 1 Cor. 1. 23, 24. Heb. 1. 1, 2, 3. Therefore Jesus the Son of the Virgin must needs be true God as well as Man.

The next thing that I am to prove, is this; Namely, That by this Jesus Christ, the Son of the Virgin, the World was made: And here I shall be brief, having touched on it already. Only I shall lay down some of the Scriptures, that hold forth this to be a Truth, and so pass to the next things that I intend to speak of.

AND therefore in the first Place, see Heb. 1. 2. where the Apostle is speaking of the Son of God, which Son was born of the Virgin Mary, according to these Scriptures mentioned before, Matth. 1. 18, to 23. Luke 2. Matt. 3. 17. where God himself saith, This is my beloved Son, &c. This Son of God, saith the Apostle, by whom God hath spoken to us, by him also he made the Worlds. And Col. 1. the Apostle speaking of the Deliverance of the Saints, saith, Who hath delivered you from the Power of Darkness, and translated you into the Kingdom of his dear Son, in whom we have Redemption through his Blood, even the Forgiveness of Sins. And is that all? No, but He is (also) the Image of the invisible God, v. 15. The first born of every Creature. And in v. 16, 17. By him were all things created that are in Heaven, and that are in Earth, visible and invisible, whether they be Thrones, or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers: All things were created by him and for him. And he is before all things, and by him all things consist. Also Heb. 1. 10. it is thus written of this Son of God. Christ Jesus the Son of Mary, And thou Lord in the Beginning hast laid the Foundations of the Earth, and the Heavens are the Work of thy Hands. And again, John 1. and the first 9. Verses, the Evangelist, or Apostle, speaking of the Son, saith, In the beginning was the Word, which Word was the Son, Rev. 19. 12, 13. This Word, or Son, was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. In him was Life, and the Life was the Light of Men; And the Light shined in the Darkness, and the Darkness comprehended it not. But in the ninth Verse of this first Chapter of John, it is written, That was the true Light, which lighteth every one that cometh into the World. Now seeing the Lord hath brought me thus far; and because the Quakers by wresting this Scripture, do not only split themselves upon it, but endeavour also to split others, I shall therefore, before I proceed any further, speak a few Words to it; and they are these that follow.

The Apostle in these nine first Verses, or most of them, is speaking of the Divinity or Godhead of the Son of Mary, and shewing that he made the World: Now in this Ninth Verse he speaketh of Man as he is in his coming into the World, and not as he is a regenerate Person. Now every Man as he comes into the World, receives a Light from Christ, as he is God, which Light is the Conscience, that some call Christ though falsely. This Light, or Conscience, will shew a Man that there is a God, and that this God is eternal, Rom. 1. 20. This Light doth discover this Eternal God by his Works in the World; for saith the Scripture before named, The invisible things of him (meaning God) from the Creation of the World are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made; even his eternal Power and Godhead. This Light also will reprove of Sin, or convince of, and make manifest Sins against the Law of this Eternal God: So that Man, before he is regenerate, is able by that Light to know that Sins against the Law, are Sins against God, as is manifested in the unconverted Pharisees, who, (as Christ told them) had neither the Love of God, nor the Word of God abiding in them, John 5. 38, 42. yet knew Sins against the Law, to be Sins; for they were offended at a Woman for committing Adultery, which Act was forbidden, Mat. 5. 27, 28. by the Law; and it is said also, they were convicted of Sin by their own Consciences, John 8. 7, 8, 9, 19.

Again, The Apostle writing to the Corinthians, and admonishing them to walk orderly, 1 Cor. 11. 14. turns them to Nature itself, saying, Doth not even Nature itself teach you? &c. This Light surely is that, wherewith Christ, as he is God, hath enlightened every Man that cometh into the World, which doth convince of Sins against the Law of God. Therefore, as the Apostle saith, Rom. 1. 20. They are left without excuse. That is, they have their own Conscience, that doth shew them there is a God, and that this God is to be served and obeyed; and the Neglect of this will be sure to damn them, though the Obedience to the Law will not save them, because because they are not able to make a full Recompence to God for the Sins that are past; neither are they able for the time to come, to yield a full, continual, and compleat Obedience to the Law of this Almighty, Infinite, and Eternal God. For as many as are of the Works of the Law, are under the Curse; for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things that are written in the Book of the Law to do them. * But that no Man is justified by the Works of the Law, it is evident: For the Just shall live by Faith, Gal. 3. 10, 11.

*If Works would do it, what need is there of Faith? But it is evident that Works will not save, because there must be Faith in the Blood of Jesus the Son of Mary.

But now, though Christ, as he is God, doth give a Light to every one that cometh into the World, which Light is the Conscience, (as they themselves confess;) yet it doth not therefore follow that this Conscience is the Spirit of Christ, or the Work of Grace, wrought in the Heart of any Man whatsoever; for every one hath Conscience, yet every one hath not the Spirit of Christ: For Jude speaks of a Company of Men in his Days, who had not the Spirit of Christ, Jude 19. These be they who separate themselves, (saith he) sensual, having not the Spirit. Yea Heathens, Turks, Jews, Pagans, Atheists, have that also that doth convince of Sin, and yet are so far from having the Spirit of Christ in them, that it is their great Delight to serve their Lusts, this World their Sins, whereas the Apostle saith plainly, If Christ be in you, the Body is dead because of Sin; but the Spirit is Life for Righteousness sake. So that those who are alive to their Sins, have not the Spirit of Christ. Nay, let me tell you, the very Devils themselves, who were thrown from their first State by Sin, 2 Pet. 2. 4. have such a Taste of their horrible Sins, that when they did but suppose that Jesus was come to put an end to their tyrannical Dealing with the World, and to bring them to Judgment for their Sins, (to which they know they shall be brought,) it made them cry out, Art thou come to torment us before the time? James doth also signify thus much unto us, where he saith, The Devils also believe and tremble, Jam. 2. 19. Which Belief of theirs is not a believing in Christ to save them; for they know he did not take hold on their Nature, Heb. 2. But they do believe that Christ will come to their everlasting torment; and the Belief of this doth make those proud Spirits to tremble.

Rom. 8. 10

Jude 6.

Mat. 8. 26.

Again, Man at his coming into the World, hath his Conscience given him, which doth convince of Sin, John 2. 9. John 8, 9. yet Man, as he cometh into the World, hath not the Spirit of Christ in him; for that must be received afterward, by the preaching of the Word, which is preached by the Ministers and Servants of Jesus Christ. This is God's usual Way to communicate of his Spirit into the Hearts of his Elect; and this is clear in so many Words, where Peter preaching to a certain Number, the Scripture saith, While Peter yet spake these Words, the Holy Ghost, or Holy Spirit, fell on all those that heard the Word. And again, Gal. 3. ver. 2, and 5. compared together, Received ye the Spirit by the Works of the Law, (saith the Apostle) or by the hearing of Faith? or the Gospel, which is the Word of Faith preached by us? Which Spirit, as Christ saith, the World cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him, though his Children shall have Fellowship with him to the great Comfort of their own Souls, John 14. 16, 17.

But now, this merciless Butcherer of Men, the Devil, that he might be sure to make the Soul fall short of Glory, if possible, endeavours to persuade the Soul that its State is good; that it hath the Spirit of Christ in it; and for a Proof of the same, saith he, turn thy Mind inward, and listen within, and see if there be not that within thee that doth convince of Sin: Now the poor Soul, finding this to be so, all on haste (if it be willing to profess) through ignorance of the Gospel, claps in with these Motions of its own Conscience, which doth command to abstain from this Evil, and to practise that Good; which if neglected, will accuse and torment for the same Neglect of others, Rom. 2. 15. both now and hereafter.

Now the Soul seeing that there is something within that convinceth of Sin, doth all on a sudden close with that, supposing it is the Spirit of Christ, and so through this Mistake, is carried away with the Teachings and Convictions of its own Conscience, (being miss-informed by the Devil) unto the Works of the Law; under which, though it work all Days, and labour with its Might and Main, yet it never will be able to appease the Wrath of God, nor get from under the Curse of the Law, nor get from under the Guilt of one sinful Thought the right Way, which is to be done by believing what another Man hath done by himself, Heb. 1. 2, 3. Rom. 5. 15. without us, on the Cross, without the Gates of Jerusalem. See for this, 1 Pet. 2. 24. Heb. 12. 12. The one saith, He bare our Sins in his own Body on the Tree; the other saith, It was done without the Gate.

And thus the poor Soul is most horribly carried away headlong, and thrown down violently under the Curse of the Law, under which it is held all its Days, if God of his meer Mercy prevent not; and at the end of its Life doth fall into the very Belly of Hell.

Again, That the Devil might be sure to carry on his Design, he now begins to counterfeit the Work of Grace: Here he is very subtil, and doth transform himself into an Angel of Light, 2 Cor. 11. 14. Now he makes the Soul believe that he is its Friend, and that he is a Gospel Minister; and if the Soul will be led by what shall be made known unto it by the Light (or Conscience) within, it shall not need to fear but it shall do well.

Now he counterfeits the New Birth, persuading them, that it is wrought by following the Light that they brought into the World with them. Now he begins also to make them run through Difficulties: And now, like Baal's Priests, they must launce themselves with Knives, &c. Now, 1656. But now (1691) Quakers are changed to the Laws of the World. Now they must wear no Hatbands; now they must live with Bread and Water; now they must give heed to seducing Spirits, and Doctrines of Devils, which bids them abstain from Marriage, and commands them to abstain from Meats, which God hath created to be received with Thanksgiving, of them which love and know the Truth, as in 1 Tim. 4. 1, 2, 3. Now they must not speak, except their Spirit moves them, (I do not say the Spirit of Christ) though when it moves, they will speak such sad Blasphemies, and vent such horrible Doctrines, that it makes me wonder to see the Patience of God, in that he doth not command, either the Ground to open her Mouth and swallow them up, or else suffer the Devil to fetch them away alive, to the Astonishment of the whole World.

Object. But you will say, Doth not the Scripture say, that it is the Spirit of Christ that doth make manifest or convince of Sin? John 16. 8.

Ans. Yes, It doth so. But for the better understanding of this Place, I shall lay down this; namely, That there are two Things spoken of in the Scriptures, which do manifest Sin, or convince of Sin.

First, The Law, as saith the Apostle, Rom. 3. 20. Therefore by the Deeds of the Law shall no Flesh be justified in his Sight, viz. God's Sight: For by the Law is the Knowledge of Sin.

Secondly, The Spirit of Christ doth make manifest, or reprove of Sin, as it is written, John 16. 8, 9. And when he (the Spirit) is come, he will reprove the World of Sin, of Righteousness, and of Judgment: Of Sin because they believe not on me, saith the Son of Mary, which is Christ.

Now the Law doth sometimes, by its own Power manifest Sin without the Spirit of Christ; as in the Case of Judas, who was convinced of the Sin of Murther, which made him cry out, I have sinned; yet at that Time he was so far from having the Spirit of Christ in him, that he was most violently possessed of the Devil, Luke 22. 3, 4.

Again, Sometimes the Spirit of Christ takes the Law, and doth effectually convince of Sin, of Righteousness, and Judgment to come.

Quest. But you will say, How should I know whether I am convinced by the Law alone, or that the Law is set home effectually by the Spirit of the Lord Jesus upon my Conscience?

Ans. Unto this I answer. First, When the Law doth convince by its own Power, without the Help of the Spirit of Christ, it doth only convince of Sins against the Law, as of Swearing, Lying, Stealing, Murdering, Adultery, Covetousness, and the like. I say, it doth only make manifest Sins against the Law, pronouncing a horrible Curse, Gal. 3. 10. against thee, if thou fulfil it not, and so leaves thee; but it gives thee no Strength to fulfil it compleatly, and continually, (which thou must do, if thou wilt be saved thereby). Now thy own Strength being insufficient for these Things, having lost it in Adam, thou art a Breaker of the Law. Here the Law finds thee in thy Sins, and condemns thee for thy Sins: But gives thee no Power to come wholly out of them; neither doth it shew thee thy right Saviour, to save thee from them * (which is the Son of the Virgin Mary, the Man Christ Jesus) but commands thee upon pain of eternal Damnation, to continue in all Things that are written in the Book of the Law to do them, Gal. 3. 10. And therefore if thou hast been convinced of no other Sins, but what are against the Law, for all thy Convictions and Horrour of Conscience, thou mayest be but a natural Man at the best, and so under the Curse, Gal. 3. 10.

Obj. But, perhaps thou wilt say, I am not only convinced of my Sins against the Law, but I have also some Power against my Sins, so that I do in some considerable Measure abstain from those Things that are forbidden in the Law.

Ans. This thou mayest have, and do, as thou thinkest, perfectly, as those blind Pharisees called Quakers, do think that they also do, and yet be but a natural Man: And therefore I pray consider that Place, in Rom. 2. 14. the Apostle there speaks on this wise, concerning the Gentiles Obedience to the Law, For when the Gentiles, which have not the Law, do by Nature the Things contained in the Law, these having not the Law, are a Law unto themselves, which shew the Work of the Law written in their Hearts. Which Work of the Law, Christ as he is God, hath enlightened every one withal that cometh into the World, John 1. 19. which, as the Quakers say, doth convince of Sin, yet of no other than of Sins against the Law: And therefore must needs be all one Light or Law, for the Law is Light, Prov. 6. 23. and gives the Knowledge of Sin, Rom. 3. 20. And therefore, as I said before, so say I now again, If thy Convictions are no other than for the Sins against the Law, though thy Obedience be the strictest that ever was wrought

Mat. 27. 3, 4. He hanged himself immediately after.

wrought by any Man, (except the Lord Jesus the Son of Mary) thou art at the best but under the Law, and so consequently under the Curse, and under the Wrath of God, Gal. 3. 10. John 3. 36. whether thou believest it or not.

But now the Second Thing, how thou shouldest know whether the Spirit of Christ doth effectually set home the Law upon thy Conscience, or not; and therefore to speak directly to it, If the Spirit of the Lord Jesus, the Son of God, doth set home the Law effectually; then the same Spirit of Christ shews thee more Sin than the Sins against the Law. For,

First, It shews thee, that all thy Righteousness is but as filthy Rags, Isa. 64. 6. Thou see'st all thy Praying, Meditation, Hearing, Reading, Alms-deeds, Fasting, Reformation, and whatsoever else thou hast done, doest, or canst do, being an Unbeliever, deserves at the Hands of God his Curse and Condemnation, and that forever: And therefore thou art so far from trusting to it, that in some Measure thou even loathe'st it, and art ashamed of it, as being a Thing abominable, both in God's Sight and thine own, Phil. 3. 8. Thou countest thy own Performances, when at best, and thine own Righteousness, A Bed too short to stretch thy self upon, and a Covering too narrow to wrap thy self in, Isa. 28. 20. And these Things thou see'st not overly, or slightly, and as at a great Distance, but really and seriously, and the Sense of them sticks close unto thee.

Secondly, It shews thee that thou hast no Faith in the Man Christ Jesus by Nature, and that though thou hadst no other Sins, yet thou art in a perishing State because of Unbelief, according to that 16th of John, Ver. 9. Of Sin, because they believe not on me. If therefore thou hast been convinced aright by the Spirit, thou hast seen that thou hadst no Faith in Christ the Son of Mary, the Son of God, before Conversion. It shews thee also, that thou canst not believe in thine own Strength, though thou wouldest never so willingly; yea, though thou wouldest give all the World (if thou hadst it) to believe, thou couldest not.

Because Faith is the Gift
of God.
Eph. 2. 8.
Phil. 2. 29.

In the next Place it will shew thee, that if thou doest not believe in the Man Christ Jesus, and that with the Faith of the Operation of God, Col. 2. 12. thou wilt surely perish, and that without Remedy. Also it shews thee, that if thou hast not that Righteousness, which the Man Christ Jesus accomplished in his own Person for Sinners, I say, if thou be not clothed with that instead of thine own, thou art gone for ever; and therefore saith Christ, (speaking of the Spirit) When he is come he shall reprove the World of Sin, and of Righteousness too, John 16. 8. That is, The Spirit shall convince Men and Women of the Sufficiency of that Righteousness that Christ, in his human Nature, hath fulfilled: So that they need not run to the Law for Righteousness: For Christ is the End of the Law for Righteousness, to every one that believeth, Rom. 10. 4. Again, If the Spirit of Jesus setteth home the Law upon thy Conscience, thou wilt freely confess, that although the Law curseth and condemneth thee for thy Sins, and gives thee no Power either to fulfil it, or to come out of thy Sins: Yet God is just in giving that Law, and The Law is holy, and the Commandment holy, and just, and good, Rom. 7. 12.

Lastly, It also convinceth of Judgment to come: He (viz. the Spirit) shall reprove the World of Sin, of Righteousness, yea, and of Judgment too. Acts 24. 25. Then doth the Soul see, that that very Man that was born of the Virgin Mary, crucified upon the Cross without the Gates of Jerusalem, shall so come again; even that same Jesus, in like manner as he was seen to go up from his Disciples, Acts 1. 11. Yea, They that are thus convinced by the Spirit of Christ, know that God hath appointed a Day, in which he will judge the World in Righteousness, by that Man whom he hath ordained, Acts 17. 31. which is the Man Christ Jesus: For it is he that is ordained of God to be the Judge of Quick and Dead, Acts 10. 42.

And now, O Man or Woman, whoever thou art, that art savingly convinced by the Spirit of Christ, thou hast such an endless Desire after the Lord Jesus Christ, that thou canst not be satisfied or content with any Thing below the Blood of the Son of God to purge thy Conscience withal; even that Blood that was shed without the Gates, Heb. 13. 12. and 9. 14. Also thou canst not be at quiet, till thou dost see by true Faith, that the Righteousness of the Son of Mary is imputed unto thee, and put upon thee, Rom. 3. 21, 22, 23. Then also thou canst not be at quiet, till thou hast Power over thy Lusts and Corruptions, till thou hast brought them into Subjection to the Lord Jesus Christ. Then thou wilt never think that thou hast enough Faith: No, thou wilt be often crying out, Lord, give me more precious Faith: Lord, more Faith in thy Righteousness; more Faith in thy Blood and Death; more Faith in thy Resurrection: And Lord, more Faith in this, that thou art now at the right Hand of thy Father in thy human Nature, making Intercession for me a miserable Sinner. And then, O poor Soul, if thou comest but hither, thou wilt never have an itching Ear after another Gospel. Nay, thou wilt say, If a Presbyter, or Anabaptist, or Independent, or Ranter, or Quaker, or Papist, or Pope, or an Angel from Heaven, preach any other Doctrine, let him be accursed, again and again, Gal. 1. 8. And thus have I briefly shewed you,

First, How Christ, as he is God, doth enlighten every Man that comes into the World, Rom. 1. 20.

Secondly, What this Light will do, viz. shew them that there is a God, by the Things that are made; and that this God must be worshipped.

Thirdly, I have shewed you the Difference between that Light and the Spirit of Christ the Saviour.

Fourthly, I have also shewed you how you should know the one from the other, by their several Effects.

As first, The first Light convinces of Sins, but of none other than Sins against the Law; neither doth it shew the Soul a Saviour, or deliver (for that is the Work of the Spirit) from the Curse wherewith it doth curse it, John 6. 44. and 16. 24. But I shewed you, that when the Spirit of Christ comes, and works effectually, it doth not only shew Men their Sins against the Law, but also shews them their lost Condition, if they believe not in the Righteousness, Blood, Death, Resurrection, and Intercession of Jesus Christ the Son of Mary, the Son of God. And thus much I thought necessary to be spoken at this Time, touching the Nature of Conviction.

Now in the Third Place.

Though I have spoken something to this Thing already, namely, concerning our Lord the Saviour, yet again, in few Words, through Grace, I shall shew, that he was made, that is, born of a Woman, and made under the Law, to redeem them that are under the Law. My Meaning is, That God is our Saviour.

And for this, see Isa. 45. 15. where you have these Words, Verily, thou art a God that hidest thy self, O God of Israel, the Saviour: And Ver. 21, 22. you have these Words. Who hath told it from antient Times? Have not I the Lord? And there is no God besides me; a just God and a Saviour, and there is none besides me. Look unto me, and be ye saved all the Ends of the Earth: Why, who art thou? For I am God, and there is none else. Also in Isa. 54. 5. For thy Maker is thine Husband, the Lord of Hosts is his Name; and thy Redeemer the Holy One of Israel, the God of the whole Earth shall be called. Read also Verse 6, 7, 8. of that Chapter. I could abundantly multiply Scriptures to prove this to be Truth, but I shall only mind you of two or three, and so pass on; the first is in Jude, Ver. 25. To the only wise God our Saviour be Glory: And Acts 20. 23. John 3. 16. 1 John 5. 20.

Object. But you will say, How is God a Saviour of Sinners, seeing his Eyes are so pure that he cannot behold Iniquity? Hab. 1. 13.

For Answer hereunto. First, When the Fulness of Time was come wherein the Salvation of Sinners should be actually wrought out, God sent forth his Son, (which Son is equal with the Father, John 1. 1. 17. 5. and 10. 30.) made of a Woman, made under the Law, (that is, He was subject to the Power and Curse of the Law) to this End, to redeem them that are, or were, under the Law, Gal. 4. 4, 5. that is, to deliver us from the Curse of the Law, being made a Curse for us, Gal. 3. 13.

From whence take Notice, that when the Salvation of Sinners was to be actually wrought out, then God sent forth the everlasting Son of his Love into the World, cloathed with the human Nature, according to that in John 1. 14. Heb. 2. 14. and 1 Tim. 3. 16. which saith, God was manifested in the Flesh, that is, took Flesh upon him.

2. This Son of God, which is equal with the Father, did in that Flesh which he took upon him, compleatly fulfil the whole Law: So that the Apostle saith, Christ is the very End of the Law for Righteousness to every one that believes, Rom. 10. 4. This Righteousness which this Christ did accomplish, is called, The Righteousness of God, Rom. 3. 22. This Righteousness of God, is by the Faith of Jesus Christ, unto all, and upon all them that believe: My meaning is, it is imputed to so many as shall by Faith lay hold on it.

This is also part of the meaning of that Speech of the Apostle: As many as were baptized in Christ, have put on Christ. That is, by Faith have put on the Righteousness of Christ, with the rest of that which Christ hath bestowed upon you, having accomplished it for you. This is also the meaning of the Apostle, Col. 2. 9, 10. where he saith, For in him (that is the Son of Mary, Chap. 1. 13, 14.) dwelleth all the Fulness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him. That is, in his Obedience and Righteousness, which also the Apostle himself doth so hard press after, Phil. 3. 6, 7, 8. saying, Doubtless, I count all Things but loss, for the excellency of the Knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, which Lord was crucified by the Jews, as it is in 1 Cor. 2. 8. for whom, that is for Christ, I have suffered the loss of all Things (as well the Righteousness of the Law, in which I was blameless, as all other Things) and do count them but Dung, that I may win Christ: And be found in him, not having on mine own Righteousness, which is of the Law, but that which is through the Faith of Christ, the Righteousness which is of God by Faith; which is unto all, and upon all them that believe. That Place also in the ninth of Daniel, ver. 24. 25. holdeth forth as much, where Prophecyng of the Messias, he saith, that it is he that came to finish Transgression, and to make an End of Sin, and to make Reconciliation for Iniquity, and to bring in everlasting Righteousness. Now that that the Righteousness of the Son of Mary is it, mind the 26th Verse; where he saith thus, and after threescore and two Weeks shall Messias be cut off, That is, Christ shall be Crucified. But not for himself, that is, not for any Sin that he hath committed; for he committed none. Then surely, it must be for the Sins of the People, Joh. 11. 50. as the High Priest said, it is expedient that one Man should die for the People, which Man was the true Messias, Dan. 9. 24. which also is the Son of Mary, Mat. 1. 18, to 23. And the Son of God, Mat. 3. 17. And also the true God, 1 Joh. 5. 20. And this Messias, this Son of the Virgin, this Son of God, this true God, did not die for himself, for he had not offended; Neither did he fulfil the Law or finish Transgression, and bring in everlasting Righteousness for himself, for he had not sinned, 1 Pet. 2. 22. therefore it must of necessity follow, that this Righteousness of God, this everlasting Righteousness, is imputed to all, and upon all them that believe, Rom. 3. 22. 2 Cor. 5. 19, 20, 21.

But Secondly, this Messias, this Son of Mary, this Son of God, this true God, he was put to Death for the Sins that his Children had committed, according to that Saying. Herein perceive we the Love of God, in that he laid down his Life for us. Also in Acts 20. the Apostle speaking to the Pastors of the Churches, saith, feed the Church of God, which he hath purchased with his own Blood.

Now, I would not be mistaken. I do not think, or say, that he died in his Divine Nature, but as it is written, he in his own Body on the Tree did bear our Sins; which Tree was the Cross, Col. 2. 14. And as the Apostle saith again, who when he had by himself purged our Sins, fate down on the right Hand of the Majesty on High. And again, the Apostle speaking of his glorious God, saith on this wise, Col. 1. (being before speaking of his Godhead) in the 19th Verse, For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell; and (having made Peace by the Blood of his Cross) by him to reconcile all Things to himself: By him I say, whether they be Things in Earth, or Things in Heaven. And you who were sometimes alienated, and Enemies in your Minds by wicked Works, yet now hath he reconciled. But how? Why in ver. 22. he tells you, that it is in the Body of his Flesh, through Death, to present you holy and unblameable, and unreprouable in his Sight. That is, Christ, who is the true God, after that he had finished all actual Obedience on Earth, did in the Power and Strength of his Godhead, * yield up himself to the Wrath of his Father, which was due to poor Sinners (and that willingly) according to that saying in 1 Pet. 3. 18. For Christ also hath once suffered for Sinners, the just for the unjust: That is, the Son of God for poor Sinners; that he might bring us to God, being put to Death in the Flesh, but quickened in the Spirit. Again, 1 Pet. 4. 1. Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us (not for himself) in the Flesh, in his own Body (which he took of the Virgin, 1 Pet. 2. 24.) let us arm our selves with the same Mind. That is, let us die to Sin as he did, that we might live to God as he did, and doth. And thus have I briefly shewed you,

1. That the Son of Mary is very God.
2. That he made the World.
3. That he is our Saviour, and how.
4. That he died for Sinners, and how, Col. 1. 22. Namely, not in his Divine Nature, but in his Humane, in his own Body, and in his own Flesh, redeeming his Church with his own Blood, Act. 20. 28. and with his own Life, 1 Joh. 3. 16. John 10. 18.

We shall now pass on to some other Things (the Lord willing) touching his Burial, Resurrection, Ascension, Intercession, Second coming, Resurrection of the Body, and eternal Judgment.

His Burial proved.

And first, I shall prove by several Scriptures that he was buried, and so pass on. First, therefore see that Place, Mat. 27. ver. 57. and so forward. After that Jesus the Son of God had been crucified a while, he gave up the Ghost; that is, he died; and after he had been a while dead, Joseph of Arimathea went in to Pilate, and begged the Body of Jesus, and Pilate gave consent thereto. And Joseph took the Body of Jesus, and wrapped it in clean Linnen, and laid it (viz.) the Body of Jesus in his own Tomb, and rolled a Stone upon the Mouth of the Sepulchre, and departed, Mat. 27. 57, to 61. Also in Luke 24. 51, 52, 53. The Apostle Paul also teacheth so much, 1 Cor. 15. 3, 4. where he saith, For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our Sins according to the Scriptures. And that he was buried. Again, in Acts 13. 29. the Apostle speaking there of Jesus Christ, saith, And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the Tree, and laid him in a Sepulchre. And so much touching the Burial of Jesus Christ the Son of God.

In the next Place I am to prove, That that very Man, whom the Jews did Crucifie between two Thieves, called Jesus Christ, did rise again. That very Man, with that very Body wherewith he was Crucified upon the Cross, did rise again out of the Grave, in which he was laid. And this I shall prove by Scriptures, by the Testimony of Angels, by Christ's own Words after he was risen, and by the Testimony of the Apostles in the Scripture.

First therefore consider, Psal. 16. ver. 10. where the Prophet speaks on this wise of Christ's Resurrection; For thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine thine holy one to see Corruption. Which Words the Apostle Peter cites in Acts 2. from ver. 22. to 32. also Isa. 26. 19. in the Person of Christ, saith, Thy dead Men shall live, together with my dead Body shall they rise. See also John 20. 15, 16. where Mention is made of his appearing unto Mary Magdalen, and he called her Mary, and she called him Master; which signifies that he was risen, and that she knew him after his Resurrection; for he was come out of the Grave, see ver. 6, 7, 8. Again, another Scripture is that in Luke 24. 1, 2, 3. The Disciples of Jesus coming to the Sepulchre, thinking to anoint the Body of Jesus, found the Stone that was on the Mouth of the Sepulchre rolled away; and when they went in, they found not the Body of the Lord Jesus; and at this they were troubled and perplexed, ver. 4. But as two of them went up to Emmaus, and were talking of what had befallen to Jesus, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them, ver. 15. Another Scripture is that in Mark 16. ver. 9. which saith on this wise, now when Jesus was risen early the first Day of the Week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalen, out of whom he had cast seven Devils. Where take Notice how the Holy Ghost lays it down in these Words, out of whom he had cast seven Devils. To intimate to us the certainty, that it was the same Jesus that was born of the Virgin Mary, who did many Miracles, and cured many Diseases, who did also cast seven Devils out of Mary Magdalen, that did rise again. Yea, saith the Holy Ghost, it was the same Jesus that did work such a wonderful Miracle on Mary, he appeared to her first, out of whom he had cast seven Devils. And let these Scriptures suffice to prove the Resurrection of the Son of God.

Secondly, you shall have the Testimony of the holy Angels also by the Scriptures. And first look into Mark 16. 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7, ver. the Words are these, And they (viz. the Disciples) said among themselves, Who shall roll away the Stone? They had a good mind to see their Lord, but they could not, as they thought, get away the Stone which covered the Mouth of the Sepulchre. And when they looked (that is, towards the Sepulchre) they saw the Stone rolled away, for it was great; and entering into the Sepulchre, they saw a Young-Man, that is, an Angel, sitting on the right Side, Cloathed with a long white Garment. And they, the Disciples were affrighted. And he said unto them, be not afraid (you have no cause for it) you seek Jesus of Nazareth which was crucified; He is not here, he is risen, behold the Place where they laid him. What Scripture can be plainer spoken than this? Here is an Angel of the Lord ready to satisfy the Disciples of Jesus, that he was risen from the Dead. And lest they should think it was not the right Jesus he spoke of, yes, saith he, it is the same Jesus that you mean; you seek Jesus of Nazareth, do you not? Why he is risen, he is not here. But do you speak seriously, and in good earnest? Yea surely, if you will not believe me, behold the Place where they laid him. This Scripture, or Testimony is very clear to our Purpose. But again, the next Place is in Mat. 28. ver. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. In the third verse there is an Angel (as before) bearing witness of the Resurrection of Jesus. His Countenance was like Lightning, and his Raiment white as Snow, and for fear of him the Keepers did shake, and became as Dead Men. And the Angel answered and said unto them, (viz. to the Woman who came to seek Jesus) Fear you not: but let them that seek to keep the Lord in his Grave fear * if they will; for you have no Ground of Fear, who seek Jesus who was crucified; He is not here, for he is risen; he cannot be in Body here and risen too: If you will not believe me, come, see where the Lord lay, and go quickly and tell his Disciples that he is risen from the Dead; and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee, there shall you see him. But shall we be sure of it? Yea, saith the Angel, Lo, it is I that have told you. See how plainly this Scripture also doth testify of Christ his Resurrection. Here, saith the Angel, you seek a Saviour, and none will content you but he, even the same that was crucified: Well you shall have him, but he is not here. Why, where is he then? He is risen from the Dead. But are you sure it is the same that we look for? Yea, it is the same that was crucified, ver. 5. But where should we find him? Why, he goeth before you into Galilee, where he used to be in his Life-time, before he was crucified: And that you might be sure of it there to find him, know that he is an Angel of God that hath told you, ver. 7. And thus have you in brief the Testimony of the Angels of God, to witness that Jesus the Son of the Virgin, the Son of God, is risen from the Dead.

Object. But you will say, might they not be deceived? Might not their Eyes dazzle, and they might think they did see such a thing, when indeed there was no such matter?

Ans. Well, because it is so difficult a matter, to be persuaded of the Truth of this thing, that Christ is raised again out of the Grave, that very Man, with that very Body; though these things that have been already spoken, might be enough (through Grace) to satisfy, yet because of the Unbelief of some, we shall turn to some more of those infallible Proofs that are spoken of in Acts 1. 3. to prove the Point yet more clear. And therefore first of all, do but see how the Lord doth deal with an unbelieving Disciple, John 20. ver. 23, to 29. You shall see in the 23. ver. Christ after his Resurrection, is talking with his Disciples, but Thomas was not with them. But when the Disciples saw him again, they said unto him, We have seen the Lord, ver. 25. but Thomas would not believe them. Another time Jesus comes to his Disciples again, and then Thomas was with them; then so soon as the Lord had said, Peace be unto you, he turned himself to Thomas, and said to him; Thomas, Reach hither thy Finger, and behold my Hands, and reach hither thy Hand, and thrust it into my Side, and be not Faithless but Believing, ver. 27. As

*They are they that had need to fear and tremble, for they deny the Faith of the Son of God.

* O how much as if the Lord should have said, * Come

Thomas, thou hast doubted of the Truth of my Resurrection very much; thou sayest that thou wilt not believe, except thou do feel with thy Fingers the Print of the Nails, and do thrust thy Hand into my Side, Come Thomas, reach hither thy Finger, and behold my Hands, and see if there was not the Nails driven through them; and reach hither thy Hands and thrust them into my Side, and feel if I have not the very Hole in it still, that was made with the Spears that the Souldier did thrust into it, and be not so full of Unbelief, but believe that my Resurrection is a glorious Truth.

Another infallible Proof, is that in Luke 24. from the 36. to the end of the 44th verse. In ver. 36. it is said that the Lord, (even while they were talking) stood in the midst of them, and said, Peace be unto you: But they were so far from being at Peace, that they were terrified, and supposed that they had seen a Spirit. And Jesus said to them, Why are ye troubled, and why do Thoughts arise in your Hearts? What do you think that I am a Spirit? Do you think your Eyes dazzle? Behold my Hands and my Feet. Look well upon me, and see my Hands, and the Holes in them, and likewise my Feet, and the Holes in them, and know that it is I my self, and not a Spirit, as you suppose. Know, that it is I my self, and not another. Doth your Hearts fail you? Then take hold of me with your Hands, yea, handle me and see, for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, as ye see me have. And when he had spoken these things, he shewed them his Hands and his Feet: As if he had said, Come do not be daunted, nor affrighted, but consider that it is I my self. Well, they could not believe as yet, but wondered that such a thing as this should be: And while they were thus wondering he will give them another infallible Proof; And he said unto them, have you here any Meat? ver. 41. As if the Lord had said, Come my Disciples, I see that you are very full of Unbelief, if you have here any Meat, you shall see me

Eat before you all. And they gave him a Peace of a broiled Fish, and of an Honey Comb, and he did Eat before them. Again, ver. 42. the Lord strives with another Infallible Proof against their doubting, saying, My Disciples, do you not remember what Discourse you and I had before I was crucified, how that I told you, that all things must be fulfilled, which was written in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets concerning me: Another Infallible Proof was, that Appearance of his at the Sea of Tiberias, where he came to them on the Shore, and called them, and provided for them a Dinner, and wrought a notable Miracle while he was there with them at that time, Namely, the catching of 153 great Fishes, and yet their Net brake not.

Which as it was a great Miracle, so it did also shew his Power and Authority over his Creatures. Besides his Eating and Drinking with his Disciples after his Resurrection; and also his Preaching to them, Acts 1. 3. This is not the least, viz. that he was with his Disciples on Earth 40 Days which was almost six Weeks, speaking to them the things concerning his Kingdom: which was a mighty Confirmation of their Faith in his Resurrection.

I shall now briefly touch two or three Scriptures, the which hold forth his Disciples Testimony of his Resurrection. And the first is in Acts 10. 40, 41. In which Place the Apostle speaking of the Lord Jesus, saith, Him God raised up the third Day, and shewed him openly, yet not to all the People, but to Witnesses chosen before of God, even to us (saith the Apostle) who did Eat and drink with him after he was risen from the Dead. Again, Acts 4. 10. and Acts 13. 29, 30, 31. The Words run thus (the Apostle speaking of Jesus, saith) And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the Tree, and laid him in a Sepulchre. But God raised him from the Dead, and he was seen many Days of them which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are his Witnesses unto the People. And thus far touching his Resurrection from the Dead.

In the next Place I am to prove that this very Man, Christ Jesus, the Son of the Virgin, in his very Body, the same Body that was crucified, is above the Clouds and the Heavens. And though this is made light of by those Men called Quakers, and other Infidels of this Generation: Yet I am sure that it will prove true to their cost, who reject it as erroneous and vain. But to prove it, First, I shall prove that he is ascended. Secondly, that he is ascended above the Clouds, and the Heaven.

For the first, that he is ascended, see Eph. 4. 8, 9, 10. Wherefore (saith the Apostle) when he ascended up on high, he led Captivity Captive, and gave Gifts unto Men.

Men. Now that he ascended, what is it but that he descended first into the lower Parts of the Earth; he that descended is the same that also ascended (again) up far above all Heavens.

Joh. 20. 17. Again, read Joh. 20. 17. where Christ after his Resurrection from the Dead, saith to Mary Magdalen, Touch me not, for I am not yet ascended to my Father: That is, I have not yet ascended with this my Body wherewith I was crucified on the Cross. But go to my Brethren and tell them (meaning his Disciples) that I do ascend to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.

Object. But in that Place (may some say) Eph. 4. 10. He that descended, is said to be the same that ascended: Now there was no Humane Nature with God in Heaven before the World was; Therefore if he be but the same that was with the Father from all Eternity, then the Humanity of the Son of Mary is not ascended into Heaven.

Ans. First, for Answer, It is clear from Tit. 1. 2. Joh. 11. that the Word or Son of God, as he was a Spirit, was with the Father before the World was. But now in the fullness of Time, that is, when that Time that the Father and he had concluded on, was come, God sent forth his Son (which was with him before the World was, Joh. 7. 5.) made of a Woman, that is, born of a Woman. And he took on him the Form of a Servant, and was made in the likeness of Men, Phil. 2. 6, 7. Now as he was born of a Woman, as he was in the likeness of Men, so he ascended to the right Hand of his Father, in our Nature. And for this, I pray turn to Acts 1. 9, 10, 11. and there you shall find, that he is the same that was born of the Virgin, that very Man that was crucified; if you compare ver. 3. with ver. 9, 10, 11. you will find it so to be. Now in ver. 9. after he had spoken many Things while they beheld, that is, while his Disciples looked on him, he was taken up, that is, he was taken up from them into Heaven, as in ver. 11, and a Cloud received him out of their Sight. And while they looked up stedfastly towards Heaven, as he went up (which Heaven, was not within them; if it had, they needed not to have looked toward the Clouds and the Heaven without them) behold two Men stood by them, not in them; in white Apparel, which also said (that is, the two Men, or Angels which stood by them said) Ye Men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into Heaven? Here again, they did not look within them, but stood gazing or looking after the Lord Jesus, the Son of Mary, who was carried away from them in a Cloud, ver. 9. But why (say the Angels) do you stand gazing so much into Heaven: your Master will come again after a certain time. For, This same Jesus, Namely, which was crucified, which rose again, and hath been with you these 40 days, which also you see go into Heaven, shall so come, (Namely in a Cloud) as ye have seen him go into Heaven. But shall he not lose his Body before he come again? No say the Angels, he shall so come, that is, as ye have seen him go; in like manner, that is, with the same Body. Or else I am sure he cannot come in the same manner, if he lose his Body before he comes again; for he went thither with that Body. But that same Jesus that was crucified, is he that went, or Ascended up into Heaven. If you compare Luke 24. v. 39. to 44. with the 50. and 51. Verses of the same Chapter, you may clearly find it so to be. And therefore if he come again in like manner; he must come again with the same Body wherewith he was crucified.

Object. But you will say, The Scripture saith, he that descended is the same that ascended, which to me (say you) implies, none but the Spirit's ascending?

Ans. For Answer, we do not say, (as I said before) that it is another that ascended, but the very same; that is, the very same Christ that was with the Father from everlasting, did come down from Heaven: That same Christ also that came down from Heaven did ascend up thither again; only, he descended without a Body from Heaven, and took Flesh and Blood upon him from the Virgin. And though he descended without a Body, yet He, the very same Christ that descended without a Body, the same did ascend again with a Body, even that very Body that he took of the Virgin Mary, See Luke 24. from 39. to 51. Verses. Acts 2. 30, 31. Now let me give you a Similitude, for it is warrantable, for both Christ and his Apostles did sometimes use them, to the end, Souls might be better informed, John 15. 1. 1 Cor. 9. 24, 25. The Similitude is this, Suppose there come into thine House a Man that is naked, and without Cloathing, though he go out of thy House again well cloathed, yet the same Man that came in without Cloathing, is the same Man also that goes out of thy House, though very well cloathed. Even so it is in this Case, The Lord Jesus came into the Womb of the Virgin, Spirit, Mat. 1. 18. but he came out of the Womb cloathed with a Body, and went up into Heaven again cloathed with a Body. Compare Luke 24. 39. with Acts 1. 11. and 2. 30, 31.

Now also I shall lay down some few Things to be considered, for the better clearing of it.

First, Consider that he did say to his Disciples that he would go away from them, John 14. 3. and 16. 7. Mat. 25. 19. Yea, saith he, I go and prepare a Place for you, and then I will, after a long Time, come again, and take you to my self, that where I am, am, that is, whither I am going, there ye may be also. Now, I say, If Christ had not gone from his Disciples, (for that was his Meaning) touching his bodily Presence, I say, If he had not gone away from them, in respect of his bodily Presence, he had said more than he had performed; which is horrible Blasphemy once to assert: Which going of his, is his going into Heaven. See 1 Pet. 3. 22.

Secondly, Consider that there it was that he was to receive the Promise of the Father, Luke 24. 49, 50, 51. which Promise was the Shedding forth in an abundant manner the blessed Holy Ghost. And for this see Acts 2. 33. Therefore being by the right Hand of God, which is in Heaven, exalted, and having received of the Father the Promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this which ye now see and hear. For David is not ascended into the Heavens; but he saith himself, The Lord said unto my Lord, sit thou on my right Hand till I make thine Enemies thy Footstool. Therefore let all the House of Israel know assuredly, for 'tis very true, that God hath made that same Jesus whom you have crucified both Lord and Christ.

Thirdly, Consider that if he were on Earth, he could not be a Priest, Heb. 8. 4. Now the Man Christ Jesus is a glorious Priest, Heb. 7. 24. in the Heavens, Heb. 9. 24. And therefore He is able to save to the uttermost, all that come to God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them. (That Man, Ver. 25.)

Fourthly, If he be not gone into Heaven, both his own and his Apostles Doctrine is false; yea, the Witness of the Angels also, 1 Pet. 3. 22. Acts 1. 9, to 12. which to think were damnable Infidelity in any Man.

Fifthly, Know that he is gone into Heaven, because the Scriptures say he is, Eph. 6. 9. 1 Pet. 3. 22. Heb. 9. 24. which is the very Truth of God, spoken by his holy Apostles and Prophets: Yea, holy Men of God, spoke them as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

Sixthly, Consider, If thou sayest that that Man is not gone into Heaven, then thou must also conclude that he is still in the Grave: And if so, then thou sayest that the Prophets, Apostles, Angels, Christ, God, and all are Liars, who have testified these Things in the Scriptures for glorious Truths, Isa. 26. 19. Acts 10. 40, to 43. 13. 30, to 39. and 1. 9, to 12. Rev. 1. 17, 18. and 2. 8. And as the Apostle saith of himself, and the rest of the Apostles and Ministers of Jesus Christ, And we are found false Witnesses of God; because we have testified of God, that he raised up Christ whom he raised not up, if so be the Dead rise not. But now is Christ risen, and become the first Fruits of them that sleep. For as by Man came Death, by M A N came also the Re- surrection from the Dead, 1 Cor. 15. 15, to 22.

Secondly, Now I am to prove, that he is above the Clouds and the Heavens. My Meaning is, he is above the lowest Hea- The Scripture speak- ing of high- est implies a lower. vens: For there are three, as appears in 2 Cor. 12. 1, to 5. I knew a Man in Christ, (saith Paul there) caught up into the third Heaven. Now, Heaven in Scripture, is taken sometimes metaphorically, and sometimes properly.

First, Metaphorically it is taken for the Church and People of God, as in Rev. 12. 12.

Secondly, Properly, it is taken for the material Heaven, where the Sun, Moon, and Stars are placed, as in Gen. 1. Ver. 8, 14, 15, 16. compared together: Above which Heaven, Jesus the Son of Mary is ascended.

Therefore I pray you consider with me a little:

And first, That when he went into this Heaven into which he is gone, he went AWAY from his Disciples, as it is written, If I go not away, the Comforter will not come, John 14. 2, 3. John 16. 7. Acts 1. 9, to 12. so that he did not go into a Heaven within them in his Person and human Nature. If so, he must needs go into that Heaven without, above the Clouds and the Stars, Gen. 1. 8, 5, 16.

2. Consider, he was caught away in a Cloud; yea, he was caught upwards from them, as it is Acts 1. 9, to 12. and carried away into Heaven; yea, and his Disciples stood gazing or looking up after him into Heaven, which Heaven must needs be that above the Clouds.

1. If you consider the Posture of the Disciples, they looked upwards after the Cloud that did take him away.

2. Consider the Manner of his going, it was in a Cloud.

3. He was received out of their Sight.

4. And so received up into Heaven; which Heaven must needs be above the Clouds, where God is in his special Presence, Job 22. 12, 13, 14. But further,

3. Consider that those Believers that are alive at this Day in the Body, are absent from the Lord, 2 Cor. 5. 6. but now, if the Man Christ were ascended into that Heaven within them, he would neither be absent from them, nor they from him; but in that he is absent from them touching his bodily Presence, and they from him touching the same, it is evident, that that Heaven into which he is ascended, must needs be without above the Clouds.

4. Consider, that that Heaven into which the Man Christ is ascended, must contain him till the Time of Restitution of all Things, as in Acts 3. 21. into which Heaven he hath been ascended above sixteen hundred Years by Computation. And I am sure there there is not a Saint that doth live in the World half so long, before he fall asleep, and be gathered to his Fathers; so that that Heaven into which he is ascended, is not within, but must needs be that above the Clouds. But,

5. Consider, that he that ascended from his Disciples, was a Man, with Flesh and Bones, not a Spirit only; for handle me, and see, (saith he) for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, as ye see me have, Luke 24. 39, 50, 51 Verses. Now let the Adversaries shew by the Scriptures, that there is any Place in them called Heaven, that is able to contain a Man of some four or five Foot long, the Space of fifteen or sixteen hundred Years; besides that, therefore, it must needs be that Heaven without, which is above the Clouds and Stars.

6. Consider, that Heaven into which the Lord Jesus that Man is ascended must not contain him always; for, saith the Apostle, 1 Thes. 4. 16. The Lord himself shall descend from Heaven with a Shout, with the Voice of an Archangel. So that there is another descending from that Heaven into which he is ascended; and his descending from that Heaven is this End, namely, to take his People to himself, as it is Ver. 17. so that it is clear that it is not any Heaven within thee, into which the Man Christ that was born of the Virgin Mary is ascended, but it must needs be that Heaven without, which is above the Clouds, Heb. 12. 22. 1. If thou consider, that the Place into which he ascended, even the Heaven into which he is entred, is the same Place where all the deceased Saints are in their Spirits: Therefore saith Paul, I desire to depart, and to be with Christ, which is far better. Now Paul did not in this Place, Phil. 1. 23. mean the enjoying of Christ only in the Spirit; for that he enjoyed in great Measure when he spake these Words; but he spake of a dying, and being with Christ after this Life is ended; as is clear if you compare the 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, and 26. Verses together, being absent from him while he was here in the Body, 2 Cor. 5. 6. For whilst at home in the Body we are absent from the Lord.

So that that Heaven into which the Man Christ is ascended, is not into his Church on Earth; but into Heaven without, above the Clouds and the Stars, John 16. 6, 7. and 14. 1, 2, 3. 1 Tim. 2. 5. And this David doth prophesy of, Psal. 47. 5. where he saith, God is gone up with a Shout, the Lord with the Sound of a Trumpet. Now Christ, as God merely could not go up, being no less in one Place than another; but as God-Man, or in his human Nature, he went up; as will clearly appear, Eph. 4. 8, 9, 10. where he speaketh of his Triumph over all the Enemies of his People at his Resurrection and Ascension into Heaven above the Clouds.

8. When Christ doth descend from that Heaven into which he is now ascended, his Saints and he will meet one another, just in the Air, according to the Scripture, 1 Thes. 4. 16, 17. For (saith he) the Lord will descend from Heaven with a Shout, with the Voice of the Archangel, and with the Trump of God, and the Dead in Christ shall rise first, (that is, they shall come out of their Graves) and then we which shall be saved alive (at that Day) and remain, shall be caught up together with them in the Clouds to meet the Lord in the Air, and so shall we ever be with the Lord.

Pray mark here a little, and see what Heaven the Man Christ is ascended into, and see if it be not the Heaven without, above the Sun, Moon, and Stars.

When Christ and his Saints do meet a second Time together, the one ascends and the other descends; the one is caught up in the Clouds towards the Heaven, the other descends from Heaven towards the Earth, and they must needs meet one another just in the Air, that is, between the Heaven and the Earth. So then, the one coming from Heaven and the other from the Earth, and their Meeting being in the Air, which is between Heaven and Earth, Phil. 3. 20. 1 Thes. 1. 10. is an undeniable Demonstration, that that Heaven into which the Man Christ is ascended, must needs be that Heaven without, above the Sun, Moon, and Stars. And thus much touching the Son of Mary, his ascending up into the Heaven without above the Clouds, Acts 1. 9, to 12. and 3. 21. And 1 Pet. 3. 22.

In the next Place,

Now I shall prove the Intercession of the Man Christ Jesus to be in the Heaven that I have been speaking of; though some have mocked at it, and others have called it Juggling, which Names here I shall not mention, only I shall admonish them, that they do not blaspheme the Truth of the Son of God in his Intercession.

I shall quote some of the Scriptures that hold out this Truth, and so pass on.

And first of all, see Psal. 16. 4. where David prophesying of the Intercession of Christ, saith, Their Sorrows shall be multiplied that hasten after another God, (speaking of the Wicked) their Drink-Offerings of Blood will I not offer, nor take up their Names into my Lips. Now, compare this with Heb. 8. 4. where he saith, If he were on Earth, he should not be a Priest. And Heb. 9. 24. For Christ is not entered into the Holy Places made with Hands, (meaning the Temple which Solomon built) which are Figures of the true: But into Heaven it self, now to appear in the Presence of God for us. Wherefore he is able to save to the uttermost, them that come to God by him, seeing he ever lives to make Intercession for them, Heb. 7. 25.

But

But you will say, is there a Man made mention of here? Yes, for the Scripture faith, There is one God, and one Mediator between God and Men, the Man Christ Jesus. And in that 8th. to the Heb. made mention of before; where the Apostle speaking of Christ's Priestly Office, as he is in the Heavens, compared with other Priests that are on Earth; he faith *ver. 3. for every high Priest is ordained to offer Gifts and Sacrifices; wherefore (speaking of Christ) it is of necessity that this Man have somewhat also to offer: For if he were on Earth, he should not be a Priest, seeing there are Priests that offer according to the Law, (which Law was the Law of Moses, Chap. 9. from 19 to 23. where also he is speaking of the Priesthood of the Priests under the Law, and their offering of the Blood of Bulls and Goats, (verse 12. compared with Verse 19, 20, 21.) And of the Lord Jesus the High Priest of Saints, and of his Blood (ver. 14. compared with ver. 24.) Now as Men under the Law did offer up the Blood of Bulls and Goats, so the Man Christ Jesus did offer up his own Blood to his Father; and this you may clearly see, if you compare Heb. 9. 14. where he faith, *How much more shall the Blood of Christ, who through the Eternal Spirit offered himself without Spot to God; purge your Consciences from dead Works to serve the living God, Heb. 10. 12. where he faith, But this Man (meaning the Son of the Virgin) Chap. 2. 14. compared with Mat. 1. 21. after he had offered one Sacrifice for Sins for ever, sate down at the right Hand of God. Again Heb. 7. the Chap. I mentioned before, you shall find his Intercession plainly held forth, if you read ver. 22. and so on, where the Scripture faith, By so much was Jesus made the surety of a better Testament. And truly they were many Priests (meaning the Priests under the Law) because they were not suffered to continue by Reason of Death, (that is, the High-Priest under the Law, could not live ever in this World, Because it was appointed to all Men once to die.) But when he speaks of Christ Jesus, he faith on this wise, But this Man because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable Priesthood; wherefore he (this Man) is able to save to the uttermost, them that come to God by him, seeing he (this Man) ever liveth to make Intercession for them. And thus in brief have I proved through the Assistance of the Lord, the Intercession of the Son of Mary, which is also the Son of God. And this concerning Christ's Priestly Office, might serve also for a proof of his being in the Heaven without, above the Stars. But all Men may see (unless they be blind) that these are the Truths of our Lord Jesus Christ, and of God his Father; and that those Men that oppose them (as the Quakers do) are very violently possessed of the Devil, and besides themselves; and have neither the Truth of God, nor his Spirit in them, 2 Joh. ver. 9, 10. Job. 5. 38, 42.

And now through the assistance of the Lord, I shall come to the last that I promised, and that is to prove, that this very Man Christ, will come to judge the Quick and the Dead.

And first, I shall prove the Truth it self, viz. That that Man shall come again to judge the World, Quick and Dead.

Secondly, I shall shew you that his coming will be very shortly.

Thirdly, What shall be done at his coming.

Fourthly, Who shall stand when he shall come, and who not. For the first,

That that Man that was born of the Virgin Mary shall come again to judge the Quick and the Dead, read 2 Tim. 4. 1. I (faith Paul) charge thee therefore before God (speaking to him, even to Timothy, and so to all Believers) and the Lord Jesus Christ, who will judge the Quick and the Dead at his appearing and Kingdom. Now if you would know who this Lord Jesus is, look into Acts 10. 28. and you shall see it was Jesus of Nazareth; would you know who that was? read Mat. 2. towards the end, and you shall see it was the Son of Mary the Virgin, who was espoused to Joseph the Carpenter. But read Acts 10. ver. 38, to 43. you shall find these Words, God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost, and with the Power, who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the Devil; for God was with him: And we are witnesses of all Things that he did, both in Jerusalem, and in the Land of the Jews; whom they slew, and hanged on a Tree, even Jesus of Nazareth; him God raised up the third Day, and shewed him openly, not to all the People, but unto Witnesses, chosen before of God; even to us who did eat and drink with him, after he rose from the Dead. And he commanded to us to preach unto the People, (that is, God commanded us) and to testify (that is, to be bold in our Preaching) that it is he (namely, Jesus of Nazareth, whom the Jews did thus Crucify) which was ordained of God to be Judge of Quick and Dead. This is he also that is spoken of in Acts 17. 30, 31. The Times of this Ignorance God winked at (meaning Mens being without the Gospel) but now commandeth all Men every where to repent, because he hath appointed a Day (which Day is the Day of Judgment, Mat. 12. 36.) in the which he will judge the World in Righteousness, by that Man (namely Jesus of Nazareth) whom he hath ordained, (compare this with that in Acts 10. 38, 39, 40, 41, 42. whereof he hath given assurance to all Men) that is, hath given a sure Sign unto all Men in that he hath raised him (that is, in that he hath raised Jesus of Nazareth) from the Dead. This also is Christ's own Meaning, Mat. 24. where speaking of his second coming, he styleth himself the Son of Man, saying; and then shall appear the Sign of the Son of Man, and so shall the coming of the Son of Man be, ver. 27. So shall also the coming of the Son of Man be, ver. 37. So shall also the coming of the Son of Man be, ver. 39. Where by the Way it is observable to see how the Lord of Life and Glory doth in this Chapter, where he speaketh of his Second coming, for the most Part stile himself the Son of Man. Sure he doth it to this End, because he will not have his Humanity and the Doctrine thereof, to be razed out from under Heaven: For he knew, that in the last Days, there would come Mockers walking after their own Lusts, and saying, where is the Promise of his coming, 2 Pet. 3. 3. I could multiply Scriptures to prove this Doctrine of his second coming, as Heb. 9. ver. last. 2 Pet. 3. 2 Thes. 1. 6, 7, 8. Luke 21. Mat. 24. Mat. 25. Rev. 22. 7. 12. and the last. 2 Cor. 5. 10. Rom. 14. 10. Act. 24. 25. But,

Secondly, I will shew you that his coming will be shortly. It is true, no Man can tell neither the Day nor the Hour, yet so far as the Scriptures will give us Light into the nearest of his coming, so far we may go. And if you read Mat. 24. you shall see many Signs of his coming spoken of.

1. There is falling away from the Faith spoken of. And that hath been fulfilled and is fulfilling every Day.

2. Wars and Rumours of Wars is another Sign that his coming doth draw nigh, even at the Doors.

3. The Love of many waxing cold, is another Sign that it is nigh, even the coming of Christ: And how cold is the Love of many at this Day? They that were hot two or three Years ago, are now grown lukewarm and cold. They are cold in the Lord's appearing. They are cold in the Profession of the Gospel. They are cold in Love to the Saints, they are cold in the Worship of God; Yea, very cold, which is a notable Demonstration that the coming of the Lord draweth nigh.

4. The Stars falling from Heaven; (That is Professors falling from the Faith which once they professed) is another Sign that the coming of the Lord is at Hand: And how many Professors do you see now a days, fall from the Doctrine of God, and his Son Jesus Christ, as though there were no such Thing as a World to come, and no such Thing as a Lord Jesus Christ, and his Second coming.

Mat. 25.

Things I

Luk. 18. 8.

5. Many poor Souls will go on in their Profession with Lamps without Oyl, just before his Second coming. And the Lord knows that most of the Professors of this Generation, are such kind of Professors, yea, very foolish Professors, which is another sure Sign, that the coming of the Lord draws nigh.

6. When the Time of Christ's Second coming is at Hand, there will be but a very little * Faith in the World And the

7. Another Sign of Christ's Second coming, is the carnal Mindedness of the most of the World; and the very Carriages of almost all Men now living do discover this Truth to be at this Day fulfilled, and know that when they shall say Peace and Safety, then sudden Destruction comes, and they shall not escape, 1 Thes. 5. 1, 2, 3, 4.

8. Before Christ's Second coming, there shall come many false Christs, and false Prophets, and shall shew great Signs, and Wonders, to seduce, if it were possible the Elect. And is not this more clearly fulfilled in our Days then ever it was, especially among those Men called Quakers, who being as Persons, whose Consciences are seared with an hot Iron, and they being sealed up unto Destruction, do some of them call themselves Christ, and shew great Signs, (as their Quaking) and such a legal Holiness, as makes the simple admire them, and wonder after them, which shews the coming of Christ to be very nigh.

9. Before Christ's Second coming, there shall come Scoffers in the World, walking after their own Lusts, and if ever this Scripture was fulfilled; it is fulfilled on these Men called Quakers: For they are the Men, that at this Day make a Mock at Christ's Second coming, which shall be from Heaven without; and therefore saith the Holy Ghost, these Mockers shall be such as shall say, where is the Promise of his coming? For since the Fathers fell asleep, all Things continue as they were, See 2 Pet. 3. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. And there you shall see their Mocking and the Reason of it. Read, and the Lord give thee Understanding. But I would not have thee think that I speak at Random, in this Thing, know for certain, that I my self have heard them Blaspheme; yea, with a grinning Countenance, at the Doctrine of that Man's Second coming from Heaven above the Stars, who was born of the Virgin Mary. Yea, they have told me to my Face, that I have used Conjuratation, and Witchcraft, because what I preached was according to the Scriptures. I was also told to my Face, that I preached up an Idol, because I said, that the Son of Mary was in Heaven, with the same Body that was Crucified on the Cross; And many other Things have they blasphemously vented against the Lord of Life and Glory, and his precious Gospel. The Lord reward them according as their Work shall be.

1 Thes. 1.
Phil. 3. 20.

I could have hinted in many other Things which Christ and his Apostles have shewed to be Signs of his coming. But I shall commend the Holy Scriptures unto thee, which are able to make the Man

Man of God perfect in all Things, through 2 Tim. 3. Faith in the Lord Jesus.
 16, 17.

Now you have also the Manner of his coming how it shall be, most notably laid down in the Scriptures. I shall hint in a few Things touching it.

As first, He will come when there is but very few looking for his coming. When they shall say Peace and Safety, then sudden Destruction cometh, 1 Thes. 5. 1, 2, 3. Which sudden Destruction will be at his Second coming, for that is it which the Apostle spake of in those three Verses. Then will all the World be caught at such an unexpected Time, that it will come upon them, even as a Snare cometh upon those Creatures that are caught in it. As it is written, Luke 21. 35. For as a Snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the Face of the whole Earth. Which is all on a sudden, before they are aware.

2. He cometh with all his Saints and Angels. Then will the Lord descend from that Heaven, into which he now ascended, as it is written in 1 Thes. 4. 16. Then will he come, and all his Saints with him, as Jude saith in his Epistle, v. 5. Then shall Abel and Enoch, Noah and Abraham, David and Job, Peter and Paul: Together with all the Saints which have been, now are, or hereafter shall be, and they shall sit on the Throne with the Lord Jesus Christ, as in Mat. 19. 28. Before whom shall all the Nations of the World be gathered, as it is written, Joel 3. 12. Let the Heathen be weakened (or raised out of their Graves, Dan. 12. 2.) and come down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat; for there will I sit to judge all the Heathen round about. Which never was yet accomplished, though it shall certainly be, in God's Time: To the Astonishment, and everlasting Damnation of all those that shall continue mocking, or sinning against God and his Christ.

3. He shall come in a Flaming Fire, (when he doth come again: he will come in such a manner, as will make all that shall be found in their Sins rather seek to creep under a Mountain, than to meet the Lord of Glory, Rev. 6. 15.) As Esay saith, For behold the Lord will come with Fire, and with his Chariots like a Whirlwind: to render his Anger with Fury, and his Rebukes with Flames of Fire, Esay 66. 15. To execute Judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them, of all their ungodly Deeds which they have committed, and of all their hard Speeches, which ungodly Sinners have spoken against him, Jude 15. as I shall shew farther by and by.

And therefore in the next place, I shall shew you, what shall be done when he is come.

First, When Christ is come the second Time, they that are in their Graves shall Arise, and come forth of their Graves (as I said before) in which they have lain according to that in John 5. 28. Where Christ saith, Marvel not at this; for the Hour is coming in the which all that are in the Graves shall hear his Voice, and shall come forth: they that have done good unto the Resurrection of Life; and they that have done evil unto the Resurrection of Damnation. You will say, Are these Graves spoken of here, the Graves that are made in the Earth? Yea, that they are; and for a further Proof of the same, look into Dan. 12. 2. Daniel there speaking of the same thing saith, And many of them that sleep in the Dust of the Earth shall arise, or awake, some to everlasting Life, and some to everlasting Contempt, or Damnation.

I shall not stand here to dispute any distinctions of the Resurrections, only prove that the Dead shall arise; and that is a clear truth from the Scriptures, Acts 10. 42. Rev. 20. 11, 12. 13, 14. and 1 Thes. 4. 16. 1 Cor. 15. 52. the Dead shall be raised.

2. He shall call all Men and Women to an Account for all their close Sinful Thoughts, Words, and Actions; then will the Secrets of all Hearts be made manifest. Then shall all thy Adulterous, and thievish, and covetous, idolatrous, and blasphemous Thoughts be laid open, according to that saying, Their Consciences also bearing them witness, and their thoughts the mean time, or while, accusing, or else excusing one another, Rom. 2. 15. But when? Why, in the Day when God shall judge the Secrets of Men by Jesus Christ, v. 16. See also *1 Cor. 4. 5. Therefore judge nothing before the time; What time is that? Why, when the Lord comes; What will he do: He will bring to light the hidden things of Darkness, that is, all those cunning, close, hidden Wickedness that thou in thy Life-time hast committed; yea, he will make manifest the Counsels of the Heart; that is, the most hidden and secret things that are contrived and plotted by the Sons of Men; Then shall all the midnight Whoremongers be laid open with all their Sins; Then thou (it may be) who hast committed such Sins as thou wouldst not have thy Neighbour, thy Father, thy Wife, thy Husband, or any one else know of for thousands, then thou shalt have them all laid open, even upon the House tops, Luke 12. 1, 2, 3. Then thou that hatest God's Children, his Ways, his Word, his Spirit; then thou that makest a Mock at Jesus of Nazareth's second coming, then thou that livest in open Prophaneness, or secret Hypocrisie, then I say, will be such a time of reckoning for you, as never was since the World began, then you that shall die in your Sins, will cry to the Mountains, fall on us, and cover us from the Face of him that sits on the Throne, and from the Wrath of the Lamb (which Lamb is the Man Christ Jesus, Joh. 1. 19.)*

And

And ah, my Friends! If the very Looks of God be so terrible, what will his Blows be, think you? Then if all thy idle words shall be accounted for, as it is written, But I say unto you that every idle Word that Men shall speak, they shall give an Account thereof in the Day of Judgment, Mat. 12. 36. and also all thy filthy Actions shall be then regarded in such sort, as thou shalt receive a just Recompence for them.

And know, faith the Scripture, that for all these things  God will bring thee into Judgment*, Eccles. 11. 9. Then Thou that art an Unbeliever shalt be sure to fall under the Judgment for all thy Sins.

First, thou must give an Account.

Secondly, thou must fall in the Judgment, Oh my Friends, there are hot Days a coming for all those that are found out of the Lord Jesus: Behold, faith Malachi, the Days come that shall burn as an Oven, and all the proud, yea, all that do wickedly shall be as Stubble; and the Day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of Hosts; and it shall leave them neither Root nor Branch. The Day of Judgment will burn like an Oven, and all that have not the Righteousness of Christ upon them shall be as Stubble. Ah Friends, put a Red Hot Oven, and Stubble together, and what work will there be? Even the one will burn and destroy the other.

3. When Christ doth come the second time, another end of his coming will be to purge out all things that offended in this Kingdom, Mat. 13. 41, 42. Then shall the Son of Man send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his Kingdom all things that offend, and them that do Iniquity, and shall cast them into a Furnace of Fire; there shall be Weeping and Gnashing of Teeth. There are many things that do offend in his Kingdom now: namely, the lukewarm Professor, he doth offend first the Lord, secondly, his People. But then thou lukewarm offending Professor shalt offend the Church of God no more.

Secondly, the loose Professors do also offend God, Christ and his Church.

First, He scandals the Gospel by his loose walking, and naughty Carriages.

Secondly, He doth make the World blaspheme the Name of God by the same.

Thirdly, He grieves the Hearts of God's People, Phil. 3. 18. But know that thou also shalt be taken away from offending any more, God, Christ, and his Saints, and thou shalt have Weeping and Gnashing of Teeth, for thy thus offending, Mat. 18. 6, 7.

4. Another End of Christ's second coming, is to cut off all the ignorant Persons that are in the World. There is a Generation of poor Souls that do think to be excused for their Ignorance: Alas! faith one, I am a poor ignorant Man, or Woman; and therefore I hope that the Lord will have Mercy upon me: We cannot say others do as such and such, and will the Lord condemn us? And thus poor Souls, as they are in the broad Way to Destruction, lest they should miss of the Way to Hell; do swallow down by Clusters, that which will poison them, Body and Soul for ever and ever.

But you will say, What, will not the Lord have Mercy on Ignorant Souls?

Ans. Not on those who Live and Die in their Ignorance. He himself hath said, Esa. 27. 11. Because it is a People of no Understanding; therefore he that made them will not have Mercy on them, and he that formed them will shew them no Favour. Again, Paul also in that 2 Thes. 1. 8. faith, that when Jesus Christ shall come to Judge the World, he doth come to take Vengeance on all them that know not God, and that obey not the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

But ye will say, who are those ignorant Persons, that shall find no Favour at that Day? Or how doth the ignorance discover it self?

I shall only mention three or four Sorts of Men; and leave thee to the Scriptures, which if thou read them diligently, will, further lay them open before thee.

And first, the profane Scoffer, who makes a Mock at the Truths of God, and so goes on in his Sins, for this see in 2 Pet. 3. 3. which the Apostle attributes to their Ignorance, ver. 5. And therefore he likens them to brute Beasts, Chap. 2. 10. and 12. verses, who walk after the Flesh in the Lusts of Uncleanness, and speak evil of the things they understand not, and shall utterly perish in their Corruption; who because they understand not the Scripture, nor the Power of God in them, speak evil of the Truths therein contained, and think the Lord like unto themselves, Psal. 50.

Secondly, The formal Professor, who hath only a Notion of the Gospel, and some seeming Holiness, but wants Gospel Faith: Such are called Foolish Virgins, Mat. 25. 2, 3. to whom Christ will say in that Day, Verily, I know you not. Add hereto, those that think it enough to confess Christ with their Mouths, and profess that they know God, but deny him in their Works; such notwithstanding all their Profession, shall, if they so continue, perish Eternally, being abominable, disobedient, and to every good Work Reprobate, or void of Judgment, that is, Ignorant, Tit. 1. ver. 16.

3. The legal righteous Man or Woman, tho' they walk blameless, as touching the Righteousness that is in the Law: For they being ignorant of God's Righteousness, go about to establish their own Righteousness, as Reading, hearing Sermons, Prayers, Publick or Private, Peaceableness with their Neighbours, Fasting, Alms, good Works as they count them, Just Dealings, Abstinence

* Though Sinners will be unwilling to come to Judgment, yet this will be their Misery, God will bring them. Mal. 4. 1, 2.

Men seeking to get Encouragement from their Ignorance do more harden themselves in Sin, and so are in greater danger of eternal Damnation.

This 27th of Isaiab and the 11 verse, is a notable Confutation of the Ignorant's Hypocritical Hope, where he saith, He that made them will have no Mercy on them, and be that formed them will shew them no favour.

nence from the grosser Pollutions of the World, stricter Obedience to the Commandments of the first and second Table; all which with many other things may be comprehended in their own Righteousness, and it is grounded on their Ignorance, and goes on in Rebellion; and such Ignorant Persons shall in that Day perish, not Submitting through Ignorance to the Righteousness of God, Rom. 10. 3. compared with Luke 19. 27. where Christ saith, that when he shall come the second time, he will command those his Enemies, who Submitted not themselves to him, who is called the Righteousness of God, Esa. 46. 13. or would not have him to Reign over them, to be slain before his Face.

4. Those whose Hearts are set upon the World, and follow the alluring Persuasions of it; the Lord calls such Fools, Luke 12. 20. and Prov. 7. 7. who go after it (viz. the World, held forth by a Similitude of a Woman with the Attire of an Harlot) as an Ox to the Slaughter, or a Fool to the Correction of the Stocks, till a Dart strike thorow his Liver, as a Bird hasteth to the Snare, and knoweth not that it is for his Life: and knows not, mark, it is through Ignorance, ver. 23.

A fit end of Christ's coming, is, that his Righteous ones might shine as the Sun in the Glory, or Kingdom of their Father, Matt. 12. 43. there are many things that do hinder the People of God from shining forth as the Sun now.

As first, They have a Body of Death, which makes them fetch many a Groan in their Journey to Canaan, Rom. 7. 24. 2 Cor. 5. 2. They meet with many a sad Temptation, which also makes them in Heaviness many a time, 1 Pet. 1. 6. They have also many other things that do hinder their shining now; but then the Body of Death shall be left off. My meaning is, that Sin shall be no more in the Natures of God's People then: Their Bodies that are now so vile, shall then be made like unto the glorious Body of the Son of God, who shall change our vile Bodies, that it may be like unto his glorious Body according to the working, whereby he is able to subdue all things unto himself, Phil. 3. ver. 21.

6. Another end of Christ's coming shall be to take an Account of his Children, how they have laid out their Talents, that he hath committed to their trust, Mat. 25. 19. Rom. 14. 12. 2 Cor. 5. 10.

7. Another end of his coming is, to set up his Kingdom, which will be glorious indeed at his appearing, 2 Tim. 3. 1. Rom. 8. 19, 20, 21. I do but touch these things, because I would hasten towards a Conclusion: many other things might have been spoken to, but at this time I shall forbear.

But you will say, Who shall stand when he appears? Why, I told you before, that the Ungodly shall not stand in the Judgment, nor Sinners in the Congregation of the Righteous, Psal. 1. 5. let him be close or prophane, as I told you even now, all shall be laid open, all shall be made manifest, all shall come into Judgment.

Ah poor Soul! It is not then thy brave Words will save thee; it is not thine eloquent Tongue that will then do thee any good, if thou be without the Wedding Garment thou wilt be speechless, as in Mat. 22. 12. But thou that art a converted Person, shalt stand in the Judgment; thou that art born again shalt enter into the Kingdom, and none else, John 3. 5. Rev. 21. 27.

But how shall I know that I am born again?

Ans. Why, if thou art born again, then thou knowest that thou wast not born a Christian at first, Eph. 2. 1, 2, 3. You hath he quickned, who were dead in Trespasses and Sins.

2. Thou knowest that once thou hadst no Faith in the Lord Jesus; and wert convinced of Sin because thou didst not believe in the Son of Mary, John 16. 9.

3. Thou seeest all true Joy through the Blood and Righteousness of the Son of Mary, 1 Cor. 15. 57. Rom. 7. 24, 25.

4. Art thou born again? Then thou canst not be quiet till thou seeest God smile, and lift up the Light of his Countenance upon thee, 2 Cor. 4. 6. Psal. 4. 6. and that through the Face of the Son of Mary, the Son of God.

5. Thou knowest that God hath given thee thy Faith, Phil. 1. 29. Eph. 2. 8.

6. Art thou born again? Then thou knowest that the Doctrine of the Son of Mary the Virgin, is a right Doctrine, 2 John 9.

7. Then also thou lookest for the personal appearing of the Son of Mary from Heaven in the Clouds, Rev. 1. 7. the second Time, Heb. 9. 28.

These Things, though plain, yet if the Lord set them home upon thy Conscience, may be profitable both to thee and me. Therefore let us examine the Matter a little. And first,

Thou thinkest that thou art a Christian; thou shouldest be sorry else: Well, But when did God shew thee that thou wert no Christian? When didst thou see that: And in the Light of the Spirit of Christ, see that thou wert under the Wrath of God because of Original Sin? Rom. 5. 12. Nay, dost thou know what Original Sin means? Is it not the least in thy Thoughts? And dost thou not rejoice in Secret, that thou art the same that thou ever wert? If so, then know for certain that the Wrath of God to this very Day abideth on thee, John 3. 36. And if so, then thou art one of those that will fall in the Judgment, except, cept thou art born again, and made a new Creature, 2 Cor. 5. 17.

But Secondly, thou thinkest that thou hast been born again, ('tis well if thou hast) but least thou shouldest deceive thy poor Soul, I pray thee consider, when did the Spirit of the Lord Jesus shew thee, that thou hadst no Faith in thee by Nature? And when did the Spirit of Christ convince thee of Sin, because thou didst not believe in him? It may be thou hast been convinced of Sins against the Law, by the Law and thine own Conscience, as the Pharisees were, John 8. 9. and Rom. 3. 20. I, but when didst thou see thy self a lost Creature for want of Faith in the Son of Mary? If not, thou hast not yet been savingly convinced by the Spirit of Christ; for that when it convinceth effectually of Sin, it convinceth of Unbelief; though thou hast been never so much convinced of Sins against the Law, if thou hast not seen thy self under the Power and Dominion, Guilt and Punishment of Sin, because thou didst not believe in Christ, thou hast not yet been savingly convinced; for that's one Work of the Spirit to convince of Sin, Because they believe not on me, saith Jesus the Son of Mary, who was espoused to Joseph the Carpenter: But on the contrary, Dost thou not say in thy Heart, thou never hadst thy Faith to seek, but hast always believed with as good a Faith as any one alive? If so, then know for certain that thou hast no Faith of the Operation of God in thee, according to God's ordinary working; and if so, then know that if the Son of Man should come to judge the World at this Moment of Time, that thou with all thy Faith (thou thinkest thou hast) wouldest fall in the Judgment, 2 Thes. 2. 12.

3. Art thou born again? Then thou seeest that thy great Sin was want of Faith in the Son of Mary. Then thou seeest that it is he that was sent of God to die for the Sins of the World, John 1. 19. and 3. 16, to 20. Acts 13. 38, 39. and that thou art compleat in him, without any Works of the Law, Rom. 4. 4. then thou rejoicest in Christ Jesus, and puttest no Confidence in the Flesh, Phil. 3. 3. yet thou rejoicest in the Flesh and Blood of the Son of Mary, knowing that his Flesh is Meat indeed, and his Blood is drink indeed, John 6. 55. out of which thou wouldest very willingly make thy Life all thy Days; out of his Birth, Obedience, Death, Resurrection, Ascension, and glorious Intercession, now at the Right Hand of his Father, Heb. 7. 24, 25. but if thou art wavering in these Things, know, that thou art but a Babe at the best, and for ought thou knowest, God may cut thee off in thy Unbelief, and cast thee into utter Darkneſs, where there shall be Weeping and Wailing and Gnashing of Teeth.

4. Art thou born again? Then thou seeest all true Peace and Joy comes through the Blood of the Son of Mary, and his Righteousness, as in Rom. 7. 24. and 1 Cor. 15. 57. there are many poor Souls that are taken up with Raptures of Joy, and false conceited Consolation, John 16. 20. which doth come from the Devil, and their own deceitful Hearts; but their Joy shall be turned into Mourning and Sorrow of Heart, Luke 6. 24, 25. but thou that art a Christian indeed, and not in Word only, rejoice in Christ Jesus the Son of Mary; yea, though now you see him not, yet believing, you rejoice with Joy unspeakable and full of Glory, 1 Pet. 1. 8. And these two Things are the Fruits of thy Faith, and of thy Joy.

1. The Lord Jesus Christ is very precious unto thee, 1 Pet. 2. 7.

2. Thou dost purify thine Heart by this Faith, and the Power of the Spirit of Christ, which thou hast received into thy Soul, Rom. 8. 13. Acts 15. 9. and 1 John 3. 3. But if thy Guilt of Sin goes off, and Convictions go off any other Way than by the Blood and Righteousness of the Man Christ Jesus, thy Guilt goes off not right, but wrong, and thy latter End will be a very bitter End without Faith and Repentance; for it is his Blood through which all true Peace comes, Col. 1. 20. and there is no other Name under Heaven given among Men, whereby we should be saved, but by the Lord Jesus of Nazareth, Acts 4. Ver. 10, to 13, compared together.

5. Art thou born again? Then thou canst not be quiet till thou doest see God lift up the Light of his Countenance upon thee; yea, thou hast such a Desire after the Light of God's Countenance, that all the Glory, Riches, Honour, Pleasure, Profits, &c. of this World will not satisfy, till thou doest see God to be a reconciled Father to thee in the Lord Jesus Christ; as it is Psal. 4. 6. John 14. 8. Psal. 35. 3. Then thou wilt not be quiet till thou dost hear from the Son of Mary, which is the Lord of Glory, 2 Cor. 12. 9. 1 Cor. 2. 8. such a Voice as this, Son be of good cheer, thy Sins are forgiven thee: And My Grace is sufficient for thee. But if thou canst content thy self with any Thing below this, thou wilt, when all comes to all, be found but a rotten-hearted Professor, who will have thy Portion among the slothful Ones, who will fall in the Judgment of the Son of Man, when he comes in flaming Fire with his mighty Angels, 2 Thes. 1. 8.

6. Art thou born again? Then thou knowest that God hath given thee thy Faith that thou hast in his Son: Then thou art to say through Grace, there was a Time in which I had no Faith; there was a Time in which I could not believe in the Son of God for eternal Life. But God, who is rich in Mercy, for his great Love wherewith he loved me, even when I was dead in Sins and Unbelief:

Unbelief; (which is the greatest) hath quickned me together with Christ: By Grace I am saved, Eph. 2. 4, 5. Through Faith, Verse 8.

7. Art thou born again? Then thou knowest that the Doctrine of the Son of God, the Son of Mary, is a right Doctrine, which is this,

First, That the Son of God which was with his Father before the World was, (John 1. 1. and 17. 5.) came into the World in the Fulness of Time, and was made in the Likeness of Man, Phil. 2. 7. being made of a Woman or Virgin, made under the Law, to redeem them that were under the Law, Gal. 4. 4. And that was done in this wise. What the Law could not do in that it was weak through the Flesh, that is, through our Flesh, God sending his own Son in Likeness of sinful Flesh, and for Sin condemned Sin in the Flesh, that is, condemned him in the Flesh for the Sins of poor Sinners: For this, compare Rom. 8. 3. and 2 Cor. 5. 21. with Gal. 3. 13. and it will appear clearly to be the Truth of God: Also, that this Son of God, which is the true God, as well as the Son of Mary, did bear our Sins in his own Body on the Tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24. and did spill his own Blood, which is also the Blood of God, Acts 20. 28, that he died, and was laid in Joseph's Sepulchre, John 19. 38, to 42, and rose again the third Day, Acts 10. 40. that very Man, Luke 24. 39, to 45. and ascended up into Heaven in a Cloud, Acts 1. 9, to 12. and there ever lives to make Intercession for us, that very Man, Heb. 7. 24, 25. 8. 3. and 10. 12.

And in the last Place, If thou art a Christian, then thou lookest for that very Jesus again, whom the Jews did crucify, John 19. whom God raised again, as it is 1 Thes. 1. 10. I say, thou lookest, thou waitest, thou hastenest after the Coming of this Lord Jesus, which doth deliver thee from the Wrath to come, 2 Pet. 3. 10, to 13. Heb. 9. 26, to 29. 1 Thes. 1. 10. Yea, thou knowest, that this very Man shall so come, in like Manner, as his Disciples did see him go into Heaven, which was a very Man, Luke 24. 39. compared with Ver. 50. 51. of the same Chapter. Yea, in a Cloud he went away from his Disciples, and in the Clouds he shall come again, Rev. 1. 7. to judge all that are in their Graves, John 5. 28, 29. Dan. 12. 2. and shall receive all that look for, and love his second Coming, to himself, Heb. 9. 27, 28. And they shall be for ever with him, 1 Thes. 4. 16, 17. But the Wicked shall be cast into eternal Damnation, Mat. 25. 46. These Things, I say, if thou be a Christian indeed, thou believest, and ownest, and the Faith of them doth purify thy Heart, 1 John 3. 3. and wean thee from this World, and the Things thereof; and if it is not from this Principle, that is, if thy Obedience do not flow from this Faith, which is the Faith of God's Elect, as I have proved at large, thy Obedience, thy Zeal, thy Self-Denial, thy Holiness, Righteousness; yea, all that thou canst do, is but Sin in the Sight of the great God of Heaven and Earth, Heb. 11. 6. Rom. 14. 23. For all true Sanctification comes through the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ, by the Operation of the Spirit of God, 1 Cor. 6. 11. But ye are washed; but ye are sanctified; but ye are justified, in the Name of our Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God: And in Cant. 1. 3. Thy Name is as an Ointment poured forth, therefore do the Virgins love thee.

Well then, seeing this is a Truth of so great Concernment, I beseech you seek to be thoroughly rooted into it by Faith. And that thou mayest so be, examine thy Heart; yea, beg of God to help thee to examine it, and to throw out all that Fancy that thou takest instead of Faith; also throw away all thine own Wisdom; yea, thy own Righteousness also, and come to God in the Name of the Son of Mary, which is the Son of God, and beg Faith of him, true Faith, the Faith of the Operation of God; such a Faith as he gives to his own Elect, which will shew thee clearly of these Things; so that thou shalt not deceive thy self with a Fancy of them; and the Advantages will be many.

1. It will comfort thy Heart against Persecutions, Temptations, and cross Providences, as also James saith to his persecuted Brethren; Be patient my Brethren, saith he, establish your Hearts, for the Coming of the Lord draws nigh, Jam. 5. 8.

2. It will through Grace wean thy Heart and Affections abundantly from this World, and the Things therein. Who is he that overcomes the World, (saith John) but he that believes that Jesus is the Son of God? 1 John 5. 5. Who is he also that purifies his Heart, but he that looketh for the second Coming of Christ from Heaven (as in 1 John 3. 3. compared with 2 Pet. 3. 10, 11.) to judge the World?

3. Hereby thou wilt be able to Judge of all Doctrines whatsoever, though they come never so nigh the Truth, yet if they be not indeed the very Truth, thou wilt find them and their Doctrine Lyars, Rev. 2. 2. and 1 Cor. 2. 15.

4. If thou beest thoroughly set down in this Doctrine, even in the Faith of this Doctrine which I have held forth unto thee, thou wilt not be taken with any other Doctrine whatsoever. What is the Reason I pray you, that there are so many Giddy-headed Professors in these days, that do stagger to and fro like a Company of Drunkards, but this, They were never sealed in the Doctrine of the Father, and the Son? They were never enabled to believe that that Child that was born of the Virgin Mary, was the mighty God, Isa. 9. 6. No, faith faith Christ, he that is built upon this Rock (meaning the Faith of himself, which is to believe that the Son of Mary is the Christ of God, Mat. 16. 16.) the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against him, Verse 18.

5. The Faith of this Doctrine, will make thee labour in the Work of God in the World. Oh, it will liven thy heart in the Work of the Lord; especially, if thou livest in the Faith of thy interest in Christ, it will make thee labour to be found watching when thy Lord shall return from the Wedding; that when he doth come, thou maist open to him immediately, Luke 12. 35. 36.

Now seeing the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ is so nigh, even at the doors, what doth this speak to all sorts of People (under Heaven) but this? First, to see whether they have Oyl in their Lamps or not; that is, to search and see, whether the Spirit of the Man Christ Jesus be in them or no; for he that hath not the Spirit of Christ in him, is none of Christ's, Rom. 8. 9. Thou that hast not the Spirit of Christ in thee, why, at that day (let thy Profession be what it will) he will say to thee, depart, I know you not, Mat. 25. and if so, then thy latter End will be worse than thy beginning, as in 2 Pet. 2. 20.

2. Then what will become of all the Profane, Ignorant, Scoffers, Self-righteous, Proud, Bastard-Professors in the World? If the Children of God shall scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly, and the sinner appear? 1 Pet. 4. 18.

3. Then what will become of all those that creep into the Society of God's People without a Wedding Garment on? Why, it will be said unto them, Friends, how came you hither? Take them and bind them hand and foot, and cast them into utter Darknes; there shall be Weeping and Gnashing of Teeth, Mat. 22. 11, 12, 13.

4. Then what will become of all those that mock at the second coming of the Man Christ, as do the Ranters, Quakers, Drunkards, and the like? Why read their doom in Mat. 24. 50, 51. The Lord of that or these Servants, shall come in a day when they look not for him, and in an hour that they are not aware of, and shall cut them asunder, and appoint them their Portion with Hypocrites, and there shall be Weeping and Gnashing of Teeth.

5. Then what doth this speak to the Lord's own People? Surely this, that they should be in a watchful posture, Mark 13. 37.

Watch therefore over your own Hearts, least they should be over-charged with surfeiting and Drunkenness, and the Cares of this Life, and so that day come upon you unawares; for as a snare shall it come upon all the dwellers upon the Face of the Earth, as it is in Luk. 21. 34, 35, 36.

2. Watch over the Devil's Temptations: Oh, have a care in the first place, least by any means, as the Serpent beguiled Eve, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ: And the rather, because at this day he is very busie with his Doctrines, and his Ministers; trying all ways, if by any means he might deceive you with fair Speeches, and inticing carriages; with a fair shew in the Flesh, yet denying the Lord, and refusing to be justified by the Blood of Jesus the Son of Mary, the Son of God: Watch I say over the Devil touching Doctrines, for he labours as much this way as any way, for he knows if he can but get you to lay a rotten foundation, he is sure of you, live as godly in your conceit as you will, and therefore, it is worth your Observation, in that 24th of Mat. when Christ is speaking of the signs of his coming, he breaks forth with a warning word to his Disciples, to beware of false Teachers, Ver. 4. the very first words that he answers to a question that his Disciples put to him is this, Take heed that no Man deceive you. Again, Ver. 11. And many false Prophets shall arise, and shall deceive many. And in Ver. 24. he saith again, for there shall come, or arise, false Christs and false Prophets, and shall shew signs and wonders, insomuch, that if it were possible, they should deceive the very Elect.

3. Take heed that he doth not deceive you in point of worship, that he make you not flight any of the Ordinances of God; for if he do, he will quickly make way for another Temptation.

4. Take heed that you also have not your Lamps to trim when the Bridegroom comes; if you have, you may peradventure be ashamed and blush before him at his coming, 1 Joh. 2. last Ver. Therefore content not your selves with a Profession of Christ, and no more, for the Devil may deceive, yea, doth deceive a Professing People many times. And if he will Deceive a professing Generation, he must come in this manner.

First, Under the Name of Christ.

Secondly, With a fair shew in the Flesh of outward Holiness, Gal. 6. 12.

Thirdly, He must come with good Words and Speeches, Rom. 16. 18. Now though he come to Drunkards, Swearers, Whoremongers, Thieves, Lyars, Murderers, and covetous Persons, in his Black Colours; yet if he will come to deceive a professing Party, he must appear like an Angel of Light. And the reason why 2 Cor. 11. 14. Souls are deceived by him in these his appearances, is because they are not able to distinguish betwixt the Law and the Gospel, the Convictions of Conscience by the Law only, and Convictions by the Spirit, but do (tho' they profess the Lord Jesus) give Ear to every Wind of Doctrine, and being being unstable, as Peter saith, do fall into the Temptations of the Devil, in wresting the Scriptures to their own Destruction, 2 Pet. 3. 16.

In a word, you that have not yet laid hold on the Lord Jesus Christ, for Eternal Life, lay hold upon him, upon his Righteousness, Blood, Resurrection, Ascension, Intercession, and wait for his second coming to Judge the World in Righteousness, Act. 17. 31. And you that have laid hold, I say to you, lay faster hold on your Lord Jesus, Whoso hath Ears to hear, let him hear, Mat. 13. 43.

Now, That thou mayst the more clearly understand my Faith in the Doctrine of God's dear Son, I have thought good to hold forth again the Doctrine of the former Treatise by way of Question and Answer, as followeth.

Quest. Seeing there are many false Christs gone out into the World, according as was Prophesied of in former times (Mat. 24. 5. 23.) by the Lord himself; And seeing (if we be saved) we must be saved by a Christ; for he that misses of him (saith the Scriptures) cannot be saved, because there is no way to come to the Father but by him, as it is written, Joh. 14. 6. Act. 4. 12. How therefore, is the knowledge of the true Christ to be attained unto, that we may be saved by Him?

Ans. Indeed to know Christ, (God's Christ) is as the Scripture saith, the one thing necessary, Luke 10. 42. without which all other things will avail nothing: And therefore I shall according to the Scriptures,

First, Tell you what God's Christ is. And,

Secondly, How the knowledge of him is attained unto.

And therefore, first, God's Christ is true God, and true Man.

That he is true God, is manifest by that Scripture, in Isa. 9. 6. where it is said, to us a Child is born, to us a Son is given, and the Government shall be upon his Shoulder, and his Name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace, also 1 Joh. 5. 20. And we are in him, that is true, (saith the Apostle) even in his Son Jesus Christ, this is true God, and Eternal Life, see Heb. 1. 8. Job. 1. 12. Rom. 9. 5. Job. 20. 28.

But Secondly, That he is true Man, see again, Isa. 9. 6. where it is said, unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given; and compare it with Mat. 1. 21. where it is said, And she shall bring forth a Son, and thou shalt call his Name Jesus, for he shall save his People from their Sins, see John 1. 14. And the Word was made Flesh, 1 Tim. 3. 16. God was manifested in the Flesh. These two Scriptures are expounded by Heb. 2. 14. where it is said, Forasmuch then as the Children are partakers of Flesh and Blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same, that is, of Flesh and Blood, see Rom. 8. 3. and compare it with Luke 24. 39. where Christ saith, Behold my Hands and my Feet, that it is I my self; handle me and see, for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones as ye see me have. And he doth often call himself by the Name of the Son of Man (Mat. 24. Mat. 16. 13.) to signify that he is very Man, as well as very God.

Quest. But why was he true God and true Man?

Ans. He was true Man, because Man had offended, and Justice required that Man should suffer and make satisfaction, and so it is written, 1 Cor. 15. 21. For since by Man came Death, by Man came also the Resurrection of the Dead. And again, All we like Sheep have gone astray, and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquities of us all. And in 1 Pet. 2. 24. where that 53. of Isa. is mentioned, he saith, Who his own self bare our sins in his own Body on the Tree, that we being dead to sin, should live unto righteousness, by whose stripes we are healed. And again, God did prepare this Body, the Humane Nature of Christ, that it should be a Sacrifice for Sins, wherefore he saith, Sacrifices and Offerings (that is such as were offered by the Law of Moses) thou wouldest not have; but a Body hast thou prepared me, Heb. 10. 5. In this Body which God had prepared for him, which he took of the Virgin, Gal. 4. 4. in this he did bear all the sins of all his Elect, 1 Pet. 2. 24.

And he must needs be true God, because, it was an infinite God that was transgressed against, and Justice required an infinite satisfaction, and therefore he must be infinite that must give this satisfaction, or else Justice could not be satisfied, and so it was written, where the Apostle is telling the Pastors of the Church of Ephesus, by what they were Redeemed, he tells them, that God did purchase them with his own Blood, Acts 20. 28. see 1 Joh. 3. 16. where he saith, herein perceive we the love of God, in that he laid down his Life for us. Not in his Divine, but in his Humane Nature; for as I said before, God's Christ was of both Natures, Esa. 9. 6. Rom. 9. 5. 1 John 5. 20. John 1. 1. 14. True God and true Man, and the Divine Nature did enable him to undergo in his Humane Nature, all that Sin, Curse, and Wrath that was laid upon him for us; and to overcome, and obtain Eternal Redemption for us, Heb. 9. 24.

Quest. How did this Christ bring in Redemption for Man?

Ans. Why first, Man brake the Law of God; but this Man did fulfil it again, and became the end of it for Righteousness to every one that believeth, Rom. 10. 4.

2. Man was foiled and overcome by the Devil; but this Man Christ did overcome him again, Luke 4. Heb. 2. 14. 15. and that for us.

Rom. 5.
12.

3. Man did lose the Glory of God, but this Man hath obtained it again.

4. Man by Sin lost Eternal Salvation; but this Man by his own Blood hath obtained it again for him, Heb. 9. 12.

5. Man by Sin brought Death into the World; But Jesus Christ that Man hath destroyed it again, Heb. 2. 14. compared with Hos. 13. 14. and brought in Life and Immortality, 2 Tim. 1. 10. Rom. 5. 15.

Quest. But how are we Justified by this Man's Obedience.

All our Iniquities were laid upon him, Isa. 53. 6, 8, 11, 12. And his Righteousness is bestowed on us, if we believe, as it is written, even the Righteousness of God which is by Faith of Jesus Christ unto all, and upon all them that believe. And this is it which Paul so much sought after, when he saith, yea doubtless, and I count all things loss, and do count them but Dung, that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own Righteousness, which is of the Law, but that which is through the Faith of Christ, the Righteousness of God by Faith, Phil. 3. ver. 8, 9.

Quest. How do Men come by this Righteousness and everlasting Life?

Ans. By Faith Men lay hold upon it, and apply it to their own Souls in particular, Gal. 2. 20. For it is by Faith they are justified, as also saith the Scripture, Rom. 5. 1. That his Faith lays hold on and applies, that which this Christ of God hath done, and is a doing, and owns it as his own.

Quest. What is this Faith that doth justify the Sinner?

Ans. It is a Gift, Eph. 2. 8. Fruit, Gal. 5. 22. or Work, Thes. 2. 11. of the Spirit of God, whereby a Soul is enabled, under a Sight of its Sins, and wretched Estate, to lay hold on the Birth, Righteousness, Blood, Death, Resurrection, Ascension and Intercession of the Lord Jesus Christ, and by the Assistance of the Spirit, whereby it is wrought, to apply all the Virtue, Life and Merit of what hath been done and suffered, or is a doing by the same Lord Jesus Christ, to its own self in particular, Gal. 2. 20. Rom. 7. 24. 25. as if it self had really done all that the Lord Jesus Christ hath done: I do not say that the Soul doth any Thing for Justification, but it doth know, that whatsoever Jesus Christ hath done in Point of Justification, is given to, and bestowed upon it, Rom. 3. 22. and God finding the Soul in him, that is in Christ, doth justify it from all Things, from which it could not be justified by the Law of Moses, Acts 13. 38, 39.

Quest. Well, but is there no Way to come to the Father of Mercies but by this Man that was born of the Virgin? Is there no Way to come to God but by the Faith of Him?

Ans. No, there is none other Name under Heaven given among Men, whereby we must be saved, Act. 4. 12. And Jesus himself, that was born of the Virgin Mary, said, I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life: No Man cometh to the Father, but by me, Joh. 14. 6.

Quest. And where is this Man, that was born of the Virgin, that we may come to the Father by him?

Ans. He ascended away from his Disciples in a Cloud, into Heaven, as we may read, Act. 1. 9, 10, 11.

Quest. What doth he there?

Ans. He ever lives to make Intercession for all that come unto God by him, Heb. 7. 25. That is, they shall come out of themselves to him, and venture their Souls on what he did and suffered when he was on Earth, and is doing now in Heaven; shall certainly be saved: For he ever lives to save them, that do thus come to the Father by him. And it is, because he spilt his Blood for all that shall by the Faith of God's Elect lay hold upon him. And thus it is written where he saith, we are justified freely by his Grace, through the Redemption that is in Christ Jesus, Mark it, whom God hath set forth to be a Propitiation, through Faith in his Blood; to declare his Righteousness, that is, to declare God's Righteousness, for the Remission of Sins that are past, through the forbearance of God; to declare, I say, at this Time, his Righteousness, that he might be just, and the justifier of him that believeth (or layeth hold) on Jesus, Rom. 3. 24, 25, 26.

Quest. But did this Man rise again from the Dead, that very Man, with that very Body wherewith he was crucified? for you do seem, as I conceive, to hold forth so much by these your Expressions.

Ans. Why do you doubt of it?

Quest. Do you believe it?

Ans. Yes, by the Grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, for he hath enabled me so to do.

Quest. And can you prove it by the Scripture?

Ans. Yes.

Quest. How?

Ans. First, from that Scripture in Luk. 24. 37, to 41. where Christ himself after he was crucified appeared to his Disciples; (who having seen him) supposed they had seen a Spirit. But he said, Why are ye troubled, and why do Thoughts arise in your Hearts? Behold my Hands and my Feet, that it is I my self, and do not think you see a Spirit; handle me, and see, for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, as you see me have. This he spake after he was Crucified, Crucified, Luke 23. 33. and Buried, ver. 53. and rose again from the Dead, Chap. 24. 6, 7. Many other Scriptures could I give for the Proof hereof, as Acts 10. 39, to 43. And Acts 13. 28, to 32. 1 Thes. 1. 10. only read Acts 2. 29, to 32. where the Apostle proveth the same, bringing in the Words of the Prophet David for a Testimony thereof, saying, He being a Prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an Oath to him, that of the Fruit of his Loyns according to the Flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his Throne (saith) he seeing this before, spake of the Resurrection of Christ, that his Soul was not left in Hell, neither his Flesh did see Corruption. Mark it, his Flesh did see no Corruption, ver. 31. But if he had not risen again, his Flesh had seen Corruption. But he arose again from the Dead, that very Man, that very Body; for his Flesh did see no Corruption.

Quest. Why did he rise again from the Dead, with that very Body?

Ans. 1. Because it was not possible he should be holden of Death.

2. Because in his humane Nature he suffered for Sin; Acts 2. 24. and if he had not recovered himself from that very Curse, even from under Death, and all other Things that lay on him, which he had through the Sins of his Children subjected himself unto, he had not overcome Sin, Hell, Death, the Law, and the Devil; but had been overcome by them; and if so, then had not Redemption been obtained for Sinners; for it was at his Resurrection from the Dead, that God said unto him, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee: (As saith the Apostle) And we declare unto you glad Tidings, how that the Promise made unto the Fathers, God had fulfilled the same unto us their Children, in that he hath raised up Jesus again: As it is written in the second Psalm, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee, Acts 13. 30, to 36. And it is this, namely, the Resurrection of that Man from the Dead, that doth give us Ground of Hope; as in 1 Pet. 1. 3. where he saith, He hath begotten us again a lively Hope, by the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the Dead.

3. Because God intends to redeem the Bodies of his Saints out of their Graves in which they have lain many a Year, John 5. 28, 29. Rom. 8. 23. 1 Cor. 15. 52. and to possess them with his own Glory; and when this comes to pass, then shall that Scripture be fulfilled, that saith, He shall change our vile Body, that it may be fashioned like to his glorious Body, according to the working (of his mighty Power) whereby he is able to subdue all Things to himself, Phil. 3. 21. And he hath given us Assurance thereof, in that he hath raised up Jesus our Lord again from the Dead, Acts 17. 31.

Quest. But do you think, that these our Bodies that we do carry about with us in this World, after that they are dead and buried, and rotten, shall rise again out of those Graves into which they are laid; when the Scripture saith, Flesh and Blood shall not inherit the Kingdom of God?

Ans. Flesh in Scripture is taken more Ways than one: 1 Cor. 15. 50. As

First, It is taken for the Works of the Law; where the Apostle saith, Received ye the Spirit by the Works of the Law, or by the hearing of Faith? Are ye so foolish, having begun in the Spirit, are ye made perfect by the Flesh? By Flesh here, he means the Law; as is clear, if you compare, Gal. 3. 2, 3. with ver. 10, 11, 12. Again, sometimes Flesh is taken for Sins, Rom. 8. 1. 5. And sometimes it is taken for the Bodies of the Saints, as subject to Distempers, to Pain, Sicknes, Corruptions, to Death, by Reason of Sin, 2 Cor. 4. 11. 2 Cor. 7. 5. Now the Apostle in that Place, where he saith, Flesh and Blood shall not inherit the Kingdom of Heaven, or of God, his meaning is, sinful Flesh and Blood, or the Sin, with any Imperfection that is in the Bodies of the Saints, shall not inherit the Kingdom; and that you shall find to be the Mind of the Holy Ghost, if you read with understanding the latter end of the same Verse, where he saith, Neither doth Corruption inherit Incorruption. That is, Sin, or any Imperfection of the Body, shall not inherit eternal Life; for saith he in ver. 53. This corruptible must put on Incorruption, and this mortal must put on Immortality. Mark here, I pray you, though he saith, Flesh and Blood shall not inherit the Kingdom of God; yet he saith, This Corruptible must put on Incorruption: For the Trump shall blow, and the Dead shall be raised (as Christ saith, They that are in the Graves shall hear his Voice, John 5. 28. And shall come forth of their Graves incorruptible, 1 Cor. 15. 52. And shall all appear before the Judgment Seat of Christ, 2 Cor. 5. 10. Rev. 12. 12, 13. See also that Scripture, Phil. 3. 20, 21. where the Apostle saith, He waited for Christ the Saviour from Heaven. And what shall he do when he comes? Why, He shall change our vile Body. Mark it, it must be our vile Body that must be changed. But if it be changed, then how can it be the same? Not the same in Respect of Sin, or bodily Infirmities, but the very same in Respect of Substance: For, saith he, It is our vile Body that must be changed; and it is the very same, It shall be fashioned like to his glorious Body. And if you ask, How is it possible that this should be done? He Answers, According to the working whereby he is able to subdue all Things unto himself, Phil. 3. 21.

Quest. But do you think this is certain? Methinks the Scriptures seemingly hold forth so much, yet I cannot believe it, for it is contrary to all Reason.

Ans.

Ans. Truly the Scriptures do not only hold forth so much seemingly, but they do most really and plainly hold out these Things, to all those that have received the Spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ. For it is it, and it alone, that can reveal these Things. For no Man knows the Things of God, but the Spirit of God, 1 Cor. 2. 11. Now if thou wouldst know these Things, thou must first receive the Spirit of the Son of God, without which, thou canst not know so much as one of the fundamental Truths of the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Quest. But there are those in our Days, who reject this Doctrine that you lay down, concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, as you lay it down, and they are for a Christ within, for a Cross within, for a Resurrection, and Intercession within; and they do not hold as you do, a Christ without, and a Resurrection of Christ without, and Intercession of Christ without; I, and they have very much Scripture for that which they say too: And therefore what should such as we do, that stand tottering and shaking in these distracted and dangerous Times? For our poor Souls are in very much doubt what Way to take.

Ans. Therefore I will speak a few Words to you by Way of Discovery of the falsity of such Opinions; and a Word of Direction, how you should understand the Truth.

First, Therefore, he that crys up a Christ within, in Opposition to a Christ without, that Man instead of having the Spirit of Christ in him, is possessed with a Spirit of Delusion; for where the Spirit of Christ is in Truth, that Spirit causeth the Soul to look to the Christ that was born of the Virgin, for all Justification; as it is written, Howbeit, when he the Spirit of Truth is come, he shall lead you into all Truth; for he shall not speak of himself, but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak, and he will shew you Things to come, mark the next Verse, He (saith the Son of the Virgin) shall take of mine, and shall shew unto you, John 16. 13, 14. He shall take of mine; What is that? Why surely it is, he shall take of my Godhead, my Humanity, my Birth, my Righteousness, my Blood, my Death, my Resurrection, my Ascension, and Intercession, my Kingly, Priestly, and Prophetical Offices, and shall shew you the Life, Merit, and Value of them. And this was it which was revealed to Paul by the holy Spirit, here spoken of, 1 Cor. 15. 1, 2. to the 8. Moreover Brethren, saith he, I declare unto you the Gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand. By which also ye are saved, if ye keep in Memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in Vain. But what is this Doctrine? Why, I delivered to you first of all, that which I also received. What was that? Why, How that Christ died for our Sins according to the Scriptures. And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third Day according to the Scriptures, (there is his Death and Resurrection preached) And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the Twelve; after that he was seen of above five hundred Brethren at once, of whom the greatest Part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep. After that he was seen of James, then of all the Apostles. And last of all he was seen of me (saith Paul) as of one born out of due Time. This is it, I say, that the Spirit of Truth doth hold forth to poor Sinners, a Christ Crucified without the Gates of Jerusalem, Luke 23. 32, 33. buried in Joseph's Sepulchre, v. 53. risen again the third Day, Luke 24. 6. ascended away from his Disciples in a Cloud into Heaven, as in Acts 1. 9, 10, 11. And there ever liveth, that very Man, with that very Body, to make Intercession for all that receive him, Heb. 7. 24, 25. Col. 1. 27. This is, I say, the Doctrine of the Spirit of Truth, whatsoever is the Spirit of Error.

Quest. But do not the Scriptures make mention of a Christ within, 2 Cor. 13. 5.

Ans. Yes, And he that hath not the Spirit of Christ, is none of his, Rom. 8. 9. But he that hath it, is led out of himself by it; and as I said before, it shews the Soul, what the blessed Son of the Virgin Mary hath done and suffered, and is a doing for it. Therefore hereby know we the Spirit of Truth from the Spirit of Error. Every Spirit that doth confess that Jesus Christ is come in the Flesh is of God; That is, that Spirit that doth confess, that Jesus Christ took Flesh upon him, and in that Flesh did bear our Sins, 1 Pet. 2. 24. Col. 1. 20, 21, 22. 1 Pet. 3. 18. 1 Pet. 4. 1. and after he was taken down from the Cross, and laid in a Sepulchre, rose again from the Dead; that very Man, with that very Body, wherewith he was crucified: That Spirit that doth believe and confess this is of God, and is the blessed Spirit of Christ, whereof he spake, when he was yet with his Disciples touching his bodily Presence: For he (saith the Son of Mary) shall glorifie me, for he shall take of Mine and shew it to you, John 16. 13, 14.

I have answered this already in my Epistle to the first Treatise. Therefore believe not every Spirit, but try the Spirits whether they be of God, for many false Spirits and Prophets are gone out into the World, therefore have a care how thou receivest the Voice that speaks to thee, but try whether they are according to the Truth of God's Word as it is written, To the Law and to the Testimony, if it be not according to this Word, it is because there is no Light in them, Isa. 8. 20.

Therefore try a little, Do they slight God's Christ, which is the Son of the Virgin, that Spirit is of the Devil, 1 Cor. 12. 3.

2. Do they say that that Blood of his which was shed without the Gates of Jerusalem, doth not wash away Sin, yea, all Sin from him that believes? That is a Spirit of Antichrist, 1 John 1. 7.

3. Do they say, that that Man that was crucified without the Gates of Jerusalem, is not risen again (with that very body wherewith he was crucified out of the Sepulchre) Luke 24. 38, 39. That is a Spirit of Antichrist.

4. Do they say that that very Man that was crucified with that very Body, is not now in the preience of his Father, absent from his people touching his bodily Presence, though present in Spirit? I say whoever they be, that say he is not there, they are of the Devil: For the Proof of this see Acts 5. 30, and 31, and compare it with Heb. 7. 24, 25. The God of our Fathers (saith the Apostle) raised up Jesus. But what Jesus? Whom ye slew (saith he to the Jews. Him, the very same whom ye slew) hath God exalted with his right Hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, to give Repentance unto Israel, and Forgiveness of Sins.

And indeed, here is my Life, namely, the Birth of this Man, the Righteousness of this Man, the Blood of this Man, the Death and Resurrection of this Man, the Ascension and Intercession of this Man for me; and the Second coming of this Man to judge the World in Righteousness, Acts 17. 31. I say, here is my Life, if I see this by Faith without me, through the Operation of the Spirit within me: I am safe, I am at peace, I am comforted, I am encouraged, and I know that my Comfort, Peace, and Encouragement is true, and given me from Heaven, by the Father of Mercies, through the Son of the Virgin Mary, Mat. 1. 21. who is the way to the Father of Mercies, John 14. 6. who is able to save to the uttermost, all that come to the Father by him, Heb. 7. 25. Because he, that very Man, with that very body wherewith he was crucified, is ascended into Heaven, Acts 1. 9, 10, 11. and there ever lives to make Intercession for them that come to God by him. This is the Rock, Sinner, upon which, if thou be built, the Gates of Hell, nor Ranter, Quaker, Sin, Law, Death, no nor the Devil himself, shall ever be able to prevail against thee, Matt. 16. 16, 17, 18. And here I leave thee to the Wisdom of the great God, who if he hath Chosen thee in his Son, and brought thee to him; and hath made thee by Faith to lay hold on him, thou needest not fear the Devil with his Siftings, Snares, Wiles, and Fiery Darts, wherewith he doth destroy thousands; but mayest with the Apostle (if thou live in the Power and Life of the Love of God towards thee) cry out, I am perswaded, that neither Death, nor Life, nor Angels, nor Principalities, nor Powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor Height, nor Depth, nor any other Creature shall be able to separate thee from the Love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord, Rom. 8. 38, 39.

And now Reader, if thou be a true Christian, I am sure that these be the things that appear to be the glorious substantial Truths to thy Soul, and thou doest not care for that Comfort that doth not make Man, the Son of the Virgin precious to thy Soul, 1 Pet. 2. 7. for thou knowest, that it is he that hath deliver'd thee from the Wrath to come, 1 Thes. 1. 10. But as for you that are disobedient, except you mend your Manners, you will stumble and fall backwards, and be broken, and snared and taken, Isa. 28. 13. and wonder and perish because you believe not, Acts 17. 21.

A few Words more, and so I shall have done, and they are Words of Counsel to thee; Have a care thou receive not every Christ that is profered to thee, though it may appear very excellent to thy foolish Heart: For under the Name Christ, are Men deceived, as it is written, many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceive many, Mat. 24. 5. But have a care that thou receive that Christ that was born without thee, fulfilled the Law in his Humane Nature without thee; spilt his Blood without thee, is Risen again and Ascended without thee, and maketh Intercession without thee: And that he, that very Man that was born of the Virgin, will come again in the Clouds without thee; and this Truth must thou receive by that Spirit, that he hath promised to send and give to them that ask him: And that shall dwell in thy Heart, and shall shew thee what the Son of Mary the Virgin, the Son of Man, the Son of God, the true God hath in his Body done for thy Soul, John 16. 13, 14. And if thou receive him in Truth, then though thou do not boast, nor brag of thy Holiness, as those painted Hypocrites called Quakers do: Yet thou wilt do more Work for God in one Hour, than they, even all of them, can do in all their Life time.

Take my Counsel, and the Lord Jesus Christ have mercy upon thy Soul and Body.

Farewell.

Some Questions to the Quakers, or a few Queries to those who are possessed with a Spirit of Delusion in this Generation.

Be ready always to give an Answer to every Man that asketh you a Reason of the Hope that is in you, 1 PET. iii. 15. And I beseech you do it in Sincerity.

1. IF thou sayest that every one hath a Measure of the Spirit of Jesus Christ within him, why say the Scriptures that some are sensual having not the Spirit, Jude 19. And when Christ tells his Disciples of sending them the Spirit, he also saith, The World cannot receive it, Joh. 14. 17.

2. What is the Church of God Redeemed by, from the Curse of the Law: Is it by something that is done within them, or by something done without them. If thou answer, it is Redeemed from the Curse of the Law by something that worketh in them. Then I ask, why did the Man Christ Jesus hang upon the Cross on Mount Calvary, without the Gates of Jerusalem, for the Sins of the People? And why do the Scriptures say, that through this Man, is preached to us the Forgiveness of Sins. That is, through his Blood, Eph. 1. 7. which was shed without the Gates of Jerusalem, Heb. 13. 12.

3. What Scripture have you to prove, that Christ is, or was crucified within you, Dead within you, Risen within you, and, Ascended within you?

4. Is that very Man that was Crucified on Mount Calvary between two Thieves, whose Name is Jesus, the Son of Mary, I say, is he the very Christ of God, yea, or no?

5. Is that very Man, with that very Body, Within you, yea, or no?

6. Was that Jesus, that was born of the Virgin Mary, a real Man of Flesh and Bones, after his Resurrection from the Dead, out of Joseph's Sepulchre, yea, or no? For the Scripture saith he was, as in Luke 24. 39. If so, then did that Man that said handle me and see, for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones as ye see me have; I say, did that Man go away from his Disciples (and not into them, in his Body) as these Scriptures declare, Luke 24. 39, 40. compared with verse 50, 51. also Acts 1. 9, 10, 11. or did he with that Body of Flesh go into his Disciples, as some fond Dreamers think.

7. Hath that Christ that was with God the Father before the World was, no other Body but his Church? If you say no, as it is your wonted Course. Then again I ask you, what that was in which he did bear the Sins of his Children? If you answer, It was in his own Body on the Tree, for so saith the Scripture, 1 Pet. 2. 24. Then I ask you further, whether that Body in which he did bear our Sins, (which is also called his own Body) was or is the Church of God yea, or no? Again if you say he hath no Body but the Church, the Saints, Then I ask, what that was that was taken down from the Cross, and laid into Joseph's Sepulchre, Luke 23. 51, 52.

Now I know, that as Christ is the Head of his Church, so the Church is the Body of the Head, which is Christ. But as Christ is the Mediator between God and Man, I say, as he is Mediator, so he is a Man, 1 Tim. 2. 5. and absent from his Saints in the World, as is clear, 2 Cor. 5. 6. Therefore as he is a Mediator, and a Man, so he hath a Body that is absent from his Church, which Body is Ascended from his Disciples, above the Clouds, into Heaven. If you say no, Then I ask you, Did he leave the Body behind him, which was born of the Virgin Mary, which walked up and down with his Disciples in the World, was afterwards Hanged upon the Cross, Buried, Rose again from the Dead, with which Body he did Eat, Drink, and likewise walk with his Disciples after his Resurrection from the Dead, and did bid his Disciples see if he were not Flesh and Bones, yea, or no?

GOSPEL-TRUTHS Opened;

According to the Scriptures, and the Opposition made against it by EDWARD BORROUGH, a professed QUAKER, (but proved an Enemy to the Truth) examined and confuted by the Word of God.

AND ALSO,

The Things that were then laid down, and declared to the World by me, are a second Time born Witness to, according to Truth: With the Answer of Edward Borrough to the Queries then laid down in my Book reproved. And also, a plain Answer to his Queries, given in Simplicity of Soul; and is now also presented to the World, or who else may read, or hear them; to the End (if God will) that Truth may be discovered thereby.

I have found David a Man after mine own Heart (saith God, Acts 13. 22.)

Of this Man's Seed hath God, according to his Promise raised up to Israel a Saviour, Jesus (saith the Apostle) ver. 23.

And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the Tree, and laid him in a Sepulchre.

But God raised him from the Dead, ver. 29, 30.

And we declare unto you glad Tidings, how that the Promise which was made unto the Fathers, God hath fulfilled the same to us their Children, in that he hath raised up Jesus again, ver. 32, 33.

Be it known unto you therefore, Men and Brethren, that through this Man is preached unto you the forgiveness of Sins, ver. 38.

And by him all that believe are justified from all Things, from which they could not be justified by the Law of Moses, ver. 39.

To the READER.

SINCE it hath pleased the Lord to work in my Soul by his holy Spirit, and hath translated me in some Measure from Darknes to Light, I have seen and heard, that such Things have been done by those who did once pretend themselves to be the Servants of Jesus Christ, that it hath made me marvel: Partly, while I have beheld the vile Conversation of some, and also the seeming legal Holiness of others, together with their damnable Doctrine; which have, notwithstanding their Professions, made Shipwreck of the Faith, both to themselves, and their Followers. I having had some in-sight into such Things as these, was provoked to publish a small Treatise touching the Fundamentals of Religion, supposing that God might add his Blessing thereto, both for the establishing of some, and the convincing of others; which Things I doubt not but they have been accomplished; and will be still more and more. But as it was in former Days, so it is now: That is, some in all former Ages have been on Foot in the World, ready to oppose the Truth: So it is now, there are certain Men newly started up in our Days, called Quakers, who have set themselves against the Truth of our Lord Jesus Christ, and do in very Deed deny, that Salvation was then obtained by him, when he did hang on the Cross without Jerusalem's Gate. Now these Men do pretend, that they do verily and truly profess the Lord Jesus Christ; but when it comes to the Tryal, and their Principles be thoroughly weighed, the best that they do, is to take one Truth, and corrupt it, that they may thereby fight more stoutly against another. As for Instance: They will own that Salvation was obtained by Christ, this is Truth, that Salvation was obtained by Christ, but come close to the Thing, and you will find, that they corrupt the Word, and only mean thus much, That Salvation is wrought out by Christ as he is within; and by it (though not warranted by the Scripture) they will fight against the Truth: Namely, that Salvation was obtained for Sinners, by the Man that did hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary, between two Thieves, called Jesus Christ. I say, by what he did then for Sinners in his own Person or Body, which he took from the Virgin Mary, according to the Word of God.
that

Secondly, They will own the Doctrine of Christ within. This is Truth, that Christ is within his Saints: But this Doctrine they will take to fight against the Doctrine of Christ without, ascended from his Disciples into Heaven, by whom Salvation was obtained, neither is there Salvation in any other, Acts 4. 12.

3. They will own the Resurrection of the Saints, but their meaning is only thus much, That the Saints are raised from the State of Nature to a State of Grace, and herewith they will fight against this Truth; namely, the Resurrection of the Bodies of Saints out of their Graves, into which they were laid, some thousands, some hundreds of Years before. And if they do say, they do own the Resurrection of the Saints out of their Graves, they do mean out of the Grave of Sin only, and nothing else.

These Things I am an Ear
Witness to

4. They will say, they do own the Second Coming of Christ to judge the World; but search them to the bottom, and you will find them only to own him in his coming in Spirit, within, in Opposition to the glorious coming of the Lord Jesus, the Son of Mary, from Heaven in the Clouds, with all his mighty Angels, to raise the Dead, and bring them to Judgment, according to the Scripture. And so for the Intercession of Christ, and the Truths of the Gospel, they only own them to be within; in Opposition to the glorious Intercession, and Mediation of the Man Christ Jesus in his own Person without, now in the presence of his Father, between us and him, pleading and making Intercession for his Children. These Things, together with many more, I might mention, but now I forbear, knowing that none shall be lost, nor altogether carried away by them, nor any Hereticks, but the Sons of Perdition. Now that they might the better make their Doctrine take Place in the Hearers, they endeavour to make a fair shew in the Flesh, that thereby they might now, as did their Fathers in Time past, compel and constrain them who are not by the Lord's right Hand planted into the Truth of Jesus, to follow their covered Errors, as it is written, Gal. 6. 12. For as many as desire to make a fair shew in the Flesh, That is, according to Works of the Law; do with good Words, and fair Speeches, deceive the Hearts of the Simple, Rom. 16. 18. And indeed it doth clearly appear, that those that are carried away, are such as are not able to discern between fair Speeches declared by Hereticks, and sound Doctrine declared by the simple-hearted Servants of Jesus.

2dly, Now I shall lay down several Grounds, not only why Errors are broached in the World; but also, why so many are carried away with them.

1. One Ground, why so many Errors do from Time to Time come into the World, is because those that are not indeed of the planting of the Lord's right Hand, might be rooted out, Mat. 15. 13. Now these are many Times carried away by deceivable Doctrines: And truly in this our God hath both a Care of his own Glory, and of his Churches welfare. For first, should they not be swept away by some Heresy or other, there might be great Dishonour brought to his Name by their continuing among his People: And secondly, that he might take away such Grievances as such may bring, had they continued still in the Society of his Children.

2. Another Ground why the Lord doth suffer such Errors to come into the World is, because, those that are Christians indeed, might be approved and appear. 1 Cor. 11. 19. For there must be Heresies among you, that those that are approved may be made manifest. Should not the Lord go this Way to work (sometimes) there would be many that would make People believe that they are Christians, and yet are not. And again that he might make it appear, that though there be Hereticks, yet he hath a People, inabled by his Spirit, to contradict, and oppose them, and plead to the Truth of our Lord Jesus Christ, and his glorious Gospel against them.

3. Another Ground why the Lord doth suffer, yea, even send Delusions among the People, is, That those who were so idle and slothful, as not to seek after the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity, might be taken away, and violently possessed with Error, and be made to run greedily after the same; That they might smart the more for their neglect of the Truth. For always, those who were lazy in seeking after the Truth when it was profered, and afterward hasty after the Doctrine of Devils, when that is declared to them, shall be sure to have their latter Behaviour to rise up in Judgment against them, in that when the Truth was profered to them they were idle and did not receive it, and yet when Delusion did profer it self, they were industrious, and labouring. Now mark, that they all might be damned who believed not the Truth, but had Pleasure in unrighteousness; because they received not the Truth in the Love of it, that they might be saved. And for this Cause God shall send them strong Delusions, that they might believe a Lye, and be damned, 2 Thes. 2. ver. 10, 11, 12.

Now in the second Place, why so many are so easily carried away with Errors in this Day: The Grounds are these that follow.

1. Because Men count it enough to be Professors of the Truth, without seeking to be Possessors of the same. Now because Men are but only Professors of the Truth, not having it in their Hearts in reality, they are carried away with an Error, if it come in never so little power more than the Truth they profess. And this is the Reason why so many are carried away with the Errors that are broached in these Days, because they have not indeed received the Lord Jesus by the Revelation of the Spirit, and with Power, but by the Relation of others only; and so having no other Witness to set them down withal, but the History of the Word, and the Relation of others concerning the Truths contained therein, (though the Knowledge of the Truth this Way shall abundantly aggravate their Damnation) yet they having not had the Spirit of the Lord to confirm these Things effectually unto them; they are carried away with Delusions.

2. Another Reason why so many are carried away with Delusions, is, those Differences that are among the Children of God about smaller Matters. O Friends! how is the Hand of the Enemy strengthened by our Carnality, while one saith, I am of Paul; and another, I am of Apollo; many a poor Soul is carried away with Delusion. And why so? They are not satisfied that this is the Truth, because the Children are at difference among themselves, about some outward Things. And again, it makes those that are not so desperately possessed with a Spirit of Delusion, as are others, but are meer moral Men, I say it makes them to say within themselves, and one to another; There are so many Sects and Judgments in the World, that we cannot tell which Way to take. And therefore you that have the Spirit, pray that these Things may cease, lest you blush for your Folly, at the appearing of Jesus our Lord.

3. The Pride, Covetousness, and Impiety of Hypocrites, and carnal Professors, are great Stumbling-Blocks to the poor World: And the Cause why many at this Day do drink down so greedily a deluding Doctrine, and especially if it come with a Garment of pretended Holiness: But as for these, they shall go to their Place in their Time, with the Curse of the Almighty poured out upon them, for their casting of Stumbling-Blocks before the Simple by their loose Conversations, if they do not hastily repent of their Wickedness, and close in reality with our blessed Lord Jesus.

4. Another Reason why Delusions do so easily take Place in the Hearts of the ignorant, is, because those that pretend to be their Teachers, do behave themselves so basely among them. And indeed I may say of these, as our Lord said of the Pharisees in another Case, all the Blood of the ignorant, from the beginning of the World, shall be laid to the charge of this Generation. They that pretend they are sent of the Lord, and come, saying, Thus saith the Lord; we are the Servants of the Lord, our Commission is from the Lord (by Succession) and the like, I say, these pretending themselves to be the Preachers of Truth, (but are not) do by their loose Conversation, render the Doctrine of God, and his Son Jesus Christ, (by whom the Saints are saved) contemptible, and do give the Adversary mighty Encouragement, to cry out against the Truths of our Lord Jesus Christ, because of their wicked walking. Now shall not his Soul be avenged on such a Nation as this, who pretend to be Teachers of the People in Goodness, when as for the most Part of them they are the Men, that at this Day do so harden their Hearers in their Sins by giving them, even their Hearers such ill Examples, that none goeth beyond them for Impiety. As for Example; Would a Parishioner learn to be proud? he or she need look no farther than to the Priest, his Wife and Family; for there is a notable Pattern before them. Would the People learn to be wanton, they may also see a Pattern among their Teachers. Would they learn to be Drunkards? they may also have that from some of their Ministers; for indeed they are Ministers in this, to minister ill Example to their Congregations. Again would the People learn to be covetous, they need but look to their Minister, and they shall have a lively, or rather a deadly Resemblance set before them, in both riding and running after great Benefices, and Parsonages by Night and by Day. Nay, they among themselves will scramble for the same. I have seen, that so soon as a Man hath but departed from his Benefice as he calls it, either by Death or out of Covetousness of a bigger, we have had one Priest from this Town, and another from that, so run, for these Tythe-Cocks and handfulls of Barley, as if it were their proper Trade, and calling, to hunt after the same. O wonderful Impiety and Ungodliness! are you not ashamed of your doings? If you say no. It is (perhaps) because you are given over of God to a reprobate Mind. Read Rom. 1. towards the end. As it was with them, so (it is to be feared) it is with many of you, who knowing the Judgments of God, that they who do such Things are worthy of Death, not only do the same, but have (as I may so say) pleasure also in them that do them. And now you that pretend to be the Teachers of the People in Verity and Truth, though we know that some of you are not: Is it a small Thing with you, to set them you say are your Flock such an Example as this. Were ever the Pharisees so prophane; to whom Christ said, ye Vipers, how can ye escape the Damnation of Hell? doth not the Ground groan under you? surely, it will favour you no more than it favoured your Fore-runners. Certainly the Wrath of God lies heavy at your Doors, it is but a very little while, and your Repompence shall be upon your own Head. And as for you that are indeed of God among them, though not of them; separate your selves: Why should the Righteous partake of the same Plagues with the Wicked? O ye Children of the Harlot! I cannot well tell how to have done with you, your Stain is so odious, and you are so senseless, as appears by your Practices. But I shall at this Time forbear, having in some Measure discharged my Conscience according to the Truth against you; hoping if God do give me Opportunity, and a fair Call, that I shall a second Time in this World give Testimony against your filthy Conversations, though now I shall say no more, only thus much; Be ashamed of your earthly-mindedness, if you can; and be converted, or else you shall never be healed.

Here might I also aggravate your Sin by its several Circumstances, but I shall rather forbear; supposing that you may entertain wrong and harsh Thoughts of me, though I have spoken the Truth; therefore I shall at this Time rather keep Silence, and wish you to amend, than to rake in your Sins; for thereby would your Stink go more abroad in the World. Therefore I say, I forbear, And now to the Reader, I beseech thee to have a care of thy Soul, and look well to the welfare of it: And that you may do so, have a care what Doctrine it is that thou receivest. Be not contented until thou in Deed and in Truth, in the Light of the Spirit of Christ, see thy Sins washed away in the Blood of that Lamb, who did offer up himself a Ransom on the Cross on Mount Calvary, for the Sins of thy Soul and Body, together with the rest of the Saints of God.

And let not the legal Holiness of the one, nor the loose prophane Conversation of the other, beat thee off from pursuing after the Truths of Jesus, as the Truth is in Jesus, (and so laid down in this my discourse) Neither let the Plausibleness of the other beguile thy simple Heart. And now to you that are carried away with the Delusions at this Day broached in the World, by the Instruments of Satan, and that after a Profession of the Truth; I say to you, Turn again, (If you can) peradventure there may be hope, and that you may escape that Wrath which justly you have deserved: But if you shall still refuse the Lord that speaks now from Heaven in Mercy to you, you shall not hereafter escape the Lord, that in his own time will speak to you in his wrath, and vex you in his sore displeasure.

And now a few words to you that have indeed closed in with the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of Mary, and they are these that follow. First, Be of good cheer, all your sins are forgiven you for his Name Sake, 1 John 2. 12.

2. Know, he that hath begun the good Work of his Grace in you, will perfect it, even to the second coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, Phil. 1. 6.

3. Know that though your Lord Jesus, who is in you by his Spirit, be absent from you touching his bodily presence, yet he is not forgetful of you, but is preparing a Place for you, Jo. 14. 1, 2, 3.

4. Consider, That he is also at this very present, in his very Person in the Presence of his Father now in the Heavens, praying and making intercession for you, that you may be brought safe to Glory. Heb. 7. 25. Father, I will (saith he) that those that thou hast given me may be where I am, that they may behold my Glory, John 17. 25.

5. Know also, That he hath overcome in his own Person (when he was in the World) Devil, Death, Sin, Hell, the Curse of the Law, the Power of the Grave, and all other Evils, in the Body of his Flesh for you, Heb. 2. 14.

6. Believe also, that while you are in the World, all things shall fall out for your good at the End, whether they be Temptations, Doctrines of Devils, Workings of Corruptions, all things shall fall out for your good, who love our precious Lord Jesus, Rom. 8. 28.

7. Be assured, that all your enemies shall very suddenly be under your feet, even Satan and all, Rom. 16. 20.

8. Consider, That there shall no Temptation befall you in the Days of your Pilgrimage, but God will enable you to bear it; I, and make a way also for you to escape the destroying danger of it, 1 Cor. 10. 13.

9. When the time of your dissolution shall come, your Jesus will deal with you, as he did with Blessed Lazarus, that is, he will send his Angels to fetch your souls away to Glory, Luke 16. 23.

10. Believe also, and know assuredly, that at the last day, he will also raise your Bodies out of their Graves, and make them also for ever Vessels of his glory, Rom. 8. 23. compar'd with John 5. 28. 1 Thes. 4. 14. to 19.

11. And lastly, consider, That though now by the world, and Hereticks, you be counted as not worth the looking after: Yet you have your Day a coming, when as the Dives's of this and all other ages, would be glad if they might have but the least favour from you, one Drop of cold Water on the Tip of your Fingers. O you despised begging Lazarus's (as in Luke 16. 24.) For the World, for all their Stoutness, must be forced to come to Judgment, before your Lord and you. 1 Cor. 6. 23. This honour have all his Saints, Psal. 149.

Now seeing that these things be so, I beseech you by (those) the Mercies of God, that you do give up your Bodies, as Hands, Tongue, Strength, Health, Wealth, and all that you have and are, to the service of God, your God, Rom. 12. 1.

2. Let your moderation in every thing be known to all men, (for) the Lord is at hand, Phil. 4. 5.

3. Study to walk as like the Lord Jesus Christ, as ever you can for your lives, Mat. 11. 29.

4. Let

4. Let that you strive for, be the Faith of the Gospel of your precious Lord Jesus, Phil. 1. 27. And not any earthly advantages.

5. Let your Conversation be as becometh the Gospel, Phil. 27.

6. Let your Hearts be always in Heaven, where our Lord Jesus is. Col. 3. 1, 2, 3.

7. Forbear and forgive one another, in love, and with all your Hearts, as God for Christ sake hath forgiven you, Eph. 5. 2.

8. Let your Light so shine before men, that they may see your good Works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven, Mat. 5. 16.

9. You are the Salt of the earth, have a care you loose not your savour, Mat. 5. 13.

10. Be forward to distribute to those that are in want, for this is well-pleasing to your most glorious loving Father, Heb. 13. 16.

11. Learn all one of another the Things that are good, for this is the command of God, and also commendable in Saints, Phil. 3. ver. 17.

12. And lastly, O Brethren, consider what the Lord hath done for you; he hath bought you, and paid for you with his Blood, and he doth now also make it his Business to pray for your safe Conduct to Glory, Heb. 7. 25. He hath delivered you from those that would have been your Ruin, and hath promised to you everlasting Life. Let the Love of Christ constrain you, let the Love of God win upon your Souls. What! he that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all: How shall he not with him freely give us all Things. Hold out my Brethren, hold out, for you have but a little while to run: Hold fast unto the Death, and Christ will give you a Crown of Life, Revel. 2. 10. Farewell, dear Brethren; The mighty God of Jacob preserve and deliver you from every evil Work; and all the Days of our Pilgrimage let us pray one for another, that our God would count us worthy of this rich and glorious Calling, and fulfil all the good Pleasure of his goodness, and the Work of Faith with Power, to whom be Glory now and ever.

And now Reader, before I make an end of this Discourse, I think it meet to let thee understand, that though there hath been a Book put forth by Edward Borrough, in seeming Opposition to that of mine, called, Some Gospel-Truths opened according to the Scripture. Yet the Substance of my Discourse then published by me, standeth uncontrouled by Scripture, as from him or others. I do not say, he doth not wrangle with them, but I say, he doth not by any one plain Scripture contradict them.

As for Instance: The First great Thing that I do hold forth in that Discourse, is this; That that Babe that was born of the Virgin Mary, and that at that Time did give Satisfaction for Sin, was the very Christ of God, and not a Type of any Thing afterward to be revealed for the obtaining Redemption for Sinners within them. Which Thing my Adversary can find no Ground in Scripture to build an Opposition upon, see his Book, Page 12. but is forced to confess it in Word, though he do deny the very same in Doctrine, see his Book p. 29. at his sixth Query. And p. 27. where in answer to this Question of mine; Why did the Man Christ hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary? All the answer he gives, is this; Because they wickedly judged him to be a Blasphemer; and as in their Account (saith he) he died as an evil doer. And this is all the Ground he giveth: See his Answer to my second Query in this my Book, taken Word for Word as he laid them down.

2. The next Thing I do prove in that Book is, That that Light which every one hath, is not the Spirit of Christ; because the Scripture saith, some have it not, Jude 19. But Edward Borrough saith, it is given to every one, p. 18. of his Book: And he saith, they have it within them too, p. 26. of his Book, in answer to my first Question, though he have no Scripture to confirm the same, as I have had to contradict it. See his Book.

3. The next Thing I prove, is, That Jesus Christ did fulfil the Law in his own Person without us for Justification, and that his Blood then shed, hath washed away the Sins of the Children of God, as aforesaid. Which thing he would oppose, but finds no footing for his Discourse. See his Book, p. 12. where he saith, the Law is not fulfilled (read the latter end of that Page) contrary to Scripture, Col. 2. 14. Rom. 10. 4. which saith, He did fulfil all the Law for Justification for every one that believeth. Another Thing I prove in that Book is, That Christ is ascended into that Heaven without, above the Clouds and Stars; and that I prove by eight several Scripture Demonstrations, of which not one is confuted by Scripture, though secretly in his Book smitten against. Read his whole Book.

4. The next Thing I prove, is, That the same Jesus that was born of Mary, laid in the Manger, who is the Saviour, is at this Day making Intercession in that Body he then took of Mary; which Thing also is not confuted by him, by the Scripture; though cunningly smitten against in his Discourse, where he saith, it is only necessary to Salvation to preach Christ within, laying aside all that Christ did when he was in his own Person in the World. See p. 29. of his Book, Qu. 6.

5. Another Truth I prove, is, That the very same Jesus that was born of Mary, that very Man (that was also hanged on the Cross) will come the second Time, and that shall be to save his Children, and to judge the World at the last Day, that great Day of Judgment. And though they will not own, that he shall so come as he went away, which was a very Man without;

without; yet they could not at all by the Scripture contradict it. But the very Sum of his Discourses is a wrangling with the Thing laid down, as a Dog with a Bone; but hath not, nor cannot by Scripture overcome the same. This have I written, that the Reader into whose Hand this Book may come, may have the more certain Information concerning the Things before published by me, and also concerning the Opposition made against them by the Adversary. And here, because I am loath to be too tedious, I do conclude, and desire thy Prayers to God for me (if thou be a Christian) that I may not only be preserved to the end in the Faith of Jesus, but that God would enable me to be an earnest contender for the same, even to the last; and rest,

The Servant of the Lord JESUS,

JOHN BUNYAN.

READER,

WE, whose Names are here under-written, having (through Grace) some blessed Faith and Experience of the Truths declared in this Book, and knowing them so to be; having tried them by the Scriptures in the Light of the Spirit, thought it our Duty to bear Witness thereunto, together with our Brother, desiring the Blessing of God may go along with these Endeavours of his, for the doing good to our Christian Brethren, or any other who may read it. Farewell.

Tours in the Faith of our Lord Jesus Christ,

For which Faith we desire to contend,

Richard Spencly.

GOSPEL-TRUTHS, &c.

IT is very expedient that there should be Heresies among us, that thereby those which are indeed of the Truth might be made manifest; and also that the Doctrine of GOD, and his Son JESUS CHRIST, might the more cast forth its Lustre and Glory. For the Truth is of that Nature, that the more it is opposed, the more Glory it appears in; and the more the Adversary objects against it, the more it will clear it self; which doth give me, and all that stand for it, and doth plead on its Side in the Wisdom of the Spirit, much Boldness and Encouragement, to venture without any slavish Fear upon those that have already, or shall hereafter, stand up to oppose it. I did some few Weeks past put forth a small Book, called, Some Gospel-

Truths opened, and so forth; and the Thing I looked for from them was, namely Opposition from the Adversary, which hath been accomplished in that, namely as I did look for it, so it did happen; not that it daunted me; for if it had so done, it might have made me kept those Truths within my Breast, which are now made manifest by me (as well as others) to the World. Now I have not only met with some Opposition from others Face to Face in secret, but there is one Edward Burrough (as I heard his Name is so, by some of themselves) that hath ventured to stand up against the Truth, with the rest of his Companions, and hath published a Book, called, The true Faith of the Gospel of Peace contended for. In which Book of his there is

is a very great Number of Heresies cunningly vented by him, and also many Things there falsely reported of me, which Things in this my Discourse I shall very plainly discover; and the Way that I shall take, shall be First, by laying down some of thy Expressions, and also some of mine; and by enquiring into the Truth of one, and the Error of the other, through the Assistance of the Spirit of CHRIST, and according to the Scriptures: Only by the Way, I think good to mind thee of thy cloathing thy self with the Words of the Prophets and Apostles, against whom thou doest fight (as will appear in my following Discourse) and also of thy endeavouring to wrest the Sword out of the Hands of the Saints, and art fighting against them bitterly, with a Parcel of scolding Expressions. But I wish thee to learn (if thou canst) to be sober, and to keep under thy unruly Spirit, and do not so much appear, at least not so grossly, a railing Rabshakeb; but contrarywise, if you would be looked upon to be holy, which (we know and believe that) as yet, many of you are not. Let at the least some Appearance of Moderation be manifest among you. After many Words that are flung into the Wind by thee my Adversary, in the 1st and 2d Page of thy Book, thou couldst not be contented therewith, as being too few to vent thy self withal; but thou breakest out in Page 3. with a false Testimony of John Burton, and his Fellow, saying, * They have joined themselves with the broken Army of Magog.----- And have shewed themselves in the Defence of the Dragon against the Lamb, in the Day of War betwixt them. When alas poor Soul we do know, and are bold to declare, in the Name of the Lord Jesus the Son of Mary, that our God hath owned us, with others of his Servants, in his own Work against the Devil's Devices and false Doctrine; as Instruments both for the comforting and establishing of his own, and also for the convincing and converting of some of them, who afore-time was not converted. And Friend, why doest thou say, that we join with Magog in the Defence of the Dragon against the Lamb, when thou seest the whole Drift both of my Brother's Epistle, and also of my Writing, is to exalt and advance the Firstborn of Mary, the Lord of Glory, and to hold on his Side, notwithstanding there are so many Tempests go through the World: And the rather, because we know that it is he, and he alone, that did bear our Sins in his own Body on the Tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24. for it is he that hath taken away the Sins of the World. Now I say therefore, do not thou thus accuse the Brethren, for speaking good of the Name of Jesus, lest thou be troubled at thy End for thus spending thy Beginning in taking part with the Devil to accuse God's Children.

N^o XXIV.

Then in the same Page thou sayest, thou hast numbered up part of our Work, and the Sum is, A corrupted Grain of Babylon's Treasure, &c. Ans. Friend, The Sum of our Discourse is of the Birth, Righteousness, Death, Blood, Resurrection, Ascension, Intercession, and second Coming of the Son of Mary, the Virgin, by which Righteousness, Blood, Death, Burial, Resurrection, Ascension, and Intercession we are saved. And dost thou count this a corrupted Grain of Babylon's Treasure? Have a Care what thou sayest, lest thou utter that with thy Mouth now which will lye heavy on thy Conscience for ever.

Then, as though this thy unwise speaking were too little, thou breakest out with a Taunt, or a Jeer, saying, A larger Portion, and more to the Purpose might have been brought in, but with such as you had, or could procure from your Neighbours are you come. Ans. Friend, Who hath despised the Day of small things. But again, we desire not to bring to others, no nor to know ourselves, any thing else but Jesus Christ (the Son of Mary) and him crucified for our Sins, 1 Cor. 2. 2. Then thou saist further in the same Page, That though thou hast not seen our Faces, yet our Spirit is tried, and we are clearly described to thee, (saist thou) to be of the Stock of Ismael, and of the Seed of Cain, whose Line reacheth to the murdering Priests, &c. Ans. Friend, thou art very censorious, and utterest many Words without Knowledge. We bless God, for the most Part of our Line, we do labour to stretch it out either in building up and exhorting the Saints of the most High, to cleave close to their Jesus, or else as much as in us lies, we labour to convince poor Souls of their lost Condition, according to the Word of God, and not to murder any. Nay contrariwise, we desire thro' Grace, if at any time we chance to see any of Christ's Lambs in the Teeth of any Wolf or Bear, be they never so terrible in Appearance; I say, we desire, we labour, we strive, and lay out ourselves, if it be possible, to recover the same, though with the Hazard of our Lives, or whatsoever may befall us in doing our Duty. And where as thou saist in the 4th Page, That we are found Enemies to Christ, revealed in his Saints. Ans. Thou doest us wrong, for we labour all that we may to countenance the same, where he doth indeed appear: and if at any time we do see or discern, that any Soul hath any breathing after the Knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ, we are so far from disowning or discountenancing of the same, that we give them all the Encouragement we may: Nay, and we are so far from discountenancing the Doctrine of God, and his Son Jesus Christ, that we say plainly, some have not the Spirit of Christ in them, and they are Reprobates, according to that Scripture,

Rom.

*This is a Lie, I bless God, spoken of the Adversary against me.

Here is one false Charge laid down by the Adversary against me.

Rom. 8. 9. If any Man hath not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his. And again, Some are sensual, having not the Spirit, Jude 19. And again, we are so far from being against the Doctrine of the Spirit of Christ in his Saints, we bless God that we say, It is the distinguishing Character of a true Believer, from others: All which things do I also affirm in my Book, and hold forth, as doth also my Brother in his Epistle. Therefore, I marvel, that you should be overseen, as to utter so many false things together, in less than four Sides of Paper, I wonder what will be the end of your Discourse.

Well, now thou dost come and fall a wrangling with some of the Words of my Brother Burton, which are to this Purpose, (he speaking before of the Doctrine of Jesus) and this is quite contrary (saith he) to those commonly called Familists, Ranters, Quakers, and others, who on the other hand either deny Christ to be a real Man without them, blasphemously fancying him to be only God manifest in their Flesh, or else make his humane Nature with the Fullness of the Godhead in it, to be but a Type of God to be manifested in the Saints. Now first of all, the great Offence thou takest of some of these Words, is, because he doth join in his Discourse Familists, Ranters, and Quakers together. Friend, what harm is it to join a Dog and a Wolf together? a fawning Dog and a Wolf in Sheep's Cloathing; they differ a little in outward Appearance, but they can both agree to worry Christ's Lambs. But again, Friend, let us a little compare the Principles of a Ranter and a Quaker together, and it will clearly appear, that in many of their Principles (at least) they agree, or jump in one: As first, the Ranters will own Christ no otherwise, than only within; and this is also the Principle of the Quakers, they will not own Christ without them. 2. The Ranters, they cry down all teaching, but the teaching within: and so do the Quakers, (witness Thousands) and yet condemn their Principles by their Practice, as the Ranters also did and do. Now the Apostle saith the contrary Saying, He that knoweth God beareth us, (meaning himself with the rest of the Apostles and Servants of Christ) He that is not of God beareth not us, 1 John 4. 6.

Again, 3. The Ranters are neither for the Ordinance of Baptism with Water, nor breaking of Bread. And are not you the same? 4. The Ranters would profess that they were without Sin; and how far short of this Opinion are the Quakers. 5. The Ranters would not own the Resurrection of the Bodies of the Saints after they were laid in the Graves: And how say you, Do you believe that the very Bodies of the Saints, as the very Body of Abra- ham, and the Body of Isaac, with the Bodies of all the Saints, notwithstanding some of them have been in the Graves thousands of Years, others hundreds, some less: I say, Do you believe the Resurrection of these very Bodies again, which which were buried so long since; or do you hold, as the Ranters do, nothing but the Resurrection from a sinful to an holy State in this Life.

And really I tell thee (Reader) plainly, that for the generality, the very Opinions that are held at this Day by the Quakers, are the same that long ago were held by the Ranters. Only the Ranters had made them thread-bare at an Alehouse, and the Quakers have set a new Gloss upon them again, by an outward legal Holiness, or Righteousness. But again, Why should you be so angry with my Brother, for joining of a Sinner and a Liar together? Is there any great Harm in that? Surely no. And the joining Ranters and Quakers together, is but so. The Quakers themselves confess, the Ranters are to be disowned, Page 4. Nay if they would not, yet God hath disowned them in the open View of the Nations. Now that the Quakers are Liars, I shall prove from their own Mouth. As first, from the several things that I did oppose even now, Page 1, 2, 3, 4, of his Book called, The true Faith of the Gospel of Peace, &c. Now lest they should be slighted and set at naught, I shall shew you clearly this Man's Lies manifestly laid down in his Book against me. As first, He saith of me in his Book, Page 11, 12. That I said positively, the Blood of Christ was shed before the World began. Whereas I said only this, That in the Account of God (mark it, in the Account of God) his Blood was shed before the World was, according to that Scripture, Rev. 13. 8. The Lamb slain from the Foundation of the World, in my Book, Page 3. Secondly he saith, that I cry aloud against Christ within, in Page 24. of his Book, And again he saith, that all my Work is an obscure shooting against the Manifestation of Christ within. Where he speaks very falsely of me, for I confess and own God's Christ within as well as without, as appears in my Book, Page 206. towards the End. And in the Epistle to my Book you may find the same held out by me for two or three Leaves together; besides, many other Places of my Book doth testify of the same; therefore, doth not he lie miserably in this also?

Again, he saith, that I am one of those that do preach for Hire, through Covetousness, making Merchandise of Souls, Page 23. of his Book, which is also an Untruth, as I shall shew further when I come to the Place.

Again he saith, in Page 30. that I said Christ's coming in the Spirit was no Coming. Here

Here also he uttereth Falshood. I never said so, as many of our Brethren can witness. But of this also in its Place, when I come to it, with many other Things which he hath very untruly vented of me, which I fear not but they shall be cleared, both now, and also at the second Appearance of the Man Christ Jesus. And therefore Friend (I say to thee) be not so pharisaical as to say within thine Heart, I am not as this Publican. Why am I reckoned with the Ranters? Thou art, both thou and thy Fellows, of the same Mind with them in many Things, and shall assuredly partake of the same Plague with them, if they and you repent not speedily.

Again, in Page 7. thou wouldest make us believe, that the Quakers do really and truly lay the Christ of God, God-Man, for their Foundation. Saying, We prize the Lord Jesus Christ, God-Man, to be precious to us, and to all that do believe, and have owned him to be the Foundation, &c. Now Friend, this is fairly spoken; but by Words in general we may be deceived, because a Man may speak one Thing with his Mouth, and mean another Thing in his Heart; especially it is so with those that use to utter themselves doubtfully; therefore we will a little enquire what it is to lay Christ, God-Man for a Foundation.

First then, To lay God's Christ, God-Man, for a Foundation, is to believe that Man that was born of the Virgin Mary, to be the Saviour.

How he was and is the Saviour, and therefore if you do indeed lay him for your Foundation, then you do believe that when the Man Christ did hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary, that then your Sins were satisfied for at that Time, as it is written, He bare our Sins in his own Body on the Tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24.

2. If the Christ of God, God-Man, be indeed your Foundation, then you do believe, that that evry Man in that very Body, did fulfil all the Law, in the Point of Justification, as it is written, Christ is the End of the Law for Righteousness to every one that believeth. So that now, believe aright in what the Son of Mary hath done without on the Cross, and be saved.

3. If you have laid Christ that Man aright for your Foundation, then you do believe, that when he was raised out of the Sepulchre into which Joseph had laid him, then at that Time was accomplished your Justification, Rom. 4. 25. How say you to these Things, Do you make an open Profession of them without Dissembling? Or do you not (notwithstanding your Talk of Christ) in very Deed deny the Virtue of the Death and Blood of Christ without, as for Justification and Life? If so, you have not laid him for your Foundation.

4. If you have indeed laid Christ, God-Man, for your Foundation, then you do lay the Hope of your Felicity and Joy on this, That the Son of Mary is now absent from his Children in his Person and Humanity, making Intercession for them and for thee, in the Presence of his Father, (2 Cor. 5. 6.) And the Reason that thou canst rejoice hereat is, because thou hast not only heard of it with thine Ear only, but dost enjoy the sweet Hope and Faith of them in thy Heart; which Hope and Faith is begotten by the Spirit of Christ, which Spirit dwelleth in thee, (if thou be a Believer) and sheweth those Things to thee to be the only Things. And God having shewn thee these Things, thus without thee by the Spirit that dwelleth in thee, thou hast mighty Encouragement to hope for the Glory that shall be revealed at the coming again of the Man Christ Jesus, of which Glory thou hast also greater Ground to hope for a Share in, because that that Spirit that alone is able to discover to thee the Truth of these Things, is given to thee of God, as the first Fruits of that Glory which is hereafter to be revealed, being obtained for thee by the Man Christ Jesus's Death on Mount Calvary, and by his Blood that was shed there, together with his Resurrection from the Dead, out of the Grave where they had laid him. Also, thou believest that he is gone away from thee in the same Body which was hanged on the Cross, to take Possession of that Glory, which thou, through his Obedience, shall at his (the very same Man's) Return from Heaven the second Time, have bestowed upon thee, having all this while prepared and preserved it for thee, as he saith himself; I go to prepare a Place for you. And if I go and prepare a Place for you, I will come again, and receive you to my self, that where I am, there ye may be also, John 14. 2, 3.

Again, 5. If thou hast laid Christ, God-Man, for thy Foundation, though thou hast the Spirit of this Man Christ within thee, yet thou dost not look that Justification should be wrought out for thee, by that Spirit of Christ that dwelleth within thee, for thou knowest that Salvation is already obtained for thee by the Man Christ Jesus without thee, and is witnessed to thee by his Spirit which dwelleth within thee. And thus much doth this Man Christ Jesus testify unto us where he saith he shall glorify me, Mark, He shall glorify me, (saith the Son of Mary) But how? Why, He shall take of mine (what I have done, and am doing in the Presence of the Father) and shall shew it unto you, John 16. 14. I have been a little the larger in this, because it is of Weight.

But again, thou sayest further, *The rest of this first Epistle I shall say little to; only thus much is the Mind of the Penman's Spirit, secretly smiting at the Doctrine of true Faith and Salvation, (to wit) Christ within.

* Here again he speaks falsely.

Answer.

Ans. My Friend, by saying that my Brother doth strike at the Doctrine of true Faith and Salvation, thou dost him a great deal of wrong; for it is so far from him so to do, that he telleth Souls plainly, that without true Faith in the Blood of the Son of Mary, who was crucified on Mount Calvary, there is no Remission; for faith he, it is only through that one offering then given up to the Father, that you must be justified. And that is according to the whole Stream of Scripture: For by one Offering, What was that? Why, the offering up of the Body of Jesus once for all, (Heb. 10. 10.) he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified. For this Man when he had offered up one Sacrifice for Sins for ever, sate down. Mark it: This Man when he had offered up one Sacrifice for Sins for ever, sate down on the right Hand of God, ver. 12.

And as for thy saying, that Salvation is, Christ within; if thou mean in Opposition to Christ without; instead of pleading for Christ, thou wilt plead against him; for Christ God-man without on the Cross, did bring in Salvation for Sinners; And the right believing of that, doth justify the Soul. Therefore Christ within, or the Spirit of him who did give himself a Ransom, doth not work out Justification for the Soul in the Soul; But doth lead the Soul out of it self, and out of that can be done within it self, to look for Salvation in that Man that is now absent from his Saints on Earth. 2 Cor. 5. 6. Why so? For it knoweth that there is Salvation in none other, Acts 4. 12. And therefore I would wish thee to have a Care what thou dost, for I tell thee, that Man who is now jeared by some, because he is preached to be without them, will very suddenly come the second Time, to the great overthrow of those, who have spoken, and shall still speak against him, Jude 14. 15.

Thou sayest also the next Thing thou mindest, is this in the second Epistle, where a Question is asked, Who are the Men that at this Day are so deluded by the Quakers, and other pernicious Doctrines, but they that counted it enough to be Talkers of the Gospel, &c. This Man, saith the Quaker, is of the same Spirit with his Fellow, and will more abound in Lies, &c. And why? because he saith the Quakers are those Deceivers that at this Day beguile poor Souls by their Doctrine. Alas poor Man, why shouldest thou be angry for my speaking the Truth, in saying: The Quakers are Deceivers, this will easily appear. For first, they deny the Man Christ to be without them, and own Christ no otherwise, but as he is within, contrary to that Scripture, which saith, For while we are at home in the Body we are absent from the Lord. This is touching his bodily presence. And again, he was parted from them, And a Cloud received him out of their Sight. And he was carried away from them, and so received up into Heaven, Acts 1. 9, 10, 11. Now he that denieth this is a Deceiver, as is clear, in that he doth speak against the Truth laid down in the Scripture.

2. The Quakers are Deceivers, in that they persuade Souls that Christ is crucified in them, dead within them, and kept down with some Thing within them, which was never taught by those that spoke the Scripture from the Spirit of God. Shew me a Scripture to confirm such a Doctrine as this, which hath been avouched over and over by the Quakers.

3. The Quakers are Deceivers, because they do persuade Souls, that that Man that was born of the Virgin Mary, is not above the Clouds and the Stars, when the Scripture saith, A Cloud received him out of the Sight of his Saints. And again, that he is above the highest Heavens, which must needs be above the Stars, for they are not the highest.

4. The Quakers are Deceivers, because they persuade Souls not to believe, that that Man that was crucified, and rose again Flesh and Bones, (Luke 24. 38, 39, 40.) shall so come again, that very Man, in the Clouds of Heaven to Judgment as he went away; and at the very same Time shall raise up all the Men and Women out of their Graves, and cause them to come to the Valley of Jeholbaphat; because there will he, that very Man, sit to judge all the Heathen round about. I say, they strive to beat Souls off from believing this, though it be the Truth of God witnessed by the Scripture, Joel 3. 11, 12. as also Acts 1. 10, 11. This same Jesus which is taken from you into Heaven, shall so come (mark, the very same) in like Manner as ye have seen him go into Heaven. And his Feet shall stand in that Day (the Day of his second coming) upon the Mount of Olives, Zech. 14.

4. Where is that? Not within thee, but that which is without Jerusalem, before it on the East-side. I say now, he that persuades Souls not to believe this, but makes them believe there is no such Thing, as the Quakers do, he is a Deceiver. Again, the Quakers make no Difference between that Light wherewith Christ, as he is God, hath enlightned all; and the Spirit of Christ he gives not to all, which I shall shew by and by to be a Deceit.

5. The Quakers are Deceivers, because they say, That every one hath that which is like the Spirit of Christ, even as good as the Spirit of Christ, Page 10. of his Book, which is desperate Blasphemy. The Scripture saith plainly, That some are sensual, having not the Spirit. And yet though they have not that, they have, says the Quakers, that which is as good as that. O wonderful Deceit, as I shall farther shew by and by when I come to the Place. But to cover, ver himself, and so his Deceit, he doth apply that to himself that should be applied for the encouragement of the Children of God: saying, the Children of God was always counted Deceivers, we (saith he) have a Cloud of Witnesses. Answer, Friend, they were called Deceivers, and were not so; but you are rightly called so, as I have already shewed, and shall shew farther by and by. In the mean time know, that the Devil knows how to take Children's Bread, and cast it to the Dogs.

Another
false Thing spoken of me by the Quakers.

Then the next Thing that he is grieved with, is, because I said, there are none but a Company of light Notionists, Ranters, with here and there a Legalist, that was shaking in their Principles, that were carried away by the Quakers, &c. When this appears in all Mens Sight that can see, though you would not have it so (it is like.) And as for your saying, Because all Sorts of People are brought to God, I am offended therewith; I answer, No Friend I bless God my Soul can rejoice that Souls come in to Jesus Christ, though it grieves me to see, how some with a Spirit of Delusion are deceived, and destroyed, by its coming unto them as an Angel of Light. And whereas thou sayest I am like the Pharisees, who said, None believe, but a Company of poor People, which know not the Law. Ans. I bless God, I do know they are the poor that receive the Gospel; but Friend, I must tell you, that you and your Fellows may seek for Justification from the Law, and yet have no better a Recompence, than to be condemned by the Law.

Now passing many Railings, I come to the next Thing that thou dost stumble at, which is in that I say, some of those Delusions the Devil doth deceive poor Souls withal, is first, in that he doth persuade them, that Salvation was not completely wrought out for Sinners by the Man Christ Jesus, though he did it gloriously upon the Cross without the Gates of Jerusalem. Now these Words, he did it gloriously on the Cross, without the Gates of Jerusalem, thou leavest out. Therefore I ask, Do you believe that at that Time, when he did hang upon that Cross on Mount Calvary, that he did by that Death he died there, redeem all his Elect from eternal Vengeance? if not, whatever thou sayest, thou wilt certainly see, that Satan hath caught thee in his Snare, notwithstanding thy railing against the Lord Jesus. And Friend, thou mayest call thy Conscience the Man Christ Jesus, or the Light (as thou callest it) in thy Conscience the Man Christ Jesus; which if thou do, this is a Delusion, and a dangerous Doctrine. For a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, and so hath the Man Christ Jesus. Now it may be, you think farther that the Church, with the Spirit of Christ, is the Man Christ Jesus, which is also a damnable Heresy. Therefore, speak plainly; Dost thou believe that the Man Christ Jesus is ascended from his People in his Person? And again, dost thou believe that he which ascended from his Disciples, did bring in everlasting Salvation for them, in that his Body which ascended from them? An Answer to this might give great Satisfaction to Souls, if also it might be made in Words easily to be understood. Again,

Thou art also offended with the second Deceit which I lay down in my Epistle, which is (say I) for the Devil to bid Souls follow that Light which they brought into the World with them, telling them, that that will lead them to the Kingdom. Now thou seemest gruelled, because I said, Which they brought into the World with them. If thou art offended at that, shew me when, and at what Time every Soul receives a Light from Christ after it comes into the World. Now this I say, That every Man hath not the Spirit of Christ within him. Jud. 17. And that there is nothing that can shew the Soul the Things of Christ savingly, but the Spirit of Christ, 1 Cor. 2. 11. Then will not you your self confess, that he is deluded, that is persuaded to follow that Light that cannot reveal Christ unto him? But I must mind you of one filthy Error also which thou layest down in Page 10. Corrupting the Scripture to make it good, but in vain; where thou sayest, That Light which every Man is lightened withal, will lead unto the Kingdom of Peace and Righteousness. And then thou addest, for faith Christ, I am the Light of the World, he that followeth me shall not abide in Darkness, or walk in Darkness. Pray mark. First, thou callest it the Light of Christ, wherewith he hath lightned every one; and here thou comest a Step higher, and callest it, Christ himself; and then corruptest that Scripture, where the Son of Mary saith, I am the Light of the World, &c. Here thou wouldest very willingly have room to broach thy Folly, but it may not be; for though Christ be the Light of the World, yet he is not in every one in the World. But secondly, I pray where was Christ when he spake those Words? was he I say, within his Disciples, or without them, when he said, I am the Light of the World? He was without them, and walked up and down in the World with them from Place to Place, a very Man. Therefore, he did not mean at that Time, any Light within, but himself who was without. And indeed, they who will follow Christ aright, must follow him without, to the Cross without, for Justification on Mount Calvary without, (that is, they must seek for Justification by his Obedience without.) To the Grave without, and to his Ascension and Intercession in Heaven without; and this must be done through the Operation of his own Holy Spirit, that he hath promised shall shew these Things unto them, being given within them for that Purpose, John 16. 14. Now the Spirit of Christ that leads also, but whither? It leads to Christ without, which said, being without, I am the Light of the World, he that followeth me shall not abide in Darkness, but shall have the light of Life, deny this, that Christ was without when he spake those Words (I am the Light of the World;) if you can.

But to come more close to the Thing. That Light wherewith Christ, as he is God, hath lightened every one that cometh into the World, is the Soul of Man, which is the Life of the Body, and yet it self is but a Creature, and made by the Creator of all Things, Isa. 57. 16. and is not the Spirit, as some do think it is. This Creature hath one Faculty of its own Nature, called Conscience, which hath its Place in the Soul, where it is as a Judge to discern of Things good or bad, and judge them accordingly, as the Apostle saith, speaking of the Heathens. Their Conscience either accusing or else excusing one another, Rom. 2. 14. This Conscience is that in which is the Law of Nature, 1 Cor. 11. 14. which is able to teach the Gentiles, that Sin against the Law, is Sin against God: And yet it is called but even Nature it self, as he saith there, Doth not even Nature it self teach you? &c.

Now this Conscience, this Nature it self, because it can controul, and chide them for Sin, who give ear unto it, therefore must it be Idolized, and made a God of. O wonderful! that Men should make a God and a Christ of their Consciences, because they can convince of Sin. But thou goest ramping on, and sayest, there is nothing but the Light of Christ that will convince of Sin, and thou biddest me, mind that. Now dost thou mean the Spirit of Christ? dost thou say that that which thou callest the Light of Christ, is the Spirit of Christ? If so, then there is Conscience which is not the Spirit of Christ, but a poor Dunghil Creature, in comparison of the Spirit of Christ; yet will convince of Sin, as is clear, from that 8. of John. Where the Woman is mentioned, who was taken in adultery by the Pharisees, or others, who when they had brought her to Christ, and began to accuse her, Christ said, He that is without Sin among you, let him cast a stone at her. And what then? When they heard that, they were convicted by their own Consciences. Mark, he doth not say, by the Light of Christ in their Consciences. as some would have it be; No, but by their own Consciences they were convinced, and went out one by one. And were they all served so? Yea, from the eldest, even to the last; for they all had Consciences, though not the Spirit of Christ. So that Friend, here is something beside the Spirit of Christ, that can and doth convince of Sin, even a Man's own Conscience, the Law of Nature; nay Nature it self, which no Man will say is as good as the Spirit of Christ, except they are guided by a deluding Spirit. Again, thou sayest, He that convinceth of Sins against the Law, leads up to the fulfilling of the Law. Friend, thy Conscience convinceth of Sins against the Law, follow thy Conscience, it may lead thee under the Curse of the Law, through its weakness; but it can never deliver thee from the Curse of the Law by its power. For if Righteousness come by the obedience to the Law, or by thy Conscience either, then Christ is dead in vain, Gal. 2. 21.

Again thou sayest, That I and my Generation would leap over the Law.

Ans. For Justification we look beyond it to the Son of Mary; yet we know that the Law is good, if it be used lawfully; but if it be used unlawfully, as those do use it, who seek to be justified by their Obedience to it, it is made an Idol of, and a Saviour, though it were given to no such purpose: For if there had been a Law given which could have given Life, verily Righteousness should have come by (thy Obedience to) the Law, Gal. 3. 21. Now at thy conclusions, sometimes thou dost utter thy self in this wise, Learn what this means.

Ans. Indeed thy Words are dark, and enough to deceive the Hearts of the Simple; but Blessed be God, he hath given me to understand, that thou dost all along in the Drift of thy Discourse, disown Christ without, by pretending to a Christ within; whereas hadst thou indeed the Spirit of Christ within thee, it would be thy great Business to extol and magnifie the Son of Mary, the Christ of God without thee, because it is the Nature of the same Spirit so to do, even to glorifie Christ without, who went away from his Disciples into Heaven, Luke 24. 50, 51, to prepare a Place for them.

Then thou further sayest (with a Kind of disdainful Spirit) Many things more thou passest by in my Book, as being not pertinent to the Thing in hand. But I believe they are so pertinent, that neither thou, nor thy Friends or Fellows are able to contradict without blaspheming, in the view of all them that have Eyes to see: for if they could, it should have been done by thee. And whereas thou sayest, Fools must be meddling. Answer, It must needs be, that the Saints of God should be call'd Fools by the Enemies of the Man Christ Jesus without, because that the Doctrine of the Man Christ Jesus, Crucified without for the Sins of poor Sinners, is also held to be Foolishness by them; although it be the Wisdom, and also the Power of God, unto every one that believeth, 1 Cor. 1. 23, 24.

And further, thou sayest, that the Pope can can speak as much of Christ without, as I. Answer, Friend, dost thou put no Difference betwixt the speaking of Christ without, and believing in Christ without? I tell thee, though there may be many that can speak of the Christ of God without, yet there are but very few that can, or do believe indeed in him without, by the Mighty Operation of his Holy Spirit within. Nay, you yourselves do testify this, who deny that the Salvation of Sinners was compleatly wrought out by that one Offering of Jesus Christ without upon the Cross on Mount Calvary, and that he is ascended from his Disciples above the Clouds, touching his Bodily Presence, as in 1 Cor. 5. 6. compared with Acts 1. 9, 10, 11.

Then again thou sayest, I do ask my self a question, and do also answer it my self deceitfully. The question is, Do not the Scriptures make mention of a Christ within? And thou sayest, I answer it deceitfully my self. But I answer again, that I am not ashamed of that answer I then gave, because I know it is truth; and whereas thou sayest it is deceitful, and yet canst not find Fault with any point thereof, it confirms me, that had there been Falsity in it, such an Enemy to the Truth, as thou art, wouldst have taken that Advantage, as to have discovered, that thereby thou mightest have rendered the Truth the more odious. The answer I shall leave to the Christian Reader, which is so indeed; yet am confirmed my self concerning it, and shall give thee an answer to thy question, which is, Doth not the Scriptures (say or) witness that all that have not Christ within are Reprobates? Answer: Yes, the Scripture saith so, and it is true, they that have not the Spirit of Christ in them, are Reprobates. But there are some that are Reprobates, that you will confesse. Then by your own argument you must grant, that some have not the Spirit of Christ in them. Pray take notice, they that have not the Spirit of Christ in them are Reprobates. There are some who are Reprobates; therefore there are some who are sensual, having not the Spirit of Christ in them. (see thy Folly how it is made manifest) Jud. v. 19. The next thing thou art offended withal, is, because I say, the Devil deceives poor Souls by perswading them to follow the Light within (which all Men have.) Answer, Friend, I say, again, and again, That there is nothing less than the Spirit of Christ, that can give a Soul a Sight of Justification by the Blood of the Man Christ Jesus without, by following of it. Now as thou sayest thy self, some are Reprobates, and have not the Spirit of Christ.

Then is it any Heresy to say, that it is of the Devil to perswade a Soul to follow that Light which is no better than Conscience, or Nature it self, which are not able to lead to Christ his things, being Foolishness to it, Rom. 2. 14. or is Conscience, which every one is lightened withall, the Spirit of Christ? give an answer in Sincerity.

Then thou sayest, that my whole purpose is a secret smiting at the Light wherewith Christ hath lightened every Man. I answer, My whole design in my Book, is, and was, these following things.

First, To shew Souls, where Salvation is to be had. Namely, in Christ without.

2. To shew Souls how they should lay hold of this Salvation; Namely by the Operation of the Spirit of Christ, which must be given within.

And 3ly, To forewarn poor Souls, that they should not deceive themselves, neither by Conscience, nor the Law; which are both inferiour, and much below the Spirit of Christ; even as much as he that buildeth the House, hath more honour than the House, Heb. 3.

And 4, to shew how poor Souls should know, whether they had the Spirit of Christ, or not, within them, or whether the Spirit of the Devil had exalted himself above the Spirit of Christ, by transforming himself into an Angel of Light.

Farther, thou thinkest I contradict my self, because I admonish poor Souls to beg of God to convince them by his Holy Spirit; and thou sayest, This is my confusion. When alas, Confusion is of, and from thy self, who wouldst make a defiled Conscience, the Law and the Spirit of Christ to be all one; as I shall further clear to the Reader by and by.

But I tell thee Friend, there are many who have not the Spirit of Christ, and yet are convinced of Sin by their own Consciences, John 8. 9. He doth not say, by the Light of Christ in their Consciences, that is a saying of your own, without warrant from the Word of God, but by their own Consciences. Mark that: Now I knowing, that a Man may be convinced, and yet not by the Spirit of Christ (for he may be without that) but by Nature it self, 1 Cor. 11. 14. I do admonish every Soul, if they love themselves, to beg of God for Jesus Christ his sake, that he would not only let them be convinced by these poor, low, empty, beggarly things (their Consciences) (in respect of the Spirit of Christ) but that he would convince them by that Spirit of his effectually, which is not only able to shew their lost state because of Sins against the Law, but also, to lead them to the right Saviour, and plant them into him, which all other things are not able to do. And thus much in answer to thy scolding against my Epistle, the Truth of which I bless God through the Strength of Christ, I could be willing to seal with my Blood.

And now Friend, in love to thy Soul, I say, have a care of thy self, that thou do not not satisfy thy self with any thing, until thou seest by the Operation of the Spirit of Christ (which thou must have given thee from Heaven, as being without it before Conversion) that the Blood of that Man Christ Jesus that was Crucified on Mount Calvary, did at that same time, when it was there shed, wash thee from all thy Sins, and be not so stout, and so stern against the Truth, because it suits not with thy beguiled Conscience. (Bear with me in patience) and seriously enquire into the Truth of things according to the Scriptures, For they are they that testify of Christ, and how Salvation doth come by him.

In thy entering upon my Book, the first Thing I find thee wrangling with, is first, by corrupting my Words, and then by calling me Liar.

Thou corruptest my words saying, That I said, The Blood of Christ was shed before the World began. Whereas I said, that in the account of God, (mark, in the account of God) the Blood of Christ was shed before the World began. Friend, art thou not able to distinguish, betwixt a Thing being done in God's account, or according to his Foreknowledge, and a Thing that is really and actually done? Surely it was either thy Folly to speak evil of the thing thou knowest not, or else thy madness doth much appear, in that though thou understandest these things, yet for to wrangle by corrupting my sayings here, as also in other places, as will afterwards appear. This is in page 11, of thine, page 3, of my Book.

Then thou goest on, Page 12. and quotest the Place where I say, Page 37. How horribly are those deceived who look on Jesus (but thou leavest out those Words, the Son of Mary) to be but a Type; which thing you say, you know none that do. And again thou sayest, that I say, he is of something afterwards to be revealed. My Words thou corruptest; thou wouldst fain gather thus much out of my Words by corrupting them. That though I denied Christ Jesus the Son of Mary to be a Type, yet I my self say, He was a Type of something afterward to be revealed. Which thing, as there in my Book, so here again I do most positively deny, and I quote the same Words again, for a second Confirmation of the same, saying as then I did; How horribly are those deceived, who look on Jesus the Son of Mary to be but a Shadow, or Type of something that was afterwards to be revealed. Whereas the Scriptures most lively hold him forth to be the Christ of God; and not a Type or Shadow of a Spirit, or Body afterwards to be revealed, but himself was the very Substance of all things that did any way hold forth, or type out Christ to come: And when he was indeed come, then was an end put to the Law for Righteousness or Justification to every one that believeth, Rom. 10. 4.

Here my Words are corrupted.

And therefore, Friend, though thou hast, or wouldest corrupt my Words, yet have a care of corrupting Christ's Words, lest thou dost even heap up Wrath against the Day of Wrath, and Revelation of the righteous Judgment of God. And whereas thou sayest, Thou deniest not but Jesus is the Substance. Answe. I doubt thou dost not speak thine Heart plainly, but hidest thy self with so saying, as with an Apron; if we enquire into what it is to hold forth Jesus the Son of Mary to be the Substance. Therefore he that holds forth Jesus the Son of Mary to be indeed the Substance, and not a Type; holds forth and believes, that that Jesus that was born of the Virgin Mary, did in his own Body of Flesh fulfil the Law, and impute the Righteousness of his Obedience unto them that he accomplished then without them; and that his Blood that was shed without on the Cross, doth, and hath washed away all Sin past, present, and to come, from him that believeth this; as it is written, For what the Law could not do in that it was weak through the Flesh, that is, through our Flesh: God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful Flesh, and for Sin condemned Sin in the Flesh. That is, he was condemned in the Flesh that he took on him the Virgin Mary, Rom. 8. 3. And again, he bore our Sins in his own Body on the Tree, which was the Cross on Mount Calvary.

Jesus also (saith the Apostle) that he might sanctify the People with his own Blood, suffered: Where? Not in any Believer, but without the Gate of Jerusalem, Heb. 13. 12. How say you, do you really believe that at that Time when Jesus did hang on the Cross without Jerusalem's Gate, even at that Time he did give the Justice of God a full and complete Satisfaction for all the Sins of all Believers, that have been formerly, or are now, or hereafter shall be? Or do you look upon Jesus at that Time to be but a Shadow, or Type of somewhat that was afterwards to be done within? Answer plainly, yea, or no; that the simple may understand you.

Now I come to answer thy Query laid down Page 12. in these Words; Did Christ Jesus put an end to the Law, for them who live yet in the Transgression of the Law? Or doth he justify that which the Law condemneth? Indeed a right Answer to this will be great Satisfaction to some, though I think some Trouble to others. And therefore in Answer to thy Question I shall lay down these following Things:

First, Christ Jesus did put an end to the Law for Righteousness, for all that the Father hath given him; as it is written, the Body of Jesus was offered once for all, for all that shall be saved; for he shall not be offered a second Time: No, but once for all, Heb. 10. 10. Once in the End of the World hath he appeared, to put away Sin by the Sacrifice

Sacrifice of himself; and he hath done it once by himself for all, Heb. 9. 26. Otherwise he must have often suffered since the World began: But that must not be; for he dieth no more, Rom. 6. 9. But say you, Did he put an End to the Law for them who still live in Transgression?

2. Ans. There are many poor Souls that are given unto Christ, who yet live in their Sins. But Christ did at that Time, when he hanged on the Cross, give a full and complete Satisfaction for them. In due Time Christ died for the ungodly: For scarcely for a righteous Man will one die, but peradventure for a good Man some one would even dare to die. I, but God commendeth his Love to us-wards, in that while we were yet Sinners Christ died for us. While we were yet Sinners, yet ungodly, Rom. 5. 6, 7, 8. Nay, he did not only die for those who still live in Sin, but he also makes Intercession now at the Throne of his Father's Grace for them. And he made Intercession for the Transgressors, Isa. 53. 12. He hath ascended on high, he hath led Captivity Captive, and received Gifts for Men. For what Men? Even for the rebellious also, Psal. 68. 18. To what End? That the Lord God might dwell amongst them.

And whereas thou askest; Doth he justify that which the Law condemneth, before the Work of the Law be finished? I answer:

That at that very Time when Jesus Christ did hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary, was buried, rose again from the Dead, and ascended above the Clouds from his Disciples, at that very Time was all the Law fulfilled for Righteousness. He is the end of the Law, mark; he is the end of the Law for Righteousness. But if there were any Thing yet to be done for Justification, which was not then done; there could not be an end put to the Law for Righteousness, for every one that believeth. But in that there is an end put to the Law for Righteousness by Jesus for all the Elect of God, Christ having once fulfilled it for them; It is manifest, that there was not any Thing then left undone by Christ at that Time, which was afterward to be done by his own Spirit in his Children for Justification, only believe what the Man Christ, at that Time did do, and be saved; Acts 13. from ver. 29. to ver. 39. and whereas thou asketh, whether Christ did justify that which the Law condemneth?

I answer, Fourthly, That though Christ Jesus did not justify Sins of Ungodliness, yet he justifieth the ungodly. Now to him that worketh is the Reward given, or reckoned; not of Grace but of Debt: But to him that worketh not, but believed on him that justifieth the ungodly (mark the ungodly) his Faith is counted for Righteousness. He is he that justifieth, having finished the Righteousness of the Law in his own Person for them. My own Arm brought Salvation, saith he, but how? Even by his bleeding on the Cross. You have Redemption through his Blood, Eph. 1. 7. which was shed without the Gate, Heb. 13. 12. I, and though the Law condemneth a Sinner, yet let but that Sinner believe in Christ, in what he hath done in his own Person, and he shall be justified from all Things, from which he could not be justified by the Law of Moses, Acts 13. 39.

And whereas thou askest me the Meaning of that Scripture, Not one tittle of the Law shall fail till all be fulfilled. I answer. That the Law hath already been fulfilled for Justification, for every one that believeth: And a believer is to do nothing for Justification, only believe and be saved; though that Law be a Rule for every one that believeth to walk by, but not for Justification. But if you do not put a Difference between Justification wrought by the Man Christ without, and sanctification wrought by the Spirit of Christ, within; teaching believers their duty to their God, for his love in giving Christ; you are not able to divide the Word aright: but contrarywise, you corrupt the Word of God, and cast stumbling blocks before the People; and will certainly one Day most deeply smart for your folly, except you repent. Here is a plain answer that may satisfy the simple. The Lord God grant that they may lay it to heart effectually.

Now this I say further, that if God enable any to receive this Doctrine aright (namely what I said even now) it will more engage the Soul to God, than all the Threatnings, Thunder-claps, and Curses that come from the Law it self. And a Soul will do more for God, seeing it self redeemed by the Blood of the Lamb the Son of Mary, John 1. 29. than if he had all the Conditions of the Law to fulfil, and might be sure to have Heaven for the fulfilling of them. Now as to the assurance thou speakest of at the end of thy question. I know in the first place, that though believers themselves do sin, yet they have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the Righteous, 1 John 2. 1, 2. And though the Doctrine of the Gospel be to abstain from all appearance of evil, yet our Lord Jesus Christ is so pitiful, as not altogether to deprive his Children of an Assurance of their Salvation, * though some-
 And whereas you would lay an assurance on our obedience to the Law; I say, our assurance comes through our believing, and our obedience to the Law is a fruit of our believing; for every one that hath this hope, that he is one of the Children, or Sons of God, by Faith in Jesus, 1 John 3. 3. purifieth himself as he is pure. Holiness of Life, if it be right, flows from an assurance of our being justified by Christ's

* For the proof of this, read the good love of God to David, Peter, and others, which did most woefully sin again after they were converted.

Death on the Cross, on Mount Calvary; as it is written again, that he might sanctifie his People with his own Blood, he suffered without the gate.

But again, page 12. thou seemest offended, because I say, They are deceived, who think to obtain Salvation by following the Law, which they call Christ, though falsely. Why shouldst thou be offended at this, when the Scripture saith plainly, That by the works of the Law shall no flesh living be justified in his sight; for by the Law is the knowledge of Sin, Rom. 3. 20. But this is thy frothy argument, The Law convinceth, and is our Schoolmaster to bring us to Christ; therefore the Law is not taken away, sayest thou. Friend, what is this to the purpose? must we seek for Justification by the Works of the Law, because the Law convinceth? you may as well say, we must seek for Justification from our Consciences, because they do convince: Now where the Scripture saith, the Law was our Schoolmaster to bring us to Christ; do you think it means, we must be first fitted by Purification of our selves by, or according to the Law, before we can be saved by Christ from the Curse of the Law? if you say, yea. Then doth not this follow, that Christ Jesus did not come to save Sinners, but to save the Righteous; and if so, then you must say, that Christ, Peter, Paul, and all the Servants of the Lord are Lyars, who have testified that Christ died not for the Godly, but for the Ungodly and Sinners.

But where the Scripture saith, The Law was our Schoolmaster to bring us to Christ: I ask again, is it the Ceremonial Law, or the Moral Law that is meant in this place? if you say the Moral, or the Ten Commandments. I answer; That doth not lead to Life and so not to Christ; but is properly the Ministration of Condemnation, 2 Cor. 3. That is, the proper Work of the Moral Law, or Ten Commandments, is to condemn, if it be not obeyed; and yet not to bless, until it be every jot fulfilled, which is impossible to be done by any Man for Justification, in that exact and severe way which the Law calls for; which makes the Apostle say, as many as are of the Works of the Law, are under the Curse. Mark, he doth not say, as many as are of the Works of Sin, are under the Curse, though that be true; but as many as are of the Works of the Law, are under the Curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things that are written in the Book of the Law to do them. But that no Man is justified by the deeds of the Law it is evident, For the Just shall live by Faith, Gal. 3. 10, 11.

If it be meant of the Ceremonial Law, as I am most inclinable to believe, because he saith it was our Schoolmaster; he doth not say it is, but it was our Schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, being a Tutor or Governor; holding and significations forth Christ to come by its Types until the time appointed of the Father, which appointed time (and so that Law) was to have an end, when God sent forth his Son made of a Woman, Jesus the Son of Mary, who was made under the Law, to redeem those that were under the Law.

Now the Ceremonial Law did bring or lead to Christ these two ways: First, In that it did continue in full force until he did come into the World, and had done that which was by it held out for him to do.

Secondly, in that the several Types and Shadows, as the Blood of Bulls and Lambs, with diverse other services did lead to, or hold forth Christ that was to come: But the Moral Law, or Ten Commandments, is so far from leading us to Christ by our following it, that it doth even lead those that are lead by it under the Curse. Not because the Law hath an evil end in it, but because of our Weakness and inability to do it; therefore it is forced, as it is just, to pass a Sentence of Condemnation on every one, that in every particular fulfils it not.

In the next place, thou art offended because I said, It is not of Works least any Man should boast, as those fond Hypocrites, called Quakers would do.

Thou art offended it seems, because I call you boasters. You need not, for I do not know your fellows for boasting under Heaven, in that you, (Pharisees like) do cry up your selves to be the Men, and condemn all others; when you are the Men that are the greatest enemies to the Christ of God without (who is the Saviour) of any Man under Heaven. And in that you pretend you are perfect, when you are the notablest Lyars and Corrupters of the sayings of the People of God, yea, and of the Scriptures also, that ever I came near in all the Days of my Life; and I doubt not but before I have done with you, I shall make it appear to them that read or hear my lines aright. The Query in page 13. runs thus. Will that Faith which is without Works justify? I answer, No, neither will those Workers which are without Faith sanctifie. What then, Is it Faith and Works together that doth justify? No, it is only Faith in the Blood of the Man Christ, that did hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary, that doth justify in the sight of God and the Soul, and it is the Fruits of Faith, good Works, which do justify in the sight of Men. So that when it is said, we are justified by Works; it is not meant that Works will justify in the sight of God. No, but shew me (or shew Men) thy Faith, or justify thy Faith to be true and right before Men by thy Works. Shew Men thy Faith by thy Works, it is in the sight of Men. So that we conclude a Man is justified fied by Faith without the Works of the Law in the sight of God, and so his own Soul also; and his Faith is justified, or made manifest to be indeed that which is right, both to Believers, and to the World by its Works. Though I must confess, that both Paul and Peter, and the rest of the Saints, may sometimes be deceived in the Truth of the Faith of others by their Works.

Gal. 2.20. Again in Page 17. thou seemest to be offended, because, I say living by Faith, is to apply the Lord Jesus Christ, his Benefits, as Birth, Righteousness, Death, Blood, Resurrection, Ascension, and Intercession, together with the glorious Benefits of his second coming to me, as mine, and for me, &c.

Friend, methinks thou shouldest find no Fault with this, but that the Man Christ Jesus, the Son of Mary, is not very pleasant to thee, because thou hast swallowed down secretly another Doctrine; but Friend, I speak of applying these Things, and thou speakest of talking of them, I know that there are many who talk of Christ, that will fall short of Heaven and Glory.

But tell me, what sayest thou to him that doth apply all these Things to his Soul, is there not enough in them to justify him, that doth really and truly in the Power of the Spirit, believe this to be true which I have said? or dost thou deny it, and preach another Gospel? and whereas thou sayest, the Word of the Gospel saith not, who shall ascend, to fetch Christ from above for Salvation. Though there is never a Scripture that sayeth these Words, Word for Word; yet the Scripture saith, The Word is nigh thee, even in thy Mouth, and in thy Heart; But mark, it is the Word of Faith, not the Man Christ Jesus, but Faith which layeth hold on him, Rom. 10. 8, 9. read the 9th Verse, which is this, That if thou shalt confess with thy Mouth the Lord Jesus (who was born of the Virgin, Mat. 1. 21.) And shalt believe in thine Heart, that God raised him from the Dead. Thou shalt be saved. These great and precious Scriptures, with which by corrupting of them, the Quakers have beguiled many, have this meaning, that if thou shalt confess with thy Mouth the Lord Jesus; that is, in Profession and Practice, own him, and believe him to be the anointed Saviour. And shalt believe in thine Heart, there is the Word of Faith, if thou shalt believe in thine Heart, that God raised him from the Dead, thou shalt be saved: For with the Heart Man believeth unto Righteousness, and with the Mouth, Confession is made unto Salvation. But what should Men believe with the Heart? Namely this, that God raised him (that is Christ) from the Dead, ver. 10. And therefore, I wonder thou shouldest so scold, as thou dost, against the Truth: If this be not Truth, blame the Scripture which do testify of these Things for Truth. For I am ruled, and would be ruled by them through the Spirit.

But farther, thou art offended that I should say, They are deceived who own Christ no otherwise than as he was before the World began. This Question I briefly ask thee, Had Christ a Body of Flesh before the World began? If you say no, as you must, if you say true; then do not I say true, when I say, they are deceived who own Christ no otherwise than as he was before the World began? because they own him not with that Body of Flesh which he took of the Virgin Mary, and so are Antichrists, as the Scripture saith. And how say you? Do you believe that the same Christ who was before the World, without a Body, did in Time come into the World and take a Body from the Virgin, and in that Body did obtain everlasting Redemption for Sinners; and is gone with that very Body into the Presence of his Father above the Clouds into Heaven from his Saints on Earth, tho' in them by his Spirit. A plain Answer to this would unlock your double Meanings. Again, thou sayest the Saints drank of the spiritual Rock that followed them.

Friend, I confess, that that spiritual Rock that did follow the Fathers, and long after, was from the same Loins with them, even from the Loins of Abraham, and the rest of the Children of the Promise, according to the Promise, was the Meat and Drink of Saints, Rom. 9. 4, 5. But to look upon Christ no otherwise than as he was before the World was, which was a Spirit only, and not to own him now clothed with a Body, absent from his Children touching the same Body, I dare be bold to say, they are no Christians, but Antichristians, yea Antichrists. He that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the Flesh is Antichrist, and of Antichrist. Again,

At this also thou wranglest, because I said, that every Spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ, who was with the Father before the World was, did in the appointed Time of the Father, come into the World, take a Body upon him, and was very Man as well as very God: and did in that very Body suffer what did belong to the Sons of Men, &c. So my Book, Page 42, 43, 44.

I answer, if thou didst indeed believe the Truth, thou wouldest own these things. But being deceived, rather than thou wilt let this pass for Truth, though thou darrest not oppose it with open Face, yet thou wilt put on a Vail, and venture upon it thus, saying, If every Spirit were of God, which doth confess in Words this, then is not the Pope himself Antichrist.

Ans. Friend, it is one thing to confess the things in Words, and another thing to believe them, and to make a Life out of them; and therefore is thy Life made out of Christ without thee, by the Operation of his Spirit within thee, yea or no?

Then in answer to my bidding People receive no Christ except God's Christ, thou saist saist thus, That Christ is a Mystery, and unto him is Light, and shall be Salvation where his Person never came. This Question I ask thee, Did or doth Christ obtain Salvation for any, without that Body which he took of the Virgin? And yet thou saist, it cannot be said, here is the Place where the Son is not.

I answer: As the Son of God is also very Man, so it may be said, Here is the Place where he is not, and there is the Place where he hath not been, tho' as he is God it is otherwise: Let him that reads understand.

And now passing by many things that I might justly examine, and also many unseemly expressions, I come to the next thing, and that is; where you say, you wrest not the Scripture in Job. 1. 9. But it is evident, that you do most horribly wrest it, in that you, though you seem to take it in the plain Words, yet would hold, that that Light is the Spirit of Christ, notwithstanding here is no such thing mentioned in that Scripture. For Mark, as I have sometimes said, and now also will say, that that Light wherewith Christ, as he is God, hath lightened every one with, is not the Spirit of Christ, as is clear, in that some are sensual having not the Spirit, which they must needs have, if it were given to every one that comes into the World, and therefore, in that you say, I say you lay down that Scripture false; I say again, that you say many things which I do know to be blasphemy, as I shall prove clearly anon, as also I have already. And therefore, to take thee off from this, I shall say, that Christ as he is a Mediator, a Man between God and Man, so he doth not lighten every man that comes into the World, though as he is God he doth. And that is manifest, where he often (as he was Man) saith, These things are spoken to them that are without in Parables; that seeing, they might not see; and hearing, they might not understand, Luk. 8. 10. And again, where Judas (not Iscaiot) said; Lord, how is it, that thou wilt manifest thy self to us, and not unto the World? He saith, if a man love me, he will keep my sayings, and my Father will love him, and we (I as Mediator, and my Father as reconciled in me) will manifest our selves unto him, Joh. 14. 21. 23. And again, No man knoweth the Father but the Son: That is, no man knoweth him as a Father, but the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him, Mat. 11. 27. But above all, take that Scripture where the Son saith, I thank thee O Father, Lord of Heaven and Earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them to Babes, ver. 25. Here the Son and the Father are speaking one to another; the Father he hides the glorious things of the Gospel from the World, Mat. 11. 25, 26, 27. and the Son he rejoices in so doing. At that same Hour Jesus rejoiced in Spirit, and said, I thank thee O Father, &c. Therefore understand thus much, that though Christ as he is God, doth give to every man a Light, which is Conscience, otherwise called Nature, Rom. 2. 14. 1 Cor. 11. 14. yet it doth not follow, that every man hath Enlightning from Christ as he is Mediator. No, Christ as he is Mediator doth neither pray for the World, Job. 17. 9. neither doth he give his Spirit to all that are in the World; for some are Sensual, and have it not. But now the Argument that thou do'st bring to colour the contrary with, is this; For what the Father doth, sayest thou, the Son doth also. Ans. Though this be true, that the Son doth what the Father doth; yet it doth not appear, that either the Father or the Son hath given the Spirit to every one that comes into the World.

Again thou sayest, thou deniest those that say, That Light which every one hath as he comes into the World, is Conscience; though some call it Christ falsely. Ans. Friend, What wilt thou have it called; Christ. No. if not Conscience, then call it Nature it self; for all have not the Spirit. Jude 19.

But another great Argument thou bringest in Page 15, is, The Light of Christ doth convince of Sin. Now do you call Conscience the Light of Christ? that will convince of Sin, Job. 8. 9. And they being convinced by their own Consciences, &c. if thou doest call the Law the Light of Christ, that also will convince of, or make known Sin; For by the Law is the Knowledge of Sin, Rom. 3. 20. If thou do'st call even Nature it self, the Light of Christ; That also doth shew, that Sins are a shame, even those Sins which some leap over, 1 Cor. 11. 14. and Ruffian-like they will wear long hair, which Nature it self forbiddeth, and is commended for the same by the Apostle. The Spirit of Christ also will convince of Sin. What, because these several things will convince of Sin, therefore will they needs be the Spirit of Christ? Or do they altogether make but one Spirit of Christ? Dost thou profess thy self to walk in the Light, and art not able to know these things? Or, if thou doest know them, art thou so unfaithful, as not to tell poor People of them, who are some of them at their wits End, by Reason they are not inlightned into these things.

Another of thy Arguments, is, They saw the eternal Power and Godhead, by that which was made manifest of God in them.

Ans. The Scripture say not so word for word, but thus: Because that which might be known of God, was manifested in them. But how: For he hath shewed it unto them. But how; Why the invisible Things of him from the Creation of the World are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made (which Words in thy charge against me thou didst leave out) But mark:

The

The invisible Things of God from the Creation of the World are clearly seen, being understood by the Things that are made. But how then doth it say, that the Knowledge of God is manifest in them? Why, because God hath shewed it unto them by the Things that are made, even by the Creation of the World. So that this Scripture holdeth forth thus much; that the invisible Things of God, as his Power, Holiness, and common Goodness to the Sons of Men are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made. But how feeble an Argument is this, to prove such a Doctrine as this: That every one hath the Spirit, when this Light discovers God only by his Works in the World. Friend, if they that know God, because he doth shew himself to them by his Works in the World, have the Spirit of Christ, then the same Argument will serve to speak thus much; that the Devils themselves have the Spirit of Christ, which would be wonderful Blasphemy once to affirm. And Friend, the very Devils, both for the Knowledge of Sin, and also for the Knowledge of God's eternal Power and Godhead, have more Experience, than all the unregenerate Men in the World; and yet have not the least spark of the Spirit of Christ in them.

Other lame Arguments thou tumblest over, like a blind Man in a Thicket of Bushes, which I pass by: But one thing more thou hast, and that is this; Thou askest me, whether I do know this Light which God and Christ hath given to every Man? First, I deny that Christ as he is Mediator, hath given to every Man his Spirit: And Secondly, I deny, that Christ as he is God hath given to every one his Spirit; but this I say as I have often said, it is Conscience of Nature it self that every one hath, take it in either of this Scripture Terms, as I have proved at large. And whereas thou askest me, Whether that Light, which Christ as he is God hath lightned every one with that comes into the World, be sufficient in it self for Life and Salvation. I answer plainly, No; for then Christ Jesus needed not to have come into the World to die for Sinners; for every one had that Light before Christ did come into the World.

And secondly I answer, it is not able, for then it would have been a needless Thing for Christ to tell his Disciples of sending them his Spirit, to lead them into all Truth. They might have said, Why dost thou talk of sending us thy Spirit, who have that that can do the deed already, if that could have done it.

3. Because the Scripture saith, Some are sensual, having not the Spirit. Now a Man cannot lay hold on Christ, nor believe in him savingly without the Spirit, because Faith is the Work of the Spirit.

And 4thly, Because then it had been in vain for the Lord to have given the Scriptures to teach Men out of, either concerning himself or themselves: Why? Because without it they had a sufficient Light to guide them: That Thing must not be so.

And whereas thou askest, whether the Fault be then in God, or in that thou callest his Light, or in the Creature? I answer; What if God, willing to shew his Wrath, and to make his Power known, endured with much Patience the Vessels of Wrath fitted to Destruction; and that he might make known the Riches of his Glory on the Vessels of Mercy, which he had afore (before the World was, Eph. 1. 4.) ordained unto Glory? And secondly, O vain Man! What is that to thee if God should make some Vessels to dishonour: hath not the Potter power over the Clay, of the same Lump to do therewith as he pleases, Rom. 9. from ver. 16. to ver. 22.

And where I say, Christ as he is God hath lightned every one that cometh into the World: To it thou givest a glavering Answer; but having touched on this before, I pass it by.

To the next Thing, where I say, Men's neglecting this Light, or Law, will be sure to damn them, though their Obedience to the Law will not save them. Here thou sayest I have confessed Truth, (and I know it is true by Experience) and thou commentest on those Things laid down by me thus: Then surely (sayest thou) It is good not to neglect it; that is, not to neglect following the Law. To which I answer, as their Obedience to the Law will not save them, so their neglect of Obedience to the Law will be sure to damn them; these Things thou canst not deny. But is this all the Wit thou hast? Because the neglect of the Law will be sure to damn them; therefore wouldst thou put poor Souls to follow that which will not save them? (O wonderful Ignorance.) Nay, but thou shouldest have said, then surely the best Course is, for a poor Soul in this Case, to fly to the Lord Christ, even the Man Christ Jesus, who was slain on Mount Calvary for the Sins of poor Sinners. And the rather, because he did so willingly, of his own Accord lay down his Life for them. Methinks, I say, thou shouldest rather have said, then let us follow the Son of Mary, the Man Christ Jesus, the Lamb of God that taketh away the Sins of the World, by his Blood on the Cross; who is now also at his Father's right Hand making Intercession for all those that do come to the Father by him; but they that are not for the Truth, will advance any Thing but the Truth. And as for that which thou callest the second Clause, which is, The Law (sayest thou) must be obeyed.

I answer, Christ Jesus hath done that in his own Person, and justified me thereby; and for my Part, I will not labour now to fulfil the Law for Justification, least I should undervalue the Merits of the Man Christ Jesus, and what he hath done without me: and yet will I labour to fulfil, if it were possible, ten thousand Laws, if there were so many: And O! let it be out of Love to my sweet Lord Jesus (2 Cor. 5. 14.) for the Love of Christ constrains me. And thus much to thy 16th Page.

In the next Place, thou art offended with this, because I say, though Christ doth give a Light to every one that comes into the World, yet it doth not therefore follow, that this Conscience, (or Light) is the Spirit of Christ, or the Work of Grace wrought in the Heart of any Believer. This I shall pass also, as having spoken to it already, only mind thee of thy Weakness, in that thou shouldest make this Conscience; that Christ hath given to every Man to be the same with the Spirit of Christ. And thou sayest further, that the Light, that Christ hath lightned every one with, is the same in Nature with the Spirit of Christ. O wonderful! that a Man should be so foolish, and so much besides the Truth, as to compare that Nature, or Conscience, that is given to every Man; equal to the Spirit of Christ: Nay, thou sayest that it is one with it in Nature. Didst thou not blush when thou laidst it down? If thou didst not, thou mightest have done with shame enough. As I said before, because thy Conscience will convince thee of Sin, therefore thou wilt call it Christ, or as good as Christ. What! because the Law will convince of Sin, therefore the Law must be called Christ. What Ignorance is this? Nay, Nature it self, that must have the Preheminency, even as high as Christ Jesus, because it can tell a Man that it is a shame for him to wear long Hair.

Then thou askest me, can there be a surer Thing for the Creature to walk by, than by the Light of Christ, which thou confessest every one hath, that cometh into the World. Answer, Friend, to the Law, and to the Testimony (sayeth the Scriptures) for they testify of Christ. And if thou or any else, shall leave the Scriptures, to follow the Convictions of their own Conscience; ye are not like to know Christ Jesus the Lord, for they may be defiled. And again, it is through the Promises laid down in the Scriptures, that we may partake of the divine Nature, 2 Pet. 1. 4. and not by our following of the Law, or Conscience, Gal. 3. 1, 2, 3, 4.

But again, where I say, Heathens, Turks, Jews, Atheists, &c. have that which doth convince of Sin, and yet are so far from having the Spirit of Christ in them, that they delight to do Iniquity; and to serve their Lust. Upon this thou movest this Query; do they, or I, or any other serve Sin and Lust, because Christ hath not given us Light, or because we hate this Light.

Answer. This I do really confess, that every Heathen, Turk, or Jew, in this World, hath a Conscience within them, that doth convince of Sin; for the Gentiles which have not the Law, that is, not the Law in Tables of Stone, or written as we have; these do by Nature, the Things contained in the Law; these having not the Law, are a Law unto themselves; which shew the Work of the Law written in their Hearts, their Consciences also bearing them Witness, &c. And all Men and Women shall be left without Excuse, even by the Convictions of their own Consciences, or the Law. But now that these Things are the Spirit of Christ, that I deny. For Conscience is but a Creature, a Faculty of the Soul of Man, which God hath made. Neither is the Law the Spirit of Christ; for the Law is not of Faith. They that are of the Works of the Law are under the Curse, but they that have the Spirit of Christ, they are the Children of God, and under Grace, and delivered from the Curse, as it is written Gal. 3. As many as are of the Works of the Law are under the Curse. But what is it to be of the Works of the Law, or under the Law? Answer. Why to seek to be justified by their Obedience to the Law. Israel which followed after the Law of Righteousness, Mark. They that follow after Righteousness, do not attain to the Law of Righteousness; if they seek it not by Faith: But as it were by the Works of the Law, Rom. 9. 30, 31. But Christ hath delivered us from the Curse of the Law, being (in our Nature) made a Curse for us, Gal. 3. 10, 11, 12, 13.

But whereas thou sayest, this Conscience or Law, which you would fain have called the Spirit of Christ; works in all Men either to justify, or condemn. I do plainly deny, that either Conscience, or the Law can justify, though they can condemn. Mark, The Law is called the Ministration of Condemnation, but not of Life.

The Gospel is called the Ministration of Life, but not of Condemnation; the Law ^{2 Cor. 3. 9} was given that Sin might be discovered. The Gospel was sent, that Sin might be taken away. The Law worketh Wrath; but the Gospel is a Gospel of Peace, Rom. 10. The Law makes nothing perfect, Heb. 7. 19. But Christ justifieth from all those Things from which we could not be justified by the Law of Moses, Acts 13. 39.

And whereas thou askest me whether any Thing doth convince of Sin contrary to, or besides the Spirit of Christ.

I answer, There is Conscience, and the Law, yea, and Nature it self that doth convince of Sin; as before I have proved at large. Yet neither is Conscience, the Law, or Nature it self the Spirit of Christ; no, but are much inferior to it, as being Things of no Glory in Respect of it.

And again, that something doth convince of of Sin besides the Spirit of Christ, it is evident, for the Law saith, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all Things that are written in it to do them, 2 Cor. 3. 10. But the Spirit convinceth Men of their unbelief, together with other Sins. Now Mark, The Law also convinceth to work for Life, the Spirit convinceth to believe for Life; the Law saith, he that doth not fulfil me, shall be damned. The Spirit saith, he that believeth in Christ shall be saved. Now observe the Terms of the Law and of the Gospel, are different one from another as to Justification. If Men seek for Life by the Law; then the Law saith, fulfil me perfectly, and thou shalt live. The Spirit saith, that Christ Jesus came into the World to save those that by Transgression had broken the Law. For, for this Cause saith the Spirit he (Jesus the Son of Mary, the Man Christ between God and us, 1 Tim. 2. 5.) is the Mediator of the New Testament. For what? That by Means of Death for the Redemption of the Transgressions that were under the first Testament, they which are called might receive the Promise of eternal Inheritance, Heb. 9. 15. Now I would not be mistaken; I do not say, that the Spirit of Christ doth give the least Liberty to Sin; God forbid. But it's Convictions are of a more saving and refreshing Nature than the Convictions of the Law, and do more constrain the Soul to Holiness than that.

The Law saying, Work for Life; the Spirit saying, Now to him that worketh not (for Life) but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his Faith is counted for Righteousness, Rom. 4. 5. as thus, if I should owe to two Creditors ten thousand Talents; the one should say unto me, thou owest me five thousand Talents, pay that thou owest; the other should say, thou owest me five thousand Talents, and I frankly and freely forgive thee all. Now these Expressions are contrary one to another: Even so is the end of the Convictions of the Law, not according to the end of the Convictions of the Spirit of Christ; the one saying, pay me that thou owest, the other saying, thou art frankly and freely forgiven all.

The next Thing thou utterest is, where I say, Those that are alive unto Sins, have not the Spirit of Christ. But sayest thou, it is given to every Man. Mark, thou sayest, It is given to every Man: The Apostle saith, some are sensual, having not the Spirit, Jude 19. Who must we now believe, the Apostle or you? Certainly your Doctrine is not according to Truth, but a Lie; as is clear, in that you will affirm, that which the Apostle doth deny.

Then thou sayest, I bring other vain Arguments to prove, that every one hath not the Spirit of Christ. This one is enough to prove it, that the Apostle saith, Some Men have it not. But that which thou callest vain, I am sure neither thou, nor any of thy Fellows, are able to answer. One is to this Purpose; the Devils are so convinced of Sin, that they did fear the Torment that was to come upon them for their Sins; and did fear also that the Son of Man was come to torment them for their Sins; and yet the Devils have not the Spirit of Christ. So that it is evident, that we may be convinced of Sin, and yet not by the Spirit of Christ. A second Argument which thou callest vain, is this, Man in his coming into the World, hath this Conscience given him, which doth convince of Sin, Job. 8. 9. yet Man in his coming into the World, or as he cometh into the World, hath not the Spirit of Christ given him, for that must be received ordinarily afterward by the preaching of the Word, which is preached by the Ministers and Servants of Jesus Christ, Acts 10. 44. While Peter yet spake to the People, the Holy Spirit fell on all them that heard the Word.

But farther, thou saist, Until I prove the Light of Christ contrary to the Spirit of Christ, thou wilt say, that every Man hath that which is one in Union, and like the Spirit of Christ, even as good as the Spirit of Christ in its Measure.

Answer. Friend, I have proved already that every Man hath not the Spirit of Christ, though they have that which thou dost call the Spirit of Christ, which is Conscience and Nature itself. And this I say again, that thou hast laid open thy Weakness very much, to say that every Man hath that which is as good as the Spirit of Christ. Friend, seeing the Scriptures say, some have not the Spirit of Christ, how durst thou so blaspheme, as to say, then it is as good as the Spirit of Christ in its measure. Was there ever such a deal of Ignorance discovered at one time by a Man, as to say, that every Man hath the Spirit, or that which is as good as the Spirit; though the Spirit saith plainly, that some have not the Spirit, as I have proved plainly, Jude 19. Friend, what is there besides the Spirit that is as good as the Spirit? Be silent, and say no more so, lest thou dost through Ignorance, or Presumption, set up thy Conscience or Nature, as high and as good as the Spirit of Christ, when indeed they are not worthy to be compared with it, being weak, and not able to do that which is and hath been done by the Spirit of Christ.

Then thou art offended, because I said the Devil doth deceive poor Souls by bidding them listen within, and see if there be not that which doth convince of Sin. Friend, all Men have not the Spirit, though they have that Conscience that doth convince of Sin, John 8. 9. Now seeing all Men have not the Spirit, is it not a great Deceit of the Devil to perswade poor Souls, that because they are convinced for Sin by their own Consciences, therefore they have the Spirit

Spirit of Christ: Surely it is from the Devil. First, because he would make thee believe that Conscience which is but a Creature, is the Spirit of Christ, by whom the World was made. Again, because the Soul being persuaded that it hath the Spirit (when it hath it not) as all Men naturally are without it, Eph. 3. 13. it is kept off from seeking and begging for it, being already persuaded (falsly) that it hath it.

And whereas thou saist, the Voice of the Gospel is to bid listen within the Heart, as Paul preacheth. I deny that Paul biddest listen within. But the Scripture that you would fain make Shelter for your Error is this, where he saith, The Word is nigh thee, even in thy Mouth and in thy Heart. That is, The Word of Faith which we preach. Now, Friend, Faith is that which layeth hold of, or believeth the Gospel. And that this is the Meaning read the next Verse: That (saith he) If thou shalt confess with thy Mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine Heart that GOD hath raised him from the Dead, thou shalt be saved. So that it is clear that the Word of Faith, is to believe assuredly from the very Heart, that God hath raised up Jesus from the Dead, out of the Grave into which he was laid by Joseph; and that he was raised again for my Justification, Rom. 5. 25. as it is written, 1 Cor. 15. Moreover Brethren, saith he, I declared unto you the Gospel which I preached unto you at the first, which also you have received, and wherein you stand, by which also you are saved, if you keep in Memory, or assuredly believe, what I preached unto you, unless you have believed in vain: But what was that Gospel you preached? Why, saith he, ver. 3. I delivered unto you first of all, that which I also received; How that Christ died for our Sins according to the Scriptures: and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third Day according to the Scripture, and that he was seen of the Brethren after his Resurrection, &c. The Word of the Gospel, my Friend, is, Christ died for our Sins according to the Scriptures, and that he rose again according to the Scriptures; and that he is ascended from his Disciples, to prepare a Place for them according to the Scripture.

That he ever liveth to make Intercession in his own Person without, as Mediator between God and Man, according to the Scripture, Heb. 7. 25.

^{1 Thes. 4. 16, 17.} That he will come again in the Clouds with all his mighty Angels, and before him shall all Nations be gathered, according to the Scriptures, Mat. 25. 31, 32. after which time, his Saints shall be ever with him according to the Scriptures.

Again, thou art offended in that I said, Now the poor Soul finding this to be so (that it is convinced of Sin) all in haste (if it be willing to profess) through Ignorance of the Gospel, claps in with the Motions of its own Conscience, which doth command to abstain from this Evil, and to practise that Good. Which Words of mine thou corruptest, and wrestest, and layest down in another Form, as are to be seen in thy Book, Page 18. But now, Friend, is not he ignorant of the Gospel, which thinks his own Conscience will lead him to eternal Life, by commanding to abstain from this Evil, and practise that Good? Surely, if Salvation comes by our Conscience, or by the Convictions or Commands thereof, Christ Jesus died for nothing, Gal. 2. last Verse.

And whereas thou askest, what, and how doth the Light of the Gospel work, if not in the Conscience. I answer, Though the Light of the Spirit of God and the Gospel be in the Hearts of the Elect of God; yet the Gospel Light is hid, and doth not shine so much as unto, much less into the Consciences of some of them that be lost, 2 Cor. 4. 3, 4. that though the Light of the Gospel doth shine, and that gloriously too in the Hearts of God's Elect, yet it doth not follow, that the Convictions of Conscience is the Gospel; no, nor the Convictions of the Law neither. And again, though every one of God's Elect have the Light of the glorious Gospel shining in them, what Argument is this to prove all Men have the Light of the Gospel shining in them. No, saith Christ, I thank thee, O Father, that thou hast hid these things (the things of the Gospel) from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them to Babes. And whereas thou saist (as I gather by thy Words) that I call Conscience the Light of Christ, I say, if thou meanest by these Words (the Light of Christ) the Spirit of Christ, I do deny that every Man hath it: but if thou callest Conscience the Light of Christ, or the highest Light that is in an unconverted Man the Light of Christ; then, I say, that the highest Light that is in a natural or unconverted Man (which you call the Light of Christ) is not able by all its Motions and Convictions, nor yet by all the Obedience that a Man can yield to these Convictions; I say, they are not able to deliver him from the Wrath to come; for Deliverance from that is obtained by the Blood of Jesus, which was shed on the Cross, without the Gate of Jerusalem (as I have often said) Eph. 1. 7. compared with Heb. 13. 12. and not any Light within a natural Man.

And whereas thou saist that I said, the Devil counterfeits the new Birth by persuading to follow the Light of the World: I answer, * Thou hast most naughtily belied me. The Words that I said (speaking of the Devil before) are these; Now he counterfeits the new Birth (said I) by persuading them that it is wrought by following the Light that they brought into the World with them; as is clearly seen in my Book, Page 76. Friend, I wonder that you should so boldly profess yourself to be led by the Spirit

Spirit of Christ, when you make it manifest that you are guided by the Spirit of Satan. Was not he a Liar? and hast not thou been led by a lying Spirit also, in wresting of my Words as thou hast done?

But I do freely declare again, that Satan doth deceive those Souls, whom he persuades the new Birth is wrought in, by following the Light they brought into the World with them; for Men as they come into the World, do not receive the Spirit, for it is given the Elect afterwards; neither have all Men the Spirit. And he that hath the new Birth, must have it by, and thro' the Spirit; as it is written, Except a Man be born of Water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. Therefore, if Men do not bring the Spirit into the World with them; and if nothing without the Spirit, or nothing but the Spirit will or can work the new Birth in a Man: it must needs follow, that they who think the new Birth is wrought by that Light or Conscience which they brought into the World with them, must needs be beguiled by Satan.

I do pass by many of thy raging expressions, which I might justly charge with much Unrighteousness; but I know the time is short, and then whatsoever thou hast done in secret, shall be laid open upon the House Tops, therefore I forbear them.

Again, thou art offended because I said, now Satan makes the Soul believe he is its Friend, and that he is a Gospel Minister, 2 Cor. 11. 14. and if the Soul will be led by what shall be made known to it, from the Light or Conscience within, it shall not need to fear, but it shall do well, page 76. of my book. I said it then, and I say it now; and I know that he that doth think to be born again by following his Conscience, or any other Light that is in an unregenerate Man, will be deceived, and shall one Day know, that there is a difference between Conscience and Christ; between the Light of Nature, and the Spirit of God. But you may say, how can you prove that Conscience is not of the same Nature, of the Spirit of Christ: Ans. They that are unbelieving, even their Conscience is defiled, Titus 1. 15. But so cannot be the Spirit of Christ.

2. Conscience is not of the same Nature with the Spirit of Christ, for Conscience may be hardened or seared with an hot iron: as it is written 1 Tim. 4. 3. But so cannot the Spirit of Christ.

3. Our Consciences naturally are evil, having (saith the Scripture) our hearts sprinkled from an evil Conscience, Heb. 10. 22. But so is not the Spirit of Christ.

But again, whereas you said, that I said, they will not speak except the Spirit move them, &c. thou doest falsly speak of me, and again doest corrupt my Words; * for I said, now they will not speak except their Spirit move them, (I do not say the Spirit of Christ) (said I) Friend; if you can be led to life by your own Spirit, if your own Spirit will learn you the things of the Spirit of God; and if you can speak them with and in your own Spirit, in that demonstration that they are spoken, when they are spoken in the Spirit of Christ; (which all Men have not) then say that I speak false things; but till that time hold your Peace. Thus I pass by thy 19. page, leaving many of thy scolding terms to thyself.

The next thing thou sayest, is, that I did run but was not sent, like unto my forefathers: and therefore sayest thou, I do not profit the People at all. Ans. Which accusation of thine, I shall leave to be taken notice of by the People of God in the Country where I dwell, who will testify the contrary for me, setting aside the Carnal Ministry, with their retinue; who are as mad against me as thyself.

But farther, thou art somewhat distempered, and discontented that I said, Many sad and horrible Doctrines are vented by you. And you said, I named nothing. Ans. I need not, thine own speech betrayeth thee, that thou art one of them, that do such things; and I need go no further than thy own mouth and Doctrine. But if it will be more satisfaction to tell you wherein, they of your Society do hold sad Doctrine I shall.

First, therefore your Society do hold and affirm, that that Man which was hanged on the Cross between two Thieves, called Jesus; in his Person is within you, contrary to the Scripture, Acts 1. 11.

Secondly, you say that Christ is crucified within, dead within, risen and ascended within; which also you have no word of Scripture to prove.

Thirdly, your Society affirm, that the coming of the Spirit into the Hearts of Believers, is Christ his second coming. When the Scriptures do plainly hold forth, that the coming of Christ in the Spirit was before his coming in the Flesh; as in 1 Pet. 1. 10, 11. where the Apostle speaking of the Prophets inquiring into the great Salvation which was afterwards to be accomplished, saith, Searching what, or what manner of Time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify; when it testified before hand the Sufferings of Christ, and the Glory that should follow.

Mark, here is the Spirit of Christ in the Prophets, long before the first coming of Christ in the Flesh, which was when he was born of Mary the Virgin, the Spirit of Christ, saith he, did testify before hand the Suffering of Christ, to the Prophets, which were before Christ came in the Flesh, as the Scriptures hold forth plentifully.

But again, you deny the second coming of that very Man, with that very Body, which was born of the Virgin Mary; and say, his second coming is not his coming again gain personally, but his coming in the Spirit only; and that is all you look for, when the Scripture saith; That same Jesus (who appeared to his Disciples after his Passion, Acts 1. 3.) shall so come, even as they did see him depart from them into Heaven; which was a very Man, as well as very God. And will come again, a very Man as well as very God, at the End of the World. For it is that Man; namely, he that was crucified, whom God raised again, must be the Judge of quick and dead, Acts 10. 39, to 42. seriously compared.

Again, you say, that every Man hath the Spirit of Christ, which is a sad Doctrine, because contrary to the Scripture, Jude 19. And you say, there is that in every Man which is as good as the Spirit of Christ; which is a blasphemous Doctrine. Besides many other things which they of your own spirit have most sadly spoken; which I shall not mention, being so commonly known to the Saints of the Lord, before whom you have openly, and without Fear (at least in shew) spoken. Which will doubtless be laid open to your Sorrow and great Amazement, at the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Then thou art offended because I said, I wonder that the Lord doth not either cause the Ground to open her Mouth and swallow you up; or else suffer the Devil to fetch you away, to the astonishing the whole World. Certainly, Korah, Dathan and Abiram did not so horribly transgress, as you have done. Yet his hand on them (no question) was as it were the Astonishment of the World. Therefore I may well wonder that you are not served so. Only this I consider, it may be you have not yet filled up the Measure of your Wickedness, therefore is not the Hand of God as yet upon you.

The next Thing I take Notice of is, that thou findest Fault with mine Answer to this Question. But doth not the Scripture say, that it is the Spirit of Christ that doth convince of Sin? Thou saist it is a good Question, but I have confounded it in the Answer, and not answered plainly. Wherefore I shall not at all stick at the Pains, to give the Reader in brief some of the Heads of the Answer I then gave to it Word for Word, or to the same Purpose. The Answer was, Yes, the Spirit doth convince of Sin; but for the better understanding of this Place, I shall lay down this, said I. That there are two Things spoken of in Scripture, that do manifest or convince of Sin. First, the Law, Rom. 3. 20. For by the Law is the Knowledge of Sin. Secondly, the Spirit of Christ doth also the same, as it is written, And when he is come, he will convince the World of Sin, Joh. 16. 7, 8, 9. Now say I, sometimes the Law it self, by its own Power doth manifest Sin, as in the case of Judas, who was so far from having the Spirit of Christ, that the Devil had very great Possession of him. Which things my Adversary doth wrangle at, yet dares not affirm the contrary: only saith this, he had the righteous Law of God written in his Heart: which thing is not the Spirit of Christ. The Law is not of Faith. The Law is not the Comforter, but rather a Tormentor: yet the Spirit of Christ is a Comforter. Again say I, the Spirit of Christ doth take the Law, and doth effectually convince of sin, &c. Then I put forth another Question, saying, But how should I know whether I am convinced by the Law alone, or whether the Law be effectually set home by the Spirit? To which I answer, when the Law doth convince by its own Power, it doth convince only of Sins against the Law; as lying, sweating, stealing, &c. pronouncing an horrible Curse against thee if thou fulfil it not, and there leaves thee, but gives thee no Power to fulfil it compleatly and continually, which thou must do, if thou be saved thereby. With which my Adversary is much offended; also saying, that I am confounded in my Discourse, and so leaves me, confuting none of my Words by holy Scripture, but falls a railing, because I reckon Pharisees and Quakers together.

Only thus much he saith; That I make it a light thing to be convinced by the Law, and then brings in that Scripture; This is the Condemnation, that Light is come into the World, and Men love Darknes rather than Light; cunningly corrupting of it, and would fain have you understand it as spoken of the Law, when the Son of Mary speaks it of himself, which was not the Law, but the Saviour. And that he might the better go away undiscerned, he saith, and the Law is Light, therefore the Light is the Law (saith he). But I perceive that he doth not yet understand the Difference between the Light of the Law, and the Light of the Gospel; but would fain make the Law and Christ one Saviour: the one being but only a condemning Light, and nothing else; the other a saving comfortable Light. And whereas thou sayest, I make it a light thing to be convinced by the Law, I answer; the Law is good, if a Man use it lawfully; and I honour it in its Place; yet if they make a Saviour of it, they make an Idol of it, and wrest it out of its proper Place. Also, if they think that it is Christ, they are much deceived.

But farther, he put me to prove any such Distinction in Scripture as that there is any thing made Mention of therein that doth convince of Sin, besides the Spirit of Christ: which thing I have already answered, where I said the Scripture saith, By the Law is the Knowledge of Sin, Rom. 3. 20. And again, doth not even Nature it self teach you, that it is a shame for a Man to wear long Hair, 2 Cor. 11. 14. and also also Conscience, which are neither of them the Spirit of Christ, but much inferiour to the same; yet this also convinceth of Sin, John 8. 9.

But to the other thing, which is the answer that I give in my Book to this Objection: But I am not only convinced of my Sins (may some say) but have also some Power against my Sins; so that I do in some Measure abstain from the Sins forbidden in the Law. And because I say, this thou mayest have and do, as thou thinkest, perfectly too [as thou thinks, mark that] as those fond Hypocrites, called Quakers [think] that they also do, and yet be but a Natural Man. Here my Adversary is very much offended, and calls me Perverter of the right way of the Lord; and saith, Shew me any Natural Man in the Scripture that hath done it. Whereas had he been but willing to have laid down the Scripture I brought to prove it, he needed not to have looked for a second Answer. But because he would have it again, I will therefore shew you, that Natural Men meerly by Nature may be convinced, and abstain from those things forbidden in the Law, and think they do it perfectly, nay, they do the things contained in the Law. For saith the Apostle, Rom. 2. 14. When the Gentiles which have not the Law, do by Nature [mark, do by Nature] the things contained in the Law; these [the Gentiles] having not the Law, are a Law to themselves. Mark; the Gentiles do by Nature the things contained in, or held forth, or made Mention of by the Law; the Light also that they have, it is themselves, being a Law to themselves; that is, their Consciences (being of themselves) bearing them Witness, and their Thoughts the mean while accusing, or else excusing one another, though they cannot be saved thereby, ver. 15. Again, when Paul was a Natural Man, and a Persecuter of Jesus Christ, he saith of himself, that then he was, touching the Righteousness of the Law, Blameless, Phil. 3. 6. And whereas thou sayest, thou hadst rather chuse to be one of those who abstain from those things forbidden in the Law, and to have Power over Sin, than to live in the Transgression of the Law; this is fair spoken, and it doth shew that thou art under the Convictions of the Law; and if it be no worse, I fear thy state the less, though it be bad enough; yet this I say, if thy Soul be not saved freely, by the Blood of that Man who was Crucified on Mount Calvary, and by his Merits alone done by himself in his own Person, thou, notwithstanding wilt fall short of eternal Life. For by the Works of the Law, shall no Flesh living be justified, Rom. 3. 20. Though by it be the Knowledge of Sin, and a Command to abstain from the same. And thus have I spoken to thy 21. Page.

But farther thou sayest, that thou fearest

I worship the name Mary, because I mention her Name so much.

Answe. If thou hadst said, I worship her Son, thou hadst said truly (I hope) But is not thy Spite more against her Son, than her? I doubt it is; for neither thou, nor thy Companions can endure that one should say, he is still the same that was born of Mary, Flesh and Bones, a very man, now absent from his People, though in them in his Spirit. There are more offended at this besides the Quakers.

Again, thou sayest I said, That as he is God, Christ lightneth every Man that comes into the World; which thing again I say. What then? Then say you, I will mind you of one Scripture which you your self have quoted, which saith, The Law is Light, Prov. 4. 23. Therefore sayest thou, The Light is the Law. Give me leave here to take thy Words in twain: First, if when thou sayest, then the Law is Light, thou mean, the Light of the Law is the Light of the Law, and no more, thou sayest Right. But if thou mean, the Light of the Law, is the Light of the Gospel, or the Spirit of Christ, I must needs reprove thee. For I tell thee again, the Law is not of Faith, the Law makes nothing perfect, Heb. 7. ver. 19. The Law is but a weak and unprofitable thing, as to Justification, Heb. 7. 17. though as I said before, it is good if it be used lawfully; which is, not to seek or look for Justification thereby, nor yet to say, it is the Spirit of Christ.

Then farther thou art offended, because I said, When the Spirit of Christ convinceth, it convinceth of more Sins than the Law. Friend, will the Law shew a Man that his Righteousness is Sin and Dung? No, for though the Law will shew a Man that his failing in the Acts of Righteousness is Sin; yet I question, whether the Law will shew, that a Man's own Righteousness is Sin. For there is in Scripture saith, it doth, or can. Secondly, shew me, if thou canst, that the Sin of Unbelief is spoken against in all the Ten Commandments, or that called the Moral Law. But now the Spirit of Christ convinceth of Unbelief, that is, it sheweth, that if Men do not believe, that they have Redemption by the Obedience of that Man who was laid in the Manger, hanged on the Cross, &c. I say, it sheweth, that those who do not lay hold on what he hath done and suffered without them in his own Body on the Tree (through the Operation of his Spirit, which he hath promised to give to them that ask him) or else they have not yet been convinced of the Sin of Unbelief, and so are still in a perishing Condition; notwithstanding their strict Obedience, to the Light within them, or to the Law. And now tell me, you that desire to mingle the Law and the Gospel together, and to make of both one and the same Gospel of Christ: Did you ever see your selves undone and lost, unless unless the Righteousness, Blood, Death, Resurrection and Intercession of that Man Christ Jesus (in his own Person) was imputed to you? and until you could by Faith own it as done for you, and counted yours by Imputation, yea, or no? Nay, rather have you not set up your Consciences, and the Law, and counted your Obedience to them better, and of more Value, than the Obedience of the Son of Mary without you, to be imputed to you? and if so, it is because you have not been savingly convinced by the Spirit of Christ, of the Sin of Unbelief.

Other Things thou dost quarrel against, but seeing they are in effect the same with the former, I pass them by; and shall come to the next Thing thou dost think to catch me withal, and that is, because I say, that God only is the Saviour, there is none besides him. Therefore sayest thou, how contrary is this to that in Page 24. where I say, how wickedly are they deluded, who own Christ no otherwise than as he was before the World began. Now this is no Contradiction as thou wouldest have it; for though I say there is none but God our Saviour, yet I did also then in my Book shew how he was our Saviour, namely, in that he came into the World, being born of a Virgin, made under the Law, that he might redeem them that were under the Law, by his Obedience in that Nature, by suffering in that Nature, by his rising again in that Nature, and by carrying that Nature into Heaven with him, as the Scriptures at large declare; and therefore though I say God is our Saviour, and none besides he; yet they that own him to be the Saviour no otherwise than as he was before the World began, are such as deny that he is come in the Flesh, and so are of Antichrist, 1 John 2. For before God could actually be a Saviour, he must partake of another Nature than the Divine, even the Nature of Man, Heb. 2. 14, 15.

Again, thou sayest, it is a Slander put upon the Quakers, to say, they slight the Resurrection: Ans. What say you, Do you believe the Resurrection of the Body after it is laid in the Grave? Do you believe that the Saints that have been this four or five thousand Years in their Graves shall rise, and also the Wicked, each one with that very Body wherein they acted in this World; some to everlasting Life, and some to everlasting Contempt. Answer plainly, and clear your selves, but I know you dare not, for you deny these Things.

But if you speak doubtfully, or covertly in answer thereunto; I doubt not but God will help me to find you out, and lay open your Folly; if I shall live till another Cavil by you be put forth against the Truth.

The next Thing thou cavillest at is, that Query raised from Eph. 4. 10. and thou saist I have not answered it. You should have answered it better, or else have confuted that Answer I gave unto it, and then you had done something: But the great Thing that troubles thee is, because I say, (further in my Book) he that ascended from his Disciples, was a very Man, For handle me and see, saith Christ, a Spirit hath no Flesh and Bones as you see me have. Now let the Adversary shew by the Scripture (said I) that there is in them any Place called Heaven, which is able to contain a Man of some four or five Foot long (or a competent Man of Flesh and Bones) for the space of fifteen or sixteen hundred Years, but that above the Clouds, which troubles thee so, that it makes thy Tongue run thou canst not tell how; but know, that when the Son of Man shall come from Heaven to judge the World in Righteousness, that which thou callest Foolishness now, thou wilt find a Truth then to thy own Wrong, if thou close not in with him, who said, handle me and see, for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones as you see me have, Luk. 24. 38, 39, 40.

Another Thing that thou art troubled at, is, in that I do reckon the Quakers to be of the deluding Party; when alas, all Men that have Eyes to see, may easily discern, that you are of that Generation, as will appear in Part by your own Expressions, both now, and also at other Times. But that you may take off the Brand from your selves, you say, that the false Prophets and Antichrist, were in the Apostles Days, as though there should be no false Prophets now, when the very Time we live in doth manifestly declare, and hold forth, that there are many, who at this Day seek to beguile unstable Souls, of which Sort you are not the least, though for ought I can learn as yet, you are the last, (that are come into the World) but that you may the better shift it from your selves, you say, that in those Days there was not a Quaker heard of; namely, in the Days of John. Friend, thou hast rightly said, there was not a Quaker heard of indeed, though there were many Christians heard of then. By this you your selves do confess, that you are a new upstart Sect, which was not at other Times in the World, though Christian Saints have been always in the World. Friend, here like a Man in the dark, in seeking to keep thy self out of one Ditch, thou art fallen into another; instead of proving your selves no false Prophets, you prove your selves no Christians, saying, there was not a Quaker heard of then. But if Quakers had been Christians, then they would have been heard of to the Glory of God, and his Christ.

Again to defend thy self thou throwest the Dirt in my Face, saying; If we should diligently trace thee, we should find thee in their Steps, meaning false Prophets, through famed Words, through Covetousness, making Merchandise of Souls, loving the Wages of Unrighteousness.

Friend, dost thou speak this as from thy own own Knowledge, or did any other tell thee so? However, that Spirit that led thee out of this Way, is a lying Spirit. For though I be poor, and of no repute in the World, as to outward things; yet through Grace I have learned by the example of the Apostle to preach the Truth; and also to Work with my Hands, both for mine own living, and for those that are with me, when I have Opportunity. And I trust that the Lord Jesus, who hath helped me to reject the Wages of Unrighteousness hitherto, will also help me still, so that I shall distribute that which God hath given me freely, and not for filthy Lucre's sake. Other things I might speak in Vindication of my Practice in this thing: But ask of others, and they will tell thee that the things I say are Truth: and hereafter have a Care of receiving any thing by Hear-say only, lest you be found a Publisher of those Lies which are brought to you by others, and so render yourself the less credible; but be it so.

And as for your thinking, that to drink Water, and wear no Hat-bands, is not walking after your own Lusts; I say, that whatsoever Men do make a Religion out of, having no Warrant for it in the Scripture, is but walking after their own Lusts, and not after the Spirit of God. Thus have I passed thy 23d Page.

And lest you should think that the Quakers are not such as condemned me and others for preaching according to the Scriptures; as you would fain clear yourselves of this Charge laid against you in my Book, by your saying, you deny the Accusation to be true upon any of the Quakers. I shall therefore tell you of your Sister Anne Blackly, who did bid me in the Audience of many, To throw away the Scriptures. To which I answered, No, for then the Devil would be too hard for me.

And again, because I said, The Man Christ Jesus was above the Clouds and the Heavens, now absent from his People in the World, touching his bodily Presence; She said, I preached up an Idol, and used Conjur-ation and Witchcraft. Which things I should rather have desired her to repent of, than to make her a publick Example for others to take Warning by, but that it is expedient that your Folly be laid open, that others may fear to do as you have done.

But farther, thou chargest me with a loud * crying out against Christ within. This is thy throwing of Dirt in my Face again, for I have said it often, that if any Man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of his.

§ Here is another Lie made of me.

Again thou saist, that in Page 203, I do take in Hand to prove or discover that the Doctrine of Christ within, § is a false Opinion.

Thou dost also here speak falsely of me, for all that I take in hand to prove, is this, That they hold a false Opinion (and Principles too) who hold up a Christ within, in opposition to Christ without, who is the Saviour; as doth plainly appear by my following Discourse, if you read from Page 203. to the end of my Book.

But in the next Place, after much railing, thou comest to the Place where I again ask this Question, Doth not the Scripture make mention of a Christ within?

To which I answer, Yes, and he that hath it not is none of his. But to lay open thy Folly at last thou saist, Doth not the Scripture say, Christ is within you, except you be Reprobates? and is not this thus much, are not all they Reprobates (say you) but they in whom Christ is within?

Answe. They are indeed Reprobates who have not Christ within them; but now, how is thy folly manifest? that in one Place thou shouldest confess some are Reprobates, who have not Christ within; and yet in Page 18, of thy Book thou saist, it is given to every Man. And in Page 26, of thy Book, thou saist, that a Measure of the Spirit is given to every Man, and is given within him too, though the Scripture declareth the contrary, and thy self also now at last. It is well thou dost recant so much, as to eat thy first Words at the last, or at least to shew thy self unstable in judgment: Friend, thou maist see, the more thou dost fight against the Truth, the more thou soilest thy self: Partly by helping of it, and partly by contradicting thy self.

One thing more thou dost befool thy self with, and that is; in that thou in the first Place saist thou ownest the Words in my Book, and yet hath spent some four Sheets of Paper to vent thy thoughts against them.

But peradventure thou wilt say; those Words that I own are not those that I speak against, but the other. To which I answer. There are many things in my Book spoken of by me that are Truth, which if you own, you must leave professing your self a Quaker.

As first, That that Man that was born of the Virgin Mary, called Jesus, (I say you will not own) that he in his own Person, by himself without us, did compleatly bring in everlasting Life for us, by offering up himself once for all upon the Cross.

Secondly, that Christ who wrought out Redemption for his Children, did after he had wrought it out, go away from them, and not into them in his Person.

Thirdly, that he ever-liveth, that very Man to make Intercession in his Person, in the Presence of his Father without, untill the End of the World.

Fourthly, that that very Man who did go away from his Disciples into Heaven, will come again Personally the same Man the second time, and before him shall be gathered all Nations, and he shall judge them for their Sins: and take his to himself, who shall Soul and Body be with him to all Eternity; these things (I say) thou couldest not own, though they are the Truth of God. But leaving thee to the great God, who will give thee according to thy Works, in this as in other things: I shall come to thy Answers to my Queries.

The first Query that I propounded is, If thou saist that every Man hath a Measure of the Spirit of Christ within him, why say the Scriptures, Some are sensual, having not the Spirit. And when Christ telleth his Disciples, of sending them the Spirit, he saith, the World cannot receive it. Here in the first Place thou hast not only answered deceitfully, but hast also corrupted my Words in laying down the Query, in that thou didst leave out some Words; for thou didst lay it down thus: If thou saist that every Man hath a Measure of the Spirit of Christ within him, why say the Scriptures, Some are sensual, having not the Spirit, and Christ saith, The World cannot receive it. (Reader, compare them both together.)

Now thy Answer, is, Some are sensual, having not the Spirit, because they receive it not, and some cannot receive it, because they believe not on him from whence it comes. Yet sayst thou, The measure of the Spirit is given to every Man to profit withal, as the Scriptures say: When there is no Scripture saith, a Measure of the Spirit is given to every Man to profit withal. But again, see here thy strange Confusion. 1. To say, some have it not. 2. To say every Man hath it. But you would make a Difference between having and receiving: but I tell thee, he that hath it hath received it, Gal. 3. 2. and he that hath not received it, hath it not, Jude 19.

My second Query was, What is the Church of God redeemed by from the Curse of Law? Is it by something done within them, or by something done without them? If you say, it is redeemed by something that worketh in them, then why did the Man Christ Jesus hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary, without the Gate of Jerusalem, for the Sins of his Children? and why do the Scriptures say, That through this Man is preached to us the Forgiveness of Sins?

The answer thou givest is, The Church of God is redeemed by Christ Jesus, which is revealed in all Believers. And Christ Jesus wrought in them mightily; And it was he that wrought in them to will and to do.

This is plain Scripture, and the Man Christ Jesus (sayest thou) hanged on the Cross on Mount Calvary; because, they wickedly judged him to be a blasphemer, and through their Envy persecuted him to Death; because he bare witness against them, and as in their account he died, and hanged on the Cross, for an evil doer. And this is one Ground (at least) why he hanged on the Cross, &c.

Ha Friend? I had thought thou hadst not been so much hardened; art thou not ashamed thus to slight the Death of the Man Christ Jesus on the Cross; and reckon it not effectually for Salvation, but sayest, the Church is redeemed by Christ Jesus which is revealed within. And to confirm it, thou dost also corruptly bring in two Scriptures.

The one saith, whereunto I also Labour according to his Working, which Worketh in me mightily. By which words Paul signifies thus much, That as God was with him in the Ministry of the Word, so did he also strive according to his Working which wrought in him mightily. What is this to the purpose? See Col. 1. 26. to 30. And also, the other Scripture makes nothing to prove, that the Church of God is redeemed by Christ within, as he is within. Only you must corrupt the Scriptures, and be transformed (though Ministers of Darkness) into an Angel of Light, if you will do any mischief.

And now, that thy Answer is false, I shall clearly prove. First, because thou denyest, that Redemption was wrought out for Sinners by the Man Christ Jesus on the Cross, or Tree, on Mount Calvary; when the Scripture saith plainly, that when he did hang on the Tree, then did he bear all our Sins there in his own Body, 1 Pet. 2. 24.

And secondly, in thy saying it is redeemed by Christ within, by being within; when the Work of the Spirit of Christ in Believers, is to make known to the Soul by dwelling within, which way and how they were redeemed by the Man Christ Jesus on the Cross. And this I prove farther, because when thou art forced to answer to these Words, Why did the Man Christ Jesus hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary for the Sins of his Children? Thou sayest, because they wickedly judged him to be a Blasphemer. Friend, I did not ask thee why the Jews did put him to Death? But why was he crucified there for the Sins of his Children? But thou willing to cover over thine Error, goest on cunningly saying, and through their Envy they persecuted him to Death, for an evil Doer, This is one Ground at least, &c.

Friend, but that thou art ashamed to own the Gospel of Jesus Christ, thou wouldest have said, he was crucified there for the Sins of the World; and by his offering up of himself upon the Cross, he did for ever perfect them that are sanctified. Nay, thou wouldest have studied to exalt his dying there; first, by shewing what a sad Condition we were in without it; Secondly, by holding forth the manifold and great Privileges that we have by his dying for us there. But thou art at Enmity against the Things of God, as is clearly seen by those that have indeed the Spirit of God in in them, and are enabled thereby to discern you. And though you say, there is no other that can forgive Sin, nor the Blood of any other that can take away Sin, but the Blood of God. Yet thou deniest, that the Blood of him, who was, and is truly God as well as Man, Christ Jesus: I say, thou deniest that his Blood that was shed without Jerusalem Gates, doth wash away Sin from the Saints of God: and cunningly (though not at this time uttered) concluding that the Blood of God was shed for Sin on a Cross within. If it be not so, then call me Lyar; but it will clearly appear so to be in your answer to my third Query.

3d. Query is, What Scripture have you to prove, that Christ is, or was Crucified within you, Dead within you, risen within you, ascended within you?

Thy answer is, There is no Scripture that mentions every of our Names in particular. And thy Query (saist thou) is raised from a misunderstanding of us, so I judge. But Christ is within us, that we do not deny, and he is the Lamb that was slain in the Streets of the great City, which is spiritually called Sodom, and Egypt (mind spiritually) and he is now risen, and ascended, this we know, and leave thee to receive a farther Answer from them that are led by a Spirit of Delusion.

Friend, How dost thou run about the Bush, seeking to scrabble up an Answer, but findest not a right one, and wouldest also fain hold out, that Christ is, or was crucified within, dead within, risen and ascended within; but seeing thou canst not with or by the Scriptures give an Answer; then seeing thy self left of them, through the strength of carnal Reason, thou goest about this Way. Is there any of our Names made mention of in Scripture, or to that Purpose, and wouldst fain infer from thence, that because we have Names, though not mentioned in Scriptures, therefore, Christ is, and was crucified within, though not mentioned in the Scriptures. Friend, Thy Sophistry deceives thee.

The second Argument which is like the first, is this, He is the Lamb slain in the Streets of the great City, spiritually called Sodom and Egypt. Now from the Word (spiritually) thou wouldest willingly infer also, that Christ is and was crucified within, dead within, and risen within you, and therefore thou saist, mind spiritually. Friend, I may well mind thy spiritual Wickedness, by which thou wouldest willingly cover thy Heresy, but it will not be. Though thou dare not speak plainly in so many Words, yet the Thoughts of thy Heart are made manifest, by the Words that flow from thee.

Ab Friend! That thou couldest but close with the Truth, and venture thy Soul upon what was done by Jesus on the Cross without the Gates of Jerusalem, for it is by and through that Blood that was there shed that we have Redemption, Heb. 13. 12. compared with Col. 1. 20. and Remission of Sins, Eph. 1. 7. and 1 Pet. 2. 24.

My fourth Query was, Is that very Man that was crucified between two Thieves, whose Name was Jesus the Son of Mary, is he the very Christ of God, yea, or no?

Thy Answer is, Yes, he is the very Christ of God, which was before the World was, by whom the World was made, who was made manifest from Mary's Womb, and was persecuted to Death by the Scribes and Pharisees, in whose Steps thou treadest, in asking subtle Questions to ensnare the Innocent, as they did. Read thy Example (saist thou) and thy self to be an Enemy to God's Christ.

This Answer is doubtfully given, I did not ask thee whether he was the Christ of God, that was before the World was; but I asked thee whether he was the Christ of God, that did hang between two Thieves on Mount Calvary. Now I know the Christ of God was before the World was; but thou art afraid to look upon him, as suffering on the Cross on Mount Calvary, between two Thieves for our Sins. But contrariwise, wouldst willingly own him to be no otherwise, but as he was before the World, which Thing is very dangerous; for he that doth so, doth lay aside all Things, that in his own Person he did in the Flesh that he took from the Virgin Mary, as to Justification and Salvation; only supposing him to be but an Example, and so bespatters all his Merit and Righteousness by your false Conclusions, which in his own Person he accomplished for our Justification.

And Friend, hadst thou not been afraid of thy self, thou wouldst have been so far from calling these my Queries, subtil Questions, that thou wouldst have owned them, and have given a sober Christian Answer to them, instead of a railing Accusation. But it matters not, it hath but made thee shew thy self the more, which peradventure for a Time might otherwise have lien hid.

My 5th Query was, Is that very Man with that very Body within you, yea, or no? To which thou answerest: The very Christ of God is within us, we dare not deny him; and we are Members of his Body, of his Flesh, and of his Bones, as the Ephesians were: They that are led with a Spirit of Delusion, shall answer the rest of this thy Query, if they will.

Thy Answer is nothing to the Question, for I did not ask, whether the Spirit of Christ was in thee? (though I question the Truth of that) But I asked you whether that very Man, with that very Body, (or the Body of Christ that was hanged on the Cross) be within you? But I see you are minded to fumble, and will not answer plainly.

plainly. But thou answerest, saying, We are Members of his Body, of his Flesh, and of his Bones, as the Ephesians were. This is nothing to the Purpose neither; for it is one thing for a Man to be a Member of the Flesh and Bones of Christ, and another thing to have the Flesh and Bones of Christ within him. What, because Believers are Members one of another, must they therefore be also one in another? No. Even so, though a Believer be a Member of the Body, Flesh and Bones of Christ; it doth not therefore follow, that Christ, Flesh and Bones is within him. But thou art loth to discover thy self in plain terms, though thou art made manifest full sore against thy Will; for thou dost here also, though very cunningly, signify, that thou ownest Christ no otherwise, but as he is within. And to own him no otherwise, is still against the Gospel and Faith of the Apostles, who said, they were absent from him while they were at home in the Body, or here below, 2 Cor. 5. 6.

My sixth Query was this, Was that very Jesus, that was born of the Virgin Mary, a real Man of Flesh and Bones after his Resurrection out of Joseph's Sepulchre, Yea, or Nay. The Scriptures say he was; and if so, then did that Man go away from his Disciples, and not into them, as the Scriptures declare; or did he with that Body of Flesh go into his Disciples, as some fond Dreamers think.

Thy Answer is, What the Scripture speaks of Christ, we own to be Truth, and own him to be what the Scriptures speak of him; and all Mens Imaginations of him we deny, and their false Interpretations of the Scripture concerning him. And let the fond Dreamers, who err in their Thoughts, be reprov'd: for we dare own nothing but what the Spirit of the Lord bears witness of according to the Scriptures. And thus far I answer in Behalf of the Quakers; and let them that are led with a Spirit of Delusion answer the rest, which concerns themselves.

This Answer hath some pretended Fairness in it. But yet we know you, that you can wrest the Scriptures to your own Destruction; and that is clear, in that though you say you own him as the Scriptures speak of him, yet you deny him as the Scriptures speak of him in part. And if at any time you plead one Truth, it is that you might by your corrupt Dealing with that, clash again another; as for Instance:

You profess you own Christ within, but withal, with that Doctrine you will smite against the Doctrine of Christ Jesus in his Person without, and deny that, though that is a Truth, as is also the other.

2. You do use that Truth of the Resurrection of Saints from a State of Nature, to a State of Grace, to fight against that Truth of the Resurrection of the Bodies of Saints out of their Graves; together with other things that I might add, as your holding forth the Intercession of the Spirit of Christ within, in opposition to the Intercession of Christ in his Person without in the Heavens. Which Things being thus done, they shew forth a great deal either of Ignorance or Presumption, knowingly to fight against the Truth. And in this that thou answerest so generally, and not particularly to the Question, it is evident, that thou dost not plainly declare thy Mind, but dost keep that in thy Bosom which thou darest not manifest to the World.

My seventh Query was, Hath that Christ that was with God the Father before the World was, no other Body but his Church? If you say No, as it is your wonted Course; then again I ask you, What was that in which he did bear the Sins of his Children? If you say, In his own Body on the Tree; then I ask, Whether that Body in which he did bear our Sins, was, or is, the Church of God, Yea, or No? Again, If you say he hath no other Body but his Church, then I ask, What that was that was taken down from the Cross? But here thou puttest a Stop to the rest of my Words, with an &c.

Thy answer is, In this thou hast not only queried, but slandered; therefore thy slander (saist thou) I do remove. It is our wonted course, saist thou, to say, that Christ hath no other Body but his Church. Thou art here a false Accuser. But we say, the Church is Christ's Body; and it is sufficient for Salvation to know Christ Jesus to be head in us, and over us, and our selves to be Members of his Body; which thou saist, is his Church. And what thou intendest by making so many foldings in one query, saist thou it may be judged it is to insnare; and in that thou answerest, thou answerest thy self for us in some things, that thou mightest have a further Ground to lay a deeper Snare; we do deny thee and thy Spirit, and see thee to be only feeding in thy Imaginations upon the report of things, without the Life: And thy Religion stands in Disputes and Controversies, and Queries, and many Words. But our religion stands in the Exercise of a pure Conscience towards God, and toward Man; whether we speak, or be silent: These are thy Words,

Answe. Now in my Query thou saist I slander, in that I say, You Quakers allow of no other Body of Christ, but the Church of Christ; yet dost thou not clear thy self at all, only thou wouldest say something to dazzle the Eyes of the Ignorant. But Friend, if thou wouldest have made it appear that I slandered, in saying, you own no other Body but the Church; you should have said Yes, we do own this, That Christ hath a Body that is now in Glory, ascended from his Disciples, according to the Scripture, Acts 1. 3. compared with ver. 9, 10, 11. But thou doest only fling up a few Words into into the Air, that thou mightest thereby puzzle thy simple Reader. But I bless God, for my part I do see thee, that thou doest like a beguiled Man, seek by all means to beguile others. And whereas thou saist, It is sufficient to Salvation, to know Christ Jesus as Head in us, and over us. To this I answer, whatsoever thy meaning is by these Words, yet there is none shall be saved, but those who through the mighty Operation of the Spirit of Christ, are enabled to apply what the Man Christ Jesus the Son of Mary hath done and suffered, and is now a doing for Sinners and Saints, (and for him) in the Presence of his Father, now ascended in his Body of Flesh and Bones, from his Children which are alive in this World. I say, there is none shall be saved, but those that are thus established, or shall be so, as is clear from these (1 Pet. 1. 18. 19. and 2. 24. and 3. 18. 22. and 4. 1. 2 Pet. 1. 17. Heb. 7. 24. and 10. 7. 9. and 7. 24. 25. and 13. 12. 1 Tim. 2. 5. 6. Eph. 1. 7. Acts 12. 37. 38. 39.) with many other Scriptures. And again, when you say, I answer you in something, if you mean, that the Body in which he did bear the Sins of his Children, is his Church (for that is partly my Query), then I do say, that your Doctrine is desperate and devilish; and you do thereby undervalue the Death, Blood, Resurrection and Ascension, Intercession and second coming again of that Man for Salvation; and therefore for a better Satisfaction to all who may read your Book, I intreat you to answer, Did he bear our Sins in that Body which is his Church, or did he bear our Sins in that Body that did hang on the Cross on Mount Calvary? Answer plainly I beseech you.

And now Friend, passing by the rest of thy Bawlings, I shall come to thy several Queries, and shall answer to them in the Simplicity of my Soul, not laying down any doubtful Expressions, but in all Plainness, and not as you do; for the better understanding of them, by those that read them.

These be the Quakers Queries, and my Answers to them.

1. Quer. Is any Man justified in the Sight of God, but he that followeth Christ; and is it not a Work to follow Christ, yea or nay; and what is the Sight of God?

Ans. He that followeth Christ aright, must first believe in Christ; for how shall they follow him, in whom they believe not. Now then the Scripture saith, He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting Life, John 3. 16, 17, 18. so then we are justified by believing; and if so, than to follow Christ, is rather a Fruit of our believing, than Justification it self. And whereas you ask, What is the Sight of God? I answer, To be justified in the Sight of God by Jesus Christ, is for God to look on such poor Creatures as we are; as compleat, without spot or wrinkle, in the Obedience of the Man Christ Jesus; who otherwise could not behold them in Love, because of their Iniquity, Hab. 1. 3.

2 Query. Whether will that Faith justify a Man which hath not Works, seeing the Scripture, or the Apostle saith, Faith without Works is dead; and what is that which worketh Faith; and where is it, within, or without?

Ans. That Faith that hath not Works is Dead, being alone. Yet it doth not follow, that all that have Works, have Faith. No; but contrariwise, Men may have Works, yea, the Works of the Law of God too, and yet be under the Curse; which they could not be if they had saving Faith. So then, if Faith without Works is dead; ^{Gal. 3. 10, 11, 12, 13.} and again, if Men may have Works, and yet no Faith, no saving Faith, I mean: Then it will be good to enquire, what it is to have a right Faith, which doth bring forth right good Works; and who have Works without a right Faith.

And first, a right saving Faith, is, for a Man to be enabled of God's holy Spirit, to lay hold on what the Man Christ hath done in his own Person, when he was in the World? as his Birth, Righteousness, Death, Blood, Resurrection, Ascension and Intercession; and to apply the Virtue and Merit thereof to himself, so as to see himself saved thereby, Rom. 3. 24, 25. Being justified freely by his Grace: How? Even through the Redemption that is in Christ Jesus. Whom God hath set forth to be a Propitiation, or Reconciler, through Faith in his Blood, &c. Again, Be it known unto you, that through this Man is preached unto you the Forgiveness of Sins, and by him all that believe: Mark, all that believe (namely, in his Blood which was shed on Mount Calvary) are justified from all things, from which they could not be justified by the Law of Moses. If the Faith ^{Acts 13. 38, 39.} that applies these things be of the Operation of God, it is very much accompanied with good Works. For the Love of Christ constrains us: because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead. And that he died for all, that we which live (namely by the Faith of this, that Christ died for all, Gal. 2. 20.) should not henceforth live to our selves, but to him, that died for us, 2 Cor. 5. 14, 15.

But Secondly, They that deny the Merits of the Birth, Death, Righteousness, Blood, &c. of the Man that was born of Mary, which he fulfilled in his own Person, by himself, Heb. 1. 2. I say, they that do not venture their Souls on these glorious, mysterious Truths, but deny the Belief of them to be sufficient of themselves to save from Hell, and all other Things, and doth expect that Salvation should be obtained by something something that worketh in them, by working in them. It is impossible that these, though they may be, touching the Righteousness of the Law blameless, (as Paul was while he was a Persecutor, Phil. 3.) to be saved hereby. Wherefore? because they seek it not by the Faith of Christ, but as it were by the Works of the Law, Rom. 9. 30, 31.

And whereas you ask me, what is that which worketh Faith? And where is it, within or without? I answer, That which worketh saving Faith, is the holy Spirit of God, which is renewed through the hearing of the Word, preached by the Apostles or Ministers of Jesus Christ: Now the Spirit when it doth work, it entrencheth into the Soul, and as I said before, doth enable the Soul to believe, and lay hold on the Merits of the Son of Mary, Jesus Christ. For saith he, when he is come, he shall glorify me, for he shall take of mine, and shew it unto you, John 16. 14.

3d Query. Whether any be justified but he that is born of God? And whether doth he that is born of God commit Sin? And is that within the Creature, or without, that worketh the new Birth?

Ans. Justification may be taken two Ways, either in the Sight of God or in the Sight of the Soul, or Creature; My Meaning is, that all that are or shall be saved, are justified in the Sight and Fore-knowledge of God before the Foundation of the World, Eph. 1. 4. According as he hath chosen us in him before the Foundation of the World, &c. Having predestinated us to the Adoption of Children by Jesus Christ unto himself. And again, Moreover whom he did predestinate, them he also called: and whom he called, them he also justified: and whom he justified, them he also glorified, Rom. 8. 30. Mark, all these things are spoken as being already done; predestinated, called, justified, glorified. He doth not say, they shall be, but he hath done it, that is, in and according to the Fore-ordination of God.

2. Saints are said to be justified in their own Sight or Knowledge, as when God doth make manifest to the Soul, what he had determined before should be done. Be of good Cheer, thy Sins are forgiven thee. This is Justification in the Sight of the Creature. And whereas you ask me, Do they that are born of God commit Sin? To this I answer,

They shall never commit the Sin against the Holy Ghost, as is the Meaning of that Place, 1 John 3. 19. There is a Sin unto Death, and there is a Sin not unto Death.--- He that is born of God sinneth not, but keepeth himself; and that wicked one, mark, that wicked one, the Sin unto Death, toucheth him not: But they that are born of God notwithstanding, do daily sin, as it is evident, Jam. 3. 2. In many things we offend all, saith he, I and you, all of us. And again, If we say that we have no Sin we deceive ourselves, and (instead of having no Sin) the Truth is not in us, 1 John 1. 8. And who can say, my Heart is clean? There is none righteous, no not one. And again, There is not a just Man upon Earth that doth good, and sinneth not. And I am confident, that while some would persuade others that they have no Sin, their own Consciences tell them they lie; and if it be not so in the rest, it is because they are hardened, and given to believe a Lie.

As to the latter Part of your Query, I answer; The new Birth is wrought through hearing of the Word preached. And yet not by Conscience, nor by the Obedience to the Law, or Dictates of Nature; but by the Spirit coming into the Soul, and shewing its lost Condition without the Obedience of the Son of Mary, the Son of God; and his Freeness and Willingness to communicate, or give himself, and all his things unto it; which being done, the Man is thereupon given up to God, and is become a new Creature. I might spend much time in speaking to this, but I forbear, because of itself it is enough to fill up a small Volume.

4th Query. If Christ hath lightened all Men as he is God (as thou confellest) then hath he not lightened all Men as he is the Son of God? and is not the Light of God sufficient in itself, to lead to God all that follow it, Yea, or Nay?

Ans. Christ as he is God, doth lighten every Man that comes into the World, which Light is Conscience, or otherwise Nature itself, which doth also convince of Sin, John 8. 9. Yet Christ as he is God; doth not give unto every Man that Spirit that doth lead to eternal Life, for all Men have it not, Jude 19. Secondly, Christ as he was and is the Son of God before the World was, being one in Power, and being with his Father, hath lightened every one that comes into the World, as aforesaid; but hath not so neither given them his Spirit. Some are sensual, &c.

3. Christ as God-man, or as he came into the World to die for those whom before as God he knew and loved; I say, he doth not in this Way neither lighten every Man with the saving Light of Life, or give unto them his Holy Spirit. No, they that have been, and now are Believers, do know and can remember, that all the time of their unregenerate State, they were without Christ, Eph. 2. 12. So that here is no way or room for your Doctrine, take it how you will, Christ hath not given to every one his Spirit.

Second Part of the Query, Is not the Light of God sufficient in itself, to lead to God all that follow it, Yea, or Nay?

Ans. First, As I said before, Some are sensual, and have not the Spirit of Christ. Secondly, No Man can come to God as a Father by Adoption, but by Jesus Christ; then it it must needs be that all Men, though they do follow that Light which is given to every Man, it is not able to lead to God as a Father in the Lord Jesus Christ. Yet this Light that every Man hath, will shew a Man there is a God, and that this God is eternal; and also will clear out something of him to them by the things that are made. But now, if this Light would lead to everlasting Life, then might the Devils also be delivered from everlasting Damnation, seeing they also do know God as a Creator, and Revenger of Sin, more perfectly than any natural Man in the World, though not as a Father by Adoption.

But you say, Doth it not lead to God all that follow it? Ans. Not to be saved, though to be condemned, thro' the Weakness and Unprofitableness of that Light, or Conscience, or the Law, call it either, and I clear it thus: Because, if that Light that every Man receives, were able by our following it, to save us, then Christ needed not to have suffered, seeing all Men had that Light.

2. If that Light that every Man hath, which is Conscience, were able to lead a Man to Justification by following it; that Promise was made in vain by Jesus the Son of Mary, when he said, I will send you; Mark, I will send you the Spirit, and he shall lead you into all Truth: For they had a Light before. But it is evident, that that was not sufficient, because they must have another sent them by Jesus Christ, and that must be the Spirit.

5th Query. Whether is not the same Light in him that hates it, as it is in him that loves it, John 3. If there be a difference in the Light, shew it wherein; whether in the Nature, or otherwise?

Ans. First, that Scripture quoted in John 3. Light is come into the World, &c. is not meant of that Light, or Conscience, that every Man hath; but the Man Christ Jesus is speaking there of himself, as God-man, come into the World, born of the Virgin, if thou compare, ver. 19, 20, 21. with ver. 14, 15, 16, 17, 18. of the same Chapter, it is clear, for they all do speak of the same Thing; namely, the Son of Mary. And again, saith he, I am the Light of the World. Now the Man Christ, though he was then in the World, and walked up and down in the same, yet he was not within any Man in the World as Man, (though he calls himself the Light thereof) though he was in some; I say, in some, as God by his Spirit. Now the Light, which was the Man Christ, was the very same, whether loved by some, or hated by others; but if you conclude every Man hath Christ, or that Light spoken of there, John 3. within him; That I deny having proved the contrary. But Secondly, Whether is there a difference in the Light? Ans. First, there are more Lights than one, there is a Light that may be suspected to be Darkness, where he saith; if the Light that is in thee be Darkness, &c. Again, there is the Light of the Law, Prov. 6. 23. Again, Conscience also will convince of Sin. Now there is none of these that can save a Sinner from the evil of his Ways. Take the best of them, which is the righteous Law of God, that cannot. For had there been a Law given, which might have given Life, then verily Righteousness had come by the Law: But if you conclude that Righteousness, or everlasting Life cometh by the Law, you must conclude this again; that Christ did die in vain, Gal. 2. 21. So then these Things being not able to save the Soul, the next Thing is, the Son of God, the Son of Righteousness arising with healing under his Wings, he is also a Light, and indeed the saving Light, far surpassing all the other mentioned.

Now though Christ doth not differ in himself, yet there is a difference in the Power of these Lights, the Law and Christ, the one not being able to save, the other being able. And again, there is also a difference in the Nature of them; the one being a condemning Light, the other a saving Light. It is Moses that accuseth you (saith Christ) even Moses in whom ye trust: But do not think, saith Christ, that I will accuse you to the Father: No, saith he, it is Moses, or the Law given by him. But again, where Christ speaks for himself as a Saviour, he saith God sent not his Son into the World to condemn the World, but that the World through him might be saved, John 3. 17. so that I say, First, that Light spoken of John 3. which is the Man Christ, is not in every Man that comes into the World. Secondly, That the Man Christ, or the Light spoken of there, is not against himself. Thirdly, There is the Light of the Law, Conscience, and Nature it self, which are in all Men, which Things are altogether insufficient to save a Man from Death, by his seeking of Justification thereby. Again, There is Jesus Christ he is the Saviour, but not in all Men. And again, neither is the Man Christ Jesus the condemning Light.

6th Query, Whether is it possible, that any can be saved, without Christ manifested within? If no, then whether is not the Doctrine of Salvation, which is only necessary, to preach Christ within: And is it not the whole Mystery of Salvation, God manifest in the Flesh.

Ans. There can none be saved, but they that have the Spirit of Christ given unto them. But it is not the Spirit of Christ given to the Elect, that doth work out the Salvation of their Souls within them, for that was obtained by the Blood of the Man Christ Jesus on the Cross, Heb. 9. 12. compared with Heb. 13. 12.

Again, every one that is, or shall be saved

ved, must, and shall have the Spirit of Christ within them; yet doth it not follow, that to preach Christ (only) within, is the only Doctrine of Salvation. For then also the preaching of the Blood of Christ shed on the Cross, as I said before, must be of none effect. But he that doth preach the Doctrine of Salvation aright, must first begin to preach that Doctrine that Paul preached in 1 Cor. 15. 1, 2, 3, 4. For I delivered unto you (saith he) first of all how that Christ died for our Sins according to the Scriptures: and that he was buried, and that he rose again according to the Scriptures. Now Christ, or the Spirit of Christ, is received by such preaching as this is, as is clear from that Scripture, Acts 10. 38, to 44. Where Peter speaking of the Word that was published throughout all Judea: How God anointed Jesus of Nazareth (or which dwelt at Nazareth) with the Holy Ghost, and with Power, who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the Devil: for God was with him. And we are Witnesses of all those Things which he did, both in the Land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem (saith Peter) whom they slew, and hanged on a Tree: Him God raised up the Third Day, and shewed him openly; not unto all the People, but unto Witnesses, chosen before of God; Even to us who did eat and drink with him, after his Resurrection from the dead. And he commanded us to preach to the People, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead. And is that all? No, But to him give all the Prophets Witness, (to him, even Jesus of Nazareth whom the Jews crucified on the Tree) that through his Name, whosoever believeth in him, shall receive Remission, or Forgiveness of Sins. Now mark. And while Peter yet spake these Words, the Holy Ghost fell on all them that heard the Word. While Peter spake these Words, that by Jesus of Nazareth Forgiveness of Sins was preached to them that believe in his Name, the Holy Ghost fell on all them that heard the Word. Namely, which Peter spake: This is the Way in which the Spirit is given? Namely, by preaching a crucified Christ.

But now, no Man can be saved without Christ, or the Spirit of Christ be given to him, because he cannot be able to lay hold savingly of, and to hope for that Glory that Christ as he is God-man hath accomplished in his own Person without, unless he have the Spirit. But farther, thou saist; It is not the whole Mystery of Salvation, God manifested in the Flesh?

Ans. Truly to know that God out of Love to poor Sinners, did in the Fulness of Time send forth his only begotten Son, who is equal with his Father, to be born of a Woman, and made under the Law, to redeem them that are under the Law, that we might receive the Adoption of Sons; this is to know the Mystery of Godliness. Therefore, when the Scriptures say, God was manifested in the Flesh, they mean, God sent forth his Son, which was and is the Word of God, God himself, and he was made Flesh, John 1. 14. And so in the Nature of Man he did become the Lamb of God, or the Sacrifice of God, that doth take away the Sins of the World, ver. 29. Now here I might enlarge abundantly, but that I would not be tedious.

7 Query. Whether is it not possible, that many may profess as much of Christ without, as thou hast said of him, and yet be damned; and if this be the Faith to profess him born, dead, risen and ascended without; then is there any unbeliever in England? seeing all in the outward sound believes, and professeth as much as thou hast said. Yea, or nay?

Ans. I know there are many that do profess in Word, that Christ was born, dead, risen, and ascended without, and yet may be damned. Yet he that doth really, with the Faith of the Operation of God believe these things, and doth also apply the Virtue and Merit of the same to themselves for Justification and Life shall be saved. If thou shalt confess with thy Mouth the Lord Jesus: and shalt believe in thine Heart that God raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved, Rom. 10. 9. And also 1 Cor. 15. 2. By which ye are saved, if ye keep in Memory what I preached unto you. What was that? Why, how that Christ died for our Sins according to the Scriptures, that he was buried, and rose again, &c.

2. It is not Faith, only to talk of him with the Mouth, but as I said before, to believe the same by the Operation of the Spirit in our Hearts.

If this be Faith, (saist thou) to profess him born, dead, risen and ascended without, then is there any Unbeliever in England?

Ans. All that profess this do not truly believe it; for to profess in word alone, and believe in Heart, are two things. Secondly, if to profess this were the Faith, yet were there a good many Unbelievers in England, for the Quakers will not profess him ascended without, neither making Intercession without, but contrarywise strike at this Doctrine.

8 Query. Whether hath that Man Faith in Christ that is not changed in the Nature, and is not the Liar and Slanderer an Unbeliever, and of the cursed Nature, yea or no?

Ans. He that hath Faith in Christ is a new Creature: and the Liar and Slanderer is an Unbeliever: and if he live and die in that Condition, his State is very sad, tho' if he turn there is Hope for him; therefore repent and turn quickly, or else look to your selves, for you are the Men, as is clear by your Discourse.

9 Query. Whether any receive Christ, who receive him not into him? if not, shew how Christ can be received, and whether many ny profess him not which never receive him.

Ans. Christ as he is Man, as he was a Sacrifice for Sin, cannot be received really and personally into any, but yet, he that doth indeed receive the Gospel, and believe that he was a Sacrifice upon the Cross for his Sins, doth and hath also received his Spirit into him, which giveth him the Comfort of these things, John 14. 26. And secondly, there are very many that profess him, that at the Day of Judgment will fall short of eternal Life, notwithstanding all their Profession; for as I said before, it is not the Professor, but the sound Believer that shall be saved by him. But let the Reader mark, how thou condemnest thy own Doctrine by this Query, for thou grantest many profess Christ that never receive him. How then hath every Man Christ, or the Light of Christ within him? If it be within him, either he must receive it, or snatch it by Force against the Will of another, however the Scripture saith, what is it that thou hast not received; (yet all Men have not received that) Jude 19.

10 Query, Whether to preach for Hire, for Gifts and Rewards, and to divine for Money, and to make Merchandise of the People for so much a Tear for preaching to them, be not true Marks and Signs of false Prophets? or can any give truer Signs of false Prophets than Isaiah and Micha give, yea or nay?

Ans. There are a Company of dumb Dogs that are crept into the Nation, that love, give ye, and desire to bear rule by their means; and they are every onfo 1 his gain from their Quarter. Secondly, there are a Company of Wolves crept out also, having wrapped themselves about with sheeps clothing, and these are both alike abominable to the Lord. Neither can a Man give a more right Description of a false Prophet, than the Prophets and Christ with his Apostles did give, therefore examine your selves.

11 Query, Whether must not the Devil be changed before Christ reign, and what is that which chains him, and whether art thou come to one of the Days of the Thousand years, yea, or no?

Ans. Christ hath two several times wherein Satan must be bound by him, one is at the Conversion of Sinners, the other when he shall come the second time, and personally appear, and reign, in the World to come.

Again, whether I am come to one of the Days of the thousand years?

Ans. No, because he that doth reign with Christ one of these Days, shall live and reign with Christ a thousand years, Rev. 20. 4. But there is never a Believer in the World, that doth, or in any likelyhood shall live half so long, before they die or be changed at the coming of the Man Christ Jesus.

12 Query, Whether dost thou know any Christ, preach or profess any Christ, who hath not lightened every Man that comes into the World with the Light of Life, or of Condemnation; And is he not a Deceiver that exhorts People for Salvation to any other thing than the Light of Christ, yea, or no? And how hath Christ lightened every Man if not within him?

Ans. That Christ I preach, is the Christ of God, who as he is God hath lightened every Man that comes into the World with Conscience, and the Law, which is the Light of Condemnation, but not of Life; for the Law is the Ministration of Condemnation, 1 Cor. 7. 8. And all Men have the Law and Conscience: but these will not save them. Again, there are some that do indeed enjoy the Light of Life. And whereas thou askest, is not he a Deceiver, that exhorts People to any thing else than the Light of Christ? Ans. He that telleth any Man, that the Ministration of Condemnation will save him, which is the Law, he is a Lyar, and a Deceiver: but he that exhorts People to lay hold on what the Man Christ Jesus hath done in his own Person for Sinners, and presseth Souls to venture upon that for Salvation, preacheth the Truth. Thirdly, Christ hath given to every one the Law, and Conscience within him: yet these are not able to save him, but let him follow the Righteousness of the Law never so much, yet if he be not directed of God to fly to Jesus the Son of Mary, and to what he hath done in his own person for them, he shall never be saved, Acts 4. verse 12.

Friend, Thus have I with all Plainness of Speech answered thy Queries, and I fear not at all but I have spoken the Truth as it is in Jesus. And as for committing them to the Judgment of others, as thou wouldst have me; let others say what they will, I am sure I have spoken the Truth of God; and I make no question but at the second Coming of my Lord Jesus from Heaven to judge the World, these things I shall not be ashamed of; neither am I now; but am ready, if God shall give me Life, to speak the same things to any Man, Face to Face; and I desire thee, and all, even as many as shall read or hear this Treatise, to consider, and look to themselves, lest they sin against God so much in their Lifetime by rejecting these Truths, that it shall never be forgiven them to all Eternity, tho' they repent them of their rejecting the same. There is one thing more to which I shall speak a few Words, and that is to a few Words written at the end of thy Book, which is called the Postscript, wherein is several Charges against myself and some others, which I shall speak somewhat to.

The first is against John Burton, thus; John Burton said in a Discourse with some Friends, that Christ had two Bodies, and one of them is out of the Sight of the Saints. Ans. My Brother Burton being absent, I shall answer for him concerning the Charge laid against him. And therefore, that Christ, who is and was before the World began, God equal with his Father, did in the fullness of time take upon him a Body from the Virgin Mary, which was so prepared by God his Father, it is evident in Scripture; and in it after he had lived a while in the World, he did hang on the Cross, was taken down thence again, and laid in Joseph's Sepulchre, was raised again, and ascended away from his Disciples therewith into Glory, Acts 1. 3, 9, 10, 11.

Again, he hath another Body, and that is his Church, Eph. 1. ver. the last. Now that he is out of the Sight of his Saints in one of the Bodies; namely, that which did hang on the Cross, it is also evident, 1 Tim. 6. where Paul speaking of that very Jesus, who did bear a faithful Witness before Pontius Pilate, saith in ver. 16. Who only hath Immortality, dwelling in the Light which no Man can approach unto, whom no man hath seen, nor can see. That is, not with their mortal Eyes, in that Glory as yet. If you say still, notwithstanding this, that Christ as he was before the World began, hath but one Body, and that to be his Church, I ask you what that was that was taken down from the Cross, and laid into Joseph's Sepulchre, Luke 23. 52, 53.

The second charge is against my self, and is this; John Bunyan said, Christ's second coming is not his coming in Spirit, for his coming in Spirit is no coming.

The former part of the Words, namely, Christ's second coming is not his coming in Spirit, those I own. But the other namely, *For his coming in Spirit is no coming, is a Lye, made of me by the Author, Edward Borroughs.

The former Words were spoken at a meeting in Bedford, some Quakers being present contradicting and blaspheming: And now they could not be content with that; but they must make up all with a Lye, and publish it in print. A Quaker there and I had some discourse concerning Christ's second coming, and he would affirm, that his coming in Spirit, was his second coming spoken of in Scripture. Then I asked him, which was his first coming? He answered, when he was born of the Virgin, and took Flesh upon him from her. Then said I, I shall easily prove, that his coming in the Spirit is not his second coming, for I will prove that his coming in the Spirit was before that which the Scripture and you also do call his first coming; and proved it by that plain Scripture, where Peter speaking of the Prophets, saith, searching what, or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them (the Prophets) did signify, when it testified before hand of the Suffering of Christ, and the Glory that should follow, 1 Pet. 1. 10. 11. and 3.

18, 19. where speaking of Christ's being put to Death in the Flesh, but quickened in the Spirit. By which Spirit he preached to the Spirits (now) in prison; but when was this, only when once the long suffering of God waited in the Days of Noah, ver. 20. Which was long before the first coming of Christ, so called in Scripture, for that was, as I said, when he took a Body from the Virgin Mary.

But secondly, it seems clearly by these Words, that you do look for no other coming but his coming in Spirit. O! how suddenly and unexpected of you, will the Son of Man break down from Heaven, with all his Mighty Angels in flaming Fire, and call you together, with all Nations to Judgment. And though now peradventure you are ready to slight the personal appearing of the Lord Jesus Christ, that Man to Judgment, only looking for a judgment within, yet you will I am certain, very suddenly be made to pass under another Judgment, which will be more exceeding great than any Judgment you shall have here, and more terrible. As for the latter Part of the charge, which is a very Lie; though I shall not trouble my self to lay it to your charge (you have so manifestly declared your selves already what you are) yet I beseech you, that hereafter you would not be so ready to receive Lies from others, and publish them to the view of the World, least you appear to all Men (as you do to some) to be such as are of an accusing lying Spirit.

But farther, That Christ's coming in the Spirit is not his second coming, it is evident; partly, in that the coming of Christ in Spirit, was before that called in Scripture, his first coming. Secondly, he that comes the second time is he that came the first time. Now he that came the first time was very God and very Man, and not a Spirit only; for handle me, saith he, a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, as you see me have, Luke 24. Now this same Jesus that was very God and very Man, so born of Mary, saith, I go and prepare a Place for you; and I, the very same (as also Acts 1. 10, 11.) will come again, and take you to my self; that where I am, there ye might be also, John 14. 1, 2, 3. Here I might spend many Words, but it needs not, the whole current of Scriptures do confirm this thing; and therefore I shall forbear, and content my self with this, He that will be filthy let him be filthy, for the Day is at hand.

The 3d Charge is also against me, saying, I said, there was nothing in me, nor any Man, to be taken notice of.

Though in some Sense I do not deny these Words, yet I know, and am sure, that directly in this Form of Words, I did never lay them down, but I pass that. Now in this Sense I do not deny them, there was nothing in me, as I was in my unregenerate Estate; nor in any Man else in the same Estate,

This is a false thing spoken of
me.

Estate, that is worthy to be taken Notice of for Justification. First, because every unregenerate Man is without Christ, before he be converted, Eph. 2. 12. Wherefore remember, that ye being Gentiles in the Flesh (unconverted) that at that Time ye were without Christ. Now a Man that is without Christ, and hath not his Spirit in him, as some, yea, most Men are, Jude 19. What is there in that Man, that is worth the taking Notice of to justify him.

Also converted Paul saith, I know that in me, that is in my Flesh, dwelleth no good Thing, Rom. 7. 18.

As for others that are charged with Things, because their Names are not also mentioned, I shall pass them by; only thus much I shall say further to the last charge. That there is nothing in any Man by Nature, before he be converted, that is worth the taking Notice of, as to seek Justification thereby. And that that Light which every Man hath, being at the best but Conscience, Nature, or the Law, let a Man take Notice of it, follow it, obey it never so much, it is not able to justify the Soul: For if Righteousness come by the Law, then Christ is Dead in vain. And as I said before, every Man hath not Christ to take Notice of, though every Man hath Conscience, or the Light of Nature in him, which is also able to convince of Sins against the Law of God, yet is not able to deliver from that Curse pronounced by the Lord, against them that disobey the Law. Nay the Law it self is not able to save them that do follow it, being too weak for such a Thing: And indeed God did not give it to that end, that Saints should have Life by it. No, compare Gal. 3. 21. with Rom. 5. 20. you may clearly see why God gave the Law, namely, that Sins or Offences might abound. But how? By discovering Sin by its Workings. Now then you that follow the Law, and seek Life by it, this is all you are like to have of it: First, you shall see your Transgression against it, made known to you by it, Rom. 3. 20. and an horrible Curse pronounced against you, because you cannot give a complete continual Obedience to every Tittle of it.

And now Friend to thee, who hast taken in Hand to answer my Queries laid down in the end of my Book; I say, thou hast only wrangled and quarrelled at them; but hast not given one plain and right Answer to any one of them. Therefore I shall leave them still to be answered by you, or others of your Spirit. You will find them at the end of the foregoing Discourse: And I beseech you to answer them in all plainness of Heart, and with as moderate a Spirit as you may. It is like there may be some Addition to them: But as I have dealt plainly and sincerely with yours, so do you deal uprightly and plainly with mine, for the Satisfaction of those who shall read them. And here I shall draw towards a Conclusion, only speak some Words to those who unawares to themselves may be carried away with the Doctrines of the Quakers: And I shall be brief in speaking to it. The Way that I shall take, shall be very plain to be understood; for I shall not lay down any doubtful Sentence in my Speech to them, nor others.

And first, I shall shew you that the Doctrine of the Quakers is an Error, and how.

2. Who they are that are carried away with it, and why.

3. The Way Satan takes to make this Delusion, or filthy Doctrine to take Place in the Soul.

That the Doctrine of the Quakers is false, or an Error, I shall shew, first, by discovering the Doctrine it self. Now the Doctrine of the Quakers is plainly this; Namely, that every Man that comes into the World, hath the Spirit of Christ in him. Now that this is an Error is clear, because the Word of God saith plainly, That some are sensual, having not the Spirit, Jude 19. And again, The unregenerate Man, in the Time of his unregenerate State, is without Christ, Eph. 2. 12.

2. He that will but observe the Motions of that Light which every Man hath within him (say they) so as to obey and close in with it to follow it, shall undoubtedly be saved from the Wrath to come. Now this is clearly a gross Error; for first, If all Men have not Christ, as they have not, then is it not an Error to press Men to seek for Life, by following that which is not able to give Life. Yet this they do, who labour to persuade Men, yea, the Souls of Men, that it is no less than the very Spirit of Christ in every Man, that doth convince of Sin, when the Scriptures say plainly, the Law, Rom. 3. 20. Conscience, Rom. 2. 15. and Nature it self, Rom. 2. 14. 1 Cor. 11. 14. will and doth convince of Sin, yet none of these is the Spirit of Christ. And the great Argument that they bring to prove that it is the Spirit of Christ, is, because the Spirit doth also convince of Sin. Now what a poor Argument is this, to say, That because the Spirit of Christ doth convince of Sin, therefore whatsoever doth convince of Sin, must needs be the Spirit of Christ. As much as to say, because the Saints are called the Light of the World, Mat. 5. 14. Therefore the Saints are the Saviour of the World, seeing Christ also doth call himself the Light of the World, John 8. 12. or because the Moon hath, or is Light, therefore the Moon is the Sun. This is but sophistical arguing, and doth beget most damnable Errors and Heresies in the World; but this is the Way that they take, to intangle poor Souls with their sad and erroneous Doctrine, see Page 22. of his Book, Line 12, and 13. They say, that it must be Christ within them, that must within them work out Justification for them; when it is evident from the whole current of Scripture, that the Son of Mary was delivered to be crucified for our Offences, and his Resurrection, through Faith in it, is our Justification; as all along through Grace I have declared and cleared. And the Work that the Spirit doth in Point of Justification, is, to shew us what the Son of Mary hath done and suffered in his own Body on the Tree, and is now doing in the Presence of his Father, in the highest Heaven.

And to help us to apply this to our Souls by Faith now, for a preservative against these and the like Delusions, observe, First, As I said before, All have not the Spirit of Christ, Jude 19. Eph. 2. 12.

2. That the Law, with all our Obedience to it, is not able to save, or justify any poor Soul, Rom. 3. 20. For by the Works of the Law shall no Flesh living be justified, though it gives the Knowledge of Sin.

3. That there is none other Way to be justified in the Sight of God, but by laying hold of what the Son of Mary (Jesus) did do and suffer in his own Person, when he was in the World. For it is by him (and what he hath done in his own Person by himself, Heb. 1. 2.) that any Man is justified from his Sins, and the Wrath of God due to the same, by believing that his Blood was shed for their Sins; as it is written, By his Stripes we are healed, Isa. 53. 5. as if their own Blood had been shed for their own Sins; and that his Righteousness is theirs by Imputation, as if they themselves had actually fulfilled all the Law of God for their own Justification, Rom. 10. 4.

The second thing is, who are they that are carried away with this Delusion, and why?

Answer. First, not one of God's elect whom he foreknew, shall be utterly destroyed thereby (I do not say they shall not be led away for a time; but they shall not be utterly destroyed); for they are kept by the mighty Power of God through Faith unto Salvation. But they are such as are not indeed the elect of God, nor chosen in Christ before the World began. Though Hymeneus and Philetus fall away, and overthrow the faith of some, yet the Foundation of God stands sure, having this Seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his, 2 Tim. 2. 18, 19.

Secondly, they are such as in time past; for the Generality of them were either but light, frothy Professors, or else were shaken in their Principles, and unstable therein, as saith the Scriptures, They that are Deceivers do beguile unstable Souls. Or if they were such as were in Appearance sober and serious in the Account of others, it was either from those Convictions they had from the Law, or else from high Notions they had of the Gospel; which have both such Influence at some time on the Soul (though not savingly) that the Soul will go very far in Obedience to them; as for example, Herod who was an Enemy to the Truth, yet for a Time had such Heart-workings, being convinced by the preaching of John the Baptist, that he feared him, and observed him, and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly, Mark 6. 20.

Now the Reason why such People are carried away with such Heresies as these, or the like is,

First, That as they were not of the elect of God, so God by suffering them to be carried away finally, may make it appear, that they were not of his Elect. They went out from us, but they were not of us: for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us. But they went out from us, that it might be made manifest (or that Men might see) that they were not all of us, 1 John 2. 9.

2. Because God will not have his Church so disturbed always with such as are not of the Truth. Now there are some Men that have their Time to walk with the Church of God by permission; and these Men are ever and anon ready to broach their Errors, even while they are among the Saints, to their Trouble. Now God having a Care of his Church, hath a Time to suffer the Devil to run through the World with some erroneous Doctrine or other, which when these Men taste, being spirited beforehand for that purpose, do presently close in with the same, to the purifying of the Church, and the Manifestation of themselves. And thus every Branch which the Lord's right hand hath not planted, shall and must have a Time to be rooted up, Matth. 15. 13.

3. Because others that are of the right grafting in, may notwithstanding not presume but fear, lest they also fall through the same Example of others who are already fallen, or may fall hereafter, Heb. 4. 1, 2, 11.

4. Because others may see, that it is not by their own Strength that they do stand, but freely by the Grace of God, and his Power and Love towards them in the Lord Jesus Christ. God hath chosen some before the Foundation of the World. Now to manifest this, though they are even as bad as the worst by Nature, yet I say, because God will shew his Power and his Love, he doth preserve some to eternal Life, though others fall into eternal Damnation. Of all that thou hast given me, saith Christ, have I lost none but the son of perdition, that the scripture might be fulfilled, John 17. 12. Many other Reasons might be given why these Things must and shall be; but I rather choose to forbear. Only thus much I have spoken, because I know it is my Duty to speak ſpeak a few Words unto you, that you may either cloſe in with the Truth, or elſe the more clearly be left without Excuse at the great day.

The third and laſt Thing, is the Way that Satan takes to make thoſe Deluſions take place in the Soul.

Now the Way whereby he makes theſe or any other Deluſions to take place in the Soul, is, firſt, to perſuade the Soul that they are the Truth; and ſecondly, to ſtir up in the Soul an Enmity to any Thing or Perſon that ſhall declare the contrary.

Fiſt, They are given over to believe a Lie; that is, to believe falſe Doctrine to be the Doctrine of God and of Chriſt. And that he might bring this to paſs, he goeth about to change the Names of Things; and becauſe the Law, Conſcience, and Nature itſelf can convince of Sin, therefore he calleth them Chriſt, or the Light of Chriſt; ſaying to a natural Man, one that is not yet converted, Mind the Light within you. If they aſk what Light? ſay they, That which doth convince of Sin. If they farther aſk, Why, what is that? They ſay, It is the light of Chriſt, the light of life, or Chriſt within.

Now theſe Things are nothing elſe but Conſcience, Nature, or the Law, for a natural Man hath nothing elſe that dwelleth within him to convince him of Sin: only theſe Things have a new Name put upon them. And poor Creatures hearing the Name Chriſt, being ignorant of the Nature of Chriſt, do preſently cloſe in with theſe Things, ſuppoſing, nay, verily believing that theſe are the Spirit of Chriſt. Which Things being thus received, if at any time one come and oppoſe them, and tell them that it is an Error that they have taken up, to think that that which is in an unregenerate Man is the Spirit of Chriſt, and contrariwiſe telleth them plainly, that it is but their own Conſcience that doth convince them, or the Law written in their Hearts by Nature. Nay, ſay they, it is the Light of Chriſt in the Conſcience, when there is no Scripture hath any ſuch manner of expreſſions, only a Fancy of their own, taken up without ground from the Word. But the Soul being poſſeſſed with this Doctrine, preſently its Heart riſeth againſt any thing that doth contradict it, and is filled with a ſecret Enmity againſt it. Now the Way that Satan takes to bring this about, is to perſuade poor Souls, that all theſe Thoughts that do any wiſe contradict the Principles received, is but a Temptation of the Devil. And if at any Time there be the Doctrine of Jeſus held forth in Truth, his Death, Burial, Reſurrection, Aſcenſion and Interceſſion; now without in the Preſence of his Father for Sinners, and that there is Salvation no where elſe but in the Merits of the firſt born of Mary, which is Jeſus Chriſt, without the Works of the Law, Rom.

3. 28. Preſently with Envy they are enraged and cry, Doeſt thou not know that every Man hath a Measure of the Spirit given to him? Follow that, liſten to that, turn thy Mind to that, and walk in the Light of that. When alas there is no ſuch Thing as the Spirit of Chriſt in every Man, as I ſaid, and proved before at large; only the Devil hath gotten this Way to call Conſcience Chriſt, the Law Chriſt; and hereby to entangle the Soul with the Name of a Thing, without the Thing itſelf.

But now the Soul is ſet down in its Principles, and he that doth any way confute that Spirit, preſently it falls a raging, and cries out, Serpent, Liar, Wolf, Dragon, Devil, be ſilent with thy ſerpentine Wiſdom, and Smoak of the bottomleſs Pit. Now in this the Devil is wonderful cunning: for leaſt he ſhould indeed be diſcovered, he doth ſet the Face hard againſt the Truth, and counteth it ſuch a deadly Enemy, that he will not, cannot bear it; but lets fly againſt it all the helliſh Words and Madneſs he can: And now he begins firſt to cry, Avoid Satan. All which is only to harden him in whom he doth dwell, more and more againſt the Truth. Now he doth alſo harden Souls in Deluſions, by preſenting the ugly and baſe Converſations of a Company of covetous Wretches, who do profeſs themſelves to be the Miniſters of the Goſpel, but are not; now poor Creatures being ſhaking and doubtful what way to take, ſeeing the Converſation of theſe Men to be wicked, and the Doctrine of theſe Deluders covered with a ſeeming Holineſs; they preſently embrace it, ſaying, ſurely theſe Men are in the right way; they cry down the Prieſts, whoſe Lives we alſo ſee to be profane, they are very ſtrict in their Ways, and if ſuch be not good Men, who are? But yet that which is moſt taking is (through the Corruption and Pride that is naturally in the Heart of Man) theſe Men propoſe ſuch a way to Salvation, as is in the Compaſs of a Man's own Ability, even Works of Righteouſneſs done by him, which is very agreeable to Man's Nature, which would willingly be ſaved, but would not be altogether beholden to God for it: and theſe Works not being wrought by the Prieſts or National Miniſters, but by the other, though in Oppoſition to the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, the Meſſias God-man, poor Souls not only ſuck in theſe erroneous Principles, but are hardened in them againſt the Doctrine of God and his Son Jeſus Chriſt by their ungodly Converſation, and thus diſhonour the Son of God. But come Brethren, let us be patient, ſtabliſh our Hearts, wait but a while, and I doubt not but you will ſee that thoſe who diſhonour our Jeſus ſhall ſoon be brought down, both Ranters, Quakers, Prieſts, and People alſo, that ſhall continue in oppoſing him either in Doctrine or Practice; for our God hath said, Ab! I will ease me of my Adversaries.

Now, a few Words more to those who do believe in Christ aright, and lay him for their Foundation.

First, Bless God that you are not carried away with the Delusions that are on foot in this Generation.

Secondly, See that you are Labourers after a more experimental Knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ; fly more to his Birth, Death, Blood, Resurrection, Ascension and Intercession; and fetch refreshing for your Souls more and more from him without, through the Operation of his Spirit within; and tho' the Fruits of the Spirit be excellent, and to be owned where they are found; yet have a care you take not away the Glory of the Blood of Christ shed on the Cross without the Gates of Jerusalem, and give it them; which you will do, if you do content yourselves, and satisfy your Consciences with this; that you find the Fruits of the Spirit within you, and do not go for Peace and Consolation of Conscience to the Blood of Jesus shed on the Cross.

Therefore learn of the Saints, or rather of the Spirit, Rev. 5. who teacheth to sing this Song, Thou art worthy to take the Book, and to open the Seals thereof, for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy Blood.

And as for you that cannot yet well endure to think you should be justified by the Blood of the Son of Mary shed on the Cross without the Gate, I say to you, Kiss the Son lest he be angry, and you perish from the way, when his Wrath is kindled but a little, blessed are all they that put their Trust in him, Psal. 2. 12.

O R,

A Discourse of Jesus Christ:

And that He undertook to accomplish, by Himself, the Eternal Redemption of Sinners.

A L S O,

How the Lord Jesus addressed himself to this Work; with undeniable Demonstrations that he performed the same.

Objections to the Contrary answered.

Christ hath redeemed us from the Curse of the Law, being made a Curse for us. Gal. 3. 13.

The Author to the READER.

Gentle Reader,

IT was the great Care of the Apostle Paul to deliver his Gospel to the Churches in its own Simplicity, because, SO it is the Power of God unto Salvation to every one that believeth. And if it was his Care so to deliver it to us, it should be ours to seek so to continue it: And the rather, because of the Unaptness of the Minds, even of the Saints themselves, to retain it without commixture. For, to say nothing of the Projects of Hell, and of the cunning Craftiness of some that lie in wait to deceive even the Godly themselves, as they are dull of Hearing, so much more dull in receiving and holding fast the Simplicity of the the Gospel of Jesus Christ: From their Sense, and Reason, and Unbelief, and Darknes, arise many Imaginations and high Thoughts, which exalt themselves against the Knowledge of God, and the Obedience of Jesus Christ, wherefore they themselves have much ado to stand compleat in all the Will of God. And were they not concerned in electing Love, by which they are bound up in the Bundle of Life, and blessed with the Enjoyment of Saving Grace, which enlightheth their Souls, and maintaineth their Faith and Hope, they would not only be assaulted, and afflicted with their own Corruptions, but as others, overcome thereby.

Alas! How ordinary a Thing is it for Professors to fall from the Knowledge they have had of the glorious Gospel of the Blessed God, and to be turned unto Fables, seducing Spirits, and Doctrines of Devils, through the Intoxications of Delusions, and the Witchcraft of false Preachers.

Now this their swerving from the Gospel ariseth,

1. Either from their not having, or (having) not retaining the true Knowledge of the Person of the Lord Jesus Christ: Or,
2. From their not believing the true Causes of his coming into the World, with his doing and suffering there.

Upon one or both these Accounts, I say, it is that they everlastingly perish: For if they have not, and do not also retain the Knowledge of his Person, they want the HE, on whom if they believe not, they must die in their Sins: And if they know not the Reason of his coming, doing, and suffering, they are in the same Condition also.

Now those Professors that have had some Knowledge of these Things, and yet have lost them, it hath come thus to pass with them, because they first lost the Knowledge of themselves, and of their Sins.

They know not themselves to be such nothing-ones as the Scripture reporteth them to be, nor their Sins to be so hainous as the Law hath concluded: Therefore they either turn again with the Dog to his Vomit, or adhere to a few of the Rags of their own Fleshly Righteousness, and so become pure in their own Eyes, yet are not purged by Blood from their Filthiness.

For the Person and Doings of Jesus Christ are only precious to them that get and retain the true Knowledge of themselves, and the due Reward of their Sins by the Law: These are desolate, being driven out of all; these embrace the Rock instead of a Shelter: The sensible Sinner receiveth him joyfully.

And because a Miscarriage in this great Truth is the most dangerous and damning Miscarriage; therefore should Professors be the more fearful of swerving aside therefrom. The Man that rejecteth the true Knowledge of the Person of the Lord Jesus, and the Causes of his doing and suffering in the World, takes the next Way to be guilty of that Transgression that is not to be purged with Sacrifice for ever. That FEARFUL Transgression, for which is left NO Offering AT ALL, nor any Thing to be expected by the Person transgressing, but fearful Judgment, and fiery Indignation which shall devour the Adversary.

Now for their sakes that have not sinned this Sin, for their sakes that are in Danger thereof, but yet not overcome; for their sakes have I written this little Book, wherein is largely, and yet with few Words, discovered the Doctrine of the Person, and Doings, and sufferings of Christ, with the true Cause thereof, also a removal of those Objections that the crafty Children of Darknes have framed against the same.

And I have been the more plain and simple in my Writing, because the Sin against the Holy Ghost is in these Days more common than formerly, and the Way unto it, more beautified with Colour and Pretence of Truth. I may say of the Way to this Sin, it is, as was once the Way to Jerusalem, strewed with Boughs and Branches, and by some there is cried a kind of Hosanna to them that are treading these Steps to Hell. Oh the plausible Pretences, the golden Names, the feigned Holiness, the demure Behaviours mixt with damnable Hypocrisy, that attends the Persons that have forsaken the Lord Jesus, that have despised his Person, trampled upon him, and counted the Blood of the Covenant wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy Thing! They have crucified him to themselves, and think that they can go to Heaven without him; yea, pretend they love him, when they hate him; pretend they have him when they have cast him off; pretend they trust in him, when they bid Defiance to his Undertakings for the World.

Reader, let me beseech thee to hear me patiently; read, and consider, and judge. I have presented thee with that which I have received from God; and the holy Men of God, who spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost do bear me Witness. Thou wilt say, all pretend to this: Well, but give me the Hearing, take me to the Bible, and let me find in thy Heart no Favour, if thou find me to swerve from the Standard.

I say again, receive my Doctrine, I beseech thee in Christ's stead receive it; I know it to be the Way of Salvation: I have ventured my own Soul thereon with Gladness, and if all the Souls in the World were mine, as mine own Soul is, I would through God's Grace venture every one of them there. I have not writ at a Venture, nor borrowed my Doctrine from from Libraries. I depend upon the Sayings of no Man: I found it in the Scriptures of Truth, among the true Sayings of God.

I have done when I have exhorted thee to pray, and give heed to the Words of God as revealed in the Holy Writ. The Lord Jesus Christ himself give thee Light and Life by Faith in him; to whom, with the Father and the good Spirit of Grace, be Glory and Dominion now and for ever. Amen.

John Bunyan.

Light for them that sit in Darknes.

ACTS XIII. 23.

Of this Man's Seed, hath God according to his Promise, raised unto Israel a Saviour, Jesus.

THESE Words are part of a Sermon, which Paul preached to the People that lived at Antioch in Pisidia; where also inhabited many of the Jews. The Preparation to his Discourse he thus begins; Ver. 16. Men of Israel, and ye that fear God give Audience; by which having prepared their minds to attend, he proceeds and gives a particular relation of God's peculiar Dealings with his People Israel, from Egypt to the time of David their King; of whom he treateth particularly.

That he was the Son of Jesse, that he was a King, that God raised him up in mercy, that God gave Testimony of him, that he was a Man after God's own Heart, that he should fulfil all his Will, Ver. 22.

And this he did of purpose, both to engage them the more to attend, and because they well knew that of the Fruit of his Loins God had promised the Messiah should come.

Having thus therefore gathered up their Minds to hearken, he presenteth them with his Errand; to wit, That the Messiah was come, and that the Promise was indeed fulfilled, that a Saviour should be born to Israel.

Of this Man's Seed (saith he) hath God according to the Promise raised unto Israel a Saviour Jesus.

In this Assertion he concludeth,

1. That the Promise had kept its due Course in presenting a Saviour to Israel; to wit, in David's Loins; Of this Man's Seed.

2. That the Time of the Promise was come, and the Saviour was revealed; God hath raised unto Israel a Saviour.

3. That Jesus of Nazareth, the Son of Joseph was he: He hath raised unto Israel a Saviour, Jesus.

From these Things we may enquire for the Explication of the Words:

1. What this Jesus is.

2. What it was for this Jesus to be of the Seed of David.

3. What it was for Jesus to be of this Man's Seed according to the Promise.

4. And what it was for him to be raised unto Israel.

These Things may give us Light into what shall be spoken after.

Quest. 1. First, What this Jesus is.

He is God, and had personal Being from before all Worlds; therefore not such an one as took Being when he was formed in the World; He is God's natural Son. The Eternal Son of his Begetting and Love, God sent forth his Son; he was, and was his Son, before he was revealed. What is his Name, and what is his Son's Name, if thou canst tell? Prov. 30. 4. Ezek. 21. 10. He hath an Eternal Generation, such as none can declare: Nor Man, nor Angel, Isa. 53. 8. He was the Delight of his Father before he had made either Mountain or Hill. While as yet he had not made the Earth or the Fields, or the highest Part of the Dust of the World, all Things were made by him, and without him was not any Thing made that was made, and he is before all Things, and by him all Things consist. It is he with whom the Father consulted when he was about to make Man; when he intended to overthrow Eabel, and when he sent Isaiah to harden the Hearts of Israel, Prov. 8. 26. John 1. 3. Heb. 1. 2, 3. Col. 1. 17. Gen. 1. 26. and 11. 7. Isa. 6. 8. This is the Person intended in the Text. Hence also he testifies of himself, that he came down from the Father; that he had Glory with him before the World was. And what and if you shall see the Son of Man ascend up where he was before, John 16. 28. Ch. 17. 5. Ch. 6. 62.

Quest. 2. Secondly, What was it for Jesus fus to be of David's Seed? To be of David's Seed, is to spring from his Loins, to come of his Race according to the Flesh: And therefore as he is David's God, so likewise is he David's Son; the Root, and also the Off-spring of David: And this the Lord himself acknowledgeth, saying, I am the Root, or God, and the Off-spring, and Son of David, and the Bright and Morning Star, Rev. 22. 16. This is indeed the great Mystery, the Mystery of Godliness. If David called him Lord, how is he then his Son? Luke 2. 4. Rom. 1. 3. 2 Tim. 2. 8. Matt. 22. 45.

And hence it is that he is said to be wonderful, because he is both God and Man in one Person. To us a Child is born, to us a Son is given, and the Government shall be upon his Shoulder, and his Name shall be called Wonderful, Isa. 9. 6. Wonderful indeed! Wonderful God, Wonderful Man, Wonderful God-Man, and so a Wonderful Jesus and Saviour. He also hath wonderful Love, bore wonderful Sorrows for our wonderful Sins, and obtained for his a wonderful Salvation.

Quest. 3. Thirdly, What was it for Jesus to be of this Man's Seed according to the Promise?

1. This Word [Promise] doth sometimes comprehend all the Promises which God made to our Fathers from the first Promise to the last; and so the Holy Ghost doth call them. The Promise made unto the Fathers, God hath fulfilled the same to us their Children, Acts 13. 32, 33.

2. But the Word Promise here, doth in special intend that which God made to David himself. Men and Brethren, said Peter, let me freely speak unto you of the Patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his Sepulchre is with us unto this Day: Therefore being a Prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an Oath to him, that of the Fruit of his Loins according to the Flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his Throne, he seeing this before, spake of the Resurrection of Christ, &c. Acts 2. 29, 30.

Quest. 4. Fourthly, What was it for Jesus to be raised thus up of God to Israel?

Here we have two Things to consider of:

1. Who Israel is.

2. What it was for Jesus to be raised up unto them.

1. Who Israel is. By Israel sometimes we should understand the whole Stock of Jacob, the Natural Children of his Flesh; for that Name they have of him; for he obtained it when he wrestled with the Angel, and prevailed (Gen. 32.) and it remained with his Seed in their Generations.

By Israel we are to understand all those that God hath promised to Christ. The Children of the Promise are counted for the Seed, the elect Jews and Gentiles. These are called the Israel of God, and the Seed of Abraham, whom Jesus in special regarded in his undertaking the Work of Man's Redemption, Rom. 9. 6. Gal. 6. 16. Heb. 2. 14, 15, 16.

2. What it was for Jesus to be raised up unto them.

This Word raised up, is diversly taken in the Scripture.

1. It is taken for sending, as when he saith, he raised them up Judges, Saviours, and Prophets; he means, he sent them such, (Judges 2. 16, 18. Chap. 3. 9, 15. Amos 2. 11.) and thus he raised up Jesus; that is, he sent him. I came not, saith he, of my self, but he sent me. But the Father which sent me gave me a Commandment, Joel 12.

2. To be raised up intimateth one invested with Power and Authority. Thus he raised up David to be the King of Israel; he anointed him and invested him with kingly Power, 1 Sam. 16. 13. Acts 13. 22. And thus was Jesus Christ raised up: Hence he is called, the Horn of Salvation: He hath raised up for us an Horn of Salvation in the House of his Servant David, Luke 2. 69.

3. To be raised up intimateth quickning and strengthening, to oppose and overcome all Opposition. Thus was Jesus raised up from under Sin, Death, the rage of the World, and Hell, that Day that God raised him out of the Grave.

Thus therefore was Jesus raised up to Israel; that is, he was sent, authorized, and strengthened to, and in the Work of their Salvation, to the compleating of it.

The Words thus opened, do lay before us these two Observations.

First, That in all Ages God gave his People a Promise, and so Ground for a believing Remembrance that he would one Day send 'em a Saviour.

Secondly, That when Jesus was come into the World, then was that Promise of God fulfilled.

To begin with the First, That in all Ages God gave his People a Promise, and so Ground for a believing Remembrance, that he would one Day send them a Saviour.

This Zacharias testifies when he was filled with the Holy Ghost; for speaking of the Messias, or the Saviour, he saith, That God spake of him by the Mouth of all the Prophets which have been since the World began: To which I will add that of Peter; Yea, and all the Prophets from Samuel, and those that follow after, as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these Days, Luke 2. 69, 70. Acts 3. 24.

From these Texts it is evident that in every Generation or Age of the World, God did give his People a Promise, and so Ground for a believing Remembrance, that he would one Day send them a Saviour: For indeed the Promise is not only a Ground for a Remembrance, but for a believing Remembrance: What God saith is sufficient Ground for Faith, because he is Truth, and cannot lye or repent. But that is not all, his Heart was engaged, yea all his Heart, in the Promise which he spoke, of sending us a Saviour.

From this Observation I shall make Enquiry into these three Things.

1. What it is to be a Saviour.

2. How it appears that God in all Ages gave his People a Promise that he would one Day send them a Saviour.

3. That this was Ground for a believing Remembrance that a Saviour should one Day come.

First, What it is to be a Saviour.

This Word Saviour is easy to be understood, it being all one with Deliverer, Redeemer, &c. A Saviour, Jesus; both Words are of the same Signification, and are doubled, perhaps to teach us, that the Person mentioned in the Text, is not called Jesus only to distinguish him from other Men (for Names are given to distinguish) but also, and especially to specify his Office: his Name is Saviour, because it was to be his Work, his Office, his Business in the World. His Name shall be called Jesus, for he shall save his People from their Sins, Matt. 1. 21.

Secondly, This Word Saviour is a Word so large, that it hath Place in all the Undertakings of Christ; for whatever he doth in his Mediation, he doth as a Saviour. He interposeth between God and Man as a Saviour. He engageth against Sin, the Devil, Death, and Hell, as a Saviour, and triumphed over them by himself as a Saviour.

Thirdly, The Word Saviour, as I said, is all one with Redeemer, Deliverer, Reconciler, Peace-maker, or the like; for though there be variation in the Terms, yet Saviour is the intendment of them all. By Redeeming he becomes a Saviour, by Delivering he becomes a Saviour, by Reconciling he becomes a Saviour, and by making Peace he becometh a Saviour: But I pass this now, intending to speak more to the same Question afterwards.

Secondly, how it appears that God in all Ages gave his People a Promise that he would one Day send them a Saviour.

It appears evidently, for so soon as Man had sinned, God came to him with an Heart full of Promise, and continued to renew, and renew, till the Time of the promised Messiah to be revealed, was come.

He promised him under the Name of the Seed of the Woman, after our first Father had sinned: I will put Enmity between thee and the Woman, and between thy Seed and her Seed: it shall break thy Head, and thou shalt bruise his Heel. This the Apostle hath his Eye upon when he saith, When the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son made of a Woman, made under the Law, to redeem them that were under the Law.

2. God renewed this Promise to Abraham, and there tells him Christ should be his Seed; saying, In thy Seed shall all Families of the Earth be blessed. Now saith St. Paul; To Abraham and his Seed was the Promise made: He saith not unto Seeds, as of many, but as of one, and to thy Seed, which is Christ. Gen. 12. 3. Gal. 3. 16.

3. He was promised in the Time of Moses under the Name of a Prophet; I will raise them up (saith God to him) a Prophet of their Brethren like unto thee: This Peter Deut. 18. 18. expounds of Christ, for Moses truly said unto the Fathers; A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your Brethren like unto me, him shall you hear in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you. Acts 3. 22.

4. He promised him to David under the Title of a Son; saying, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son: For this the Apostle 2 Sam. 7. 14. expounded of the Saviour; saying, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee: and again, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son. Heb. 1. 5.

5. He was promised in the Days of Uzziah, Jotham, Abaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Judah.

1. By the Name of a Branch. In that Day shall the Branch of the Lord be beautiful and glorious. Isa. 4. 2.

2. Under the Name of the Son of a Virgin. Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a Sign: Behold a Virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and thou shalt call his Name Emanuel. This Matthew expounds of Christ, Isa. 7. 14. Mat. 1. 22.

3. He was promised under the Name of a Rod. There shall come forth a Rod out of the Stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his Roots, and the Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him. This answereth the Text, David was the Son of Jesse, and Christ the Son of David, Isa. 11. 1, 2.

4. He is promised under the Title of a King. Behold a King shall rule in Righteousness; and a Man shall be for a Hiding-place from the Wind, and a Covert from the Tempest, as Rivers of Waters in a dry Place, as the Shadow of a great Rock in a weary Land. Isa. 32. 1, 2.

5. He was promised under the Name of an Elect Servant. Behold my Servant whom I uphold, mine Elect in whom my Soul delighteth; I have put my Spirit upon him, he shall bring forth Judgment to the Gentiles: He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause his Voice to be heard in the Streets: a bruised Reed shall he not break, and smoking Flax shall he not quench. Isa. 42. 1, 2, 3. Mat. 12. 18.

6. He was promised to Jeremiah under the Name of the Lord our Righteousness. Behold, the Days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper: he shall execute Judgment in the Earth, in his Days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name wherewith he shall Jer. 23. 5, 6.

shall be called, The Lord our Righteousness.

7. He was promised by the Prophet Ezekiel under the Name of David a Shepherd. And I will set one Shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my Servant David, he shall feed them: and he shall be their Shepherd, and I the Lord will be their God, and my Servant David a Prince among them, I the Lord have spoken it.

8. He was promised by the Prophet Daniel under the Name of Messias, or Christ, the most Holy. And after threescore and two Weeks shall the Messiah be cut off, but not for himself.

9. He was promised by the Prophet Micah under the Name of the Ruler of Israel. But thou Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come, that is to be Ruler in Israel.

10. He was promised to Haggai, as the Desire of all Nations. I will shake all Nations, and the Desire of all Nations shall come, and I will fill this House with Glory, saith the Lord of Hosts.

11. He was promised by Zechariah, under the Name of Servant and Branch. For behold I will bring forth my Servant the Branch: and again, Behold the Man whose Name is the Branch, he shall grow up out of his Place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall bear the Glory.

12. He was promised by Malachi, under the Name of the Lord, and the Messenger of the Covenant. Behold, I send my Messenger, and he shall prepare the Way before thee, and the Lord whom ye seek shall suddenly come to his Temple; even the Messenger of the Covenant whom ye delight in, behold he shall come, saith the Lord of Hosts.

Indeed the Scriptures of the Old-Testament are filled with Promises of the Messias to come, Prophetical Promises, Typical Promises: For all the Types and Shadows of the Saviour, are virtually so many Promises. Having therefore touched upon the Prophetical, I will briefly touch the Typical Promises also; for as God spake at sundry times to the Fathers, so also in divers Manners, Prophetically, Providentially, Typically, and all of the Messias, Heb. 1. 1.

The Types of the Saviour were various.

1. Sometimes he was Typed out by Men.

2. Sometimes by Beasts.

3. Sometimes by insensible Creatures.

First, He was Typed forth sometimes by Men.

1. Adam was his Type in many things, especially as he was the Head and Father of the first World. He was the Figure of him that was to come.

2. Moses was his Type as Mediator, and as Builder of the Tabernacle, Heb. 3. 2, 3.

3. Aaron was his Type as he was High-Priest, and so was Melchisedec before him. Heb. 5. 4, 5. chap. 7. 1. 21.

4. Sampson was his Type in the Effects of his Death: for as Sampson gave his Life for the Deliverance of Israel from the Philistines, Christ gave his Life to deliver us from Sin and Devils.

5. Joshua was his Type in giving the Land of Canaan to Israel, as Jesus will give the Kingdom of Heaven to the Elect, Heb. 4. 8.

6. David was his Type in many things, especially in his subduing of Israels Enemies, and feeding them; hence he is sometimes called David their King, and David their Shepherd, Ezek. 34. 23, 24.

7. Solomon was his Type in his building the Temple, and in his peaceable Kingdom. Hence it is said, he shall build the Temple of the Lord; and again, Of his Government and Peace there shall be no end.

Beasts were his Types. To instance some:

First, The Paschal-Lamb was his Type, Exod. 12.

1. In its Spotlessness. Christ was a Lamb without Blemish and without Spot, 1 Pet. 1. 18, 19.

2. In its being Roasted. It was a Figure of the cursed Death of Christ, (for to be roasted bespoke one accursed, Jer. 29. 22.) Gal. 3. 13.

3. In that it was to be eaten. He that eateth my Flesh, and drinketh my Blood, saith Christ, hath eternal Life. John 5. 57.

4. In that its Blood was to be sprinkled upon the Doors of their Houses, for the destroying Angel to look on: The Blood of Christ is sprinkled upon the Elect for the Justice of God to look on, Heb. 9. 1. Pet. 1. 1, 2.

5. By eating the Paschal Lamb, the People went out of Egypt: by feeding upon Christ by Faith, we come from under the Egyptian Darknefs, Tyranny of Satan, &c.

Secondly, The Red Cow was his Type; Numb. 19. 2, &c.

1. In that she was to be without Blemish.

2. In that she was to be slain without the Camp. Jesus also that he might sanctifie the People with his own Blood, suffered without the Gate. Heb. 13. 12.

3. In that her Flesh was to be burnt, a Type of the grievous Death of Christ.

4. Her Ashes was to be carried into a clean Place without the Camp; a Type of the clean Sepulchre, where the Body of Jesus was laid, John 19. 38, 39, 40, 41.

There was also divers other Sacrifices, as Bulls, Goats, and Birds; which were Types of him, which I here omit.

Thirdly, Insensible Creatures were his Types.

As

As first, The Manna in the Wildernews, (Ex. 16.) and that,

1. As it came down from Heaven; for so did Christ, I came down from Heaven, Joh. 6. 51. faith he, and again, I am the living Bread which came down from Heaven.

2. The Manna was to be eaten, so is Christ by Faith. If any Man eat of this Bread, he shall live for ever, and the Bread that I will give is my Flesh, which I will give for the Life of the World. Joh. 6. 51.

3. The Manna was to be gathered daily, so is Christ to be daily eaten.

4. The Manna was all the Bread that Israel had in the Wildernews: Christ is all the Bread that Believers have in this Life for their Souls.

5. The Manna came not by Moses Law, neither comes Christ by our Merits. Moses gave you not that Bread from Heaven, but my Father giveth you the true Bread from Heaven. Joh. 6. 32.

Again, the Rock that gave them out Water for their Thirst, was a Type of him, (Numb. 20.) They did all drink of the same spiritual Drink, for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Christ. 1 Cor. 10.

This Rock was his Type in four things.

1. It gave Drink to the People in the Wildernews when they were come out of Egypt. Christ gives Drink to them that forsake the World for him.

2. The Rock yielded Water by being smitten by Moses's Rod: Christ giveth Drink, even his Blood, by being stricken by Moses's Law, Numb. 20. 11. Isa. 53.

3. The Water out of this Rock was given to the thirsty. I will give to him that is a-thirst, saith Christ, of the Fountain of the Water of Life freely. Rev. 21. 6.

4. The Water of the Rock in the Wildernews ran after the People, They drank of that Rock that followed them, he opened the Rock, and the Waters gushed out, they ran in dry Places like a River. Christ also is said by that Type to follow us: They drank of that Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Christ. Psal. 105. 41. 1 Cor. 10. 4.

Again, the Mount Moriah was his Type.

1. That Mount stood in Jerusalem; Christ also stands in his Church.

2. Upon that Rock was built the Temple. And upon this Rock, saith Christ, will I build my Church, and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it. 2 Chron. 3. 1. Mat. 16. 18.

Other things might be urged, but these being virtually of the Force of the Promise, and also as a Key to open them, therefore I thought good to place them here with the Promises; because, as they are standing with them, so they are written to beget Faith in the same Lord Jesus Christ.

I come now to the third thing, to wit, That these Promises were Ground for a believing Remembrance that a Saviour should one Day come.

There is a Remembering, and a Believing Remembering, or such a Remembering that begetteth, and maintaineth Faith in the Heart. Jacob had a Believing Remembrance, when he said, I have waited for thy Salvation, O Lord. And so had David when he cried, O that the Salvation of Israel was come out of Zion. These with Simeon and Anna, had not Remembrance only, but a Believing Remembrance, that God would send them a Saviour. They had the Promise not in the Book only, but in their Hearts: This Gospel was mixed in them with Faith; therefore they with their Fellows remembered and believed, or made the Promise the Ground of their believing that God would one Day send them a Saviour. Gen. 49. 18. Psal. 53. 6.

Let me make some Use of this Doctrine.

Here we may see how much the Heart of God was set upon the Salvation of Sinners, he studied it, contrived it, set his Heart on it, and promised, and promised, and promised to compleat it, by sending one Day his Son for a Saviour, Eph. 1. 3. 2 Sam. 14. 14. Tit. 1. 2.

No marvel therefore, if when he treateth of the New-Covenant, in which the Lord Jesus is wrapped, and presented in a Word of Promise to the World, that he saith, I will do it assuredly with my whole Heart, and with my whole Soul. Jer. 32. 41.

Now this is of singular Comfort to sensible Sinners; yea, what greater Ground of Consolation to such, than to hear that the God against whom they have sinned, should himself take care to provide us a Saviour.

There are some poor Sinners in the World, that have given such Way to Discouragement, from the Sense of the greatness of their Sins, that they dare not think upon God, nor the Sins which they have committed: But the Reason is, because they are ignorant that God's Heart was wrapt up in this good Work of providing and sending a Saviour. Let such hearken now to the Call of God: Return unto me, for I have redeemed thee, Isa. 44. 22. Ho! turn again, hearken; the Heart of God is much set upon Mercy, from the beginning of the World he resolved and promised, ay, and sware we should have a Saviour.

2 Doct. I now proceed to the second Observation.

That when Jesus was come into the World, then was the Promise of God fulfilled; namely, That he would one Day send us a Saviour.

Take three Texts for the Confirmation of this Point.

1. This is of a Truth that Prophet that should come into the World.

These Words were spoken of them that were present at that Miracle of Jesus, when he fed Five Thousand with Five Barley Loaves, which a Lad had about him in the Company:

Company: For theſe Men, when they had ſeen the Marvel, being amazed at it, made Confeſſion of him to be the Saviour, John 6.

2. Lord, I believe thou art the Chriſt the Son of God, which ſhould come into the World, John 9. 27.

3. This is a faithful Saying, and worthy of all Acceptation, that Chriſt Jeſus came into the World to ſave Sinners, 1 Tim. 1. 15.

For the explaining of this Obſervation, I will briefly handle three Queſtions.

1. How this Jeſus is to be diſtinguiſhed from others of that Name.

2. What it was for this Jeſus to come into the World.

3. What it was for him to come to be a Saviour.

Queſt. 1. For the Firſt, The Jeſus in the Text, is diſtinguiſhed from all others of that Name.

1. By the Manner of his Birth, he was born of a Virgin, a Virgin eſpouſed to a Man whoſe Name was Joſeph; but he knew her not till ſhe had brought forth her Firſt-born Son, and he called his Name Jeſus, Matt. 1. 25.

2. He is diſtinguiſhed from others of that Name, by the Place of his Birth; to wit, Bethlehem the City of David, there he muſt be born, there he was born, John 7. 42. Matt. 2. 4, 5, 6.

3. He is diſtinguiſhed by his Linage, He came of the Houſe, and Linage of David, Luke 2. 4, 5, 6.

4. He is diſtinguiſhed by the Time of his Birth, to wit, The Time of the Prophets prefixed, Gal. 4. 4.

5. But his common Diſtinction is, Jeſus of Nazareth; by his Name he is diſtinguiſhed one and twenty Times in the New Teſtament.

1. His Enemies called him Jeſus of Nazareth, Mat. 26. 71. Mark 14. 67. John 18. 5.

2. His Diſciples called him Jeſus of Nazareth, Mat. 21. 11. Luke 24. 19. John 1. 45. Acts 2. 22.

3. The Angels called him Jeſus of Nazareth, Mark 16. 6.

4. And he calleth himſelf Jeſus of Nazareth, Acts 22. 8.

5. Yea, and he goeth alſo by the Name of Jeſus of Nazareth among the Devils, Mar. 1. 24. Luke 4. 34.

He was called Jeſus of Nazareth, becauſe he dwelt there with his Mother Mary and her Husband. Nazareth was his City where he had been brought up, whither for Shelter Joſeph carried him when he came up out of Egypt with him: in Nazareth was his common Abode, until the Time that John was caſt into Priſon, Luke 4. 16. Mat. 2. 23. Ch. 4. 12, 13. Wherefore he might well ſay, I am Jeſus of Nazareth: Yea, though he was now in Heaven; for Heaven ſhall not make us forget what Country-men we were when we lived in the World.

Jeſus you ſee here, though glorified in Heaven, yet forgets not what Country-man he was when he dwelt in the World. I am Jeſus of Nazareth, ſaith he, I am the Jeſus that thou perſecuteſt; and that thou mayeſt know I am he, I tell thee I dwelt once in the City of Nazareth in Galilee: Joſeph and my Mother Mary brought me up there, and there I dwelt with them many Years. I am Jeſus of Nazareth whom thou perſecuteſt.

Queſt. 2. Secondly, What was it for Jeſus to come into the World?

Anſw. 1. Not his coming in, or by his Spirit in his People; for ſo he was never out of the World.

2. Neither is it his Appearance in his Ordinances.

3. Nor that coming of his by which he deſtroyeth Antichriſt.

4. Nor his appearing in his dreadful Providences or Judgments.

But by the coming of Jeſus, according to the Text, we are to underſtand that, or ſuch a Coming, whereby he was mani- feſt to be God-Man in one Perſon, God in our Fleſh without us, or diſtinct in his own Perſon by himſelf; ſuch a Coming by which he was maniſteſt to be in all Points like as Men are, Sin only excepted. Such a Coming, wherein, or by which, the Son of God became alſo the Son of Man.

For the further clearing of this, you find it expreſſly ſaid, he was born into the World; Mary, of whom was born Jeſus. Now when Jeſus was born, it's ſaid, where is he that is born King of the Jews? Herod demanded of them where Chriſt ſhould be born, Matt. 1. 16. Chap. 2. 1, 2, 4. Luke 1. 35. Chap. 2. 11.

Now that this was fulfilled according to the very Word of the Text, without any Juggle, Eviſion, or cunningly deviſed Fable, conſider,

1. He is called the Firſt-born of this Woman, The Male Child that opened her Womb, Luke 2. 7, 23.

2. He was not born till nourished in her Womb the full Time according to the Time of Life. And ſo it was that while they were at Bethlehem, the Days were accompliſhed that ſhe ſhould be delivered, and ſhe brought forth her Firſt-born Son, and wrapt him in ſwadling Clothes, and laid him in a Manger, Luke 24. 5, 6, 7.

3. She alſo continued in her Separation at the Birth of Jeſus, as other Women at the Birth of their Children, until the Days of her Purification according to the Law of Moses were accompliſhed, Luke 2. 22.

4. Himſelf alſo, as other Hebrew Children, was brought to Jeruſalem to preſent him unto the Lord, As it is written in the Law of Moses, every Male that openeth the Womb ſhall be called Holy unto the Lord, Luke 2. 23, 24.

5. Thus Jeſus alſo as other Hebrew Children, dren, when the set Day was come, was Circumcised. And when eight Days were accomplished for the Circumcising of the Child, his Name was called Jesus, which was so named of the Angel before he was conceived in the Womb, Luke 2. 21.

6. After this, he is often called the young Child, the Child Jesus; and farther it is said of him, that he grew, that he encreased in Wisdom and Stature, Mat. 2. 20, 21. Luke 2. 40, 52.

Behold, with what Diligence, even to a Circumstance, the Holy Ghost sets forth the Birth of the Lord Jesus, and all to convince the incredulous World, of the true Manner of the coming of the Saviour into the World.

Secondly, The Reality of the Manhood of this Lord Jesus, is yet further manifest, and that,

First, By those natural Infirmities that attend humane Flesh.

Secondly, By the Names the Prophets gave him in the Days of the Old Testament and the New.

First by those natural Infirmities that attend humane Flesh.

As 1. At his Birth he could not go, but as carried by his Parents.

2. He was sensible of Hunger, Luke 4. 2.

3. He was sensible of Thirst, John 19. 28.

4. He was sensible of Weariness, John 4. 6.

5. He was nourished by Sleep, Mark 4. 34.

6. He was subject to Grief, Mark 3. 5.

7. He was subject to Anger, Mark 3. 5.

8. He was subject to weep, John 11. 35. Luke 19. 41.

9. He had Joy as a Man and rejoiced, Matt. 11. 27. Luke 10. 21.

These Things, I say, Jesus was subject to as a Man, as the Son of the Virgin.

Secondly, The Reality of his Manhood is yet made manifest by the Names the Prophets gave him, both in the Old Testament and in the New.

As 1. He is called the Seed. The Seed of the Woman, the Seed of Abraham, the Seed of David, by which is meant he was to come of their Children. Gen. 3. 15. Ch. 12 and 22. Gal. 3. 16, 17. Rom. 1. 4.

2. Therefore it is added (where Mention is made of the Fathers) of whom as concerning the Flesh Christ came. He was made of the Seed of David according to the Flesh: And hence again, he calleth himself the Off-spring of David; therefore, I say, he is said to be of their Flesh, their Loins, and is called their Son, Rom. 1. 4. Chap. 9. 5. Acts 2. 30. Rev. 22. 16.

3. He therefore is frequently called a Man, and the Son of Man. Then shall you see the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven. When the Son of Man shall come in his Glory, and all the holy Angels with him. This Man, because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable Priesthood. It is therefore necessary that this Man have somewhat also to offer, Matt. 26. 63. Ch. 25. 30, 31. Heb. 7. 24. Ch. 8. 3. Ch. 10. 12.

4. What shall I say, Himself gave undeniable Demonstration of all this, when he said, he was dead; when he called to Thomas to put his Finger to, and behold his Hands, to reach to him his Hand and thrust it into his Side, and bid him he should not be faithless but believing. At another Time when he stood in the midst of the Eleven, as they were troubled with the Thoughts of Unbelief, he said, Behold my Hands and my Feet, that it is I my self, handle me, and see; for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, as ye see me have, John 20. 27. Luke 24. 39.

Thus have I shewed you what it was for Jesus to come into the World; namely, To be born of a Woman, to take Flesh, and to become God-man in one Person.

I come now to the third Question; but before I speak particularly to that, I will produce further Testimony that we find upon Record concerning the Truth of all this.

Particular Testimonies that this Coming of JESUS is his Coming to save us.

1. Simeon the Just gives Testimony of him. And the Holy Ghost was upon him, and it was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see Death, before he had seen the Lord's Christ. And he came by the Spirit into the Temple, and when the Parents brought in the Child Jesus to do for him after the Custom of the Law, then took he him up in his Arms, and blessed God, and said, Lord now lettest thou thy Servant depart in Peace, for mine Eyes have seen thy Salvation, Luke 2. 25, 26, 27, 32.

The Testimony of Anna.

2. Anna a Prophetess, one of a great Age which departed not from the Temple, but served God with Fasting and Prayer Night and Day: And she coming in at the same Instant, gave Thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for Redemption in Jerusalem, Luke 2. 26, 27, 28.

The Testimony of John Baptist.

3. John Baptist as he fulfilled his Ministry, he cried concerning this Jesus, Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the Sins of the World. And he, saith John, that sent me to baptize with Water, the same said unto me, upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit descending and abiding, or remaining, the same is he which shall baptize with the Holy Ghost. And I saw and bare Record, that this is the Son of God, John 1. 29, to 35.

The Testimony of the Star and wise Men.

4. The Star that appeared at his Birth in the the East, and that coasted through the Heavens, till it came over the Place where the young Child Jesus was, that Star gave Testimony that he was the Saviour. This Star alarmed many, especially the Wise Men of the East, who were brought by it from afar to worship him. And lo, the Star which they saw in the East, went before them till it came and stood over where the young Child was. And when they saw the Star they rejoiced with exceeding great Joy. And when they were come into the House, they saw the young Child with Mary his Mother, and fell down and worshipped him; and when they had opened their Treasures, they presented unto him Gifts, Gold, and Frankincense, and Myrrh.

The Testimony of the Angels.

1. To Mary herself.

Luke 26. 35. And in the sixth Month the Angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a City of Galilee named Nazareth, to a Virgin espoused to a Man whose Name was Joseph, and the Virgin's Name was Mary; and the Angel came in unto her, and said, Hail, thou that art highly favoured. And the Angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary, for thou hast found Favour with God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy Womb, and bring forth a Son, and shalt call his Name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest. And the Lord God shall give unto him the Throne of his Father David, and he shall reign over the House of Jacob for ever, and of his Kingdom there shall be no end.

2. The Angel's Testimony to the Shepherds, as they were feeding their Flocks in the Fields by Night.

Luke 2. 8, 9, 10, 11. And lo, the Angel of the Lord came upon them, and the Glory of the Lord shined round about them, and they were sore afraid; and the Angel said unto them, Fear not, for behold, I bring you good Tidings of great Joy which shall be to all People; for unto you is born this Day in the City of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

3. How the Angels solemnized his Birth among themselves.

Ver. 13. 14. And suddenly there was with the Angel a Multitude of the heavenly Host, praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace, Good-will towards Men.

The Testimony of God the Father.

1. When he was baptized.

Mat. 3. 16, 17. And Jesus when he was baptized went up straightway out of the Water; and lo, the Heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a Dove, and lighting upon him; and lo, a Voice from Heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased.

3. The Father's Testimony concerning the Transfiguration.

Luke 9. 28, to 36. And he took Peter, and James, and John, and went up into a Mountain to pray: and as he prayed, the Fashion of his Countenance was altered, and his Raiment was white and Glittering, &c. And there appeared Moses and Elias talking with him, and a Cloud from Heaven overshadowed them; at which the three Disciples began to be afraid. Then there came a Voice out of the Cloud saying, This is my beloved Son, hear him.

This is that Testimony of God which Peter speaks of, saying, 2 Pet. 1. 16, 17, 18. We have not followed cunningly devised Fables, when we made known unto you the Power and Coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eye-witnesses of his Majesty; for he received from God the Father Honour and Glory when there came such a Voice to him from the excellent Glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased: And this Voice which came from Heaven we heard, when we were with him in the Holy Mount.

3. God gave Testimony of him by Signs, and Wonders.

Joh. 14. 10. Heb. 2. 4. Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me. The Words that I speak unto you, I speak not of myself, but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doth the Works; God also bearing them witness (that preached Salvation by Jesus) both with Signs and Wonders, and with divers Miracles and Gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own Will.

Concerning JESUS, how he put himself upon the Test among his Adversaries.

THE Lord Jesus also putteth himself upon the Test among his Adversaries divers ways. First, he urgeth the time of the appearing of the Messias to be come.

Mark 1. 15. The time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at Hand; repent ye and believe the Gospel.

For this he had a three-fold Proof.

1. The Heathens had invaded and taken the Land, according to that of Daniel, Dan. 9. 25. 26. 2. The Scepter was departed from Judah, according to that of Jacob, (Gen. 49. 10.) to which also suited that Prophecy: Before the Child shall know to refuse the evil and chuse the good, the Land which thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her Kings. 3. The Roman Emperor had not only subdued the Nation, and put down the Kingly Race of the Jews; but had set up and established his own Power over them. In the Fifteenth year of the Reign of Tiberius Cæsar, Pontius Pilate was Governour of Judæa. Herod was Tetrarch of Galilee, Philip Tetrarch of Iturea, and Lysanias Tetrarch of Abilene, all Heathens, and of Tiberius his making.

Besides, The Kingly Race of Judah was at this time become so low by reason of the Roman oppression, that the chief of them were put to get their living by their own Hands, even Joseph, the supposed Father of of Jesus, was then become a Carpenter: Poor Man! when Jesus was born, he was fain to thrust into a Stable, for there was in the Inn no room for such Guests as they. The Offering also which was brought unto God at the Time when Jesus was presented unto the Lord, was two Turtle Doves, or two Young Pigeons; a Sacrifice allowed only for them that were poor, and could provide no Bigger.

Levit. 12. 8. And if she be not able to bring a Lamb, then she shall bring two Turtle Doves or two Young Pigeons, the one for a Burnt Offering, the other for a Sin-offering: Besides, Jesus himself saith, Foxes have Holes, and the Birds of the Air have Nests, but the Son of Man hath not whereon to lay his Head.

Now, I say, all these things were so apparent to the Jews, that they could not object; they felt the Romans were come, they knew the Scepter was gone, they smarted under the Roman Tyranny, and knew the Kingly Race of Judea was overthrown: How then could they object, that the time was not come for Christ to be born?

Luke 3. 15. Further, The People was generally convinced, that the time was come, and therefore, saith the Text, They were in expectation, and all Men mused in their Hearts of John, whether he was the Christ or not: The unbiassed People observing the Face of things, could do no other but look for the Messias. And hence it is, that the Lord Jesus gives the Pharisees, those Mortal Enemies of his, such sore rebukes; saying, O ye Hypocrites, ye can discern the Face of the Sky, but can you not discern the Signs of the Times? The Kingdom is lost, the Heathens are come, and the Scepter is departed from Judah. Ye Hypocrites, ye can discern the Face of the Sky, and of the Earth, but how is it that ye do not discern the Time?

Mat. 16. 3. Luke 12. 56. Secondly, He yet again puts himself upon the Test, by the Miracles which he wrought before them.

Believe me that I am in the Father and the John. 14. 11. Father in me, or else believe me for the very Works sake.

John. 5. 36. For the Works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same Works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.

John 11. 47, 48. This Proof they could not withstand, but granted that he did many Miracles while they did nothing. Then gathered the Chief Priests and Pharisees a Counsel, and said, what do we? for this Man doth many Miracles: if we let him alone, all Men will believe on him, and the Romans shall come and take away both our Place and Nation.

Yea so did Jesus confound them, that by their own Records and Laws by which they were to prove Persons clean or unclean; they in reading their Lectures, did justify him and overthrow themselves.

For instance, it was written in their Law; If he that hath an Issue spit upon him that is clean, that Spittle should make him unclean, (Levit. 15. 8.) Now Jesus whom they counted most unclean, because he said he was the Son of God (as they thought speaking Blasphemy) he spits upon People, and makes them whole: he spat and made clay with the spittle, and with that clay made a blind Man see, John 9. 6. Also he spit on the Eyes of another and made him see, Mar. 8. 23, 24, 25. Again he spit, and with his spittle touched the Tongue of one that was Dumb, and made him speak immediately, Mar. 7. 33, 34, 35. Thus he proved himself clear of their Accusations, and maintained before them, that by their Law he was Guiltless, and the Son of God; for the Miracles which he wrought were to prove him so to be.

Again, in their Law it was written, that who so touched the Altar of Incense should be Holy, (Exod. 29. 37.) A Woman with a Bloody Issue touched him, and is whole of her plague. Yea, they brought to him many diseased Persons; and besought him ^{Mark 5. 28.} that they might only touch the Hem of his ^{Mat. 14. 35, 36.} Garment; and as many as touched, were made perfectly whole.

Thus was he justified before them out of their own Law, and had his Glory manifest before their Faces, to their everlasting Confusion and Contempt.

Indeed, the Jews did make one Objection against Jesus Christ, that seemed to them to have weight in it; and that was because he first began to appear and manifested his Glory in Cana of Galilee. At this I say, they stumbled, it was their sore Temptation; for still as some affirmed him to be the Christ, others as fast objected, shall Christ come out of Galilee? art thou also of Galilee? search and look, for out of Galilee ^{John 2. 1, 11.} ariseth no Prophet. ^{Ch. 7. 40, 41, 42.}

But this their stumble might arise either,

1. From the Cruelty of Herod: Or, 2. From their own not observing, and keeping in Mind the Alarum that God gave them at his Birth.

1. It might arise or be occasioned through the Cruelty of Herod; for Jesus was born in Bethlehem the City where David dwelt: But when Herod sent out to kill him, and for his sake killed all the young Children in Bethlehem; then was Joseph warned by an Angel of God, to take the young Child and his Mother and fly into Egypt, and so he did, and was there till the Death of Herod, Mat. 2. 1, 13, 16, 19, 20. After this the Angel comes to them in Egypt, and bids them take the young Child and return into the Land of Israel; wherefore they arose and went: but hearing that Herod's Son that Tyrant ruled in the Room of his Father, they were afraid to go to Bethlehem, but turned aside into the Parts of of Galilee, where they remained till the Time of his shewing to Israel.

2. This stumble of theirs might arise from their not observing and keeping in Mind the Alarum that God gave them of his Birth. 1. God began to give them the Alarum at the Birth of John the Baptist, where was asserted that he was to go before the Face of the Lord Jesus, and to prepare his Ways. And fear came upon all that dwelt round about them, and all these sayings were noised abroad throughout all the Hill-Countries of Judea. 2. Again, What a Continuation of this Alarum was there also at the Birth of Jesus, which was about three Months after John Baptist was born? Now comes a strange Star over the Country to lead the Men of the East to the Stable where Jesus was born; now was Herod, the Priests, the Scribes, and also the City of Jerusalem awakened and sore troubled: for it was noised by the Wise-Men, that Christ the King and Saviour was born. Besides the Shepherds, Simeon and Anna, gave notice of him to the People; they should therefore have retained the Memory of these things, and have followed God in all his dark Providences, until his Son of Righteousness should arise among them with healing under his Wings. 3. I may add another cause of their stumble. They did not understand the Prophecies that went before of him.

1. He was to come to them out of Egypt. Out of Egypt have I called my Son.

2. He turned aside into Cana of Galilee, and dwelt in the City of Nazareth; That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, he shall be called a Nazaren. 3. That saying also was to be fulfilled, The Land of Zebulon, and the Land of Nephthali, by the way of the sea beyond Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles, the People that sat in Darknefs saw a great Light, and to them that sat in the Region and Shadow of Death, Light is sprung up.

At these Things then they stumbled, and 'twas a great Judgment of God upon them.

Besides, there seemed to be a Contradiction in the Prophecies of the Scriptures concerning his coming. He was to be born in Bethlehem, and yet to come out of Egypt: How should he be the Christ, and yet come out of Galilee, out of which ariseth no Prophet? Thus they stumbled.

Hence note, That tho' the Prophecies and Promises be full and plain as these were, that he should be born in Bethlehem; yet Mens Sins may cause them to be fulfilled in such Obscurity, that instead of having Benefit thereby, they may stumble and split their Souls thereat.

Take heed then, hunt not Christ from plain Promises with Herod, hunt him not from Bethlehem, least he appear to your Amazement and Destruction from Egypt, or in the Land of Zebulon. But thus much to the second Question, to wit, What it was for Jesus to come into the World?

I come now to the third Question.

Quest. 3. What it was for him to come to be a Saviour?

For the further handling of this Question I must shew:

1. What it is to be a Saviour. 2. What it is to come to be a Saviour. 3. What it is for Jesus to come to be a Saviour?

To these Three briefly.

First, What it is to be a Saviour. 1. A Saviour supposeth some in Misery, and himself one that is to deliver them. 2. A Saviour is either such an one ministerially, or meritoriously.

Ministerially, is when one Person engageth, or is engaged by virtue of respect or command from Superiors, to go and obtain by Conquest or the King's Redemption, the Captives or Persons grieved by the Tyranny of an Enemy. And thus were Moses and Joshua, and the Judges and Kings of Israel, Saviours. Thou deliveredst them into the Hand of their Enemies who vexed them, and in the time of their Trouble when they cried unto thee, thou heardest them from Heaven; and according to thy manifold Mercies thou gavest them Saviours, who saved them out of the Hand of their Enemies. Thus was Jesus Christ a Saviour, he was engaged by virtue of respect and command from God, to obtain by conquest and redemption, the Captives or Persons grieved; God sent his Son to be the Saviour of the World.

Meritoriously, is when the Person engaging, shall at his own proper cost and charge, give a sufficient value or price for those he redeemeth.

Thus those under the Law were redeemed by the Money called the Redemption-Money. And Moses gave the Money of those that were redeemed unto Aaron and to his Sons.

And thus was Jesus Christ a Saviour; he paid a full Price to Divine Justice for Sinners, even his own precious Blood. Forasmuch as you know that you were not redeemed from your vain Conversation, received by Tradition from your Fathers with corruptible things, as silver and gold, but with the precious Blood of Christ.

And forasmuch as in Man's Redemption, the Undertaker must have Respect, not only to the paying of a Price, but also to the getting of a Victory; for there is not only Justice to satisfy, but Death, Devil, Hell, and the Grave to conquer: therefore hath he also by himself gotten Victory over these.

1. He hath abolished Death, 2 Tim. 1. 10. 2. He hath destroyed the Devil, Heb. 2. 14, 15. 3. He hath been the Destruction of the Grave, Hos. 13. 14. 4. He hath gotten the Keys of Hell, Rev. 1. 17, 18, 19.

And this I say, he did by himself at his own proper cost and charge, when he triumphed over them upon his Cross, Col. 2. 14, 15.

Quest. 2. Secondly, What it is to come to be a Saviour?

1. To come to be one, supposeth one ordained, and fore-prepared for that Work. Then said he, lo I come, a Body hast thou prepared me.

To come to be a Saviour, supposeth one commissioned, or authorized to that Work. The spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me (authorized me) to preach the gospel to the poor: he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, and to set at liberty them that are bruised.

And upon this Account it is, that he is so often called CHRIST, or the Anointed one; the Anointed Jesus, or Jesus the Anointed Saviour. Thou art the Christ the Son of God, that should come into the world. This Jesus whom I preach unto you is Christ: He testified to the Jews, that Jesus was Christ, and he confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damascus, proving by the scriptures that this is the very Christ: The very anointed of God, or he whom God authorized and qualified to be the Saviour of the World.

3. To come to be a Saviour, supposeth a Resolution to do that Work before he goeth back. I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O Death I will be thy plague, O Grave I will be thy destruction, Repentance shall be hid from mine eyes.

And as he resolved, so he hath done.

1. He hath purged our Sins, Heb. 1. 2. 2. He hath perfected for ever (by one Offering) them that are sanctified, Heb. 10. 14. 3. He hath obtained eternal Redemption for them, Heb. 9. 12. See further, 2 Tim. 1. 10. Heb. 9. 26. Col. 2. 15. Heb. 6. 18, 19, 20.

Quest. 3. I come now to the third Question.

What it is for Jesus to come to be a Saviour?

1. Ans. It is the greatest Discovery of Man's Misery and Inability to save himself therefrom, that ever was made in the World. Must the Son of God himself come down from Heaven? Or can there be no Salvation? Cannot one Sinner save another? Cannot Man by any means redeem his Brother, nor give to God a Ransom for him? Cannot an Angel do it? Cannot all the Angels do it? No, Christ must come and die to do it.

2dly, It is the greatest Discovery of the Love of God, that ever the World had. For God SO to love the World, as to send his Son! For God SO to commend his Love to the World, as to send it to them in the Blood of his Son! Amazing Love!

John 3. 16. Rom. 5. 8.

3dly, It is the greatest Discovery of the Condescension of Christ that ever the World had.

1. That he should not come to be ministered unto, but to minister; and to give his Life a Ransom for many, Matt. 20. 28. 2. That he should be manifest for this purpose, that he might destroy the Works of the Devil. 3. That he should come that we might have Life, and that we might have it more abundantly. 4. That the Son of God should come to seek and to save that which was lost. 5. That he should not come to judge the World, but to save the World. 6. That Christ Jesus should come into the World to save Sinners, of whom I am chief. 7. That he should love us and wash us from our Sins in his own Blood. What amazing Condescension and Humility is this!

How JESUS CHRIST addressed himself to the Work of our Redemption.

I Come then in the next place to shew you HOW Jesus Christ addressed himself to the Work of Man's Redemption.

The Scripture saith, he became poor: That he made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, that he humbled himself unto death, even the death of the cross. But particularly,

1. He took upon him our Flesh. 2. He was made under the Law. 3. He took upon him our Sins. 4. He bore the Curse due to our Sins.

First, He took upon him our Flesh. I shewed you before that he came in our Flesh, and now I must shew you the Reason of it: namely, Because, That was the way to address himself to the Work of our Redemption.

Wherefore, when the Apostle treated of the Incarnation of Christ, he addeth withal the Reason, to wit, That he might be capable to work out the Redemption of Men.

There are three things to be considered in this first Head.

1. That he took our Flesh for this reason, That he might be a Saviour. 2. How he took the Flesh, that he might be our Saviour. 3. That it was necessary that he should take our Flesh, if indeed he will be our Saviour.

For the First, That he took our Flesh for this reason, That he might be a Saviour: For what the Law could not do in that it was weak through the Flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful Flesh, and for Sin condemned Sin in the Flesh.

The Sum of the Words is, forasmuch as the Law could do us no good, by Reason of the Inability that is in our Flesh to do it (for the Law can do us no good until it be fulfilled) and because God had a Desire that good should come to us, therefore did did he send his Son in our likeness, clothed with Flesh, to destroy by his doing the Law, the tendency of the Sin that dwells in our Flesh. He therefore took our Flesh, that our Sin, with its Effects, might by him be condemned and overcome.

The Reason therefore why he took Flesh, is, Because he would be our Saviour.

Heb. 2.
14, 15.

Forasmuch then as the Children are Partakers of Flesh and Blood, he also likewise took Part of the same, that through Death he might destroy him that had the Power of Death, that is the Devil, and deliver them, who through the fear of Death were all their Life-time subject to Bondage.

In these Words it is asserted, that he took our Flesh for certain Reasons.

1. Because the Children, the Heirs of Heaven, are Partakers of Flesh and Blood. Forasmuch then as the Children are Partakers of Flesh and Blood, he also himself took Part of the same. Had the Children, the Heirs, been without Flesh, he himself had not taken it upon him: Had the Children been Angels, he had taken upon him the Nature of Angels; but because the Children were Partakers of Flesh, therefore leaving Angels, or refusing to take hold of Angels, he took Flesh and Blood, the Nature of the Children; that he might put himself into a Capacity to save and deliver the Children. Therefore it follows, That through Death he might destroy him that had the Power of Death that is the Devil.

This therefore was another Reason, that he might destroy the Devil.

The Devil had bent himself against the Children; he is their Adversary, and goeth forth to make War with them. The Devil your Adversary: And he went to make War with the Remnant of her Seed, 1 Pet. 5. 8. Rev. 12. Now the Children could not destroy him, because he had already cast them into Sin; defiled their Nature, and laid them under the Wrath of God. Therefore Christ puts himself among the Children, and into the Nature of the Children; that he might by Means of his dying in their Flesh, destroy the Devil; that is, take away Sin, his Work, that he might destroy the Works of the Devil; for Sin is the great Engine of Hell, by which he overthroweth all that perish: Now this did Christ destroy, by taking on him the Similitude of sinful Flesh; of which more anon.

That he might destroy him that had the Power of Death, that is the Devil, and deliver them. This was the Thing in chief intended, that he might deliver the Children, that he might deliver them from Death, the Fruit of their Sin, and from Sin, the Sting of that Death. That he might deliver them, who through the fear of Death, were all their Life-time subject to Bondage.

He took Flesh therefore, because the Children had it; and that he might die for the Children and deliver them from the Works of the Devil; that he might deliver them. No Deliverance had come to the Children, if the Son of God had not taken their Flesh and Blood. Therefore he took our Flesh, that he might be our Saviour.

Again in a Saviour there must be not only Merit, but Compassion and Sympathy; because the Children who are to live by Faith, are not yet come to the Inheritance. It behoved him therefore in all Things to be made like unto his Brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful High-Priest in Things pertaining to God, to make Reconciliation for the Sins of the People, Heb. 2. 17, 18.

Two Reasons are rendered in this Text, why he must take Flesh; namely, that he might be their Priest, to offer Sacrifice, to wit, his Body and Blood for them; and that he might be merciful and faithful, to pity and preserve them unto the Kingdom appointed for them.

Mark you therefore, how the Apostle, when he asserteth that the Lord Jesus took our Flesh, urgeth the Reason why he took our Flesh. That he might destroy the Devil and Death, That he might deliver them. It behoved him to be made like unto his Brethren, that he might be merciful and faithful, That he might make Reconciliation for the Sins of the People. The Reason therefore why he took our Flesh is declared, to wit, That he might be our Saviour. And hence you find it so often recorded; He hath slain the Enmity by his Flesh; and you who were sometimes Aliens and Enemies in your Minds by wicked Works: Yet now hath he reconciled, in the Body of his Flesh, through Death, to present you holy and unblameable in his Sight, Eph. 2. 15, 16. Col. 1. 21, 22.

How he took Flesh.

I Come now to the Second Question, to wit, How he took our Flesh. This must be enquired into, for his taking Flesh was not after the common Way, never any took Man's Flesh upon him as he, since the Foundation of the World.

1. He took not our Flesh like Adam, who was formed out of the Ground. Who was made of the Dust of the Ground, Gen. 2. 7. Ch. 3. 19. 2. He took not our Flesh as we do by Carnal Generation. Joseph knew not his Wife, neither did Mary know any Man, till she had brought forth her First-born Son, Luke 1. 34. Matt. 1. 25. 3. He took Flesh then, by the immediate working and over-shadowing of the Holy Ghost: And hence it is said expressly, She was found with Child of the Holy Ghost, Matt. 1. 18. Now the Birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his Mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, (before they came together) she was found with Child of the Holy Ghost. And hence again, when Joseph doubted of her Honesty (for he perceived she was with Child, and knew he had not touched her) the the Angel of God himself comes down to resolve his doubt, and said, Joseph, the Son of David, Fear not to take unto thee Mary thy Wife, for that which is conceived in her, is of the Holy Ghost, Matt. 1. 20.

But again, though the Holy Ghost was that by which the Child Jesus was formed in the Womb, so as to be without Carnal Generation; yet was he not formed in her without, but by her Conception. Behold, thou shalt conceive in thy Womb, and bring forth a Son, and shall call his Name Jesus, Luke 1. 21. Wherefore he took Flesh not only in, but of the Virgin. Hence he is called her Son, the Seed of the Woman.

Luke 2.7. And hence it is also that he is called the Seed of Abraham, the Seed of David; their Seed according to the Flesh.

Ch. 12. And this the Work he undertook, required.

Rom. 1. 3. 1. It required that he should take our Flesh.

Rom. 9.5. 2. It required that he should take our Flesh without Sin, which could not be, had he taken it by Reason of a Carnal Generation; for so, all Children are conceived in, and polluted with Sin, Psal. 51. And the least Pollution, either of Flesh or Spirit, had utterly disabled him for the Work, which to do, he came down from Heaven. Therefore, Such an High-Priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from Sinners, and made higher than the Heavens, Heb. 7. 26.

This Mystery of the Incarnation of the Son of God was thus compleated: I say, That he might be in all Points like as we are, yet without Sin; for Sin in the Flesh disableth, and maketh incapable to do the Commandment. Therefore was he thus made, thus made of a Woman: And this the Angel assigneth as the Reason of this his marvellous Incarnation: The Holy Ghost, saith he, shall come upon thee, and the Power of the Highest shall overshadow thee; therefore also that holy Thing that shall be born of thee, shall be called the Son of God, Luke 2. 35.

The overshadowing of the Holy Ghost, and the Power of the Highest; the Father, and the Holy Ghost, brought this wonderful Thing to pass, for Jesus is a wonderful one, in his Conception and Birth. This Mystery is that, next to the Mystery of three Persons in one God. It is a great Mystery. Great is the Mystery of Godliness; God was manifested in the Flesh.

The Conclusion is, That Jesus Christ took our Flesh, that he might be a Saviour; and that he might be our Saviour indeed, he thus took our Flesh.

That it was necessary that he should take our Flesh, if he will be our Saviour.

I Come now to the third Thing, namely, that it was necessary that he should take our Flesh if he will be our Saviour.

And that first, from the Nature of the Work; his Work was to save, to save Man, sinking Man: Man that was going down to the Pit, Job 34. 24. Now he that will save him that is sinking, must take hold on him. And since he was not to save a Man, but Men; therefore it was necessary that he should take hold, not of one Person, but of the Common Nature, clothing himself with part of the same.

He took not hold of Angels, but took on him the Seed of Abraham. For that Flesh was the same with the whole Lump of the Children, to whom the Promise was made; and comprehended in it the Body of them that shall be saved, even as in Adam was comprehended the whole World at first, Rom. 5.

Hence we are said to be chosen in him, Eph. 1. 4. to be gathered, being in him, to be dead by him, to be risen with him, and to be set with him, or in him in heavenly Places already. Rom. 7.4. Col. 3. 1, 2, 3. Ch. 2. 12, 13.

This then was the Wisdom of the great God, that the Eternal Son of his Love should take hold of, and so secure the sinking Souls of perishing Sinners by assuming their Flesh.

Secondly, The Manner of his doing the Work of a Saviour, did call for his taking of our Flesh.

He must do the Work by dying: Ought not Christ to have suffered? Christ must needs have suffered, or else no Glory follows. The Prophets testified before-hand the Sufferings of Christ, and the Glory that should follow. Yea, they did it by the Spirit of Christ himself. This Spirit then did bid them tell the World, yea, testify, that Christ must suffer, or no Man be blest with Glory. For the threatening of Death, and the Curse of the Law lay in the Way between Heaven Gates and the Souls of the Children, for their Sins; wherefore he that will save them, must answer Divine Justice, or God must lye in saving them without inflicting the Punishment threatned. Christ then must needs have suffered, the manner of the Work, laid a necessity upon him to take our Flesh upon him; he must die, he must die for us, he must die for our Sins. And this was effectually foretold by all the bloody Sacrifices offered under the Law; the Blood of Bulls, and the Blood of Lambs, the Blood of Rams, and the Blood of Calves, and the Blood of Goats and Birds. These Bloody Sacrifices, what did they signifie, what were they Figures of, but of the bloody Sacrifice of the Body of Jesus Christ; their Blood being a Shadow of his Blood, and their Flesh being a Shadow of his Flesh?

Therefore when God declared that he took no Pleasure in them, because they could not make the Worshippers perfect as pertaining to the Conscience; then comes Jesus Christ to offer his sinless Body and Soul

Soul for the Sin of the People: For it is not possible that the Blood of Bulls and Goats should take away Sin: Wherefore, when he cometh into the World, he saith Sacrifices and Offerings thou wouldest not, but a Body hast thou prepared me; in Burnt-Offerings and Sacrifices for Sin thou hast had no Pleasure. Then said I, lo, I come, in the Volume of thy Book it is written of me to do thy good Will. Since Burnt-Offerings cannot do thy Will, my Body shall; since the Blood of Bulls and Goats cannot do thy Will, my Blood shall.

Heb. 10.
8, 9, 10. Then follows, By the Will of God we are sanctified through the offering up of the Body of Jesus Christ once for all.

Thirdly, The End of the Work required, That Christ, if he will be our Saviour, should take upon him our Flesh.

The End of our Salvation is, That we might enjoy God, and that he by us might be glorified for ever and ever.

1. That we might enjoy God. I will dwell in them, and they shall be my People, and I will be their God. This Indwelling of God, and consequently our Enjoyment of him, begins first in its Eminency, by his possessing our Flesh in the Person of Jesus Christ. Hence his Name is called Emmanuel, God with us; and the Word was made Flesh and dwelt among us. The Flesh of Christ, is the Tabernacle which the Lord pitched according to that saying: The Tabernacle of God is with Men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his People, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. Here God beginneth to discover his Glory, and to be desirable to the Sons of Men.

God could not communicate himself to us, nor take us into the Enjoyment of himself, but with Respect to that Flesh which his Son took of the Virgin, because Sin stood betwixt. Now this Flesh, only, was the holy Lump, in this Flesh God could dwell, and forasmuch as this Flesh is the same with ours, and was taken up with intent that what was done, in, and by that, should be communicated to all the Children; therefore through that, doth God communicate of himself unto his People.

2 Cor. 5.
John 14.6. God was in Christ reconciling the World unto himself. And I am the Way, saith Christ, no Man cometh to the Father but by me.

That Passage to the Hebrews is greatly to our Purpose: We have boldness Brethren, to enter into the Holiest, (the Place where God is) by the Blood of Jesus, by a new and living Way which he hath consecrated for us through the Vail, that is to say, his Flesh.

1. As the End of our Salvation, is, That we might enjoy God: So also it is that he by us might be glorified for ever. That God in all Things might be glorified through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Here indeed will the Mystery of his Grace, Wisdom, Justice, Power, Holiness, and Glory, inhabit eternal Praise, while we that are counted worthy of the Kingdom of God, shall admire at the Mystery, and see our selves, without our selves, even by the Flesh and Blood of Christ (through Faith therein) effectually, and eternally saved. O! This will be the Burden of our eternal Joy, God loved us, and gave his Son for us, Christ loved us, and gave his Flesh for our Life, and his Blood for our eternal Redemption and Salvation.

That Christ was made under the Law.

BUT Secondly, Christ was made under the Law. When the fulness of the Time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a Woman, made under the Law. Gal. 4. 4.

Of right, being found in Flesh, he must needs be under the Law, for that there is not any Creature, above or without Law to God, (but this is not to the Point in Hand) Christ was not therefore under the Law because he was found in Flesh, but he took Flesh, and designedly put himself, or was made under the Law; wherefore 'tis added, he was made under the Law to Redeem, to redeem them that were under the Law. Wherefore here is a Design, an heavenly Contrivance, and Device on Foot. Christ is made, that is by Design, subjected under the Law, for the sake, and upon the Account of others: To redeem them that were under the Law.

Made under the Law; that is, put himself into the Room of Sinners, into the Condition of Sinners; made himself subject to the same Pains and Penalties we were obnoxious to. We were under the Law, and it had Dominion over us, bound us upon Pain of eternal Damnation to do completely all Things written in the Law. This Condition Christ put himself into, that he might redeem: For assuredly we had else perished.

The Law had Dominion over us, and since we had sinned, of right it pronounced the Curse, and made all Men subject to the Wrath of God. Christ therefore did not only come into our Flesh, but also into our Condition, into the Valley and Shadow of Death where we were, and where we are as we are Sinners. He that is under the Law, is under the Edge of the Ax. When David was to go visit his Brethren, and to save them from the Hand of Goliath, he was to look how his Brethren fared, and to take their Pledge. This is true of Jesus Christ, when he came to save us from the Hand of Death and the Law, he looked how his Brethren fared, took to heart their deplorable Condition, and put himself into the same Plight, to wit, under the Law, that he might redeem them that were under the Law.

I told you before, that he came sinless into the World, that he had a miraculous Conception, and wonderful Birth: and here you see a Reason for it, he was to be put, or made under the Law to redeem. He that will be made under the Law to redeem, had need be sinless and spotless himself; for the Law findeth fault with the least, and condemneth Man for the first beginning of Sin.

Without this then there could not have been Redemption, nor any the Sons of God by Adoption; no Redemption, because the Sentence of Death had already pass'd upon all; no Sons by Adoption, because that's the Effect of Redemption. God sent forth his Son made of a Woman, made under the Law, to redeem them that were under the Law, That we might receive the Adoption of Sons. Christ then by being made under the Law, hath recovered his from under the Law, and obtained for them the Privilege of the Adoption of Sons.

For as I told you before, Christ stood a common Person, presenting in himself the whole Lump of the promised Seed, or the Children of the Promise; wherefore he comes under the Law for them, takes upon him to do what the Law required of them, takes upon him to do it for them.

He began therefore at the first tittle of the Law, and going in Man's Flesh, for Man, through the Law, He becomes the end of the Law for Righteousness, for every one that believeth. The END of the Law, what is the end of the Law but perfect and sinless Obedience? that is the End of the Law, both with respect to its Nature, and the Cause of its being imposed. God gave the Law, that compleat Righteousness should by that be found upon Men, but because Sin was got into Man's Flesh, therefore this Righteousness by us, could not be compleated: Now comes Christ the Lord into the World, cloaths himself with the Children's Flesh, addresseth himself to the Work of their Redemption, is made under the Law; and going through every Part of the Law without Sin, he becometh the End of the Law for justifying Righteousness to every one that believeth, Rom. 10. 4. For he obey'd not the Law for himself, he needed no Obedience thereto: 'Twas we that needed Obedience, 'twas we that wanted to answer the Law; we wanted it, but could not obtain it, because then the Law was weak through the Flesh; therefore God sent his own Son, and he did our Duty for us, even to become the End of the Law to every one that believeth: In this therefore Christ laboured for us, he was made under the Law to redeem. Therefore, as I said before, it behoved him to be sinless, because the Law binds over to answer for Sin at the Bar of the Judgment of God. Therefore did his God-head assume our human Flesh, in a clean and spotless way, that he might come under the Law, to redeem them that were under the Law.

For consisting of two Natures, and the Personality lying in the God-head, which gave Value and Worth to all things done for us by the Man-hood, the Obedience takes Denomination from thence, to be the Obedience of God. The Son's Righteousness, the Son's Blood; the Righteousness of God, the Blood of God, Heb. 5. 8, 9. Phil. 3. 7, 8. Acts 20. 28. 1 John 3. 16.

Thus Jesus Christ came into the World under the Law to redeem; not simply as God, but God-man, both Natures making one Christ. The God-head therefore did influence and give Value to the human Flesh of Christ in all its Obedience to the Law; else there would have been wanting that Perfection of Righteousness which only could answer the Demands and Expectation of the Justice of God, to wit, Perfect Righteousness by Flesh.

But the second Person in the God-head, the Son, the Word, coming under the Law for Men in their Flesh, and subjecting himself by that Flesh to every Tittle, and Demand of the Law; all, and every whit of what was acted, and done by Jesus Christ, God-man, for us, it was, and is the Righteousness of God: and since it was not done for himself, but for us (as he saith in the Text, to redeem.) The Righteousness by which we are set free from the Law, is none other but the Righteousness that alone resideth in the Person of the Son of God.

And that it is absolutely necessary thus it should be is evident, both with respect to God and also with respect to Man.

1. With respect to God. The Righteousness is demanded by God: therefore he that comes to redeem, must present before God a Righteousness absolutely perfect; this can be done by none but God.
2. With respect to Man. Man was to present this Righteousness to God, therefore must the undertaker be Man. Man for Man, and God for God, God-Man between God and Men. This Days Man can lay his Hand upon us both, and bring God and Man together in Peace, John 9. 33.

Quest. But some may say, What need of the Righteousness of one that is naturally God? had Adam who was but a meer Man stood in his Innocency and done his Duty, he had saved himself and all his Posterity.

Ans. Had Adam stood, he had so long secured himself (from the Wages of Sin) and Posterity so long as they were in him. But had Adam sinned, yea, although he had not defiled his Nature with Filth, he could never after that have redeemed himself from the Curse of the Law, because he was not equal with God: for the Curse of the Law is the Curse of God, but no Man can deliver himself from the Curse of God, having first transgressed. This is evident because Angels, for Sin, lie bound in Chains, and can never deliver themselves.

He therefore that redeemeth Man from under the Law, must not only do all the good that the Law requireth, but bear all the Penalty that is due by the Law for Sin.

Should

Should an Angel assume humane Flesh, and in that Flesh do the Law, this Righteousness would not redeem a Sinner, it would be but the Righteousness of an Angel, and so, far short of such a Righteousness as can secure a Sinner from the Wrath of God. But thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Soul, with all thy Heart, with all thy Mind, with all thy Strength. If there were no more required of us, now to redeem our selves, it would be utterly impossible for us to do it, because in the best there is Sin, which will intermix it self with every Duty of Man: This being so all the Heart, all the Soul, all the Strength, and all the Mind, to the exact Requirement of the Justice of the Law, can never be found in a Natural Man.

Besides, For this Work there is required a perfect Memory, always to keep in mind the whole Duty of Man, the whole of every tittle of all the Law, lest Sin come in by Forgetfulness.

2. A perfect Knowledge and Judgment, lest Sin come in by Ignorance. 3. An everlasting Unweariedness in all, lest Sin and continual Temptations tire the Soul, and cause it to fail before the whole be done.

For the accomplishing this last, he must have.

1. A perfect Willingness, without the least thought to the contrary. 2. Such an hatred of Sin, as is not to be found, but in the Heart of God. 3. A full delight in every Duty, and that in the midst of all Temptations. 4. A continuing in all things to the well-pleasing of the Justice of God.

I say, should the Penalty of the Law be taken off, should God forgive the Penalty and Punishment due to Sins that are past, and only demand good Works now, according to the Tenour of the Law, no Man could be saved, there would not be found that Heart, that Soul, that Mind and that Strength any where in the World.

This therefore must cease for ever, unless the Son of God will put his Shoulder to the Work; but blessed be God he hath done it: When the fulness of the Time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a Woman, made under the Law, to redeem them that are under the Law.

Christ took upon him our Sins.

BUT Thirdly, Christ our Saviour takes upon him our Sins. This is another step to the Work of our Redemption. He hath made him to be Sin for us. Strange Doctrine! a Fool would think it Blasphemy, but Truth hath said it. Truth I say, hath said, not that he was made to be Sin; but that GOD made him to be Sin, He hath made him to be Sin for us.

This therefore sheweth us how effectually Christ Jesus undertook the Work of our Redemption. He was made to be Sin for us. Sin is the great Block and Bar to our Happiness; Sin is the Procurer of all Miseries to Men both here and for ever. Take away Sin, and nothing can Hurt us; for Death Temporal, Death Spiritual, and Death Eternal is the Wages of Sin, Rom. 6. 23.

Sin then and Man for Sin, is the Object of the Wrath of God. If the Object of the Wrath of God, then is his Case most dreadful; for who can bear, who can grapple with the Wrath of God? Men cannot, Angels cannot, the whole World cannot. All therefore must sink under Sin, but he who is made to be Sin for us; he only can bear Sins, he only can bear them away, and therefore were they laid upon him. The Lord laid upon him the Iniquities of us all.

Mark therefore, and you shall find, that the Reason why God made him to be Sin for us, was, That we might be made the Righteousness of God in him. He took our Flesh, he was made under the Law, and was made to be Sin for us; that the Devil might be destroyed, that the Captives might be redeemed, and made the Righteousness of God in him.

And forasmuch as he saith, that God hath made him to be Sin, it declareth that the Design of God, and the Mystry of his Will and Grace was in it. He hath made him to be Sin. God hath done it, that we might be made the Righteousness of God in him: there was no other Way, the Wisdom of Heaven could find no other way, we could not by other Means stand just before the Justice of God.

Now what remains, but that we who are Reconciled to God by Faith in his Blood, are quit, discharged, and set free from the Law of Sin and Death. Yea, what Encouragement to trust in him, when we read, That God made him to be Sin for us.

Quest. But how was Jesus Christ made of God to be Sin for us?

Ans. Even so as if himself had committed all our Sins; that is, they were as really charged upon him, as if himself had been the Actor and Committer of them all. He hath made him to be Sin; not only as a Sinner, but as Sin it self. He was as the Sin of the World, that Day he stood before God in our stead. Some indeed will not have Jesus Christ our Lord to be made Sin for us, their wicked Reasons think this to be wrong Judgment in the Lord: it seems, supposing, that because they cannot imagine how it should be; therefore God, if he does it, must do it at his Peril, and must be charged with doing wrong Judgment, and so, things that become not his Heavenly Majesty; But against this Duncish Sophistry we let Paul and Isaiah, the one telling us still, The Lord laid on him the Iniquities of us all; and the other, That God made him to be Sin for us.

But these Men, as I suppose, think it enough nough for Chriſt to die under that Notion only, not knowing nor feeling the Burden of Sin, and the Wrath of God due thereto. Theſe make him as ſenſeleſs in his Dying, and as much without Reason, as a ſilly Sheep or Goat, who alſo died for Sin, but ſo as in Name, in ſhew, and ſhadow only. They felt not the proper Weight, Guilt, and Judgment of God for Sin. But thou, Sinner, who art ſo in thine own Eyes, and, who feeleſt Guilt in thine own Conſcience; know thou that Jeſus Chriſt the Son of the Living God in Fleſh, was made to be Sin for thee, or ſtood ſenſibly guilty of all thy Sins before God, and bare them in his own Body upon the Croſs.

God charged our Sins upon Chriſt, and that in their Guilt and Burden; what remaineth, but that the Charge was real or feigned: if real, then he hath either periſhed under them, or carried them away from before God: If they were charged but feignedly, then did he but feignedly die for them, then ſhall we have but feigned Benefit by his Death, and but a feigned Salvation at laſt; not to ſay how this curſed Doctrine chargeth God and Chriſt with Hypocriſy, the one in ſaying, He made Chriſt to be Sin; the other, That he bare our Sin; when indeed, our Guilt and Burden never was really upon him.

Queſt. But might not Chriſt die for our Sins, but he needs muſt bear their Guilt or Burden?

Anſw. He that can ſever Sin and Guilt, Sin and the Burden, each from other, laying Sin, and no Guilt, Sin and no Burden on the Perſon that dieth for Sin, muſt do it only in his own Imaginary Head. No Scripture, nor Reason, nor Senſe, underſtandeth, or feeleth Sin when charged, without its Guilt and Burden.

And here we muſt diſtinguiſh between Sin charged, and Sin forgiven: Sin forgiven, may be ſeen without Guilt or Burden, though I think not without ſhame in this World: But Sin charged, and that by the Juſtice of God, for ſo it was upon Chriſt: This cannot be, but Guilt and the Burden, as inſeparable companions, muſt unavoidably lye on that Perſon. Poor Sinner, be adviſed to take heed of ſuch deluded Preachers, who with their Tongues ſmoother than Oil, would rob thee of that Excellent Doctrine, God hath made him to be Sin for us: for ſuch, as I ſaid, do not only preſent thee with a feigned Deliverance and Forgiveness, with a feigned Heaven and Happineſs, but charge God and the Lord Jeſus as meer Impoſtors, who while they tell us that Chriſt was made of God to be Sin for us, affirm, that it was not ſo really, ſuggeſting this Sophiſtical Reason, no wrong Judgment comes from the Lord. I ſay again, this wicked Doctrine is the next way to turn the Gospel in thy Thoughts, to no more than a cunningly deviſed Fable, 2. Pet. 1. and to make Jeſus Chriſt in his dying for our Sins, as brutiſh as the Paſchal Lamb in Moses's Law.

Wherefore, diſtreſſed Sinner, when thou findeſt it recorded in the Word of Truth, that Chriſt died for our Sins, and that God hath made him to be Sin for us: Then do thou conſider of Sin as it is a Transgreſſion againſt the Law of God, and that as ſuch, it procureth the Judgment of God, torments and afflicts the Mind with Guilt, and bindeth over the Soul to answer it: ſever not Sin and Guilt aſunder, leſt thou be an Hypocrite like theſe Wicked Men, and rob Chriſt of his true Sufferings. Beſides, to ſee Sin upon Chriſt, but not its Guilt, to ſee Sin upon Chriſt, but not the legal Punishment; what is this but to conclude, that either there is no Guilt and Punishment in Sin, or that Chriſt bare our Sin, but we the Punishment? for the Punishment muſt be born, becauſe the Sentence is gone out from the Mouth of God againſt Sin.

Do thou therefore as I have ſaid, conſider of Sin, as a Transgreſſion of the Law, 1 John 3. and a Provoker of the Juſtice of God, which done, turn thine Eye to the Croſs, and behold thoſe Sins in the Guilt and Punishment of them ſticking in the Fleſh of Chriſt. God condemned Sin in the Fleſh of Chriſt. He bare our Sins IN his own Body on the Tree. Rom. 8. 3.

I would only give thee this Caution, not Sin in the Nature of Sin; Sin was not ſo in the Fleſh of Chriſt, but Sin in the natural Punishment of it, to wit, Guilt, and the chaſtiſing Hand of Juſtice. He was wounded for our Transgreſſions, he was bruised for our Iniquities: The Chaſtiſements of our Peace were upon him, and by his Stripes we are healed. Iſa. 53.

Look then upon Chriſt crucified to be as the Sin of the World, as if he only had broken the Law; which done, behold him perfectly innocent in himſelf, and ſo conclude, that for the Transgreſſion of God's People he was ſtricken: That when the Lord made him to be Sin, He made Him to be Sin FOR US.

He was made a Curſe for us.

Fourthly, As he was made Fleſh under the Law, and alſo Sin; ſo he was made a Curſe for us. Chriſt hath redeemed us from the Curſe of the Law, being made a Curſe for us; as it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a Tree. This Sentence is taken out of Moses, being paſſed there upon them that for Sin are worthy of Death. And if a Man have committed a Sin worthy of Death, and thou hang him on a Tree, his Body ſhall not remain all Night upon the Tree, but thou ſhalt in any wiſe bury him that Day, for he that is hanged is accursed of God. By this Sentence Paul concludeth that Jeſus Chriſt was juſtly hanged, becauſe because Sin worthy of Death was upon him. Sin, not of his own, but ours. Since then he took our Sins, he must be cursed of God; for Sin is Sin where-ever it lies, and Justice is Justice where-ever it finds it: wherefore since Jesus Christ will bear our Sin, he must be numbred with the Transgressors, and counted worthy to die the Death.

He that committeth Sin is worthy of Death. This, though Christ did not personally do, his Members, his Body, which is his Church, did: and since he would undertake for them with God, and stand in their Sins before the Eyes of his Justice; he must die the Death by the Law.

Sin and the Curse cannot be severed. Sin must be followed with the Curse of God: Sin therefore being removed from us to the Back of Christ, thither goes also the Curse; for if Sin be found upon him, he is the Person worthy to die, worthy by our Sins.

Wherefore Paul here setteth forth Christ clothed with our Sins; and so taking from us the Guilt and Punishment. What Punishment, but the Wrath and Displeasure of God. Christ hath redeemed us from the Curse of the Law, being made a Curse for us.

In this Word [Curse] are two things comprised.

1. The Reality of Sin, for there can be no Curse where there is no Sin; either of the Person's own, or made to be his by his own Consent or the Imputation of Divine Justice. And since Sins are made to be Christ's by Imputation, they are his, tho' not naturally, yet really, and consequently the Wages due: He hath made him to be Sin; he was made a Curse for us. 2. This Word Curse compriseth therefore the Punishment of Sin, that Punishment properly due to Sin from the Hand of God's Justice, which Punishment standeth in three things.

1. In charging Sin upon the Body and Soul of the Person concerned: and hence we read, that both the Body and Soul of Christ, were made an Offering for Sin. 2. The Punishment standeth in God's inflicting of the just Merits of Sin upon him that standeth charged therewith, and that is Death in its own Nature and Strength; to wit, Death with the Sting thereof: The Sting of Death is Sin. This Death did Christ die because he died for our Sins. 3. The Sorrows and Pains of this Death therefore must be undergone by Jesus Christ. Now there are divers Sorrows in Death.

1. Such Sorrows as Brutes are subject to. 2. Such Sorrows as Persons are subject to, that stand in Sin before God. 3. Such Sorrows as those undergo who are swallowed up of the Curse and Wrath of God for ever.

Now so much of all kind of Sorrows as the Imputation of our Sin, could justly bring from the Hand of Divine Justice, so much of it he had.

1. He had Death. 2. He had the Sting of Death, which is Sin. 3. He was forsaken of God, but could not by any means have those Sorrows which they have that are everlastingly swallowed up of them. It was not possible that he should be holden of it. Acts 2.24.

For where Sin is charged and born, there must of necessity follow the Wrath and Curse of God. Now where the Wrath and Curse of God is, there must of necessity follow the Effects, the natural Effects.

I say, the natural Effects: to wit, the Sense, the sorrowful Sense of the Displeasure of an infinite Majesty, and his Chastisements for the Sin that hath provoked him.

There are Effects Natural, and Effects Accidental; those Accidental, are such as flow from our Weakness, whilst we wrestle with the Judgment of God, to wit, hellish Fear, Despair, Rage, Blasphemy, and the like: These were not incident to Jesus Christ, he being in his own Person every way perfect. Neither did he always endure the natural Effects; his Merits relieved, and delivered him. God loosed the Pains of Death, because it was not possible he should be holden of it.

Christ then was made a Curse for us, for he did bear our Sin, the Punishment therefore, from the Revenging Hand of God, must needs fall upon him.

Wherefore, by these four things, we see how Christ became our Saviour, he took hold of our Nature, was born under the Law, was made to be Sin, and the Accursed of God for us. And observe it, all this as I said before, was the Handy-Work of God. God made him Flesh, made him under the Law, God made him to be Sin, and also a Curse for us. The Lord bruised him, the Lord put him to grief, the Lord made his Soul an Offering of Sin: Not for that he hated him, considering him in his own harmless, innocent, and blessed Person; for he was daily his Delight; But by an Act of Grace to usward, were our Iniquities laid upon him, and he in our stead, bruised and chastised for them. God loved us, and made him a Curse for us. He was made a Curse for us, That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles, through Faith in Jesus Christ. Isa. 53. Gal. 3.13; 14.15.

Further Demonstration of this Truth.

BEfore I pass this Truth, I will present thee (Courteous Reader) with two or three Demonstrations for its further Confirmation.

First, That Christ did bear our Sin and Curse is clear, because he died, and that without a Mediator.

1. He died, Death is the Wages of Sin. Rom. 6. Now if Death be the Wages of Sin, and that be true, that Christ did die, and not sin, either the Course of Justice is perverted, or Acts 13. 28. else he died for our Sins; there was no cause of Death in him, yet he died. He did no Evil, Guile was not found in his Mouth, yet he received the Wages of Sin. Sin, therefore, though not of his own, was found upon him, and laid to his Charge, because he died. Christ died for our Sins, Christ gave himself for our Sins.

He then that will conclude that Christ did not bear our Sin, chargeth God foolishly, for delivering him up to Death: for laying on him the Wages, when in no sense he deserved the same. Yea, he overthroweth the whole Gospel, for that hangeth on this Hinge; Christ died for our Sins.

Object. But all that die do not bear the Curse of God for Sin.

Answer. But all that die without a Mediator do: Angels died the Cursed Death, because Christ took not hold of them; and they for whom Christ never prayeth, they die the Cursed Death, for they perish everlastingly in the unutterable Torments of Hell. Christ too died that Death which is the proper Wages of Sin, for he had none to stand for him. I looked, saith he, and there was none to help, and I wondred that there was none to uphold: therefore mine own Arm brought Salvation unto me. And he saw that there was no Man: and he wondred that there was no Intercessor, therefore his Arm brought Salvation unto him, and his Righteousness sustained him.

Isa. 63. 5.
Isa. 59. 16.

Christ then died, or endured the Wages of Sin, and that without an Intercessor, without one between God and he: He grappled immediately with the Eternal Justice of God who inflicted on him Death, the Wages of Sin: there was no man to hold off the Hand of God; Justice had his full blow at him, and made him a Curse for Sin. He died for Sin without a Mediator, He died the Cursed Death.

Secondly, A Second Thing that demonstrateth that Christ died the Cursed Death for Sin: It is the Frame of Spirit that he was in at the Time that he was to be taken.

Never was poor mortal so beset with the Apprehensions of approaching Death as was this Lord Jesus Christ; Amazement beyond Measure, Sorrow that exceeded seized upon his Soul. My Soul, saith he, is exceeding sorrowful even unto Death. And he began, saith Mark, to be sore amazed and to be very heavy.

Matt. 26. 38.
Mark 14. 33.

Add to this, That Jesus Christ was better able to grapple with Death, even better able to do it alone, than the whole World join'd all together.

1. He was anointed with the Spirit without Measure, John 3. 34. 2. He had all Grace perfect in him, John 1. 16. 3. Never any had so much of his Father's Love as himself, Prov. 8. 23, 30. 4. Never none so harmless, and without Sin as he, and consequently never Man had so good a Conscience as he, Heb. 7. 26. 5. Never none prepared such a Stock of good Works to bear him Company at the Hour of Death as he. 6. Never none had greater Assurance of being with the Father eternally in the Heavens than he. And yet behold, when he comes to die, how weak is he, how amazed at Death, how heavy, how exceeding sorrowful; and I say, no Cause assigned but the Approach of Death.

Alas! how often is it seen, that we poor Sinners can laugh at Destruction when it cometh: yea, and rejoice exceedingly when we find the Grave, looking upon Death as a Part of our Portion; yea, as that which will be a means of our present Relief and Help, 1 Cor. 3. 22.

This Jesus Christ could not do, considered as dying for our Sin, but the nearer Death, the more heavy and oppressed with the Thoughts of the revenging Hand of God. Wherefore he falls into an Agony, and sweats; not after the common Rate as we do when Death is severing Body and Soul. His Sweat was as it were great Drops (Clodders) of Blood falling down to the Ground.

What, I say, should be the Reason, but that Death assaulted him with his Sting. If Jesus Christ had been to die for his Virtues only, doubtless he would have born it lightly, and so he did as he died, bearing Witness to the Truth, He endured the Cross, and despised the shame. How have the Martyrs despised Death, and as it were, not been careful of that, having Peace with God by Jesus Christ, scorning the most cruel Torments that Hell and Men could devise and invent; but Jesus Christ could not do so, as he was a Sacrifice for Sin, he died for Sin, he was made a Curse for us. O my Brethren, Christ died many Deaths at once, he made his Grave with the Wicked, and with the Rich in his Death. Look how many Thousands shall be saved, so many Deaths did Jesus die; yet it was but once he died. He died thy Death, and my Death, and so many Deaths as all our Sins deserved, who shall be saved from the Wrath to come.

Now to feign that these Sorrows, and this Blood Agony was not real, but in shew only; What greater Condemnation can be passed upon Jesus Christ, who loved to do all Things in the most unfeigned Simplicity? It was therefore because of Sin; the Sin that was put into the Death he died, and the Curse of God that was due to Sin; that, that made Death so bitter to Jesus Christ; 'tis Christ that died. The Apostle speaks as if never any died but Christ, nor indeed did there, so wonderful a Death as he. Death considered simply, as it is a Deprivation of natural Life could not have these Effects in a Person, personally more Righteous than an Angel. Yea, even Carnal Wicked Men

Luke 22. 44.

Heb. 12. 1, 2.

Rom. 8.

Men not awakened in their Conſcience, how ſecurely can they die! It muſt therefore alſo be concluded, that the Sorrows and Agony of Jeſus Chriſt came from a higher Cauſe, even from the Guilt of Sin, and from the Curſe of God that was now approaching for that Sin.

It cannot be attributed to the Fear of Men, their Terror could not make him afraid; that was contrary to his Doctrine, and did not become the Dignity of his Perſon; it was Sin, Sin, Sin, and the Curſe due to Sin.

Thirdly, It is evident that Chriſt did bear and die the curſed Death for Sin; from the Carriage and Diſpenſation of God towards him.

Fiſt from the Carriage of God. God now becomes as an Enemy to him.

1. He forſakes him. My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? Yea, the Senſe of the Loſs of God's comfortable Preſence abode with him even 'till he gave up the Ghoſt. 2. He dealeth with him as with one that hath ſinned, he chaſtiſeth him, he bruifeth him, he ſtriketh and ſmiteth him, Iſa. 53. and was pleaſed, that is, his Juſtice was ſatiſfied, in ſo doing. It pleaſed the Lord to bruife him, he hath put him to Grief.

Theſe Things could not be, had he only conſidered him in his own Perſonal ſtanding, (where was the Righteous forſaken.) Without the Conſideration of Sin, he doth not willingly afflict, nor grieve the Children of Men; that is, not out of Pleaſure, or without ſufficient Cauſe.

Jeſus Chriſt then, ſince he is under this with-drawing, chaſtiſing, bruifing, and afflicting Diſpleaſure of God, he is all that Time under Sin, under our Sins, and therefore thus accuſed of God, his God.

Secondly, Not only the Carriage of God, but his Diſpenſations, his viſible Diſpenſations, plainly declare that he ſtood before God in our Sins, Vengeance ſuffered him not to live. Wherefore God delivered him up.

Rom. 8. 32 He ſpared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all.

1. He delivered him into the Hands of Men, Mark 9. 31. 2. He was delivered into the Hands of Sinners, Luke 24. 7. 3. He was delivered unto Death, Rom. 4. 25. 4. Yea, ſo delivered up, as that they both had him to put him to Death, and God left him for that Purpoſe in their Hands: Yea, was ſo far off from delivering him, that he gave way to all Things that had a Tendency to take his Life from the Earth.

Now may Men do what they will with him, he was delivered to their Will.

1. Judas may ſell him. 2. Peter may deny him. 3. All his Diſciples forſake him. 4. The Enemy apprehends him, binds him, they have him away like a Thief to Caiaphas the High-Prieſt, in whoſe Houſe he is mocked, ſpit upon, his Beard is twitch-ed from his Cheeks; now they buffet him and ſcornfully bow the Knee before him:

Yea, his Viſage is ſo marred more than any Man's, and his Form more than the Sons of Men. Iſa. 52. 13, 14, 15.

Now he is ſent to the Governor, deſaced with Blows and Blood; who delivereth him into the Hands of his Soldiers; they whip him, crown him with Thorns, and ſtick the Points of the Thorns faſt in his Temples, by a Blow with a Staff in their Hand: Now is he made a Spectacle to the People, and then ſent away to Herod, who with his Men of War ſet him at naught; no God appearing for his Help.

In fine, they at laſt condemn him to Death, even to the Death of the Croſs, where they hang him up by Wounds made through his Hands and his Feet, between the Earth and the Heavens, where he hunged for the ſpace of ſix Hours, to wit, from Nine in the Morning, till Three in the Afternoon. No God yet appears for his Help; while he hangs there, ſome rail at him, others wagg their Heads, others tauntingly ſay, He ſaved others, himſelf he cannot ſave; ſome divide his Raiment, caſting Lots for his Garments before his Face, others mockingly bid him come down from the Croſs, and when he deſireth Succour, they give him Vinegar to drink. No God yet appears for his Help.

Now the Earth quakes, the Rocks are rent, the Sun becomes black, and Jeſus ſtill cries out that he was forſaken of God; and preſently boweth his Head and dies: read Matth. 26. 27. Mark 14. 15. Luke 22. 23. John 18. 19.

And for all this there is no Cauſe aſſigned from God, but Sin. He was wounded for our Tranſgreſſions, he was bruifed for our Iniquities, and the Chaſtiſement of our Peace was upon him, and by his Stripes we are healed. Iſa. 53.

The Sum then is, That Jeſus Chriſt the Lord by taking Part of our Fleſh, became a publick Perſon, not doing, nor dying in a private Capacity, but in the Room and Stead of Sinners, whoſe Sin deſerved Death and the Curſe of God: All which Jeſus Chriſt bare in his own Body upon the Tree. I conclude then, that my Sin is already crucified, and accuſed in the Death and Curſe Chriſt under-went.

I come now to ſome Objections.

Objection I.

CHRIſT never was a Sinner, God never ſuppoſed him to be a Sinner, neither did our Sins become really his, God never reputed him ſo to have been; therefore bate or puniſh him as a Sinner, he could not; for no falſe Judgment can belong to the Lord.

1 Anſw.

1. Answ. That Christ was not a Sinner personally, by acts, or doings of his own, is granted; and in this Sense 'tis true, That God did never suppose him to be a Sinner, nor punished him as such a Sinner, nor did he really (if by really you understand naturally) become our Sin, nor did God ever repute him so. 2. But that Christ stood before God in our Sins, and that God did not only suppose him so to stand, but set him in them, put them upon him, and counted them as his own, is so true, that he cannot at present be a Christian that denies it. The Lord hath laid upon him the Iniquities of us all. 3. So then, though God did not punish him for Sin of his own committing, yet he punished him for Sin of our committing. The just suffered for the unjust. 4. Therefore it is true, that though Christ did never really become Sin of his own, he did really become our Sin, did really become our Curse for Sin: If this be denied, it follows that he became our Sin but feignedly, that he was made our Curse, or a Curse for us, but in appearance, Shew, or in Dissimulation; but no such Action or Work can proceed of the Lord. He did then really lay our Sin, and his Curse upon him for our Sin.

Isa. 53.
22.

18.

2 Object. But if Christ indeed hath suffered for our Sins, and endured for them that Curse, that of Justice is due thereto: Then hath he also endured for us the proper Torments of Hell, for they are the Wages of our Sins.

Answ. Many Things might be said in Answer to this Objection. But briefly;

1. What God chargeth upon the Soul for Sin, is one thing, and what followeth upon that Charge, is another. 2. A difference in the Person suffering, may make a difference in the Consequences that follow upon the Charge.

Let us then consider of both these things.

1. The Charge is Sin, God charged him with our Sins. 2. The Person then stands guilty before the Judgment of God.

The Consequences are:

1. The Person charged sustains, or suffereth the Wrath of God. 2. This Wrath of God is expressed, and inflicted on Body and Soul.

The Consequences are:

1. God forsaketh the Person charged, and being left, if he cannot stand, he falleth under the Power of Guilt and Horror of the same.

If the Person utterly fall under this Charge as not being able to wrestle with, and overcome this Wrath of God, then Despair, Horror of Hell, Rage, Blasphemy, Darkness, and damnable Anguish immediately swallow him up, and he lieth for ever and ever in the Pains of Hell, a Monument of Eternal Vengeance.

Now that Christ underwent the Wrath of God 'tis evident, because he bare our Curse; That God forsook him, he did with strong crying and Tears acknowledge; and therefore that he was under the Soul-afflicting Sense of the Loss of God's Favour, and under the Sense of his Displeasure must needs flow from the Premises.

But now, because Christ Jesus the Lord, was a Person infinitely differing from all others that fall under the Wrath of God: therefore those things that flow from damned Sinners, could not flow from him.

1. Despair would not rise in his Heart, for his Flesh did rest in hope; and said even when he suffered, thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell. Acts 2.27.

2. The Everlastingness, of the Punishment therefore, not the Terrors that accompany such, could not fasten upon him; for he knew at last that God would justify him, or approve of his Works that they were Meritorious.

And mark, Everlasting Punishment is not the proper Wages of Sin, but under a Supposition that the Person suffering be not able to pay the Debt. Thou shalt not depart thence till thou hast paid the very last Mite.

2. The Difference then of the Persons suffering may make a Difference, though not in the Nature of the Punishment; yet in the Duration and Consequences of it.

1. Christ under the Sentence, was as to his own Personal Acts only, altogether innocent; the Damned only altogether Sinners.

2. Christ had in him, even then the utmost Perfection of all Graces and Vertues; but the Damned, the Perfection of Sin and Vileness.

3. Christ's Humanity had still Union with his God-head; the Damned Union only with Sin.

4. Now an Innocent Person, perfect in all Graces, as really God as Man, can better wrestle with the Curse for Sin, than either sinful Men or Angels.

1. While they despair, Christ hopes. 2. While they blaspheme, Christ submits. 3. While they rage, Christ justifies God. 4. While they sink under the burthen of Sin and Wrath, Christ recovereth by Vertue of his Worthiness: Thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, neither wilt thou suffer thy Holy one to see Corruption. He was God's Holy one, and his Holiness prevailed.

So that it follows not, That because Christ did undergo the Curse due to our Sins, he therefore must have those accidental Consequences which are found to accompany Damned Souls.

3. Object. But the Scripture saith, That the Wages of Sin, is everlasting Punishment. Depart from me ye Cursed into Everlasting

Ans. This Objection is partly answered already, in the Answer to that foregoing. But further.

Mat. 5. 25
Luke 12.
58, 59.

1. Consider, The Wages of Sin is Death, and Punishment under the Wrath of God. Till those that dye the Death for Sin, have paid the utmost Farthing.

2. So then the Everlastingness of the Punishment lyeth here; if the Person suffering be not able to make amends to Justice for the Sins for which he suffereth; else Justice neither would, nor could, because 'tis just, keep such still under Punishment.

3. The reason then why fallen Angels, and damned Souls have an Everlastingness of Punishment allotted them, is because, by what they suffer, they cannot satisfy the Justice of God.

4. The Conclusion then is, though the Rebukes of God for Sin by Death and Punishment after, be the Rebukes of Eternal Vengeance; yet the Eternity of that Punishment, is for want of Merit: could the Damned merit their own Deliverance, Justice would let them go.

5. It is one thing therefore to suffer for Sin, by the stroke of Eternal Justice, and another thing to abide for ever a Sufferer there: Christ did the First, the Damned do the Second.

6. His Rising therefore from the Dead the third Day, doth nothing invalidate his Sufferings, but rather sheweth the Power of his Merit. And here I would ask a Question, Had Christ Jesus been more the Object of Faith, if Weakness and Endless Infirmary had kept him under the Curse, than by rising again from the Dead, want of Merit causing the one, Sufficiency thereof causing the other?

7. If Men will not believe that Christ hath removed the Curse, because he is risen again, they would much more strongly have doubted it, had he been still in the Grave. But O amazing darkness! to make that an Argument, that his Sufferings wanted Merit, which to God himself is sufficient proof that he hath purged our Sins for ever. For this Man after he had offered up one Sacrifice for Sins for ever, sat down on the Right Hand of God.

Heb. 10.
12.

21.

4. Object. But the Scripture saith, Christ is our Example, and that is in his very Death.

Ans. Christ in his Sufferings and Death, is both Sacrifice and Example.

1. A Sacrifice. Christ our Passover is Sacrifice for us. And again He gave himself for us, an Offering, and a Sacrifice to God for a sweet smelling Savour. And thus he made Reconciliation for Iniquity, and brought in Everlasting Righteousness, 1 Cor. 5. 8.

2. Ephes. 5. 1, 2. Dan. 9. 2. 2ly, He was also in his Sufferings Exemplary, and that in several particulars. 1. In his meek Deportment, while he was apprehended, Isa. 53. 7. 2. In doing them good that sought his Life, Luke 22. 50, 51. 3. In his Praying for his Enemies when they were in their out-rage, Luke 23. 34. 4. When he was reviled, he reviled not again; when he suffered he threatned not, but committed himself to him that judgeth Righteously.

23.

In these respects I say, he was Exemplary, and brought Honour to his Profession by his good Behaviour: and O how Beautiful would Christianity be in the Eyes of Men, if the Disciples of our Lord would more imitate him therein!

But what? because Christ is our Pattern, is he not our Passover? or, because we should in these things follow his Steps; died he not for our Sins? Thus to conclude, would not only argue thee very erroneous, but such a Conclusion would overthrow the Gospel; it being none other but a great slight of Satan, to shut out the whole by a Part, and to make us Blasphemers, while we plead for Holiness.

Look then upon the Death of Christ under a double Consideration.

1. As he suffered from the Hand of God.

2. As he suffered from the Hand of Men.

Now as he suffered by God's Hand, so he suffered for Sin; but as he suffered from Men, so he suffered for Righteousness sake.

Observe then, that as he suffered for Sin, so no MAN took away his Life; but as he suffered for Righteousness, so THEY slew him by wicked Hands: What is it then? Christ must needs have suffered, and the Wisdom of God had so ordained, That those Things which God before had shewed by the Mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath so fulfilled.

Acts 3. 18.

Thus therefore we ought to distinguish of the Causes and Ends of the Death of Christ.

Again, As Christ suffered for Sin, so he would neither be taken at Man's Pleasure, nor die at Man's Time.

1. Not at Man's Pleasure, and hence it was that they so often sought his Life in vain, for his Hour was not yet come; to wit, the Hour in which he was to be made a Sacrifice for our Sin, John 13. Ch. 17. 1, 2. Ch. 18. 1, 2.

2. Not at their Time; but contrary to all Expectation, when the due Time was come, he bowed his Head and gave up the Ghost, John 19. 30.

And for this last Work he had Power given him of God, that is, Power to die when he would. I have Power, said he, to lay down my Life, and I have Power to take it again: This Power never Man had before. This made the Centurion wonder, and made Pontius Pilate marvel: And indeed well they might, for it was as great a Miracle as any he wrought in his Life. It demonstrated him to be the Son of God, Mar. 15. 38, 39. The Centurion knowing that according to Nature he might have lived longer, longer, concluded therefore that his dying at that instant was not, but miraculously. And when he saw that he so cried out, and gave up the Ghost, he said, Truly this Man was the Son of God.

And the Reason why he had Power to dye was, That he might offer his Offering willingly, and at the Season.

Levit. 1. 3. 1. Willingly. If his Offering be a Burnt Sacrifice of the Lord, let him offer a Male without Blemish, he shall offer it of his own voluntary Will, at the Door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation before the Lord.

2. He must offer it at the Season. Thou shalt keep this Ordinance (the Passover) in his Season, Exod. 13. 10.

Now both these Offerings having immediate respect to the Offering of the Body of Christ for Sin (for he came in the room of all burnt Sacrifices) the Passover was also a Type of him, Heb. 10. 3, 4, 5, 6. 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8. Therefore, he being now the Priest as well as Sacrifice, must have Power and Will to offer his Sacrifice with Acceptation; and this the Scripture testifieth he did, where it saith, In due time Christ dyed for the Ungodly. In due time, that is, at the time appointed, at the acceptable time.

Rom. 5. 8.

Thou must therefore, unless thou art willing to be deceived, look upon the Sufferings of Christ under a double Consideration, and distinguish between his Sufferings as our Example, and his Suffering for our Sins. And know, that as he suffered as our Example, so he suffered only for Righteousness sake from the Hands of wicked Men; but as he suffered for our Sins, so he suffered (as being by God reputed wicked) the Punishment that was due to Sin, even the dreadful Curse of God: Not that Christ dyed two Deaths, one after another, but he dyed at the same time upon a double account, for his Righteousness sake from Men; for our Sins from the Hand of God. And, as I said before, had he only suffered for Righteousness sake, Death had not so amazed him, nor had he been so exceeding heavy in the Thoughts of it; that had never put him into an Agony, nor made him sweat as it were, great Drops of Blood. Besides, when Men suffer only for Righteousness sake, God doth not use to hide his Face from them, to forsake them, and make them accursed; But Christ hath delivered us from the Curse of the Law, being made a Curse for us.

Object. But if indeed Christ hath paid the full Price for us by his Death, in suffering the Punishment that we should have done: wherefore is the Scripture so silent, as not to declare that by his Death he hath made Satisfaction?

Ans. No Man may reach God Knowledge, he knoweth best how to deliver his Mind in such Words and Terms as best agree with his Eternal Wisdom, and the Consciences of these that are truly desirous of Salvation, being over-burdened with the Guilt of Sin. Perhaps the Word Satisfaction will hardly be found in the Bible; and where is it said in so many Words, God is dissatisfied with our Sins? yet 'tis sufficiently manifest, that there is nothing that God hateth but Sin, and Sinners for the sake of Sin. What meant he by turning Adam out of Paradise, by drowning the Old World, by burning up Sodom with Fire and Brimstone from Heaven? What meant he by drowning of Pharaoh, by causing the Ground to swallow up Corah and his Company, and by his destroying Israel in the Wilderness, if not to shew that he was dissatisfied with Sin? That God is also satisfied, yea, more than satisfied by Christ's sufferings, for our Sins, is apparent: For granting that he dyed for them, as these Scriptures declare, Isa. 53. 1 Cor. 15. 1, 2, 3, 4. Gal. 1. 4. 1 Cor. 5. 8. 2 Cor. 5. 21. Gal. 3. 13. 1 Pet. 2. 24. Chap. 3. 18. 1 John 2. 2. Ch. 3. 16. Chap. 4. 14. Revel. 1. 5. Chap. 5. 9. Isa. 49. 4, 5, 6.

It is apparent, because it is said; That God smelled in that Offering of the Body of Christ for our Sins, a sweet smelling Savour. He gave himself for us an Offering and a Sa- crifice to God, for a sweet smelling Savour. 2. It is apparent, because it is said expressly, That God for Christ's sake doth now forgive. Be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.

Eph. 5. 2.

Eph. 4. 32.

3. It is apparent that God is satisfy'd with Christ's Blood for our Sins, because he hath declared, that he can justify those that believe in, or rely upon that Blood for Life, in a way of Justice and Righteousness. Being justify'd freely by his Grace through the Redemption that is in Jesus Christ, whom God hath set forth to be a Propitiation thro'

Rom. 3.
24, 25, 26.

Faith in his Blood, to declare his Righteousness for the Remission of Sins, that are past thro' the Forbearance of God. To declare, I say, at this time his Righteousness, that he might be just, and the Justifier of him that believeth in Jesus.

Now, I say, to object against such plain Testimonies, what is it but,

1. To deny that Christ died for Sin; or to conclude, 2. That having so done, he is still in the Grave: Or, 3. That there is no such thing as Sin: Or, 4. No such thing as ravaging Justice in God against it: Or, 5. That we must die ourselves for our Sins: Or, 6. That Sin may be pardoned without a Satisfaction: Or, 7. That every Man may merit his own Salvation.

But without shedding of Blood there is no Remission, Heb. 9. 22.

To avoid therefore these cursed Absurdities, it must be granted that Jesus Christ by his Death did make Satisfaction for Sin.

But the Word Satisfaction may not be used by the Holy Ghost, perhaps for that

it

it is too short and scanty a Word to express the Blessedness that comes to Sinners by the Blood of Christ.

1. To make Satisfaction, amounts to no more than compleatly to answer a legal Demand for Harms and Injuries done. Now this when done to the full, leaveth the Offender there where he was before he committed the Injury. Now if Christ had done no more than this, he had only paid our Debt, but had not obtained eternal Redemption for us.

2. For a full Satisfaction given by this Man for Harms done by another, may neither obtain the Love of the Person offended, nor the smallest Gift which the Person offending hath not deserved. Suppose I owe to this Man ten thousand Talents, and another should pay him every Farthing, there remaineth over and above, by that compleat Satisfaction, not one single Half-penny for me. Christ hath therefore done more than to make Satisfaction for Sin by his Blood.

Rev. 1. 5. He hath also made us Kings and Priests to God and his Father, and we shall reign with him for ever and ever.

But take a few more Scriptures for the Proof of the Doctrine afore asserted.

Col. 1. 14. First, We have Redemption through his Blood.

1. Redemption from Sin, Eph. 1. 7. 2. Redemption from Death, Heb. 2. 14, 15. Hos. 13. 14. 3. Redemption from Satan, Heb. 2. 15. 4. Redemption from the World, Gal. 1. 4. 5. Redemption to God, Rev. 5. 9. 6. Eternal Redemption. Neither by the Blood of Goats and Calves, but by his own Blood, he entered in once into the Holy Place, having obtained Eternal Redemption for us.

Secondly, We are said also to be washed in his Blood.

1. Our Persons are washed; He loved us and washed us from our Sins in his own Blood, Rev. 1. 5. 2. His Blood washeth also our Performances, Our Robes are washed, and made white in the Blood of the Lamb.

Thirdly, We are said to be purged by his Blood.

1. Purged from Sin before God. When he had by himself purged our Sins, he sat down on the right Hand of God. 2. Purged from evil Consciences. How much more shall the Blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without Spot to God; purge your Conscience from dead Works, to serve the living God?

Fourthly, We are said to be made nigh to God by his Blood. But now in Christ Jesus, ye who sometimes were afar off, are made nigh by the Blood of Christ.

Fifthly, Peace is said to be made by his Blood.

1. Peace with God, Col. 1. 20. 2. Peace of Conscience, Heb. 10. 19, to 23. 3. Peace one with another, Eph. 2. 14.

Sixthly, We are said to be justified by his Blood. Much more being now justified by his Blood, we shall be saved from Wrath through him. Rom. 5. 9.

Justified, that is Acquitted:

1. Acquitted before God, Ephes. 5. 25, 26. 2. Acquitted before Angels, Matt. 28. 5. 3. Acquitted by the Law, Rom. 3. 21, 22, 23. 4. Acquitted in the Court of Conscience, Heb. 9. 14.

Seventhly, We are said to be saved by his Blood, Rom. 5. 8, 9. Eighthly, We are said to be reconciled by his Blood, Col. 1. 20, 21, 22.

Ninthly, We are said to be sanctified by his Blood, Heb. 13. 12.

Tenthly, We are said to be admitted into the holiest by his Blood, Heb. 10. 19.

Eleventhly, We are said to have eternal Redemption by his Blood, Heb. 9. 12. Yea, lastly, This Blood which was once spilt upon the Cross, will be the Burden of our Song in Heaven it self for ever and ever, Rev. 5. 9.

Now if we be redeemed, washed, purged, made nigh to God, have Peace with God; if we stand just before God, are saved, reconciled, sanctified, admitted into the Holiest; if we have eternal Redemption by his Blood, and if his Blood will be the Burden of our Song for ever: Then hath Christ paid the full Price for us by his Death, then hath he done more than made Satisfaction for our Sins.

Several Demonstrations more, proving the former Doctrine.

BUT before I conclude this Answer, I will give you nine or ten more undeniable Demonstrations, to satisfy you, if God will bless them to you, in the Truth of this great Doctrine, to wit, That Jesus Christ by what he hath done hath paid the full Price to God for the Souls of Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them.

The First Demonstration.

AND First, I begin with his Resurrection: That God that delivered him up unto Death, and that made him a Curse for Sin; that God raised him up from the Dead. But God raised him from the Dead. Now considering, that at his Death he was charged with our Sins, and accursed to Death for our Sins: That Justice that delivered him up for them, must have Amends made to him, before he acquit him from them; for there can be no Change in Justice. Had he found him in our Sins in the Grave, as he found him in them upon the Tree, (for he had them in his Body on the Tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24.) he had left him there as he left him upon the Tree: Yea, he had as surely Rotted in the Grave, as ever he died on the Tree. But when he vi-

*Acts 3. 15.

fited

fited Christ in the Grave, he found him a Holy, Harmless, Undeiled, and Spotless Christ, and therefore he raised him up from the Dead. He raised him up from the Dead, Acts 2. 24. having loosed the Pains of Death; because it was not possible that he should be holden of it.

Quest. But why not possible now to be holden of Death?

Ans. Because the Cause was removed.

1 Cor. 15. Sin was the Cause he died for our Sins, 1, 2, 3. he gave himself for our Sins; These Sins Gal. 1. 4. brought him to Death: But when God that had made him a Curse for us, looked upon him into the Grave, he found him there without Sin, and therefore loosed the Pains of Death; for Justice saith, This is not possible, because not lawful, that he who lieth sinless before God, should be swallowed up of Death; therefore he raised him up.

Quest. But what did he do with our Sins? for he had them upon his Back.

Ans. 'Tis said he took them away: Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the Sins of the World. 'Tis said he put them away. Now once in the end of the World hath he appeared to put away Sin by the Sacrifice of himself: That is, by the Merit of his undertaking he brought into the World, and set before the Face of God such a Righteousness, that out-weigheth, and goeth far beyond that Sin; and so did hide Sin from the sight of God: Hence, he that is justified, is said to have his Sins hid and covered. Blessed is the Man whose Transgressions are forgiven, and whose Sin is covered, covered with the Righteousness of Christ. I spread my Skirt over thee, and covered thy Nakedness, thy Sins. Christ Jesus therefore, having by the Infiniteness of his Merit, taken away, put away, or hidden our Sins from the Face of God, therefore he raised him up from the Dead.

You find in that 16th of Leviticus mention made of two Goats, one was to be slain for a Sin-Offering, the other to be left alive: The Goat that was slain, was a Type of Christ's Death, the other of his Merit. Now this living Goat, he carried away the Sins of the People into the Land of Forgetfulness. And Aaron shall lay both his Hands upon the Head of the Live-Goat, and confess over him all the Iniquities of the Children of Israel, and all their Transgressions, in all their Sins, putting them upon the Head of the Goat, and shall send him away by the Hands of a fit Man into the Wilderness, and the Goat shall bear upon him all their Iniquities unto a Land not inhabited. Thus did Jesus Christ bear away by the Merit of his Death, the Sins and Iniquities of them that believe; wherefore, when God came to him in the Grave, he found him Holy and Undeiled, and raised him up from the Dead.

And observe it, As his Death was for our Sin, so his rising again was for our Discharge: For both in his Death and Resurrection he immediately respected our Benefits; he died for us, he rose from the Dead for us. He was delivered for our Offences, and was raised again for our Justification. By his Death he carried away our Sins, by his rising he brought to us justifying Righteousness. Rom. 4. 25.

There are five Circumstances also attending his Resurrection, that shew us how well pleased God was with his Death.

1. It must be solemnized with the Company, Attendance and Testimony of Angels, Matt. 28. 1, to 7. Luke 24. 3, to 7. John 20. 11, 12. 2dly, At, or just upon his Resurrection, the Graves, where many of the Saints, for whom he died, lay asleep, did open, and they followed the Lord in full Triumph over Death. The Graves were opened, and many Bodies of Saints which slept arose, and came out of their Graves after his Resurrection, and went into the Holy City, and appeared unto many. Matt. 27. 52.

These Saints coming out of their Graves after him; what a Testimony is it, that he, for them, had taken away Sin, and destroyed him that had the Power of Death: yea, what a Testimony was it that he had made Amends to God the Father, who granted him at his Resurrection, to have presently out of the Grave, Of the Price of his Blood, even the Body of many of the Saints which slept. He was declared to be the Son of God with Power by the Spirit of Holiness, and the Resurrection from the dead. It saith not by his Resurrection, though that be true; but by the Resurrection, meaning the Resurrection of the Bodies of the Saints which slept, because they rose by virtue of his Blood; and by that he was with Power declared to be the Son of God. They I say were part of his Purchase, some of them for whom Christ died: Now for God to raise them, and that upon, and by vertue of his Resurrection, what is it but an open Declaration from Heaven, that Christ by his Death hath made Amends for us, and obtained Eternal Redemption for us? Rom. 1. 4.

3dly, When he was risen from the Dead, God, to confirm his Disciples in the Faith of the Redemption that Christ had obtained by his Blood, brings him to the Church, presents him to them alive, shews him openly, sometimes to two or three, sometimes to eleven or twelve, and once to above five hundred Brethren at once, Acts 1. 3. Chap. 10. 40. Luke 24. 13, 14, 15, 16. John 20. 19. Chap. 21. 1, 2, 3, &c. 1 Cor. 15. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

4thly, At his Resurrection, God gives him the Keys of Hell and of Death, Rev. 1. 16, 17. Hell and Death are the Effects and Fruits of Sin. The Wicked shall be turned into Hell, and the Wages of Sin is Death. But what then are Sinners the better for the Death and Blood of Christ? O! they that dare venture upon him are much the better, better, for they shall not perish unless the Saviour will damn them; for he hath the Keys of Hell and of Death. Fear not, saith he, I am the First and the Last, I am he that liveth and was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore, and have the Keys of Hell and Death. These were given him at his Resurrection, as if God had said, My Son thou hast spilt thy Blood for Sinners, I am pleased with it, I am delighted in thy Merits, and in the Redemption which thou hast wrought, in token hereof, I give thee the Keys of Hell and of Death: I give thee all Power in Heaven and Earth, save who thou wilt, deliver who thou wilt, bring to Heaven who thou wilt.

5thly, At Christ's Resurrection, God bids him ask the Heathen of him, with a promise to give him the uttermost Parts of the Earth for his Possession. This Sentence is in the second Psalm, and is expounded by Paul's Interpretation of the Words before, to be spoken to Christ at his Resurrection. Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee. I have begotten thee, that is, saith Paul, from the Dead.

Acts 13. 30 to 35. He hath raised up Jesus again, as it is also written in the second Psalm, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee. Now mark at his raising him from the Dead, he bids him ask, ASK of me, and that the Heathen: As if God had said, My Son, thy Blood hath pacified and appeased my Justice; I can now in Justice for thy sake, forgive poor Mortals their Sin; ASK them of me, ASK them though they be Heathens, and I will give them to thee, to the utmost Ends of the Earth. This is then the first Demonstration to prove that Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for the Souls of Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for them; namely, his being raised again from the Dead.

The Second Demonstration.

Mar. 16. 19. Secondly, A Second thing that demonstrateth this Truth, is, That he Ascended, and was received up into Heaven. So after the Lord had spoken to them, he was received up into Heaven.

This Demonstration consisteth of two parts.

1. Of his Ascending. 2. Of his being Received.

First, For his Ascending. He is Ascended on High, Eph. 4. 8.

2 Chron. 9. This Act of Ascending answereth to the High-Priest under the Law, who, after they had killed the Sacrifice, he was to bring the Blood into the most Holy Place, to wit, the Inner Temple, the way to which, was Ascending or going up.

Now consider the Circumstances that attended his Ascending, when he went to carry his Blood to present it before the Mercy-Seat; and you will find, they all say Amends is made to God for us.

1. At this, He is again attended, and accompanied with Angels, Acts 1. 10, 11.

2. He Ascendeth with a shout, and with the sound of a Trumpet, with, sing Praises, sing Praises, sing Praises, Psalms 47. 5, 6.

3. The Enemies of Man's Salvation are now tyed to his Chariot-Wheels. When he Ascended on High, he led Captivity captive; that is, he led Death, Devils, and Hell, and the Grave, and the Curse, captive, for these things were our Captivity. And thus did Deborah prophesy of him, when she cried, Arise Barak, and lead thy Captivity captive, thou Son of Abinoam. And David also foresaw when he said, Thou hast ascended on high, thou hast led Captivity captive. Eph. 4. Judg. 5. Psal. 12. 68. 18.

4. The Apostles must be the Beholders of his going up, and must see the Cloud receive him out of their Sight, Acts 1. 11, 12.

The Consideration of these things strongly inforceth this Conclusion, That he hath spoiled what would have spoiled us, had he not by his Blood-shed taken them away. And I say, for God to adorn him with all this Glory in his Ascension; THUS to make him ride Conqueror up into the Clouds; THUS to go up with Sound of Trumpet, with Shout of Angels, and with Songs of Praises; and let me add, to be accompanied also with those that rose from the Dead after his Resurrection, who were the very Price of his Blood. This does greatly demonstrate, That Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid a full price to God for the Souls of Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for them; he had not else rid thus in Triumph to Heaven.

2. I come now to his being received: He was received up into Heaven. The High-Priest under the Law, when he ascended into the Holiest, he was there to offer the Blood; which Holiest was the Type of Heaven, Exodus 19. 10, 11. Heb. 9. 24. But because the Sacrifices under the Law, could not make them that did the Service perfect, as pertaining to the Conscience; therefore they were to stand, not to sit; to come out again, not tarry there. For it is not possible that the Blood of Bulls and Goats, should take away Sin; wherefore, when he cometh into the World, he saith, Sacrifices and Offerings thou wouldst not, but a Body hast thou prepared me. In Burnt Offerings and Sacrifices for sin thou hast had no pleasure. Then said he, lo, I come (in the volume of thy Book it is written of me) to do thy will, O God. Heb. 10. 4, 5, 6.

Christ therefore in his entring into Heaven, did it, as High-Priest of the Church of God: Therefore neither did he go in without Blood. Wherefore, when he came to be an High-Priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect Tabernacle, Heb. 9. 12, 13, 14.

nacle, not made with Hands; that is to say, not of this Building, neither by the Blood of Bulls and Goats, but by his own Blood, he entered in once into the Holy Place, having obtained Eternal Redemption for us.

He entered in having obtained, or because he obtained Eternal Redemption for us; but to pass that:

Consider ye now also those Glorious Circumstances that accompany his Approach to the Gates of the Everlasting Habitation.

1. The Everlasting Gates are set, yea, bid stand open. Be ye open ye Everlasting Doors, and the King of Glory shall come in. This King of Glory is Jesus Christ, and the Words are a Prophecy of his Glorious Ascending into the Heavens, when he went up as the High-Priest of the Church, to carry the Price of his Blood into the Holiest of all. Lift up your Heads, O ye Gates, even lift them up, ye Everlasting Doors, and the King of Glory shall come in.

2ly, At his Entrance he was received, and the Price accepted which he paid for our Souls. Hence it is said, he entered in by his Blood; that is, by the Merit of it. To receive, is an Act of Complacency and Delight, and includeth well-pleasedness in the Person receiving, who is God the Father: And considering that this Jesus, now received, is to be received upon our Account, or as undertaking the Salvation of Sinners: (for he entered into the Heavens for us) it is apparent that he entered thither by virtue of his Infinite Righteousness, which he accomplished for us upon the Earth.

3dly, At his Reception, he received Glory, and that also for our Encouragement. God raised him up, and gave him Glory, that our Faith and Hope might be in him.

He gave him Glory, as a Testimony, that his undertaking the Work of our Redemption was accepted of him.

1. He gave Glory; first to his Person, in granting him to sit at his own Right Hand, and this he had, I say, for, or upon the account of the Work he accomplished for us in the World; When he had offered up one Sacrifice for Sins, for ever, he sat down on the Right Hand of God, and this by God's Appointment. Sit thou at my Right Hand. This Glory is the Highest; it is above all Kings, Princes and Potentates in this World; it is above all Angels, Principalities and Powers in Heaven. He is gone into Heaven, and is on the Right Hand of God; Angels, and Authorities, and Powers being made subject unto him.

2. He gave Glory to his Name, to his Name, JESUS; that Name being exalted above every Name. He hath given him a Name above every Name, that at the Name of Jesus, every Knee should bow, of things in Heaven, and things on Earth, and things under the Earth, and that every Tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the Glory of God the Father, Phil. 2.

This Name is said (in another place) to be a Name above every Name that is named, not only in this World, but in that also which is to come. Eph. 1. 21.

But should [JESUS] have been such a Name, since he undertook for Sinners; had this Undertaker failed in his Work, if his Work had not been accepted with God, even the Work of our Redemption by his Blood? No verily, it would have stunk in the Nostrils both of God and Man, it would have been the most abhorred Name: but JESUS is the Name; JESUS, he was called in order to his Work. His Name shall be called JESUS, for he shall save; he was so named of the Angels, before he was conceived in the Womb; and he goeth by that Name now he is in Heaven: By the Name Jesus, Jesus of Nazareth, because he once dwelt there. This Name, I say, is the Highest Name, the Everlasting Name; the Name that he is to go by, to be known by, to be worshipped by, to be glorified by; yea the Name by which also most Glory shall redound to God the Father. Now what is the signification of this Name, but SAVIOUR? This Name he hath therefore, for his Works sake; and because God delighted in his Undertaking, and was pleased with the Price he had paid for us; therefore the Divine Majesty hath given him it, hath made it High, and hath commanded all Angels to bow unto it. Yea it is the Name in which he resteth, and by which he hath magnified all his Attributes.

1. This is the Name by which Sinners should go to God the Father.

2. This the Name through which they obtain Forgiveness of Sins and ANY thing. If you ask any thing in my Name, I will do it, John 14.

3. This is the Name through which our spiritual Services and Sacrifices are accepted, and by which an Answer of Peace is returned into our Bosoms, 1 Pet. 2. But more of this anon.

4. At this Name Devils tremble, at THIS Name Angels bow the Head, at THIS Name God's Heart openeth, at THIS Name the Godly Man's Heart is comforted: THIS Name none but Devils hate it, and none but those that must be Damned despise it; No Man speaking by the Holy Ghost calls Jesus accursed, or accounteth him still Dead, and his Blood ineffectual to save the World.

3dly, He hath also given him the Glory of Office.

1. He is there a Priest for ever, intercepting betwixt the Divine Presence, and all that hate us, by his Blood; Sin, Satan, Death, Hell, the Law, the Grave, or the like, cannot be heard, if his Blood be presented

Heb. 12. 24. fented to God, as the Atonement for us: This is called the Blood of sprinkling which speaks better things than the Blood of Abel. By this Blood he entred into Heaven, by this Blood he secureth from Wrath, all that come unto God by him: But should his Blood have had a Voice in Heaven to save withal, had it not merited first, even in the shedding of it, the Ransom, and Redemption of Souls? 'Tis true, a Man whose Blood cannot save, may with Abel's, cry out for Vengeance and Wrath on the Head of him that sheds it, but THIS Blood speaks for better things, this Blood speaks for Souls, for Sinners, for Pardon. Having obtained Eternal Redemption for us.

Heb. 6. 20. 2. He is there a Fore-runner for us. Whither the Fore-runner is for us entered, even Jesus. This Office of Harbinger, is distinct from, though it comes by virtue of his Priestly Office; therefore they are both mentioned in the Text. Whither the Fore-runner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an High-Priest for ever, after the Order of Melchisedec. He is therefore our Fore-runner, by virtue of his Priesthood, his Blood giving worth to all he does.

In this Office of Harbinger, or Fore-runner, he prepareth for Believers their Dwelling-places in the Heavens; their Dwelling-places, according to their Place, State, Calling, Service, or Work, in his Body the Church: In my Father's House, saith he, are many Mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you: I go to prepare a Place for you.

John 14. This is that is mentioned in the 47th Psalm. He shall chuse our Inheritance for us, the Excellency of Jacob whom he loved. But should he have had Power to choose our Inheritance for us, to prepare our dwelling-places; should he have Power to give, even Heaven it self, to a Company of Poor Men, had he not in the first place obtained by his Blood the Deliverance of our Souls from Death.

3. He is there a Prophet for us, by which Office of his, he hath received to communicate the whole Will of the Eternal God, so far as is fit for us to know in this World, or in that which is to come. Hence he is called the Prophet of the Church. The Lord shall raise you up a Prophet, and this is of a Truth that Prophet that should come into the World. But this Office he hath also now in Heaven, by vertue of the Blood he shed for us upon Earth. Hence the New Testament is called, The New Testament in his Blood; and his Blood is said to be the Blood of the Everlasting Covenant, or Testament: yea such Vertue doth his Blood give to the New Testament or Covenant of Grace, as that severed from that it is nothing worth; for a Testament is of force after Men are dead, otherwise it is of no strength at all while the Testator liveth. So that every Word of God, which he hath by Christ given to us for our Everlasting Consolation, is dipt in Blood, is founded in Blood, and stands good to Sinners purely (I mean with Respect to Merit) upon the account of Blood, or because his Blood that was shed for us on the Cross, prevailed for us for the Remission of our Sins. Let no Man think to receive any Benefit by Christ's Prophetical Office; by any of the good Words of Grace, and Forgiveness of Sins that are sprinkled up and down in the New Testament; That looketh not for that good to come to him for the sake of that Blood by which this Testament is established: For neither was the first Testament dedicated without Blood; for when Moses had spoken every Precept to all the People according to the Law, He took the Blood of Calves, and of Goats with Water, and scarlet wool, and Hyssop, and sprinkled both the Book and all the People, saying, This is the Blood of the Testament which God hath enjoined unto you.

Heb. 9. 18. 19, 20. The Prophetical Office of Christ standeth of two parts: First in Promises of Grace; Secondly, in Directions of Worship; but neither is this last, to wit, the Doctrine of Worship, or our Subjection to that Worship, of any value, any further than as sprinkled also with his Blood: For as in the first Testament, the Tabernacle and all the Vessels of the Ministry were sprinkled with Blood (and it was necessary that so it should be) so the heavenly Things themselves must be also purified with Sacrifices, but yet with better Sacrifice than these; for now, not Moses, but Christ, doth sprinkle, not with Blood of Calves, but with his own Blood, neither as entered into Places made with Hands, but from Heaven doth Jesus sprinkle all that Doctrine of Worship, and Subjection of his Saints thereto, which is of his own instituting and commanding, Heb. 9. 23, 24, 25, 26.

4. He hath received there the Office of a King, by which he ruleth in the Church, and over all things for her Sake. The Government is laid upon his Shoulders; the Lord God hath given him the Throne of his Father David. Hence it is that he saith, All Power is given me in Heaven and Earth; but now this Kingly Office he hath it by his Blood, because he humbled himself to Death, therefore God hath highly exalted him, and given him the highest Name. And hence again he is called a LAMB upon the Throne. In the midst of the Throne and of the four Beasts, and in the midst of the Elders stood a Lamb as it had been slain, having seven Horns; a Demonstration of Kingly Power. But mark he was a Lamb upon the Throne, he had his Horns as a Lamb. Now by LAMB, we are to understand, not only his meek and sweet Disposition, but his Sacrifice; for he was as a Lamb to be slain and sacrificed; and so his having a Throne and seven Horns as a Lamb, giveth us to understand, that he obtained this Dignity of

Rev. 5. of King by his Blood. When he had by himself purged our Sins, he sat down on the right hand of the Majesty in the Heavens.
 Heb. 4. 10. When he had offered up one Sacrifice for Sins for ever, he sat down on the right Hand of God.

Now put all these together, to wit, his Resurrection from the Dead, his Ascension, and his Exaltation to Office, and remember also that the Person thus exalted, is the same Jesus of Nazareth that sometime was made accursed of God for Sin, and also that he obtained this Glory by vertue of the Blood that was shed for us; and it must unavoidably follow, That Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for them.

The third Demonstration.

BUT to proceed: A third Demonstration that Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for them, is, because he hath received for them the Holy Spirit of God.

Acts 2. 32, 33. This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof, said Peter, we are all Witnesses. Therefore being by the Right Hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the Promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth that which ye now see and hear.

The receiving of the Holy Ghost at the hand of the Father, who had bruised him before for the Transgressions of his People: The receiving of it, I say, upon his Resurrection, and that to give them for whom (just before) he had spilt his Blood to make an Atonement for their Souls; argueth, that the Divine Majesty found Rest and Content in that precious Blood, and found it full Price for the Sinners for whom he shed it.

And if you consider the Necessity of the giving of this good Spirit to Men, and the Benefit that they receive by his coming upon them, you will see yet more into the Truth now contended for.

First, Then of the Necessity of giving this good Spirit.

Secondly, And then of the Benefit which we receive at his coming.

First, Of the Necessity of its being given.

1. Otherwise Jesus could never have been proved to be the Saviour; for the Promise was, that Messias should have the Spirit given him; given him to communicate. As for me, this is my Covenant with them, saith the Lord, my Spirit which is upon thee, and my Words which I have put in thy Mouth (meaning the Redeemer, ver. 20.) shall not depart out of thy Mouth, nor out of the Mouth of thy Seed, nor out of the Mouth of thy Seed's Seed, from henceforth and for ever.

Isa. 59. 21.

Here is the Promise of the Spirit to be given to Christ, and by him to his Seed for ever. And this was signified long before in the Anointing of Aaron and his Sons. Exod. 30. And thou shalt anoint Aaron and his Sons, and consecrate them.

This Spirit Jesus promised to send unto his, at his Exaltation on the right hand of God. The Spirit, I say, in the plentiful Pourings of it out. True, the Church in all Ages had something of it by vertue of the Suretyship of the Lord Jesus; but this in comparison of what was to come into the Church after his Resurrection, is not reckoned a Pouring forth, therefore Pourings forth thereof are reserved to the Time of the Ascension and Exaltation of this Jesus. I will pour out of my Spirit in THOSE Days.

Hence Jesus reserves it till his going away, and 'tis expressly said, The Holy Ghost was not yet given, because Jesus was not yet glorified. Accordingly did the Apostles wait after his Resurrection for the pouring forth of the Holy Ghost, and at the set Time did receive it, by the giving of which he declared himself to be the Son of God and Saviour of the World, John 14. 26. Chap. 15. 26. Chap. 16. 7. Acts 1. 4, 5. Joel 2. 28. Acts 2. 16, 17. John 7. 39. Rom. 1. 4.

2. Without the giving of the Holy Ghost there had wanted a Testimony that his Gospel was the Gospel of Messias. Moses his Ministration was confirmed by Signs and Wonders and mighty Deeds, both in Egypt in the Wilderness, and at the Red Sea; wherefore 'twas necessary that the Doctrine of Redemption by Blood, which is the Doctrine of the Gospel of this Jesus, should be also confirmed with signs following. Hence both himself and Apostles did as frequently work Miracles and do mighty Deeds, as his Ministers now do preach: which Signs and Miracles, and Wonders, confirmed their Doctrine, though themselves, both Master and Scholar was (in Appearance the most considerable) mean: yea, they by the Means of the Holy Ghost, have so ratified, confirmed, and settled the Gospel in the World, that no Philosopher, Tyrant or Devil hath been able hitherto to move it out of its place. He confirmed the Word with Signs following. Mar. 16. 20. Heb. 2. 4.

3. As the giving of the Holy Ghost was necessary thus; so was it necessary also to strengthen them that were intrusted with his Gospel.

1. To preach it effectually. 2. To stand to it boldly. 3. And to justify it to be the Doctrine of Messias incontroulably.

1. To preach it effectually; in Demonstration of the Spirit. 1 Cor. 2. 4. 2 Cor. 5. 4, 5, 6.

2. To stand to it boldly; then Peter filled with the Holy Ghost, said: And they saw the Boldness of Peter and John. John 16. 8, 9. Acts 8. 13.

3. To justify the Doctrine incontroulably. I will give you a Mouth and Wisdom which all your Adversaries shall not be able to resist or gainsay. And they were not able to resist the Wisdom and Spirit by which he spake. Luke 21. 15. Acts 6. 10. Now,

Now, I say, that God should give the Holy Ghost to Jesus to confirm this Gospel, Redemption from Sin by his Blood; what is it but that by his Blood he hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for them?

But again, the Benefit which we receive at the Coming of the Holy Ghost, doth more demonstrate this Truth; hath Christ purchased Sinners, and are they the Price of his Blood? Yes. But how doth that appear? Why, because by the Holy Ghost which he hath received to give us, we are fitted for the Inheritance which by his Blood is prepared for us.

1. By the Spirit of God we are quickned, and raised from a State of Sin, but that we could not be, were it not that an Atonement is made for us first, by the Blood of Christ our Saviour. This is true; for they that are quickned by the Holy Ghost, are quickned by it through the Word of the Gospel which offereth Justification to Sinners through Faith in his Blood: yea, we are said to be quickned together with him, dead and risen with him: yet so as by the Spirit of God.

2. We are not only quickned by the Holy Ghost, but possessed therewith; it is given to dwell in our Hearts. Because ye are Gal. 4. 4. Sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your Hearts; which Spirit is also our Earnest for Heaven, until the Redemption of the purchased Possession; that is, until our Body which is the purchased Possession, be redeemed also out of the Grave by the Power of the same mighty Spirit of God, Ephes. 1. 13. 14.

3. By this Holy Spirit we are made to believe, Rom. 15. 13.

4. By this Holy Spirit we are helped to pray and call God Father.

5. By this Holy Spirit we are helped to understand and apply the Promises.

6. By this Holy Spirit the Joy of Heaven, and the Love of God is shed abroad in the Heart of the Saved.

7. By this Holy Spirit we are made to wait for the hope of Righteousness by Faith, that is, to stand fast through our Lord Jesus in the Day when he shall judge the World.

And all this is the Fruit of Redemption by Blood: of Redemption by the Blood of Christ.

This is yet further evident,

1. Because the Work of the Spirit is to lead us into the Sayings of Christ; which, as to our Redemption from Death, are such as these. I lay down my Life, that you may have Life. I give my Life a Ransom for many; And the Bread which I will give is my Flesh, which I will give for the Life of the World. 2. Because the Spirit in the Wisdom of Heaven, is not counted a sufficient Testimony on Earth, but as joined with the Blood of Christ. There are three that bear Witness on Earth, the Spirit, the Water, and the Blood. These are the Witnesses of God. The Spirit, because it quickneth; the Blood, because it hath merited; and the Water, to wit, the Word, because by that, we are clean, as to Life and Conversation, 1 John 5. 8. Ephes. 5. 26. Rom. 8. 16. Psal. 119. 9. 3. Because, as by the Spirit, so we are sanctified by Faith in the Blood of Jesus, Heb. 13. 12. 4. Because when most full of the Spirit, and when that doth work most mightily in us, we are then most in the Belief, and admiring Apprehensions of our Deliverance from Death by the Blood of Jesus, Rev. 15. Chap. 5. 9. 5. The Holy Ghost breatheth no where, so as in the Ministry of this Doctrine, this Doctrine is sent with the Holy Ghost from Heaven; yea, as I have hinted, one of the great Works of the Holy Ghost under the Old-Testament, was to testify of the Sufferings of Christ, and the Glory that should follow. ^{1 Pet. 1. 11, 12.}

Put all these Things together and see, if Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath not paid full Price to God for Sinners; if he hath not obtained eternal Redemption for them.

The Fourth Demonstration.

THAT Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them, is evident, if you consider how the Preaching thereof hath been from that Time to this a mighty Conqueror over all kind of Sinners. What Nation, what People, what kind of Sinners have not been subdued by the preaching of a crucified Christ? He upon the white Horse with his Bow and his Crown hath conquered, doth conquer, and goeth forth yet conquering and Rev. 6. 2 to conquer: And I, saith he, if I be lifted up from the Earth, will draw all Men unto me: But what was it to be lifted up from the Earth? Why, It may be expounded by that Saying: As Moses lifted up the Serpent in the Wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, that whosoever believeth in him, might not perish but have everlasting Life. ^{John 12. 32. Chap. 3. 14, 15.}

He was then lifted up, when he was hanged upon a Tree between the Heavens and the Earth as the accursed of God for us. The Revelation of this, it conquers all Nations, Tongues and People. And they sang a new Song, saying, thou art worthy to take the Book and to open the Seals thereof, for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy Blood, out of every Kindred and Tongue, and People, and Nation: Hence the Apostle Paul chose, above all Doctrines, to preach up a crucified Christ, and resolved so to do: For I determined, saith he, not to know any Thing among you, save Jesus Christ and him crucified. ^{1 Cor. 2. 2, 3.}

1. The Doctrine of Forgiveness of Sin, conquered conquered his very Murderers. They could not withstand the Grace; those bloody ones, that would kill him whatever it cost them, could stand no longer, but received his Doctrine, fell into his Bosom, and obtained the Salvation which is in Christ Jesus. They shall look upon him whom they have pierced, and mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only Son, and they shall be in bitterness for him, as one is in bitterness for his First-born. Now was this Scripture eminently fulfilled, when the Kindness of a crucified Christ, broke to Pieces the Hearts of them that had before been his Betrayers and Murderers. Now was there a great Mourning in Jerusalem; now was their Wailing and Lamentation mixed with Joy and Rejoycing.

Zech. 12.

2. Though Paul was mad, exceeding mad against Jesus Christ of Nazareth, yea, though he was his avowed Enemy, seeking to put out his Name from under Heaven: Yet the Voice from Heaven [I am Jesus, &c.] I am the Saviour; how did it conquer him, make him throw down his Arms, fall down at his Feet, and accept of the Forgiveness of Sins freely by Grace, through Redemption by Faith in his Blood.

3. They at Samaria, though before Philip preached to them, worshipped and admired the Devil in Magus, yet when they believed Philip's Preaching of Christ unto them, and Forgiveness of Sins through Faith in his Name, great Joy was amongst them, and they were baptized both Men and Women, Acts 8. He preached, faith the Text, the Things concerning the Kingdom of God, and the Name of Jesus Christ; that is, all the Blessings of Life, through the Name of Jesus Christ; for he is the Mediator, and without his Blood come no spiritual Blessings to Men.

4. How was the sturdy Jailer overcome by a Promise of Forgiveness of Sins by Faith in Jesus Christ. It stopt his Hand of Self-murder, it eased him of the Gnawings of a guilty Conscience, and fears of Hell-Fire, and filled his Soul with rejoycing in God. Acts 16. 30, to 34.

5. How were those that used curious Arts, that were next to, if not, Witches indeed; I say, how were they prevailed upon, and overcome by the Word of God; which is the Gospel of good Tidings through Faith in the Blood of Christ? Acts 19. 17, 18.

6. How were the Ephesians, who were sometimes far from God; how, I say, were they made nigh by the Blood of Christ, Ephes. 2. 13.

7. The Colossians, though sometimes dead in their Sins, yet how were they quickened by God, through the Forgiveness of all their Trespases, and they had that through his Blood, Col. 2. 13. Chap. 1. 14.

What shall I say, no Man could as yet stand before, and not fall under the Revelation of the Forgiveness of Sins through a crucified Christ; as hanged, as dying, as accursed for Sinners; he draws all Men unto him, Men of all Sorts, of all Degrees.

Shall I add, how have Men broken through all Difficulties to Jesus, when he hath been discovered to them! neither Lyons nor Fires, nor Sword, nor Famine, nor Nakedness nor Peril; neither Death nor Life, nor Angels, nor Principalities, nor Powers, nor Things present, nor Things to come, nor Height, nor Depth, nor any other Creature, shall be able to separate us from the Love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord, Rom. 8. 35, 36, 37, 38, 39.

The Fifth Demonstration.

THAT Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them, is evident, by the Peace and Holiness, that by that Doctrine possesseth Mens Souls; The Souls of Men awakened, and that continue so. By awakened Men, I mean such as through the Revelation of their Sin and Misery, groan under the Want of Jesus to save them, and that continue sensible, that they needs must perish if his Benefits be not bestowed upon them.

For otherwise the Gospel ministreth neither Peace nor Holiness to any of the Souls of the Sons of Men; that is to say, not Saving Peace and Holiness.  The Gospel of Grace and Salvation, is above all Doctrines the most dangerous, if in Word only it be received by graceless Men: If it be not attended with a Revelation of Mens need of a Saviour: if it be not accompanied in the Soul by the Power of the Holy Ghost. For such Men as have only the Notions of it, are of all Men liable to the greatest Sins, because there wanteth in their Notions, the Power of Love, which alone can constrain them to love Jesus Christ. And this is the Reason of these Scriptures. They turn the Grace of God into Wantonness; They turn the Grace of our God into Lasciviousness. Jude 4.

For some when they hear of the Riches of Grace, through Christ, that hearing not being attended with the Faith and Love which is in Christ Jesus; those Men receive the Notions of this good Doctrine, only to cloak their Wickedness, and to harden themselves in their Villanies.

Others when they hear, being leavened before with the leaven of some other Doctrine, some Doctrine of the Righteousness of the World, or Doctrine of Devils; forthwith make head against, and speak evil of the blessed Doctrine; and because some that profess it, are not cleansed from their Filthiness of Flesh and Spirit, and do not not perfect Holineſs in the Fear of God : Therefore others conclude that all that profeſs it are ſuch, and that the Doctrine it ſelf tendeth to encourage, or at leaſt, to tolerate Licentiousneſs, as they imagined and affirmed of Paul, that he ſhould ſay, Let us do evil, that Good may come.

Rom. 3.
8, 9.

The Ground of that wicked Concluſion of theirs, was, becauſe he by the Allowance of God affirmed, That as Sin had reigned unto Death, ſo Grace reigned unto Life in a Way of Righteouſneſs by Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Nay then, ſays the Adverſary, we may be as unholy as we will, and that by the Doctrine you preach : For if where Sin abounds, Grace abounds more, the Conſequence of a wicked Life, is but the heightening, advancing, and magnifying of Grace. But what ſaith the Apoſtle? my Concluſions are true, That Grace doth reign above Sin, but to ſay, let us therefore ſin, that Man's Damnation is juſt ; becauſe ſuch an one abuſeth, and maketh the moſt devilish Uſe of the bleſſedſt Doctrine that ever was heard of in the World amongſt Men. Beſides 'tis evident that ſuch know not the Power thereof ; nor have felt or favoured its Bleſſedneſs ; for where this Goſpel cometh in Truth, it naturally produceth Peace and Holineſs.

1. Peace. He is our Peace, he is the Prince of Peace, he giveth Peace in his High Places.

This Word Peace hath in it a double Reſpect.

1. It reſpecteth God ; He hath made Peace by the Blood of his Croſs ; that is, he hath made Peace for us with God, having appeaſed the rigour of his Law, and ſatiſfied Juſtice for us. Hence it is ſaid : The Peace of God which paſſeth all underſtanding, ſhall keep your Hearts and Minds through Chriſt Jeſus : The Peace of God, that is, the Doctrine of Reconciliation by Chriſt's being made to be Sin for us, That ſhall keep the Heart, that is, from deſpair or fainting under Apprehenſions of Weakneſs and Juſtice : But yet, this Peace of God cannot be apprehended, nor be of any Comfort to the Heart, but as the Man looks for it through Chriſt Jeſus. Therefore that Clause is added, through Chriſt Jeſus : For he is Peace-maker, 'tis he that reconcileth us to God in the Body of his Fleſh through Death ; for by his doing and ſuffering he preſented God with everlaſting Righteouſneſs for Sinners. Upon this we have Peace with God. Hence Chriſt is called King of Righteouſneſs firſt ; firſt being by Interpretation King of Righteouſneſs, and after that alſo King of Salem, which is King of Peace. For he could not make Peace with God, 'twixt us and him, but by being firſt the Lord of Righteouſneſs, the Lord our Righteouſneſs : But having firſt compleated Righteouſneſs, he then came and preached Peace, and commanded his

Col. 1.20.
Phil. 4.7.

Ambaſſadors to make Proclamation of it to the World, 2 Cor. 5. 19, 21. For 'twas want of Righteouſneſs that cauſed want of Peace : Now then Righteouſneſs being brought in, it followeth that he hath made Peace. For he is our Peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle Wall of Partition between us. Having aboliſhed in his Fleſh the Enmity, even the Law of Commandments, contained in Ordinances, for to make in himſelf of twain one new Man, ſo making Peace, and that he might reconcile both unto God, in one Body by the Croſs, having ſlain the Enmity thereby, and came and preached Peace to you that were aſar off, and to them that were nigh ; for through him we both have acceſs, by one Spirit unto the Father.

2dly. This Word Peace reſpecteth our inward Quietneſs of Heart which we obtain, by beholding this Reconciliation made by Chriſt, with God, for us. Being juſtified by Faith, we have Peace with God through our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. The God of Peace fill you with all Joy and Peace in believing.

Eph. 2. 14,
10 19.

Rom. 5. 1,
Chap. 15.
13.

This Peace is expreſſed diverſly :

1. Sometimes it is called Quietneſs ; for it calms the Soul from thoſe troublous Fears of damning, becauſe of Sin. And the Work of Righteouſneſs ſhall be Peace, and the Effect of Righteouſneſs, Quietneſs and Assurance for ever. 2. Sometimes it is called Boldneſs ; for by the Blood of Chriſt a Man hath Encouragement to approach unto God. Having, brethren, Boldneſs to enter into the Holieſt by the Blood of Jeſus, by a new and living way which he hath conſecrated for us through the Vail, that is to ſay his Fleſh. 3. It is ſometimes called Confidence ; becauſe by Jeſus Chriſt we have not only Encouragement to come to God, but Confidence ; that if we ask any thing according to his Will, he not only heareth, but granteth the Request which we put up to him. In whom we have Boldneſs and Acceſs, with Confidence, by the Faith of Jeſus. 4. Sometimes this Place is expreſſed by REST, becauſe a Man having found a ſufficient Fulneſs to answer all his Wants, he ſitteth down, and looks no further for Satisfaction. Come unto me all ye that Labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you reſt. 5. It is alſo expreſſed by Singing, becauſe the Peace of God when it is received into the Soul by Faith, putteth the Conſcience into a Heavenly and Melodious Frame. And the Ransomed of the Lord ſhall return, and come to Zion with Songs, and Everlaſting Joy upon their Heads, they ſhall obtain Joy and Gladneſs, and Sorrow and Sighing ſhall fly away. 6. Sometimes it is expreſſed or diſcovered by an Heavenly glorying and boaſting in Jeſus Chriſt, becauſe this Peace cauſeth the Soul to ſet its Face upon its Enemies with Faith of a Victory over them for ever by its Lord Jeſus. Let him that glorieth,

Jer. 9. 23. glorieth, glory in the Lord; and, My Soul shall make her boasts in the Lord, the Humble shall hear thereof, and be glad. 7. Sometimes it is expressed or discovered by Joy, Joy unspeakable; because the Soul having seen it self reconciled to God, hath not only Quietness, but such Apprehensions do now possess it of the unspeakable Benefits it receiveth by Christ with respect to the World to come, that it is swallowed up with them.

1 Pet. 1. 8. Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoyce with Joy unspeakable, and full of Glory. 8. Lastly, It is expressed, or discovered by the Triumph that ariseth sometimes in the Hearts of the Believers; for they at times are able to see Death, Sin, the Devil, and Hell, and all Adversity conquered by and tied as Captives at the Chariot-Wheels of Jesus Christ: Taken captive, I say, and overthrown for ever.

2 Cor. 2. Thanks be to God who causeth us always to triumph in Christ. O clap your Hands, O ye People, sing unto God with the Voice of Triumph.

Now that all this should be a cheat, is impossible, that is, it is impossible that Believers should thus have Peace with God through the Blood of his Cross; he having not paid full Price to God for them; especially if you consider that the Authors of this Peace, are all the Three in the God-head, and that upon a double account.

1. In that they have given us a Gospel of Peace, Rom. 10. 15. or a New Testament which propoundeth Peace with God through the Redemption that is in Christ. Now as this is called the Gospel of Peace; so 1. It is called, The Gospel of God, 1 Thes. 2. 9. 2 Thes. 1. 8. 2. The Gospel of Christ, Rom. 15. 19. 3. A Gospel indited by the Holy Ghost, 1 Thes. 4. 8.

I say therefore, that Redemption and Salvation, being that thro' Christ, and the Truth thereof proclaimed by the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost, in the Word of the Truth of the Gospel, it must needs be that we who believe, shall be saved, if we hold the Confidence and the rejoicing firm unto the End. 2. As the Three in the God-head are the Authors of this Peace, by inditing for us the Gospel of Peace, or the good Tidings of Salvation by Jesus Christ: So they are the Authors of our Peace, by working with that Word of the Gospel in our Hearts. And hence 1. the Father is called the God of Peace; now the God of Peace

Rom. 15. be with you all: And the very God of Peace sanctify you. And because he is the God of Peace, therefore he filleth those that believe in his Christ, with Joy and Peace

Rom. 15. through believing. 2. Again, Christ is called the Prince of Peace; therefore the Prayer is, Grace be with you and Peace from God the Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ. 3. The Holy Ghost also is the Author of this Peace, this inward Peace; Even Righteousness and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghost. Rom. 14. 17.

And I say, as I also have already said, the procuring or Meritorious Cause of this Peace, are the doings and sufferings of Christ. Therefore by his doings and sufferings he paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them; else God would never have indited a Proclamation of Peace for them, and the Honour of that Proclamation to be the Worthiness of the Lord Jesus: yea, he would never have wrought with that Word in the Heart of them that believe, to create in them Peace, Peace.

Secondly, As Peace with God is an Evidence, (the Blood of Christ being the Cause thereof) that Christ hath by it paid full Price to God for Sinners; so Holiness in their Hearts taking its beginning from this Doctrine, makes this fifth Demonstration of double strength.

1. That Holiness, true Gospel Holiness, possesseth our Hearts by this Doctrine, 'tis evident; because the Ground of Holiness which is the Spirit of God in us, is ministered to us by this Doctrine. When the Apostle had insinuated that the Galatians were bewitched, because they had turned from the Doctrine of Christ Crucified, he demands of them, Whether they received the Spirit by the Works of the Law, or by the hearing of Faith? That is, whether the Spirit took Possession of their Souls by their Obedience to the Ten Commandments; or by their giving Credit to the Doctrine of the Forgiveness of their Sins, by Faith in this Crucified Christ: strongly concluding not by the Law, but by the hearing, or preaching of Faith; that is, of the Lord Jesus as Crucified, who is the Object of Faith. 2. As this Doctrine conveyeth the Ground, or Ground-work which is the Spirit; so also it worketh in the Heart those three Graces, Faith, Hope, Love, all which as naturally purifie the Heart from Wickedness, as Sope, or Niter, cleanseth the Cloth. He purified their Hearts by Faith, by Faith in Christ's Blood. And every one that hath this Hope in him, purifieth himself even as he is pure. And also Love, you shall see what that doth, if you look into the Text, Acts 15. 9. 1 John 3. 3, 4. 1 Cor. 13. Now I say, this Faith groundeth it self in the Blood of Christ; Hope waiteth for the full Enjoyments of the Purchase of it, in another World: and Love is begot, and worketh by the Love that Christ hath expressed by his Death, and by the Kindness he presented us with in his Heart's Blood, Rom. 3. 24. 1 Cor. 15. 19. 2 Cor. 5. 14.

Besides, what Arguments so prevailing, as such as are purely Gospel? To instance a few.

1. What stronger, than a free Forgiveness of Sins. A certain Man had two Debtors, the Luke 7. 41, 42, 47.

the one owed him five hundred Pence, and the other fifty, and when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both; tell me therefore which of them will love him most?

2. What stronger Argument to Holiness, than to see, that though Forgiveness comes free to us, yet it cost Christ Jesus Heart-Blood to obtain it for us. Herein is Love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the Propitiation for our Sins. And this Love of God in giving his Christ, and of Christ, in dying for us, there is no Argument stronger to prevail with a sensible and awakened Sinner to judge, he should live to him that died for him, and rose again. 3. What stronger Argument to Holiness than this; If any Man sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the Righteous. Unsanctified and graceless Wretches know not how to use these Words of God; the Hypocrites also fly in our Faces, because we thus urge them; but a Heart that is possessed with Gospel Ingenuity, or to speak more properly, that is possessed with Gospel Grace, and with Divine Considerations, cries, If it be thus, O let me never sin against God! for the Love of Christ constrains me. 4. What greater Argument to Holiness, than to see the Holy Scriptures so furnished with Promises of Grace and Salvation by Christ, that a Man can hardly cast his Eye into the Bible, but he espieth one or another of them? who would not live in such an House, or be a Servant to such a Prince, who, besides his exceeding in good Conditions, hath Gold and Silver as common in his Palace, as Stones are by the High-way side? Having therefore these Promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all Filthiness of Flesh and Spirit, perfecting Holiness in the Fear of God. 5. What greater Argument to Holiness, than to have our Performances, though weak and infirm, from us, yet accepted of God in Jesus Christ, 1 Pet. 2. 4, 5, 6. 6. What greater Argument to Holiness, than to have our Soul, our Body, our Life hid, and secured with Christ in God? Mortify therefore your Members that are upon the Earth, Fornication, Unclean-ness, inordinate Affection, evil Concupiscence, and Covetousness which is Idolatry.

What greater Argument to Holiness, than to be made the Members of the Body, of the Flesh, and of the Bones of Jesus Christ? Shall I take the Members of Christ, and make them the Members of an Harlot? God forbid.

Now all these, and five times as many more, having their Foundation in the Love, Blood and Righteousness of Christ, and operating in the Soul by Faith, are the great Arguments unto that Holiness, to which is annexed eternal Life. 'Tis worth our observing, that in Acts 26, at the 18th, the Inheritance belongs to them that are sanctified by Faith in Jesus Christ: For all other Pretences to Holiness, they are but a stollen Semblance of that which is true and acceptable, though 'tis common; for even that which is counterfeit to be called by the deluded, the true, and to be reckoned to be in them that are utter Strangers to Faith, and the Holiness that comes by Faith. But whosoever compoundeth any like it, or whosoever putteth any of it upon a Stranger, shall even be cut off from his People. God knoweth which is Holiness that comes by Faith and in Forgiveness of Sins, and Acceptance with God, through Christ: And God knows which is only such feignedly; and accordingly will he deal with Sinners in that great Day of God Almighty.

The Sixth Demonstration.

THAT Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them, is evident, because Prayers are accepted of God only upon the Account and for the sake of the Name of Jesus Christ: Verily, verily, I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you. In my Name, in the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth in the Name of him that came into the World to save Sinners, by dying for them a grievous bloody Death; in his Name that hath by himself put away Sin, and brought unto God acceptable Righteousness for Sinners; in his Name; why in his Name, if he be not accepted of God? why in his Name, if his Undertakings for us are not well-pleasing to God? But by these Words, In my Name, are insinuated, that his Person and Performances, as our Undertaker, are accepted by the Father of Spirits. We may not go in our own Names, because we are Sinners; not in the Name of one another, because all are Sinners; but why not in the Name of an Angel? Because they are not those that did undertake for us, or had they, they could not have done our Work for us. He putteth no Trust in his Saints, yea the Heavens are not clean in his Sight. It may further be objected:

Since Jesus Christ is God equal with the Father, and so hath naturally the same Power to give as the Father, why should the Father rather than the Son, be the great Giver to the Sinners of the World? and why may we not go to Christ in the Name of the Father, as well as to the Father in the Name of Christ? I say, how can these things be salved, but by considering that Sin and Justice put a NECESSITY upon it, that thus must our Salvation be obtained. Sin and Justice could not reconcile, nor could a Means be found out to bring the Sinner and an holy God together, but by the intercepting of the Son, who must take upon him to answer Justice, and that by taking our Sins from before the Face of God by bloody Sacrifice, not by Blood of others, as the High-Priests under the Law. For, as every

Heb. 8. 3. every High-Priest is ordained to offer Gifts and Sacrifices, it is of neceſſity that this Man have ſomewhat alſo to offer: which Offering and Sacrifice of his being able to perfect for ever them that are ſanctified and ſet apart for eternal Life; therefore the Name of the Perſon that offered (even Jeſus made of God an High-Prieſt) is acceptable with God; yea therefore is he made for ever, by his doing for us, the Appeaſer of the Juſtice of God, and the Reconciler of Sinners to him. Hence it is, that HIS Name is that which it behoveth us to mention when we come before God, for what God hath determined in his Counſels of Grace to beſtow upon Sinners; becauſe for his Name-ſake he forgiveth them. I write to you, little Children, becauſe your Sins are forgiven you for his Name ſake. To him give all the Prophets Witneſs, that through his Name, whoſoever believeth in him ſhall receive Remiſſion of Sins.

1 Joh. 2. 14
Acts 10.
43.

They therefore that would obtain the Forgiveness of Sins, muſt ask it of God, through the Name of Jeſus; and he that ſhall ſenſibly and unfeignedly do it, he ſhall receive the Forgiveness of them. Whatſoever ye ſhall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you. Hence it is evident that he hath not only paid full Price to God for them, but alſo obtained Eternal Redemption for them.

Joh. 16. 24

And it is obſervable, the Lord Jeſus would have his Diſciples make a Proof of this, and promiſeth, that if they do, they ſhall Experimentally find it ſo. Hitherto, ſaith he, ye have asked nothing in my Name, ask and ye ſhall receive, that your Joy may be full. As who ſhould ſay, O my Diſciples, you have heard what I have promiſed to you, even that my Father ſhall do for you, whatſoever ye ſhall ask him in my Name. Ask now therefore, and prove me, if I ſhall not make my Words good: Ask, I ſay, what you need, and ſee if you do not receive it to the Joying of your Hearts. At that Day ye ſhall ask in my Name, and I ſay not unto you, that I will pray the Father for you. I do not bid you ask in my Name, as if the Father was yet hard to be reconciled, or unwilling to accept you to Mercy: my Coming into the World was the Deſign of my Father, and the Effect of his Love to Sinners; but there is Sin in you, and Juſtice in God; therefore that you to him might be reconciled, I am made of my Father Mediator, wherefore ask in my Name; for, there is none other Name given under the Heavens among Men whereby they muſt be ſaved. Ask in my Name, Love is let out to you thro' me, it is let out to you by me in a Way of Juſtice, which is the only ſecure Way for you. Ask in my Name, and my Father will love you. The Father himſelf loveth you, becauſe you have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God. My Father's Love is ſet firſt upon me, for my Name is chief in his Heart, and all that love me are beloved of my Father, and ſhall have what they need if they ask in my Name.

Acts 4. 12.

Joh. 16. 27

But, I ſay, what Cauſe would there be to ask in his Name more than in the Name of ſome other? ſince Juſtice was provoked by our Sin; if he had not undertook to make up the Difference that by Sin was made betwixt Juſtice and us. For though there be in this Jeſus infinite Worth, infinite Righteouſneſs, infinite Merit; yet if he make not with theſe, Intereſt for us, we get no more Benefit thereby than if there were no Mediator: But this Worth and Merit is in him for us; for he undertook to reconcile us to God, it is therefore that his Name is with God ſo prevailing for us poor Sinners; and therefore that we ought to go to God in his Name. Hence therefore it is evident, that Jeſus Chriſt hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them.

The Seventh Demonſtration.

THAT Jeſus Chriſt, by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, &c. is evident, becauſe we are commanded alſo to give God Thanks in his Name. By him therefore let us offer the Sacrifice of Praise continually, that is, the Fruit of our Lips, giving Thanks in his Name, Heb. 13. 15.

By him therefore? wherefore? becauſe he alſo that he might ſanctify us with his own Blood, ſuffered without the Gate. ver. 12.

He ſanctified us with his Blood, but why ſhould the Father have Thanks for this? even becauſe the Father gave him for us, that he might die to ſanctify us with his Blood. Giving Thanks to the Father which hath made us meet to be Partakers of the Inheritance of the Saints in Light, who hath delivered us from the Power of Darkneſs, and hath translated us into the Kingdom of his dear Son, in whom we have Redemption through his Blood, even the Forgiveness of Sins. The Father is to be thanked, for the Contrivance was alſo his, but the Blood, the Righteouſneſs, or that Worthineſs, for the ſake of which we are accepted of God, is the Worthineſs of his own dear Son; as it is meet therefore that God ſhould have Thanks, ſo it is neceſſary that he have it in his Name for whoſe ſake we are indeed accepted of him. Col. 1. 12, 13, 14.

Let us therefore by him offer Praise,

Firſt, For the Gift of his Son, and for that we ſtand quit through him in his Sight; and that in deſpight of all inward Weakneſs, and that in deſpight of all outward Enemies.

When the Apoſtle had taken ſuch a View of himſelf as to put himſelf into a Maze, with an Out-cry alſo, Who ſhall deliver me? he quiets himſelf with this ſweet Concluſion, I thank God through Jeſus Chriſt. He found more in the Blood of Chriſt to ſave him, than he found in his own Corruptions to damn him; but that could not be, had he not Rom. 7. 24 not paid full Price for him, had he not obtained Eternal Redemption for him. And can an Holy and Just God require that we give thanks to him in his Name, if it was not Effectually done for us by him?

Further, when the Apostle looks upon Death and the Grave, and strengtheneth them by adding to them Sin and the Law, saying, The Sting of Death is Sin, and the Strength of Sin is the Law, he presently added, but thanks be to God which giveth us the Victory through Jesus Christ. The Victory over Sin, Death, and the Law, the Victory over these through our Lord Jesus Christ: but God hath given us the Victory; but it is through our Lord Jesus Christ; through his fulfilling the Law, through his destroying Death, and through his bringing in everlasting Righteousness, Elisba said to the King of Israel, that had it not been that he regarded the Person of Jehoshaphat, he would not look to him, nor regard him: nor would God at all have looked to, or regarded thee, but that he respected the Person of Jesus Christ.

Let the Peace of God therefore rule in your Hearts, to the which also you are called in one Body, and be you thankful. The Peace of God, of that we have spoken before: but how should this rule in our Hearts? he by the next Words directs you; Let the Word of Christ dwell in you Richly; that is, the Word that makes Revelation of the Death and Blood of Christ, and of the Peace that is made with God for you thereby.

Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ. For all things; for all things come to us through this Name Jesus; Redemption, Translation, the Kingdom, Salvation, with all the good things wherewith we are blessed.

These are the Works of God, he gave his Son, and he brings us to him; and puts us into his Kingdom; that is, his true Body, which Jeremiah calleth a putting among the Children, and a giving us a Goodly heritage of the Hosts of Nations.

4. Now thanks be to God, which causeth us always to triumph in Christ.

See here how cause of triumph is through Christ Jesus, and God causeth us through him to triumph: First and chiefly, because Christ Jesus hath done our Work for us, hath pleased God for our Sins, hath spoiled the Powers of Darkness. God gave Jesus Christ to undertake our Redemption; Christ did undertake it, did engage our Enemies, and spoiled them. He spoiled Principalities and Powers, and made a shew of them openly, triumphing over them upon the Cross. Therefore it is evident that he paid full price to God for Sinners with his Blood, because God commands us to give thanks to him in his Name; through his Name. And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the Name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks unto God, and the Father by him. Col. 3.17

Take this Conclusion from the whole, no thanks are accepted of God that come not to him in the Name of his Son; his Son must have the Glory of conveying our thanks to God, because he was he that by his Blood conveyeth his Grace to us.

The Eighth Demonstration.

IN the next Place; That Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for them, is evident; Because we are exhorted to wait for, and to expect the full and glorious Enjoyment of the Eternal Redemption, at the second Coming of the Lord from Heaven: Let your Loins be girded about, and your Lights burning, and you yourselves like unto Men that wait for their Lord, that when he cometh and knocketh, ye may open unto him immediately. Luke 12. 35, 36.

Jesus Christ hath obtained by his Blood Eternal Redemption for us, and hath taken it up now in the Heavens, is (as I have shewed) preparing for us there Everlasting Mansions of Rest; and then he will come again for us. This Coming is intended in this Text, and this Coming we are exhorted to wait for: and that I may more fully shew the Truth of this Demonstration, observe these following Texts.

1. It is said, he shall chuse our Inheritance for us. He shall chuse our Inheritance for us; the Excellency of Jacob whom he loved, Selah. God is gone up with a Shout &c. Psal. 47. 4, 5.

These latter words intend the Ascension of Jesus Christ: His Ascension, when he had upon the Cross made Reconciliation for Iniquity; his Ascension into the Heavens to prepare our Mansions of Glory for us. For our Inheritance is in the Heavens; our House, our Hope, our Mansion-House, and our incorruptible, and undefiled Inheritance is in Heaven, 2 Cor. 1. 2. Col. 1. 5, 6. John 14. 1, 2. 1 Pet. 1. 3, 4, 5.

This is called the Eternal Inheritance, of which we that are called, have received the Promise already. Heb. 9. 14. 15.

This Inheritance, I say, he is gone to chuse for us in the Heavens, because by his Blood he obtained it for us, Heb. 9. 12. and this we are commanded to wait for: but how ridiculous, yea, how great a Cheat would this be, had he not by his Blood obtained it for us.

2. We wait for his Son from Heaven, whom he raised from the Dead, even Jesus Christ, which delivered us from the Wrath to come. He delivered us by his Blood, and obtained the Kingdom of Heaven for us, and hath promised that he would go and prepare our Places, and come again and fetch us thither. And if I go and prepare a Place for you, John 14. 3.

you, I will come again and receive you unto my self, that where I am, there ye may be also. This then is the Cause that we wait for him, we look for the Reward of the Inheritance at his Coming, who have served the Lord Christ in this World.

Phil. 3. 20. 3. For our Conversation is in Heaven, from whence we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ. We look for him to come, yet as a Saviour! a Saviour he was at his first Coming, and a Saviour he will be at his second Coming. At his first Coming, he bought and paid for us; at his second Coming, he will fetch us to himself. At his first Coming, he gave us Promise of the Kingdom; at his second coming, he will give us Possession of the Kingdom. At his first Coming, he also shewed us how we should be, by his own Transfiguration; at his second Coming, he will change our vile Body that it may be fashioned like unto his Glorious Body.

Phil. 3. 21. 4. Hence therefore it is, that his Coming is called our blessed Hope. Looking for the blessed Hope, and the glorious appearing of the Great God, and our Saviour Jesus Christ. A blessed Hope indeed, if he hath bought our Persons with his Blood, and an eternal Inheritance for us in the Heavens: A blessed Hope indeed, if also at his Coming we be certainly carried thither. No marvel then if Saints be bid to wait for it, and if Saints themselves long for it. But what a Disappointment would these waiting Believers have, should all their Expectations be rewarded with a Fable? and the Result of their blessed Hope can amount to no more, if our Saviour the Lord Jesus Christ, either denieth to come, or coming, bringeth not with him the HOPE, the blessed Hope that is laid up for us in Heaven: Whereof we have certainly been informed by the Word of the Truth of the Gospel.

Col. 1. 5, 6. 5. For Christ was once offered to bear the Sin of many, and unto them that look for him, shall he appear the second Time, without Sin unto Salvation. Heb. 9. 28. Here we have it promised that he shall come, that he shall appear the second time, but not with Sin, as he did before, to wit, with, and in the Sin of his People, when he bare them in his own Body; but now without Sin, for he before did put them away by the Sacrifice of himself. Now then let the Saints look for him, not to die for the purchasing of their Persons by Blood, but to bring to THEM, and to bring them also to that Salvation, that before, when he died, he obtained of God for them by his Death.

These things are to be expected therefore, by them that believe in, and love Jesus Christ, and that from Faith and Love serve him in this World; they are to be expected by them, being obtained for them by Jesus Christ: And he shall give the Crown, saith Paul, not only to me, but to them that love his appearing, 2 Tim. 4. 8, 9.

Now forasmuch as this Inheritance in the Heavens is the Price, Purchase, and Reward of his Blood; how evidently doth it appear, that he hath paid full Price to God for Sinners? Would God else have given him the Heaven to dispose of to us that believe, and would he else have told us so? Yea, and what Comfort could we have to look for his Coming, and Kingdom, and Glory, as the Fruits of his Death; if his Death had not for that Purpose been sufficiently efficacious? O the Sufferings of Christ, and the Glory that shall follow. 1 Pet. 1. 11

The Ninth Demonstration.

THAT Jesus Christ by what he hath done, hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for Sinners is evident, Because of the Threatnings wherewith God hath threatened, and the Punishments wherewith he punished those that shall refuse to be saved by Christ, or seek to make Insignificant the Doctrine of Righteousness by Faith in him.

This Demonstration consisteth of three parts,

1. It suggesteth that some refuse to be justified or saved by Christ, and also seek to make insignificant the Doctrine of Righteousness by Faith in him. 2. That God doth threaten these. 3. That God will punish these.

That some refuse to be saved by Christ, is evident from many Texts. He is the Stone which the Builders have rejected: He is also disallowed of Men: The Jews stumble at him, and to the Greeks he is Foolishness; both saying this Man shall not rule over us, or how can this Man save us? Psal. 118. 22. Mat. 24. 42. 1 Pet. 2. 4. 1 Cor. 1. 23. Luke 19. 14.

The Causes of Mens refusing Christ are many.

1. Their Love to Sin. 2. Their Ignorance of his Excellency. 3. Their Unbelief. 4. Their deferring to come to him in the acceptable Time. 5. Their leaning to their own Righteousness. 6. Their entertaining Damnable Doctrines. 7. Their loving the Praise of Men. 8. The Meanness of his Ways, his People, &c. 9. The just Judgment of God upon them. 10. The Kingdom is given to others.

Now these, as they all refuse him, so they seek more or less, some practically, others in Practice and Judgment also, to make insignificant the Doctrine of Righteousness by Faith in him.

1. One does it by preferring his Sins before him. 2. Another does it by preferring his Righteousness before him. 3. Another does it by preferring his Delusions before him. 4. Another does it by preferring the World before him.

Now these God threatneth, these God punisheth,

First,

Acts 3. 23. First, God threatneth them. Whoever shall not receive that Prophet, shall be cut off from amongst his People. The Prophet is Jesus Christ; the Doctrine that he preached was that he would lay down his Life for us, that he would give us his Flesh to eat, and his Blood to drink by Faith: and promised, that if we did eat his Flesh, and drink his Blood, we should have Eternal Life. He therefore that seeth not, or that is afraid to venture his Soul for Salvation on the Flesh and Blood of Christ by Faith, he refuseth this Prophet, he heareth not this Prophet; and him God hath purposed to cut off. But would God thus have threatned, if Christ by his Blood and the Merits of the same, had not paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained Eternal Redemption for them.

Ps. 110. 1. Secondly, Sit thou on my Right Hand until I make thine Enemies thy Foot-stool. The Honour of sitting at God's Right Hand, Heb. 1. 13 was given him because he died, and offered his Body once for all. This Man when he had offered up one Sacrifice for Sins for ever, Heb. 10. 11, 12, 13. sat down on the Right Hand of God, from henceforth expecting till his Enemies be made his Foot-stool. Expecting, since God accepted his Offering, that those that refused him should be trodden under Foot, that is, sunk by him into, and under endless and unsupportable Vengeance. But would God have given the World such an account of his Sufferings, that by one Offering he did perfect for ever them that are sanctified? yea, and would he have threatned to make those Foes his Foot-stool, that shall refuse to venture themselves upon his Offering (for they are indeed his Foes) had not his Eternal Majesty been well pleased with the Price he paid to God for Sinners; had he not obtained Eternal Redemption for them?

2 Thes. 1. 7, 8. Thirdly, He shall come from Heaven with his mighty Angels in flaming Fire, taking Vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Here he expressly telleth us wherefore they shall be punished: Because they know not God, and obey not the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, where also is notably intimated, that he that obeyeth not the Gospel of Christ, knoweth not God, neither in his Justice or Mercy. But what is the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, but good Tidings of good things; to wit, Forgiveness of Sins by Faith in his Blood, an Inheritance in Heaven by Faith in his Blood, as the whole of all the foregoing discourse hath manifested? Now, I say, can it be imagined that God would threaten to come upon the World with this Flaming, Fiery Vengeance to punish them for their Non-subjection to his Son's Gospel, if there had not been by himself paid to God full Price for the Souls of Sinners, if he had not obtained Eternal Redemption by his Blood for Sinners?

Fourthly, And Enoc h, the seventh from Adam, also prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his Saints, to execute Judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them, of all their ungodly Deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard Speeches which ungodly Sinners have spoken against him. Jude 14, 15.

The LORD that is here said to come with ten thousands of his Saints, is Jesus Christ himself: and they that come with him are called his Saints, because given to him by the Father, for the Sake of the shedding of his Blood. Now in that he is said to come to execute Judgment upon all, and especially those that speak hard Speeches against him; 'tis evident that the Father tendereth his Name which is, Jesus, a Saviour, and his undertaking for our Redemption; and as evident that the hard Speeches, intended by the Text, are such as vilifie him, as Saviour, counting the Blood of the Covenant, unholy, and trampling him that is Prince of the Covenant under the Feet of their reproachful Language; this is counted a putting of him to open shame, and a despising the Riches of his Goodness, Hel. 10. Chap. 6. Rom. 2. Time would fail to give you a view of the Revilings, despitefull Sayings, and of the ungodly Speeches which these abominable Children of Hell, let fall in their Pamphlets, Doctrines, and Discourses, against this Lord the King. But the Threatning is, He shall execute Judgment upon them for all their ungodly Deeds, and for all the hard Speeches that ungodly Sinners have spoken against him.

Fifthly, Take heed therefore lest that come upon you which is spoken of in the Prophets: Behold, ye Despisers, and wonder, and perish: for I work a Work in your Days, a Work which you shall in no wise believe, though a Man declare it unto you. Acts 13. 40, 41.

This Work is the same we have been all this while treating of, to wit, Redemption by the Blood of Christ for Sinners, or that Christ hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them. This is manifest from Verse 23, to 29 of this Chapter.

Now, observe, there are and will be Despisers of this Doctrine, and they are threatned with the Wrath of God: Behold, ye Despisers, and wonder, and perish: But would God so carefully have cautioned Sinners to take heed of despising this blessed Doctrine, and have backed his Caution with a threatning that they shall perish, if they persist, had not himself received by the Blood of Christ full Price for the Souls of Sinners?

Secondly, As God threatneth, so he punisheth those that refuse his Son, or that seek to vilify or make insignificant, the Doctrine of Righteousness by Faith in him.

Joh. 3. 36. 1. He punisheth them with the Abidings of his Wrath. He that believeth not the Son, shall not see Life, but the Wrath of God abideth on him.

The Wrath of God for Men; for Sin stands already condemned by the Law; and the Judgment is, that they who refuse the Lord Jesus Christ, shall have this Wrath of God for ever lie, and abide upon them: For they want a Sacrifice to pacify Wrath for the Sin they have committed, having resisted and refused the Sacrifice of the Body of Christ. Therefore it cannot be that they should get from under their present Condition who have refused to accept of the Undertaking of Christ for them.

Besides, God to shew that he taketh it ill at the Hands of Sinners, that they should refuse the Sacrifice of Christ, hath resolved that there shall be no more Sacrifice for Sin. Heb. 10. 26. If therefore we sin wilfully after we have received the Knowledge of the Truth; there remaineth no more Sacrifice for Sin. God doth neither appoint another, neither will he accept another whoever brings it. And here those Sayings are of their own natural Force: How shall we escape if we neglect so great Salvation! Heb. 2. 3. Ch. 12. 25. And again, See that ye refuse not him that speaketh, for if they escaped not who refused him that spake on Earth (Moses) how shall we escape if we turn away from him (Christ) that speaketh from Heaven!

This therefore is a mighty Demonstration, that Christ by what he hath done hath paid full Price to God for the Souls of Sinners, because God so severely threatneth, and also punisheth them that refuse to be justified by his Blood: he threatneth as you have heard, and punisheth by leaving such Men in their Sins, under his heavy and unsupportable Vengeance here.

Mar. 16. 16. Secondly, He that believeth not shall be damned, damned in Hell-fire. He that believeth not, but what should he believe? Why,

1. That Jesus is the Saviour. If, saith he, ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your Sins.

2. He that believeth not that he hath undertaken and compleatly perfected Righteousness for us, shall die in his Sins, shall be damned and perish in Hell-fire: For such have no Cloak for their Sin, but must stand naked to the Shew of their Shame before the Judgment of God, that fearful Judgment. Therefore, after he had said, there remains for such no more Sacrifice for Sin; he adds, But a certain fearful looking for of Judgment; there is for them left nothing but the Judgment of God, and his fiery Indignation which shall devour the Adversaries. He that despised Moses's Law died without Mercy under two or three Witnesses; of how much sorer Punishment suppose ye shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and counted the Blood of the Covenant wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and done despite to the Spirit of Grace?

See here, if Fury comes not up now into the Face of God: now is mention made of his fearful Judgment and fiery Indignation. Now I say, is mention made thereof, when it is suggested that some have light Thoughts of him, count his Blood unholy, and trample his sacrificed Body under the Feet of their Reproaches: Now is he a consuming fire, and will burn to the lowest Hell. For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompence, saith the Lord. Heb. 10. 28, 29, 30. And again, The Lord shall judge his People. These Words are urged by the Holy Ghost, on purpose, to beget in the Hearts of the Rebellious, reverend Thoughts, and an high Esteem of the Sacrifice which our Lord Jesus offered once for all upon Mount Calvary unto God the Father for our Sins; for that is the very Argument of the whole Epistle.

It is said to this Purpose in one of Paul's Epistles to the Thessalonians, That because Men receive not the Love of the Truth, that they might be saved: For this cause God shall send them strong delusions, that they should believe a lye and be damned. 2 Thes. 2.

The Truth mentioned in the Place, is Jesus Christ. I am the Truth, saith he, John 14. 6. The Love of the Truth is none else but the Love and Compassion of Jesus Christ in shedding his Blood for Man's Redemption. Greater love than this hath no Man, that a Man lay down his Life for his Friend. Joh. 15. 13. This then is the Love of the Truth (of Jesus) that he hath laid down his Life for us. Now that the Rejecters of this Love, should by this their rejecting procure such Wrath of God against them, that rather than they shall miss of Damnation, himself will chuse their Delusions for them, and also give them up to the effectual Working of these Delusions: what doth this manifest, but that God is displeased with them that accept not of Jesus Christ for Righteousness, and will certainly order that their End shall be everlasting Damnation: therefore Jesus Christ hath paid full Price to God for Sinners, and obtained eternal Redemption for them.

The USE of the Doctrine.

I come now to make some Use of, and to apply this blessed Doctrine of the Undertaking of Jesus Christ, and of his paying full price to God for Sinners, and of his obtaining eternal Redemption for them.

The First Use.

Heb. 10. 25, 26. BY this Doctrine we come to understand many Things, which otherwise abide obscure and utterly unknown, because this Doctrine Doctrine is accompanied with the Holy Ghost, that Revealer of Secrets, and Searcher of the deep Things of God, 1 Pet. 1. 2. Ephes. 1. 17. 1 Cor. 2. The Holy Ghost comes down with this Doctrine, as that in which it alone delighteth: therefore is it 2 Cor. 4. 5. called The Spirit of Wisdom and Revelation in the Knowledge of Jesus Christ. He giveth also the Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God in the Face of Jesus Christ. Little of God is known in the World where the Gospel is rejected: the Religious Jew and the wise Gentile may see more of God in a crucified Christ, than in Heaven and Earth besides. For in him are hid all the Treasures of Wisdom and Knowledge: not only in his Person as God, but also in his Undertakings as Mediator. Hence Paul Col. 2. 2, 3. telleth us, That he determined not to know any thing among the Corinthians, but Jesus Christ and himself crucified. I say, more of God is revealed in this Doctrine to us, than we can see of him in Heaven and Earth without it.

First, Here is more of his WISDOM seen, than in his making and upholding all the Creatures. His Wisdom, I say, in devising Means to reconcile Sinners to an holy and infinite Majesty, to be a just God, and YET a Saviour; to be just to his Law, just to his Threatning, just to himself, and yet save Sinners, can no way be understood till thou understandest why Jesus Christ did hang on the Tree; for here only is the Riddle unfolded, Christ died for our Sins, and therefore can God in Justice save us, Isa. 45. 21. And hence is Christ called the Wisdom of God, not only because he is so essentially, but because by him is the greatest Revelation of his Wisdom towards Man. In Redemption therefore, by the Blood of Christ, God is said to abound towards us in all Wisdom. Here we see the highest Contradictions reconciled, here Justice killeth the Sinner, here a Man stands just in the Sight of God, while confounded at his own Pollutions; and here he that hath done no good, hath yet a sufficient Righteousness; even the Righteousness of God which is by Faith of Jesus Christ.

Secondly, The JUSTICE of God is here more seen, than in punishing all the Damned. He spared not his own Son, is a Sentence which more revealeth the Nature of the Justice of God, than if it had said, he spared not all the World. True, he cast Angels from Heaven, and drowned the Old World; he turned Sodom and Gomorrah into Ashes, with many more of like Nature, but what were all these to the Cursing of his Son? Yea, what were ten Thousand such Manifestations of his ireful Indignation against Sin, to that of striking, afflicting, chastising, and making the Darling of his Bosom the Object of his Wrath and Judgment? Here it is seen he respecteth not Persons, but judgeth Sin, and con-demneth him on whom it is found; yea, although on Jesus Christ his Well-beloved, Rom. 8. 32. Gal. 3. 13.

Thirdly, The Mystery of God's WILL, is here more seen, than in hanging the Earth upon nothing; while he condemneth Christ though Righteous, and justifieth us though Sinners: while he maketh him to be Sin for us, and us the Righteousness of God in him, 1 Pet. 3. 18. 2 Cor. 5. 20.

Fourthly, The POWER of God, is here more seen, than in making of Heaven and Earth; for, for one to bear, and get the Victory over Sin, when charged by the Justice of an Infinite Majesty, in so doing he sheweth the Height of the highest Power: For where Sin by the Law is charged, and that by God immediately, there an Infinite Majesty opposeth, and that with the Whole of his Justice, Holiness and Power: So then he that is thus charged, and engaged for the Sin of the World, must not only be equal with God, but shew it, by overcoming that Curse and Judgment that by Infinite Justice is charged upon him for Sin.

When Angels and Men had sinned, how did they fall and crumble before the Anger of God! they had not Power to withstand the Terrour, nor could there be worth found in their Persons, or Doings, to appease displeased Justice. But behold here stands the Son of God before him in the Sin of the World, his Father finding him there, curseth and condemns him to Death: but he by the Power of his Godhead, and the Worthiness of his Person and Doings, vanquisheth Sin, satisfieth God's Justice, and so becomes the Saviour of the World. Here then is Power seen: Sin is a mighty Thing, it crusheth all in pieces save him whose Spirit is eternal, Heb. 9. 14. Set Christ and his Sufferings aside, and you neither see the Evil of Sin, nor the Displeasure of God against it; you see them not in their utmost. Hadst thou a View of all the Legions that are now in the Pains of Hell, yea, couldest thou hear their Shrieks and Groans together at once, and feel the whole of all their Burden: Much of the Evil of Sin, and of the Justice of God against it, would be yet unknown by thee; for thou wouldest want Power to feel, and bear the utmost. A Giant shews not his Power by killing of a little Child, nor yet is his Might seen by the Resistance that such a little one makes, but then he sheweth his Power when he dealeth with one like himself: yea, and the Power also of the other is then made manifest in saving himself from being swallowed up with his Wrath. Jesus Christ also made manifest his eternal Power and Godhead, more by bearing and overcoming our Sins, than in making or upholding the whole World: Hence Christ crucified, is called the Power of God, 1 Cor. 1. 23, 24.

Fifthly,

Fifthly, The LOVE and MERCY of God, is more seen in, and by this Doctrine, than any other way. Mercy and Love are seen in that God gives us Rain and fruitful Seasons, and in that he filleth our Hearts with Food and Gladness; from that bounty he bestoweth upon us as Men, as his Creatures. Oh! but herein is Love made manifest, in that Christ laid down his Life for us: And God commended his Love toward us, in that while we were yet Sinners, Christ died for us.

1 Joh. 3.
15.
chap. 4. 10.
Rom. 5. 8.

Never Love like this, nor did God ever give such Discovery of his Love from the Beginning to this Day. Herein is Love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the Propitiation for our Sins.

Here is Love, that God sent his Son! his Darling! his Son that never offended! his Son that was always his Delight? Herein is Love that he sent him to save Sinners! to save them by bearing their Sins! by bearing their Curse! by dying their Death! and by carrying their Sorrows! Here is Love in that while we were yet Enemies Christ died for us! yea, here is Love, in that while we were yet without Strength, Christ died for the Ungodly.

Rom. 5.

The Second Use.

But Secondly, As this Doctrine giveth us the best Discovery of God; so also it giveth us the best Discovery of our selves, and our own Things.

First, It giveth us the best Discovery of ourselves: Wouldest thou know, Sinner, what thou art; look up to the Cross, and behold a Weeping, Bleeding, Dying Jesus: nothing could do but that, nothing could save thee but his Blood; Angels could not, Saints could not, God could not, because he could not lie, because he could not deny himself. What a Thing is Sin, that it should sink all that bear its burden, yea it sunk the Son of God himself into Death and the Grave, and had also sunk him into Hell-fire for ever, had he not been the Son of God; had he not been able to take it on his Back, and bear it away. O! This Lamb of God. Sinners were going to Hell, Christ was the Delight of his Father, and had a Whole Heaven to himself; but that did not content him, Heaven could not hold him. He must come into the World to save Sinners. Ay, and had he not come, thy Sins had sunk thee, thy Sins had provoked the Wrath of God against thee; to thy Perdition and Destruction for ever. There is no Man, but is a Sinner, there is no Sin but would damn an Angel, should God lay it to his charge. Sinner, the Doctrine of Christ crucified, crieth therefore aloud unto thee, that Sin hath made thy Condition dreadful: See your selves, your Sin, and consequently, the Condition that your Souls are in, by the Death and Blood of Christ; Christ's Death giveth us the most clear Discovery of the dreadful Nature of our Sins. I say again, if Sin be so dreadful a Thing, as to break the Heart of the Son of God (for so he saith it did) how shall a Poor, Wretched, Impenitent, damned Sinner wrestle with the Wrath of God? Awake Sinners you are lost, you are undone, you perish, you are damned, Hell-fire is your Portion for ever, if you abide in your Sins, and be found without a Saviour in the dreadful Day of Judgment.

Secondly, For your good Deeds cannot help you, the Blood of Christ tells you so. For by this Doctrine, Christ died for our Sins, God damnth to Death and Hell, the Righteousness of the World. Christ must die, or Man be damned: Where is now any Room for the Righteousness of Men? Room I say, for Man's Righteousness, as to his Acceptance and Justification. Bring then thy Righteousness to the Cross of Jesus Christ, and in his Blood behold the Demands of Justice; behold them, I say, in the Cries, and Tears, in the Blood and Death of Jesus Christ. Look again, and behold the Person dying; such an one as never sinned, nor offended at any Time, yet he dies. Could an holy Life, an innocent harmless Conversation have saved one from Death, Jesus had not died. But he must die, Sin was charged, therefore Christ must die.

Men therefore need to go no further to prove the worth of their own Righteousness, than to the Death of Christ: They need not be to seek in that Matter till they stand before the Judgment-Seat.

Quest. But how should I prove the Goodness of mine own Righteousness, by the Death and Blood of Christ?

Ans. Thus: If Christ must die for Sin, then all thy Righteousness cannot save thee. If Righteousness comes by the Law, then Christ is dead in vain. By this Text, 'tis manifest, that either Christ died in vain, or thy Righteousness is vain. If thy Righteousness can save thee, then Christ died in vain. If nothing below, or besides the Death of Christ could save thee, then thy Righteousness is in vain; one of the two must be cast away, either Christ's or thine. Christ crucified to save the World, discovereth two great Evils in Man's own Righteousness: I mean when brought for Justification and Life.

Gal. 2. 21.

1. It opposeth the Righteousness of Christ.
2. It condemneth God of Foolishness.

1. It opposeth the Righteousness of Christ; in that it seeketh it self to stand, where should the Righteousness of Christ; to wit, in God's Affection for the Justification of thy Person, and this is one of the highest Affronts to Christ, that poor Man is capable to give him: Right worthily ly therefore doth the Doctrine of the Gospel damn the Righteousness of Men, and promiseth the Kingdom of God to Publicans and Harlots rather.

2. It condemneth God of Foolishness: For if Works of Righteousness which we can do, can justifie from the Curse of the Law in the Sight of God, then are not all the Treasures of Wisdom found in the Heart of God and Christ: For this Dolt-headed Sinner hath now found out a Way of his own, unawares to God, to secure his Soul from Wrath and Vengeance. I say, unawares to God, for he never imagined that such a Thing could be, for had he, he would never have purposed before the World began, to send his Son to die for Sinners. Christ is the Wisdom of God, as you have heard, and that as he is our justifying Righteousness. God was manifest in the Flesh to save us, is the great Mystery of Godliness. But wherein lieth the depth of this Wisdom of God in our Salvation, if Man's Righteousness can save him?

to 15.

Yea, wherefore hath God also given it out, that there is none other Name given to Men under Heaven, whereby we must be saved? I say again, why is it affirmed, without shedding of Blood is no Remission, if Man's good Deeds can save him?

This Doctrine therefore of the Righteousness of Christ, being rightly preached, and truly believed, arraigneth and condemneth Man's Righteousness to Hell: It casteth it out, as Abraham cast out Ismael.

BLOOD! BLOOD, the fount of Blood, abaseth all the Glory of it. When Men have said all, and shewed us what they can, they have no Blood to present God's Justice with; yet 'tis Blood that maketh an Attonement for the Soul, and nothing but Blood can wash us away from our Sins, Lev. 17. 11. Rev. 1. 5. Heb. 9.

Justice calls for Blood, Sins calls for Blood, the righteous Law calls for Blood; yea, the Devil himself must be overcome by Blood: Sinner, where is now thy Righteousness? Bring it before a consuming Fire; [for our God is a consuming Fire] Bring it before the Justice of the Law: Yea, try if ought but the Blood of Christ can save thee from thy Sins, and Devils; try it, I say, by this Doctrine; go not one Step further before thou hast tried it.

Thirdly, By this Doctrine we are made to see the worth of Souls: It cannot be but that the Soul is of wonderful Price, when the Son of God will not stick to spill his Blood for it. O Sinners, you that will venture your Souls for a little Pleasure, surely you know not the worth of your Souls. Now if you would know what your Souls are worth, and the Price which God sets them at, read that Price by the Blood of Christ. The Blood of Christ was spilt to save Souls. For ye are bought with a Price, and that Price none other than the Blood of Christ; wherefore glorify God in your Bodies and in your Spirits which are God's, 1 Cor. 6. 20. Sinners, you have Souls, can you behold a crucified Christ and not bleed, and not mourn, and not fall in love with him?

The Third Use.

By this Doctrine Sinners, as Sinners, are encouraged to come to God for Mercy, for the Curse due to Sin is taken out of the Way. I speak now to Sinners that are awake, and see themselves Sinners.

There are two Things in special when Men begin to be awakened, that kill their Thoughts of being saved.

1. A Sense of Sin. 2. The Wages due thereto. These kill the Heart, for who can bear up under the Guilt of Sin? If our Sins Ezek. 33. be upon us, and we pine away in them, how 10. can we THEN live? How indeed! it is impossible. So neither can Man grapple with the Justice of God. Can thine Heart endure, or can thine Hands be strong? they cannot. A wounded Spirit who can bear? Men cannot, Angels cannot: Wherefore if now Christ be hid, and the Blessing of Faith in his Blood denied, woe be to them: Such go after Saul and Judas, one to the Sword, and the other to the Halter, Ezek. 22. 14. Prov. 18. 14. and so miserably end their Days; for come to God they dare not, the Thoughts of that eternal Majesty strikes them through.

But now present such poor dejected Sinners with a crucified Christ, and persuade them that the Sins under which they shake and tremble, were long ago laid upon the Back of Christ, and the Noise, and Sense, and Fear of damning begins to cease, depart, and fly away: Dolours and Terrors fade, and vanish, and that Soul conceiveth hopes of Life: For thus the Soul argueth, is this indeed the Truth of God, that Christ was made to be Sin for me! was made the Curse of God for me! Hath he indeed born all my Sins, and spilt his Blood for my Redemption? O blessed Tidings, O welcome Grace! Bless the Lord, O my Soul, and all that is within me, bless his holy Name. Now is Peace come, now the Face of Heaven is altered: Behold all Things are become new. Now the Sinner can abide God's Presence, yea, sees unutterable Glory and Beauty in him: For here he sees Justice smite. While Jacob was afraid of Esau, how heavily did he drive, even towards the promised Land? but when killing Thoughts were turned into kissing, and the Fears of the Sword's Point turned into brotherly Embraces, what says he, I have seen thy Face, as though it had Gen. 33. been the Face of God; and thou wast pleased 10. with me?

So, and far better is it, with a poor distressed Sinner at the Revelation of the Grace of God through Jesus Christ. God was in Christ, reconciling the World unto himself, not imputing their Trespases to them: O! what Work will such a Word make upon a wounded Conscience, especially when the next Words follow. For he hath made him to be Sin for us, who knew no Sin, that we might be made the Righteousness of God in him.

Now the Soul sees Qualifications able to set him quit in the Sight of God: Qualifications prepared already. Prepared I say already, and that by God through Christ; even such as can perfectly answer the Law. What doth the Law require? If Obedience, here it is; if bloody Sacrifice, here it is; if infinite Righteousness, here it is. Now then the Law condemns him that believes, before God, no more; for all its Demands are answered, all its Curses are swallowed up in the Death and Curse Christ underwent.

Object. But Reason saith, since Personal Sin brought the Death, surely Personal Obedience must bring us Life and Glory.

Answe. True, Reason saith so, and so doth the Law it self, Rom. 10. 5. but God, we know, is above them both, and he in the Covenant of Grace, saith otherwise: to wit, That if thou shalt confess with thy Mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in
Rom. 10. 6, 7, 8, 9. thine Heart that God hath raised him from the Dead, thou shalt be saved.

Let Reason then hold its Tongue, yea let the Law with all its Wisdom subject it self to him that made it; let it look for Sin where God hath laid it; let it approve the Righteousness which God approveth: yea, though it be not that of the Law, but that by Faith of Jesus Christ.

God hath made him our Righteousness; God hath made him our Sin, God hath made him our Curse; God hath made him our Blessing; Methinks this Word God hath made it so, should silence all the World.

The Fourth Use.

Fourthly, By this Doctrine sufficiency of Argument is ministred to the tempted, to withstand, thereby, the Assaults of the Devil.

When the Souls begin to seek after the Lord Jesus, then Satan begins to afflict and distress, as the Canaanites did the Gibeonites, for making Peace with Jehoshuah, Jos. 10. 1, 6.

There are three Things that do usually afflict the Soul that is earnestly looking after Jesus Christ.

1. Dreadful Accusations from Satan.
2. Grievous defiling and infectious Thoughts.
3. A strange readiness in our Nature to fall in with both. By the first of these the Heart is made continually to tremble. Hence his Temptations are compared to the roaring of a Lion, 1 Pet. 5. 8. For as the Lion by roaring killeth the Heart of his Prey, so doth Satan kill the Spirit of these that hearken to him: For when he tempteth, especially by Way of Accusation, he doth to us, as Rabshakeh did to the Jews: He speaks to us in our own Language. He speaks our Sin at every Word, our guilty Conscience knows it; he speaks our Death at every Word, our doubting Conscience feels it.

Secondly, Besides this, there doth now arise even in the Heart such defiling, and foul Infectious Thoughts, as put the tempted to their Wits end: For now it seems to the Soul that the very Flood-Gates of the Flesh are opened, and that to Sin there is no stop at all, now the Air seems to be covered with Darknefs, and the Man is as if he was changed into the Nature of a Devil: Now if Ignorance and Unbelief prevail, he concludeth that he is Reprobate, made to be taken and destroyed.

Thirdly, Now also he feeleth in him a readiness to fall in with every Temptation; a readiness, I say, continually present, Rom. 7. 21. This throws all down, now Despair begins to swallow it up; now it can neither pray, nor read, nor hear, nor meditate on God, but Fire and Smoke continually bursteth forth of the Heart against him, now Sin and great Confusion puts forth it self in all: yea, the more the Sinner desireth to do a Duty sincerely, the further off it always finds it self: For by how much the Soul struggleth under these Distresses, by so much the more doth Satan put forth himself to resist, still infusing more Poison, that if possible it might never struggle more (for strugglings are also as Poyson to Satan.) The Fly in the Spider's Web, is an Emblem of the Soul in such a Condition; the Fly is entangled in the Web, at this the Spider shews himself; if the Fly stir again, down comes the Spider to her, and claps a Foot upon her; if yet the Fly makes a Noise, then with poisoned Mouth the Spider lays hold upon her; if the Fly struggle still, then he poisons her more and more; what shall the Fly do now? why she dies, if some Body does not quickly release her. This is the Case of the tempted, they are entangled in the Web, (their Feet and Wings are entangled) now Satan shews himself, if the Soul now struggleth, Satan laboureth to hold it down; if it now shall make a Noise, then he bites with blasphemous Mouth, (more poisonous than the Gall of a Serpent.) If it struggle again, then he poisoneth more and more: Inomuch that it needs at last must die in the Net, if the Man, the Lord Jesus, helps not out.

The afflicted Conscience understands my Words.

Further, though the Fly in the Web, is altogether incapable of looking for Relief, yet this awakened tempted Christian is not; what must he do therefore? how should he contain Hopes of Life? If he looks to his Heart, there is Blasphemy; if he looks to his Duties, there is Sin; if he he ſtrives to mourn and lament, perhaps he cannot, unbelief and hardneſs hinder: Shall this Man lie down and deſpair? No: Shall he truſt to his Duties? No: Shall he ſtay from Chriſt till his Heart is better? No: What then? Let him NOW look to Jeſus Chriſt crucified, then ſhall he ſee his Sins answered for, then ſhall he ſee Death a-dying, then ſhall he ſee Guilt born by another, and there ſhall he ſee the Devil overcome. This Sight deſtroys the Power of the firſt Temptation; purifies the Heart and inclines the Mind to all good Things.

Luke 4.
18, 19.

And to encourage thee, tempted Creature, to this moſt Goſpel-Duty: Conſider, that when Jeſus Chriſt read his Commiſſion upon the entering into his Miniſtry, he proclaimed: The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, becauſe he hath anointed me to preach the Goſpel to the Poor, he hath ſent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach Deliverance to the Captives, and recovering of Sight to the Blind, to ſet at Liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable Year of the Lord.

Theſe Things therefore ſhould the tempted believe, but believing is now ſweating-work; for Satan will hold as long as poſſible, and only ſtedfaſt Faith can make him fly: But O! the Toyl of a truly gracious Heart in this Combate, if Faith be weak, he can ſcarce get higher than his Knees; Lord help, Lord ſave, and then down again, till an Arm from Heaven takes him up; until Jeſus Chriſt be evidently ſet forth crucified for him, and curſed for his Sin: For then (and not till then) the Temptation rightly ceaſeth, at leaſtwiſe for a Season. Now the Soul can tend to look about it, and thus conſider with it ſelf: If Chriſt hath born my Sin and Curſe, then 'tis taken away from me, and ſeeing thus to take away Sin, was the Contrivance of the God of Heaven, I will bleſs his Name, hope in his Mercy, and look upon Death and Hell with Comfort. Thine Heart ſhall meditate Terror, thou ſhalt ſee the Land that is very far off.

Iſa. 33. 16,
17, 18.

The Fifth Uſe.

1 Pet. 2. 5.

Fifthly, This Doctrine makes Chriſt precious to the Believers. Unto you therefore which believe he is precious. This Head might be greatly enlarged upon, and branched out into a thouſand Particulars, and each one full of Weight and Glory.

1. By conſidering what Sin is. 2. By conſidering what Hell is. 3. By conſidering what Wrath is. 4. By conſidering what Eternity is. 5. By conſidering what the loſs of a Soul is. 6. What the loſs of God is. 7. What the loſs of Heaven is. 8. And what it is to be in utter Darkneſs with Devils and damned Souls for ever and ever. And after all to conclude, from all theſe Miſeries the Lord Jeſus delivered me.

Further, This makes Chriſt precious, if I conſider in the next Place.

1. How he did deliver me, 'twas with his Life, his Blood; it coſt him Tears, Groans, Agony, Separation from God; to do it he endured his Father's Wrath, bare his Father's Curſe, and died thouſands of Deaths at once.

2. He did this, while I was his Enemy, without my Deſires, without my Knowledge, without my Deſerts, he did it unawares to me.

3. He did it freely, chearfully, yea, he longed to die for me; yea, Heaven would not hold him for the Love he had to my Salvation, which alſo he hath effectually accompliſhed for me at Jeruſalem. Honourable Jeſus! precious Jeſus! loving Jeſus! Jonathan's Kindneſs captivated David, and made him precious in his Eyes for ever. I am diſtreſſed for thee, my Brother Jonathan ^{2 Sam. 1.} (ſaid he) very pleaſant haſt thou been to me; thy Love to me was wonderful, paſſing the Love of Women. Why, what had Jonathan done? O! He had delivered David from the Wrath of Saul. But how much more ſhould he be precious to me, who hath ſaved me from Death and Hell! who hath delivered me from the Wrath of God! The Love of Chriſt conſtraineth us. Nothing will ſo edge the Spirit of a Chriſtian as, Thou waſt ſlain, and haſt redeemed us to God by thy Blood: This makes the Heavens themſelves ring with Joy and Shouting. Mark the Words, Thou waſt ſlain, and haſt re- ^{Rev. 5. 9, to 14.} deemed us to God with thy Blood, out of every Kindred, and Tongue, and People, and Nation, and haſt made us unto our God, Kings and Priests, and we ſhall reign on the Earth. What follows now? And I beheld, and heard the Voice of many Angels round about the Throne, and the Beasts and the Elders, and the Number of them was ten thouſand Times ten thouſand, and thouſands of thouſands, ſaying with a loud Voice, worthy is the Lamb that was ſlain, to receive Power, and Riches, and Wiſdom, and Strength, and Honour, and Glory, and Bleſſing; and every Creature which is in Heaven, and on the Earth, and ſuch as are in the Sea, and all that are therein heard I, ſaying, Bleſſing, Honour, Glory and Power, be unto him that ſitteth upon the Throne, and to the LAMB for ever and ever.

Thus alſo is the Song, that New-Song, that is ſaid to be ſung by the hundred forty and four thouſand which ſtand with the LAMB upon Mount Sion, with his Father's Name written in their Fore-heads. Theſe are alſo called Harpers, harping with their Harps. And they ſang as it were a new ^{Rev. 14. 1, 2, 3.} Song before the Throne, and before the four Beasts, and the Elders; and none could learn that Song but the hundred and forty and four thouſand, which were redeemed from the Earth.

But why could they not learn that Song? Becauſe they were not redeemed; none can ſing of this Song but the redeemed: they

They can give Glory to the Lamb, the Lamb that was slain, and that redeemed them to God by his Blood. 'Tis Faith in his Blood on Earth, that will make us sing this Song in Heaven. These Shoutings and Heavenly Songs must needs come from Love put into a Flame by the Sufferings of Christ.

The last Use.

If all these Things be true, what follows but a Demonstration of the Accursed Condition of those among the Religious in these Nations, whose Notions put them far off from Jesus, and from venturing their Souls upon his Bloody Death. I have observed such a Spirit as this in the World, that careth not for knowing of Jesus; the Possessed therewith do think, that it is not material to Salvation to venture upon a crucified Christ, neither do they trouble their Heads or Hearts with enquiring whether Christ Jesus be risen, and ascended into Heaven, or whether they see him again or no, but rather are for concluding, that there will be no such Thing: These Men speak not by the Holy Ghost, for in the Sum, they call Jesus accursed; but I doubt not to say that many of them are Anathematized of God, and shall stand so, 'till the coming of the Lord Jesus, to whom be Glory for ever and ever: Amen.

Prepared, and presented to them in a plain and easy Dialogue, fitted to the Capacity of the Weakest.

My People perish for lack of Knowledge, Hos. iv. 6.

To the Church of Christ in and about BEDFORD, walking in the Faith and Fellowship of the Gospel, your affectionate Brother and Companion in the Kingdom and Patience of JESUS CHRIST, wisheth all Grace and Mercy by JESUS CHRIST, Amen.

HOLY and beloved, Although I have designed this little Treatise for publick and common Benefit, yet considering that I am to you a Debtor not only in common Charity, but by reason of special Bonds which the Lord hath laid upon me to you-ward, I could do no less, (being driven from you in Presence, not Affection) but first present you with this little Book; not for that you are wanting in the Things contained herein, but to put you again in remembrance of first things, and to give you Occasion to present something to your carnal Relations, that may be (if God will) for their Awakening and Conversion; accept it therefore as a Token of my Christian Remembrance of you.

Next, I present it to all those Unconverted, Old and Young, who have been at any time under my Preaching, and yet remain in their Sins: And I intreat them also that they receive it as a Token of my Love to their immortal Souls; yea, I charge them as they will answer it in the Day of the terrible Judgment, that they read, ponder and receive this wholesome Medicine prepared for them. Now the God of Blessing bless it to the awakening of many Sinners, and the Salvation of their Souls by Faith in Jesus Christ. Amen.

Tours, to serve you by my Ministry (when I can) to your Edification and Consolation,

Instruction for the Ignorant, &c.

Quest. HOW many Gods are there?

Ans. To the Christians there is but One God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we of him, 1 Cor. 8. 9.

Q. Why, is not the God of the Christians the God of them that are no Christians?

A. He is their Maker and Preserver; but they have not chosen him to be their God, Acts 17. 24. Psal. 36. 6. Judg. 10. 14.

Q. Are there then other Gods besides the God of the Christians?

A. There is none other true God but He: but because they want the Grace of Christians, therefore they choose not him, but such gods as will suit with and countenance their Lusts, John 8. 44.

Q. What gods are they that countenance the Lusts of wicked Men?

A. The Devil, who is the god of this World; the Belly, that god of Gluttons, Drunkards and riotous Persons; and idle Pleasures and Vanities, which are for the most part the gods of the Youth, Job 8. 44. 2 Cor. 4. 4. Phil. 3. 19. Exod. 32. 6. 1 Cor. 10. 7. 2 Tim. 2. 22. 1 John 5. 21.

Q. Who is a Christian?

A. One that is born again, a new Creature; one that sits at Jesus Feet to hear his Word; one that hath his Heart purified and sanctified by Faith which is in Christ, John 3. 3, 5, 7. Acts 11. 26. Acts 15. 9. chap. 26. 18. 2 Cor. 5. 17.

Q. How do you distinguish the God of the Christians from the gods of other People?

A. He is a Spirit, John 4. 24.

Q. Is there no other Spirit but the true God?

A. Yes, there are many Spirits, 1 John 4. 1.

Q. What Spirits are they?

A. The good Angels are Spirits; the bad Angels are Spirits; and the Souls of Men are Spirits, Heb. 1. 7. 14. 1 Kings 22. 21, 22. Rev. 16. 13, 14. Acts 7. 59. Heb. 12. 23.

Q. How then is the true God distinguished from other Spirits?

A. Thus: No Spirit is eternal but he, no Spirit is almighty but he, no Spirit is incomprehensible and unsearchable but he: he is also most merciful, most just, most holy, Deut. 33. 27. Gen. 17. 1. Psal. 145. 3. Mich. 7. 18. Job 34. 17. 1 Sam. 2. 2.

Q. Is this God, being a Spirit, to be known?

A. Yes, and that by his Works of Creation, by his Providences, by the Judgments that he executeth, and by his Word.

Q. Do you understand him by the Works of Creation?

A. The Heavens declare the Glory of God, and the Firmament sheweth his handy-work: so that the invisible Things of him from the Creation of the World, are clearly seen, being understood by the Things that are made, even his Eternal Power and Godhead, Psalm 19. 1, 2. Rom. 1. 20.

Q. Do his Works of Providence also declare him?

A. They must needs do it, since through his Providence the whole Creation is kept in such Harmony as it is, and that in despite of Sin and Devils: also if you consider that from an Angel to a Sparrow, nothing falls to the ground without the Providence of our Heavenly Father, Mat. 10. 29.

Q. Is he known by his Judgments?

A. God is known by his Judgments which he executeth; the Wicked is snared in the Work of his own hands, Psalm 9. 16.

Q. Is he known by his Word?

A. Yes most clearly: for by that he revealeth his Attributes, his Decrees, his Promises, his Way of Worship, and how he is to be pleased by us.

Q. Of what did God make the World?

A. Things that are seen, were not made of Things that do appear, Heb. 11. 3.

Q. How long was he in making the World?

A. In six Days the Lord made Heaven and Earth, the Sea, and all that is in them, and on the Seventh Day God ended all his Works which he had made, Exod. 20. 11. Gen. 2. 2.

Q. Of what did God make Man?

A. The Lord God formed Man of the Dust of the Ground, and breathed into his Nostrils the Breath of Life, and Man became a Living Soul, Gen. 2. 7.

Q. Why doth it say, God breathed into him the Breath of Life? is Man's Soul of the very Nature of the God-head?

A. This doth not teach that the Soul is of the Nature of the God-head, but sheweth that it is not of the same matter as his Body, which is Dust, Gen. 18. 27.

Q. Is not the Soul then of the Nature of the God-head?

A. No; for God cannot Sin, but the Soul doth; God cannot be destroyed in Hell, but the Souls of the Impenitent shall, Ezek. 18. 4. Mat. 10. 28.

Q. How did God make Man in the Day of his first Creation?

A. God made Man upright. In the Image of God Created he him, Eccl. 7. 29. Gen. 1. 27.

Q. Did God when he made Man, leave him without a Rule to walk by?

A. No: he gave him a Law in his Nature, and imposed upon him a positive Precept, but he offered Violence to them, and brake them both, Gen. 3. 3, 6.

Q. What was the due Desert of that Transgression?

A. Spiritual Death in the Day he did it, Temporal Death afterwards, and everlasting Death last of all, Gen. 2. 17. chap. 3. 19. Matt. 25. 46.

Q. What is it to be spiritually dead?

A. To be alienate from God, and to live without him in the World, through the Ignorance that is in Man, and through the Power of their Sins, Ephes. 4. 18, 19.

Q. Wherein doth this Alienation from God appear?

A. In the Love they have to their Sins, in their being loth to come to him, in their pleading idle Excuses for their Sins, and in their Ignorance of the excellent Mysteries of his blessed Gospel, Ephes. 2. 2, 3, 11, 12. Rom. 1. 28. Ephes. 4. 18, 19.

Q. What is temporal Death?

A. To have Body and Soul separate asunder, the Body returning to the Dust as it was, and the Spirit to God that gave it, Gen. 3. 19. Eccles. 12. 7.

Q. What is everlasting Death?

A. For Body and Souls to be separate for ever from God, and to be cast into Hell-Fire, Luke 13. 27. Mark 9. 43.

Q. Do Men go Body and Soul to Hell so soon as they die?

A. The Body abideth in the Grave till the Sound of the last Trump; but the Soul, if the Man dies Wicked, goes presently from the Face of God into Hell, as into a Prison, there to be kept till the Day of Judgment 1 Cor. 15. 52. Isa. 24. 22. Luke 12. 20.

Q. Do we come into the World as upright as did our first Parent?

A. No; He came into the World sinless, being made so of God Almighty, but we came into the World Sinners, being made so by his Pollution.

Q. How doth it appear that we came into the World Polluted?

A. We are the Fruit of an unclean thing, are defiled in our very Conception, and are by Nature the Children of Wrath, Job 14. 4. Psal. 51. 5. Ephes. 2. 3.

Q. Can you make further Proof of this?

A. Yes, It is said, That by one Man came Sin, Death, Judgment, and Condemnation upon all Men, Rom. 5. 12, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

Q. Do we then come Sinners into the World?

A. Yes, we are Transgressors from the Womb, and go astray as soon as we are born, speaking lies, Isa. 48. 8. Psal. 58. 3.

Q. But as Adam fell with us in him, so did he not by Faith rise with us in him? for he had no Seed until he had the Promise.

A. He fell as a publick Person, but believed the Promise as a single Person. Adam's Faith saved not the World, though Adam's Sin overthrew it.

Q. But do not some hold that we are Sinners only by imitation?

A. Yes, being themselves deceived. But God's Word saith, we are Children of Wrath by Nature, that is, by Birth and Generation.

Q. Can you bring further Proof of this?

A. Yes; In that Day that we were born, we were polluted in our own Blood, and cast out to the loathing of our Persons. Again, the Children of old that were dedicated unto the Lord, a Sacrifice was offered for them at a Month old, which was before they were Sinners by Imitation, Ezek. 16. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Num. 18. 14, 15, 16.

Q. Can you make this appear by Experience?

A. Yes; The first things that bloom and put forth themselves in Children, shew their Ignorance of God, their Disobedience to Parents, and their innate Enmity to Holiness of Life; their Inclinations naturally run to Vanity. Besides little Children die, but that they could not, were they not of God counted Sinners; for Death is the Wages of Sin, Rom. 6. 23.

Q. What is Sin?

A. It is a Transgression of the Law, 1 John 3. 4.

Q. A Transgression of what Law?

A. Of the Law of our Nature, and of the Law of the Ten Commandments as written in the Holy Scriptures, Rom. 2. 12, 14, 15. Exod. 20.

Q. When doth one sin against the Law of Nature?

A. When you do any thing that your Conscience tells you is a Transgression against God or Man, Rom. 2. 14, 15.

Q. When do we sin against the Law as written in the Ten Commandments?

A. When you do any thing that they forbid, although you be Ignorant of it, Psal. 19. 12.

Q. How many ways are there to sin against this Law?

A. Three: By sinful Thoughts, by sinful Words, and also by sinful Actions, Rom. 7. 7. Mat. 5. 28. chap. 12. 37. Rom. 2. 6.

Q. What if we sin but against one of the Ten Commandments?

A. Whosoever shall keep the whole Law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all: for he that said, Do not commit Adultery, said also, Do not kill; now if thou commit no Adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art a Transgressor of the Law, Jam. 2. 10, 11.

Q. Where will God punish Sinners for their Sins?

A.

A. Both in this World and in that which is to come, Gen. 3. 24. chap. 4. 10, 11, 12. Job. 21. 30.

Q. How are Men punished in this World for Sin?

A. Many ways, as with Sicknes, Losses, Crosses, Disappointments and the like: sometimes also God giveth them up to their own Hearts Lusts, to Blindness of Mind also, and Hardness of Heart; yea, and sometimes to strong Delusions that they might believe Lies, and be damned, Lev. 26. 15, 16. Amos 4. 7, 10. Rom. 1. 24, 28. Exod. 4. 21. chap. 9. 12, 13, 14. Zeph. 1. 17. Rom. 11. 7, 8. 2 Thes. 2. 11, 12.

Q. How are Sinners punished in the World to come?

A. With a Worm that never dies, and with a Fire that never shall be quenched, Mark 9. 44.

Q. Whither do Sinners go to receive this Punishment?

A. The Wicked shall be turned into Hell, and all the Nations that forget God, Psal. 9. 27.

Q. What is Hell?

A. It is a Place, and a State most fearful, Luke 16. 28. Acts 1. 25. Luke 16. 21.

Q. Why do you call it a Place?

A. Because in Hell shall all the damned be confined as in a Prison, in their Chains of Darkness for ever, Luke 12. 5. 58. Chap. 16. 26. Jude 6.

Q. What a Place is Hell?

A. It is a dark bottomless burning Lake of Fire, large enough to hold all that perish, Mat. 22. 13. Rev. 20. 1, 25. Isa. 30. 33. Prov. 27. 20.

Q. What do you mean when you say it is a fearful State?

A. I mean, that it is the Lot of those that are cast in thither to be tormented in most fearful manner, to wit, with Wrath and fiery Indignation, Rom. 2. 9. Heb. 10. 26, 27.

Q. In what Parts shall they be thus fearfully tormented?

A. In Body and Soul: for Hell-fire shall kindle upon both beyond what now can be thought, Mat. 10. 28. Luke 16. 24. James 5. 3.

Q. How long shall they be in this Condition?

A. These shall go away into everlasting Punishment, and the Smoak of their Torment ascendeth up for ever and ever, and they have no Rest Day nor Night; for they shall be punished with everlasting Destruction from the Presence of the Lord, and from the Glory of his Power, Mat. 25. 46. Rev. 14. 11. 2 Thes. 1. 9.

Q. But why might not the Ungodly be punished with this Punishment in this World, that we might have seen it and believe?

A. If the Ungodly should with Punishment have been rewarded in this World, it would in all Probability have overthrown the whole Order that God hath settled here among Men. For who could have endured here to have seen the Flames of Fire, to have heard the Groans, and to have seen the Tears perhaps of damned Relations, as Parents or Children? Therefore as Tophet of old was without the City, and as the Gallows and Gibbets are built without the Towns; so Christ hath ordered that they who are to be punished with this kind of Torment, shall be taken away; Take him away, saith he (out of this World) and cast him into utter Darkness, and let him have his Punishment there, there shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth. Besides, Faith is not to be wrought by looking into Hell, and seeing the Damned tormented before our Eyes; but by hearing the Word of God: For he that shall not believe Moses and the Prophets, will not be persuaded should one come from the Dead, yea should one come to them in Flames to persuade them, Mat. 22. 13. Rom. 10. 17. Luke 16. 27, to 32.

Q. Are there Degrees of Torments in Hell?

A. Yes, for God will reward every one according to their Works: Wo to the Wicked, it shall go ill with him, for the Reward of his Hands shall be given him, Isa. 3. 11.

Q. Who are like to be most punished there, Men or Children?

A. The Punishment in Hell comes not upon Sinners according to Age, but Sin: so that whether they be Men or Children, the greater Sin, the greater Punishment; for there is no respect of Persons with God, Rom. 2. 11.

Q. How do you distinguish between great Sins, and little ones?

A. By their Nature, and by the Circumstances that attend them.

Q. What do you mean by their Nature?

A. I mean when they are very gross in themselves, 2 Chron. 33. 2. Ezek. 16. 42.

Q. What kind of Sins are the greatest?

A. Adultery, Fornication, Murder, Theft, Swearing, Lying, Covetousness, Witchcraft, Sedition, Heresies, or any the like, 1 Cor. 6. 9, 10. Eph. 5. 3, 4, 5, 6. Col. 3. 5, 6. Gal. 5. 19, 20, 21. Rev. 21. 8.

Q. What do you mean by Circumstances that attend Sin?

A. I mean Light, Knowledge, the Preaching of the Word, godly Acquaintance, timely Cautions, &c.

Q. Will these make an Alteration in the Sin?

A. These things attending Sinners, will make little Sins great, yea greater than greater Sins that are committed in grossest Ignorance.

Q. How do you prove that?

A. Sodom and Gomorrah wallowed in all, or most of those gross Transgressions above mentioned: Yea, they were said to be Sinners exceedingly, they lived in such Sins as may not be spoken of without blushing, and and yet God swears that Israel, his Church, had done worse than they; and the Lord Jesus also seconds it in that Threatning of his, I say unto you, that it shall be more tolerable in that Day for Sodom than for thee, Ezek. 16. 48. Mat. 11. 24. Luke 10. 12.

Q. And was this the Reason, namely, because they had such Circumstances attending them as Sodom had not?

A. Yes, as will plainly appear, if you read the three Chapters above mentioned.

Q. When do I sin against Light and Knowledge?

A. When you sin against Convictions of Conscience, when you sin against a known Law of God, when you sin against Counsels and Dissuasion of Friends, then you sin against Light and Knowledge, Rom. 1. 32.

Q. When do I sin against preaching of the Word?

A. When you refuse to hear God's Ministers, or hearing them, refuse to follow their wholesome Doctrine, 2 Chron. 36. 16. Jer. 25. 4, 7. Ch. 35. 15.

Q. When else do I sin against preaching of the Word?

A. When you mock, or despise or reproach the Ministers; also when you raise Lies and Scandals of them, or receive such Lies or Scandals raised: you then also sin against the preaching of the Word, when you persecute them that preach it, or are secretly glad to see them so used, 2 Chron. 30. 1, 10. Rom. 3. 8. Jer. 20. 10. 1 Thes. 2. 15, 16.

Q. How will godly Acquaintance greaten my Sin?

A. When you sin against their Counsels, Warnings, or Perswasions to the contrary; also when their Lives and Conversations are Reproof to you, and yet against all you will sin. Thus sinned Ismael, Esau, Eli's Sons, Absalom and Judas, they had good Company, good Counsels, and a good Life set before them by their godly Acquaintance, but they sinned against all, and their Judgment was the greater. Ismael was cast away, Esau hated, Eli's Sons died suddenly, Absalom and Judas were both strangely hanged, Gen. 21. 10. Gal. 4. 30. Mal. 1. 2. 1 Sam. 2. 20, 25. 2 Sam. 16.

Q. Are Sins thus heightened, distinguished from others by any special Name?

A. Yes; they are called Rebellion, and are compared to the Sin of Witchcraft; they are called wilful Sin, they are called Briars and Thorns, and they that bring them forth are nigh unto Cursing, whose end is to be burned, 1 Sam. 15. 23. Heb. 10. 26. Ch. 6. 7, 8.

Q. Are there any other things that can make little Sins great ones?

A. Yes; As when you sin against the Judgments of God: As for example, you see the Judgments of God come upon some for their Transgressions, and you go on in their Iniquities: as also when you sin against the Patience, Long-suffering, and Forbearance of God, this will make little Sins great ones, Dan. 5. 21, 22, 23, 24. Rom. 2. 4, 5.

Q. Did ever God punish little Children for Sin against him?

A. Yes; when the Flood came, he drowned all the little Children that were in the old World; he also burned up all the little Children which were in Sodom: and because upon a time the little Children at Bethel mocked the Prophet as he was a going to worship God, God let loose two She-Bears upon them, which tore forty and two of them to Pieces, 2 Kings 2. 22, 23.

Q. Alas! what shall we little Children do?

A. Either go on in your Sins, or remember now your Creator in the Days of your Youth, before the evil Days come, Ecclef. 12. 1.

Q. Why do you mock us, to bid us go on in our Sins? you had need pray for us that God would save us.

A. I do not mock you, but as the wise Man doth; and besides, I pray for you and wish your Salvation.

Q. How doth the wise Man mock us?

A. Thus; Rejoice, O young Man in thy Youth, and let thy Heart cheer thee in the Days of thy Youth, and walk in the Ways of thy Heart, and in the Sight of thine Eyes; but know thou that for all these things God will bring thee to Judgment, Ecclef. 11. 9.

Q. What a kind of mocking is this?

A. Such an one as is mixed with the greatest Seriousness; as if he should say, I, do, Sinners, go on in your Sins if you dare; do, Live in your vanities, but God will have a time to judge you for them.

Q. Is not this just as when my Father bids me be naught if I will; but if I be naught, he will beat me for it?

A. Yes; or like that saying of Joshua, If it seem evil to you to serve the Lord, chuse you this Day whom you will serve; serve your Sins at your peril, Josh. 24. 15.

Q. Is it not best then for me to serve God?

A. Yes; for they that serve the Devil must be where he is, and they that serve God and Christ, must be where they are, John 12. 16. Mat. 25. 41.

Q. But when had I best begin to serve God?

A. Just now: Remember now thy Creator, now thou hast the Gospel before thee, now thy Heart is tender and will be soonest broken.

Q. But if I follow my play and sports a little longer, may I not come time enough?

A. I cannot promise thee that, for there be little Graves in the Church-yard; and who can tell but that thy young Life is short: or if thou dost live, perhaps thy Day

Day of Grace may be as short, as was Ishmael's of old: read also Prov. 1. 24, 25, 26.

Q. But if I stay a little longer before I turn, I may have more wit to serve God than now I have, may I not?

A. If thou stayest longer, thou wilt have more Sin, and perhaps less wit: for the bigger Sinner, the bigger Fool, Prov. 1. 22.

Q. If I serve God sometimes, and my Sin sometimes, how then?

A. No Man can serve two Masters: Thou canst not serve God and thy Sins. God saith, My Son, give me thy Heart. Also thy Soul and Body are his; but the double-minded Man is forbidden to think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord, Mat. 6. 24. Prov. 23. 26. 1 Cor. 6. 28. Jam. 1. 7, 8.

Q. Do you find many such little Children as I am, serve God?

A. Not many; yet some I do, Samuel served him being a Child; when Josiah was young he began to seek after the God of his Father David: And how kindly did our Lord Jesus take it, to see the little Children run tripping before him, and crying Hosannah to the Son of David! 1 Sam. 3. 1. 2 Chron. 34. 3. Mat. 21. 15, 16.

Q. Then I am not like to have many Companions, if I thus young begin to serve God, am I?

A. Strait is the Gate, and narrow is the way that leadeth unto Life, and few there be that find it. Yet some Companions thou wilt have. David counted himself a Companion of all them that love God's Testimonies; all the Godly, though Gray-headed, will be thy Companions; yea, and thou shalt have either one or more of the Angels of God in Heaven to attend on, and minister for thee, Mat. 7. 13, 13. Psal. 119. 63. Mat. 18. 10.

Q. But I am like to be slighted, and despised by other little Children, if I begin already to serve God, am I not?

A. If Children be so rude as to mock the Prophets and Ministers of God, no marvel if they also mock thee: but it is a poor Heaven that is not worth enduring worse things than to be mocked for the seeking and obtaining of, 2 Kings 2. 23, 24.

Q. But how should I serve God? I do not know how to Worship him.

A. The true Worshipers, worship God in Spirit and Truth, John 4. 24. Phil. 3. 3.

Q. What is meant by Worshipping him in the Spirit?

A. To worship him in God's Spirit and in mine own; that is, to worship him, being wrought over in my very Heart by the good Spirit of God, to an hearty Compliance with his Will, Rom. 1. 9. Chap. 6. 17. Psal. 101. 3.

Q. What is it to worship him in Truth?

A. To do all that we do in his Worship according to his Word, for his Word is Truth, and to do it without Dissimulation, Heb. 8. 5. John 17. 17. Psal. 26. 6. Psal. 118. 19, 20. You may take the whole thus: Then do you worship God a-right, when in Heart and Life you walk according to his Word.

Q. How must I do to Worship him with my Spirit and Heart?

A. Thou must first get the good Knowledge of him. And thou Solomon my Son, said David, know thou the God of thy Fathers, and serve him with a perfect Heart: Mind you, he first bids know him, and then serve him with a perfect Heart, 1 Chron. 28. 9.

Q. Is it easie to get a true Knowledge of God?

A. No; Thou must cry after Knowledge, and lift up thy Voice for Understanding. If thou seekest for her as Silver, and searchest for her as for hid Treasure, then shalt thou understand the Fear of the Lord, and find the Knowledge of God, Prov. 2. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

Q. How comes it to be so difficult a thing to attain the true Knowledge of God?

A. By reason of the Pride and Ignorance that is in us, as also by reason of our wicked Ways, Psal. 10. 4. Eph. 4. 18, 19. Tit. 1. 16.

Q. But do not every one profess they know God?

A. Yes; But their supposed Knowledge of him varieth as much as do their Faces or Complexions, some thinking he is this, and some that.

Q. Will you shew me a little how they vary in their Thoughts about him.

A. Yes; Some count him a kind of an heartless God, that will neither do evil nor good: some count him a kind of an ignorant and blind God, that can neither know nor see through the Clouds, some again count him an inconsiderable God, not worth the enjoying, if it must not be but with the Loss of this World, and their Lusts. Moreover, some think him to be altogether such an one as themselves, one that hath as little hatred to Sin as themselves, and as little Love to Holiness as themselves, Zeph. 1. 12. Job 22. 12, 13. chap. 21. 9, to 16. Psal. 50. 21.

Q. Are there any more false Opinions of God?

A. Yes; There are three other false Opinions of God. 1. Some think he is all Mercy and no Justice, and that therefore they may live as they list. 2. Others think he is all Justice and no Mercy, and that therefore they had as good go on in their Sins and be damned, as turn and be never the better. 3. Others think he is both Justice and Mercy, but yet think also, that his Justice is such as they can pacify with their own good works, and save themselves with their own right hand, (Rom. 3. 8. Jer. 2. 25. Job 40. 14.) contrary to these Scriptures, Hab. 1. 13. Isa. 45. 21.

Q. How then shall I know when I have the true Knowledge of God?

A. When thy Knowledge of him and the holy Scriptures agree.

Q. The Scriptures: do not all false Opinions of him flow from the Scriptures?

A. No, in no wise; 'tis true, Men father their Errors upon the Scriptures, when indeed they flow from the Ignorance of their Hearts, Ephes. 4. 18.

Q. But how if I do not understand the holy Bible, must I then go without the true Knowledge of God?

A. His Name is manifested by his Word: the Scriptures are they that testify of him, and they are able to make the Man of God perfect in all things, and wise unto Salvation through Faith in Jesus Christ, John 17. 6, 7, 8. John 5. 39. 2 Tim. 3. 15, 16.

Q. But what must one that knoweth not God do, to get the Knowledge of God?

A. Let him apply his Heart unto the Scriptures, as unto a Light that shineth in a dark Place (even this World) until the Day dawn, and the Day-Star arise in his Heart, Pro. 22. 7. chap. 23. 12. 2 Pet. 1. 19, 20.

Q. But how shall I know when I have found by the Scriptures the true Knowledge of God?

A. When thou hast also found the true Knowledge of thy self, Isa. 6. 5. Job 42. 5.

Q. What is it for me to know my self?

A. Then thou knowest thy self, when thou art in thine own Eyes, a loathsome, polluted, wretched, miserable Sinner, and that not any thing done by thee, can pacify God unto thee, Job 42. 5. Ezek. 20. 43, 44. Rom. 7. 24.

Of Confession of Sin.

Quest. YOU have shewed me, if I will indeed worship God, I must first know him aright, now then to the Question in Hand, pray how must I Worship him?

A. In confessing unto him, Nehem. 9. 1, 2, 3.

Q. What must I confess?

A. Thou must confess thy Transgressions unto the Lord, Psal. 32. 5.

Q. Was this the way of the godly of Old?

A. Yes; Nehemiah confessed his Sins, David confessed his Sins, Daniel confessed his Sins, and they that were Baptized by John in Jordan confessed their Sins, Nehem. 1. 6. Psal. 32. 5. Dan. 9. 4. Mat. 3. 6.

Q. What Sins must I confess to God?

A. All Sins whatsoever: for he that covereth his Sins shall not prosper, but who so confesseth and forsaketh them shall find Mercy, Pro. 28. 13. 1 John 1. 9.

Q. But how if I do neither know nor remember all my Sins?

A. Thou must then search and try thy Ways by the holy Word of God, Lam. 3. 40. Psal. 77. 6.

Q. But how if I do not make this search after my Sins?

A. If thou dost not, God will, if thou dost not search them out and confess them, God will search them out and charge them upon thee, and tear thee in pieces for them, Psal. 50. 21, 22.

Q. Where must I begin to confess my Sins?

A. Where God beginneth to shew thee them: Observe then where God beginneth with Conviction for Sin, and there begin thou with Confession of it. Thus David began to confess, thus Daniel began to confess, 2 Sam. 12. 7, to 14. Dan. 9. 3, to 9.

Q. What must I do, when God hath shewed me any Sin, to make right Confession thereof?

A. Thou must follow that Conviction, until it shall bring thee to the Original and Fountain of that Sin, which is thine own Heart, 1 Kings 8. 38. Psal. 51. 5.

Q. Is my Heart then the Fountain and Original of Sin?

A. Yes: For from within out of the Heart of Man proceed evil Thoughts, Adulteries, Fornications, Murders, Thefts, Covetousness, Wickedness, Deceit, Lasciviousness, an evil Eye, Blasphemy, Pride, Foolishness. All these evil Things come from within, and defile the Man, Mark 7. 21, 22, 23.

Q. When a Man sees this, what will he think of himself?

A. Then he will not only think but conclude, that he is an unclean Thing, that his Heart has deceived him, that it is most desperate and wicked, that it may not be trusted by any means, that every Imagination and Thought of his Heart (naturally) is only evil, and that continually, Isa. 64. 6. Prov. 28. 26. Isa. 44. 20. Gen. 6. 5.

Q. You have given me a very bad Character of the Heart, but how shall I know that it is so bad as you count it?

A. Both by the Text, and by Experience.

Q. What do you mean by Experience?

A. Keep thine Eyes upon thy Heart, and also upon God's Word, and thou shalt see with thine own Eyes, the desperate Wickedness that is in thine Heart; for thou must know Sin by the Law, that bidding thee do one Thing, and thy Heart inclining to another, Rom. 7. 7, 8, 9.

Q. May I thus then know my Heart?

A. Yes, that is something of it, especially the Carnality of thy Mind, because the carnal Mind is Enmity against God; for it is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be, Rom. 8. 7.

Q. Can you particularise some few Things wherein the Wickedness of the Heart of Man shews it self?

A. Yes; by its secret hankering after Sin, although although the World forbids it : by its deferring of Repentance ; by its being weary of holy Duties ; by its Aptness to forget God ; by its studying to lessen and hide Sin ; by its feigning it felt to be better than it is, by being glad when it can sin without being seen of Men ; by its hardening it self against the Threatnings and Judgments of God ; by its desperate Inclinations to Unbelief, Atheism, and the like, Prov. 1. 24, 25, 26. Isa. 43. 22. Mal. 1. 12, 13. Judg. 3. 7. Jer. 2. 32. Psal. 106. 21. Hos. 2. 13. Prov. 30. 20. Jer. 2. 25. Rom. 1. 32. Chap. 2. 5. Zeph. 7. 11, 12, 13.

Q. Is there any Thing else to be done in order to a right Confession of Sin ?

A. Yes ; Let this Conviction sink down into thy Heart, that God sees much more Wickedness in thee than thou canst see in thy self. If thy Heart condemn thee, God is greater than thy Heart, and he knows all Things ; besides, he hath set thy secret Sins in the Light of his Countenance, 1 Job. 3. 20. Psal. 90. 8.

Q. Is there any Thing else that must go to a right Confession of Sin ?

A. Yes ; In thy Confessions thou must greaten and aggravate thy Sin by all just Circumstances.

Q. How must I do that ?

A. By considering against how much Light and Mercy thou hast sinned, against how much Patience and Forbearance thou hast sinned ; also against what Warnings and Judgments thou hast sinned ; and against how many of thine own Vows, Promises and Engagements, thou hast sinned : these Things heighten and aggravate Sin, Ezra 9. 10, to 16.

Q. But what need I confess my Sins to God, seeing he knows them already ?

A. Confession of Sin is necessary, for many Reasons.

Q. Will you shew me some of those Reasons ?

A. Yes ; One is, by a sincere and hearty Confession of Sin thou acknowledgest God to be thy Sovereign Lord, and that he hath right to impose his Law upon thee, Exod. 20.

Q. Can you shew me another Reason ?

A. Yes ; By confessing thy Sin, thou subscribeest to his righteous Judgments that are pronounced against it, Psal. 51. 3, 4.

Q. Can you shew me another Reason ?

A. Yes ; By confessing of Sin, thou shewest how little thou deservest the least Mercy from God.

Q. Have you yet another Reason why I should confess my Sins ?

A. Yes ; By so doing thou shewest whether thy Heart loves it, or hates it : He that heartily confesseth his Sin, is like him who having a Thief or a Traitor in his House, brings him out to condign Punishment ; but he that forbears to confess, is like him who hideth a Thief or Traitor against the Laws and Peace of our Lord the King.

Q. Give me one more Reason why I should confess my Sins to God ?

A. He that confesseth his Sin, casteth himself at the Feet of God's Mercy, utterly condemns and casts away his own Righteousness, concludeth there is no Way to stand just and acquit before God, but by and through the Righteousness of another ; whither God is resolved to bring thee, if ever he saves thy Soul, Psal. 51. 1, 2, 3. 1 John 1. 9. Phil. 3. 6, 7, 8.

Q. What Frame of Heart should I be in when I confess my Sins ?

A. Do it heartily, and to the best of thy Power thoroughly. For to feign, in this Work, is abominable ; to do it by the halves, is Wickedness ; to do it without Sense of Sin cannot be acceptable : And to confess it with the Mouth, and to love it with the Heart, is a lying unto God, and a Provocation of the Eyes of his Glory.

Q. What do you mean by feigning and dissembling in this Work ?

A. When Men confess it, yet know not what it is ; or if they think they know it, do not conclude it so bad as it is ; or when Men ask Pardon of God, but do not see their need of Pardon ; this Man must needs dissemble.

Q. What do you mean by doing it by the halves ?

A. When Men confess some, but not all that they are convinced of ; or if they confess all, yet labour in their Confession to lessen it. Or when in their Confession they turn not from all Sin to God, but from one Sin to another. They turned, but not to the most high, none of them did exalt him, Prov. 28. 13. Job 31. 33. Jam. 3. 12. Hos. 7. 16.

Q. What is it to confess Sin without the Sense of Sin ?

A. To do it through Custom, or Tradition, when there is no Guilt upon the Conscience, now this cannot be acceptable.

Q. What is it to confess it with the Mouth, and to love it with the Heart ?

A. When Men condemn it with their Mouth, but refuse to let it go ; when with their Mouth they shew much Love, but their Heart goeth after their Covetousness, Job 20. 12, 13. Jer. 8. 5. Ezek. 33. 31.

Q. But I asked you what Frame of Heart I should be in, in my Confessions ?

A. I have shewed you how you should not be. Well, I will shew you now what Frame of Heart becomes you in your Confessions of Sin. Labour by all Means for a Sense of the evil that is in Sin.

Q. What evil is there in Sin ?

A. No Man with Tongue can express what may by the Heart be felt of the Evil of Sin ; but this know, it dishonour-eth God, it provoketh him to Wrath, it damneth damneſt the Soul, Rom. 2. 23. Ephes. 5. 5, 6. 2 Theſ. 2. 12.

Q. What elſe would you adviſe me to in this great Work?

A. When we confeſs Sin, Tears, Shame, and Brokenneſs of Heart becomes us, Jer. 50. 4. Iſa. 22. 12. Pſal. 51. 17. Jer. 31. 19.

Q. What elſe becomes me in my Confeſſions of Sin?

A. Great Detestation of Sin, with unfeigned Sighs and Groans, that expreſs thou doſt it heartily, Job 42. 5, 6. Ezek. 9. 4. Jer. 31. 9.

Q. Is here all?

A. No; Tremble at the Word of God; Tremble at every Judgment, leſt it overtake thee; Tremble at every Promise, leſt thou ſhouldeſt miſs thereof: For, ſaith God, To this Man will I look, even to him that is poor, and of a contrite Spirit, and that trembles at my Word, Iſa. 66. 2. Heb. 4. 1, 2.

Q. What if I cannot thus confeſs my Sins?

A. Bewail the hardneſs of thy Heart, keep cloſe to the beſt Preachers, remember that thou haingeſt over Hell, by the weak Thread of an uncertain Life. And know, God counts it a great evil, not to be aſhamed of, not to bluſh at Sin, Iſa. 63. 17. Jer. 6. 15. Chap. 8. 12.

Q. Are there no Thanks to be rendred to God in Confeſſions?

A. O, Yes; Thank him that he hath let thee ſee thy Sins, thank him that he hath given thee Time to acknowledge thy Sins; thou mighteſt now have been confeſſing in Hell: thank him alſo that he hath ſo far condeſcended as to hear the ſelf-bemoaning Sinner, and that he hath promiſed, Surely to have Mercy upon ſuch, Jer. 31. 18, 19, 20.

Of Faith in CHRIST.

Queſt. I Am glad that you have inſtructed me into this part of the Worſhip of God, I pray tell me alſo how elſe I ſhould worſhip him?

A. Thou muſt believe his Word.

Q. Is that worſhipping of God?

A. Yes; after the way which you call Hereſy, ſo worſhip I the God of my Fathers, believing all things that are written in the Law and the Prophets, &c. Acts 24. 14.

Q. Why ſhould believing be counted a part of God's Worſhip?

A. Becauſe without Faith it is impoſſible to pleaſe him, Heb. 11. 6.

Q. Why not poſſible to pleaſe him without believing?

A. Becauſe in all true Worſhip, a Man muſt believe that God is, and that he is a Rewarder of them that diligently ſeek him. Beſides, he that worſhips God, muſt alſo of neceſſity believe his Word, elſe he cannot worſhip with that Reverence and Fear that becomes him, but will do it in a ſuperſtitious profane manner: for whatſoever is not of Faith is Sin, Rom. 14. 23.

Q. But do not all believe as you have ſaid?

A. That which is born of the Fleſh is Fleſh, and that which is born of the Spirit is Spirit. And again, the Children of the Fleſh, theſe are not the Children of God, but the Children of the Promise are counted for the Seed, John 3. 6. Rom. 9. 8.

Q. What do you mean by that?

A. Thou muſt be born twice before thou canſt truly believe once, John 3. 3, 5.

Q. How do you prove that?

A. Becauſe believing is a Chriſtian Act, and none are true Chriſtians but thoſe that are born again. But I mean by believing, believing unto Salvation.

Q. Can you prove this?

A. Yes; they that believe in the Name of Chriſt, are ſuch which are born not of Blood, nor of the Will of the Fleſh, nor of the Will of Man, but of God, John 1. 12, 13.

Q. What is believing?

A. It is ſuch an Act of a gracious Soul, as layeth hold on God's Mercy through Chriſt, Acts 15. 11.

Q. Why do you call it an Act of a gracious Soul?

A. Becauſe their Minds are diſpoſed that way, by the Power of the Holy Ghoſt, Rom. 15. 13.

Q. If ſuch a poor Sinner as I am would be ſaved from the Wrath to come, how muſt I believe?

A. Thy firſt Queſtion ſhould be, on whom muſt I believe? John 9. 35, 36.

Q. On whom then muſt I believe?

A. On the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, Acts 16. 31, 32.

Q. Who is Jeſus Chriſt that I might believe in him?

A. He is the only-begotten Son of God, John 3. 16.

Q. Why muſt I believe on him?

A. Becauſe he is the Saviour of the World, 2 Pet. 1. 1. 1 John 4. 14.

Q. How is he the Saviour of the World?

A. By the Father's Designation and ſending: for God ſent not his Son into the World to condemn the World, but that the World through him might be ſaved, John 3. 13.

Q. How did he come into the World?

A. In Man's Fleſh, in which Fleſh he fulfilled the Law, died for our Sins, conquered the Devil and Death, and obtained Eternal Redemption for us, Gal. 4. 4. Rom. 10. 3, 4. chap. 8. 3. Heb. 2. 14, 15. chap. 6. 20. chap. 9. 12, 24.

Q. But is there no other way to be ſaved but by believing in Jeſus Chriſt?

A. There is no other Name given under Heaven among Men whereby we muſt be ſaved; and therefore he that believeth not, ſhall be damned, Acts 4. 12. Mar. 16. 16.

John

John 3. 18, 36.

Q. What is believing on Jesus Christ?

A. It is a receiving of him with what is in him, as the gift of God to thee a Sinner, John 1. 12.

Q. What is in Jesus Christ to encourage me to receive him?

A. Infinite Righteousness to justify thee, and the Spirit without measure to sanctify thee, Isa. 45. 24, 25. Dan. 9. 24. Phil. 3. 7, 8. John 3. 24.

Q. Is this made mine if I receive Christ?

A. Yes; If thou receive him as God offereth him to thee, John 3. 16.

Q. How doth God offer him to me?

A. Even as a rich Man freely offereth an Alms to a Beggar, and so must thou receive him, John 6. 32, to 36.

Q. Hath he indeed made amends for Sin? and would indeed have me accept of what he hath done?

A. That he hath made amends for Sin, 'tis evident, because God for Christ's sake forgiveth thee. And 'tis as evident that he would have thee accept thereof, because he offereth it to thee, and hath sworn to give thee the utmost Benefit, to wit, eternal Life, if thou dost receive it, yea, and hath threatned thee with eternal Damnation, if after all this thou shalt neglect so great Salvation, Ephes. 5. 1. Rom. 3. 24. Matt. 28. 19. Acts 13. 32, 33, 38, 39. Heb. 6. 17, 18. chap. 2. 3. Mar. 16. 16.

Q. But how must I be qualified before I shall dare to believe in Christ?

A. Come, sensible of thy Sins, and of the Wrath of God due unto them, for thus thou art bid to come, Matt. 11. 28.

Q. Did ever any come thus to Christ?

A. David came thus, Paul and the Jailor came thus, also Christ's Murderers came thus, Psal. 51. 1, 2, 3. Acts 9. 6. Acts 16. 30, 31. Acts 2. 37.

Q. But doth it not seem most reasonable that we should first mend and be good?

A. The whole have no need of the Physician, but those that are sick; Christ came not to call the Righteous, but Sinners to Repentance, Mar. 2. 17.

Q. But is it not the best way, if one can, to mend first?

A. This is just as if a sick Man should say, is it not best for me to be well before I go to the Physician; or as if a wounded Man should say, when I am cured I will lay on the Plaster.

Q. But when a poor Creature sees its Vileness, it is afraid to come to Christ, is it not?

A. Yes; but without ground, for he hath said, Say to them that are of a fearful Heart, be strong, fear not; and to this Man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite Spirit, and trembles at my Word, Isa. 35. 4. Chap. 66. 2.

Q. What Encouragement can be given us thus to come?

A. The Prodigal came thus, and his Father received him, and fell upon his Neck and kissed him. Thus he received the Colossians, and consequently all that are saved, Luke 15. Col. 2. 13.

Q. Will you give me one more Encouragement?

A. The Promises are so worded, that they that are Scarlet-sinners, Crimson-sinners, Blasphemous-sinners, have Encouragement to come to him with Hopes of Life, Isa. 1. 18. Mar. 3. 28. John 6. 36. Luke 24. 47. Acts 13. 36.

Q. Shall any one that believeth be saved?

A. If they believe as the Scriptures have said, if the Scriptures be fulfilled in their believing, John 7. 38. Jam. 2. 23.

Q. What do you mean by that?

A. When Faith which a Man faith he hath, proveth itself to be of the right kind by its Acts and Operations in the Mind of a poor Sinner, Jam. 2. 19 to 23.

Q. Why, are there many kinds of Faith?

A. Yes; there is a Faith that will stand with a Heart as hard as a Rock; a short winded Faith which dureth for a while, and in time of Temptation such fall away, Luke 8. 13.

Q. Is there any other kind of Faith?

A. Yes: There is a Faith that hath no more Life in it than hath the Body of a dead Man, Jam. 2. 26.

Q. Is there yet another of these unprofitable Faiths?

A. Yes; there is a Faith that is of our selves, and not of the special Grace of God, Eph. 2. 8.

Q. Tell me if there be yet another?

A. There is a Faith that standeth in the Wisdom of Men, and not in the Power of God, 1 Cor. 2. 5.

Q. Is here all?

A. No; there is a Faith that seems to be holy, but it will not do, because 'tis not the most holy Faith, 2 Pet. 2. 20. Jude 20.

Q. Alas! if there be so many kinds of Faith, that will not profit to Salvation, how easy is it for me to be deceived?

A. It is easy indeed, and therefore the Holy Ghost doth in this thing so often caution us, Be not deceived, Let no Man deceive you, and if a Man thinketh himself to be something when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself, 1 Cor. 6. 9. Eph. 5. 6. Gal. 6. 3.

Q. But is there no way to distinguish the right Faith from that which is wrong?

A. Yes; and that by the manner of its Coming and Operation.

Q. What do you mean by the manner of its Coming?

A. Nay, you must make two questions of this one; that is, what is it for Faith to come, and in what manner doth it come?

Q. Well then, what is it for Faith to come?

A. This Word Faith comes, supposeth, thou thou wert once without it; it also supposeth that thou didst not fetch it whence it was, it also supposeth it hath a way of coming, Gal. 3. 23, 25.

Q. That I was once without it you intimated before, but must I take it without proof for granted?

A. I will give you a Proof or two: God hath concluded them all in Unbelief, and again it is said, Faith comes. And again, the Holy Ghost insinuateth our Estate to be dreadful before Faith come, Rom. 11. 32. chap. 10. 17. Gal. 3. 23.

Q. Why, how is it with Men before Faith comes?

A. Without Faith, or before Faith comes it is impossible to please God, for whether their Actions be civil or religious, they sin in all they do. The Sacrifice of the wicked is an Abomination, and the plowing of the wicked is Sin, Prov. 21. 4, 27.

Q. Is not this a very sad Condition?

A. Yes; but this is not all, for their present Unbelief bindeth them over to Wrath, by shutting them up to the Law; it also draweth them away from God, and will drown them in everlasting Damnation, if the Grace of God prevent not, Gal. 3. 23. Heb. 3. 17, 18. John 3. 36.

Q. What if a Man saw himself in this Condition?

A. There are many see themselves in this Condition?

Q. How came they to see it?

A. By the preaching and hearing the Word of God, John 16. 8, 9.

Q. And what do such think of themselves?

A. They do not only think, but know that in this Condition they are without Christ, without Hope, and without God in the World, Eph. 2. 11, 12.

Q. Are not they happy that see not themselves in this Condition?

A. Yes; if they have seen themselves delivered therefrom by a work of Faith in their Souls, else not.

Q. How do you mean?

A. I mean if they have seen themselves delivered from this State, by being by the Word and Spirit of God implanted into the Faith of Christ, Rom. 11. 17, 18, 19.

Q. Are not they happy that are never troubled with this sad Sight of their Condition?

A. They are just so happy as is that Man, who lieth fast asleep in his House while it is on Fire about his Ears. Can a Man be happy, that is ignorant that he is without God and Christ, and Hope? Can a Man be happy, that is ignorant that he is hanging over Hell by the poor weak Thread of an uncertain Life? For this is the State of such an one.

Q. But may not Faith come to a Man without he see himself to be first in this Condition?

A. It is God's ordinary way to convince

Men of this their sad Condition before he revealeth to them the Righteousness of Faith, or work Faith in them to lay hold of that Righteousness, John 16. 9, 10, 11. Gal. 3. 23, 25.

Q. How then do you conclude of them that never saw themselves shut up by Unbelief under Sin and the Curse of God?

A. I will not judge them for the future, God may convert them before they die; but at present their State is miserable: for because they are shut up and held Prisoners by the Law, by their Lusts, and by the Devil, and Unbelief; therefore they cannot so much as with their hearts desire that God would have Mercy upon them, and bring them out of their Snares and Chains.

Q. Then do you count it better for a Man to see his Condition by Nature, than to be ignorant thereof?

A. Better a thousand times to see it in this World, than to see it in Hell-fire, for he must see it there or here: now if he sees it here, this is the Place of Prayer, here is the Preaching of the Word which is God's Ordinance to beget Faith. Besides, here God applieth Promises of Mercy to the Desolate, and Christ also hath protested that he that cometh to him, he will in no wise cast out, John 6. 37.

Q. I am convinced that I was once without Faith, and also that I cannot fetch it, but pray tell me the way of its coming?

A. Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God, Rom. 10. 17.

Q. How by hearing?

A. God mixeth it with the Word, when he absolutely intendeth the Salvation of the Sinner, Heb. 4. 2, 3. Acts 13. 48.

Q. And how do Men hear when Faith is mixed with the Word?

A. They hear the Word not as the Word of Man, but as it is in truth the Word of God, which worketh effectually in them that believe, 1 Thes. 2. 13.

Q. Pray tell me now the manner of its coming?

A. It comes through difficulty, it comes gradually.

Q. What are the difficulties which oppose it at its coming?

A. Sense of Unworthiness, Guilt of Conscience, natural Reason, Unbelief, and Arguments forged in Hell, and thence suggested by the Devil into the Heart against it, Luke 5. 8. Mark 9. 24. Isaiah 6. 5. Rom. 4. 18, to 21.

Q. How doth Faith come gradually?

A. Perhaps at first it is but like a Grain of Mustard-seed, small, and weak, Mat. 17. 20.

Q. Will you explain it further?

A. Faith, at first, perhaps may have its Excellency lie in view only, that is in seeing where Justification and Salvation is; after that it may step a degree higher, and be be able to say, it may be, or who can tell but I may obtain this Salvation? again, it may perhaps go yet a step higher and arrive to some short and transient Assurance, Heb. 11. 13. Joel 2. 13, 14. Zeph. 2. 3. Psal. 30. 7.

Q. But doth Faith come only by hearing?

A. It is usually begotten by the Word preached, but after it is begotten, it is increased several ways. It is increased by Prayer, it is increased by Christian Conference, it is increased by Reading, it is increased by Meditation, it is increased by the Remembrance of former Experiences, Luke 17. 5. Mar. 9. 24. Rom. 1. 12. chap. 16. 25, 26. 1 Tim. 4. 12, to 16. Matt. 16. 8, 9.

Q. What do these things teach us?

A. They teach us that the Men of this World are very Ignorant of, and as much without desire after Faith: they neither Hear, nor Pray, Confer, nor Read, nor Meditate for the sake of Faith.

A. But you said even now, that this Faith was distinguished from that which profiteth not to Salvation, as by the manner of its coming, so by its Operation: pray what is its Operation?

A. It causeth the Soul to see in the Light thereof, that there is no Righteousness in this World that can save the Sinner, Isa. 64. 6.

Q. How doth it give the Soul this Sight?

A. By giving him to understand the Law, and his own inability to do it, Gal. 2. 15, 16.

Q. And doth it always show the Soul where Justifying Righteousness is?

A. Yes; it shews that Justifying Righteousness is only to be found in the Lord Jesus Christ, in what he hath done and suffered in the Flesh, Isa. 45. 24, 25. Phil. 3. 3, to 9.

Q. How doth Faith find this Righteousness in Christ?

A. By the Word, which is therefore called the Word of Faith, because Faith by that findeth sufficient Righteousness in him, Rom. 10. 6, 7, 8, 9.

Q. How else doth it operate in the Soul?

A. It applieth this Righteousness to the Sinner, and also helps him to embrace it, Rom. 3. 21, 22. 1 Cor. 1. 30. Gal. 2. 20.

Q. How else doth it operate?

A. By this Application of Christ, the Soul is quickened to Life, Spiritualized and made Heavenly. For right Faith quickeneth to Spiritual Life, Purifies and Sanctifies the Heart; and worketh up the Man that hath it, into the Image of Jesus Christ, Col. 2. 12, 13. Acts 15. 9. Chap. 26. 18. 2 Cor. 3. 18.

Q. How else doth it operate?

A. It giveth the Soul Peace with God through Jesus Christ, Rom. 5. 1.

Q. Surely Christ is of great Esteem with them that have this Faith in him, is he not?

A. Yes, Yes. Unto them therefore which believe he is precious, precious in his Person, precious in his Undertakings, precious in his Word, 1 Pet. 2. 7. Chap. 1. 18, 19. 2 Pet. 1. 3, 4.

Q. Can these People, then, that have this Faith, endure to have this Christ spoken against?

A. O! No! This is a Sword in their Bones, and a burden that they cannot bear, Psal. 42. 10. Zeph. 3. 18, 19.

Q. Doth it not go near them when they see his Ways and People discountenanced?

A. Yes; and they also chuse rather to be despised and persecuted with them, than to enjoy the Pleasures of Sin for a Season, Heb. 11. 24, 25.

Q. Do they not pray much for his second Coming?

A. Yes, yes; they would fain see him on this side the Clouds of Heaven, their Conversation is in Heaven, from whence they look for the Saviour the Lord Jesus Christ, Phil. 3. 20.

Q. And do they live in this World as if he were to come presently?

A. Yes; For his Coming will be glorious and dreadful, full of Mercy and Judgment. The day of the Lord will come as a Thief in the Night, in which the Heavens shall pass away with a great Noise, and the Elements shall melt with fervent Heat; the Earth also and the Works therein shall be burnt up: seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of Persons ought we to be in all holy Conversation and Godliness? 2 Pet. 3. 10, 11.

Of Prayer.

Quest. WELL, I am glad that you have shewed me that I must worship God by Confession of Sin, and Faith in Jesus Christ: Is there any other thing a Part of the true Worship of God?

A. Yes, several; I will mention only two more at this time?

Q. What are they?

A. Prayer, and Self-denial.

Q. Is Prayer then a Part of the Worship of God?

A. Yes; a great Part of it?

Q. How do you prove that?

A. O come let us worship, and bow down, let us kneel before the Lord our Maker, Psal. 95. 6.

Q. Is there another Scripture proves it?

A. Yes; Then she came and worshipped him, saying, Lord help me, Mat. 15. 25.

Q. What is Prayer?

A. A sincere sensible affectionate pouring out of the Soul to God in the Name of Christ for what God hath promised, Prov. 15. 8. Jer. 31. 18, 19. Psal. 42. 2, 3, 4. John 14. 13, 14. 1 John 5. 14.

Q. Doth not every Body pray?

A. No;

A. No; the wicked through the Pride of his Countenance will not seek after God; God is not in all his Thoughts, Psal. 40. 4.

Q. What will become of them that do not Pray?

A. They do not worship God, and he will destroy them; Pour out thy Fury (saith the Prophet) upon the Heathen, and upon the Families that call not upon thy Name, Psal. 79. 6. Jer. 10. 25.

Q. But seeing God knoweth what we want, why doth he not give us what we need, without Praying?

A. His Counsel and Wisdom leadeth him otherwise. Thus saith the Lord, I will yet be enquired of by the House of Israel to do it for them, Ezek. 36. 37.

Q. Why will God have us Pray?

A. Because he would be acknowledged by thee, that he is above thee, and therefore would have thee come to him as the Mean come to the Mighty. Thus Abraham came unto him, Gen. 18. 27, 30.

Q. Is there another Reason why I should Pray?

A. Yes; For by Prayer thou acknowledgest, that Help is not in thine own Power, 2 Chron. 20. 6, 12.

Q. What Reason else have you why I should Pray?

A. By Prayer thou confessest that Help is only in him, Psal. 62. 1.

Q. What other Reason have you?

A. By Prayer thou confessest thou canst not live without his Grace and Mercy, Mat. 14. 30. Heb. 4. 16.

Q. Are all that pray heard of the Lord?

A. No; They looked, that is, prayed, but there was none to save them; even unto the Lord, but he answered them not, 2 Sam. 22. 42.

Q. To what doth God compare the Prayers which he refuseth to answer?

A. He compareth them to the howling of a Dog, Hos. 7. 14.

Q. Who be they whose Prayers God will not answer?

A. Theirs, who think to be heard for their much speaking, and vain Repetition, Matth. 6. 7.

Q. Is there any other whose Prayer God refuseth?

A. Yes; There are that ask and have not because what they ask, they would spend upon their Lusts, Jam. 4. 3.

Q. Is there any other whose Prayer God refuseth?

A. Yes; If I regard iniquity in my Heart, the Lord will not hear my Prayer. Psal. 66. 18.

Q. Is the regarding of Sin in our Heart such a deadly Hindrance to Prayer?

A. Son of Man, saith God, these Men have set up their Idols in their Heart, and have put the Stumbling-block of their Iniquity before their Face: should I be enquired of at all by them? I will set my Face against that Man, and will make him a Sign and a Proverb. And I will cut him off from the midst of my People, Ezek. 14. 3, 8.

Q. Whose Prayers be they that God will hear?

A. The Prayers of the poor and needy, Psal. 34. 6. Isa. 41. 17.

Q. What do you mean by the Poor?

A. Such as have Poverty in Spirit, Mat. 5. 3.

Q. Who are they that are poor in Spirit?

A. They that are sensible of the Want and Necessity of all those things of God, that prepare a Man to the Kingdom of Heaven.

Q. What things are they?

A. Faith, Hope, Love, Joy, Peace, a new Heart, the Holy Ghost, Sanctification, see Jam. 2. 5. 2 Thes. 2. 16. Ezek. 36. 26, 27.

Q. What do you mean by the needy?

A. Those whose Souls long and cannot be satisfied without the Enjoyment of these blessed things, Psal. 63. 1. Psal. 119. 20.

Q. Will God hear the Prayers of such?

A. Yes; For he satisfieth the longing Soul, and filleth the hungry Soul with good things, Psal. 107. 9.

Q. How shall I know that I am one of those, to whom God will give these things?

A. If thou seeest a beauty in them beyond the beauty of all other things, Psal. 110. 3.

Q. How else shall I know he heareth me?

A. If thou desirest them for their beauties sake, Psal. 90. 14, 17.

Q. How else should I know I shall have them?

A. When thy groanings after them are beyond Expression, Rom. 8. 26.

Q. How else should I know, and so be encouraged to pray?

A. When thou followest hard after God in all his Ordinances for the obtaining of them, Isa. 4. 31. Ch. 64. 5.

Q. How else should I know?

A. When thou makest good Use of that little thou hast already, Rev. 3. 8.

Q. Are here all the good Signs that my Prayers shall be heard?

A. No; there is one more without which thou shalt never obtain.

Q. Pray what is that?

A. Thou must plead with God, the Name and Merits of Jesus Christ, for whose sake only God giveth thee these things. If we ask any thing in his Name, he heareth us, and whatsoever you ask the Father in my Name, saith Christ, I will do it, John 14. 13, 14.

Q. Doth God always answer presently?

A. Sometimes he doth, and sometimes he doth not, Isa. 30. 19. Dan. 10. 12.

Q. Is not God's deferring, a Sign of his Anger?

A. Some-

A. Sometimes it is not, and sometimes it is.

Q. When is it no Sign of his Anger?

A. When we have not wickedly departed from him by our Sins, Luke 18. 7.

Q. When is it a Sign of his Anger?

A. When we have backsliden, when we have not repented some former Miscarriages, Hos. 5. 14, 15.

Q. Why doth God defer to hear their Prayers that have not wickedly departed from him?

A. He loves to hear their Voice, to try their Faith, to see their Importunity, and to observe how they can wrestle with him for a Blessing, Song 2. 14. Mat. 15. 22, to 29. Luke 11. 5, 6, 7, 8. Gen. 32. 25, 26, 27.

Q. But is not deferring to answer Prayer a great Discouragement to praying?

A. Though it is, because of our Unbelief, yet it ought not because God is faithful. Therefore Men ought always to pray, and not to faint, Luke 10. 1, to 7.

Of Self-Denial.

Q. I Am glad you have thus far granted my Request: But you told me that there was another Part of God's Worship; pray repeat that again?

A. It is Self-denial.

Q. Now I remember it well; pray how do you prove that Self-denial is called a Part of God's Worship?

A. It is said of Abraham, that when he went to offer up his Son Isaac upon the Altar for a Burnt-Offering, which was to him a very great Part of Self-denial, that he counted that Act of his, Worshipping God.

Q. Will you be pleased to read the Text?

A. Yes; And Abraham said unto his young Men, Abide ye here with the Ass, and I and the Lad will go yonder and worship, &c. This now was when he was going to slay his Son Isaac, Gen. 22. 5.

Q. What is Self-denial?

A. It is for a Man to forsake his All, for the sake of Jesus Christ.

Q. Will you prove this by a Scripture or two?

A. Yes; whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my Disciple, Luke 14. 33.

Q. Indeed this is a full Place, can you give me one more?

A. Yes; what Things were Gain to me, those I count Loss for Christ; yea doubtless and I count all Things but Loss for the Excellency of the Knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have suffered the Loss of all Things, and do count them but Dung, that I may win Christ, &c. Phil. 3. 7, 8.

Q. These two are indeed a sufficient Answer to my question; but pray will you now give me some particular Instances of the Self-denial of them that have heretofore been the Followers of Christ?

A. Yes; Abel denied himself, to the losing of his Blood; Abraham denied himself, to the losing of his Country and his Father's House; Moses denied himself of a Crown and a Kingdom, and of Ease and Tranquillity; Joseph denied himself of fleshly Lufts, Gen. 4. 8. chap. 12. 1, 2, 3, 4. Heb. 11. 24, 25, 26, 27. Gen. 39. 7, 8, 9.

Q. But these Men each of them denied themselves but of some things, did they?

A. You see Abel lost all, his Blood and all; Abraham lost his Country to the Hazard of his Life, so did Moses in leaving the Crown and Kingdom, and Joseph in denying his Mistress, Gen. 12. 13. Heb. 11. 27. Gen. 39. 10, to 15.

Q. Will you discourse a little particularly of self-denial?

A. With all my heart.

Q. First then, pray in what Spirit must this self-denial be performed?

A. It must be done in the Spirit of Faith, of Love, and of a sound mind. Otherwise, if a Man should sell all that he hath and give to the poor, and his Body to be burnt besides, it would profit him nothing, 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2, 3.

Q. Who are like to miscarry here?

A. They whose Ends in Self-denial are not according to the Proposals of the Gospel.

Q. Who are they?

A. They that suffer through Strife and Vain-glory; or thus, they who seek in their Sufferings the Praise of Men more than the Glory of Christ, and Profit of their Neighbour.

Q. Who else are like to miscarry here?

A. They that have Designs like Ziba to ingratiate themselves by their pretended Self-denial into the Affections of the godly, and to enrich themselves by this means, 2 Sam. 16. 1, 2, 3, 4.

Q. Are there any other like to miscarry here?

A. Yes; they that by denying themselves think with the Pharisee, to make themselves stand more righteous in God's Eyes than others, Luke 18. 11, 12.

Q. Who else are in danger of miscarrying here?

A. They who have fainted in their Works, they whose Self-denial hath at last been overcome by Self-love, Gal. 3. 4. chap. 6. 9.

Q. Shall I propound a few more questions?

A. If you please.

Q. What then if a Man promiseth to deny himself hereafter and not now, is not this one step to this kind of Worship?

A. No, by no means; for the reason why this Man refuseth to deny himself now, is because his Heart at present sticks closer to his his Lusts and the World, than to God and Christ.

Q. Can you give me a Scripture Instance to make this out?

A. Yes; Esau never intended for ever to part with the Blessing, he intended to have it hereafter; but God counted his not choosing of it at present, a despising of it, and a preferring of his Lusts before it; and therefore when he would, God would not, but reject both him and his Tears, Gen. 25. 30, to 34. Heb. 12. 14, 15, 16.

Q. How and if a Man shall say thus, I am willing to deny myself in many things, tho' he cannot deny himself in all, is not this one Step in this part of this Worship of God?

A. No, in no wise; for this Man doth just like Saul, he will slay a part, and will keep a part alive; the Kingdom must be taken from him also, 1 Sam. 15.

Q. How if a Man be willing to lose all but his Life?

A. He that will save his Life shall lose it, but he that will lose his Life for my Sake, saith Christ, shall save it unto Life eternal, Matt. 16. 25. John 12. 25.

Q. How if a Man has been willing to lose all that he hath, but is not now, will not God accept of his Willingness in time past, though he be otherwise now?

A. No; for the true Disciple must deny himself daily, take up his Cross daily, and go after Jesus Christ, Luke 9. 23.

Q. But how if a Man carrieth it well outwardly, so that he doth not dishonour the Gospel before Men, may not this be counted Self-denial?

A. No, if he be not right at Heart; for though Man looketh on the outward Appearance, God looketh at the Heart, 1 Sam. 16. 7.

Q. But if I be afraid my Heart may deceive me in this great Work, if hard things come upon me hereafter, is there no way to find out whether it will deceive me then or no?

A. I will give you a few Answers to this question, and will shew you first whose heart is like to deceive him in this work.

Q. Will you befriend me so much?

A. Yes; 1. He that makes not daily Conscience of Self-denial, is very unlike to abide a Disciple for times to come, if difficult. Judas did not deny himself daily, and therefore fell when the Temptation came, John 12. 6.

Q. Will you give me another Sign?

A. Yes; he that indulgeth any one secret Lust under a Profession, is not like to deny himself in all things for Christ.

Q. Who are they that indulge their Lusts?

A. They that make Provision for them, either in Apparel, or Diet, or otherwise, Rom. 13. 12, 13, 14. Isa. 3. 16, to 21. Amos 6. 3, 4, 5, 6.

Q. Who else do so?

A. They that excuse their Sins, and keep them disguised that they may not be reprehended, as Saul did, Ec. 1 Sam. 15. 18, to 22.

Q. Who else are they that indulge their Lusts?

A. They that heap up to themselves such Teachers as favour their Lusts, 2 Tim. 4. 3, 4. Isa. 30. 10.

Q. Who else do indulge their Sins?

A. They that chuse rather to walk by the imperfect Lives of Professors than by the Holy Word of God: or thus, they that make the Miscarriages of some good Men an Encouragement unto themselves to forbear to be exact in Self-denial, these eat up the Sins of God's People as Men eat Bread, Hos. 4. 7, 8, 9.

Q. Will you now shew me who are like to do this part of God's Worship acceptably?

A. Yes; he whose Heart is set against Sin as Sin, is like to deny himself acceptably, Rom. 7. 13, 14.

Q. Who else?

A. He that hath the Sense and Savour of Forgiveness of Sins upon his Heart, 2 Cor. 5. 14.

Q. Who else is like to deny himself well?

A. He that hath his Affections set upon Things above, where Christ sitteth at the right Hand of God, Col. 3. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

Q. Who else is like to deny himself well for Christ?

A. He that seeth a greater Treasure in Self-denial, than in self-seeking, 2 Cor. 12. 9, 10, 11. Heb. 11. 24, 25, 26.

Q. Are there none other signs of one that is like to do this part of God's worship acceptably?

A. Yes; He that takes up his Cross daily, and makes Christ's Doctrine his Example, Luke 6. 47, 48. John 12. 25, 26.

Q. But how do you discover a Man to be such a one?

A. He keepeth his Heart with all Diligence, he had rather die than Sin; ill Carriages of Professors break his Heart, nothing is so dear to him as the Glory of Christ, Prov. 4. 23. Numb. 11. 15. Phil. 3. 18. Acts 20. 24.

Q. Pray can you give me some Motive to Self-denial?

A. Yes; the Lord Jesus denied himself for thee; what sayest thou to that?

Q. Wherein did Christ deny himself for me?

A. He left his Heaven for thee; he denied for thy Sake to have so much of this World as hath a Fox or a Bird, and he spilt his most precious Blood for thee, John 6. 38. Luke 9. 58. 2 Cor. 8. 9. Rev. 1. 5.

Q. Can you give another Motive to Self-denial?

A. Yes; what shall it profit a Man if he shall gain the whole World and lose his own Soul? Luke 8. 36.

Q. But why doth God require Self-denial of of them that will be saved?

A. God doth not require Self-denial as the Means to obtain Salvation, but hath laid it down as a Proof of the Truth of a Man's Affections to God and Christ.

Q. How is Self-denial a Proof of the Truth of a Man's Affections to God?

A. In that for the sake of his Service, he leaveth all his Enjoyments in this World. Thus he proved Abraham's Affections, thus he proved Peter's Affections, and thus he proved their Affection that you read of in the Gospel, Gen. 22. 12. Matt. 4. 18, 19, 20, 21, 22. Luke 9. 57, to 63.

Q. What reason else can you produce why God requireth Self-denial?

A. Self-Denial is one of the distinguishing characters by which true Christians are manifested from the feigned Ones: for those that are feigned, flatter God with their Mouth, but their Hearts seek themselves; but the Sincere, for the Love that he hath to Christ, forsaketh all that he hath for his sake, Psalm 78. 36, 37. Ezek. 33. 31, 32.

Q. Is there yet another reason why God requireth Self-denial of them that profess his Name?

A. Yes; because by Self-denial the Power and Goodness of the Truths of God are made manifest to the incredulous World. For they cannot see but by the Self-denial of God's People, that there is such Power, Glory, Goodness and Desirableness in God's Truth as indeed there is, Dan. 3. 16, 28. Phil. 1. 12, 13.

Q. Have you another Reason why God requireth Self-denial?

A. Yes; because Self-denial prepareth a Man, tho' not for the Pardon of his Sin, yet for that far more exceeding and eternal weight of Glory, that is laid up only for them that deny all that they have for the Lord Jesus his Name and Cause in this World, 2 Cor. 4. 8, 9, 10, 17. 2 Thess. 1. 5, 6.

Q. Before you conclude, will you give me a few Instances of the Severity of God's hand upon some Professors, that have not denied themselves when called thereto by him?

A. Yes, willingly; Lot's Wife for but looking behind her towards Sodom, when God called her from it, was stricken from Heaven, and turned into a Pillar of Salt, therefore remember Lot's Wife, Gen. 19. 17, 26. Luke 17. 31, 32.

Q. Can you give me another instance?

A. Yes; Esau for not denying himself of one morsel of Meat was denied a Share in the Blessing, and could never obtain it after, though he sought it carefully with Tears, Gen. 25. 32, 33, 34. Heb. 12. 14, 15.

Q. Have you at hand another instance?

A. Yes; Judas for not-denying himself, lost Christ, his Soul, and Heaven: and is continued the great Object of God's Wrath among all damned Souls, John 12. 5, 6. Luke 22. 3, 4, 5, 6. Mat. 26. 14, 15, 16. Acts 1. 25.

Q. Will you give me one more instance, and so conclude?

A. Yes; Ananias and Sapphira his Wife, did for the want of Self-denial, pull upon themselves such Wrath of God, that he slew them, while they stood in the midst before the Apostles, Acts 5. 1, to 15.

The Conclusion.

BEFORE I wind up this discourse, I would lay down these few things for you to consider of, and meditate upon.

I. Consider, That seeing every one by Nature are accounted Sinners; 'Tis no matter whether thy actual Sins be little or great, few or many, thy sinful Nature hath already lain thee under the Curse of the Law.

II. Consider, That therefore thou hast already ground for Humiliation, Sins to repent of, Wrath to fly from, or a Soul to be damned.

III. Consider, That time stays not for thee, and also that as time goes, Sin encreaseth; so that at last the end of thy time, and the compleating of thy Sin, are like to come upon thee in one moment.

IV. Bring thy last Day often to thy Bed-side, and ask thy Heart if this Morning thou wast to die, if thou be ready to die or no.

V. Know 'tis a sad thing to lie a dying, and to be afraid to die; to lie a dying and not to know whither thou art going; to lie a dying, and not to know whether good Angels or bad must conduct thee out of this miserable World.

VI. Be often remembering what a Blessed Thing it is to be saved, to go to Heaven, to be made like Angels, and to dwell with God and Christ to all Eternity.

VII. Consider how sweet the Thought of Salvation will be to thee when thou seest thy self in Heaven, whilst others are roaring in Hell.

The Lord Jesus Christ be with thy Spirit.

The HOLY CITY:

OR, THE NEW JERUSALEM

WHEREIN

Its goodly Light, Walls, Gates, Angels, and the Manner of their Standing, are Expounded :

Also her Length and Breath ; together, with the Golden-Measuring-Reed, Explained :

AND

The GLORY of ALL unfolded.

AS ALSO,

The Numerousness of its Inhabitants: And what the Tree and Water of Life are, by which they are sustained.

Glorious Things are spoken of thee, O City of God, Psal. 87. 3.

And the Name of the City from that Day shall be called, THE LORD IS THERE,
Ezek. 48. 35.

The EPISTLE to four Sorts of READERS.

I. To the Godly Reader.

FRIEND,

THOUGH the Men of this World, at the Sight of this Book, will not only deride, but laugh in Conceit, to consider that one so low, contemptible, and inconsiderable as I, should busie my self in such Sort, as to meddle with the Exposition of so hard and knotty a Scripture, as here they find the subject Matter of this little Book; yet do thou remember, that God hath chosen the foolish Things of this World to confound the Wise, and Things that are not, to bring to nought Things that are: Consider also, that even of old it hath been his Pleasure to hide these Things from the Wise and Prudent, and to reveal them unto Babes.

1 Cor. 1.

Mat. 11.
25. and 21.
15, 16.

I tell you, that the Operation of the Word and Spirit of God (without depending upon that Idol, so much adored) is sufficient of it self to search out all Things, even the deep Things of God.

1 Cor. 2.
10.

The Occasion of my first meddling with this Matter, was as followeth:

Upon a certain First-Day, I being together with my Brethren, in our Prison-Chamber, they expected that, according to our Custom, something should be spoken out of the Word, for our mutual Edification; but at that Time I felt my self (it being my Turn to speak) so empty, spiritless, and barren, that I thought I should not have been able to speak among them so much as five Words of Truth, with Life and Evidence; but at last, it so fell out, that providentially I cast mine Eye upon the eleventh Verse of the one and twentieth Chapter of this Prophecy; upon which, when I had considered a while, methought I perceived something of that ASPEN, in whose Light you there find this HOLY CITY is said to come or descend; wherefore having got in my Eye some dim Glimmerings thereof, and finding also in my Heart a Desire to see further thereinto; I with a few Groans did carry my Meditations to the Lord JESUS for a Blessing, which he did forthwith grant according to his Grace; and helping me to set before my Brethren, we did all eat, and were all refreshed;
and behold also, that while I was in the distributing of it, it so encreased in my Hand, that of the Fragments that we left, after we had well dined, I gathered up this Basket-full. Methought the more I cast mine Eye upon the whole Discourse, the more I saw lye in it:

Wherefore

Wherefore setting my self to a more narrow Search, through frequent Prayer to God (what first with doing, and then with undoing, and after that with doing again) I thus did finish it.

But yet, notwithstanding all my Labour and Travel in this Matter, I do not, neither can I expect that every godly Heart should in every Thing see the Truth and Excellency of what is here discoursed; neither would I have them imagine that I have so thorowly viewed this Holy City, but that much more than I do here crush out, is yet left in the Cluster: Alas! I shall only say thus, I have crush'd out a little Juice to sweeten their Lips withal; not doubting but in a little Time more large Measures of the Excellency of this City, and of its Sweetness and Glory, will by others be opened and unfolded; yea, if not by the Servants of the Lord JESUS, yet by the Lord Himself, who will have this City builded and set in its own Place.

But, I say, for this DISCOURSE, if any of the Saints that read herein, think they find nought at all but Words (as many Times it falleth out, even in their reading the Scriptures of God themselves) I beg, I say, of such, that they read charitably, judge modestly; and also that they would take heed of concluding, that because they for the present see nothing in this or that Passage, that therefore there is nothing in it: Possibly from that which thou mayest cast away as an empty Bone, others may pick both good and wholesome Bits; yea, and also out of that, suck much nourishing Marrow. Thou find by Experience, that that very Bit that will not down with one, may yet not only down, but be healthful and nourishing to another. Babes are more for Milk than strong Meat, though Meat will well digest with those that are of riper Years.

Wherefore that which thy Weakness will not suffer thee to feed on, leave; and go to the Milk and Nourishment that in other Places thou shalt find.

II. To the Learned Reader.

MY Second Word is to my Wise and Learned Reader.

Sir, I suppose in your reading of this DISCOURSE, you will be apt to blame me for two Things: First, because I have not so beautified my Matter with Acuteness of Language as you could wish or desire. Secondly, Because also I have not given you, either in the Line, or in the Margent, a Cloud of Sentences from the Learned Fathers, that have according to their Wisdom (possibly) handled these Matters long before me.

To the first, I say, The Matter indeed is excellent and high; but for my Part, I am weak and low; it also deserveth a more full and profound Discourse than my small Parts will help me to make upon the Matter: But yet seeing the Lord looketh not at the outward Appearance, but on the Heart; neither regardeth high swelling Words of Vanity, but pure and naked Truth; and seeing also that a Widow's Mite being all, even Heart as well as Substance, is counted more, and better, than to cast in little out of much, and that little too perhaps the worst. I hope, my Little being All, my Farthing (seeing I have no more) may be accepted and counted for a great deal in the LORD's Treasury. Besides, Sir, Words easy to be understood do often hit the Mark; when high and learned ones do only pierce the Air. He also that speaks to the weakest, may make the Learned understand him; when he that striveth to be high, is not only for the most Part understood but of a Sort, but also many Times is neither understood by them, nor by himself.

Secondly, The Reason why you find me empty of the Language of the Learned, I mean their Sentences and Words, which others use, is, because I have them not, nor have not read them: had it not been for the BIBLE, I had not only not thus done it, but not at all.

Lastly, I do find in most such a Spirit of Whoredom and Idolatry concerning the Learning of this World, and Wisdom of the Flesh, and GOD's Glory so much stained and diminished thereby; that had I all their Aid and Assistance at Command, I durst not make use of ought thereof, and that for fear lest that Grace, and those Gifts that the Lord hath given me, should be attributed to their Wits, rather than the Light of the Word and Spirit of GOD: Wherefore I will not take of them from a Thread to a Shoe-Latchet, lest they should say, we have made Abraham rich.

Sir, What you find suiting with the Scriptures, take, though it should not suit with Authors; but that which you find against the Scriptures, slight, though it should be confirmed by Multitudes of them. Yea, further, where you find the Scriptures and your Authors jump, yet believe it for the sake of Scriptures Authority. I honour the Godly, as Christians, but I prefer the BIBLE before them; and having that still with me, I count my self far better furnished than if I had (without it) all the Libraries of the two Universities: Besides, I am for drinking Water out of my own Cistern; what GOD makes mine by the Evidence of his Word and Spirit, that I dare make bold with: Wherefore seeing, though I am without their learned Lines, yet well furnished with the Words of GOD, I mean the BIBLE, I have contented my self with what I there have found, and having set it before your Eyes,

I pray read and take, Sir, what you like best;
And that which you like not, leave for the rest.

III. To the Captious Reader.

MY third Word is to the captious and wrangling Reader.

Friend, However thou camest by this Book, I will assure thee, thou wast least in my Thoughts when I writ it; I tell thee, I intended this Book as little for thee, as the Goldsmith intendeth his Jewels and Rings for the Snout of a Sow. Wherefore put on Reason, and lay aside thy Frenzy; Be sober, or lay by the Book.

IV. To the Mother of Harlots, &c.

MY fourth Word is to the Lady of Kingdoms, the Well-favoured Harlot, the Mistress of Witchcrafts, and the Abominations of the Earth.

Mistress, I suppose I have nothing here that will either please your wanton Eye, or go down with your voluptuous Palate: Here is Bread indeed, as also Milk and Meat; but here is neither Paint to adorn thy wrinkled Face, nor Crutch to uphold or underscore thy shaking, tottering, staggering Kingdom of Rome; but rather a certain Presage of thy sudden and fearful final downfall, and of the Exaltation of that holy Matron, whose Chastity thou dost abhor, because by it she reproveth and condemneth thy leud and stubborn Life. Wherefore, Lady, smell thou may'st of this, but taste thou wilt not: I know that both thy wanton Eye, with all thy mincing Brats that are intoxicated with thy Cup, and enchanted with thy Fornications, will at the Sight of so homely and plain a Dish as this, cry, Foh! snuff, put the Branch to the Nose, and say, Contemptible! But Wisdom is justified of all her Children. The Virgin Daughter of Zion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn; Jerusalem hath shaken her Head at thee; yea, her GOD hath smitten his Hands at thy dishonest Gain and Freaks. Rejoice ye with Jerusalem, and be glad for her, all ye that love her; rejoyce for Joy with her, all ye that mourn for her; that ye may suck and be satisfied with the Breasts of her Consolations, that ye may milk out and be delighted with the Abundance of her Glory.

JOHN BUNYAN.

The HOLY CITY:

OR THE

NEW JERUSALEM.

REVELATIONS XXI. 10, to 28.

And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great high Mountain, and shewed me that great City, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of Heaven from God,

Having the Glory of God: and her Light was like unto a Stone most precious, even like a Jasper Stone, clear, as Crystal:

And had a Wall great and high, and had twelve Gates, and at the Gates twelve Angels and Names written thereon, which are the Names of the twelve Tribes of the Children of Israel.

On the East three Gates, on the North three Gates, on the South three Gates, and on the West three Gates.

And the Wall of the City had twelve Foundations, and in them the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb.

And he that talked with me had a golden Reed to measure the City, and the Gates thereof and the Wall thereof.

And the City lieth four-square, and the Length is as large as the Breadth: and he measured the City with the Reed, twelve thousand Furlongs: the Length and the Breadth, and the Height of it are equal.

And he measured the Wall thereof, an hundred and forty and four Cubits, according to the Measure of a Man, that is of the Angel.

And the Building of the Wall of it was of Jasper, and the City was of pure Gold, like unto clear Glass.

And the Foundations of the Wall of the City were garnished with all manner of precious Stones. The first Foundation was Jasper; the second Sapphire; the third, a Chalcedony; the fourth, an Emerald;

The

The fifth, Sardonyx; the sixth, Sardius; the Seventh, Chrysolite; the eighth Beryl; the ninth, a Topaz; the tenth, a Chrysoprasus; the eleventh a Jacinth; the twelfth, an Amethyst.

And the twelve Gates were twelve Pearls, every several Gate was of one Pearl; and the Street of the City was pure Gold, as it were transparent Glass.

And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb are the Temple of it.

And the City had no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to shine in it: for the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the Light thereof.

And the Nations of them which are saved, shall walk in the Light of it: and the Kings of the Earth do bring their Glory and Honour unto it.

And the Gates of it shall not be shut at all by Day: for there shall be no Night there.

And they shall bring the Glory and Honour of the Nations into it.

And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh Abomination, or maketh a Lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

CHAP. XXII. 1, 2, 3, 4.

And he shewed me a pure River of Water of Life, clear as Crystal, proceeding out of the Throne of God, and of the Lamb.

In the midst of the Street of it, and of either side of the River, was there the Tree of Life, which bare twelve manner of Fruits, and yielded her Fruit every Month: and the Leaves of the Tree were for the healing of the Nations.

And there shall be no more Curse: but the Throne of God, and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his Servants shall serve him.

And they shall see his Face, and his Name shall be in their Foreheads.

IN my dealing with this Mystery, I shall not meddle where I see nothing, neither shall I hide from you that which at present I conceive to be wrapt up therein: only you must not from me look for much Enlargement, though I shall endeavour to speak as much in few Words, as my Understanding and Capacity will enable me, through the Help of Christ.

In the Description of this holy City, you have these five general Heads:

First, The Vision of this City in general.

Secondly, A Discovery of its Defence, Entrances, and Fashion, in particular.

Thirdly, A Relation of the Glory of each.

Fourthly, A Discovery of its Inhabitants, their Quality and Numerousness.

Fifthly, A Relation of its Maintenance; by which it continueth in Life, Ease, Peace, Tranquility, and Sweetness forever.

To all which I shall speak something in their proper Places, and shall open them before you.

But before I begin with any of them, I must speak a Word or two concerning John's Qualification, whereby he was enabled to behold and take a View of this City; which Qualification he relateth in these Words following.

Verse 10. And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high Mountain; and shewed me that great City, the Holy Jerusalem, descending out of Heaven from God.

John qualified for this Vision.

The Angel being to shew this holy Man this great and glorious Vision, he first (by qualifying of him) puts him into a suitable Capacity to behold and take the View thereof; He carried me away in the Spirit: When he saith, He carried me away in the Spirit, he means he was taken up into the Spirit, his Soul was greatly spiritualized: Whence take Notice, that an ordinary Frame of Spirit is not able to comprehend, nor yet to apprehend extraordinary things: Much of the Spirit discerns much of God's Matters; but little of the Spirit discerneth but little of them: I could not speak to you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto Babes in Christ; I have fed you with Milk, and not with Meat; for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, nor yet are ye able.

1 Cor. 3. 1, 2.

And he carried me away in the Spirit, &c. Thus it was with the Saints of old, when God had either special Work for them to do, or great things for them to see: Ezekiel, when he had the Vision of this City in the old Law, in the Captivity at Babylon, he must be first forefitted with a competent Measure of the Spirit, Ezek. 40. 2. John also, when he had the whole Matter of this Prophecy revealed unto him, he must be in the Spirit; I was (saith he) in the Spirit on the Lord's Day, and heard behind me a great Voice, as of a Trumpet talking with me, &c. Whence note again, That when God calls a Man to this or that Work for him, he first fits him with a suitable Spirit: Ezekiel saith, when God bid him stand upon his Feet, That the Spirit entered into him, and set him upon his Feet.

When God calls to work, he fits for Work. Ezek. 2. 1, 2.

And he carried me away, &c. Mark, And he carried me [away] &c. As a Man must have much of the Spirit that sees much of God, and his goodly Matters; so he must be also carried AWAY with it; he must by it be taken off from Things carnal and earthly, and taken up into the Glory of Things that are spiritual and heavenly: The Spirit loveth to do what it doth in private; that that Man to whom God intendeth to reveal great Things, he takes him aside from the Lumber and Cumber of this World, and carrieth him away in the Solace and Contemplation of the Things of another World;

the Prophet, Whom shall he teach Wisdom, and whom shall he make to understand Doctrine? they that are WEANED from the Milk, and DRAWN from the Breasts.

* Luke 2.

25, to 39.

Whence observe also, He is the Man that is like to know most of God, that is oftenest in * private with him: He that obeyeth, when God saith, Come up hither, he shall see the Bride, the Lamb's Wife: For a Man thro' desire having SEPARATED himself, seeketh and Intermedleth with all Wisdom.

Prov. 18.

And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high Mountain. Thus having shewed his Frame, and inward Disposition of Spirit; he now comes to tell us also of the Place or Stage on which he was set; to the end that now being fitted by Illumination, he might not be hindered of his Vision by ought that might intercept: He carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high Mountain. Thus did God of old also; for when he shewed to Moses the Patterns of the Heavenly things, he must ascend into the Mount Sinai: he must into the Mount also, when he hath the View of the Holy Land, and of that goodly Mountain Lebanon: Whence we may learn, That the Things of God are far from Man, as he is natural; and also that there are very great things between us and the sight of them; none can see them but such as are carried away in the Spirit, and set on high.

Deut. 32.

49.

-----To a great and high Mountain. This Mountain therefore signifieth the Lord Christ, on which the Soul must be placed, as on a mighty Hill, whereby he may be able (his Eyes being anointed with spiritual Eye-salve) to see over the Tops of those mighty Corruptions, Temptations, and spiritual Enemies, that like high and mighty Towers are built by the wicked one, to keep the View of God's things from the sight of our Souls: wherefore Christ is called, The Mountain of the Lord's House, or that on which the House of God is placed; he is also called, The Rock of Ages, and, The Rock that is higher than we: The Hill of God is an high Hill, as Bashan; an high Hill, as the Hill of Bashan. This is the Hill from whence the Prophet Ezekiel had the Vision of this City: And upon this Rock (saith Christ) will I build my Church, and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it.

And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high Mountain, and shewed me that great City, the holy Jerusalem. Having thus told us how, and with what he was qualified, he next makes Relation of what he saw, which was, that great City, the holy Jerusalem.

Jerusalem, in the Language of the Scripture, is to be acknowledged for the Church and Spouse of the Lord Jesus; and is to be considered either generally, or more particularly. Now as she is to be taken generally, so she is to be understood as being *the whole Family in Heaven and Earth; and as she is thus looked upon, so she is not considered with respect to this or that State and Condition of the Church here in the World, but simply, as she is the Church: therefore it is said, when at any time any are converted from Satan to God, That they are come to Mount Sion, the City of the living God, the Heavenly Jerusalem; to an innumerable company of Angels; to the general Assembly and Church of the First-born that are written in Heaven; to God the Judge of all, and to the Spirits of just Men made perfect; to Jesus, and to the Blood of sprinkling.

Jerusalem considered in general.

* Eph. 3. 15.

Heb. 12. 22, 23, 24.

But again, As Jerusalem is thus generally to be understood, so also she is to be considered more particularly: 1. Either as she relates to her first and purest State; or, 2. As she relates to her declined and captivated State; or, 3. With Reference to her being recovered again from her apostatized and captivated Condition: Thus it was with Jerusalem in the Letter; which threefold State of this City shall be most exactly answered by our Gospel Jerusalem, by our New-Testament-Church. Her first State was in the Days of Christ and his Apostles, and answered to Jerusalem in the Days of Solomon; her second State is in the Days of Antichrist, and answereth to the carrying away of the Jews from their City into Babylon; and her third State is this in the Text, and answereth to their Return from Captivity, and rebuilding their City and Walls again: All which will be fully manifest in this Discourse following.

Jerusalem is to be considered more particularly.

Besides, That this holy City that here you read of, is the Church, the Gospel-Church, returning out of her long and Antichristian Captivity; consider,

First, She is here called a City, the very Name that our Primitive *Church went under; which Name she loseth all the while of her Apostatizing and Captivity under Antichrist: for observe, I say, all the while she is under the Scourge of the Dragon, Beast, and the Woman in Scarlet, &c. she goeth under the Name of a Woman, a Woman in Travail, a Woman flying before the Dragon, a Woman flying into the Wilderness, there to continue in an afflicted and tempted Condition, and to be glad of Wilderness Nourishment, until the time of her Enemies were come to an end, Rev. 12.

* Eph. 3. 19.

&c. Rev. 13.

Now the reason why she lost the Title of City, at her going into Captivity, is, Because then she lost her Situation and Strength; she followed others than Christ, wherefore he suffered her Enemies to scale her her Walls, to brake down her Battlements; he suffered, as you see here, the great Red Dragon, and Beast with seven Heads and ten Horns, to get into her Vineyard, who made most fearful Work both with her and all her Friends: her Gates also were now either broken down, or shut up, so that none could, according to her Laws and Statutes enter into her; her Charter also, even the Bible it self, was most grossly abused and corrupted, yea, sometimes burned and destroyed almost utterly, wherefore the Spirit of God doth take away from her the Title of City, and leaveth her to be termed a Wandering Woman, as afore said: The Court that is without the Temple (saith the Angel) leave out, and measure it not, for it is given to the Gentiles; and the holy City shall they tread under foot forty and two Months. The holy City shall they tread under foot; that is, all the City-Constitutions, her Forts and Strength, her Laws and Privileges for a long time shall be laid aside and slighted, shall become a Hissing, a Taunt, and a By-word among the Nations. And truly thus it was in the Letter, in the Destruction of Jerusalem by the King of Babylon and his wicked Instruments, by whose Hands the City was broken up, the Walls pulled down, the Gates burned, the Houses rifled, the Virgins ravished, and the Children laid dead in the Top of every Street, 2 Chron. 36. 17, to 22. Jer. 52. Lam. Ch. 1, 2, 3, 4. Now was Zion become a plowed Field, and Jerusalem turned to heaps; a place of Briars and Thorns, and of Wastness and Desolation, Mic. 3. 12. Isa. 7. 23, 24.

Secondly, The Phrase also that is joyned with this of City, doth much concern the point; she is here called, The new and holy City, which words are explained by these, As a Bride adorned and prepared for her Husband: the meaning is, That she is now got into her Form, Fashion, Order and Privileges again; she is now ready, adorned, prepared, and put into her primitive State; Mark, though she was in her State of Affliction called a Woman, yet she was not then either called a City; or a Woman ADORNED: but rather a Woman robbed and spoiled; rent and torn among the Briars and Thorns of the Wilderness, Isa. 5. 6. and 42. 22. and 32. 13, 14. Wherefore this City is nothing else but the Church returned out of Captivity from under the reign of Antichrist: As is yet further manifest, because;

Thirdly, We find no City to answer that which was built after the Jews return from Captivity, but this; for this, and only this is the City that you find in this Prophecy, that is nominated as the Antitype of that Second of the Jews: wherefore John hath no Relation of her while towards the doom of Antichrist, and no Description of her in particular until Antichrist is utterly overthrown: as all may see that wisely read the 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th, Chapters of this Prophecy.

----- And shewed me that great City. The holy Ghost is pleased at this time to give the Church the Name of a City, rather than any other Name, rather than the Name of Spouse, Woman, Temple, and the like: (though he giveth us her under the Name of a Woman also, to help us to understand what he means) but I say, the Name of a City is now the Name in special, under which the Church must go, and that for special Reasons:

First, To shew us how great and numerous a People will then be in the Church; the Church may be a Woman, a Temple, a Spouse, when she is but few, but an handful, but two or three; but to be a City and that in her Glory, it bespeaks great Store of Members, Inhabitants, and Citizens; especially when she goeth under the Name of a GREAT City, as here she does: He shewed me that Great City.

Secondly, She goeth rather under the Name of a City, than Temple or Spouse; to shew us also how plentifully the Nations and Kingdoms of Men shall at that day traffick with her, and in her, for her goodly Merchandize of Grace and Life; to shew us, I say, what wonderful Custom the Church of God at this Day shall have among all sorts of People, for her Heavenly Treasures. It is said of Tyrus and Babylon, That their Merchandize went into all the World, and Men from all Quarters under Heaven came to trade and to deal with them for their Wares; why thus it will be in the latter day with the Church of God, the Nations shall come from far; from Tarshish, Pul, Lud, Tubal, Javan, and the Isles afar off. They shall come, saith God, out of all Nations upon Horses and Mules, and upon swift Beasts, to my holy Mountain Jerusalem: And it shall come to pass, that from one new Moon to another, and from one Sabbath to another, shall all Flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord. Alas, the Church at that Day when she is a Woman only, or a Temple either, may be without that Beauty, Treasure, Amiability, and affecting Glory that she will be endowed with when she is a prosperous City: His marvellous kindness is seen in a strong City. In Cities, you know, are the Treasures, Beauty, and Glory of Kingdoms, and 'tis thither Men go, that are desirous to solace themselves therewith: *Out of Zion, the Perfection of * Beauty, God bath shined.*

Thirdly, It is called a City, rather than a Woman, or Temple, to shew us how strong and securely it will keep its Inhabitants at that Day: In that Day shall this Song be sung, We have a strong City, Salvation will God appoint for Walls and Bulwarks: And verily if the Cities of the Gentiles, and the Strength of their Bars, and Gates, and Walls, did

Why the Church at this Day is called by the Name of a City, rather than a Woman, Temple, or the like.

did so shake the Hearts, yea, the very Faith of the Children of God themselves, how secure and safe will the Inhabitants of this City be, even the Inhabitants of that City which GOD Himself will build? &c.

But lastly, and more especially, The Church is called here a City, chiefly to shew us that now she shall be undermost no longer: Babylon reigned, and so shall Jerusalem at this Day: And thou, O Tower of the Flock, the strong Hold of the Daughter of Zion, unto thee shall it come, even the first Dominion,
 Mic. 4. 8. the Kingdom shall come to the Daughter of Jerusalem. Now shall she, when she is built and compleat, have a compleat Conquest and Victory over all her Enemies; she shall reign over them; the Law shall go forth of her that rules them, and the Governors of all the World at that Day shall be Jerusalem-Men: And the Captivity of this Host of the Children of Israel shall possess that of the Canaanites, even unto Zarephath; and the Captivity of Jerusalem which is in Sepharad, shall possess the Cities of the South: And Saviours shall come out of Mount Sion to judge the Mount of Esau, and the Kingdom shall be the Lord's. For the Law shall go forth of Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem: And ye shall judge among many People, and rebuke strong Nations afar off, and they shall beat their Swords into Plow-shares, and their Spears into Pruning-hooks: Nation shall not lift up a Sword against Nation, neither shall they learn War any more. There brake be the Ships of Tarshish with an East-wind: As we have heard, so have we seen in the City of the Lord of Hosts, in the City of our God; God will establish it for ever. For observe it, Christ hath not only obtained the Kingdom of Heaven for those that are his, when this World is ended, but hath also as a Reward for his Sufferings, the whole World given into his Hand; wherefore as all the Kings and Princes and Powers of this World have had their Time to reign, and have Glory in this World in the Face of all; so Christ will have his Time at this Day to shew who is the only Potentate and Lord of Lords. At which Day he will not only set up his Kingdom in the midst of their Kingdoms, as he doth now, but will set it up even upon the top of their Kingdoms; at which Day there will not be a Nation in the World, but must bend to Jerusalem or perish: For the Kingdom and Dominion, and Greatness of the Kingdom under the whole Heaven, shall be given to the People of the Saints of the most High, whose Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and all Dominions shall serve and obey him. And his Dominion shall be from Sea to Sea, and from the River, to the Ends of the Earth. O Holiness! how shall it shine in Kings and Nations, when God doth this!

 1sa. 60. 12.
 Dan. 7. 27
 Zech. 9. 10

He shewed me that great City, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of Heaven from God.

In these Words we are to enquire into three things:

First, What he here should mean by Heaven.

Secondly, What it is for this City to descend out of it.

Thirdly, and why she is said to descend out of it from God.

First, For the Word Heaven, in Scripture it is variously to be understood, but generally either materially or metaphorically: Now not materially here, but metaphorically; and so is generally, if not always taken in this Book.

Now that it is not to be taken for the material Heavens where Christ in Person is: Consider,

That the descending of this City is not the coming of glorified Saints with their Lord; because that even after the descending, yea and building of this City, there shall be Sinners converted to God; but at the coming of the Lord Jesus from Heaven with his Saints, the Door shall be shut; that is, the Door of Grace, against all Unbelievers, Luke 13. 25. Matth. 25. 10.

Therefore Heaven here is to be taken metaphorically, for the Church; which, as I said before, is frequently so taken in this Prophecy, as also in many others of the holy Scriptures, Rev. 11. 15. and 12. 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 10, 13. and 13. 6. and 19. 1, 14. Jer. 51. 48. Matth. 25. 1. &c. And observe it, though the Church of Christ under the Tyranny of Antichrist, loseth the Title of a standing City, yet in the worst of Times she loseth not the Title of Heaven; She is Heaven when the great red Dragon is in her, and Heaven when the third Part of her Stars are cast unto the Earth; she is Heaven also when the Beast doth open his Throat against her, to blaspheme her God, his Tabernacle, and those that dwell in her.

Secondly, Now then to shew you what we are to understand by this, that she is said to DESCEND out of Heaven; for indeed to speak properly, Jerusalem is always in the Scriptures set in the highest Ground, and Men are said to descend, when they go down from her, but to ascend, or go up, when they are going thitherwards: But yet though this be true, there must also be something significant in this Word descending; wherefore when he saith, he saw this City to DESCEND out of Heaven, he would have us understand,

1. That though the Church under Antichrist be never so low, yet out of her Loins shall they come, that yet shall be a reigning City: Generation is a descending from the Loins of our Friends; he therefore speaks of the Generation of the Church: Wherefore the meaning is, That out of the Church that is now in Captivity, there shall come a compleat City, so exact in all Things, according to the Laws and Liberties, Privileges and Riches of a City, that she shall lie level with the great Charter of Heaven.

Thus

Thus it was in the Type, the City after the Captivity was builded, even by those that once were in Captivity; especially by their Seed and Off-Spring; and thus it shall be in our New-Testament New Jerusalem;

Isa. 45. They that shall be of thee, saith the Prophet, (that is, of the Church of Affliction) they shall build the old waste Places; thou shalt raise up the Foundations of many Generations; and thou shalt be called, the Repairer of Breaches, and the Restorer of Paths to dwell in; and again, They that sometimes had Ashes for Gladness, and the Spirit of Heaviness instead of the Garment of Praise, they shall build the old Wastes, they shall raise up the former Desolations, and they shall repair the waste Cities, the Desolations of many Generations; for your shame you shall have double, and for Confusion they shall rejoyce in their Portion, &c. Thus therefore by descending, we may understand that the Churches Generation shall be this Holy City, and shall build up themselves the Tower of the Flock.

2. When he saith, This Holy City descended out of Heaven, he would have us understand also what a Blessing and Happiness this City at her rebuilding will be to the whole World: Never were kind and seasonable Showers more profitable to the tender new-mown-Grass, than will this City at this Day be, to the Inhabitants of the World; they will come as a Blessing from Heaven upon them: As the Prophet saith, The Remnant of Jacob shall be in the midst of many People, as a Dew from the Lord; as the Showers upon the Grass, that tarrieth not for Man, nor waiteth for the Sons of Men. O the Grace, the Light and Glory, that will strike with spangling Beams from this City, as from a Sun, into the furthest Parts of the World! Thus saith the Lord, as the new Wine is found in the Cluster, and one saith, destroy it not, for a Blessing is in it: so will I do for my Servants sake, that I may not destroy them all: I will bring forth a Seed out of Jacob, and out of Judah an Inheritor of my Holy Mountain; and my Elect shall inherit it, and my Servants shall dwell there: And Sharon (where the sweet Roses grew, Song. 2. 1.) shall be a Fold for Flocks, and the Valley of Achor a Place for the Herds to lie down in, for my People that have sought me. Isa. 65. 8, 9, 10. In that Day Israel shall be the third with Egypt and Assyria, even a Blessing in the midst of the Land. And it shall come to pass, that as you were a Curse among the Heathen, O House of Judah, and House of Israel; so will I save you, and you shall be a Blessing: Fear not, but let your Hands be strong. As the Dew of Hermon that descended upon the Mountains of Zion, for there the Lord commanded the Blessing, even Life for evermore. Isa. 19. 24. Zech. 8. 13. Psal. 133. 3.

And now for the third Particular, namely, What it is to descend out of Heaven from God.

1. To descend out of Heaven (that is, out of the Church in Captivity) from God, is this: The Church is the Place in which God doth beget all those that are the Children of him; wherefore in that they are said to descend out of Heaven from God, it is as if he had said, The Children of the Church are Heaven-born, begotten of God, and brought forth in the Church of Christ: For Jerusalem which is above, is the Mother of us all: The Lord shall count when he writeth up the People, that this Man was born there. Gal. 4. 26. Psal. 87. 5.

2. When he saith he saw this Jerusalem come out of Heaven from God, he means, That those of the Church in Captivity that shall build this City, they shall be a People peculiarly fitted and qualified for this Work of God. It was not all the Children of Israel that had their Hand in building Jerusalem after the Captivity of old; their Nobles put not their Hands to the Work of the Lord; also there were many of Judah that were sworn to Tobiah the arch Opposer of the building of the City, because of some Kindred and Relation that then was between them and him. And as it was then, so we do expect it will be now; some will be even at the beginning of this Work, in Babylon, at that Time also some will be cowardly and fearful, yea, and even Men hired to hinder the Work. Wherefore I say, those of the Church that at that Day builded the City, they were Men of a particular and peculiar Spirit, which also will so be at the building of the New Jerusalem: They whose Light breaks forth as the Morning, they that are mighty for a Spirit of Prayer, they that take away the Yoke, and speaking Vanity, and that draw out their Soul to the Hungry; they that the Lord shall guide continually, that shall have fat Bones, and that shall be as a watered Garden, whose Waters fail not, &c. of them shall they be that build the old Wastes, and that raise up the Foundations of many Generations, &c. It was thus in all Ages, in every Work of God, SOME of his People, SOME of his Saints in special in all Ages, have been used to promote, and advance, and perfect the Work of their Generations. Neh. 3. 5. Neh. 6. 17, 18, 19. Neh. 6. 10, 11, 12. Isa. 58. 8. to 14.

3. This City descends or comes out of Heaven from God, that is, by his special working and bringing to pass; 'twas God that gave them the Pattern even when they were in Babylon; 'twas God that put it into their Hearts while there, to pray for Deliverance; 'twas God that put it into the Hearts of the Kings of the Medes and Persians to give them Liberty to return and build; and 'twas God that quailed the Hearts of those that by opposing did endeavour to hinder the bringing the Work to Perfection; yea, it was God that did indeed bring the Work to Perfection; wherefore she may well be said to descend out of Heaven from GOD; as he also saith himself by the Prophet, [I] will cause the Captivity of Judah, and the Captivity

Captivity of Israel to return, and [I] will build them as at the first, Ezek. 4. 1, to 5. Neh. 2. 8. and 3. 18. Ezra 7. 27. Neh. 4. 15. and 6. 15, 16. Jer. 33. 7. and 32. 44. Ezek. 36. 33, to 37. and 37. 11, to 15. Amos 9. 11.

Lastly, When he saith he saw her descend from God out of Heaven, he may refer to her Glory, which at her declining departed from her, and ascended to God; as the Sap returns into the Root at the Fall of the Leaf; which Glory doth again at her return descend, or come into the Church, and Branches of the same, as the Sap doth arise at the Spring of the Year; for indeed the Churches Beauty is from Heaven, and it either goeth up thither from her, or else comes from thence to her, according to the Natures of both Fall and Spring, Cant. 2.

Thus you see what this HEAVEN is, and what it is for this City to DESCEND out of it; also what it is for this City to descend out of it FROM GOD.

Ver. 11. Having the Glory of God. These last Words do put the whole Matter out of Doubt, and do most clearly shew unto us, that the descending of this City is the perfect Return of the Church out of Captivity: The Church when she began at first to go into Captivity, her Glory began to depart from her; and now she is returning again, she receiveth therewith her former Glory, having the Glory of God. Thus it was in the Type, when Jerusalem went into Captivity under the King of Babylon (which was a Figure of the Captivity of our New Testament-Church under Antichrist) it is said that then the Glory of God departed from them, and went by Degrees, first out of the Temple to the Threshold of the House, and from thence with the Cherubims of Glory, for that Time quite away from the City.

Again, As the Glory of God departed from this City at her going into Captivity; so when she returned again, she had also then returned to her the Glory of God; whereupon this very Prophet that saw the Glory of God go from her at her going into Captivity, did see it, the very same; and that according as it departed, so return at her Deliverance: He brought me to the Gate, saith he, (that is, when by a Vision he saw all the Frame and Patterns of the City and Temple, in the State in which it was to be after the Captivity) He brought me to the Gate that looketh toward the East, and behold the Glory of the God of Israel came from the Way of the East (the very same Way that it went, when it departed from the City, Ezek. 11. 23.) his Voice was like the Voice of many Waters, and the Earth shined with his Glory; It was according to the Appearance of the Vision which I saw, even according to the Vision that I saw when I came to destroy the City, and the Vision was like the Vision that I saw by the River Chebar;

and I fell on my Face, and the Glory of the Lord came into the House by the Way of the Gate, whose prospect is towards the East: so the Spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner Court, and behold, the Glory of the Lord filled the House. Ezek 43. 1 to 7.

Thus you see it was in the Destruction and Restoration of the Jews Jerusalem, by which God doth plainly shew us how things will be in our Gospel-Church; she was to decline and lose her Glory, she was to be trampled (as she was a City) for a long time under the Feet of the unconverted and wicked World: Again, She was after this to be builded, and to be put into her former Glory; at which time she was to have her Glory, her former Glory, even the Glory of God returned to her again: He shewed me, saith John, that great City the holy Jerusalem, descending out of Heaven from God, having the Glory of God: As he saith by the Prophet, I am returned to Jerusalem with Mercies, and my House shall be built in it; Zech. 1. 16 & 8. 3. and again, I am returned to Zion, and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem. Rev. 11. 6.

Having the Glory of God: There is the Grace of God, and the Glory of that Grace; there is the Power of God, and the Glory of that Power; and there is the Majesty of God, and the Glory of that Majesty; Ephes. 1. 6. 2 Thess. 2. 9. Isa. 2. 19.

'Tis true, God doth not leave his People in some sense, even in the worst of times, and in their most forlorn Condition; as he sheweth by his being with them in their sad state in Egypt and Babylon, and other of their states of calamity: as he saith, Though I cast them far off among the Heathen, and although I have scattered them among the Countries; yet will I be to them a little Sanctuary in the Countries where they shall come. Joh. 14. 18 Dan. 3. 25. Ezek. 11. 16. God is with his Church even in her greatest Adversity, both to limit, bound, measure, and appoint out to her, her quantity and quality, her beginning and duration of Distress and Temptation: but yet I say the Glory of God, in the Notion of Ezekiel and John (when they speak of the Restoration of this City) that is not always upon his People, though always they are beloved and counted for his peculiar Treasure. She may then have his Grace, but not at the same time the Glory of his Grace; his Power, but not the glory of his Power; she may also have his Majesty, when not the glory thereof: God may be with his Church, even then when the Glory is departed from Israel. Isa. 27. 7. & 9. Rev. 2. 10.

The Difference that is between her having his Grace, Power and Majesty, and the Glory of each, is manifest in these following particulars; Grace, Power, and Majesty, when they are in the Church in their own proper Acts, only as we are considered Saints before God, so they are invisible, and that not only altogether to the World, but often to the very Children of God themselves;

Ezek. 10.
4, 18. and
11. 22, 23,
&c.

selves; but now when the Glory of these do rest upon the Church, according to E- zekiel and John; why then it will be visible and apparent to all Beholders: When the Lord shall build up Zion, he shall appear in his glory; as he saith also in another Place, The Lord shall ARISE upon thee, and his glory shall be SEEN upon thee.

Now then to speak a word or two in particular, to the Glory of God that at this Day will be found to settle upon this City.

First therefore at her returning, she shall not only have his Grace upon her, but the very Glory of his Grace shall be seen upon her; the glory of Pardoning Grace shall now shine in her own Soul; and Grace in the Glory of it shall appear in all her doings:
 now shall both our inward and outward Man be most famously adorned and beautified with Salvation; the golden Pipes that are on the Head of the golden Candlestick, shall at this day convey with all Freeness the golden Oyl thereout, into our golden Hearts and Lamps: Our Wine shall be mixt with Gall no longer, we shall now drink the pure blood of the Grape: the Glory of pardoning and forgiving Mercy shall so shew it self at this Day in this City, and shall so visibly abide there in the Eyes of all Spectators, that all shall be inflamed with it: For Zions sake I will not hold my Peace, and for Jerusalems sake I will not rest, until the Righteousness thereof go forth as Brightness, and the Salvation thereof as a Lamp that burneth: and the Gentiles shall see thy Righteousness, and all Kings thy Glory;
 and thou shalt be called by a new Name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

And again, The Lord shall make bare his holy Name in the Eyes of all the Nations, and all the Ends of the Earth shall see the Salvation of God. At that Day the Prophet tells us that there shall be HOLINESS upon the very Horses Bridles; and that the Pots in the Lord's House shall be like the Bowls before the Altar; and every Pot in Jerusalem shall be Holiness unto the Lord.

The meaning of all these places is, That in the Day that the Lord doth turn his Church and People into the Frame and Fashion of a City, and when he shall build them up to answer the first State of the Church, there will such Grace and Plenty of Mercy be extended unto her, begetting such Faith and Holiness and Grace in her Soul, and all her Actions, that she shall convince all that are about her, that she is the City, the beloved City, the City that the Lord hath chosen; for after that he had said before, He would return to Zion, and dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, he saith moreover, That Jerusalem shall be called, A City of Truth, and the Mountain of the Lord of Hosts, the holy Mountain: And all the People of the Earth shall see that thou art called by the Name of the Lord, and they shall be afraid of thee.

Secondly, As the Glory of the Grace of God will at this Day be wonderful manifest in and over his City; so also at that Day will be seen the Glory of his Power: O my People, saith God, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of the Assyrian; he shall smite thee with a Rod, and shall lift up his Staff against thee after the manner of Egypt, that is, shall persecute and afflict thee, as Pharaoh served thy Friends of old) but be not afraid:
 for yet a little while, and the Indignation shall cease, and mine Anger in their Destruction: and the Lord of Hosts shall stir up a Scourge for him, according to the Slaughter of Midian at the Rock Oreb: and as his Rod was upon the Sea, so shall he lift it up after the manner of Egypt: The Sum is, God will at the Day of his re-building the New Jerusalem, so visibly make bare his Arm, and be so exalted before all by his Power towards his People, that no People shall dare to oppose (or stand, if they do make the least Attempt to hinder) the Stability of this City. I will surely (gather, or) assemble, O Jacob, all of thee, saith God:
 I will surely gather the Remnant of Israel--- as the Sheep of Bozrah, as the Flocks in the midst of the Fold; they shall make a noise by reason of the Multitude of Men: The Breaker up is come up before them, they have broken up (the Antichristian Siege that hath been laid against them) they are gone thorough the Gate, they are gone out of it, and their King shall pass before them, and the Lord in the Head of them: Like as a Lion and a young Lion roaring on the Prey, when a Multitude of Shepherds are called forth against him, he will not be afraid of their Voice, nor abase himself for the Noise of them; so shall the Lord come down to fight for Mount Zion, and for the Hills thereof:
 The Lord shall go forth like a mighty Man, and shall stir up jealousy like a Man of War;
 he shall cry, yea roar; he shall prevail against his Enemies; but not by Might, nor yet by Power, that is, the Power and Arm of Flesh, but by the Power of the Word and Spirit of God, which will prevail, and must prevail, to quash and overturn all Opposition.

Thirdly, when God hath thus appeared in the Glory of his Grace, and the Glory of his Power, to deliver his Chosen; then shall the implacable Enemies of God shrink and creep into Holes like the Locusts and Frogs of the Hedges, at the Appearance of the Glory of the Majesty of God: now the high ones, lofty ones, haughty ones, and the proud, shall see so evidently the Hand of the Lord towards his Servants, and his Indignation towards his Enemies, that they shall go into the Rocks and Holes of the Earth, and into the Tops of the ragged Rocks, for the Fear of the Lord, and for the Glory of his Majesty, when he shall arise to shake terribly the Earth.

Where the Presence of the Lord doth so appear

Josh. 2. 8, appear upon a People, that those that are to 14. Spectators perceive and understand it, it must needs work on those Spectators one of these two things; either first a trembling and Astonishment, and quailing of Heart, as it doth among the implacable Enemies;
or else a buckling and bending of Heart, and Submission to his People and Ways; Josh. 9. 22, as faith the Prophet, The Sons of them that to 26. afflicted thee shall come bending to thee, all Isa. 60. 14. they that despised thee shall fall down at the Deut. 11. 25. Soles of thy Feet; they shall call thee, The City of the Lord, the Zion of the Holy One of Israel: as Moses said to the Children of Israel, The Lord shall put the Fear of you, and the Dread of you upon all the Land that you shall tread upon, as he said unto you.

At this Day the Foot-steps of the Lord will be so apparent and visible in all his Actions and Dispensations in and towards his People, this holy City, that all shall see, as I have said, how gracious, loving, kind and good the Lord is now towards his own Children: such Glory, I say, will be over them, and upon them, that they all will shine before the World; and such tender Bowels in GOD towards them, that no sooner can an Adversary peep, or lift up his Head against his Servants, but his Hand will be in the Neck of them: so that in short time he will have brought his Church into that Safety, and her Neighbours into that Fear and Submission, that they shall not again so much as dare to hold up a Hand against her, no, not for a thousand Years.
Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a-
Rev. 20. 3, gain the Captivity of Jacob's Tents, and have
Jer. 30. 18, Mercy upon his dwelling Places; and the 19, 20. City shall be builded upon her own Heap, and the Palace shall remain after the manner thereof: and out of them shall proceed a Thanksgiving, and the Voice of them that make merry: and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few; and I will also glorify them, and they shall not be small: Their Children also shall be as aforetime, and their Congregation shall be established before me;
and I will punish all that oppress them.

Having the Glory of God: And her Light was like unto a Stone most precious, even like a Jasper Stone, clear as Crystal. Having thus told us of her Glory, even of the Glory of God, how it at this Day will rest upon this City; he now comes to touch a second thing, to wit, her Light, and that in which she descends, and by which, as with the Light of the Sun, she seeth before her, and behind her, and on every side: This therefore is another Branch of her Beauty; She in her descending hath the Glory of God, and also the Light of a Stone most precious.

Ezekiel tells us, That in the Vision which he saw when he came to destroy the City (which Vision was the very same that he saw again at the restoring of it) he saith, Ezek. 1. 4, I say that in this Vision among many other Ver. 13, 14 Wonders, he saw a Fire infolding it self, and Brightness about it; and that the Fire also was bright, and that out of it went forth Lightning; that the Likeness of the Firmament upon the living Creatures, was the Colour of the terrible Crystal; that the Throne also, upon which was placed the Likeness of a Man, was like, or as the Appearance of a Sapphire-Stone: all which Words, with the Nature of their Light and Colour, the Holy Ghost doth in the Vision of John comprize, and placeth within the Colour of the Jasper and the Crystal-Stone.

And indeed, though the Vision of John and Ezekiel, touching the end of the Matter, be but one and the same, yet they do very much vary and differ in Terms and Manner of Language; Ezekiel tells us, That the Man that he saw come to measure the City and Temple, had in his Hand a Line of *Flax, *Ezek. which Line John calls a Golden Reed: Eze-40. 3. kiel tells us, that the River came out of, or from under the *Threshold of the House; *Ezek.
but John saith, it came out of the Throne 47. 1.
of God, and of the Lamb: Ezekiel tells us, that on either Side of this River grew All Ver. 12.
Trees for Food; John calls these ALL Trees, but ONE Tree, and tells us that it stood on both sides of this River: The like might also be shewed you in many other Particulars, as here you see they differ as touching the Terms of the Light and Brightness that appears upon this City at her Re-building, which the Holy Ghost represents to John under the Light and Glory of the Jasper and Crystal Stone: for indeed the end of Ezekiel's Vision was to shew us, That as when the Glory of God departed from the City, it signified that he would take away from them the Light of his Word, and their Clearness of Worship; suffering them to mourn for the Loss of the one, and to grope for the Want of the other:
so at his return again, he would give them both their former Light of Truth, and also the Clearness of Spirit to understand it; which also John doth shew us shall last for ever.

-----And her Light was like unto a Stone most precious-----This Stone it is to represent unto us the Lord Jesus Christ, in whose Light and Clearness this City comes out of Babylon: for, as he saith, she hath the Glory of God, that is, his visible Hand of Grace, Power and Majesty, to bring her forth; so she comes in the Light of this precious Stone: which terms, I say, both the Prophet Isaiah, and the Apostle Peter, do apply to the Lord Jesus, and none else: the one calling him, A precious Corner-stone, the other calling him, The chief Corner-stone, elect and precious. Now then when he saith this City hath the Light of this Stone to descend in; he means, That she comes in the shining Wisdom, Knowledge, Understanding, and Influences of Christ, out of her afflicted and captivated State: and observe it, she is rather said to ascend in the Light of this Stone, than in the Light of God

Col. 2. 3. Man Christ, the Stone which the Builders

See also we do all receive, and Grace for Grace:
Acs 2. 33. for it hath pleased the Father that in him

14.

This sheweth us then these two things:
first, That the Time of the Return of the Saints to build the ruinous City, is near, yea, very near, when the Light of the Lord Jesus begins to shine unto perfect Day in her: God will not bring forth his People out of Babylon, especially those that are to be the chief in the Building of this City, without their own Judgments:

The Light of the Church shall be according to the purity of the Word.
Isa. 52. 8. They shall see Eye to Eye, when the Lord shall bring again Zion: as he saith also in a-another Place, The Light of the Moon shall be as the Light of the Sun, and the Light of the Sun sevenfold, as the Light of seven Days, in the Day that the Lord bindeth up the Breach of his People, and healeth the Stroke of their Wound. And the Eyes of them that see, shall not be dim, and the Ears of them that hear, shall hearken: The Heart also of the rash shall understand Knowledge, and the Tongue of the Stammerers shall be ready to speak plainly: The Lord shall be now exalted, and be very high, for he will fill Zion with Judgment and Righteousness, and Wisdom and Knowledge shall be the stability of thy Times: When Israel went out of Egypt, they wanted much of this, they went out blindfold as it were, they went they knew not whither; wherefore they went not in the Glory of that which this City descendeth in; as Moses said, The Lord hath not given you an Heart to perceive, nor Eyes to see, nor Ears to hear unto this Day. But these shall see every step they take; they shall be like the Beasts that had Eyes both before and behind: they shall see how far they are come out of Antichrist, and shall see also how far yet they have to go, to the compleat re-building and finishing of this City.

The Way out of Babylon, a pleasant Way.
Secondly, This sheweth us how sweet and pleasant the Way of this Church will be at this Day before them: Light, Knowledge and Judgment in GOD's Matters, doth not only give Men to see and behold all the things with which they are concerned, but the things themselves being good, they do also by this Means convey very great Sweetness and Pleasantness into the Hearts of those that have the Knowledge of them: Every step, I say, that now they take, it shall be as it were in Honey and Butter: The Ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with Songs, and everlasting *Joy shall be upon their Heads; they shall obtain Joy and Gladness, and Sorrow and Sighing shall flee away. As he saith, Again I will build thee, and thou shalt be built; O Virgin of Israel, thou shalt again be adorned with Tabrets, and shall go forth in the Dances of them that make merry.---For thus saith the Lord, Sing with Gladness for Jacob, and shout among the Chief of the Nations: publish ye, praise ye, and say, O Lord save thy People, the Remnant of Israel: Behold I will bring them from the North Country, and gather them from the Coasts of the Earth, and with them the Blind and the Lame, the Woman with Child, and her that travaileth with Child together; a very great Company shall return thither.

By these Words, the Blind and the Lame, the Woman with Child, and her that tra-vaileth, he would have us understand thus much:

First, That the Way of God shall by the illuminating Grace of Christ be made so pleasant, so sweet, and so beautiful in the Souls of all at that Day, that even the blindest shall not stumble therein, neither shall the Lame refuse it for fear of Hurt; yea, the Blind, the Lame, the Woman with Child, and her that travaileth, shall (tho' they be of all in most evil Case to travel, and go the Journey, yet) at this Day, by reason of the glorious Light and Sweetness that now will possess them, even forget their Impediments, and dance, as after musical Tabrets.

Secondly, This City, upon the Time of her rebuilding, shall have her blind Men see, her Halt and Lame made strong; she also that is with Child, and her that tra-vaileth, shall jointly see the City-work that at this Day will be on foot, and put into form and order; yet before the end: Behold, at that time I will undo all that afflict thee, saith the Lord to his People, and I will save her that halteth, and gather her that was driven out, and I will get them Praise and Fame in every Land where they have been put to Shame; at that time I will bring you again, even in the time that I gather you: for I will make you a Name and a Praise, among all the People of the Earth, when I turn back your Captivity before your EYES, saith the Lord God.

Ecclef. 7. 11.
And her Light was like unto a Stone most precious. In that he saith, Her Light is like unto A STONE MOST PRE-CIOUS, he sheweth us how welcome, and with what Eagerness of Spirit this Light will at this Day be embraced by the Lord's People: Truly the Light is good, saith Solomon, and a pleasant thing it is for the Eyes to behold the Sun; and if so, then how beautiful, desirable, and precious will that Light be, that is not only heavenly, and from Christ, but that will be universal among all Saints, to shew them the same thing, and to direct them to, and in the same Work: the want of this, hath to this Day been one great Reason of that Cross-ness of Judgment and Perswasion that hath been found among the Saints, and that hath caused that lingering and disputing about the glorious State of the Church in the latter

Welcome will be that light that doth shew us the Way out of Babylon.

ter Days: Some being for its Excellency to consist chiefly in outward Glory; and others fwerving on the other side, conclude she shall not have any of this; some conceiving that this City will not be built until the Lord comes from Heaven in Person; others again concluding, that when he comes, then there shall be no longer tarrying here, but that all shall forthwith, even all the godly, be taken up into Heaven; with divers other Opinions in these Matters: And thus many run to and fro, but yet, God be thanked, Knowledge does increase, though the Vision will be sealed, even to the time of the End. But now, I say, at the Time of the End, the Spirit shall be poured down upon us from on high; now also they that erred in Spirit shall come to Understanding; the City shall descend in the Light of a Stone most precious: the Sun will be risen upon the Earth, when Lot goeth from Sodom into Zoar.

Now there shall be an Oneness of Judgment and Understanding in the Hearts of all Saints; they shall be now no more two, but one in the Lord's Hand: Alas! the Saints are yet but as an Army routed, and are apt sometimes through Fear, and sometimes through Forgetfulness, to mistake the Word of their Captain General, the Son of God, and are also too too prone to shoot and kill even their very Right-hand Man; but at that Day all such doing shall be laid aside, for the knowledge of the Glory of the Lord shall cover the Earth, as the Waters cover the Sea; which Knowledge shall then strike thorow the Heart and Liver of all fwerving and unsound Opinions in Christ's Matters; for then shall every one of the Christians call upon the Name of the Lord, and that with one pure Lip, or Language, to serve him with one Consent. 'Tis Darkness, and not Light, that keepeth God's People from knowing one another, both in their Faith and Language; and 'tis Darkness that makes them stand at so great a Distance both in Judgment and Affections, as in these and other Days they have done: But then, saith God, I will plant in the Wilderness (that is, in the Church that is now bewildered) the Cedar, the Shittah Tree, the Myrtle Tree, and the Oyl Tree; I will set in the Desert the Fir Tree, the Pine, and the Box-Tree together; that they may see and know, consider and understand together, that the Hand of the Lord hath done this, and the Holy One of Israel hath created it: And again, The Glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee, the Fir-Tree and the Pine-Tree, and the Box-Tree together, to beautifie the House of my Glory, and to make the Place of my Feet glorious.

Never was fair Weather after foul, nor warm Weather after cold, nor a sweet and beautiful Spring after a heavy, and nipping and terrible Winter, so comfortable, sweet, desirable and welcome to the poor Birds and Beasts of the Field, as this Day will be to the Church of God: Darkness! it was the Plague of Egypt: it is an empty, forlorn, desolate, solitary, and discomfoting State; wherefore Light, even the illuminating Grace of God, especially in the measure that it shall be communicated unto us at this Day, it must needs be precious: In Light there is Warmth and Pleasure; it is by the Light of the Sun that the whole Universe appears unto us distinctly, and it is by the Heat thereof that every thing groweth and flourisheth; all which will now be gloriously and spiritually answered in this Holy, and New Jerufalem: O how clearly will all the Spiders, and Dragons, and Owls, and foul Spirits of Antichrist at that Day be discovered by the Light hereof! Now also will all the pretty and little Birds in the Lord's Field, most sweetly send forth their pleasant Notes, and all the Flowers and Herbs of his Garden-spring: Then will it be said to the Church by her Husband and Saviour, Arise, my Love, my fair One, and come away; for lo, the Winter is past, the Rain is over and gone, the Flowers appear in the Earth, and the Time of the Singing of Birds is come, and the Voice of the Turtle is heard in our Land; the Fig-Tree putteth forth her green Figs, and the Vine with her tender Grapes give a good Smell. You know how pleasant this is, even to be fulfilled in the Letter of it, not only to Birds and Beasts, but Men; especially it is pleasant to such Men that have for several years been held in the Chains of Affliction: It must needs therefore be most pleasant and desirable to the afflicted Church of Christ, who hath lain now in the Dungeon of Antichrist for above a thousand Years: But Lord, how will this Lady, when she gets her Liberty, and when she is returned to her own City, how will she then take Pleasure in the warm and spangling Beams of thy Shining Grace! and solace her self with thee in the Garden, among the Nuts and the Pomgranates, among the Lillies and Flowers, and all the chief Spices.

Even like a Jasper Stone, clear as crystal. These Words are the Metaphor by which the Holy Ghost is pleased to illustrate the whole Business. Indeed Similitudes, if fitly spoke and applied, do much set off, and out any Point, that either in the Doctrines of Faith or Manners, is handled in the Churches. Wherefore, because he would illustrate, as well as affirm, the Glory of this Jerufalem to the Life; therefore he concludes his general Description of this City with these Comparisons: I saw, saith he, the Holy City, the Lamb's Wife: I saw her in her spangles, and in all her adorning, but verily she was most excellent; She was shining as the Jasper, and as pure and clear as Crystal. The Jasper, it seems, is a very beautiful and costly Stone, in as much as that, that, above all the Precious Stones, is made use of by the Holy Ghost to shew us the Glory and shining Vertues of the Lord Jesus in this New Jerusalem: and yet, behold! the Jasper is too short and slender to do the Business; there must another Stone be added, Even like a Jasper Stone, clear as Crystal. Yea, saith the Lord Jesus, Her Cheeks are like Rows of Jewels, and so are the Joints of her Thighs: even like the Jewels that are the Work of the Hands of a cunning Workman.

The Crystal is a Stone so clear and spotless, that even her greatest Adversaries in the midst of all their Rage, are not able justly to charge her with the least Mote or Spot imaginable: wherefore when he saith, that this City in her descending is even like the Jasper for Light, and like the Crystal for Clearness; he would have us further learn, that at the Day of the descending of this Jerusalem, she shall be every way so accomplished with Innocency, Sincerity and Clearness in all her Actions, that none shall have from her, or her ways, any just Occasion given unto them to flight, contemn, or oppose her. For,

First, As she descends, she meddleth not with any Man's Matters but her own; she comes all along by the King's Highway: that is, alone by the Rules that her Lord hath prescribed for her in his Testament. The Governours of this World need not at all to fear a Disturbance from her, or a diminishing of ought they have: She will not meddle with their Fields nor Vineyards, neither will she drink of the Water of their Wells: only let her go by the King's Highway, and she will not turn to the Right hand or to the left, until she hath passed all their Borders. It is a false Report then that the Governours of the Nations have received against the City, this New Jerusalem, if they believe, that according to the Tale that is told them, she is and hath been of old a rebellious City, and destructive to Kings, and a Diminisher of their Revenues. I say, these things are lying Words, and forged even in the Heart of Bisblam, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their Companions: For verily this City, in her descending, is clear from such things, even as clear as Crystal. She is not for meddling with any thing that is theirs, from a Thread even to Shoe-latchet. Her Glory is spiritual and heavenly, and she is satisfied with what is her own. 'Tis true, the Kings and Nations of this World shall (one Day) bring their Glory and Honour to this City; but yet not by outward Force or Compulsion: none shall constrain them, but the Love of Christ, and the * Beauty of this City. The Gentiles shall come to thy Light, and Kings to the Brightness of thy Rising. The Light and Beauty of this City, that only shall engage their Hearts, and overcome them. Indeed if any shall out of Mistrust or Enmity against this City and her Prosperity, bend themselves to disappoint the Designs of the Eternal God concerning her Building and Glory, then they must take what followeth: Her God in the midst of her is mighty, He will rest in his Love, and rejoyce over her with singing, and will UNDO all that afflict her. Wherefore, Associate yourselves, O ye People, and ye shall be broken to pieces; and give Ear all ye of far Countries: Gird yourselves, and ye shall be broken to pieces; gird your selves, and ye shall be broken to pieces. Take Counsel together, and it shall come to naught? speak the Word, and it shall not stand; for God is with us.

What work did he make with Og the King of Bashan, and with Sihon King of the Amorites, for refusing to let his People go peaceably by them, when they were going to their own Inheritance? God is harmless, gentle and pitiful; but wo be to that People that shall oppose or gainsay him. He is gentle, yet a Lion: he is loth to hurt, yet he will not be crossed: Fury is not in me, saith he; yet if you set the Briars and Thorns against him, He will go thorow them, and burn them together. Jerusalem also, this beloved City, it will be beautiful and profitable to them that love her; but a Cup of Trembling, and a burthenstone to all that burthen themselves with it, shall be cut in pieces, though all the People of the Earth be gathered together against her.

Again, She will be clear as Crystal in the Observation of all her Turns and Stops, in her journeying from Egypt to Canaan, from Babylon to this Jerusalem state. She will, I say, observe both Time and Order, and will go only as her God doth go before her; now one Step in this Truth, and then another in that, according to the Dispensation of God, and the Light of the Day she lives in: As the Cloud goes, so will she; and when the Cloud stays, so will she. She comes in perfect Rank and File, terrible as an Army with Banners. No Balaam can inchant her; she comes out of the Wilderness like Pillars of Smoke, perfumed with Myrrh and Frankincense, with all Spices of the Merchants, still leaning upon her Beloved. The Return of Zion from under the Tyranny of her Afflictors, and her Recovery to her Primitive Purity, is no head-strong brain-sick Rashness of her own, but the gracious and merciful Hand and Goodness of God unto her, therefrom to give her Deliverance: For thus saith the Lord, That after seventy Years be accomplished at Babylon, (that is the Time of the Reign of Antichrist, and his Tyranny over his Church) I will visit you, and perform my good Word towards you, in causing you to return to this Place. Therefore they shall come and sing in the Height of Zion, Zion, and shall flow together to the Goodness of the Lord, for (Spiritual) Wheat, and for Wine, and for Oil, and for the Young of the Flock, and of the Herd; and their Soul shall be as a watered Garden, and they shall sorrow no more at all.

Verse 12. And had a Wall great and high, and had twelve Gates, and at the Gates twelve Angels, and Names written thereon, which are the Names of the Twelve Tribes of the Children of Israel. These Words do give us to understand, that this holy City is now built, and in all her Parts compleat; they give us also to understand the manner of her Strength, &c.

Of her Defence.

And had a Wall ---- Having thus, I say, given us a Description of this City in general, he now descends to her Strength and Frame in particular; her Frame and Strength, I say, as she is a City compact together: as also of her Splendor and Beauty.

And observe it, that of all the Particulars that you read of, touching the Fence, Fashion, or Frame of this City, and of all her Glory, the first thing that he presenteth to our View is, her Safety and Security; She had a Wall. A Wall, you know, is for the Safety, Security, Defence and Preservation of a Place, City or Town; therefore it is much to the purpose that in the first Place after this general Description, he should fall upon a Discovery of her Security and Fortification: for what of all this Glory and Goodness, if there be no way to defend and preserve it in its high and glorious State? If a Man had in his Possession even Mountains of Pearl and golden Mines; yet if he had not wherewith to secure and preserve them to himself, from those that with all their Might endeavour to get them from him, he might not only quickly lose his Treasure, and become a Beggar, but also through the very Fear of losing them, even lose the Comfort of them, while yet in his Possession. To speak nothing of the Angels that fell, and of the Glory that they then did lose, I may instance to you the State of Adam in his Excellency; Adam, you know, was once so rich and wealthy, that he had the Garden of Eden, the Paradise of Pleasure, yea, and also the whole World to boot, for his Inheritance; but mark, in all his Glory he was without a Wall; wherefore presently, even at the very first Assault of the Adversary, he was not only worsted as touching his Person and standing, but even stript of all his Treasure, his Paradise taken from him, and he in a manner left so poor, that forthwith he was glad of an Apron of Fig-Leaves to cover his Nakedness, and to hide his Shame from the Face of the Sun; wherefore, I say, John speaks to the purpose in saying she had a Wall; a Wall for Defence and Safety, for Security and Preservation: Now then she shall lie no longer like blasted Bones in an open Field, or Valley; that was her Portion in the Days of her Affliction.

And had a Wall --- It is said of old Jerusalem, that she had a Wall and a Wall, two Walls for her Defence and Safety: which two, in my Judgment, did hold forth these two Things: The one, their eternal Preservation and Security from the Wrath of God, through the Benefits of Christ; and the other, that special Protection and Safeguard that the Church hath always had from and by the special Providence of her God in the midst of her Enemies: Wherefore one of these is called by the proper Name of Salvation, which I take in special to signify our Fortification and Safety from the Wrath of God, and the Curse and Power of the Law and Sin: The other is called, A Wall of Fire round about her: and alludeth to the Vision that the Prophet's Servant was made to see for his Comfort, when he was put in Fear, by reason of the great Company of the Enemies that were bending their Force against the Life of his Master.

But now in those days, though there were for the Defence of the City those two Walls, yet they stood a little Distance each from other, and had a Ditch between them; which was to signify, that though then they had the Wall of Salvation about them, with Reference to their eternal State; yet the Wall of God's Providence and special Protection was not yet so nearly joyned thereto, but that they might for their Foolishness have that broken down, and they suffered to fall into the Ditch that was between them both; and so he saith by the Prophet, I will tell you what I will do to my Vineyard. (that is, to this City for the Wickedness thereof) I will take away the Hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten up; and I will break down the Wall thereof, and it shall be trodden down. Which Hedge and Wall could not be that of eternal Salvation, for that stood sure, though they should be scattered among the Nations as Wheat is sifted in a Sieve; it must therefore be the Wall of her special preservation in her outward Peace and Happiness, which Wall was often in those Days broken down, and they made Havock of, of all that dwelt about them.

But now touching the Safety of New Jerusalem, the City of which I here discourse, she is seen in the Vision by John to have but one only Wall; to signify, That at this Day the Wall of her Eternal Salvation, and of God's special Providence to protect and defend her, in her present, visible and Gospel-Glory, shall be so effectually joyned together, that now they shall be no more two, that is, at a Distance, with a Ditch between, but one sound and inclosing Wall; to shew us, That now the State of this Jerusalem, even touching her outward outward Glory, Peace and Tranquillity, will be so stable, invincible and lasting, that unless that Part of the Wall which is eternal Salvation, can be broken down, the Glory of this City shall never be vailed more: Wherefore the Prophet, when he speaks with Reference to the happy State and Condition of this City, he saith, Violence shall be heard no more within thy Land, nor wasting and Destruction within thy Borders; but thou shalt call thy Walls, Salvation, and thy Gates, Praise: as he saith also in another Place, Thine Eye shall see Jerusalem a quiet Habitation, a Tabernacle that shall not be taken down, nor one of the Stakes thereof shall ever be removed, neither shall any of the Cords thereof be broken.

The Walls are now conjoined, both joined into one; the Father hath delivered up the great Red Dragon into the Hand of Christ, who hath shut him up and sealed him down, even down for a thousand Years. Wherefore from the Lord shall there be upon every Dwelling-place of Mount Zion, and upon all her Assemblies a Cloud and Smoke by Day, and the shining of a flaming Fire by Night; for upon all her Glory shall be a Defence: And in that Day shall this Song be sung, We have a strong City, Salvation will God appoint for Walls and Bulwarks. The same in Effect hath our Prophet John, saying, I saw the Holy City, the New Jerusalem, descending out of Heaven from God, prepared as a Bride adorned for her Husband; and I heard a great Voice out of Heaven, saying, The Tabernacle of God is with Men, and he shall dwell with them; and God himself shall be with them, and be their God; and God shall wipe away all Tears from their Eyes; and there shall be no more Death, neither Sorrow, nor crying; neither shall there be any more Pain, for the former Things are passed away.

And had a Wall great and high--- These words, great and high, are added for illustration, to set out the matter to the height; and indeed the Glory of a Wall lyeth in this, that it is great and high; the Walls of the Canaanites were terrible upon this account, and did even sink the Hearts of those that beheld them: Wherefore this City shall be most certainly in safety, she hath a Wall about her, a great Wall; a Wall about her, an high Wall: It is great for compass, it incloseth every Saint; it is great for thickness, it is compacted of all the Grace and Goodness of God, both Spiritual and Temporal; and for height, if you count from the utmost side to the utmost, then it is higher than Heaven, who can storm it? and for depth, it is lower than Hell, who can undermine it?

Great Mercies, high Mercies, great Preservation, and a high Arm to defend, shall continually at this Day incamp this City: God himself will be a continual Life-Guard to this City; I will encamp, saith he, about mine House, because of the Army, because of him that passeth by, and because of him that returneth; and no Oppressor shall pass thorow them any more, for now have I seen with mine Eyes.

Zech. 9. 8.

---And had twelve Gates--- Having thus shewed us her Wall, he now comes to her Gates; it had Gates, it had twelve Gates: By Gates in this place we are to understand the Way of Entrance; Gates, you know are for coming in, and for going out; and do in this place signifie two things:

The Gates of the City.

Jer. 17. 19. 20. What the Gates signifie.

First, An Entrance into Communion with the God and Saviour of this City.

Secondly, Entrance into Communion with the Inhabitants and Privileges of this City; in both which the Gates do signifie Christ: for as no Man can come to the Knowledge and Enjoyment of the God, and glorious Saviour, but by and thorow the Lord Christ; so no Man can come into true and spiritual Communion with these Inhabitants, but by him also: I AM THE WAY, saith he, the Truth, and the Life; and no Man comes to the Father but BY ME: and again, I am the DOOR, BY ME if any Man ENTER, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture.

John 10. 1. to 8. & 14. 6.

---And had twelve Gates--- In that he saith Twelve Gates, he alludeth to the City Jerusalem that was of old, which had just so many; and are on purpose put into the number of Twelve, to answer to the whole number of the Elect of God, which are comprehended within the number of the Twelve Tribes, whether they are natural Jews or Gentiles; for as all the godly Jews are the Seed of Abraham after the Flesh, though not godly, because they are the Children of the Flesh of Abraham; so all the godly Gentiles are the Children of Abraham after the Spirit, tho' not by that means made the Children of the Flesh of Abraham: they both meet then in the Spirit and Faith of the Gospel, as God saith to the Jews, When the Stranger shall sojourn with thee, and will keep the Passover (that is, become godly, and receive the Faith of Christ) let all his Males be circumcised, and then let them come near, and keep it, &c. For they that are of Faith, are the Children of faithful Abraham, who is called, The very Father of us all. Thus you see all the godly come under the Title of the Children of Abraham, and of the Jews; and so under the Denomination also of being Persons belonging to the Tribes, the Twelve Tribes, who answer to those Twelve Gates. Wherefore the Psalmist minding this, speaketh indefinitely of all the godly, under the Name of the Tribes of Israel; saying, Our Feet shall stand within thy Gates, O Jerusalem: Jerusalem is builded, a City that is compact together, whither the Tribes go up, the Tribes of the Lord, unto the Testimony of Israel, to give Thanks

The twelve Gates do answer the twelve Tribes

Psal. 122. 2, 3, 4.

Thanks to the Name of the Lord.

But again, Though I am certain that all the Gentiles that are at any time converted, are reckoned within the compass of some of the Tribes of Israel, to which the Gates of this City may truly be said to answer: Yet the Gates are here in a special manner called by the name of Twelve, to answer to the happy Return and Restoration of those poor distressed Creatures the Twelve Tribes of the Jews that are scattered abroad, and that are, and for a long time have been to our Astonishment and their Shame, as Vagabonds and Straglers among the Nations, there to continue many days, without a King, without a Prince, and without a Sacrifice, and without an Ephod; that is, without the true God, the true Saviour, and the true Word and Ordinances; after which, saith the same Prophet, They shall even in the latter days (that is, when this City is builded) return and seek the Lord their God, and David their King, and shall then fear the Lord and his Goodness. This the Apostle also affirmeth, when he telleth the believing Gentiles, That blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in; which Israel in this place cannot by any means be taken for the Gentiles that are converted, for this Israel must be rejected until the Bulk of the Elect Gentiles be converted; besides, he calleth this Israel by the name of Israel, even while unconverted; but the converted Gentiles still Gentiles, even when converted: he calls this Israel the Natural Branches, but the Gentiles Wild Branches; and tells us further, That when they are converted, they shall be grafted into their own Olive Tree; but when the Gentiles are converted, they must be cut off of their own Stock and Tree: read Rom. 11. throughout. Wherefore, I say, the Gates are called twelve, to answer these poor Creatures, who at this Day shall be awakened, and enlightened, and converted to the Faith of Jesus. These Gates in another place are called, a Way, and these Jews, The Kings of the East; and it is there said also, that at present this Way doth want preparing; which is as much as to say, This City wants setting up, and the Gates want setting in their proper places: Wherefore saith John, The sixth Angel poured out his Vial upon the great River Euphrates, that is, destroyed the Strength and Force of the Roman Antichrist, (for the River Euphrates was the Fence of literal Babylon, the Type of our spiritual one) which Force and Fence, when it is destroyed or dried up, then the way of the Kings of the East will be prepared, or made ready for their Journey to this Jerusalem. Of this the Prophets are full, crying, Cast ye up, cast ye up, prepare the way, take up the stumbling block out of the way of my Peo- ple: and again, Go thorow, go thorow the Gates, prepare ye the Way of my People; cast ye up, cast ye up the high way, gather out the stones, lift up a Standard for the People: Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed unto the end of the World, Say to the Daughter of Zion, Thy Salvation cometh; behold, his Reward is with him, and his Work before him: and they shall call them, The holy People, the Redeemed of the Lord: and thou shalt be called, Sought out; A City not forsaken. All which doth most especially relate to the Conversion of the Jews in the latter Day, who in great Abundance shall, when all things are made ready, come flocking in to the Son of God, and find Favour, as in the Days of Old.

---And at the Gates twelve Angels--- By Angels in this Place, we are to understand the Messengers and Ministers of the Lord Jesus, by whom the Mystery of Eternal Life and Felicity is held forth and discovered before the Sons of Men; and thus this Word Angel is frequently taken in this Prophecy, Rev. 1. 20. and 2. 1, 8, 12, 18. and 3. 1. 7. and 14. 6.

---And at the Gates twelve Angels---

In these Words then, there are two things to be considered:

First, Why they should be called Twelve. And,

Secondly, Why they are said to stand at the twelve Gates of this New and Holy City.

For the first, They are called twelve, to signify two things. 1. The Truth of their Doctrine. And 2. The Sufficiency of their Doctrine and Ministry for the converting of the twelve Tribes to the Faith of Christ, and Privileges of this City.

First, For the Truth of their Doctrine: For by twelve here, he would have us to understand that he hath his Eye upon the twelve Apostles, or upon the Doctrine of the Twelve, the Apostolical Doctrine: as if he should say, This City, the New Jerusalem, shall be every way accomplished with Beauty and Glory; she shall have a Wall for her security, and twelve Gates to answer the twelve Tribes; yea, and also at these Gates the twelve Apostles, in their own pure, primitive, and unspotted Doctrine. The Romish Beasts have corrupted this Doctrine by treading it down with their Feet, and have muddied this Water with their own Dirt and Filthiness; but at this Day, this shall be recovered from under the Feet of these Beasts, and cleansed also from their Dirt, and be again in the same Glory, Splendor and Purity, as in the Primitive times. It is said, that when Israel was passed out of Egypt, beyond the Sea, they presently came to Elim, where were twelve Wells of Water, &c. and that they incamped by the Waters: which twelve Wells did figure forth the Doctrine of the twelve Apostles, out of which

Why the Angels are said to be Twelve.

Ezek. 34. 17, 18.

Exod. 15.

which the Church at her return from Captivity, shall draw and drink, as out of the Wells of Salvation. Now shall the Wells of our Father Abraham, which the Philistines have for a great while stopped; now, I say, shall they again be opened by our Isaac, his Son; and shall be also called after their own Names. This is generally held forth by the Prophets, That yet again the Church shall be fed upon the Mountains of Israel, and that they shall lie down in a good Fold, and a fat Pasture; yea, I will feed my Flock, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord God.

Secondly, As by these twelve, we are to understand the Truth and Purity of the Doctrine of the Twelve; so again by this Word Twelve, we are to understand the Sufficiency of that Doctrine and Ministry to bring in the twelve Tribes to the Privileges of this City: Mark, for the twelve Tribes there are twelve Gates, for every Tribe a Gate, and at the twelve Gates, twelve Angels, at every Gate an Angel: O Judah, saith God, I have set an Harvest for thee, when he shall turn again the Captivity of his People; and so for the rest of the Tribes: Before Ephraim and Benjamin, and Manasseh, he will stir up his Strength to save them: I will hiss for them, saith God, and gather them, for I have redeemed them; and they shall increase as they have increased: and I will sow them among the Nations, and they shall remember me in far Countreys, and they shall live with their Children, and shall return; and I will bring them again also out of the Land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria, and I will bring them into the Land of Gilead and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

But to come to the second question, that is, Why these twelve Angels are said to stand at the twelve Gates? which may be for divers Reasons.

First, To shew us that the Doctrine of the Twelve, is the Doctrine that letteth in at these Gates, and that also that shutteth out: Whose sins ye remit, they are remitted, saith Christ; and whose sins ye retain, they are retained: And hence it is that the true Ministers in their right Administration, are called Porters; because as Porters stand at the Gate, and there open to, or shut upon those that make an attempt to enter in; so the Ministers of Christ by the Doctrine of the Twelve, do both open to, and shut the Gates against the Persons that will be attempting to enter in at the Gates of this City.

Secondly, But again, They are said to stand at the Gates for the encouraging and perswading of the Tempted and doubting Jews, who at the beginning of their Return will be much afflicted under the Sight and Sense of their own Wretchedness: Alas! were it not for some to stand at the Gates of this City for Instruction, and the Incouragement of those that will at that Day in earnest be looking after Life, they might labour as in other things for very Vanity; and might also be so grievously beat out of Heart and Spirit, that they might die in despair: But now to prevent this, for those that are in the way to Zion with watry Eyes, and wetted Cheeks, here stand the Angels, continually sounding with their golden Gospel-Trumpets; Enter ye into his Gates with Thanksgiving, and into his Courts with Praise; be thankful unto him, and bless his Name; for the Lord is good, and his Mercy is everlasting, and his Truth endureth for ever, even to all Generations: as he saith again, And it shall come to pass in that Day, that the great Trumpet shall be blown, and they shall come which were ready to perish in the Land of Assyria, and the Out-casts of the Land of Egypt, and shall Worship the Lord in the Holy Mount at Jerusalem.

---And at the Gates twelve Angels, and Names written thereon, which are the Names of the twelve Tribes of the Children of Israel. Thus it was in the Vision of the Prophet, when he was taking a View of the Pattern of this City; And the Gates of the City, saith the Angel to him, shall be after the Names of the Tribes of Israel; which saying John doth here expound, saying, The Names of the twelve Tribes of the Children of Israel, were writ or set upon them.

This being thus, it cleareth to you what I said but now, to wit, That the Gates are called Twelve, to answer the twelve Tribes, for their Names are written thereon: This must therefore without all doubt, be a very great Incouragement to this despised People; I say great Incouragement, that notwithstanding all their Rebellion, Blasphemy, and Contempt of the glorious Gospel, their Names should yet be found recorded and ingraven upon the very Gates of New Jerusalem. Thus then shall the Jews be comforted in the latter Days; and truly they will have but need hereof; for doubtless at their return, when they are thoroughly sensible of the Murder they have committed, not only upon the Bodies of the Prophets and Apostles, but of the Son of God himself: I say this must needs, together with the Remembrance of the rest of their villainous Actions, exceedingly afflict and distress their bleeding Souls: for the Children of Israel shall come, they and the Children of Judah together, going and weeping; they shall go and seek the Lord their God, and shall ask the Way to Zion, with their Faces thitherward. Mark, going and weeping; there will not be a Step that these poor People will take in the Day of their returning, but will be watered with the Tears of Repentance and Contrition, under the Consideration of the Wickedness that in the Days of their Rebellion they have committed against the Lord of Glory: as he saith also by another Prophet, I will pour upon the House of David, and upon the Inhabitants of Jerusalem, the Spirit of Grace and Supplication, and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him as a Man mourns for his only Son; and they shall be in Bitterness for him, as him that is in Bitterness for his First-born: at that Day there shall be a great Mourning in Jerusalem, as the Mourning of Hadadrimmon in the Valley of Megiddon, and the Land shall mourn.

Zech. 12.
10, 11, 12.

Wherefore, I say, they both have and also will have need of twelve Gates, and on them the Names of their twelve Tribes, with an Angel at each, to encourage them to enter this holy and goodly City; and to tell them that yet he counts them his Friends, in whose House he received the Wounds in his Hands.

Zech. 13, 6.

But again, As by the Names of the twelve Tribes written on the Gates, we may see what Encouragement the Jews will have, at their Return, to enter in at them: so we may also understand that by the Names of the twelve Tribes here written, God would have us to perceive how all must be qualified, that from among the Gentiles at this Day do enter in at these Gates; namely, those, and those only, that be cut out of their own wild Olive-tree, and transplanted among the Children of Israel, into their good Olive-tree: Such as are Jews inwardly, the Israel of God, according to the New Creature, they shall enter, (for the holy Gentiles also by virtue of their Conversion, are stiled the Children of Abraham, Jews, the chosen Generation, the peculiar People, the holy Nation; and so are spiritually though not naturally by carnal Generation, of the twelve Tribes, whose Names are written upon the Gates of the City) And it shall come to pass, saith the Prophet, that in what Tribe the Stranger, (that is the Gentile) sojourneth, there shall ye give him his Inheritance, saith the Lord God. Thus the Jews and Gentiles shall meet together in the Spirit of the Gospel, and so both become a righteous Nation; to both which, the Gates of this City shall stand continually open; at which also, they may with Boldness demand, by the Faith of the Lord JESUS, their entrance, both for Communion with the God, Grace, and Privileges of this City; according to that which is written, Open ye the Gates, that the righteous Nation which keepeth the Truth may enter in.

Verf. 13. On the East three Gates, on the North three Gates, on the South three Gates, and on the West three Gates. I shall not speak any thing to the manner of his repeating of the Quarters towards which the Gates do look; why he should begin at the East, then to the North, afterwards crossing to the South, and last to the West; though I do verily think that the Holy Ghost hath something to shew us, wherefore he doth thus set them forth: and possibly he may set them thus, and the West last, not only because the West part of the World is that which always closeth the Day, but to signify that the West, when Jerusalem is rebuilt, will be the last part of the World that will be converted, or the Gate that will be last, because longest occupied with the Travels of the Passengers and Wayfaring-Men in their Journey to this Jerusalem. But I pass that.

From the order of their standing, I shall enquire into two things:

First, Why the Gates should look in this manner every Way, both East, West, North, and South?

Secondly, Why there should be three, just three, on every side of this City: On the East three, on the North three, on the South three, and on the West three?

For the First, The Gates by looking every Way, into all Quarters, may signify to us thus much, That God hath a People in every corner of the World: and also, That Grace is to be carried out of these Gates by the Angels in their Ministry, into every Place, to gather them home to him: as it is said of the living Creatures, Whither the Head looked they followed it, and turned not as they went; so whithersoever the Gates look, thither the Ministers go, and carry the Word, to gather together the Elect: He sent them two and two before his Face, into every City and Place whither he himself would come.

Gates

Way.

Ezek. 10.

Again, The Gates by their thus looking every Way, do signify to us, That from what Quarter or Part of the World soever Men come for Life, for those Men there are the Gates of Life, even right before their Doors come they from the East, why thither look the Gates; and so if they come from North, or West, or South: No Man needs at all to go about, to come at Life, and Peace, and Rest: Let him come directly from Sin to Grace, from Satan to Jesus Christ, and from this World to New Jerusalem. The twelve Brazen Oxen that Solomon made to bear the molten Sea, they stood just as these Gates stand, and signify, as I said before, that the Doctrine of the twelve Apostles should be carried into all the World, to convert, (as in the Primitive times, so now at the building of New Jerusalem) and to bring in God's Sheep to the Fold of his Church: Now I say, as the Word is carried every Way, so the Gates the Open Gates, look also into all Corners after them, to signify that loving Reception that shall be given to every Soul that from any Corner of the whole World shall unfeignedly close in with Grace, through the Lord Jesus lus Chrift. Thus therefore Menshall come from the East, and from the West, from the North, and from the South, and sit down in the Kingdom of God.

On the East three Gates, on the North three Gates, on the South three Gates, and on the West three Gates. Having thus shewed you in a Word, why they stand thus looking into every Corner or Quarter of the World: I now come to shew you why there must be just three looking in this manner every Way.

First then, There may be three looking every Way, to signifie that it is both by the consent of the Three Persons in the Trinity, that the Gospel should thus every Way go forth to call Men: and also to shew you, that both the Father, Son and Spirit are willing to receive and embrace the Sinner from whatsoever part or corner of the Earth he cometh hither for Life and Safety: Come they from whence they will, the Father is willing to give them the Son, and so is the Son to give them Himself, and so is the Spirit to give them its Help against whatever may labour to hinder them while they are here.

Secondly, In that three of the Gates look every Way, it may be also to shew us, that there is none can enter into this City, but by the Three Offices of the Lord Jesus; Christ by his Priestly Office must wash away their Sins; and by his Prophetical Office he must illuminate, teach, guide and refresh them; and by his Kingly Office, rule over them, and govern them with his Word.

Thirdly, Or by three Gates, may be signified the three states of the Saints in this Life; an entrance into Childhood, an entrance into a Manly state, and an entrance into the State of a Father in the Church.

Or lastly, The three Gates may signifie the threefold state we pass thorow from Nature to Glory; the state of Grace in this Life, the state of Felicity in Paradise, and our state in Glory after the Resurrection: Or thus, The state of Grace that possesseth Body and Soul in this Life, the state of Glory that possesseth the Soul at Death, and the state of Glory that both Body and Soul shall be possessed with at the coming of the Lord and Saviour: This was figured forth by the order of the Stairs in the Temple at Jerusalem, which was first, second, and third, by which Men ascended from the lowest to the uppermost Room in the House of God; as he tells us, They went up with winding Stairs from the first into the second story, and from thence by them into the third.

Thus much for the Wall and Gates of New Jerusalem.

Verf. 14. And the Wall of this City had twelve Foundations, and in them the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb. In these Words we have two things considerable:

1. That the City-Wall hath twelve Foundations. 2. That in these twelve, are the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb.

First, it hath twelve Foundations: This argueth invincible Strength and Support. That Wall that hath but one Foundation, how strongly doth it stand, if it be but safely laid upon a Rock, even so strongly, that neither Wind nor Weather in their greatest Vehemency, are able to shake or stir it, to make it fall: but I say, how much more when a City hath Foundations, twelve Foundations, and those also laid by God himself; as it is said concerning the Worthies of old, They looked for a City that had Foundations, whose Builder and Maker is God.

And the Wall of the City had twelve Foundations, and in them the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb. The Wall, you know, I told you, is the Wall of Salvation, or the Safety of the Church by Jesus Christ; to which is adjoined, as the Effect of that the special Providence and Protection of God. Now this Wall, saith the Holy Ghost, hath twelve Foundations, to wit, to bear it up for the Continuation of the Safety, and Security of those that are the Inhabitants of this City; a Foundation is that which beareth up all, and that upon which the Stress of all must lie and abide: Now to speak properly, the Foundation of our Happiness is but one, and that one none but the Lord Jesus; for other Foundation can no Man lay, than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ. So then when he saith the Wall of the City had twelve Foundations, and that in them also are written the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb; he doth not mean that this Wall had twelve Christs for its Support, but That the Doctrine of the twelve Apostles is that Doctrine upon which both Christ, and Grace, and all Happiness standeth firm and sure for ever: and to signify also, that neither Christ nor any of his Benefits can be profitable unto thee, unless thou receive him alone upon the Terms that they do hold him forth and offer him to Sinners in their Word and Doctrine: If we or an Angel from Heaven, preach unto you any other Gospel, saith Paul, than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed: As I said before, so I say now again, If any Man preach any other Gospel unto you, than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

And in them the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb. And in them their Names:] This makes it manifest that by the Foundations of this Wall, we are to understand the Doctrine of the twelve Apostles of the Lord Christ, for their Names are to it, or found ingraven in the Foundations. Thus it was with the Doctrine which was the Foundation of the Jewish Church: the first Pattern being delivered by the Man Moses; his Name was always so entailed to that Doctrine, that at last it became became common, and that by Divine Allowance, to call that Doctrine by the Name of Moses himself: There is one that accuseth you, faith Christ, even Moses in whom you trust: and again, For Moses of old hath in every City them that preach him. The same liberty of speech doth the Holy Ghost here use in speaking of the Foundations of this Wall, which is the Doctrine of the Twelve. And in that he calleth the Doctrine by the Name of Foundations, and leaveth it only with telling us the Names of the twelve Apostles are engraven in it; he expects that Men should be wise that read him, and that they should be skillful in the Word of Righteousness, if they come up clearly to the understanding of him.

Acts 15.
21.

And in them the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb.

The Doctrine of the XII, the purest of all other

Thus you see that the twelve Apostles, above all the Servants of Christ, are here owned to be the Foundations of this Wall; and good Reason, for they above all other are most clear and full in the Doctrine of Grace, and all Doctrines pertaining to Life and Holiness: In other Ages, faith Paul, it was not made known to the Sons of Men, as it is now revealed to his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit. Moses was not fit for this, for his was a more dark and veiled Administration; While Moses is read, the Vail is over the Heart, faith Paul: Neither was any of the Prophets fit for this, for they were all inferior to Moses, and were as it were his Scholars: Nay, John the Baptist is here shut out; for the least in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than he.

Acts 1. 8.

The Apostles above all other were the Men that were with the Lord Jesus all the time, from the Baptism of John, even until the Time he was taken up into Heaven; they saw him, heard him, and discoursed with him, and were Beholders of all the wondrous Works that he did; they did eat and drink with him after his Passion, and saw after he was risen the Print of the Nails, and the Spear with which he was pierced, when he died for our Sins: And because they had seen, felt, and at such a Rate experienced all things from the very first, both touching his Doctrine, Miracles, and Life; therefore he said unto them in chief, Ye shall be Witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the utmost Parts of the Earth.

Further, The Apostles were in that marvellous Manner endued with the Holy Ghost, that they out-stript all the Prophets that ever went before them; neither can I believe that in the best of times there should be any beyond them; yet if it should so fall out, that a Dispensation should come, in which they should have, as to the pouring forth of the Spirit, their Equals; yet it could not follow, that therefore the Gospel should be offered in other terms than they at first have offered it; especially besides what hath been said of them, if you consider to them 'twas said, Whatsoever ye shall loose on Earth, shall be loosed in Heaven; and whatsoever ye shall bind on Earth, shall be bound in Heaven. They, as to their Doctrine, were infallible, 'twas impossible they should err; he that despised their Doctrine, despised God himself: Besides, they have given in Commandment, that all should write after their Copy, and that we should judge both Men and Angels that did, or would do otherwise.

Timothy must have his Rule from Paul, and so must holy Titus: All which, if we consider it, the Holy Ghost speaks to the purpose, in saying, That in the twelve Foundations are found the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb: they are called the chief, and such as have laid the Foundation, and others build thereon, and that as no Men have laid the Foundation but they, so none can lay even that Foundation otherwise than they afore have laid it.

----- And in them the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb. These words then, teach us two things worthy of our Christian Consideration.

First, That God hath given to every Man a certain and visible Mark to aim at for his Salvation, or to build his Soul upon, namely, The Doctrine of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb: for in that he saith their Names are in the Foundations, it is better for us (all things considered) than if he had said, In them was the Name of God himself; that is, it is more easie to see (this Way) through the Mist of our Carnality what the Mystery of his Will should be, which is, that we receive Christ according to their Doctrine, Words, Writings, Epistles, Letters, &c. their Names, I say, being there, God counts it as the Broad Seal of Heaven, which giveth Authority to all that Doctrine whereunto by themselves they are prefixed and subscribed; not where they are writ by others, but by themselves. I say, as the Token of every Epistle, and of their Doctrine for Truth, the which Paul insinuates, when he saith, that his Hand is the token of every Epistle: as he saith again, Am not I an Apostle? And again, Behold, I Paul have written unto you; I Paul, I an Apostle, I a wise Master Builder, I who am in my Doctrine one of the Foundations of the Wall of Salvation, I have written unto you. And, as I said before, there is Reason it should be thus: for as he who was the Foundation of the Jewish Church, even Moses, received the Pattern of all his Order from the Mouth of the Angel in Mount Sinai, so the twelve received their Doctrine of Faith and Manners, the Doctrine of the New Testament, from the Mouth of the Son of God himself, as from the Mouth of the Angel of the everlasting Covenant, on the Mountain of Zion.

Secondly, In that he saith, The Names of the the Twelve are in the Foundations, this shews us the Reason of the continual standing of this Jerusalem; it is built upon the Doctrine of the Twelve Apostles of the Lamb, and standeth there: for observe so long as he sees this Holy City, he sees her standing upon these Foundations; but he saw the City till she was taken up, therefore she continued as being settled for ever upon them. Indeed the Primitive City, or first Churches, was built upon these Foundations, and had also so long as they there continued; sufficient Supporration and upholding by that means; but then, as I have shewed you, the Wall of her Salvation, and the Wall of God's special Protection, stood at a Distance each from other, and were not so conjoined as now they will be: wherefore they then, to answer the Type, did fall into the Ditch that was between, and through their Foolishness provoked God to remove the Wall of his outward Protection and Safeguard from them; whereupon the wild Beast, Antichrist, got into his Vineyard, making Havock of all their Dainties: But mark, this City is not so, the Walls are now conjoined, and for ever fastned upon the Foundations, therefore it abides for ever, and ascends higher and higher; yet not from the Foundations, but by them into Heaven: Behold, saith Isa. 49. 16. God, I have graven thee upon the Palms of my Hands, thy Walls are continually before me.

And in them the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb. This Word twelve, must be warily understood, or else the weak will be ready to stumble and take Offence; wherefore to prevent this, consider,

How you are to understand the word Twelve. First, The twelve must be them twelve that were with the Lord Jesus from the Baptism of John, until the Day in which our Lord was taken up.

Secondly, These twelve are not neither to be considered simply as twelve Christians, or twelve Disciples; but as their Witnesses of the Lord Jesus (they being with him from first to last) was a twelve fold Witness of him in all his Things; a twelve-fold seeing with their Eyes, a twelve-fold hearing with their Ears, a twelve-fold handling also with their Hands, and feeling of the Son of God: As one of them said, That which was from the Beginning, which we have seen with our Eyes, and our Hands have handled of the Word of Life; that which we have seen and heard, declare we unto you, that ye might have Fellowship with us, &c. Now this being thus, it followeth that the Doctrine of the other Apostles, as of Paul and Barnabas, was still but the Doctrine of the twelve; their Doctrine, I say, and no other: Wherefore as Ephraim and Manasseh were dissolved into the twelve Tribes, so these two, with all other the Apostles of Christ, are dissolved into the Number of the Twelve, because their Doctrine is only the Doctrine of the twelve; for they center in their Doctrine; their Length and Breadth, and Depth and Height being the Doctrine of the twelve. So then the Names of the twelve being found in the Foundations of this Wall, it argueth that that Doctrine is only true, that is the Doctrine of the twelve Eye-witnesses of the Lord Jesus: And again, that at the Day of Antichrist's Fall, this Doctrine shall be in its former Purity, and bear the Sway, and for ever hold up the Wall of Safety for the Inhabitants of New Jerusalem: And indeed this Doctrine, That the Doctrine of the twelve is that upon which Eternal Safety is built and stands, is so true, that it must not be varied from upon Pain of Eternal Damnation: Here centred Luke the Evangelist, here centred Jude, here centred the Author to the Hebrews, yea, here centred Paul himself, with all the Old and New Testament. The Doctrine of the twelve must be the Opener, Expounder, and Limiter of all Doctrines; there also must all Men center, and ground, and stay. A Man may talk of, yea, enjoy much of the Spirit of God, but yet the twelve will have the start of him; for they both had the Spirit as he, and more than he: Besides, they together with this, did feel, see, handle and receive Conviction, even by their very carnal Senses, which others did not; besides, their Names also are found in the Foundations of this saving Wall, as being there engraved by GOD himself: which putteth all out of doubt, and giveth us infallible Ground that their Doctrine is only true, and all Mens false that do not keep within the Bounds and Limits of that.

To conclude: Here are yet two Things worthy of noting:

The first is, that by the Names of the twelve Apostles being in the Foundations of this Wall, and the Names of the twelve Tribes being upon the Gates of this City, it giveth us to consider, that at the time of the building of this City, the Jews and Gentiles shall be united together, and become one Body: which very Consideration must needs be to the Jews a great Encouragement to have in mind their Conversion: for it plainly signifieth that our New-Testament-Preachers shall carry in their Mouths, Salvation to the Jews; by which means they shall be again reconciled and made one with the Lord Jesus.

The second Consideration is, That at the Day of New Jerusalem, there shall be no Doctrine accepted, nor no Preachers regarded, but the Doctrine, and the Preachers of the Doctrine of the Twelve: for in that he saith, That in them are found the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb, he doth implicitly exclude all other, of whatever Tribe they pretend themselves: It shall not be then as now, a Popish Doctrine, ctrine, a Quakers Doctrine, a Prelatical Doctrine, and the Presbyter, Independent, and Anabaptist, thus distinguished, and thus confounding and destroying: But the Doctrine shall be one, and that one the Doctrine where you find the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb. If any Man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to wholesome Words, even the Words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the Doctrine that is according to Godliness, he is proud, and knoweth nothing.

1 Tim. 6.
3, 4.

Thus you see the Doctrine of the twelve is that which letteth Souls into this City; and that the same Doctrine is the Doctrine that keepeth up the Wall of their Salvation about them, when they are entered in within the Gates.

Thus again, When Josiah went about to bring to pass the Reformation of the Church of the Jews, and their Instruments of Worship, after their Revolting; he goeth to the Law of God, and by that understanding what was out of order, and how to put all things into order, he so did reduce them to their former manner. The same way also went Ezra, and Nehemiah, at the rebuilding of the Temple and City after the Captivity. From all which, I conclude, that the Reed, the Golden-Reed, that here you read of, it is nothing else but the pure and unspotted Word of God;

I find in the Vision of the Prophet Ezekiel, that the Angel that there is said to measure the City, which was a Type of our Jerusalem, he appeared with a Line of Flax in his hand, to measure the Pattern withal; which very Phrase doth shew us that this was but the Type, and an Old-Testament-business: but John hath his in a New-Testament-stile, and that in the most excellent manner of Language, to signify that his City, or the City that he hath the Vision of, is to be the end of all Types and Shadows, and the very Perfection of them all: Wherefore he tells us also, that the Line or Reed by which this City is builded and squared, it is not now a Line of Flax, but a Reed of Gold, a Golden Reed: to signify not a Word of the Law and Letter that had to do with Shadows, but the New-Testament, and Ministration of the Spirit, which hath to do with Substance, and the heavenly things themselves.

Heb. 9. 23.

The City measured.

A Golden Reed to measure the City, &c. I told you at the first that this City was the Church of God that should be in the latter Days; but yet not the Church disorderly, and confusedly scattered here and there, without all visible Order and Discipline, but the Church brought into exact Form and Order, lying every way level and square with the Rule, and Golden Reed of the New Testament of Christ; wherefore he calleth it a City, a City under Rule. Thus it was in the Type; for when Solomon's Temple was to be builded, and the City in after times, it was not enough that they had Stones and Timber, but every one of them must be such Stones, and such Timber, and must also come under the Rule and Square of the Workman; and so being fitted by Hewers, Sawes, Axes and Squares, they were fitly put into the Building. By this then we may see, with what a holy, exact Line, Rule, and Order, this Church and City at this Day, will be compact and built; the Members must be all such as shall be made fit for the City of God, by the Hewing Words of the Prophets: they must join in Christian-Communion also according to the Golden Reed of the New-Testament, and Ministration of the Spirit. Indeed all the Time of the reign of Antichrist, the Church, as she was a Holy Temple in the Lord, so she was measured with reference to the Truth of her Grace, and invisible Condition; but as she is to be a City, so she then is to be trodden down, and to lie without all Form and Order: but when Antichrist is dead, she shall again come into mind, be considered, reared, built by measure, and inhabited: and observe it, as the Rule of the Carpenter

Carpenter is of use in building, from the first appearance of the laying of a Stone in order, even till it be in every point and part compleat; so the Golden Reed with which the Angel is here said to measure the City, &c. is to be of use from the first Foundation, even to the laying of the last Stone thereof: As was also fore-shewed by the Man that is said to measure the Pattern of this, in Ezekiel, Ezek. 30. to chapter 48.

And he measured the City. That is, he measured the Church in her Constitution and Fellowship. Now when God is said to measure, he is said to measure sometimes in Judgment, and sometimes in Mercy; sometimes to throw down, and sometimes to build up and establish: Sometimes, I say, he is said to measure in Judgment, with Intention to throw down and destroy: Thus he measured the City before she went into Captivity, and the Ten Tribes before they were carried away beyond Babylon, because they lay cross to his Word, and had perverted that which was right, &c. but when he is said to measure the City in this place, it is that she might be built and set up: wherefore, as I said, the Line or Golden Reed that is now stretched forth to measure this City, it is to the end, that all Things may be in right Form and Order, fitly joined and knit together, by that which every joint supplieth according to the effectual working of the measure of every part, making Increase of the Body, to the edifying of itself in Love.

Again, By measuring the City, he would have us to understand, that all her Limits and Bounds were now apparent; that all Things, even the Church and all the World, were made to see their own Compass; for as God in the Days when Temple-Worship (only) was on foot, would not lose a Form or Ordinance of all the Forms and Ordinances of his Temple; so when City-work comes up, he will not lose an Inch of the Limits, and Bounds, and Compass of his City, she shall be full as large, and of as great a Compass every way, as is determined of her: as he saith by the Prophet, All the Land, saith he, shall be turned into a Plain:* that is, there shall be a smooth Face upon the whole Earth, all Snugs, and Hubs, and Hills, and Holes, shall now be taken away, even from Geba to Rimmon; South of Jerusalem: and it (the City) shall be lifted up and inhabited in her Place, from Benjamins Gate unto the place of the first Gate, unto the Corner Gate, and from the Tower of Hananiel, unto the King's Wine-Presses. The four Places here mentioned in this Verse, they do seem to be the four Corners of the City of old; at which Places the City Bounds were set; and in which very Circle the Prophet tells us, but with Gospel-Language, she shall be settled again.

And he measured the City, and the Gates thereof. This was figured forth by the Vision in Ezekiel, for in it he saw the Angel go from Gate to Gate, and saw him take the exact and distinct Measure of every one thereof; nay, not only of them in a general Way, but of the Thresholds, the Porch, the Posts, and the Faces of their Entrances; he measured also every little Chamber that was above upon the Gates, with all the Spaces that were between, Ezek. 40.

Now by Gates, I told you, we are to understand the Son of God, as he is the Way to the Father, and to the Privileges of this City: Wherefore when he saith he measured the Gates, it is as if he had said, he measured the Entrance, Strength and goodly Countenance of Him, with the Mansions of Glory that are to be enjoyed by every one that entreth in hereby; for the Porch, Posts, Face, Entrance and Chambers of the Gate in Ezekiel, they signify the Entrance, Strength, shining Countenance, and resting Places that every one shall find in the Lord Jesus that entreth in by him: and to measure all these, it is in substance but this, to set them forth, and out, in their full Force, Glory, Largeness, Beauty and Profitableness, in the view of all: for I told you at the first, the Golden Reed is the Word of God: Now the City and the Gates thereof, are said to be measured by this Golden-Reed; which I say, can be nothing else, but an opening of all the Excellencies of Christ, as he is the Gate of the Sheep, even by the full Sway, Power, Majesty, and Clearness of the Word. The Lord help us! Christ, as he is the Door to God, and to all Gospel-Privileges, is now strangely handled, and so hath been of a long time among the Sons of Men; some of them making him the very In-let to all the vile and abominable Crew in the World, counting all that are pliant to their ungodly Humours, the Saints of the most High, and Christ the Door and Gate through whom they have right to enter; and to whom belong the Delicates of the precious Things of God, even those which he hath most choicely laid up, and reserveth for none but those that unfeignedly turn from Iniquity, and walk with him in the Newness of the Spirit. Others again do shut up the Gates against the Godly, labouring with might and main to hinder those that labour to enter, that fain would do it unfeignedly. Others again do labour all that in them lies to deface the Gates, to take away their Beauty: like him that took the Gold from off the Doors and Gates of the Temple; rendering Christ a low and carnal Business, &c. But at the measuring-Day, at the Day when the Golden Reed shall be the alone Rule: then you shall see this City, and her Gates discovered in their own Glory, Holiness and Beauty;

Beauty: for though in our Affliction under Antichrist, our Temple and Instruments of Worship, with the City, Wall, Gates, and the like, have been much defaced, (even our Doctrine of Faith and Worship) and have been much trod and trampled under the Foot of the uncircumcised: Yet all shall be recovered and brought into Order again by the Golden Reed of the Word of God: which thing was figured forth to us by that good Man Ezra the Scribe, who at the restoring of Jerusalem took Review of all the Things pertaining to the City, both touching its Breaches and Deformity, and also how to set all things in Order, and thereof, and the Wall thereof. In that he faith, he measured the Wall also, it is to shew us that all things now are according to the Rule of the Word: The Inhabitants are according to the Word, the Entrance is according to the Word, yea, and so is the Safety of it also, even a Fence to fence them from their Enemies; even a Fence on every Side, that they may be at Ease and Rest, and be no more a tossing to and fro: O thou afflicted, and tossed with Tempest, faith he, and not comforted, (I will do many good things for thee) in Righteousness shalt thou be established: thou shalt be far from Oppression, for thou shalt not fear; and from Terror, for it shall not come nigh unto thee.

Isa. 54. 11, 14.

Touching the Wall, what it is, I have spoken already; therefore here I speak only to the Measure of it, which Measure is only the fulfilling all those Promises and Engagements of God, that are made to New Jerusalem, for her Safety and continual Defence; and that not only in her own Eyes, but in the Eyes of all her Beholders: Then shall that Saying be with Gladness in the Mouths of all the Inhabitants of this Jerusalem, We were Bond-men, and yet our God hath not forsaken us in our Bondage, but hath extended Mercy unto us in the Sight of the Kings of Persia, to give us a reviving to set up the House of our God, to repair the Desolations thereof, and to give us a Wall in Judah and in Jerusalem. Which Wall, I say, shall be so conspicuous to all the Adversaries of this holy and beloved City, that the greatest of them shall not once dare to peep or mutter against her any more: God is known in her Palaces for a Refuge: For lo, the Kings were assembled, they passed by, they saw it, and so they marvelled; they were troubled, and hasted away; Fear took hold upon them, and Pain, as of a Woman in Travail: As it is said of the Building of the Wall after the Captivity; when the Enemies and all the Heathen saw it was finished, they were much cast down in their own Eyes.

The regulating of this City by this Golden Reed, and the measuring the Gates and Wall by this Word, when finished, will then cause all that have Skill in singing the Lord's Songs, and of lifting up the Praises of God in this City, to gather themselves together to sing, and to praise, and to say, Bless ye the Name of the Lord, for his Mercies endure for ever: for then will they purify the People (this City) with the Gates and Wall thereof.

Neh. 12.

Wherefore in the mean time, between this and the building of the City, let Jerusalem come into your Mind, and walk about her, go ye round about her (enquire by the Word what God hath said of her State, Strength, Safety, Ease, Peace, and blessed Tranquility in the latter Days) tell the Towers thereof, mark ye well her Bulwarks, consider her Palaces, that ye may tell it to the Generations following.

Psal. 48.

Ver. 16. And the City lieth four square, and the Length is as large as the Breadth: and he measured the City with the Reed, twelve thousand Furlongs, the Length, and the Breadth, and Height of it are equal.

And the City lieth four square.] These Words do open unto you the Matter yet more, to wit, That now both the City, Gates and Wall, were exactly in their Visibility according to the Word, lying even every way with that Golden Reed: for by four square, you are to understand Perfection, or an answering the Figures that of old did figure to us the Compleatness and Perfection of the New-Testament-Order.

For if you search the Scriptures, you will find that especially the great and principal Instruments of God's Worship in and under the Law, their Perfection was what here you read to be the Perfection of this City, even a four square. As for instance The Breast-plate of Judgment, on which were engraved the Names of the Children of Israel, its exact point of Perfection was, to be a right four square. The ten Bases also, that were to be for Bearers to the Lavers in the Temple, they were to be four square: The Altar of Burnt-Offerings likewise, with the Altar of Incense, their perfect perfect Pattern was, that they should be four square: the inward Court, and outward Court, with the Posts of the Temple, and Tables on which they were to flay the Sacrifices, they were all four square. Yea, the City in the Type, in the Vision of Ezekiel, was seen to be of the same Frame and Fashion every way, having just twelve Gates, and of each of the Four Sides three Gates. Wherefore, when he saith, The City lieth four square, it is as if he had said, She lieth even with the Pattern, or Golden Reed of the Word; even, I say, both in her Members, Doctrine, Worship and Manners: For the things afore-hinted unto you, do hold forth all these Particulars.

Exod. 28. 15, 16, and 39. 8, 9. 1 Kings 7. 27 to 32. Exod. 27. 1. and 38. 1. Ezek. 43. 13, to 19. Exod. 37. 1. Ezek. 40. & 41. 21. & 40. 40. to 43. & 48. 30, to 35.

---- And the Length is as large as the Breadth---- This explaineth the Matter yet more fully and distinctly, for as to the things that I made mention of before, though they were to be made four square, and that their Perfection lay exactly in that Form; yet these Squares did not lie in their Height and Depth, but in their Length and Breadth, just as you read here of the Square of this City. As to instance: The Altars, though they were five Cubits long, and five Cubits broad, yet but three high; so the Bases, they were a Cubit and an half broad, and a Cubit and an half long, yet but half a Cubit high; the Tables also on which they flew the Sacrifices, they were a Cubit and a half long, and a Cubit and a half broad, yet but one Cubit high. Which things being thus, you see the Reason of his saying the Length is as large as the Breadth.

Psal. 119. 96. By breadth is to be understood the perfection of the Word, and by length the compleatness of the Saints Obedience, Luke 1. 6. & 2. 37.

Now by Length and Breadth here, we may yet observe another Mystery held forth unto us; for by the Breadth is held forth the Perfection of the Rule, or Law to which all Christians ought to yield their hearty Obedience: his Commandment is exceeding broad: The Breadth of which is signified, I say, by the Breadth of those things that before you see to be the Instruments of the Worship of God: Now, as by Breadth, we are to understand the perfect Latitude and Compass of the Commandment; so by Length, we are to understand the Answerableness of the Obedience of the Inhabitants of this City: for indeed the Perfection of Christian Obedience lieth in an Answerableness to the Will of God; as it is said of the Father and Mother of John the Baptist; They walked in all the Commandments of the Lord blameless; and of Anna, that she continued without ceasing in the Service of God in the Temple, Day and Night: This is to be as long in our Obedience, as the Law is broad in commanding: the Law commands right Obedience, and the Christian giveth it; the Law commands continual Obedience, and the Christian giveth it; the Law commands universal Obedience, and the Christian giveth it: He giveth it all these sorts of Obedience, 1. By the Person of Christ, for he is his Righteousness; 30. he giveth it all these, 2. With the Consent of the Mind; and 3. He giveth it all these Obediences in the Love of the Spirit, which the Apostles calleth the fulfilling of the Law; Rom. 13. that is, an answering the Breadth of its Command, by the Length of Obedience: wherefore when he saith, the Length is as large as the Breadth, he would have us understand how perfect in Holiness these Blessed Souls will be at this Day: and indeed, this is it that is by God expected to be in this City at this Day: As the Angel with his Measuring-Line said to Zechariah, I am going to measure Jerusalem, and to see what is the Breadth thereof, and what is the Length thereof: To see whether their Doctrine be pure, and whether their Obedience be answerable.

---- And he measured the City with the Reed, twelve thousand Furlongs ---- These latter Words do refer us to a distinct Measure from that which went before; the former Measure pointing at the Breadth of her Commandment, and the Length of her Obedience; but this at the Glory and Fullness of her Mansions and Portions: For after he had said, The City lieth four square, and that the Length is as large as the Breadth, (which is the full and compleat Effect of that first Measure) he comes over again with another Measuring, saying, And he measured the City twelve thousand Furlongs; as who should say, He measured the City, Gates and Wall first, and found them all exact, and according to the Golden Reed; and after he had so done, he measured the City with the Reed twelve thousand Furlongs.

He measured the City with the Reed] That A Portion is, he measured out to the City, he measured for the City, for its Lot and Portion, City. twelve thousand Furlongs: Which very thing you find in the Vision of the Prophet Ezekiel: for after he had measured the City, the Vessels, with the Instruments of Worship, I say, when he had done this, he comes again with an Afterwards, to measure the City her Portions and Mansions, Ezek. 47. 1, &c.

Wherefore, I say, these Words do refer to her Portion that she is to enjoy of her God, as the former referreth to her Duty and Obedience.

Now that which maketh me conclude that this latter Measure is a Measure distinct from the former, and that it relateth neither to the Exactness of Rule, nor the Compleatness of Obedience, but only to the Largeness of the Portions that God will allot for thy Sons and Daughters, thou City of God; it is,

First, Because this is the biggest Measure: For I find, by considering the Scripture, that as the Persons and Things pertaining to the Worship of God, were to go according cording to the Rule of this golden Reed: so also the Portions that pertained to the Persons worshipping, were to go by Rule and Measure also, (as here he saith he measured also the City, or to it, with the Reed, twelve thousand Furlongs.) And hence it is that our Grace is called the Measure of Grace, and that our Glory is called a Weight of Glory.

Rom. 12. 3

Eph. 4. 7.

2 Cor. 4.

17.

Now I say, I find that our Portions do go always under the biggest Measure; the Spoons, Cups, Flaggons, Snuffers, Basons, Candlesticks and Pans, which were the Instruments of Worship, were not so large as the Chambers in the Temple, and the Compass of the Holy Land, which were the * Mansions and the † Portions of the Church.

* See Joh.

15. to

chap. 19.

† John 14.

1, 2, 3.

Secondly, I take the twelve thousand Furlongs to signify Portions, rather than Worship or Worshippers; because, as to the Nature of it, it most exactly agrees with the Portions that are measured out to this City by the Angel before Ezekiel, which is a Measuring forth so much Land for the Portion of the Prince, so much for the Portion of the Priest, and so much for the Portion of the twelve Tribes: Yea, the very Phrase, Twelve thousand Furlongs, also implieth such a Compass of Ground, by which we find the Holy Land hath been measured.

Ezek. 45.

46, 47.

Luke 24.

13.

Lastly, I take it to be thus also; because I find not in all this Description of this Holy City, that any Place doth give us that Ground to speak to her Measure of Portion as this; and it would seem strange to me, that the Description of this City given by Ezekiel, should be more compleat than this that is given by our Prophet John; for Ezekiel doth most amply set forth her Portions, even distinctly, for Prince, Priest, and the Tribes in particular. This therefore is to be understood of the Portions of the City, which John did see were measured out unto her, immediately after he saw the Breadth of her Rule, and the Length of her Obedience: Only consider that Ezekiel measureth by Reeds, not counting by Furlongs; but John, though he measureth by Reeds, yet counteth by Furlongs.

But now, though the Holy Ghost is thus pleased to speak of the Portions of the Saints in the New Jerusalem, as if he intended chiefly that their Portion should consist in outward Happiness, and in the Enjoyment of such and such a Portion, or Compass of Ground: Yet consider that these are but metaphorical and borrowed Expressions, spoken to our Capacities, under which is indeed included the Nature of our Blessed and Spiritual Food and Nourishment: You know it is usual for the Holy Ghost in Scripture to call the Saints Sheep, Lambs, Heifers, Cows, Rams, Doves, Swallows, Pelicans, and the like; and also to call their Food, their Spiritual and Heavenly Food, Grass, Provender, Wheat, Wine, Oyl, Grapes, Apples, Figs, Nuts, and the like also; all which are but shadowish and figurative Expressions, even as this of the Measure of the twelve thousand Furlongs: and observe it, that which John saith here is twelve thousand Furlongs, Ezekiel tells us, it lieth on this side, and on that side of the Bank of the River of the Water of Life: Now I think there is none so much void of Understanding, as to think this Water of Life is any thing else but the precious Grace of God, in and thorow the Lord Jesus: Wherefore the Ground or Measure for Portions, it is nothing else but our Spiritual and Heavenly Food, even Spiritual Grace, and Gifts, and Comforts, that the Holy Ones of this City shall most plentifully partake of, and enjoy: And so indeed the Prophet also saith, speaking of the Portions of the Holy Land for this City: The Increase thereof, saith he, shall be for Food unto them that serve the City; and they that serve it, shall serve it out of the Twelve Tribes of Israel: Out of the Twelve Tribes, that is out of the twelve thousand Furlongs, which is the Portion of the Tribes. This is according to the Saying of the Prophet David, He maketh me to lie down in green Pastures, he leadeth me besides the still Waters: And again, For the Lamb that is in the midst of the Throne shall feed them, and shall lead them into living Fountains of Water: for their Shame, they shall have double; and for Confusion, they shall rejoyce in their Portion: Therefore in their Land they shall possess the double; Everlasting Joy shall be upon them.

Thus you see the Measure of the City, Gates, and Wall, and the Effect of that; and thus you see also the Measure of the Portion for the City, with what it is: Wherefore it remaineth that we see what is to be the Effect of that also.

And he measured the City with a Reed, twelve thousand Furlongs, and the Length and the Breadth, and the Height of it are equal. Before he told us, that the Length was as large as the Breadth; which I then told you, did signify the Nature of her Rule, and the Measure of her Obedience: But now he adds, and saith, That both in Length and Breadth, and in Height, she is equal. Wherefore in that he adds at last a Squareness of Height, to her Squareness of Length and Breadth; and also in that he adds it not before he had told us of the Measure of her Portions, he would have us to understand, that as the Rule in which this City shall walk, shall be compleat, and as her Obedience to that Rule shall be compleat, so her Enjoyment of God and his Grace at that Day shall be proportionable also: She is square in her Rule, square in her Obedience, and square in her Enjoyment of God and his Goodness; The Length,
and

Pfal. 19. and the Breadth, and the Height of it are equal. Indeed the Scripture saith, That in keeping his Commandments there is great Reward: And again, This Man shall be blessed in his Deed. This sheweth unto us then, what glorious Days these will be to the House and City of God; even Days in which Saints shall see the Mind of God clearly, have Hearts to do it compleatly, and have continually the answerable Enjoyment of God, and spiritual Happiness: Now will his Paths drop Fatness with a Witness! and now will he meet him that rejoiceth and worketh Righteousness, those that remember him in his Ways: And the Length, and the Breadth, and the Height of it are equal. Wherefore the Prophet in the Vision of the Measures of the Portions, doth observe that there was a Squareness in them, as well as in their Ordinances and Obedience: and hence it is that he tells us that every little Chamber was one Reed broad, and one Reed long: And again, the Oblation, that is the Portion for the Tribes, shall be five and twenty thousand: by five and twenty thousand ye shall offer the Holy Oblation FOUR SQUARE, with the Portion of the City.

Again, In that he saith, The Length and Breadth, and the Height of it are equal; he sheweth us how fit this City at this Day will be, even for the Kingdom of Heaven and Glory: for observe, That as the Rule, Obedience, and Comforts of God, do make this City a Square City, both in Height, and Length, and Breadth; so the Holiest of all, which was a * Type of Heaven, was of the same Fashion also; It was twenty Cubits high, and twenty Cubits long, and twenty Cubits broad; the Length, and the Breadth, and the Height of it were equal.

Wherefore, as now the Will of God will be done (according to the Petition) on Earth as it is in Heaven; so will this City be at this Day fit to enter into the Holiest Place; even as fit as one four square is to shut into another: Here is a four square City for a four square Heaven; And the Length, and the Breadth of it are equal: Wherefore it is upon this Account that this City at her appearing, is said to be adorned and prepared, as a Bride is for her Husband, which we all know is the most perfect and compleatest Attire that is possible to be got: And therefore it is again, that at the Coming of the Lord, those that go in with him to the Marriage, are said to be ready beforehand.

Verse 17. And he measured the Wall thereof, an hundred and forty and four Cubits. This Measure of the Wall that here he maketh mention of, is also distinct from the former Measure, where he is said to measure the City, Gates, and Wall; and it refers to such a Wall, or to such a part of the Wall in such a Place: For I find that though the Wall of this City in general is that which shall encompass the New Jerusalem round; yet this Wall is in some Place, and for some Reason, of another Manner and Measure than the Wall is in general, as it compasseth round the City; which part of the Wall is called the broad Wall, the Wall upon which even half of the People might walk compleat at once.

But to trace out the Business in the Type, and so to come to its Answer in the Antitype: I find that a little distance from Jerusalem there was a Place called Tophet, which Place was counted Prophane, Unholy, or Defiled: I find also that this Unclean, Unholy Place, was a Figure of Hell it self: Now mark, I find by the Scripture, that against this Tophet, this unholy and Prophane Place, was the broad Wall of the City for the Defence of the Sanctuary, erected, and reared up: He measured, saith the Prophet, by the four Sides, and it had a Wall round about, five Hundred Reeds long, and five hundred Reeds broad, TO MAKE A SEPARATION BETWEEN THE SANCTUARY AND THE PROPHANE PLACE. Which

Wall could not be that Wall which compasseth the City, because it was but five hundred Reeds long: for take the Measure of this Wall in its largest Measure, and it is, (if you count a Reed for that which we count a Pole) but twelve Furlongs, which Compass will scarce go round many Market-Towns; especially, if together with this, you consider the Breadth of the Wall, whose Breadth is as large as its Length; wherefore now there is not room enough for a City so big as a Cottage to stand in the midst thereof: I speak this, to shew you that the Wall in this Place is not the Wall that goeth round about the City, but the Wall that is placed just between the Sanctuary and Tophet, or Hell it self. Now though Ezekiel and John did differ touching their Count about the Thickness of this Wall, it is not so much to signifie the Walls are not one and the same, as to shew us that the one, to wit, Ezekiel's Wall, was to encompass a Worldly Sanctuary, but John's to encompass a Spiritual and Heavenly; wherefore Ezekiel's must be of so many Reeds long to go round about the material Sanctuary, as a Type; but John comes more to the Spirit of the Matter, and sheweth us what the Sanctuary, Wall, and the like should mean; for by Sanctuary, we are to understand (even in the Old Testament) a Place of Safety and Security, which was a Type of Christ: Now in that Tophet did stand against the Sanctuary in the Letter, it signifies that Hell it self is bent against all those that take Shelter in Christ; but to no Purpose, for in the very Face of Tophet, even between it and our Place of Sanctuary, is fixed an invincible and impregnable, mighty Wall, to keep in Safety Safety those that have fled to Christ for Shelter. Now I say, in that John tells us this Wall is an hundred forty four Cubits; (and waves the Manner of the Measure of Ezekiel) it is to shew us that this Wall is for the Safety of the hundred forty four thousand that have taken sanctuary in Christ, that is, all the holy and truly gracious Souls that are with him on the Mount Zion, having his Father's Name written in their Foreheads; both Numbers, I say, being twelve times twelve, implying a sufficient Safety for all that are sincerely and truly gracious.

Why this Wall is said to be 144 Cubits.
Rev. 14. 1, 2, 3.
Rev. 7.

And now to bring down the Matter to our New-Jerusalem-state: for though it be true in all Ages, that there is between those that have taken Sanctuary in Christ, and the bottomless Pit, an invincible and mighty Wall of Grace and heavenly Power, and of the Merits of Christ, to save to the utmost all and every one that are thus fled to him for Safety; yet there is something in it more than this, for those that come into the Days and State of the New-Jerusalem: For, I say, this Wall being it that makes a Separation between the Sanctuary, and the prophane Place in general, and yet being spoken of as a thing extraordinary, and accompanying the State of this New City only; it implieth that at this Day the Saints shall have that Shelter by this Wall from all the Force of Hell, and the damned Spirits that now from Tophet afflict them, that they never had before; and therefore you find at the beginning of the thousand Years, which (as I conceive) is the time of the building of this City, a mighty Angel is said to come down from Heaven to lay hold of the Dragon, that old Serpent, called the Devil and Satan, and to bind him a thousand years; which done, he casts him into the bottomless Pit, and there shuts him up, to the end he should deceive the Nations no more, the Effect of which will be not only a delivering of the Saints from outward Persecution, but also from being any more assailed with either wicked and erroneous Doctrine, or fierce and fiery Darts from the Prince of Darkness, which now many of them are so much annoyed and afflicted with: now the Church will be free from those hellish Suggestions to blaspheme, to despair, and the like, that her Members do yet most dreadfully and sadly meet with: for observe, this old Tempter is said to be tied up, or to be cast into the bottomless Pit, first as he is a Dragon, under which Name he goeth in this Book, in his persecuting the Church, Rev. 12. Secondly, he is said to be shut up, as he goeth under the Name of a Serpent, under which Name he went when he fomented his devilish and damning seducing Doctrine to our first Parents; the which the Spirit expressly seems to relate unto, and therefore calls him that OLD Serpent; that OLD Serpent that deceived us at the first. Thirdly, he is said to be shut up also, as he goeth under the Name of the Devil and Satan, under which Name he goeth commonly in the New Testament, when he provoketh and stirreth up our Lusts, and when he labours to drive us into all manner of Unbelief, Distrust, Despair, and so consequently into Murmurings and Blasphemy against God. Wherefore, I say, that at the Day that this Wall is set up in all its Glory, and when it performs every Part and Piece of its Office to the full, then shall Satan be bruised under our Feet indeed, and then shall Jerusalem be called, The joyous City, and her People, A Joy; for her former Sorrows shall be past and forgot.

If thou still objectest: But I have yet an evil Heart, and therefore if I be not rid of that at that Day (should I live till then) why though there should be no Devil to afflict me, I shall feel and meet with Sorrow and Trouble enough.

I answer thee: First, I dare not say that at this Day thou shalt be in every Sense without thy evil Heart, in the midst of all this Glory, tempted Soul: Yet I say thus much to thee;

First, where there is no Devil to tempt, though the Saints will yet be imperfect, and come short of a glorified State; yet they by his Absence will be delivered from many dreadful vexing and burning hellish Darts, that will otherwise confound and afflict the Soul like Arrows, whose Heads are poisoned: Christians have a great deal more Ease, when God doth (even at this Day) withhold the Devil for a Season, (though yet they have their own Lusts) than they have when the Devil and their own Lusts are suffered to meet and work together: yea the Lord Jesus himself, who had no Sin, yet in the Temptation was fearfully handled and afflicted with the Devil; though all the while, I say, he kept him at Staves end, and did not suffer him in the least to annoy his Person; and therefore 'tis said that when he was in the Wilderness in the Conflict, the Angels came to minister unto him: at the time of his Agony also, in which Agony doubtless Satan had a very great Hand to afflict him, you see his Complaint, how that he was fore amazed, and exceeding sorrowful, even unto Death, being so laden with Heaviness and Sorrow, that he was scarce able to stand or wag under the Burden of it. Satan even from himself besides the Workings of our own Lust, doth do us wonderful Injury, and hits our Souls with many a fiery Dart, that we think comes either from ourselves, or from Heaven, and God himself; but now by this Wall, this broad Wall, this Sorrow will be cut off.

Secondly, Again, when Satan is thus tied up, we shall, together with this Mercy, receive such a plentiful pouring forth of the Holy Ghost, that though there will remain Corruptions shall now also be greatly weakened.

main in us still the Remainders of our Corruptions; yet by the plentiful In-dwellings of the Holy Ghost, and the Joy and Peace and heavenly Sweetness thereof, these things shall lie like lean, withered, blasted things: the reason of that Power and that Strength that our Lusts have to this Day in our Hearts, it is because we are so lean and thin and weak in the things of God: Strong Grace makes Corruptions weak, and strikes them thorough; laying them at the Point of Death, always gasping for Life: thus it was with Moses, he had such Grace in his Soul, and such Communion with God, that tho' he had yet a Body of Sin within him, it was a rare thing for him to see his Wretchedness; that is, to see it pert, lively and powerful in him: indeed God saith, That

Num. 11 14, 15. upon the Land of his People shall come up Briars and Thorns; yea, upon all the Houses of Joy in the joyous City, because the Palaces shall be forsaken, the Multitude of the City shall be left, the Forts and Towers shall be for Dens for ever, a Joy of wild Asses, a Pasture of Flocks; until the Spirit be poured on us from on High, and the Wilderness be a fruitful Field, &c. And then the Lord shall defend the Inhabitants of Jerusalem, and he that is feeble among them at that Day shall be as David, and the House of David shall be as God, even as the Angel of the Lord before him: The Inhabitants shall not say, I am sick; the People that dwell therein, shall be forgiven their Iniquity.

And he measured the Wall thereof, an hundred and forty and four Cubits, according to the Measure of a Man, that is, of the Angel. According to the Measure of a Man.]

The Man Christ Jesus: For the Measure of this City, or the golden Reed with which this City is thus measured, it is His * Word and Law of the New Testament: All Judgment is committed into the Hand of the Son; and God hath given him Authority to execute Judgment also, because he is the Son of Man.

---According to the Measure of a Man, that is of the Angel. This Angel is one of the Seven that had the seven last Plagues to execute upon the Man of Sin, and yet he saith, the Measure is according to the Measure of a Man; the Meaning is, that the City, the New Jerusalem, is to be built according to the Word of Christ; but yet by his Word as it is in the Hand of his Angels, that is, his Messengers and Servants; of which Servants, the Chief will be those that are his Instruments to pour forth the seven Vials full of the seven last Plagues upon the Antichristian Harlot: For they with their Plagues, will both destroy what standeth in implacable Opposition, and will subject the rest, and bring them into a Correspondency with the Word and Will of God (as I have shewed). Whence note, That they of his Servants that God shall use to pour forth his last and most dreadful Plagues upon the Whore, they are they that God will use to shew us the Pattern of this Holy City: Or thus, They that can tell how to plague the Whore, they can tell how to measure this City: The righteous Men, they shall judge them, (that is, the Antichristian Harlot, with her wicked and adulterous Daughters) after the manner of Adulteresses, and after the manner of Women that shed Blood: because they are adulterous, and Blood is in their Hands.

Thus much touching the Frame of this City, its Walls, Gates, and Foundations, with the Measure of each: And now it remains that I speak of the Glory of them.

Verse 18. And the building of the Wall of it was of Jasper; and the City was pure Gold, like unto clear Glass.

In these Words you have a Discovery of the Glory both of the Wall and City itself; and that, as you see, under the Notion of two choice Metaphors: The Wall is Jasper, the chief of Stones; and the City is Gold, the chief of Metals: And the Building of the Wall of it was of Jasper, and the City was pure Gold.

This Jasper is that Stone, in the Light of which this City is said to descend, as in the Light of a Stone most precious: Now as there he saith she descended in the Light of this Stone, so here he saith this Stone is the Wall thereof; And the Building of the Wall of it was of Jasper.

This therefore confirmeth unto you what I said of the Wall before, to wit, That it was the Salvation of God through Christ: wherefore learn this by the way, that this City shall not be at this Day in her own Keeping, but in the Keeping of Jesus Christ; He with his Benefits doth compass her round, and by him alone she lieth down in Safety: Wherefore it is from this Consideration that God doth say by the Mouth of the Prophet, I will give them within my House, and within my Walls, a Place and a Name better than that of Sons and of Daughters; I will give them an everlasting Name that shall not be cut off.

And the [Building] of the Wall, &c. By this word Building, we are to understand both the Materials of the Wall, the Manner of their placing, and the Instruments that God will use for the setting up thereof: Now to speak properly, this Wall being the Lord Jesus Christ Himself in his Precious Merits, Benefits and Offices, the Builder hereof must needs be God Himself; for he it is that hath made this Christ for us a Safeguard and Defence, by making of him our Wisdom, Righteousness, Sanctification and Redemption, by which he doth incompass us round on every side, and that at every Moment to deliver us from the Power and Destruction both of Sin, Death, the Devil and Hell.

But again, The Building here spoken of, is a Building of this Wall after the Destruction of Antichrist, and so long after Christ was sent, and made these things in his own Person, to his beloved and blessed Church: Wherefore the Building of this Wall that is here spoken of, it must be understood of the recovering again the Purity of those Doctrines, in which the Lord Jesus, with all his Benefits, is found and made ours, for our everlasting Defence and Safety: For we find that the King of Babylon, who was a Type of our Antichrist, when he came up against Jerusalem, the Type of our Primitive Church, he brake down their City, destroyed their Walls, rifled their Houses, and killed their Children; whose Steps, I say, our Antichrist follows to a Hair, in treading down the Primitive Church, corrupting her Doctrines (which are her Safe-guard and Wall) also robbing and spoiling the Houses of God, and killing his Children with a thousand calamities; turning all the heavenly Frame and Order of Church-Government into an Heap of Rubbish, and a confused Dunghil.

Psal. 74. 4,
5, 6, 7.

Wherefore the Building again of this Wall is to be understood of the Recovering, and setting, and fastning the Doctrines of Christ, as afore, in which Doctrines he in all his Benefits is wrapped, and held fast for ever: I say, a recovering of them, and setting him up again in his primitive and pure Glory, of being our Priest, Prophet and King in his Church, and a giving unto these Offices their own proper Length, Breadth, Height and Depth; letting them rule in all their Force, Glory, and Majesty, and Authority, for then will be golden Days, and not till then; then, I say, when the several Offices of the Lord Jesus do rule in their own Nature and Largeness of Authority, both in the Church and in the World.

Zac. 14. 9.
Rev. 11.

Zec. 9. 7, 8.

Alas! This Wall is yet unbuilt, the Offices of the Lord Jesus do not yet shine in that Purity, nor so stand in their proper places, as they shall do at the coming in of New Jerusalem: the Wall lies yet but as an Heap of Rubbish; the Offices of the Lord Christ are to this Day by many Preachers confounded, and removed to and fro, even like loose and rouling Stones; these Offices also are by others attributed to Antichrist, and his Children of Iniquity; but at this Day the Nations shall know themselves to be but Men, and the Doctrines of Christ shall be set again in their own Places: Now shall every going into this City, and every going out thereof, stand where it ought; and now shall every Tower and Fortrefs on this Wall be placed as in the Days of old; which Towers and Fortresses are the glorious Names and Attributes of the Father and Christ: for the Name of the Lord is a strong Tower, the Righteous flee into it, and are safe; And again, Thou hast been a shelter to me, and a strong Tower from the Enemy: Wherefore now, I say, shall the Name of God, as Lord of all, and Father of his Church, with the Names of the Son, as Head, Saviour, and King of Kings, be as the Bulwarks to this City, to which shall be added all the Promises, Consolations, Encouragements, &c. in the Blessed Book of God, out of which this City continually shall suck the Milk and Nourishment of the unsearchable Grace of God to them; to all which shall be added many new pieces of Timber in the Wall (for so it was in the Type at the rebuilding of the City) by which new pieces, I gather, that the special Providence of God, and his Protection, shall be at this Day so fastned in this Wall for the compleat delivering of this City, both from Hell and Earth, that she shall stand in full Force, Safety and Peace, even till the Heavens and the Earth shall be no more. Now when this Wall is thus set up, even every Truth and Office of Christ, in its own true natural Force, about this City; and when God in his special and most indeared Affections, shall engage himself even everlastingly to keep this City safe from all Storms and Tempests, and Trouble and Sorrow; then shall these Citizens, as a sign of their Conquest both of Hell and the World, even set up their Banners on the several Towers of this Wall, and the Standards that belong to the Tribes thereof; then, I say, We shall rejoyce in thy Salvation, O Lord, and in thy Name will we set up our Banners: And then shall the Inhabitants of the World both wondring and tremblingly, say, Who is this that looketh forth as the Morning, fair as the Sun, clear as the Moon, and terrible as an Army with Banners? O the Names of God, of Christ, of his Offices, and the Power of his Grace and Promises! How will they shine? In what Glory will they appear? They will be even as a Wall of Fire round about Jerusalem; and will not be, as now, in the Mind and Thought of the People, as the White of an Egg in the Mouth, without Taste; but shall be, and appear in their own Brightness, Sweetness, and Grace: For how great is his Goodness, and how great is his Beauty? Corn shall make the young Men chearful, and new Wine the Maids: In that Day shalt thou say, O Lord, I will praise thee, though thou wast angry with me, thine Anger is turned away, and thou comfortest me: Behold God is my Salvation: I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord JEHOVAH is my Strength, and my Song, he also is become my Salvation.

Isa. 12. 1,

For the Workmen, I am sure God is the principal, as I said before; but yet he will do it by Instruments, thorow the guidance of his Spirit. The Building of the Wall of old, was of God; but so, as that he did it by the hand of Nehemiah and his Companions. I do observe in the compleating of the City Jerusalem of old, that there was

Altar-work, Temple-work, and City-work. Ezra. 3. 1. to 7. was first Altar-work then Temple-work, and after that the Building of the Wall, and compleating the City. Altar-work, I say, was the first which was reared, and on which there were offered according to the Law and Holy Custom, the Sacrifices and Offerings both Morning and Evening, as every day required; but the Foundation of the Temple was not yet laid. These Altar-Men were those also that afterward built the Temple; but yet by them was first of all repaired the Altar, to signifie that the first work that will be on foot at the beginning of the return of the Christians from out of Antichristian Babylon, it will be to find out Altar-work, that is, the Priestly Office of Christ, and to offer by him the Prayers and Supplications of the Church continually. Wherefore these Altar-men, or these Men in their Altar-work, did figure out for us our famous and holy Worthies, that before us have risen up in their Place, and shook off those Relicks of Antichrist that intrenched upon the Priestly Office of our Lord and Saviour, even worthy Wickliff, Hus, Luther, Melancthon, Calvin, and the Blessed Martyrs in Queen Mary's Days, &c. with the rest of their Companions; these in their Days were stout and valiant Champions for God according to their Light, and did upon the Altar of God, which is Christ our Lord, offer up many strong Cries, with Groans and Tears, as every Day required, for the compleat recovering of the Church of God; the Benefit of whose Offering we have felt and enjoyed to this Day; but by this the Foundation of the Temple was not yet laid.

What Altar work is. Ezra. 3. 1. to 7. Now after these arise another People, not another with respect to Christianity, but with respect to further Light. These Men though they keep the continual Offerings upon the Altar, as the other did, yet they are Men also that are for Temple-work, wherefore these begin to search out the Foundations of the Temple of God, that they may rear up the House, as well as build up the Altar: These bethey that are for having the Church a select Company of visible believers, walking in the Faith and Holiness of the Gospel; which Believers are for separating from the Unconverted and open Prophane, and for building up one another an holy Temple in the Lord, through the Spirit. I say, a Temple, or House, or Church, separate and distinct from that confused Heap of Rubbish and carnal Gospellers, that every where like Locusts and Maggots crawl up and down the Nations. These were figured forth by Zerubbabel, Joshua, and all the People of the Land that are for working and labouring in this Service of Temple-work.

Again, As there is thus Altar-work and Temple-work to be done by the Saints when they are coming out of spiritual Sodom and Egypt; so at the end of these, there will be City-work on foot also. Which City-work will chiefly consist in setting up the Wall and Gates for Defence, and of building themselves Houses or Mansions of Rest and Refreshment, after all their hard Usage under the Tyranny of the Man of Sin, that Son of Perdition; which City-work will be then compleated, when the Church of Christ hath obtained a compleat Conquest and Victory over the World, and hath got her Enemies, and them that hate her, to lye at her Feet, and to lick the Dust of the Souls thereof. For, as I have told you already, Temple-work, yea, when that is compleat in the Work, yet there may be great Havock made of the Church of Christ; at which Time also, City-work may be trampled under the Feet of the wicked and uncircumcised Gentiles; but when the City is built, then Zion is become a strong Hold, and about all her Glory shall be a Defence. Then she either draweth and allureth her Adversaries to entreat her kindly, and to count it their Honour to be under her Protection (as did the Gibeonites) or else she breaks and bruises, and subjects them to her by her Power and Authority. The Daughter of Tyre shall be there with a Gift, and the Rich among the People shall intreat thy Favour. In the last Days, saith the Prophet, it shall come to pass, that the Lord's House shall be established upon the Tops of the Mountains, and shall be exalted above the Hills; and People shall flow unto it, and many Nations shall come and say, Come, and let us go up unto the Mountain of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us of his Ways, and we will walk in his Paths. For the Law shall go forth of Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And ye shall judge among the People, and rebuke strong Nations afar off; and they shall beat their Swords into Plough-shares, and their Spears into Pruning-hooks; (that Force and Power that they used formerly to destroy the Church of God, now they shall use it to do her Service, even to break up the Clods of the Hearts of Sinners, and to prune and dress the House of God, and Vineyard of Jesus Christ) Nation shall not lift up a Sword against Nation, neither shall they learn War any more; (for the Word of the Kingdom of Peace shall bear Sway.) And thou, O Tower of the Flock, the strong Hold of the Daughter of Zion, unto thee shall it come, even the first Dominion; the Kingdom shall come to the Daughter of Jerusalem. This is City-work, and as to the Glory, Peace, and Deliverance of the Church, it is the chiefest of all other, because it is not only most excellent for Concourse and Multitude, but, I say, for Preservation and Safety; and that not only to keep the Worshipers, if they keep their Order, but to keep the Order and Worshipers both in Order

Order and continual Safety, that they may be for ever in the purest Order. But now, though at the compleating of this Wall, and the building its Towers, when they are finished there will be great Peace; yet all the Time that these things are doing, before they be done, let the Workmen look for Opposition, Taunts, Underminers, and a thousand Tricks for the Hindrance of it; For the Street of the City shall be built, and the Wall, even in troublous times.

And the building of the Wall of it was of Jasper. Of Jasper only; for as by Building is shewed unto us the Manner of the Work, so by Jasper is shewed unto us the Matter itself, the Matter therefore must be (Jasper) Christ only, his Word, Offices, and glorious Brightness only; for indeed, whatever the special Grace, Protection and Providence of God will at this Day be over this City, yet it shall be every whit of it according to Christ; that is, both of him, for him, and by him, as the Fruits and Effects of his Suffering, Bloodshed and Merits: Therefore, saith God, I will divide him a Portion with the Great, and he shall divide the Spoil with the Strong, because he hath poured out his Soul unto Death, and was numbred among the Transgressors. O Holiness! how will it shine both in Kings and Nations, when God doth this.

And the City was pure Gold. Having thus given us a Discovery of the Glory of the Wall, he now comes to shew us the Glory of the City that is within the Wall: The City, saith he, is Gold, it is pure Gold: This was figured out by the golden Candlesticks belonging to the Tabernacle and Temple among the Jews, which Candlesticks did then present unto us the Worth and Use of the Church of CHRIST: The seven Candlesticks are the seven Churches, saith the Lord Christ himself. Now the City here spoken of, is the Church in her highest and greatest Glory: its State was also figured out by the Temple itself, whose Beams, Posts, Walls, Doors, and the like, were most famously covered over with Gold. It was also (tho' but leanly) represented to us by the golden State of old Jerusalem in the Days of Solomon the King, in which State Gold was so plentiful in the midst thereof, that Silver was nothing counted of among the Citizens there in those days, but was as common as the Stones in the Street of the City.

And the City was pure Gold. I find by the Search of the Scriptures, that there are divers Sorts of Gold in the World; there is the Gold of the Land of Havilah, the Gold of Parvaim, the Gold of Ophir, the Gold of Sheba, and the Gold of Uphaz. Now seeing he saith the City is Gold, yet not distinguishing what Gold, or which, we may suppose in this Place he means Gold of all these Sorts: and indeed it is most agreeable to this Text thus to judge: for the Church at this Day shall be made up of the twelve Tribes that are scattered abroad, and of the Gentile Nations both far and near; who as they now lie, are, for ought I can learn, at as great a distance, and as remote from one another (not only in Knowledge and Affections, but touching the Places of their Abode) as are the golden Mines, out of which the Gold that I spake of before is digged and fetched: Thus shall Gold, the golden Saints of God, at this day be gathered out of the several golden Mines of the World, and be brought to King Solomon the Son of David, our Lord Jesus to Jerusalem, with which he will build him a golden shining City, the Joy of all the World.

And the City was pure Gold. Gold is the choice and chief of all Metals, both for Worth, Colour and Vertue; wherefore when he saith, The City is Gold, you may conceive how rich and shining, and virtuous this City will be; the Riches of the whole World will be here; the Beauty and the Vertue of the whole World will be here; I mean spiritual Riches, Beauty and Health; wherefore the rest of the World at this Day will be but as a crushed Bunch of Herbs in which is no Vertue; or like a Furnace full of Dross, out of which the Gold is taken; or like an old crazy and ruinous House, from which is departed all Health and Happiness; and indeed much like to this is that saying of the Prophet, to wit, That at this Day the whole Circumference of the World that is without the Walls and Privileges of this City, it shall be but like an old ruinous House, in which dwells nothing but Cormorants, Bitterns, Owls, Ravens, Dragons, Satyrs, the Screech-Owl, the great Owl, the Vulture, and the like most doleful Birds. All their Princes shall be nothing, saith the Prophet, and when they call their Nobles to the Kingdom, none shall be there: In their very Palaces shall be Thorns and Nettles, and Brambles; for all among them that are Princes and Nobles indeed, will have pack'd up, and be gone for Jerusalem: So that the World, I say, will be left empty, void, and stript both of Treasure, Beauty and Health, at the Day of Jerusalem's Building again. But O how melancholy a forlorn beautiless World will this be at this Day! It will be only the Place of Dogs, Sorcerers, Whoremongers and Murderers, and whosoever loveth and maketh a Lie; it will now be the very Emblem of Hell, as the Church at this Day will be the Emblem of Heaven; wherefore as the Church (as I shewed you before) will be most fit for her putting on of Immortality and Incorruption; so the World will at this Day be most fit to be swallowed up of the Lake and bottomless Gulph. All things that are good, and worth any thing, shall at this Day be found only in the

the City of God: The Gold will be in Jerusalem.

2 Chron.
9. 12.
Luke 22.
44.
Matt. 12.
40.

Again, In that this City is here called by the Name of Gold, it is to shew us how great Pains, and Travel, and Charge the Lord Christ hath been at to get so great a Treasure together: Gold is fetched from a far Country, and that with great Pains, Charge and Difficulty: The Gold wherewith King Solomon made his drinking Vessels, it cost a three years Journey to obtain it: So the Saints also, those golden Vessels wherewith is made this golden City, they cost Christ a three Days Travel in the Heart of the Earth, even sweatingly under the Wrath of God, to obtain them, and thus to build this City with them.

Further, In that he saith this City is Gold, he would have us to consider what the State of the Church was before she came into this happy Condition, to wit, an afflicted, tempted and tried Condition, Gold, as it comes from the Mine, it cometh commixed with its Dust and Ore; wherefore the Goldsmith hath a burning Furnace wherein he having put it, doth with the Fire purge and take away the Dross and Dust from among the Metal it self; into which Furnace he puts it once, twice, thrice, and again to the end it may at length be thoroughly cleansed and purified from its Dross: Now all this befalleth the People of God; they are thrown into the burning fiery Furnace of Affliction and Temptation, and there they are tried, purged, and purified; as the Lord also saith by the Prophet, I will try them as Gold is tried, and will refine them as Silver is refined; yea, I will melt them and try them, for how shall I do for the Daughter of my People.

Isa. 31. 9.
Jer. 9. 7.
Zec. 13. 9.

Lastly, When he saith this City is Gold, he also thereby insinuates how invincible and unconquerable a Spirit the People of God are possessed with: Gold is a Metal so invincible and unconquerable, that no Fire can consume it; it may burn it indeed, and melt it; the Dross indeed doth consume and give way to the Power of the Fire, but the Gold remains, and holds its ground; yea, it gets ground even of the Furnace and Fire itself; for the more it is burned and melted, the more it recovers its Colour, and the more it shakes off its Dross and Dishonour: Just thus it is with the People of God, and hath been so even from the Beginning; The more they oppressed them, the more they grew; the Truth of which will be proved with a witness, when God comes to set up this City Jerusalem: his Church hath been now for many hundred Years in the King of Babylon's Furnace; all which Time she hath most gloriously endured and withstood the Heat; and at last when the Fire hath done its worst against her, Behold there comes out a City of Gold: A Type of which was the State of the three Children, who though they were cast into the Fire bound and in Disgrace; yet came out in the Liberty and Grace of the Son of God. Wherefore let her be bold to say, even before she comes out of the Fire, When I am tried, I shall come forth as Gold.

And the City was [pure] Gold. These Words, PURE GOLD, clear up what I said already: Pure Gold, or Gold upon which the Fire hath done its Work. The Church in the Fire of Persecution is like Esther in the perfuming Chamber, but making fit for the Presence of the King; which Fire, when it hath done its Work, then she comes into his Presence in Cloathing all of Gold: The King's Daughter is all glorious within, her Cloathing is of wrought Gold: And again, At thy right Hand did stand the Queen in Gold of Ophir. Wherefore he means by Pure Gold, Gold out of the Fire, Gold on which the Fire of Persecution and Temptation hath done its full and compleat Work.

And the City was pure Gold, like unto clear Glass. By Glass, in this place, we are to understand the Word of God, as both James and Paul do testify. By clear Glass then, we are to understand the Word in its own Nature and Purity, without the Corruptions and Traditions of Men. Wherefore, when he saith, this golden City was like unto clear Glass: it is as if he had said she is even with the Word and Law of her Goldsmith, in all her matters. The Word is a Golden-Reed, this City a Golden City; and that, a Golden City, taken out of the Furnace of Affliction, and therefore like to the Golden Reed. And the City was pure Gold, like unto clear Glass.

Verse 19, 20. And the Foundations of the Wall were garnished with all manner of precious stones. The first Foundation was a Jasper, the second a Saphir, the third a Chalcedony, the fourth an Emerald, the fifth a Sardonix, the sixth a Sardius, the seventh a Chrysolite, the eighth Beryl, the ninth Topaz, the tenth Chrysoprasus, the eleventh a Jacinth, the twelfth an Ametyst.

Thus having shewed us the Glory of the Wall, and of the City, he now comes to shew us the Glory of the Foundations. The Foundations you know, I told you before, they are the twelve Apostles in their Doctrine, or the (Primitive) Doctrine of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb.

Now the great business in this place will be to shew you the garnishing of these Foundations, and also the mystery and order of the lying of the Foundations, for their Glory lieth in both.

As for the garnishing of these Foundations, it is, and will be at the Day of New Jerusalem; two-fold, and the first is with beautiful Gifts and Grace: Thus were the Apostles of old adorned, and thus shall their their Doctrine again be garnished. I know that the Doctrine of the twelve hath been always accompanied with goodly Gifts and Grace, from the first Churches quite down, that is, according to the Measure of Light they appeared in, and according to the Dispensations of God in the Times of Antichrist. But yet the Glory that this Doctrine had in these latter Days, I mean since the Apostacy, it was nothing in comparison of the Glory and Splendor that will be in them in the Day when this City is built and compleat; wherefore you find, that tho' all along in Antichrist's Reign, the Gospel of Grace hath shone, and given Light to the Saints and People of God in all their Travels and Afflictions; yet the shining of it at that Day was much opposed and eclipsed by the Smoak of the bottomless Pit: as he saith, There arose a Smoak out of the Pit, as the Smoak of a great Furnace, and the Sun and the Air were darkened by reason of the Smoak of the Pit. In which Days, I say, Abundance of the Light, Heat and Operation of the Gospel was diminished and taken off, so that but little of the Power or Glory of it, hath been either felt or seen from that Time to this very Day. This is that God spake of by the Prophet Amos, saying, I will cause the Sun to go down at Noon, and will darken the Earth in the clear Day; and I will turn your Feasts into Mourning, and all your Songs into Lamentation; and I will bring up Sackcloth upon all Loins, and Baldness upon every Head; and I will make it as the Mourning of an only Son, and the End thereof as a bitter Day. (All which he explaineth in the next Words, for) Behold the Days come, saith the Lord, that I will send a Famine in the Land, not a Famine of Bread, or of Thirst for Water, but of hearing the Words of the Lord, and they shall wander from Sea to Sea, and from the North even to the East; they shall run to and fro to seek the Word of the Lord, and shall not find it. In those Days Eli's Sons were become Varlets. deed there was here and there a little Child, like Samuel in his Minority, that now and then would speak most goodly things. But the Word of the Lord was precious in those Days, there was no open Vision. This is that which David in the Spirit of Prophecy complaineth of, saying, They know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in Darkness: all the Foundations of the Earth are out of course. Thus in the Days of the eclipsing of the Glory of these Foundations: But now, behold, they recover their Light, and put on, as of old, their former Glory, and are again garnished as in the former Days. Now will all the Doctrines of the Gospel spangle and sparkle; out of every Text will the Ministers of God make to issue exceedingly most precious and heavenly Fire; for these Stones are indeed the which would set the whole World on a Flame with Love and Delight in the Things of God and another World, had but Men the Spirit of Wisdom, and the Authority of God in their Ministry, as the Apostles and the Primitive Christians had. Well this Doctrine of the Twelve shall be again adorned with Gifts and Grace as in the Days of old: by which it shall also be made to shine, and to cast forth its golden Rays before the Nations to their Salvation.

Behold, saith God, I will lay thy Stones with fair Colours, that is, thy Apostolical Doctrine shall again be garnished as at the first; Truth shall appear in its old and mature Colours, and (as such) shall be embraced, and lived and delighted in, both by Jews and Gentiles, as I have shewed.

But secondly, The twelve Foundations that here you read of, they are the * same with those twelve Stones that long before were set in the Breast-plate of Judgment, in which were engraven the Names of the twelve Tribes of the Children of Israel, the Names of which Tribes did comprehend the whole body of the house of their Fathers. Now then, seeing these Twelve are the same with those on the Breast-plate of Judgment; and seeing also, that those on the Breast-plate did comprehend the whole of the twelve Tribes: I conclude that for these Foundations to be garnished with all manner of precious Stones, it is as much as to say, they shall be garnished with abundance of Converts; Multitudes, and that of all sorts both of Jews and Gentiles, Moors, Tartars, Turks, and those in the utmost parts of the World, shall now be entangled with the Light and Truth, with the Glory and Goodness of the Doctrine of the Twelve. And I the rather take it thus, 1. Because, as the Foundations themselves are said to be precious Stones; so also the Saints in general, they go under the same Names too. As Jeremiah saith, The precious Stones of the Sanctuary, are the precious Sons of Zion: As Peter also saith, in alluding to the precious Stones of the Temple: the Saints are lively, or living precious stones, built up a spiritual House, &c. and the Foundations of the Wall were garnished with all manner of precious stones; That is, the Doctrine of the Twelve was garnished with all manner of precious Souls; that is, converted by it, by which they become a glory and a garnishing to it.

2dly, I take it to be the Conversion of the precious ones of God; because that thus to understand it, is most like the Phrase of the Apostle Paul himself, saying, What is our Hope, or Joy, or Crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye in the Presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his Coming? Ye are our Glory and Joy. Mark; in the Text he saith, The Foundations

* If you compare the stones you will find them (some of them) to differ in name, but know it is usual for one stone to go under two names; and besides, the Greek doth give many things other names than doth the Hebrew text.

Foundations were garnished with all manner of precious Stones, and here those precious Stones, Paul accounts to be those that are converted by the Word: for what is our Hope, or Joy, or Crown? are not even ye they that have been converted by us? Ye are our Joy, ye are our Crown, ye are our Glory; It is with you that we shall be crowned, adorned, and garnished in the presence of our Lord Jesus. Mark, John saith, They are garnished, Paul saith, they are crowned; John saith, they are garnished with precious Stones, and Paul saith, they are crowned with the Conversion of Sinners. Thus therefore as God will lay these Stones with fair colours, so also he will lay these Foundations with Saphirs: that is, as he will beautifie the Doctrine of the Twelve with its former Glory, Sweetness and Authority: so he will crown and garnish it with the Conversion of many Sinners. The Elect are the Jewels of God, and this is the Day of his binding them up, even then when the Antichrist falls, and the Gospel breaks out in its primitive Glory.

Mal. 3. 14, to 18.

And the Foundations of the Wall were garnished with all manner of precious Stones. In these Words, there are yet two things considerable.

First, That all who go to the adorning of these Foundations, they must be precious Stones, not a common Stone shall here be owned: And indeed what should Pebbles do among the Pearls and the Diamonds of New-Jerusalem; or the Stones of Blackness and Emptiness, among the Saints of Light! I tell you, that those which God doth reckon the Adorning-stones, they are all, and every one, precious Stones; they must be all lively, glistering, and curious Stones, though Stones of divers Colours. Antichrist counts any thing sufficient enough to garnish his Apostles with, even the empty Stones of Confusion, the Sinners that have no more Grace in their Souls than there is Sap in a Post that hath been this twenty Years without either Sap or Water: But God will not count such for the Beauty of his Word, nor for the garnishing and beautifying, of the Doctrine of the Twelve, they are garnished with PRECIOUS STONES.

Secondly, As he saith the Foundations are garnished with precious Stones only, so he saith it is with ALL MANNER of precious Stones: by which he would have us understand that all Saints have not the same Degree either of precious Grace or Gifts and Vertue in them; there are some that excel, and differ from the Rest, even as one Star differeth from another in Glory.

1 Cor. 14.

Some Saints, as they have both more Grace and also Gifts than others; so too they are more laborious and painful in the Work of God than their Fellows, and therefore he saith, ALL MANNER of precious Stones.

Verſ. 20. The first Foundation was a Jasper, the second a Saphir, the third a Chalcedony, the fourth an Emerald, the fifth Sardonyx, the sixth Sardius, the seventh Chrysolite, &c. Thus having shewed you the garnishing and beautifying of the twelve Foundations, he now comes to discover the Foundations themselves, with reference to their order of placing and lying.

Touching which order, he saith the first and bottom Foundation is a Jasper.

I have hitherto said that this Jasper in both the two afore-mentioned Places, both as to the Light of this City, and also of the Wall, it was Jesus Christ: Christ illuminating, and Christ defending: But here the Jasper is said to be one of the twelve Foundations, even one of those Foundations in which are writ the Names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb, which one would think did put this Jasper now into another State, even to be a Representation of one of the twelve Apostles, and not of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ himself: To which I shall yet say, that the Jasper here in the Order of the Foundations, is to be understood of Christ, as well as in the other two Places in this Discourse; I say it is yet to be understood of representing the Lord Jesus, though it also doth bear the Name of one of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb: And in this very thing there is an infolding Mystery wrapped up and inclosed.

For First, In that the Name of an Apostle is writ in this Stone, and yet that this Jasper should represent Christ, it sheweth unto us the Agreement that is between the Doctrine of the Apostles, and Christ himself, to wit, That they are one and the very same; and hence it is that the Apostle saith, We preach Christ crucified: Christ in all his Benefits is the very Marrow, Life and Sum of all their Teaching; Other Foundation can no man lay than that is laid which is Jesus Christ. Wherefore the Doctrine of the Apostles being Christ it self, no marvel though the Name of an Apostle be writ upon this Jasper; and again, no marvel through this Jasper go yet under that Name that represents him.

Secondly, In that it is said the Names of the twelve are in these twelve Foundations, and yet that the first of them should be the Jasper, Christ; it argueth also, that whosoever receiveth the Doctrine of the Twelve, they must needs with that receive the Lord Christ himself: Receive the Doctrine of the Gospel, as it is held forth by the Twelve in the Word, and thou canst not miss of the Lord Jesus Christ himself; he will be found in the bottom of their Doctrine: Ye are built upon the Foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Christ Jesus himself being the chief Corner-stone.

Thirdly, In that he saith in these twelve Stones are the Names of the twelve Apostles, and yet that the first should be the Jasper, Christ; It argueth also that where-ever the Doctrine of the Twelve is preached, there is therewith the Presence of Christ: the Presence of his Spirit to teach and enlighten the ignorant and blind Hearts of the unconverted; the Presence also of his Power to overcome them, and to make them fall under the Glory and Truth of his heavenly Word: Lo, saith he, I am with you always even to the end of the World: And they went forth and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the Word with Signs following.

Fourthly, In that he saith the Names of the Twelve are in the Foundations, and yet that Christ should be one of the twelve himself: It sheweth to us the Union that is between Christ and his holy People: Mark in the twelve Foundations are placed all, even all manner of precious Stones: Again, in the twelve is placed the Jasper, Christ; by which we may see the Nearness that is between Christ and his whole Body: In them, and thou in me, saith Christ, that they may be made perfect in one. Christ and his Saints make but one Temple, one Man; being but one Flesh, one Nature, &c.

The fifth
Account.

Fifthly, In that this Jasper is said to be one of the Foundations, and that too the first and undermost; He sheweth farther, that Christ is the Foundation of them before God, that are the Foundation of him before Men: The Twelve do bear up Christ before the World, as the twelve brazen Oxen did hold up the molten Sea in the Temple; and Christ doth bear up the twelve before his Father, as the High Priests did carry the twelve Stones on their Breast-plate of Judgment, when they went to make an Atonement for the Sins of the People, into the Holiest.

The sixth Account.

Sixthly, It sheweth us further, That tho' the Apostles shall be adorned with the Conversion of those that they shall win to the Lord Christ; yet they will never be able to stand under that Glory and Honour unless they are supported and upheld by Christ, as their Foundation. Sirs, As Christ is the Strength of his People in their Work for him in this World, so he must be their Strength by which they must stand under the Reward they shall have for their Labour when this World is ended: And hence it is, that the Prophet saith, They shall hang upon him all the Glory of his Father's House, the Off-spring and the Issue; all Vessels of small Quantity, from the Vessels of Cups, even to the Vessels of Flagons; and again, He shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall bear the Glory. He shall bear the Glory of our Salvation from Sin, Preservation in the midst of all Temptations, and of our going to Glory; also he shall bear the Glory of our Labour in the Gospel, of our Gifts and Abilities, of making our Labour and Work effectual to the saving of Sinners, that in all things he might have the Pre-eminence.

Isa 22. 24.

Col. 1. 18.

Seventhly, In that the Foundations are twelve, and Christ the undermost of them; it signifieth, that all that are converted by the twelve, as they shall be for the garnishing of the twelve, so also both the twelve, with all that they are garnished with, shall be for garnishing of Christ; we shall stick like Pearls in the Crowns of the twelve Apostles, and they again with all their Glory shall stick in the Crown of Christ. And hence it is that you find the four and twenty Elders, which four and twenty do (as I conceive) hold forth the twelve, both in the first and second Jerusalem; I say, hence it is that you find them take their Crowns from off their Heads, and cast them down before the Throne of God and of the Lamb, crying, Blessing, and Honour, and Glory and Power be unto him that sits upon the Throne, and to the Lamb for ever and ever.

Account.

Lastly, One thing more of this goodly Jasper, and then to the rest; which thing is this, that Jasper that here you find to be the first in the twelve Foundations, even that Jasper you find to be the last of all among the Stones in the *Breast-Plate of Judgment: *Exod. 28. 20. as he is to be the † Author, or first of our † Faith, so also he is to be the Finisher, or last of our Faith. 2. That as he is to be the * Captain and Leader of his People, so he is to be the Rereward and bringer up of his People; He is to go before them to lead them the way; and to come behind them to bring them all up. 3. Again, forasmuch as he is said to be last before he is first; that is, last in Exodus, and after that, first in the Revelations, it may be to shew us, that Christ was first to be least, lowest and last, and then to be greatest, highest and first. He first humbled himself to the Death, even to the shameful Death of the Cross; and then was by God his Father exalted and placed above every Name: As he also himself doth witness, saying, Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to have entered into his Glory.

The first Foundation was a Jasper, the second a Saphir, the third a Chalcidony, the fourth an Emerald, the fifth Sardonyx, the sixth Sardius, the seventh Chrysolite, the eighth Beryl, the ninth Topaz, &c. Touching the Jasper, you see what I have said. Now all I have to say to the rest of them, it is in general these three things.

Touching the rest of the Foundations.

First, In that the Foundations are all and every one of them Precious Stones, it signifieth that all the Doctrine of the New Jerusalem, will be only the precious Doctrine of the twelve Apostles; not common Stuff, not raked out of the Dunghills and Muckheaps of this World, and from among the Toys of Antichrist, but spiritual, heavenly, and glorious. He that hath his Word, shall then speak it faithfully, For what is the Chaff to the Wheat, saith the Lord?

Jer. 23. 32.

Secondly, In that they are called after the the Names of Precious Stones; it signifieth also, that at that Day none shall be used or put into the Ministry, but those that have received spiritual and heavenly Gifts from above. 'Tis not every babling Fellow, not those that look for their Abilities from the Rudiments of the World, that then shall be of any Value or Account. He must be a costly Stone, a Stone about which the Lord Jesus hath bestowed the Cost of his heavenly Abilities, even he whom the Lord Jesus shall appear unto for that very Purpose, to make him a Minister: He shall be a Minister, and none else at that Day. The other shall be ashamed every one of his Vision; yea, and shall in those Days be so contemptible, that their Father and their Mother shall reprove them, and count them Liars; yea, and shall be ready to run them through, while they are prophesying in their rough Garments to deceive.

Thirdly, In that these precious Stones are not all of one and the same Nature, but every one of them several, and diverse one from another: It argueth that the Gifts of the Apostles, and so of the Ministers of the New Jerufalem, shall be differing one from another in Glory and Operation; yet mark, as in these Stones, so in every one of them shall be perfect Glory, according to the Nature of God's working by his Spirit; as the Nature of the Jasper is perfect in his kind, and the Nature of the Sapphire is perfect in his. These Stones, some of them are of greater Light and Clearness than others; and so some of the Apostles are chiefest. Some of these Stones again, they are of a more fiery and burning Colour than others, they being bright also, out of a more mild Brightness. Therefore some of the Ministry are called the Sons of Thunder, when others are stiled by the Name of the Sons of Consolation. The Gifts are differing, being diverse, their Administrations are differing, and the Operations of them also are differing, though all these things are from that one and the self-same Spirit, working in every one severally as he pleases. All these things will spangle in the New Jerufalem, and carry their full Breadth and Sway as in the Days of old.

To conclude this, In that he here saith, That the Foundations of the Wall are these twelve Stones; he doth it to shew that now also the former Ministration that was in the Apostles Days will be the same, and in full Force again: For their Gifts of Knowledge, Judgment and Authority, they are such as have to this Day lain buried, as it were with the Apostles themselves; but now they shall shew themselves again, even these Foundation-stones, Stones that are great Stones, Stones of ten Cubits, and Stones of eight Cubits. Thus much of the Glory of the Foundations.

Verf. 21. And the twelve Gates are twelve Pearls, every several Gate was of one Pearl; and the Street of the City was pure Gold, as it were transparent Glass. Having thus shewed us the Glory of this City, Wall and Foundations, he now comes to shew us the Glory of the Gates, and of the Street of the City.

And the twelve Gates are twelve Pearls--- The Glory of the Gates. The Gates, I told you before, they signify Christ, both as he is the way to Communion with the God of this City, and with the Inhabitants thereof, that so they may have a Share in the Privileges of the same. I told you also then, that though he tells us exactly of the Measure both of City and Wall, yet he tells us nothing of the Measure of these twelve Gates, and goings in thereat; and the Reason is, because Christ as he is the way to Grace, he is beyond all measure, both as to Fulness and Freeness. And now again, he puts us to the same Plunge with the unsearchable Riches of the Lord Christ; for who can count the worth of a Pearl as big as the Gates of a City? as indeed, when Christ himself doth speak of the Parable of the Pearl in the Field, he only telleth us that there is such a one, but never valueth the worth thereof, only he saith, a Pearl of great Price, and so leaveth it. Now when he saith that the Gates are Pearls, he thereby insinuates several things. As

First, To shew us how rich a Treasure Christ a rich Christ to all that enter here. Christ Jesus our Lord is, and will be to all those that by him shall enter in through the Gates into this City, Riches and Honour are with me, saith he, even durable Riches and Righteousness. My Fruit (or the Fruit of entering in by me) it is better than Gold, and my Revenues than choice Silver. I lead in the way of Righteousness, in the midst of the Paths of Judgment; That I may cause them that love me to inherit Substance, and I will fill their Treasures.

Christ is rich indeed, both in his Blood, Resurrection, Intercession, and all his Offices, together with his Relations, and all his Benefits; all which he bestoweth upon every one that receiveth him, and maketh them unspeakably wealthy.

Secondly, the Pearl, as it is rich, and so worth much, so again it is beautiful and amiable, even to take the Eyes of all Beholders; It hath, I say, a very sweet and sparkling Light and Glory in it, enough to take the Eye, and affect the Heart of all those, that look upon it. And thus is Christ to all that come to him, and by him to the Father, &c. My Beloved, saith she, is white and ruddy, the chiefest of ten thousand; his Mouth is most sweet, he is altogether lovely.

The Mother of Harlots had some Knowledge of the Beauty and Glory of this Stone, and knew that it had a very taking and drawing Glory in it; and therefore she gets it for some time to adorn her self withal; She was decked with Gold and precious Stones and Pearls, and was therefore called the well favoured Harlot: by which means she hath drawn into her Lewdness the Kings and Kingdoms of the World; who have in such sort been entangled with her Beauty, and with her Fornication, that they have been adulterated from God and their own Salvation: For indeed she used this Pearl but for to get them to drink of her Fornication, that they might drink and spue, and fall and never rise more. But now when he saith, the Gates are Pearl, it is as if he had said, This Woman is stript of her Beauty and delicate Ornaments; the * Pearl is taken from her, and is set in its right Place, even to be for the Gates of Jerusalem. Wherefore it is to be expected, that many should be taken with the way of Entrance into this beloved City, in the Day that she shall be set up, and appear in her heavenly Beauty. The Glory of that City must needs be great, whose Wall is Jasper, and Gates are Pearl.

And the twelve Gates are twelve Pearls.

Christ only can let in Souls to the Privileges of his Church.

Not Pearls and other precious Stones commixed, but Pearl only: To signifie that Christ only can let in Souls into this City, that they may partake of the Goodness and Privileges thereof. 'Tis not he and Saints together, neither is it all the Saints and Angels in Heaven without him, he alone bath the Key of David, and that openeth, and no Man shutteth; and that shutteth, and no Man openeth.

Rev. 22. & 3. 7.

As none can enter in but by Christ, so none can enter in but by WHOLE CHRIST

Secondly, As he saith, The several Gates are each of them Pearls: So he saith, that every several Gate was of One Pearl; of one entire Pearl. By which he would have us understand also, that as none can enter in but by Christ, so none can enter in but by whole Christ. Christ must be helpful to thee every way, or he will be helpful to thee no way; thou must enter in by every whit of Christ, or thou shalt enter in by never a whit of him. Wherefore look not to have him thy Saviour, if thou take him not for King and Prophet; nay, thou shalt not have him in any one, if thou dost not take him in every one of these. Wherefore the Prophet saith, He shall build the Temple of the Lord (that is, by his propheticall Office) and he shall sit and rule upon his Throne, and he shall be a Priest upon his Throne, and the Counsel of Peace shall be between them both.

Zech. 6. 12, 13.

And the Street of the City was pure Gold, as it were transparent Glass. In these Words there are four Things to be enquired into.

Of the glory of the Street.

First, What this Street is?

Secondly, Why he saith not [Streets] but [Street] as of one?

Thirdly, Why this Street is called by the Term of pure Gold?

Fourthly, And why it should look like transparent Glass?

For the first, A Street ordinarily is the Place of common Concourse, and the Place of continual open Salutation, and taking Acquaintance one of another; and as touching this Street, we are also to understand it of the open and common Place or Way of God's Worship, in which Saints salute each other, and acquaint themselves together; also here the World are converted, Saints built up and edified, &c. Wisdom crieth without, she uttereth her Voice in the Streets, saith Solomon, she crieth in the chief Places of Concourse, in the opening of the Gates: in the City she uttereth her Words; that is, in the publick and righteous Ordinances of the Lord Jesus, which he hath ordained in his Church, for Men to travel and trade in, for the good and wholesome Merchandize of Heaven, as the Men of this World do for the Things thereof, in the Streets and open Places of their Cities and Places of Privilege.

Prov. 1. 20, 21.

What is meant by Street.

Prov. 8. 1, 2, 3. and 9. 1, 2, 3.

Thus it was in the Figure when the City Jerusalem was built after the Captivity (as ours shall be at, and after the Overthrow and Downfall of Antichrist) for then it is said that the People, to hear the Law, were gathered together in the Street, even in the Water-Street; there they heard the Sence given, and there they were convinced of their Wickedness: also there they received the Knowledge of Goodness to them, and there they received Power to eat the Fat, and drink the Sweet, to eat and drink and be merry, and to cast away Sadness and Fear. This by way of Allegory is called the Way for the wayfaring Men, even the Way of Holiness, over which the Unclean shall not in any wise pass: The Way in which they learn to know God and themselves, and the Way of Newness of Life, in which every one walks that entereth in by the Gates of New Jerusalem. And it is most suitable to the Matter that went before, to understand the Street to be the Way of God, the Way of Holiness and Newness of Life: because as it is natural for the Stranger, so soon as ever he is entred the Gates of a City, to have his Feet in the Streets of the City; so it is natural for the Sinner, so soon as ever he is entered into the Church by Christ, to have his Feet treading in the Way and Paths of Holiness. Wherefore it is usual in the Holy Scripture to call the Transformation of the Sinner from Satan to God, a Holy Way, and also to admonish him that is so transformed, to walk in that way, saying, Walk in the Faith, Love, Spirit, and Newness of Life, and walk in the Truth, Ways, Statutes and Judgments of God.

the Way of Holiness, even the Way in which Men learn to fear God, and to believe in, and love the Lord Jesus, &c.

Why this Street is called not many, but one. Dan. 9. 25.

Secondly, Now the Street or Way of Holiness, it is on purpose called, not many, but one, to shew us the Perfection of Light, Grace, Faith and Spiritual Comfort that the Inhabitants of this City shall then enjoy. Daniel also calleth it ONE Street, to signify the same thing. Wherefore from hence I gather, that then all Saints shall walk (as before I have made appear) even in one Street, in one Way, and in one Light. It is Antichrist that hath brought in all those Crossings, By-Lanes, and odd Nooks, that to this Day many an honest Heart doth greatly lose it self in; but at this Day they shall be otherwise minded, that is, made all to favour one thing, and to walk one way, not biting and devouring each other as now. And indeed there is all reason it should be thus, for the Street it self is but one: There is but ONE God, ONE Lord Jesus, ONE Spirit, ONE Faith, ONE Baptism, even as we are also called in ONE Hope of our Calling: Now therefore when Saints have the Rubbish of Antichristian Darknes and Trumpery removed; then they shall have, as they also had of old, but one Heart, one Soul, one Judgment, one Mind, and shall with one Heart and Mouth glorifie God. The which also shall be prayed for of all the Saints, even of all that have received the pure Language before these things come to pass. They shall call upon the Name of the Lord with ONE Lip, to serve him with ONE Consent. Oh! the heavenly spiritual Harmony that will be in the City of God in those Days, * when the Trumpeters and Singers shall be as one, to make one Sound, then the House shall be filled with a Cloud.

Eph. 4. 5. 6. Acts 2. 24. & 32. 33. Phil. 1. 27. Rom. 15. 6.

Zeph. 3. 9. * 2 Chron. 5. 13. 1 Kings 6. 30. Cant. 3. 10.

Thirdly, When he saith, that the Street of the City was pure Gold; he alludes to the Floor in Solomon's Temple, which was overlaid with Gold; he alludes to Solomon's Chariot also, whose Bottom was paved with Love, and overlaid with Gold. By the Floor of the Temple, we are to understand the way of Holiness; and by the Chariot of Solomon, the Triumphant Glory of that way. Again, in that he saith this Street is Gold, he would have us to understand the worth and treasure that is laid up in the Ways of God, and of a truly gracious Heart. First for the worth and treasure that is laid up in the Ways of God. They beget

Why the Street is called Gold.

Psal. 119. 137. & 119. 9. Prov. 2. 15. 64. 5.

Light, they change the Heart, they lead from Death, the Devil and Hell, to Life, God and the Kingdom of Heaven: in them God walks, and those that walk there also are sure to meet with him. O this way, It is the way which no Fowl knoweth, and which the Vultures eye hath not seen; it cannot be gotten for Gold, neither shall Silver be weighed for it; the Gold and the Crystal cannot equal it, and the Exchange of it shall not be for Jewels of fine Gold. No mention shall be made of Coral, or of Pearls; for the price of Wisdom is above Rubies. All the ways of God they are pleasantness, and all his Paths are Peace, and ought to be preferred before our necessary food.

Prov. 3. 17.

Again, As the Ways of God are thus rich, and so far above the Gold and Rubies of the World; so also is that sanctified and gracious heart, without which no Man can walk in this Golden Street. It is not every Clown with his clumping dirty shoes that is admitted into Kings Privy-Chambers, and private Palaces: Neither doth, or will God at the Day of New Jerusalem suffer any to trace about this Golden Street, but such as have Golden feet, and that beautified with goodly shoes. For, as for this Street all that walk in it, they must be [golden men] with [golden hearts] and with Graces that are much more precious than Gold that perisheth.

Cant. 7. 1

1 Pet. 1. 7 Rev. 3. 18

Further; In that he saith, this Street is Gold, pure Gold; he giveth us to understand also, what great delight and pleasure the Lord's People will take in his Ways and Ordinances in that Day: There will not then be that Backwardness to do good, and to receive God, as there is in these more dry and empty Days of the Gospel. As Gold is pleasing to the covetous Man and worldling, so shall the Ways of God be to the Saints and godly at that Day. Now we have strong Corruptions and weak Grace, but then we shall have strong Grace, and weak, withered Corruptions. You that are spiritual, you know what an high and goodly lifting up of Heart one small gale of the good Spirit of God will make in your Souls, how it will make your lusts to languish, and your souls to love, and take pleasure in the Lord that saves you. You know, I say, what a Flame of Love, and Bowels, and Compassion, and Self-denial, and endeared Affection to God and all Saints, it will beget in the soul. O! it is good to be here, saith the gracious Heart: Well, and so thou shalt be always, if thou live to see New Jerusalem settled in her own place.

Ira. 65. 17; to 25.

And the Street of the City was pure Gold, as it were transparent Glass. Mark, a Street of Gold like Glass, a Street of Gold, as it were transparent Glass. By Glass here, as also in the eighteenth Verse, we are to understand the Word. Wherefore when he saith, the Street, the golden Street was like unto Glass; he means, that the walking and carriage of the Saints at this Day, shall be like unto, or according to the Word, the Life of the Saints answering the Life of the Word, and Rule of the Lord Christ.

What is meant by Glass.

Jam. 1. 23. 24, 25.

Again, in that he doth add to Glass, the word Transparent, he would have us to understand thereby these two Things.

First, That the walking and ways of Holiness of the Saints shall be more in the Power and Spirit of the Word, than all a long long in the Reign of Antichrist they have been. For transparent Glass, it is the most clear and excellent Glass, and goeth as far beyond other Sorts of Glass, as he that walks in the Spirit and Power of the Commandment, goes beyond him that only walks in the Letter and outward Word thereof. Alas, the Churches of Christ at their first assembling, will be like the coming together of Ezekiel's Bones, cloathed much with Flesh and Sinews, but greatly void of Spirit and Life. Wherefore the Spirit, Power, Holiness and Majesty that now will appear in the Church, it will greatly transcend and go beyond the Spirit, Power and Holiness that hath accompanied her in former Days: Then shall the Sun be asbamed, and the Moon confounded, when the Lord shall reign in Mount Zion, &c. Then shall the Sun be asbamed, that is, then shall that little light and understanding of the Word, that hath been in the Church in the Days when a third part of the glory of the Gospel was, hid by the Smoak of the Pit, be as it were laid aside and be useless; every Saint shall be under the Light of a Sun that shines seven-fold brighter, even as the Light of seven days. We see it is so in some measure at this Day; what Light, and with what Clearness do the Saints in this Day see the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, beyond what the holy and goodly Martyrs and Saints did in the Days that were before us, Hus, Bilny, Ridley, Hooper, Cranmer, with their Brethren, if they were now in the World, would cry out and say, Our Light and Knowledge of the Word of the Testament of Christ, was much inferior to the Light that at this Day is broken forth, and that will yet daily, in despite of Men and Devils, display its Rays and Beams amongst the Sons of Men! When the Children of Israel were to depart the Land of Egypt, the Lord made known himself to them, otherwise than ever he made known himself * either to Abraham, Isaac or Jacob their Fathers. The Book also, at the recovering the Church from under Antichrist, is to be unlocked and unsealed gradually, first one Seal, and afterwards another, and last of all the seventh, before which time the Book will never quite be opened, according to that of the Angel,

Jer. 23.20.

Go thy way, Daniel, for the Words are closed up, and sealed until the time of the end; in which time (which is the time of New Jerusalem) they shall be opened, and Men shall consider it perfectly. Wherefore,

The second Reason why Transparent Glass.

Secondly, It must needs be that the Church return to her old and primitive Love: for what is the Cause of the want of Love to Christ, and one another now, but our want of Light in the Things, Myseries and Privileges of the glorious Gospel of the Son of God? Wherefore this being come, then Love will reign, and have her perfect Work among the godly. Love is the very Quintessence of all the Graces of the Gospel, and is as transparent to them; the greatest of these is Charity; it is the fulfilling of the Law, the Bond of Perfection, and the most excellent Way: Wherefore the Holy Ghost doth mean by this Word TRANSPARENT Glass, that the Height of Light, and the Height of Love will be found in this City; all their Things shall be done without confused Smoak and Darkness, and also without spiritual Pride and Desire of Vain-glory: then shall they indeed do all their Things in Charity, and in the feeling Bowels and Fellowship of the Gospel: Then shall the Offerings of Judah and Jerusalem be pleasant to the Lord, as in the Days of old, and as in former Times.

Alas! though now through Grace, the Saints of God have attained to more Light and Knowledge in the Myseries of the Kingdom of God, than heretofore they had; yet their Light is far inferior to that which will be, when this City is built: Our spiritual Union and Fellowship in the very Bowels of the Grace and Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ also is yet greatly defective. It is said that no Man was able to enter into the Temple of God, until the seven Plagues of the seven Angels were fulfilled: but when the seven last Plagues are spent, and when all the Adversaries of the Church, which caused Terror in the Land of the Living, shall be laid with the uncircumcised in the Pit, then look for golden Days, and not till then; then shall this golden Street be finished; that is, then shall the Light, Faith, Love, and Holiness of the Gospel be walked in and embraced, in a transparent and transcending way: He shall cause them that come of Jacob to take Root, Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the Face of the World with Fruit.

Verf. 22. And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, are the Temple of it. These Words do, in my present Light, point at the end of the Days of this Jerusalem here in this World; and in so doing, they signifie to us, that when she is built, she shall stand and continue in this her glorious State afore-mentioned, even until that Glory be swallowed up of that which doth excel.

That they do point at the end of her Day in this World, I do gather from these Particulars:

First, Because they are the last Words of the Description of her Glory, (that is, these and the Words ensuing, which is but one and the same continued Speech) and it is easy to conclude that John in this Description of this City, doth from first to last, even from the first appearing of her as she cometh out of Babylon, till she be perfect in Glory give us the Relation of it: first, I say, shewing us her descending, then her building, and afterward the Glory of that Building;

Building; at the end of which also he sheweth to us with what Glory he will crown this City, even by swallowing of her up with a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of Glory.

Secondly, Because in these Words he doth absolutely cut off all and every whit of her outward and external Glory; that is, as to outward Ordinances, and Temple-Worship, which yet was to be most famous for a long time in this new and goodly City; which he verifies in the eleventh Chapter of this Prophecy (which Chapter is a summary collecting of the Church in her Fall and Rise under Antichrist, which Church there in her Rise, is this City here in her Glory in this World) he tells us there, I say, that when the Kingdoms of this World were become the Kingdoms of the Lord, and of his Christ, that THEN THE TEMPLE OF GOD WAS OPENED IN HEAVEN; that is, Temple-Worship under the Gospel recovered into its former and primitive State and Purity, in which it was before the Coming in of the Man of Sin: which Temple he here utterly shutteth out, saying, I saw no Temple therein; in the room of which he setteth the Presence of the Lord Jesus, and God his Father, making them to stand and be in the room of Temple and Gospel-Worship, in that manner as it is used while we here live in the Flesh: For the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, are the Temple of it. 'Tis true, the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, are the Temple of this Church in her lowest Condition, therefore much more when she is brought into the Condition that she is in at her rebuilding; but yet, neither in her low Estate, nor yet in her highest, is it proper to say, that so long as she is in this World, God will be a Temple to her, in Opposition to her Temple and Gospel-Worship, in outward and New-Testament-Administrations: Wherefore when he saith, He saw no Temple therein, and that from this Reason, because the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the Temple of it; he must needs aim at a State to which the Church cannot attain until her Lord come: For then will that which is perfect be come, and that which is in part be done away.

Now that the [Temple] in this Place excluded, can signify nothing else but the outward orderly Way, of God's Worship, which the Saints ought with Conscience, in Faith, to be found in till their Lord comes; Consider,

First, That our New-Testament doth use the Word Temple, three several Ways:

1. For the outward Order and Worship or Discipline of the Gospel.

2. For the Body of Christ, which is his Church, &c.

3. And lastly, For the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, which here are said to be the Temple of this City.

Now then, when he saith, He saw NO Temple therein, he cannot exclude the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, for they are here said to be the Temple of it: Neither can he shut out the Church, which is the Body of Christ, for that is the City it self: yea, and the Church shall be God's Temple, and God and Christ the Temple of the Church for ever and ever: He must therefore by this Word [no Temple] exclude only the outward Way of Gospel-Worship, in which the Saints in the times of the New-Testament, both meet and edifie each other; and also meet their God, and are blessed and refreshed by him.

Again, That this outward Gospel-Worship should be laid aside while the Church is in this World, before her Lord doth come to be enjoyed by her, as touching his Personal Presence; it looks too like Ranting Opinions, and Contradiction to Scripture, for me to believe. For when he comes, but not till then, shall these things be laid aside.

Besides, That which yet confirms me more fully in this Opinion, is, Because herein this New Jerusalem doth most exactly answer the City and Temple, which was built after the Captivity; which City and Temple being once built, it stood till Christ our Lord did visit them in his own Personal coming the first time: as the Prophets also said it should: The Lord whom ye seek, saith one, shall suddenly come to his Temple; even the Messenger of the Covenant, whom ye delight in, behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of Hosts: And again, I will shake all Nations, and the Desire of all Nations shall come; and I will fill this House with Glory, saith the Lord of Hosts: Wherefore the Glory of this latter House shall be greater than that of the former, saith the Lord of Hosts: And I will give Peace in this Place, saith the Lord of Hosts.

Now observe, That from the time of the Building of the second Temple, to the coming of Christ, the Worship of the Temple-Order was to be by all most devoutly and continually observed: but when the Lord Jesus was come, and had established his own more honourable and New-Testament Dispensation, then all the former Temple-Worship fell to the Ground, and became (with all the Instruments of Worship that thereunto belonged) null and void; yea, and it was a Derogation to his Gospel to offer to uphold that former Way of Worship, after he had by his own Personal Presence and Spirit, brought in that other Dispensation. All which, I say, will be answered by our second and New-Testament New Jerusalem: For as the old Jerusalem was built after the Jews were come out of literal Babylon, so is our new Jerusalem built after our coming out of the Antichristian Oppression of spiritual Babylon: again, As that City did after she was built, continue and retain her Temple-Worship, until the Personal appearing of Christ the first time; so new Jerusalem shall retain and hold her outward New-Testament-Worship till He comes in Person the second time: After all which, as the second Temple was swallowed up of a more heavenly, and spiritual Dispensation, by the Personal Presence of Christ; so shall also the New Jerusalem Temple-Worship be swallowed up by the glory of the appearing of the Person of Christ the second time; as Paul saith, for he speaks in the Person of Christ, Till I come, give Attendance to Reading, to Exhortation, to Doctrine, &c.

Thus then, when this holy City doth once again appear upon the Stage, and in her own Situation, and when she hath been shewed in the Attire of a Queen before the Face of all Nations, and their Kings: and when she hath by the Glory of the Light of her New-Testament-Temple, gathered, as with a Net, the Number of God's Elect; then she is taken into her Husbands Privy-Chamber, where she and he alone shall be in that blessed Fellowship and Communion that shall not again be once eclipsed, or in the least interrupted to Eternity.

Thus have I shewed you my present Light into this Portion of the holy Scripture: if any can give me further, I hope I shall not refuse it: but as yet, methinks this should be the genuine Sense of this place, and is the very Track of John himself: For after he had seen the Wall for present Safety, the Foundations for Continuation, the Gates for Entrance, and the like; then he comes to tell us of the Glory of all, and of the Street it self at last; which indeed is the last and end of all the Order of God, and to continue till an end be put to it by Mortality's being swallowed up of Life: As is yet more fully shewed you in the next Verse of this Description.

Verse 23. And the City had no need of the Sun, nor of the Moon to shine in it: for the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the Light thereof.

And the City had no need of the Sun] That is, after Temple-worship is over: this Verse is added therefore for further clearing up, and illustrating of that which he said before: there he tells us this City had no Temple, and here he tells us she needed neither the Light of the Sun or Moon: There he said, The Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, is the Temple of it; and here he saith, They are the Light thereof: The Substance of which, in the Language of the Holy Ghost, is this: The Reason why Temple-worship is now gone and over, it is because there is now no need in this City of the Light of the Sun and the Moon; and the Reason why she hath now no need of them, is because the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are to it instead of both Temple and Light: For the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, are the Temple of it: For the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the Light thereof: Whereby we may note, that though the Light in which she descended (being the Purity of Temple-Worship) was glorious, yet this City shall, when she is once built, so advance from Glory to Glory, that at the last she shall be more happy without the Help of that Light, without which she had been for ever unbuilt, than she was by it in the midst of the Fulness of it.

And the City had no need of the Sun, &c. Josh. 10.

The Word Sun is in Scripture taken divers

Ways; sometimes for the true and natural

Sun in the Firmament; sometimes again for Persecution, and the Rage of the Enemy, &c. but I take Sun here not to be any of these, but for the good and pure Word of the Gospel of Christ, unfolded, opened, and explained by the Servants of Christ;

which Sun is the same that before you find to be darkened by the Antichristian Fog and Mist, which was darkened, I say, even to a third Part of it. This Sun, or Word of the Gospel, Paul saith it is shadowed forth

even by that which shineth in the Firmament of Heaven, because as that by its Light and Shining, giveth to those that have Eyes, to see the Glory and Excellency of this World; so by the Shining and Light of the Gospel, is given the Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God in the Face of Jesus Christ, and a View of the Excellency of the things of the World to come.

Now, I say, though while the Church is in this World, and on this side the State of Glory, she cannot live and flourish without the Shining of this Sun, but would be lifeless and lightless, and without all Heat and Comfort (For it is the Entrance of the Law & 119.

that giveth Light here, and that lightneth 130.

the Eyes, making wise the simple) yet at the Day of the Coming of her Lord in Person, she shall see far more clearly without the thus shining of this Sun, than ever she did, or could see with and by it. And the City had no need of the Sun: For when by the Light of it the whole Body of the Elect have found out the Way to this City, and when they have also by this Light accomplished and fulfilled all their Work; yea, when the Lord himself is come, and doth immediately communicate far more glorious Light to this City without it, than ever he did by it; What need is there then of the Light of this Sun? for that is to be of use but for the time present, even until the whole of the Body of the Lord Jesus is come to the perfect Measure, even to the Measure of the Sature of the Fulness of Christ.

So then, when the Body of Christ is in every Sense compleated in this Life by the Light of the Sun-shine of his holy Gospel, what need of this Sun? And hence it is that the Word of the Gospel is called, The Word of Reconciliation, the Word of Faith, and the Word of this Life. Wherefore I say, it ceaseth

when

Eph. 4. 10;
11, 12.

2 Cor. 5.

Rom 10. 8.

Acts 5. 20

when there is no more to be reconciled, and when Faith in all is perfected, and when this Life is put an end unto by the coming in of another: For when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.

The Ministers of the Gospel are of use so long as there is either Elect to be converted, or any converted Soul to be perfected by that Measure of Perfection that God hath appointed on this side Glory; but when this Work is done, their Ministry ceaseth: Wherefore, though like the Widow's Son, they are busy to borrow Vessels for the Oil so long as it is running, and emptying itself out of the great and principal Barrel; yet when it ceaseth, as it will do, when there are no more Vessels to be found, then let them sit down as they, and receive of the Fruits of their Labour, for the Reward of their Work is then only to be enjoy'd by them.

And the City had no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to shine in it. This Word Moon also, as well as that of the Sun, is to be taken divers Ways in the Scriptures of Truth; sometimes for the natural one, sometimes for the World and Persecutors, &c. but Moon here, is to be taken for the Church of God, with reference to her Life, Conversation, Duties, and exemplary Behaviour, in which she is conversant on this side Glory; according to that of the Song, Who is this that looketh forth as the Morning, fair as the Sun, clear as the Moon, and terrible as an Army with Banners? When he saith then, that at this Day there shall be here no need of the shining Light of the Moon, he means that this City at this Day, in the State she is in when she hath the Person of the Lamb in her, then she shall have no need of the Growth of Christianity, for they shall be all perfect; nor no need of Mortification, for there shall be no Sin: they shall not need now as in Time past, to exhort and encourage one another to stick fast to the Promise, for they shall be swallowed up of Life and open Vision: Here shall be no need either of Prayer, of Repentance, of Faith, or of good Works, as afore: And the City had no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to shine in it.

Now, I say, the Holy Ghost is pleased to bring in here the shining Virtues of the Church, under the Notion of a shining Moon; because as the Church herself is compared to the Moon, so her Virtues are as naturally compared to a shining Light; as Christ saith, Let your Light so shine; and again, Let your Loins be girded, and your Lights burning: for indeed while we are here, that Church and Congregation of the Lord doth most shine, and most send forth the golden Rays and pleasant Beams of Christianity, that is most in the Exercise of the afore-mentioned Virtues: take away the Moon and the Night is doubtful; or though the Moon be in the Firmament, if she hath lost her Light, the Night is not thereby made more comfortable: And thus I say, it is first with the World, where there is no Church to shine, or where there is a Church that doth not so shine that others may see and be lighted: for while the Day of time doth last, even the World itself hath need of the shining of the Church; but at this Day, this time will be no longer, because the Day of Eternity will break, and by that means cause the World that now is, even the World of the Ungodly, to cease to have a Being here any longer. Therefore now no need of the Moon, or of the Light thereof, to shine before that which is not.

Secondly, Again, as the Church is in her Sight before Men as the Moon is in her Light in the Night to the World; so as I said before, this City which is called also Heaven, she even she, shall have no need of these things, for she shall be taken up in open Vision and shall be compleatly delivered from all Imperfection; she shall not need now the Light of her Children to provoke her and to stir her up to this or the other Act of Holiness, all shall be done, all shall be compleat, the Lord himself is come. Indeed while Christ is absent as touching his Person, and while the Work of God as not yet compleatly done in the Church, there will be need both of the Light of Sun and Moon, but when the Work is done, and he come, then these Things will be out of use. Thus The path of the just is as the shining light, which shineth more and more unto perfect Day.

For the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the Light thereof. This is rendred as the Reason, why at this Day both the Light of Sun and Moon are needless; it is, because the Glory of God did lighten it, and because the Lamb is the light thereof. Now the Glory of God must be understood in this Place, not of that Glory that doth attend the Church in this world, for that Glory doth attend the Church upon the account of her Purity of Worship of Temple-Worship, and doth either abide on her, or withdraw it self, according to her exact observing the Rule, or declining from it, as I have shewed you in the * beginning of this discourse. But the Glory that here you read of it is a Glory that supplieth this City without those Ordinances; yea, therefore, those Ordinances (as the Temple and the Light of the Sun and Moon) do cease because of the Glory of this Glory that now is come into this City: The City had no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to shine in it (mark) for the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the Light thereof.

Wherefore, I say, this Glory that now he speaks of, it is the Glory that shall possess this City at the end of her Glory in this World

The Life of the Church compared to the Light of the Moon upon a double Account.

Prov. 4.18

* See the Exposition of the 11th verse.

World; wherefore, as saith the Holy Ghost by Isaiah the Prophet, from this Day forward, The Sun shall be no more thy Light by Day, neither for Brightness shall the Moon give Light unto thee; but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting Light, and thy God thy Glory.

For the Glory of God did lighten it, &c. Thus it was at the finishing of the Tabernacle in the Wilderness, and of the Temple at Jerusalem; both which were figures in their finishing, of the finishing of the state of the Church in this world: and it is said of them, that in the Day when they in all things were accomplished, according to the Fashion that was revealed before concerning their Order and Accomplishment, that then the Glory of God [so] appeared upon them, that neither Moses nor Aaron was able to enter in, or to stand therein, because of the Cloud, and of the Glory of the Lord that at that time filled the House.

Thus you see this City descends in one measure of Glory, and is consummate in another measure of Glory. The Glory of the Lord was upon the Mount Sinai while the Pattern of the Tabernacle was giving: but it rested on the Tabernacle when the Work thereof was finished; to signifie, I say, that the Glory of God will rest in his Ordinances and in his Church by them, so long as Ordinances are in use: but when they are needless, then it will rest in the Church without them, and that more gloriously than ever it therein did rest by them.

For the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the Light thereof. Mark; Though now there shall be no need of Temple, Sun, or Moon: yet Christ the Lamb, or the Man who was offered in sacrifice for our Redemption, shall be of use and benefit; for, the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the Light thereof. Wherefore, all that we (who are the saved) shall enjoy of Glory and Sweetness in another World, though we shall not enjoy it from God through Christ, by and in the Ordinances, yet we shall enjoy it through Christ the Lamb, without them; for the Lamb is the Light of it. By this word [Lamb] he would have us understand that when we are in Glory, the Blood, Death and bloody conquest that the Man Christ did get over our infernal Enemies, will be of eternal use to us; because that benefit of Christ shall not only for ever be the Foundation of our eternal felicity, but the Burden of our Song of Glory in all our raptures among the Angels. It will be

Rev. 5. 6. and to the LAMB for ever and ever. 'Tis he in whom will be found the seven Eyes, the seven Spirits of God, in whose light we shall see the Heights and Depths of those Springs and everlasting Fountains and Depths of Glory for ever; and indeed the conceit of the contrary is foolish. Is not Christ the Head, and we the Members? and do not the Members receive their whole Light, Guidance and Wisdom from it? Is not he also the Price, the ground and bottom of our Happiness, both in this World and that which is to come? And is it possible it should be forgotten, or that, by it, our Joy, Light and Heaven should not be made the sweeter to all Eternity. Our Soul is now bound up in him, as in a bundle of Life; and when we come thither, he is still the Christ, our Life; and it is by our being where he is that we shall behold his Glory and our Glory, because he is glorified; For the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof. As he said, Ye now therefore have sorrow; but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoyce, and your Joy no Man taketh from you.

Thus much of this City, her descending, her Fashion, her Glory, and of her wading thorow glory, from glory to glory.

Vers. 24. And the Nations of them that are saved shall walk in the Light of it; and the Kings of the Earth do bring their Glory and Honour to it. After this long and pleasant Description of this Holy and New Jerusalem, the Holy Ghost now falleth upon a Relation of the People that shall be the Inhabitants of this City, and of their Numerousness and Quality.

And the Nations, &c. The Nations of the World, both of the Jews and Gentiles.

Every one knoweth what the Nations are, wherefore I need not stay upon the Explication of that, for it doth in general include the Multitude of the Sinners of the World: Therefore when he saith, the Nations shall walk in the Light of this City, it is as if he had said, that at this Day, when she is here in her Tranquillity, the Sinners and disobedient among the Sons of Men, shall by Multitudes and whole Kingdoms come in and close with the Church and House of God. These Spiders shall take Hold with their Hands, and be in Kings Palaces.

And the Nations, &c. For this Word, the Nations, is a great word, and it comprehendeth much; mark, it doth not say a Nation, or some Nations, neither doth it say few or small Nations, but indefinitely, the Nations, Many Nations, Strong Nations, the Nations in general; only he ties them up with this Limit, the Nations of them that are [saved:] which yet is not so much spoken to clip off the Multitude that we suppose may then be converted, as to shew us their Qualifications and Happiness: as he saith by the Prophet in another place, Thy Children shall be all holy, or righteous, and great shall be the Peace of thy Children. And the Nations of them that are saved shall walk in the Light of it. Surely the Holy

Holy Ghost would never have spoken at such a rate as this, if he had not intended to shew us, that at the Day of the setting up of this Jerusalem, a great Harvest of Sinners shall be gathered by the Grace of the Gospel. But the Truth is, the Scriptures go with open Arms towards the latter End of the World, even as if they would grasp and compass about, almost all People then upon the Face of the whole Earth, with the Grace and Mercy of God. The Earth, saith God, shall be filled with the Knowledge of the Glory of the Lord, as the Waters cover the Sea. As he saith, also, for the Comfort of the Church in another Place: Behold, I have graven thee upon the Palms of my Hands, thy Walls are continually before me. Thy Children shall make haste; thy Destroyers and those that made thee waste shall go forth of thee. Lift up thine Eyes round about, behold all these gather themselves together to come unto thee: as I live, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely cloath thee with them all, as with an Ornament, and bind them on thee as a Bride doth. For thy waste and desolate Places, and the Land of thy Destruction, shall even now be too narrow by reason of the Inhabitants, and they that swallowed thee up shall be far away. The Children which thou shalt have, after thou hast lost the other, shall say again in thine Ears, The Place is too strait for me, give place that I may dwell. Then shalt thou say in thine Heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I have lost my Children, and am desolate, a captive and removing to and fro? Who hath brought up these? Behold, I was left alone, these where have they been? Thus the Multitudes of the Nations shall at this Day be converted to the Lord, and be made the Inhabitants of this Jerusalem; as he saith again, The Kingdoms of this World are become the Kingdoms of the Lord and of his Christ. And again, The Kingdom and Dominion, and the greatness of the Kingdom under the whole Heaven shall be given to the People of the Saints of the Most High, whose Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and all Dominions shall serve and obey him.

And observe it, these Promises are to be fulfilled in the last Days, at the Time of the pouring forth of the last Vial, which is the Time of the sounding of the last of the seven Trumpets; for then this City shall be built, and Lucifer fallen from Heaven; then the Prisoners shall be set at Liberty, and the People be gathered together, and the Kingdoms to serve the Lord. Rejoyce, O ye Nations, with his People, for he will avenge the Blood of his Servants, and will render Vengeance to his Adversaries, and will be merciful to his Land, and to his People. Alas it is now towards the end of the World, and therefore now all is going, if the Lord steps not in with the Riches of his Grace. Wherefore now at last before all be turned into Fire and Ashes, behold the Lord casts the Net among the Multitude of Fish, and the Abundance of the Sea shall, without fail, be converted to Jerusalem. Though Satan and Antichrist have had their Day in the World, and by their Outrage have made fearful Havock of the Souls of Sinners from time to time, yet now at length God will strike in for a Share with them, and his Son shall divide the Spoil with the strong. Wherefore he now sets up this City, puts the Glory of Heaven upon her, provides a New Heaven and a New Earth for her Situation; drives Prophaneness into the Holes and Dens of the Earth; giveth Righteousness Authority to reign in the World; and takes off the Vail from all Faces, that none may hereafter be for ever beguiled by Blindness and Ignorance. Now shall they make merry with the Things of God; now shall all eat the fat and drink the sweet: For in this Mountain shall the Lord make a Feast of fat Things to all People, a Feast of Wine on the Lees, of fat Things full of Marrow, of Wine on the Lees well refined.

And the Nations of them that are saved shall walk in the Light of it. They shall walk in the Light of it.] That is, in the Light that is in it while it is in its Purity in this World, and in the Glory of it when it is in its Perfection and Immortality in another: whence note by the way, that in the midst of all this Glory, or while the glorious Light of the Gospel shall thus shine in the World, yet even then there will be some also that will not see and rejoyce in the Glory hereof: But as for those, whoever they are, they are excluded from a Share in the blessed and goodly Privileges of this City: The Nations of them that are [SAVED] shall walk in the light of it.

And the Kings of the Earth do bring their Glory and Honour to it. By these words are great things held forth. He told us before that the Nations of them that are saved shall walk in the light of it; and here he tells us, that even their Kings also, the Kings of the Earth do bring their Honour and Glory to it. The People of the Nations they are but like to single-pence and half-pence, but their Kings like Gold-Angels and Twenty-shilling-pieces. Wherefore when he saith, that the Kings of the Earth do bring their Glory and Honour unto it; It argueth, that the Gospel and the Grace of God, when it is displayed in its own Nature, and seen in its own Complexion, even then they that have most of the Honour and Glory of the World will yet stoop their Top-gallant unto it: Because of thy Temple which is at Jerusalem, shall Kings bring Presents to thee. The Kings of Tarshish, and of the Isles, shall bring Presents to thee: The Kings of Sheba and Seba shall offer Gifts, yea, all Kings shall fall down before him, and all Nations shall serve him.

him. The Kings shall see and arise, and Princes shall worship because of the Lord, &c. The Kings shall come to thy Light, and Princes to the Brightness of thy rising. The Kings shall see thy Righteousness, and all the Kings thy Glory. Yea, that which hath not been told them shall they see, and that which they have not heard shall they consider. All the Kings of the Earth shall praise thee, O Lord, when they hear the Words of thy Mouth; Yea, they shall sing in the Ways of the Lord; for great is the Glory of the Lord. Thus we see, that though in the first Day of the Gospel, the Poor, the Halt, the Lame and the Blind are chief in the embracing of the renders of Grace, yet in the latter Day thereof God will take hold of Kings.

And the Kings of the Earth do bring their Glory and Honour to it. To it] That is, to Jerusalem. Wherefore this City must be built before they all of them will fall in Love with her. Indeed, I do conceive, that some of them will lay their Hand to help forward the Work of this City, as did Hiram with Solomon, and Darius, Cyrus, and Artaxerxes, with Ezra and Nehemiah, at the building and repairing the City, in the latter, in the Days of old: But yet, I say, the great Conquest of the Kings will be by the Beauty and Glory of this City, when she is built. Thou shalt arise, O Lord, and have Mercy upon Zion, for the Time to favour her, yea, the set time is come: for thy Servants take pleasure in her stones, and favour the Dust thereof: so the Heathen shall fear the Name of the Lord, and all Kings thy Glory. And indeed, before this City is set up, and established in her own Place, most of the Kings and great ones of the Earth will be found employed and taken up in another Work, than to fall in Love with Mount Zion, and with the Hill thereof. They will be found in Love with Mistress Babylon, the Mother of Harlots, the Mistress of Witchcrafts, and Abominations of the Earth. They will, I say, be committing Fornication with her, and will be as the Horns upon the Heads of the Beast, to defend the riding Lady from the Gunshot that the Saints continually will be making at her by the Force of the Word and Spirit of God. They will be shaking the sharp End of their Weapons against the Son of God, continually labouring to keep him out of his Throne, and from having that Rule in the Church, and in the World, as becomes him who is the Head of the Body, and over all Principality and Power. These shall make War with the Lamb: but I say, it shall so come about, at the last, by the illuminating Grace of God, and by the Faithful and Patient enduring of the Saints, together with the Glory that every-where shall now be abiding on the Church and Congregation of Jesus, that they shall begin to receive a Man's Heart, and shall consider things that have not been told them: wherefore at last they shall withdraw themselves from the Love of this Mistress, and shall leave her to scape for herself in the World, and shall come with Repentance and Rejoycing to Zion; nay, not only so, but to avenge the Quarrel of God, and the Vengeance of his Temple; and to recompense her also for the Delusion and Inchantments wherewith she hath entangled them: They shall hate her, they shall make her desolate and naked, they shall eat her Flesh, and burn her with Fire.

Now, Madam, What saist thou? the Kings must come to Jerusalem. Jezebel, thy Chamber-Companions will shortly, notwithstanding thy painted Face, cast thee down headlong out at the Windows. Yea, they shall tread thee in Pieces by the Feet of their prancing Horses, and with the Wheels of their jumping Chariots. They shall shut up all Bowels of Compassion towards thee, and shall roar upon thee like the Sea, and upon thy fat ones like the Waves thereof. Yea, when they begin, they will also make an end, and will leave thee so harbourless and comfortless, that now there will be found for thee no Gladness at all, no not so much as one Piper to play thee one fig. *The Delicates that thy Soul lusted after, thou shalt find them no more at all. Babylon the Glory of Kingdoms, and the Beauty of the Chaldees Excellency, shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelt in from Generation to Generation; neither shall the Arabian pitch Tent there, nor Shepherds make their Folds there, but wild Beasts of the Desert shall lie there, and their Houses shall be full of doleful Creatures. And the * Satyrs shall dance there, and the wild Beasts of the Islands shall cry in their desolate Places, and Dragons in their pleasant Places; and her time is near to come, and her Days shall not be prolonged.* Thus wilt thou come down wonderfully: For in thee have they set light by Father and Mother; in the midst of thee have they dealt by Oppression with the Stranger: in thee have they vexed the Fatherless and Widow: in thee Men carry Tales to shed Blood: in thee they eat upon the Mountains, and in thee they commit Lewdness. God hath smitten his Hands at thy dishonest Gain, and all the Blood which hath been in the midst of thee; God will be avenged of thee, but will not meet thee as a Man. You have cast Lots for my People, saith God; you have given a Boy for a Harlot, and a Girl for Wine, that you may drink. You have made Havock of my young Converts to satisfy your Lusts; therefore, What have you to do with me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the Coast of Palestina? Will ye render me a Recompence? And if ye recompence me swiftly and speedily, I will return your Recompence upon upon your own Head: I will throw it as Dirt in your Face again. And never talk of what thou wast once, for though thou wast full of Wisdom, and perfect in Beauty, though thou hast been in Eden, the Garden of God, yea, though every precious Stone for some time was thy Covering, and thou the very anointed Cherub that covereth, walking upon the Mountain of God, and in the midst of the Stones of Fire; yet because (by reason of the Multitude of thy Merchandize) thou hast sinned, and art filled with Violence, Therefore God will cast thee, as profane, out of the Mountain of God, and will destroy thee, O covering Cherub, from the midst of the Stones of Fire; yea, he will cast thee to the Ground, and lay thee before Kings, that they may behold thee: And all they that know thee among the People, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a Terror, and never shalt thou be any more. And when thou art spoiled, what wilt thou do? Though thou cloathest thyself with Crimson, tho' thou deckest thee with Ornaments of Gold, tho' thou paintest thy Face with Painting, in vain shalt thou make thyself fair, thy Lovers will despise thee, they will seek thy Life.

And the Kings of the Earth do bring their Glory and their Honour to it. Mark, they do not only forsake the crimson Harlot, neither do they content themselves with eating her Flesh, and burning her with Fire, but they come over, they come over to Jerusalem; they are conquered by the Grace of Christ, and Wisdom of the Son of God. They shall make War with the Lamb, but the Lamb shall overcome them; for he is the King of kings, and Lord of lords; and those that are with him, are Called, and Chosen, and Faithful.

Now they shall all give Way to the Government of the King of kings, the Governor of the Jews, and shall with Gladness delight to see him rule his Spouse with his own Law, Rules and Testament; they shall play the Pranks of Jeroboam no longer, in making Calves to keep the People from going up to Jerusalem to worship. Now they shall count him also King of Nations, as well as King of Saints; and he shall wear the Crowns, and they shall seek to him.

Verse 25. And the Gates of it shall not be shut at all by Day, for there shall be no Night there.

This is the effect of what you read before, namely, of the Coming in of the Kings and great Ones of the Earth to this Jerusalem: For when the Whore is made desolate and naked, and burned with Fire, and when the Kings also that loved her, and that maintained her, are come in, and have closed with the Glory and Beauty of this City, then what need is there to shut the Gates? Alas, all the Injuries that the Kings and great Ones of the Earth have done to the Church and Spouse of Christ in these Days of the New-Testament, it hath been through the Instigation and Witchcraft of this Mistress of Iniquity. The Horseman hath lift up both the bright Sword, and the glittering Spear against the Saints of God, by reason of the Multitudes of the Whoredoms of the well-favoured Harlot, the Mistress of Witchcrafts, who selleth Nations thro' her Whoredoms, and Families through her Witchcrafts. Wherefore I say, this Gentlewoman being laid in her Grave, and all her fat Ones gone down to the sides of the Pit; these Kings will change their Mind, and fall in love with the true and chaste Matron, and with Christ her Lord: Now when this is thus, this City must needs be safely inhabited as Towns without Walls, and as a Place near to which there is neither Thief nor ravenous Beast.

Persecutors, while they remain in their Spirit of Outrage against the Church and People of God, they are frequently in the Scripture compared to the venomous Dragons, fierce Lions, and ravenous Wolves; all which at this Day, shall be driven out of the World: that is, so out, as never to molest the Church again, or to cause a Gate of this City to be shut, through fear against them; as he saith by the Prophet, In the Habitation of Dragons where each lay, shall be Grass, with Reeds and Rushes. In the Habitation of Dragons, that is, even in the Places of Persecutors, where each lay, shall be Food for the Flock of Christ. The Dragon is a venomous Beast, and poisoneth all where he lieth! he beats the Earth bare, and venoms it, that it will bear no Grass: as do the Persecutors where they inhabit and lie. But behold, the Days do come in which these Dragons shall be removed, and the Ground where they lay be made fruitful and flourish, so that even there shall be Places for the Flocks to lie down in; In the Habitation of Dragons, where each lay, shall be Grass with Reeds and Rushes. No Lion shall be there nor any ravenous Beast shall be found thereon; but the Redeemed of the Lord shall walk there, and the Ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with Songs, and everlasting Joy shall be upon their Heads; they shall obtain Joy and Gladness, and Sorrow and Sighing shall flee away: according to that of Moses, The Lord will give Peace in his Land, and his People shall lie down, and none shall make them afraid: For he will rid the evil Beast out of the Land, and the Sword shall not go through it more. And my People shall dwell in a peaceable Habitation, and in sure Dwellings, and in quiet resting Places.

And the Gates shall not be shut at all by Day, for there shall be no Night there. This Word Day, we may understand two ways; either for the Day of bringing in to fill this City, or for the Day of her Perfection and Fulness. Now if you take it with reference to the Day in which her Converts are coming in (as indeed it ought) why then, then, the Gates shall not be shut at all. Thy Gates shall be opened continually, they shall not be shut Day nor Night, that Men may bring unto thee the Forces of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought.

But again, This Day of Grace, and of Conversion of Sinners, it must be looked upon, either as the Church is in Captivity and Persecution, or as she is out: now as she is in Captivity, so her longest Day is usually accompanied with a black and doubtful Night of Temptation and Affliction. Wherefore this Day here being spoken of, it is the Day of Grace that she shall have even when she is absolutely delivered from the Rage of the Beast, False Prophet, and Whore. Wherefore he is not content to say, the Gates shall not be shut at all, by Day, but adds withal, for there shall be no Night there: as who should say, I know that commonly in the Day of the Churches Affliction, she is accompanied with Nights as well as Days, but it shall not be so here, Thy Sun shall go no more down, neither shall thy Moon withdraw it self; for the Lord shall be thine everlasting Light, and the Days of thy Mourning shall be ended.

Wherefore John considering this, doth quite exclude the Night, saying, There shall be no Night there. Indeed after this New Jerusalem hath had her golden Day in this World, I say just towards the ending thereof, she will yet once again be beset with raging Gog and Magog, which Enemies will after the long Safety and Tranquility of this City, through the Instigation of the Devil, come upon the Breadth of the Earth, and encamp about this holy City. But behold in the midst of this Intention to swallow her up, The Lord rains Fire and Brimstone from Heaven, and destroys them all: So that Gog, I say, though he may bring one only Evening upon this holy City after her long Peace and Rest among the Sons of Men, yet he shall not bring one Night upon her, nor cause a Gate thereof to be shut for ever. The Sun shall now stand still in the midst of Heaven, and this Night shall be thus prevented by this marvellous Judgment of God; as another Prophet saith, At Evening Time it shall be light: that is, though her Enemies will at last still make, through their Enmity, one only Attempt to swallow up all in everlasting Oblivion: yet they themselves shall fall down dead upon the Mountains of Israel, and be a Prey to this Jerusalem. Thus there will be only Day accompanying the Inhabitants of this City: For there shall be no Night there.

Verse 26. And they shall bring the Glory and Honour of the Nations to it. This, as I said before, is to shew us how heartily, and how unfeignedly, both the Nations and their Kings shall now come over to New Jerusalem. They come hand in hand, not the People without their Prince, nor the Prince without his People; though it will,

and must be so in the Times of Persecution: But now, together THEY shall bring the Glory and Honour of the Nations to it.

Again, I told you before, that the Jews shall at this Day be converted to the Christian Faith, and shall have a great Name, and much of Heaven upon them in this City. For indeed they are the First-born, the natural Branches, and the like. Now when he saith, They shall bring the Glory and Honour of the Nations to it: I cannot think that by this should be understood only, or yet principally, the outward Pomp and Treasure of the World, but that rather by Honour and Glory we are here to understand the heavenly Treasure and Glory that the Saints shall continually pour forth into one another's Bosoms in this City: in this City, I say, for at this Day, as I have formerly shewed you, there will be found no Treasure any where but at Jerusalem; every Saint shall be here, every Grace shall be here, the precious Stones of the Sanctuary, the precious Sons of Zion shall not then, as now, lie scattered, some in the World, and some in Mistress Babylon's Lap; neither shall any thing pertaining to the Church's Privileges, be found in her at all for ever. There shall be heard no more at all in her any Harpers, Trumpeters, Pipers, or any other heavenly Musick in her; neither shall there be any more the Sound of a Millstone to grind us Bread, nor the Light of a Candle to guide us in the House, nor yet the Voice of the Bride-groom [Christ] nor of the Bride his Wife, to tempt or allure any that are seeking the Way of Life, to stay with her: all these things shall be brought to Jerusalem. Christians, you must understand that there is a Time when all the Treasures of the Church are to be found in Babylon, as in the Days of old; but at this Day, when this City is built, not any of them shall be found there, but all shall be brought and delivered up to Jerusalem again, as was also foreshewn in the Type; and all Places shall be void of the Treasure of Heaven, but Jerusalem.

Wherefore by the Glory and Honour of the Nations in this Place, I understand, That all the Treasures of the Church, and all the Graces that at this Day lie scattered here and there, some in one Place, and some in another, they shall be found nowhere at that Day but in this City, in the Church that walks according to Rule. Now the Reasons why I take this Honour and Glory to be meant of these Things are,

First, Because thus it was in the Time of the building of Jerusalem after the Captivity; the Treasure of the Jews, which was become the Treasures of the Provinces of Babylon, was again restored and brought to Jerusalem, as you may see by the Scriptures now cited.

Secondly, Because I find indeed, that the Milk and Honey of the Land of Canaan (which are in our Gospel-Language, the Gifts, Gifts, Graces and Treasures of the Church)

 Cant. 4. it is called, The Glory of all Lands. Now, 11. I say, seeing the Milk and Honey, which is the Comforts of the Church and her Treasure, is called, the Glory of all Lands;
 I take Glory and Honour in this Place to signify the same thing also.

Thirdly, Because also I find, by comparing the Prophets, that the Christians Glory and Honour lieth mostly, even principally, in heavenly and spiritual Things; as in Faith, Love, Experience of God, of Grace, of Christ, and spiritual Life. I read, that at the building of this City, the Jews and Gentiles shall meet together, and that at that Day they shall mutually be Partakers of each others Glory. The Gentiles shall

Isa. 66. 10. milk out, and be delighted in the Abundance 11, 12, 13. of the Glory of the Jews: and the Glory of the Gentiles shall be again extended unto the Jews, like a mighty flowing Stream: But I say, that this Glory and Honour should consist in outward things, or that the Glory that is meerly carnal, should be principally here intended, I confess it grates too near the Ground for me to believe or re-joyce in. Alas, I find that those Souls that have not now the tenth part of the Spirit and Life of heavenly Things, that shall then be poured forth; I say, I find that these Things are trampling on the World, and disdain the Thoughts of being taken with its Glory: Wherefore much less will it be esteemed in that Day, when the Glory and Goodness of God shall in that manner break forth. Again, Can it be imagined that the Chief of the Glory that the Gentiles should bring to the Jews after a sixteen hundred years Warming in the Bosom of Christ: I say, is it imaginable that the great Crop of all they have reaped, should consist in a little outward Trumpery? Or if it should, would it be a fuitable Medicine in the least to pre'ent to the Eyes of a broken and wounded People,

Rom. 11. as the Jews will be at that Day? or if the 13, 14, 15. Glory that the Gentiles at that Day shall suck from the Jews were such as this, would it at all be as Life from the Dead to them in a Gospel Sense; The Church of the Gentiles shall be a Wall to the Jews at their Return, but such a Wall as will chiefly consist in spiritual and heavenly Safeguard, and in outward, because of Cant. 8. 8. that: I am a Wall, saith she, and my 9, 10. Breasts are Towers, on which the Jews will build upon her a Palace of Silver.

 But must this Wall, I say, consist chiefly in outward Glory, in the Glory of earthly Things? or must this Silver Palace be of that Nature either? no verily, but when God hath built the City Jerusalem, and put his Church into such a State, that upon all her Glory shall be a Defence of Heaven, then shall the Jews, by their coming into this City, build by their Experience a Palace for spiritual and heavenly Pleasure, to solace and comfort their Brethren withal. In a word then, by Glory and Honour Psal. 61.

 in this Place, we are chiefly to understand the spiritual and heavenly Things of this City, which in the Times of the Reign of Antichrist have lain, some among the Potsherds of the Earth, some again under the Stairs, some under this Abuse, and some under that; all which shall be brought by the Souls that shall be converted, forthwith to this City the Church, where will be the Treasury of God, into which every one at that Day shall throw in of their abundance; but as for the Glory of the World, the Saints shall be above it, it shall be with them, as Silver and Wood was in the Days of Solomon, even as little worth as the Stones in the Street in their account. 1 Kin. 10.
 21.

Verse 27. And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh Abomination, or maketh a Lie, but they which are written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

I am not yet convinc'd that the highest Church-state that ever was, or ever will be in this World, could possibly be so all of them the Elect of God, but that there would get in among them some that had not saving Grace; the same also I believe touching the State of this Jerusalem: But yet this I do believe again, that the right and Gospel-pattern is, That none be admit- ted into Church Communion, but such who 1 Cor. 1. 1.
are visible Saints by Calling; the Substance 2 Cor. 1. 1.
 of which these words import, There shall Eph. 1. 12.
not enter into it any thing that [defileth] or Phil. 1. 1.
that [worketh] Abomination, or that [maketh a Lye;] which words do principally strike at a People that appear to be loose, wicked or ungodly; of which sort indeed, not one shall here at any time, no, not in any wise, be admitted Entrance: for now shall all the Forms, and all the Ordinances, and all the Forms of the Goings out of the Church of God, and the Comings into it, Ezek. 43.
 be so exactly opened to these People, and they so punctual and distinct in the Observation of them, that it will not be possible that a Canaanite should be here for ever again found any more: This is the Law of the House upon the Top of the Mountains, the whole Limit thereof shall be holy; behold, this is the Law of the House.

And as there shall at this Day be none admitted here, but such as are in truth visible Saints; so none must here continue, but they that continue such: If any of those Stones that are put in for building into the House of God, shall afterwards have the Plague found on them; then the Priest shall command that such Stones be taken away, and cast into the unclean Place that is without the City. And observe it, that Congregation on Earth that admits only of such Persons as are visible Saints by Calling and Profession (though possibly some of them, as in the case of Judas and Demas

8 M

Demas

Heb. 12. Demas, may be known to God to be Non-elect, yet) that Church is holy round about the Limits thereof: Provided also, that if at any time after that the Plague appears, they orderly proceed to deal with them (as here things will be done to a tittle, and a Hairs breadth.) Now the reason why the Church may be said to have some within her that are Non-elect, and yet be counted Holy still, it is because the Church is to judge of Persons by their Words and Lives; they know not the Heart absolutely: and therefore if in Word and Life a Man be as he ought, he is to be accounted a visible Saints, and orderly ought to be received of the Church as such: So that I say, as I said before, these Words of barring out Sinners out of the Church, they are not to be understood as if they intended that those should be debarred visible Communion, that in Word and Life appeared visible Saints that are so judged by the Rules of Christ's Testament; but that such should be from it shut out, that appeared visible Sinners: Those that are Defilers, Workers of Abomination, and Makers of Lies, none of these shall enter.

But those that are written in the Lamb's Book of Life. These Words explain the Matter: those, and those only, shall enter here, that are found written in the Lamb's Book of Life. Now by Book of Life we are to understand two Things in the Scriptures of Truth: First, either the Book of God's eternal Grace and Mercy through Christ, in which all the Elect are recorded for ever: Or, Secondly, That Book of Life in which the Lord Jesus hath all recorded that are visible Saints by calling; for, for both these there is a Book of Life.

For the first of these, I judge these Scriptures do suit; and for the second these with that in the Text.

Now the Book of Life in this Place must not be so strictly taken, as if it included those only that were elect of God to eternal Life, but must be understood of that Book wherein are recorded the Rules and Bounds of visible Church-communion; and so all those that thorough the Gifts and Operations of special or common Grace do fall within the Compass of those Rules and Bounds. Thus it was in the Type at the Return out of Captivity, none were to be admitted Entrance into the Church, but those that could shew their Privileges by Genealogy, and the Records of the Church; and to others it was said, That they had neither Portion, nor Lot, nor Memorial in Jerusalem.

Now that by Book of Life in this place we are to understand that Book that hath in it the Bounds and Liberties of this City, and so every one that falleth within the Compass of these Bounds and Privileges visibly; consider,

First, They that are visible Matter for visible Church-Communion, they shall be found within this City, and yet there shall not enter any, but those that are written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

Secondly, Now visible Church-communion doth not absolutely call for only invisible Saints, neither can it: for if the Church were to joyn with none but those whom they knew to be the very Elect of God (as all invisible Saints are) then she must joyn with none at all; for it is not possible that any Church should be so infallible to judge in that manner of the Elect, as to discern them always, and altogether from the Non-Elect, which cannot be an invisible Saint.

Thirdly, By Book of Life therefore in this Place, we are to understand, I say, that Book that hath written in it every visible Saint, whether they be Elect or not; and so such a Book that is capable of receiving in a Man at one time, and of blotting of him out again, as Occasion doth require at another: which Thing is only applicable to that Book that binds and looses on the account of a Man's being a visible Saint or a visible Apostate: which thing is only applicable to the visible Rules of receiving or shutting out of visible Church-communion; which Rules being the Rules of Christ's New-Testament, it is proper to call it the Book of Life; and is about the Matter of going in or going out of this very City so called: If any Man shall take away from the Words of the Book of this Prophecy, God shall take away his Part out of the Book of Life, and out of the Holy City, and from the things that are written in this Book. O how happy is he who is not only a visible, but also an invisible Saint! He, he shall not be blotted out of the Book of God's eternal Grace and Mercy; when others are liable to lose a Share, not only in Heaven, but to be forever blotted out of the Book that approveth of visible Believers also.

Fourthly, But again, to explain the Matter yet more: In the visible Church there are not only Sons but Servants, that is, not only those that are truly Elect, but such as have received a Gift for the perfecting the Church under *Christ, in his Service here in this World: Now, I say, the Servant for the Time present hath his Place in the Church as well as the Son, though not the Place of a Son, but of a Servant, even a Place of Service, as of Preaching, Prophecy, Administering the Ordinances that are given to the Church, and the like; all which a Man that hath not Grace may do, and that by the Appointment of Christ; thus was Judas, Demas, Hymeneus, Philetus, and others, who sometimes were the Servants of Christ in the Church, and did minister for him to them; yet themselves, notwithstanding, such as were all that time Strangers and Aliens to the Life and Power, and saving Operations of the justifying and preserving Grace of the Gospel: as he faith faith also by the Prophet Isaiah, Strangers shall stand and feed your Flocks, and the Sons of Aliens shall be your Ploughmen, and your Vine-dressers. For verily Christ will give to those that have not his saving Grace, yet great Knowledge and Understanding in the Mysteries of the Kingdom of God, and will also make them for Profit and Advantage in his Church, to feed their Flocks, to plough up the fallow Ground of their Hearts, and to dress their tender Vines: Yet, I say, they themselves shall not be everlastingly saved, for they want his saving Grace. As Christ saith, The Servant abideth not in the House for ever, but the Son abideth for ever. As he saith again in another Prophet, If the Prince give a Gift to any of his Sons, the Inheritance thereof shall be his Sons; it shall be their Possession by Inheritance; but if he give a Gift of Inheritance to one of his Servants, then it shall be his to the Year of Liberty; after it shall return to the Prince; but his Inheritance shall be his Sons for them. Some indeed have Grace as well as Gifts; now they that are such, the Profit of their Gifts shall be rewarded by virtue of their Grace; but as for them that have only a Gift, when the Work of a Gift is done, then they cease to be any longer of Use in the Church, and therefore are forthwith shut out of the same, but the Son abideth for ever. Thus you see that as visible Church-communion doth not absolutely call for the Elect only, but admits, and that by the Book of Rules, all that are visible and open Saints by calling: So also the Lord Jesus himself doth, and will use some in his Church as his Officers and Servants, that yet in a strict Sense are neither his Sons nor Members; who yet are within the Bounds of that Book of Life that here he speaks of, as is evident, because with Christ's Allowance they are admitted into Communion with his Church, and by him also furnished with Gifts and Abilities to profit and edify withal. Now observe, such a one is admitted, though but a Servant, yet not by the Church, because but such a one. The Church receiveth no Man upon the account of Gifts alone, but upon the account of the Appearance of Grace; as of Gospel-Repentance, of the Confession of Faith, and of a Conversation suitable to the same: All which a Man that is not Elect may have the Notion of, yea, the * Power, though not the saving Power.

Fifthly, Further, this which I have said about the visible Church-communion, and so consequently about the Book of Life, it must needs be a Gospel-Truth; yea, a thing for Truth in this New Jerusalem: because, besides what hath been said, there will be found in this City, even at the coming of the Lord Jesus (which coming of his, will not be for some time after the Building and setting of it up) I say, there will be then found among them Foolish Virgins, and such who have not the Saving Grace of God in their Souls: But yet, 1. These very Souls shall be counted by the Church, yea, by Christ himself, for Virgins; that is, such as had not defiled their Profession. 2. And will be such Virgins as have, and hold every one her Lamp, even as the Wise themselves. 3. Such Virgins as were, every one of them gone forth from the Pollutions of this evil World. 4. And so such as continued visible Saints, even till the Bridegroom came; for then 'tis said in the Margent, they cried, Our Lamps are going out. Matt. 25. These, I say, be those gifted People that will have Place in the Church, and so Place in the Book of Life here mentioned, which yet will (though they continue hid from the Church) be discovered in the Day of the Lord to be such, as had only a Gift, but not Grace, and shall for their secret Sins be cut off and cast away, notwithstanding they were visible Saints all their Days.

To conclude then; If the Scripture saith, that none that defileth, or that worketh Abomination, or maketh a Lie, shall enter into this Holy City, which yet is but the Church on Earth; with what Face can defilers think and say, they shall possess a Part among the Church which is in Heaven. Again, If many that have received Gifts from God, and that may be serviceable in his House, shall yet be put out of Doors at the coming of the Lord, What will they do that have been, and yet continue both giftless and graceless, as visibly as the Light that shineth? and that instead of being the Plough-men and Vine-dressers of the Church, prove Thieves, Robbers, Persecutors, and the like! yea, if many that are within the Bounds of that Book of Life that hath the Records and Rules of a rightly constituted visible Church, may yet perish, what will become of them that never were so much as written therein? must they not perish rather? And who so ever were not found written in the Book of Life; was cast into the Lake of Fire. Rev. 20.

Chap. 22. Ver. 1. And he shewed me a pure River of Water of Life, clear as Crystal, proceeding out of the Throne of God, and of the Lamb.

Having thus shewed us this City, her Fashion, Glory, Inhabitants, and the like: he now comes to shew us her Provision and Maintenance, wherewith she is kept in Safety, Life, Peace and Comfort, &c.

And he shewed me a pure River of Water of Life. This Water of Life, is nothing else but the manifold Grace of God in Christ, let forth to the Inhabitants of this Jerusalem, wherewith she is watered and replenished, as the Earth with rain from Heaven, for the good of those that drink thereof. For both the Word Water, and that of Life, they are but Metaphorical sayings, under which is held forth some better

* Heb. 6.
4. 5.

Zac. 13. 1. better and more excellent thing. And indeed it is frequent with God in Scripture to speak of his Grace and Mercy under the Notion of Waters, of a Fountain, a Sea, and the like.

Now it is called Water.

First, Because no Soul can be cleansed, or effectually washed from its Guilt and Filth, but by the Grace of God. I washed thee with Water, yea, I thoroughly washed away thy Blood from thee, and thou becamest mine.

Secondly, It is called Water, because it also quencheth the spiritual Thirst of them that by Faith do drink thereof: I will give, saith Christ, to him that is a-thirst, of the Fountain of the Water of Life freely. And again, He that drinketh of the Water that I shall give him, shall never thirst.

Further, as it is called Water, so it is called the Water OF LIFE, and that upon a diverse Account.

First, Because it is that which recovereth the Soul that drinketh thereof, from the Death of Sin, and the Curse of God, to a Principle of Life and heavenly Blessing. And it shall come to pass that every one that liveth, that moveth whithersoever the Waters shall come, shall live.

Secondly, It is called the Water of Life; because, that from it come all those heavenly and spiritual Quicknings and Revivings, that (like Aqua Vitæ) do fetch again, and chear up the Soul that was sinking, and giving up the Ghost in this World. There is a River, the Streams whereof make glad the City of God.

Thirdly, It is called the Water of Life, because it healeth the Soul of all its spiritual Infirmities and Diseases; wherewith by reason of the Remainders of Sin, the Creature is most sadly annoyed and infected. And there shall be a great Multitude of Fish (of Men he means) because the Waters shall come thither, for they (the Fish) shall be healed, and every thing shall live whither the Waters come.

Fourthly, and lastly, It is called the Water of Life, because that whosoever doth effectually drink thereof, shall die no more, but the Water that Christ shall give him, shall be in him a Well of Water, springing up in him to eternal Life; wherefore he calleth it in another Place, the Living Water, because the Quality and Nature of it is to beget, to increase, to maintain, and preserve Life.

And he shewed me a pure River of Water of Life, clear as Crystal, &c. Mark, It is Water, Water of Life, pure Water of Life, and clear as Crystal. These Words, Pure and Clear, and that as Crystal, they are added upon a double Account.

First, To shew you that it is Grace alone that saveth the Sinner.

And Secondly, To shew you, that at this Day the Doctrine of this Grace will be by it self alone without the Commixture of that Dirt and Trash that for a long time, even to this Day, hath been thrown into it.

First, It sheweth us, that it is Grace alone that saveth the Sinner, pure Grace, Grace that admits of nothing of ours to be in the least a Helper in the Matter of our Happiness; we are justified freely by his Grace, through the Redemption that is in Jesus Christ. As he saith by the Prophet, I will pour [CLEAN] Water upon you, and you shall be clean, and from all your Idols will [I] cleanse you. Not for your Sakes do I this, saith the Lord. Be ye ashamed and confounded for all your own evil Ways, O House of Israel. It is clean Water indeed, it is clear in the Nature of it, clear in the Gift of it, and clear in the Working of it: It washeth freely, thoroughly and perfectly: From all your Idols will I cleanse you.

Secondly, This Word Pure, and clear as Crystal: It also sheweth us, that at the Day of New Jerusalem, the Doctrine of Grace shall be cleansed from all those dirty and muddy Inventions, that Sin, Satan, and the Wisdom of this World hath thrown into this River, and into its goodly Crystal Streams; I say at this Day they shall not come near it, neither shall the Rubbish they have already cast into it any more be there for ever. I will destroy all the Beasts thereof (the beastly Men he means) from beside the great Waters, neither shall the Foot of Man trouble them any more, nor the Hoofs of Beasts trouble them. Then will I make the Waters deep, and cause their Rivers to run like Oyl, saith the Lord God.

And he [shewed] me a pure River of Water of Life, clear as Crystal, &c. In that he saith, he saw this River, he giveth us in a Mystery also to understand how openly and plainly this River shall in all its Crystal Streams and Currents be apprehended and seen by the Children of this City; for in this Vision he doth as it were represent in his Person, the Children of New Jerusalem; as God said to Ezekiel in another case, Thou shalt be a Sign, and they shall do as thou hast done. So here, I SAW, saith John, a pure River of Water of Life. I am in this a Sign to the House of the Israel of God, and to the Inhabitants of this City; they shall do as I have done, and shall also see as I have seen. As saith the Church and People of this City, As we have heard, so have we SEEN, in the City of the Lord of Hosts. And hence it is called an OPEN Fountain, because it shall be no more shut up or kept close for ever.

And he shewed me a pure River of Water of Life, clear as Crystal [proceeding] out of the Throne of God. This Word, Proceeding, hath also in it two things.

First, An implicit Declaration whither it goes. And,

Secondly, A Discovery of its gradual Extension to those to whom it goes.

First,

First, Touching to whom, or whither it goes; it is let out both to the Jews and Gentiles indifferently; and so it never yet was since the Foundations of the Jewish Church; for in the time of the Old Testament it did run to the Jews in special, and in the Times of the New-Testament hitherto, unto us the Gentiles in special. O but now it shall in this manner be extended to Sinners no longer; not now to the Jews without the Gentiles; nor again, to them without the Jews, but equally and alike to both and on them both it shall work alike effectually: It shall be at that Day, saith the Prophet, that Living Waters shall go out from Jerusalem; half of them towards the former Sea, and half of them towards the hinder Sea. By Living Waters here, you are to understand the same with this in the Text; by the former Sea, the People of the Jews, for they were God's former People; and by Hinder Sea, the People of the Gentiles, for they are the younger Son: And because the whole World consisteth of these two People, therefore Ezekiel in his Vision puts them both together, calling them the Fish of one great Sea, to which this Water of Life shall run, and upon whose Fish it shall have a like Operation, even to heal them, and make them live without respect either to this or that Party.

Zec. 14.8.

Ezek. 47. 10.

Isa. 60. 5.

It shall come to pass that the Fishers (that is, the Gospel-Ministers) shall stand upon the Rivers from Engedi, even to Eneglaim, they shall be a place to spread Nets, their Fish shall be according to their Kinds, as the Fish of the great Sea, exceeding many; as another Prophet saith, The abundance of the Sea shall be converted to thee.

Thus much touching whither this Water goes.

And now to come to the Manner of the Extension of it in the way of its proceeding. A thing that proceeds, it doth what it doth gradually, that is, by degrees. First, it comes or goes so far, and then further, and afterwards further than that, till at last it ascends to the height and uppermost Degree that is allotted for its Perfection: All which the Holy Ghost would have us gather out of this Word, it proceedeth, or that John saw this Holy Water proceeding: The which, the Prophet Ezekiel in a Mystery unfoldeth to us, saying, the first time he passed over this Water, it was up but to his Ankles; the second time he passed through, it proceeded to his Knees; the third time to his Loins; and last of all, became a River to swim in.

Ezek. 47. 3, 4, 5.

1 John 2. 12.

First, It is but up to the Ankles, that is, but shallow, and signifies that, first, the Soul is but a little Child in God's things, such as the Apostle calls Babes, Children, little Children.

Secondly, Then from the Ankles it proceeds to the Knees, that is, somewhat higher than the Ankles, and signifieth that the Christian groweth from a Child to a young and strong Man, one that is now gotten deeper into the things of God, and that is able to tug with, and overcome the wicked ones.

Thirdly, After this, it proceeds higher, even up to the Loins; this signifies, that as Grace makes Men Children of God, and his Young Men, so also it maketh them Fathers, and Ancients in his Church; it makes them grave, knowing, solid Guides, and Unfolders of the Mysteries of the Kingdom; these are such as are instructed into the Kingdom of God, and that can bring out of their Treasury things new and old.

Fourthly, It yet proceeds higher, even to be above the Head, a River to swim in, and that such a River as can by no means be passed over. This signifieth our launching into Eternity; our being beyond all Heights, Depths, Lengths and Breadths, in the open Vision and Enjoyments of Grace. For there the glorious Lord shall be unto us a Place of Broad Rivers and Streams, wherein shall go no Gally with Oars, neither shall gallant Ships pass thereby. Thus we begin Children, and wade up to the Ankles in the things of God, and being once in, it riseth and proceeds to come up to our Knees, then to our Loins, and last of all to be a River to swim in, a River so wide, so deep, and every way so large, that it can in no wise be passed over.

Isa. 33. 21.

And he shewed me a pure River of Water of Life clear as Crystal, proceeding out of the Throne of God, and of the Lamb. Having thus spoken to the Water what it is, as also to whom it extends itself, and how it proceeds: He now comes to shew us from whence and from whom it doth come. It proceeds, saith he, from the Throne of God, and of the Lamb. Out of the Throne of God; This Throne of God, it is in another Place called the Mercy-Seat, and Throne of Grace, from which, as always, so now in a special Manner he will issue forth of himself in the Glory of the Gospel of the Grace of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ to the Inhabitants of this City. When he saith therefore, that it doth proceed out of the Throne of God, it is as if he had said, I saw, that from the yerning Bowels of the great God did flow continually the living Streams of the everlasting Fountains of Grace, and that not only to, but in the midst of this City, wherewith her Inhabitants are continually watered, and their Pastures kept always green and flourishing. He, every one that thirsteth, Come ye to the Waters.

Exod. 25.

Heb. 4. 16.

Isa. 55. 1.

Proceeding out of the Throne of God, and of the Lamb. In that this Water of Life is said to proceed not only out of the Throne of God, but also of the Lamb: It signifieth and holdeth forth unto us two special Things.

First, That the Throne of God is also made the Throne of the Lord Jesus Christ, upon which he (as a Reward of his Sufferings and Victory over Sin, Satan, and Heb. 1. 2. all Evils) is set down, and upon which he & 10. 12. sits and rules as Lord and Chief of all & 12. 2. Worlds. He is set down on the right hand

Rev. 3. 21. of Power, on the right Hand of the Majesty on high; as he saith, To him that overcometh will I grant to sit down with me on my Throne, even as I overcame, and am set down with my Father upon his Throne. This being thus, it signifieth that this City shall have her Enjoyments of Life, Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghost, by Virtue of the Kingship of the Lord Jesus Christ, as well as by the Virtue of his Priestly and Prophetical Office. The Church doth in our Days know a little what Joy, Peace and Life is to be enjoy'd from Christ, even through that dark and glimmering Sight that she hath of the Offices of Christ in a Mist; but she feels not yet what Joy she shall have, and what Peace she shall enjoy when her Lord in all his Offices is manifest before her, and when he in the Glory of them doth reign in the midst of this Jerusalem. There are none of the Offices of the Lord Jesus yet upon the Throne in his Church on Earth, though they be all upon the Throne in Heaven: O! but the Day is coming that they shall be all upon the Throne in the Church on Earth, when they shall each of them in its full Length, Breadth, Height and Depth, bear Sway among his People, and before all Men: Then shall the Moon be confounded, and the Sun asbamed, when the Lord of Hosts shall reign in Mount Zion, and in Jerusalem, and before his Ancients gloriously.

O that thou wouldst rend the Heavens, that thou wouldst come down, and that the Mountains might flow down at thy Presence! O that the Day were come that the Smoak should go forth of the Temple of God, that Men might enter into it, and there meet with God upon the Throne, and with Jesus in him upon the Throne in all his Offices. It will be thus thou Zion, shortly, and great shall be the Peace of thy Children.

The second thing observable, is, That as all Grace comes from out of the Throne of God, so it also proceeds, or comes out of the Throne of the Lamb: that is, No Grace comes to any, but through the Victory and Conquest of the Lord Christ: We are justified freely by his Grace, through the Redemption that is in Christ Jesus: And again, We have Redemption through his Blood, even the Forgiveness of our Sins, according to the Riches of his Grace. By which we may gather, that when these things come to be in their own Purity among us; that is, when Grace runs clear without the Dirt and Mud of the Traditions of Men commixed therewith, then will all that hold up false and erroneous Opinions, be washed away: For this River will not only wash away the Sins and Filthiness of those that are truly gracious, but it will also destroy the Heretick and erroneous Person; it will be to them at that Day as the Red Sea was to the Egyptians of old; which Sea, though it was a Wall on this Hand, and on that, to the Children of Israel, yet it destroy'd the Egyptians that assay'd to go through it, as Israel did. The Reason also why we are at this Day in such Confusion in Matters of Religion, it is for want of the clear and pure Streams of this River of Water of Life; all which will be mended when there is but one River to water this City, and that too the pure River of the Water of Life, in all its Streams as clear as Crystal; then shall all drink in all things into one Spirit, and be watered with the same Dew of Heaven.

Thus much of the Water of Life that belongeth to this Jerusalem.

Verse 2. And in the midst of the Street of it, and on either side of the River, was there the Tree of Life, which bare twelve manner of Fruits, and yielded her Fruit every month; and the Leaves of the Tree were for the healing of the Nations. This Tree of Life is the Lord Jesus Christ; and that he is here called a Tree, rather than by other of his Names, it is to shew us how fruitful and exceeding advantageous he in all his Benefits will be to the Inhabitants of this City: This is that Tree under whose Branches the Fowls of Heaven shall now most safely lodge, and find Relief from the hot and fainting Beams of the persecuting Sun of this world, as the Word doth there inform us.

Now before I come to speak to this Tree, touching the manner of its Fruit, and its often bearing, with the Efficaciousness of its Leaves, which here he saith do heal the Nations; I will take Notice of one or two general Things that lie before me, from the standing of the Tree in the midst of the Street of this City.

First then, In that he saith this City hath a Tree of Life in it; he alludes to the Garden of Eden, the pleasant Paradise that God began the World withal; whereby he signifieth, that as the World began with a Paradise, so also it shall end with a Paradise, when Sin and Satan have done their worst: This New Jerusalem shall be the Wind up of the World, and in it shall stand the Tree of Life, as well as there stood one in the goodly Garden, which was the Beginning thereof. In which Paradise there shall be no Tree of Knowledge, or the Law of Works to bear Sway, and to cause that the Sons of God shall be thrust out thence for their eating of its forbidden Fruits; no, the Tree of Life alone shall here bear Sway and Rule, whose Fruit is only healthful, and the Leaves thereof for Medicine.

Now this Tree of Life being in the midst of this City, it signifieth that the Inhabitants of it shall be sweetly shadowed, refreshed and defended with its Coolness, and also sweetly nourished and comforted with its its Dainties: And hence it is that the Scriptures do hold him forth in his Benefits to his Church under these very Notions: As the Apple-tree is among the Trees of the Wood, so is my Beloved among the Sons. I sate down under his Shadow with great Delight, and his Fruit was sweet to my Taste. Indeed the Shadow of this Tree of Life, as always it is refreshing to the Tempted and Weary, so now it will be far more: They that dwell under his Shadow shall return; they shall revive as the Corn, and grow as the Vine, and the Scent thereof shall be as the Wine of Lebanon. Mark, 1. His Shadow will make us return, that is, to our first Love; to the Days of our Youth, to our young, fresh, tender, and flourishing Faith, Love and Self-denial, that we received in the Days of our Espousals. 2. As it will make us return to these, so it will make us revive in these; they shall return and revive; they shall revive as the Corn; as the Corn doth when in the Heat of Summer after long Scorching, it is covered with cool Clouds, and watered with the Bottles of Heaven. 3. As it shall make them return and revive, so it shall make them grow; they shall grow as the Vine, that is, speedily, fruitfully, and spreadingly. 4. This is not all, but the Smell of Saints in those Days shall be excellent, They shall revive as the Corn, they shall grow as the Vine, and shall send forth their Scent as the Wine of Lebanon. This Tree is a perfuming Tree, and makes them also that abide under the Shadow thereof, to smell as sweet smelling Myrrh; it makes them smell as the Wine of thy Grace, O Lord, and as the fragrant Ointments of Heaven. When the Spouse did but touch where her Lord had touched afore her, it made her Hands drop with Myrrh, and her Fingers with sweet-swalling Myrrh. O they will be green, savoury, reviving, flourishing, growing Christians, that shall walk the Street of New Jerusalem! I am, saith he, a green Fir-Tree, from me is thy Fruit found.

Hof. 14.8. But again, As he shall be thus profitable to his People for Shadow and Reviving, so he will be in the midst of the Street of it for Food, for refreshing and replenishing that way. I sate down under his Shadow with great delight, said she, and his Fruit was sweet to my Taste. Ezekiel tells us, that

Ezek. 47. 12. this Tree is all Trees; And on the Bank of the River, on this side, and on that, were [all Trees] for Meat. Indeed Christ is all Trees; yea, there is more to be found in him for the Food

Hof. 14.8. of the Soul, than there can be on all Trees Rom. 11. for the Food of the Body. He is a Fir-

John 15. 1, 2. tree for Tallness, Greenness and Strength; He is an Olive for Fatness, a Vine for

Cant. 2.13. Sweetness and Goodness, for therewith is refreshed the Heart both of God and Man. What shall I say, he is the Almond-Tree, the Fig-Tree, the Apple-Tree, all Trees; The Tree of Life also in the midst of the Paradise of God.

To conclude, Seeing Christ is said to be in the midst of the Street of this City, it sheweth unto us with what, at all Occasions, the Actions of the Saints of this City, shall be seasoned. The Street, you know I told you, is the Way of Holiness in this City, the Place of Spiritual Recreation and Solace. Now in the very midst of this Street there stands this Tree, which being thus, it sheweth us how wonderfully Christ, as a Tree of Life, will be in all the Words and Deeds of the Inhabitants of this Jerusalem; they will walk in Christ, they will talk in Christ, they will do all they do in Christ, or rather Christ will be found in all their Ways, even as the Tree of Life is found in the midst of the Street of this City: they shall walk up and down in my Name, saith the Lord.

Again, In that this Tree is said to stand in the midst of the Street, it sheweth unto us how common and free his Benefits will now be also. The Plumbs, and Figs, and Grapes, and Apples of this Tree, will be open to every Passenger; not a Boy nor a Girl that now shall play in thy Street, O Jerusalem, but shall eat of the Fruits of the Tree that stands in the midst of thee, as of common * things.

And in the midst of the Street of it, and ^{4, 5.} [on either side] of the River was there the Tree of Life. As this Tree doth stand in the midst of the Street of this City, so it also standeth on each side of the River of the Water of Life, of which you have heard before. Now when he saith, the Tree is on either side of the River; whence by the Way note yet again, That both the Water of Life, and also the Tree of Life, they are both to be enjoyed by the Inhabitants of this City in the Way of Holiness; the Tree is in the midst of the Street, and the River runs thorow or between the very Tables of the Heart of this Tree of Life; on either side of the River was there the Tree of Life.

Again, In that it is said that this Tree of Life is on either side of the River; it argueth that they who come at any time at this River for Water to quench their Thirst, and to make them live, they must come to it by the Tree of Life, which is Christ. In more easie terms, read it thus; there is none can partake of the Grace of God but ^{Col. 2.3, 9. Joh. 1. 16.} by the Man Christ Jesus, which is this Tree of Life; for this Tree, this Christ, doth stand on either side of the River, to signifie that all Grace to us comes thorow his bloody Wounds, Death and Victory. I am the Way, saith Christ, the Truth and the Life, no Man cometh to the Father but by me.

And on either side of the River was there the Tree of Life. Mark, But one Tree, and yet such a Tree whose Body reached as far as the River reached; indeed Ezekiel saith faith this Tree is all Trees for Meat, yet not to shew that there are more Trees of Life than one, but to shew that all that can be thought of that is good for Soul-nourishment, is to be found in this one, that is, in Christ Jesus: and it is further evident, that though he faith all Trees, as if he meant many, yet he spake but Metaphorically, to shew thereby the Fulness of Christ; because John doth understand him so, calling it the Tree, to wit, the Tree of Life. But mark again, so far as the River goes, so far the Tree goes, so that where you cannot find the Tree of Life, be sure there is none of the Water of Life. No

Joh. 3. 36. Christ, no Grace; He that hath the Son
1 Joh. 5. hath Life, but he that hath not the Son shall
12. not see Life, but the Wrath of God abides upon him: For on either side of the River was [there] the Tree of Life.

Which have twelve manner of [Fruits.] This word FRUITS, it may be taken two ways, either as it relates to God, or as it relates to Man (for, as I said before, the Fruit of this Tree refreshes the Heart both Judg. 9. 9. of God and Man.)

13. Now if it be taken with reference to God, then it signifieth the compleat Satisfaction that by the Worthiness of the Fruits of the Passion of Christ is given to God for the Salvation of the Church, this City of God. He suffered to finish Transgression, to make an end of Sin, and to bring in everlasting Righteousness; by this, I say, is the Heart of God refreshed, and in this doth it rest.

2. If Fruit here be taken with reference to Men, then it signifieth the Happiness and Glory that those for whom he died and rose again, should receive by this means. His Fruit I have shewed you is sweet to the Taste of his Church, which Fruit is the Effect of his undertaking for Sinners and the comfortable Savour of it in the Soul.

Which bare [twelve] manner of Fruits. In that he faith, the Fruits are twelve, he herein alludeth to the twelve Tribes of the Israel of God; for which twelve Tribes here will be found a suitable Measure of Food, healing Food: I will multiply the Fruit of the Tree, faith God, and also the Increase of the Field, that you may receive no more Reproach of Famine among the Heathen.

Ezek. 36. 30.

Again, These that John calleth twelve manner of Fruits, the Prophet Ezekiel calleth, all manner of Fruit for Meat: For indeed, as I shewed before, there is that to be found in Christ, both for Fulness and Variety, that is not to be found in Heaven and Earth beside. Here is Fruit for Body, Fruit for Soul, Fruit for Babes, Fruit for strong Men, Fruit for Fathers, yea, for glorified Saints and Angels: Fruits, variety of Fruits, even twelve manner of Fruits.

2. By twelve manner of Fruits, he doth also allude to the Apostles, who are called twelve, and are those who have made Provision for the House of God, according to the twelvefold manner of the Dispensation of God unto them, and of the twelvefold manner of Operation of that holy Spirit, which wrought in every one of them severally as he pleased: which twelve were before figured unto us by the twelve Officers of King Solomon (the Type of Christ) which twelve were to make Provision for the House of the King, according to the Season of the Year, and each Man his Month in the Year. Which very thing the Holy Ghost also doth here cast his Eye upon, and that makes him bring in the Words of every Month, saying, it yields its Fruit every Month: For indeed, whatsoever you read of concerning this City, in this Description of John, you find something or other in the Writings of the Prophets that giveth ground for such Expressions. Wherefore seeing the Officers of Solomon were twelve, and the Apostles of Christ twelve also; and seeing the Officers of Solomon made Provision for his House, each Man his Month in a Year, and the Fruits of this Tree of Life are called twelve manner of Fruits: I do take the twelve manner of Fruits here to be signified by the Provision of Solomon's Officers according to the twelve Seasons of the Year, and they a Type of the twelvefold Doctrine of the twelve Apostles of the Lord Christ, for it is their Doctrine that is the Bread of the Church, yea, the Milk for the Babe, and the strong Meat for Men.

And yielded her Fruit every Month. As this confirmeth what I have said before; so it further sheweth us these three things.

First, That the effectual Fruits of Christ for the saving of the World, they are to be had especially at certain Seasons: It yielded her Fruit every Month.

Secondly, It sheweth also that at the Building of this Jerusalem, these Seasons will be very thick and quick; she yielded her Fruit every Month.

Thirdly, It sheweth us also, the abundance of Provision that this Holy City shall then enjoy from the Tree of Life, even all manner of Fruit every Month.

1. For the first, That the Gospel hath and will be especially effectual at certain Seasons for the saving of the Sons of Men: it is shewed us by the descending of the Angels into the Pool of Bethesda to trouble the Water, which as it was at certain Seasons, so he that in those Seasons first stepped in, he only was made whole of whatsoever Disease he had. It is shewed us also in that Parable of the Lord's hiring Men to work in his Vineyard; which time of hiring, tho' it lasteth in general from the first hour to the eleventh, yet so, as that there were vacant Seasons between hiring-times and hiring-times, quite thorow the whole Day; he went out at the first, third, sixth, ninth and eleventh Hour, and not at every hour to hire Labourers. For as God hath appointed out before hand the Number of his Elect, so also he hath determined in his good Pleasure the Day of their bringing in, and will then have them as certainly as the wild Afs is found in her Month. Of which Times and Seasons, because Men are ignorant, therefore they should with all Faithfulness wait upon God in all the Seasons of his Grace for their Souls, even as he did for his Body; who because he would be there at all Seasons, brought thither his Bed and Couch to rest there.

Joh. 5. 8.

Secondly, As by the Fruit of this Tree, being yielded at certain Seasons, we may gather that there are certain Seasons, in which the Word in an especial manner shall be blessed and made successful to the Salvation of many Souls. So again, in that he saith, This Fruit is yielded every Month, it signifieth that in the Days of the Building of the City, the New Jerusalem, these Seasons will be very thick and quick. Lift up thine Eyes, saith God to this City, all these gather themselves together, to come unto thee; thy Sons shall come from far, and thy Daughters from the Ends of the Earth. All the Flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together unto thee (so that thou wandringly shalt say) Who are these that fly as a Cloud, and as a Dove to the Windows. For I will make thy Mountain a Way, and my Highways shall be exalted. Behold these shall come from far, and these from the North and the West, and those from the Land of Sinim.

Isa. 49. 11.

Isa. 60. 7, 8.

Jer. 31. 5.

Thirdly, In that she is said to yield not only Fruit, but all manner of Fruit; and that not only one manner of Fruit now, and another then, but all manner of Fruit, and that every Month: it argueth also that at this Day Jerusalem shall have Abundance of heavenly and spiritual Provision, and of Variety of Dainties for her Solace and Refreshment; always new, I say, and immediately from the Tree. The Fruits of the Vine shall at that Day be upon the Mountains of Samaria, and shall be eaten as common Things, saith the Prophet. Fear not, O Land, be glad and rejoice, for the Lord will do great Things. Be not afraid, ye Beasts of the Field, for the Pastures of the Wilderness do spring: for the Tree beareth her Fruit; the Fig-tree and the Vine do yield their Strength. Be glad ye Children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God; for he hath given you the former and the latter Rain moderately, and he will cause it to come down to you, the Rain, the former and the latter Rain in the first Month; and the Floors shall be full of Wheat, and the Fats shall overflow with Wine and Oil. And I will restore unto you that which the Canker-worm, the Caterpillar, and the Palmer-worm hath eaten, and you shall eat in Plenty, and be sa- tisfied, and shall praise the Name of the Lord. And then shall every one, not only sit under his own Vine, and under his own Fig-tree, but from thence they shall call each to other, to give to each other their Dainties, and none shall make them afraid.

to 26.

And the Leaves of the Tree were for the healing of the Nations. By Leaves here, we may understand the blessed and precious Promises, Consolations and Encouragements, that by virtue of Christ's undertaking for us, we have every where growing upon the New Covenant; which Promises and Encouragements, they are and will be most freely handed to the wounded Conscience that will be tossed upon the restless Waves of Doubt and Unbelief, as was the Olive-Leaf by the Dove brought home to Noah, when he was tossed upon the Waves of that outrageous Flood that then did drown the World.

But again, by this Word, the Leaves, you may conceive, that still he hath his Eye to the Paradise, in which at first God placed Adam and his Companion, for 'twas to Leaves they fled for Covering, after they had transgressed against their Maker. Now then, in his saying the Leaves are for healing, it is as if he had said, the Paradise that will be towards the latter End of the World, will far outstrip the Paradise that first was planted in the Beginning thereof; for as the Tree of Life, which is the Christ and Saviour, shall stand where did the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, which is the old Covenant and Law of Works: So the Leaves of this Tree shall be for healing, and for covering the Nakedness of poor Transgressors; though the Leaves that Adam found in the first Paradise, do what he could, did leave him naked.

Christ's Leaves are better than Adam's Aprons. Ezekiel saith, that these Leaves are for Medicine, that is, they are for healing, saith John; the which may most fitly be applied to the blessed Promise of Grace: For as a Leaf for Medicine, when applied to a Sore in the Body, doth supple, mollify and heal the Wound; so the Word of Promise, when rightly applied to the Soul, it doth supple, mollify and heal the wounded Conscience: He sent his Word and healed them, and delivered them from their Distractions. O that Men would praise the Lord for his Goodness, and for his wondrous Works to the Children of Men!

Ezek. 47. 12.

Psal. 107. 20, 21.

And the Leaves, &c. There is yet another Mystery lieth in these Words.

He doth not say, And the Fruits thereof are for the Healing of the Nations; but the Leaves, by which he would have us to understand, that all the Benefits and Privileges that we do here receive from Christ, they are as inferior to the Glory we shall have from him when we come to Heaven, as inferior, I say, as the Leaves are to the Fruit.

Again, The Comfort and Sweetness that at any time we receive from the Lord, it is not before, but after a Promise is suitably applied, even as the Fruit of the Tree with which the Body is comforted, is not before, but after the Leaves have put forth themselves. Wherefore Christ might well say to Nathaniel (and that after he had received some Refreshments from a Leaf)

John 1. 50

2 Cor. 4.

17.

Thou shalt see greater things than these; and Paul, That yet a far more exceeding and eternal weight of Glory is laid up for all Believers: for indeed, indeed, the Glory that God hath prepared for us against the Day of God, it doth, and will more outstrip the most high Enjoyment of the highest Saint in New Jerusalem (notwithstanding their Enjoyment will be so eminent) than doth the sweetest Fruit outstrip the Leaf that hangeth on that Tree. And the Leaves of the Tree were for the Healing of the Nations.

If the Leaves be so good, O Lord, let us enjoy the Fruit; and not a little, or earnest, but the whole Harvest thereof in thy Kingdom.

Thus much touching this Water and Tree of Life.

Ver. 3. And there shall be no more Curse, but the Throne of God shall be in it, and his Servants shall serve him. This is the Conclusion of the whole Discourse, and it sheweth unto us the blessed Effect of the blessed Recovering of this City to her first and primitive State. These Words therefore, they are only applicable to this state of the Church.

For there hath no State of the Church been yet in the World, but that State hath been liable to a Curse; but this State, to wit, the State she will be in at her building again, will be a State without parallel, a State properly her own. And there shall be no more Curse.

By Curse in this Place we are chiefly to understand; not the taking away of the Curse, the eternal Curse which separates between God and the Soul for ever, for so the Curse in this Sense hath always been taken away, by vertue of the Terms, the general Terms of the New Covenant, and that in common for every Saint in all Ages:

But by Curse here, we are to understand that, or those Curses that do, and have frequently befallen the Church for her Sin and Apostacy; as namely, the giving up his People to their own Darkness and Ignorance; his suffering them to swerve from his true Worship and Ordinances; his giving them up into the Hand of those that hate them, to become among them a Hissing, a Taunt, a Reproach, and a By word, as it is at this Day: his taking away from them the Means, to wit, the outward Word of the Gospel, and suffering them to be even at the point to famish for the want thereof. These and other things are the Curses that he here saith shall be no more among his People; for indeed they shall not, because the Gospel-pattern shall never be removed more, nor their Light to see, nor their Love to practise, never be diminished more; Their Defence, also, shall be the Munition of Rocks; Bread shall be given them, and their Waters shall be sure: As here, you find the Tree and River of the Water of Life, are fixed now in the midst of this City. Wherefore now the Church (as I have all along shewed you) shall have her Sun at the height, her Light as the Light of seven Days, and shall go no more down for ever: Also she shall never be pulled down: She shall be a Tabernacle that shall never be pulled down, neither shall one of the Cards thereof be loosed, or one of her Stakes again removed. There shall be no more Curse.

But the Throne of God shall be in it. Indeed, here lieth the Reason of all Blessedness to any People, even the Presence of God. Now the Presence of God is with his People, either at Times and Seasons, or all together: He will not be to this City a God of Times and Seasons, even like a way-faring Man that tarries but for a Night, as he used to be to his People of old, but here he will abide, rest and dwell, I will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, and my House shall be built in it, saith the Lord: And again, I will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem for ever: wherefore John considering this, he saith, there shall be here no more any Curse, but the Throne of God. God will now, when he returneth to Jerusalem, bring his Seat with him, to signify his sitting down in the midst of his People, to be their Company-keeper for ever.

But the Throne of God shall be in it. By this Word Throne, we are to understand, yet further, these particular things.

First, How blessed a State this City will be in at all times, for the Answer of Prayer; the Throne of God will be in the midst of them: the Throne of Grace, the Mercy-Seat, they will be open now to all the Inhabitants of this City; yea, the Fame thereof shall so spread that it shall be rumoured among all Nations, that in Jerusalem God will be found speedily; that in Jerusalem the God of Heaven and eternal Mercy is found at all times by them that seek his Face. My House, saith he, shall be called a House of Prayer for all Nations. Yea, many People, and strong Nations shall at that Day come to seek the Lord at Jerusalem, and to pray before the Lord. And at that Day, the very Fasts of the House of God, shall be to the House of Judah, Joy and Gladness, and cheerful Feasts; therefore Love, Truth and Peace.

Secondly, The Throne of God being now established in this City, what a Government, what Rule, what a Life of Holiness and Godliness, what Dread and Majesty

How to an Hairs breadth will he command and guide them with his Eye at all times, when they should either turn to the Right hand or to the Left: What Wisdom (I say) what Holiness, what Grace and Life will be found in all their Words and Actions? The Throne of God is among them, from which there will come continual Influence, Light and Splendor into all their Hearts. Hear the Word of the Lord; O ye Nations, and declare it in the Isles afar off. He that scattered Jacob will gather him, and keep him as a Shepherd doth his Sheep: for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the Hand of him that is stronger than he. Therefore they shall come and sing in the Height of Zion, and shall flow together to the Goodness of the Lord, for Wheat, and for Wine, and for Oyl, and for the young of the Flock, and of the Herd; and their Soul shall be as a watered Garden, and they shall not sorrow any more at all.

Jer. 31. 10, to 14.

Thirdly, The Throne of God being in this City, there is also thereby discovered what Sway and commanding an Authority this City will have at this Day, (as I have already shewed you) over all the Earth: The Lord shall roar out of Zion, and shall utter his Voice from Jerusalem, and the Heavens and the Earth shall shake; but the Lord shall be the Hope of his People, and the Strength of the Children of Israel. This was figured forth by the Throne of Solomon, in the Days when that City was in its Prosperity; which Throne, to shew the Majesty and commanding Awe that then that City had over all both far and near; it had for the Bearers of the Steps twelve Lions, six on this side, and six on that side of the Throne. This City shall then be the Head and Chief, but the Tail and Reproach no more: Glorious things are spoken of thee, O City of God.

And his Servants shall serve him. That is, him only: Indeed his Servants serve him always, but yet withal they do too too often serve with the Wills and Lusts of Men even in their Service and worshipping God; that is, they serve him in much Affliction, Temptation, Fear and Persecution; but then they shall serve him without any of these: Yea, they shall take them Captives; whose Captives they were, and they shall rule over their Oppressors. And it shall come to pass in that Day (O City) that the Lord shall give thee [REST] from thy Sorrow, and from the hard Bondage wherein thou wast made to serve, and thou shalt serve the Lord thy God without fear, in Holiness and Righteousness before him all the Days of thy Life.

And they shall see his Face. This also argueth a very great Dispensation of Grace and Mercy to this Jerusalem. When God did deliver up his People into the Hand of the King of Babylon, he said, it should be done in fury and in anger, and that for their wickedness he would hide his Face from his City. Wherefore by the sight of his Face here, we are to understand that glorious visible appearance of God that then will be for this City and People in the Face of all the World. For by the Face of God, we are to understand the Discovery of his Severity, Providences, and wonderful Outgoings among the Sons of Men; as also the glorious breaking forth of Grace, Mercy and Forgiveness thorow Christ Jesus, all which the People of God shall then most marvellously see and behold.

Sometimes he saith, he will write his Fear and Law in their Hearts and Minds. Which Fear and Law is all one with that which in this Place he calleth his Name in their Foreheads. The Forehead of a Man is the Place above all parts of the Body, that is most naked and plain to be beheld of all that pass by; wherefore when he saith, their Father's Name shall be in their Foreheads; it is as if he had said, The Profession of my People shall now be open, and the Beauty of it apparent to all Beholders; I will make them, saith God, a Name and a Praise among all the People of the Earth, when I turn back your Captivity before your Eyes.

Zeph. 3.

Every Face shall then shine with Oyl, as well as every Heart be replenished with Milk and Wine. This was held forth by the Memorial that the Israelites were to wear at God's Command, between their Eyes: which Memorial, was the Doctrine of Unleavened Bread, and of the Paschal Lamb the Doctrine of Faith and Holiness. Wherefore by Name here, he means the Faith and Holiness of the Gospel, which in those Days shall walk openly with Honour, with Reverence and Esteem before all Men. At this Day the World will, as I have said, be so far off from opposing and persecuting, that they shall wonder, and tremble, and fear before this People; yea, be taken, affected, and pleased with the Welfare of this Beloved.

'Twill be then always Summer, always Sun-shine, always pleasant, green, fruitful and beautiful to the Sons of God. And it shall come to pass in that Day that the Mountains shall drop new Wine, and the Hills shall flow with Milk, and all the Rivers of Judah shall flow with Water; and a Fountain shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the Valley of Shittim; and Judah shall dwell for ever, even from Generation to Generation. And the Name of the City shall be from that Day, THE LORD IS THERE. [Oh Blessedness!] And he said unto me, These Sayings are faithful and true. And the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to shew unto his Servants things that MUST SHORTLY be done.*

Let thy Work appear unto thy Servants, and thy Glory to their Children; and let the Beauty of the Lord our God be upon us, and establish thou the Work of our Hands; yea, the Work of our Hands, establish thou it. Amen.*

T H E Resurrection of the DEAD, A N D ETERNAL JUDGMENT:

O R,

The TRUTH of the RESURRECTION of the BODIES, both of Good and Bad at the last Day: Asserted and proved by God's Word. Also the Manner and Order of their coming forth of their Graves; as also, with what Bodies they do arise. Together, with a DISCOURSE of the last Judgment, and the final Conclusion of the whole World.

Courteous Reader,

THOUGH this be a small Treatise, yet it doth present thee with things of the greatest, and most weighty Concernment, even with a Discourse of Life and Death to Eternity: Opening, and clearing, by the Scriptures of God, that the Time is at Hand, when, when there shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and Unjust; even of the Bodies of both, from the Graves where they are, or shall be, at the Approach of that Day.

Thou hast also in these few Lines, the Order and Manner of the rising of these two Sorts of People, wherein is shewed thee with what Body they shall then rise; as also their States and Condition at this Day, with great Clearness.

For here thou shalt see the Truth and Manner of the terrible Judgment, the opening of the Books, the examining of Witnesses, with a final Conclusion upon Good and Bad. Which I hope, will be profitable to thy Soul that shall read it. For if thou art godly, then here is that which will through God's Blessing, encourage thee to go on in the Faith of the Truth of the Gospel; but if thou art ungodly, then here thou mayst meet with Conviction; yea, and that of what will be, without fail, thy end at the end of the World: whether thou continue in thy Sins or repent. If thou continue in them, Blackness and Darknes, and everlasting Destruction: but if thou repent and believe the Gospel, then Light and Life, and Joy and Comfort, and Glory, and Happiness, and that to Eternity.

Wherefore let me here beg these things at thy Hand.

First, That thou take heed of that Spirit of Mockery, that saith, Where is the Promise of his Coming?

Secondly, Take heed that thy Heart be not overcharged with Surfeiting and Drunkenness, and the Cares of this Life, and so that Day come upon thee unawares.

Thirdly, But be diligent in making thy Calling and Election sure; that thou in the Day, of which thou shalt read more in this Book, be not found without that glorious Righteousness that will then stand thee in stead, and present thee before his glorious Presence, with exceeding Joy; to him be Glory in the Church by Christ Jesus, World without end. Amen.

John Bunyan.

ACTS XXIV. 14, 15.

But this I confess unto thee, that after the Way which they call Heresy, so worship I the God of my Father, believing all things that are written in the Law and the Prophets, and have Hope towards God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and Unjust.

MY Discourse upon this Text, will chiefly concern the Resurrection of the Dead; Wherefore to that I shall immediately apply myself, not meddling with what else is couched in the Words.

You see here that Paul being upon his Arraignment, accused of many things, by some that were violent for his Blood; and being licensed to speak for himself by the then Heathen Magistrate; he doth in few Words tell them, that as touching the Crimes wherewith they charged him, he was utterly faultless, only this he confessed, That after that way which they call Heresy, so he worshipped the God of his Fathers; believing all things that are written in the Law and the Prophets, and that he had the same Hope towards God, which they themselves did allow that there should be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and Unjust.

Whence note by the Way, That an hypocritical People will persecute the Power of those Truths in others which themselves in Words profess. I have Hopes towards God, and that such a Hope which themselves do allow, and yet I am this Day, and that for this very thing persecuted by them.

But to come to my Purpose, there shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, &c. By these Words the Apostle sheweth us what was the Substance of his Doctrine, to wit, that there should be a Resurrection of the Dead; and by these Words also, what was the great Argument with his Soul, to carry him through these Temptations, Afflictions, Reproaches, and Necessities he met with in this World, even the Doctrine of a Resurrection. I have Hope towards God, saith he, and there is my Mind fixed, for there shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and Unjust. The reason why I cannot do what these Jews would have me, also why I cannot live as do the Gentiles, it is, because I have in my Soul, the Faith of the Resurrection. This is the Doctrine, I say, which makes me fear to offend, and that is as an Under-girder to my Soul, whereby I am kept from Destruction and Confusion, under all the Storms and Tempests I here go through. In a Word, this is it that hath more Awe upon my Conscience, than all the Laws of Men, with all the Penalties they inflict. And herein do I exercise myself to have always a Conscience void of Offence, both towards God and to-

Ver. 17.

Now here, seeing this Doctrine of the Resurrection of the Dead, hath that Power 5.

Luke 21.
34, 35.

both to bear up and to awe; both to encourage and to keep within Compass, the Spirit and Body of the People of God: It will be requisite, and profitable for us, to enquire into the true Meaning and Nature of this Word, the Resurrection of the Dead.

And for the better compassing of this Matter, I shall briefly enquire,

First, What in this Place is meant by the Dead.

Secondly, What is meant by the Resurrection.

Thirdly, Why the Apostle doth here speak of the Resurrection of the Dead, as of a thing yet to come, there shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just, and Unjust.

For the First, The Dead in Scripture go under a five-fold Consideration, as,

1. Such as die a natural Death, or as when a Man ceaseth to be any more in this World, as David, whom Peter tells us, is both dead and buried, and his Sepulchre remaineth with us to this Day.
Acts 2. 29.

2. There is a People that are reckoned Dead in Trespasses and Sins, as those are who never yet were translated from Darkness to Light, and from the Power of Satan to God. Such I say who yet never felt the Power of the Word and Spirit of God, to raise them from that State, to walk with him in the Regeneration; making a Life out of Christ, and his present Benefits.
Eph. 2. 1, 2. John 5. 25.

3. There is a Death seizeth Men often after some measure of Light received from God, and some Profession of the Gospel of Christ. These, for the Certainty of their Damnation, are said to be dead, dead; twice dead, and plucked up by the Roots.
Jude 12.

4. There is in Scripture mention made of a Death to sin, and the Lusts of the Flesh; this Death is the Beginning of true Life and Happiness, and is a certain Fore-runner of a Share in Christ, and with him in another World.
Rom. 6. 6, to 9. 2 Tim. 2. 11.

5. Lastly, there is also in the Word, a relation of eternal Death. This is the Death that those are in, and swallowed up of, that go out of this World Godless, Christless, and Graceless; dying in Sin, and so under the Curse of the dreadful God, who, I say, because they have missed of the Lord Jesus Christ, the Saviour in this Day of Grace; are fallen into the Gulf and Jaws of eternal Death and Misery, in the Fire that never shall be quenched.
Mark 9. 43, 44. Luke 16. 23 to 27.

Now then, seeing there is Death, or to be dead, taken under so many Considerations in the Scripture; it is evident, that to be dead in Christ, the Text is not meant of them all: I then must distinguish and enquire, which of these Deaths it is, that here the Apostle did look for a Resurrection from.

First then, it cannot be meant a Resurrection from eternal Death, for from that there is no Redemption.
Psalm 49. 38.

Secondly, Neither is it a Resurrection from that double Death; for they that are in that are past Recovery also.

Thirdly, And as for those that are dead to Sin, it is Nonsense to say there shall, or can be a Resurrection from that; for that itself is a Resurrection. Which Resurrection also the Apostle had then passed through. Col. 2. 12. And also all the Brethren, as he saith, You hath he quickned, who were dead in Trespasses and Sins: And again, If ye then be risen with Christ: And again, Wherein also ye are risen with him through the Faith of the Operation of God, who raised him from the Dead. Col. 3. 1.

Lastly, The Dead therefore in this Scripture, must be understood of those that have departed this Life, that have Body and Soul separated each from the other; and so the Resurrection, a Resurrection of the Body out of the Grave; as Daniel saith, Many that sleep in the Dust of the Earth shall arise: And again, the Hour is coming, when all that are in their Graves shall hear his Voice, and shall come forth, &c. Dan. 12. 2. John 5. 28.

The Resurrection of the Just then, is the rising of the Bodies of the Just, and the Resurrection of the Unjust, the rising of their Bodies at the last Judgment. This also is the Meaning of that saying of Paul to Agrippa, I stand, saith he, and am judged, for the Hope of the Promise made unto our Fathers: which Promise at first began to be fulfilled in the Resurrection of the Body of Christ, and hath its Accomplishment, when the Dead, small and great, are raised out of their Graves: Wherefore though Paul saith, It is already fulfilled; yet here he saith, He hopes it shall come. Which Promise, saith he, our Twelve Tribes instantly serving God Day and Night, hope to come, as God told Daniel, saying, Go thy way, for thou shalt stand in thy lot at the end of the days.
Acts 13. 32, 33. Dan. 12. 13.

Christ is already risen, and therefore so far the Promise is fulfilled, but his Saints are yet in their Graves, and therefore that part of the fulfilling of it is yet to come, as he saith, Why should it be an incredible thing with you, that God should raise the dead? Acts 26. 8.

Again, That it is the Resurrection of the dead Bodies of both Saints and Sinners that is here inserted, is further evident, because the Apostle saith, it is the Resurrection, that the very Pharisees themselves allowed. I have hope towards God, saith he, which themselves also allow, then what that Hope is, he in the next Words sheweth, namely, That there shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, &c. Now we know, that the Pharisees did not allow of a Resurrection from a State of Nature to a State of Grace, which is the same with the New Birth; but did confidently allow and teach, that they were the Children of Abraham according to the Flesh. Yea, when any of them began to adhere, or incline to Christ's Doctrine

John 3. 1. Doctrine in some things, yet the Doctrine to 10. of the New Birth, or of being raised from John 8. a State of Nature to a State of Grace, they 31 to 36. would very much stick at: though in the Acts 23. mean time, they utterly were against the 6, 7, 8. Doctrine of the Sadducees, which denied the Resurrection of the Body.

Further, the Resurrection here spoken of must needs be the Resurrection of the Body, because it is called, a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the just and unjust; that is, of both Saints and Sinners, according to the Saying of Christ, The Hour is coming, when all that are in their Graves shall hear his Voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good to the Resurrection of Life, and they that have done evil to the Resurrection of Damnation.

Again, the Resurrection here mentioned, is a Resurrection to come, not already enjoyed, either by Saints or Sinners, There shall be a Resurrection of the Dead both of the just and unjust. Now I say, the Resurrection here being yet deferred by the just, and counted also the Resurrection of the Dead, both of the just and unjust, it must John 14. 12. needs be the same Resurrection that is spoken of by Job, who saith, So Man lieth down, and riseth not again till the Heavens be no more, they shall not awake, nor be raised out of their Sleep.

Having thus in few Words opened this Scripture unto you, I shall in the next Place, for the further Satisfaction of those that are yet wavering, and for the Refreshment of those that are strong and stedfast, lay down before you several undeniable Scripture Demonstrations, of the Resurrection of the Dead, both of the just and unjust.

I shall first begin with the Resurrection of the Just.

The Just must arise, because Christ is risen from the Dead. Christ is the Head of the Just, and they are the Members of his Body; and because of this Union, therefore the Just must arise. This is the Apostles own Argument, *If Christ, saith
1 Cor. 15. he, be preached, that he rose from the dead, 12, 13. how say some among you, that there is no Resurrection of the Dead; but if there be no Resurrection of the Dead, then is not Christ risen.* Now I say, the Reason why the Apostle thus argueth the Resurrection from the Dead, by the Resurrection of Christ: It is, because the Saints (of whose Resurrection he here chiefly discourseth) are in their Bodies as well as in their Souls, the Members of Christ; *Know you not,
1 Cor. 6. saith he, that your Bodies are the Members
15. of Christ.* A very weighty Argument; for if a good Man be a Member of Christ, then he must either be raised out of his Grave, or else Sin and Death must have Power over a Member of Christ. I say again, if this Body be not raised, then also Christ is not a complete Conqueror over his Enemies; for as much as Death and the Grave, hath still power over his Members. The last Enemy that shall be destroyed, is Death. Now though Christ in his own Person, hath a complete Conquest over Death, &c. yet Death hath still power over the Bodies of all that are in their Graves: Now I say, Christ being considered with relation to his Members, then he hath not yet a complete Conquest over Death, neither will he, until they every one be brought forth of their Graves; for then, and not till then, shall that saying be every way fulfilled: Death is swallowed up of Victory.

Secondly, As there must be a Resurrection of the Just, because Christ is their Head, and they his Members: so also, because the Body of the Saints, as well as their Soul, is the purchase of Christ's Blood. Ye are bought with a Price, saith Paul: wherefore glorifie God in your Body, and in your Spirit, which are Gods. Christ will not lose the purchase of his Blood. O Death, saith Christ, I will have them; O Grave, I will make thee let them go, I will ransom them from the power of the Grave, I will redeem them from Death. (I have bought them, and they shall be mine.) O Death, I will be thy Plague, O Grave, I will be thy Destruction. I say, though the Power of the Grave be invincible, and Death be the King of Terrours, yet he who hath the Keys of Hell and of Death at his Girdle, to him belongeth the issues from Death. He that is our God, is the God of Salvation, and to God the Lord, belongeth the issues from Death. And we the Price of his Blood, shall be delivered.

Thirdly, As the Body is the Member of Christ, and the Price of his Blood, so it is the Temple of the Holy Ghost, which is in us. What, know you not that your Body is the Temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you? and you are not your own. The Body is no such ridiculous thing in the account of Christ, as it was in the account of the Sadducees. The Body is not for Fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the Body;
and that not only in this World, but that which is to come: wherefore he saith,
God hath both raised up the Lord Jesus, and will raise us up also by his Power, that is, as he hath raised up the Body of Christ, so will he raise up ours also by Christ.

Fourthly, The Bodies of the Just must arise again, because of that Similitude, that must be betwixt the Body of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the Bodies of the Saints. When he shall appear, we shall be like him ||. Now we have it abundantly manifest in Scripture, that the Body of the Lord Jesus was raised out of the Grave, caught up into Heaven, and that it ever remaineth in the Houset of all, a glorified Body *.

Now, I say, it would be very strange to me if Christ should be raised, ascended, and glorified in that Body; and yet that his

his People should be with him, no otherwise than in their Spirits; especially seeing that he in his Resurrection, is said to be but the first begotten from the Dead, and the first Fruits of them that sleep. For we know, that a first begotten, doth imply more Sons, and that first-fruits do fore-shew an after-Crop: wherefore we conclude, that as in Adam all die, so in Christ shall all be made alive, but every Man in his own order: Christ the first Fruits, and afterwards them that are his at his coming.

And hence it is, that the Scripture saith, He shall change our vile Body, that it may be fashioned like to his glorious Body. And hence it is again, that the Day of Christ is said to be the Day of the Manifestation of the Sons of God, and of the Redemption of our Body; for then shall the Saints of God not only be, but appear as their Saviour, being delivered from their Graves, as he is from his, and glorified in their Bodies, as he is in his.

Fifthly, there must be a Resurrection of the Body of the Saints, because the Body, as well as the Mind, hath been a deep sharer in the Afflictions that we meet with for the Gospels sake. Yea, the Body is oftentimes the greatest sufferer, in all the Calamities, that for Christ's sake we here undergo; it is the Body that feels the stocks, the whip, hunger, and cold, the fire and rack, and a thousand Calamities; it is the Body in which we have the dying Marks of the Lord Jesus: that the Life of Jesus, also might be made manifest in our mortal flesh. God is so just a God, and so merciful to his People, that though the Bodies of his Saints should, through the Malice of the Enemy, be never so dishonourably tortured, killed and sown in the Grave, yet he will (as further will be shewed anon) raise it again in incorruption, glory and honour; as he saith also in another place, That we who have continued with Christ in his Temptations, that have for his sake underwent the reproach and malice of the World; to you, saith Christ, I appoint a Kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me. If we suffer with him, we shall reign with him, and he that hateth his Life in this World, shall keep it to life eternal. All this is to be enjoyed, especially at the Resurrection of the Just.

But sixthly, there must be a Resurrection of the Just, otherwise, there will be the greatest disappointment on all sides that ever was, since Man had a being on the Earth.

A Disappointment I say,

First, Of the Will of God; for this is the Will of the Father that sent me, saith Christ, that of all that he hath given me, I should lose nothing (not a dust) but should raise it up again at the last Day.

Secondly, A Disappointment of the Power of God; for he that hath raised up the Lord Jesus, doth also intend to raise us up by his Power, even our Bodies; as Paul saith, the Body is not for Fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the Body, and God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise us up by his Power.

Thirdly, If there should be no Resurrection of the Just, Christ also would be wonderfully disappointed of the Fruits of all his sufferings. As I told you before, his People are the Price of his Blood, and the Members of his Body, and he is now at the right Hand of God (far above all Principalities and Powers, and every name that is named) expecting till his Enemies be made his Footstool, and brought under the Foot of the weakest Saint, which will not be, until the last Enemy Death is destroyed. We know that he said, when he went away, that he would come again, and fetch all his People to himself, even up into Heaven, that where he is, there we may be also. But I say, how will he be disappointed, if when he comes, the Grave and Death should prevent and hinder him, and with its bars, keep down those, whom he hath ransomed with his Blood, from the Power thereof?

Fourthly, If the Bodies of the Just arise not from the Dead, then they also will be disappointed. 'Tis true, the Saints departed, have far more Fellowship and Communion with God and the Lord Jesus, than we have, or are yet capable of having. They being in Paradise, and we in this World; but yet, I say for all that, they are, though there, very much longing for the Day of the Lord's Vengeance, which will be the Day in which they will, and must arise from the Dead. This I say, is the Time that they long for, when they cry under the Altar, How long, O Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our Blood, on them that dwell on the Earth? When they dyed, they dyed in hope to obtain a better Resurrection; and now they are gone, they long till that Day be come. Till the Day come, I say, when the Dead, even all the Enemies of Christ, shall be judged; for then will he give reward to his Servants the Prophets, and to his Saints, and to all that fear his Name small and great.

Fifthly, If the Just arise not, great Disappointment also will be to the Saints yet alive in this World: for, notwithstanding they have already received the first-fruits of the Spirit, yet they wait, not only for more of that, but also for the Resurrection, Redemption, and changing of this vile Body. For our Conversation is in Heaven, saith Paul, from whence we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall change our vile Body that it may be fashioned like to his glorious Body. But now, I say, if the Body riseth not, then how can it be made made like to the glorious Body of Christ Jesus; yea, what a sad Disappointment, Infatuation, and Delusion, are those poor Creatures under, that look, and that by Scripture warrant for such a thing? They look for good, but behold evil; they expect to be delivered in their whole Man from every Enemy? but lo, both Death and the Grave, their great Enemies, do swallow them up for ever; But beloved, be not deceived. The needy shall not always be forgotten, the Expectation of the Poor shall not perish for ever, saith Christ, he that seeth the Son, and believeth on him that sent him, hath everlasting Life, and I will raise him up at the last Day.

Psal. 9. 10.

Joh. 6. 40.

Sixthly, If the Just arise not out of their Graves, then also is every Grace of God in our Souls defeated; for though the Spirit of Devotion can put forth a feigned shew of Holiness, with the Denial of the Resurrection, yet every Grace of God in the Elect, doth prompt them forward to live as becomes the Gospel, by pointing at this Day: As

First, 'Tis this that Faith looks at, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we believed, and therefore speak, knowing that he that hath raised up the Lord Jesus, shall raise us up also by Jesus, and shall present us with you.

2 Cor. 4. 13, 14.

Secondly, Hope looks at this: We, saith Paul, which have the first Fruits of the Spirit, even we our selves groan within our selves, waiting for the Adoption, to wit, the Redemption of our Body, that is, we expect this by Hope: but Hope which is seen, is not Hope; for what a Man seeth, or hath in present Possession, why doth he yet hope for it.

Thirdly, The Grace of Self-denial also worketh by this Doctrine, If after the manner of Men, I have fought with Beasts at Ephesus: what advantageth it me, if the Dead rise not? As who should say, Wherefore do I deny my self of those Mercies and Privileges, that the Men of this World enjoy? Why do not I also, as well as they, shun Persecution for the Cross of Christ? If the Dead rise not, what shall I be the better for all my trouble that here I met with for the Gospel of Christ?

Rom. 8. 23, 24, 25.

1 Cor. 15. 32.

Fourthly, Both Zeal and Patience, with all other the Graces of the Spirit of God in our Hearts, are much, yea, chiefly encouraged, animated, and supported by this Doctrine; as James saith, Be patient therefore, my Brethren, unto the coming of the Lord (for then shall the Dead be raised.) Behold, the Husbandman waiteth for the precious Fruits of the Earth, and hath long Patience, till he receive both the early and latter Rain; be ye also patient, stablish your Hearts, for the coming of the Lord draws nigh.

Jam. 5. 7, 8.

1 Thes. 4. 16, 17.

Seventhly, The Doctrine of the Resurrection of the Just, must needs be a certain Truth of God, if we consider the devilish, and fatanical Errors and Absurdities that must unavoidably follow the Denial thereof: As,

First, He that holdeth no Resurrection of our Body, he denieth the Resurrection of the Body of Christ. This is the Spirit's own Doctrine; For if the Dead rise not, then is not Christ risen. He that denieth the Resurrection of the Members, denieth the Resurrection of the Head; for seeing the Resurrection of the Saints is proved by the Resurrection of Christ: he that doth deny the Resurrection of the Saints, must needs deny the Resurrection of Christ, that proves it.

1 Cor. 15. 16.

Now this Error, as it is in itself destructive to all Christian Religion; so it, like an Adder, carrieth within its Bowels many other alike devilish and filthy; As,

1. He that denieth the Resurrection of the Saints, he concludeth, That to preach Deliverance from Sin and Death, it is vain preaching; for how can he be freed of Sin, that is swallowed up for ever of Death and the Grave? As he most certainly is, that is always contained therein, as Paul saith, If Christ be not risen (whose Resurrection is the ground of ours) then our preaching is vain, and your Faith is also vain; then we preach Fables, and you receive them for Truth.

1 Cor. 15. 14.

2. This Error casteth the Lie in the Face of God, of Christ, and the Scriptures. Yea, and we also, saith Paul, are found false Witnesses of God, because we have testified of God, that he raised Christ up, if so be that the dead rise not. Mark, before he said, Christ in his Resurrection doth prove our Resurrection; but now he saith, that our Resurrection will prove the Truth of his, and indeed both are true: for as by Christ's rising, ours is affirmed; so by ours, his is demonstrated.

1 Cor. 15. 15.

3. The Denial of the Resurrection, it also damneth all those that have departed this World in the Faith of this Doctrine. If Christ be not raised, (as if he is not risen) then is not only your Faith vain, and ye are yet in your Sin: that are alive; but then they also that are fallen asleep in Christ, are perished.

1 Cor. 15. 17, 18.

4. He that denieth the Resurrection of the Just, he concludeth, that the Christian is of all Men the most miserable. Mark the Words, If in this Life only we have Hope in Christ, we are of all Men the most miserable. First of all Men the most miserable, because we let go present Enjoyments for those that will never come, if the Dead rise not. Of all Men most miserable, because our Faith, our Hope, our Joy and Peace, are all but a Lie, if the Dead rise not. But you will say, He that giveth up himself to God, shall have Comfort in this Life. Ah! but if the Dead rise not, all our

1 Cor. 15. 19.

Comfort that now we think we have from God, will then be found Presumption and Madness, because we believe, that God hath so loved us, as to have us in his Day, in Body and Soul to Heaven; which will be nothing so, if the Dead rise not. If in this Life only we have Hope in Christ, we are of all Men most miserable. Poor Christian, thou that lookest for the blessed Hope of the Resurrection of the Body, at the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; how wilt thou be deceived, if the Dead rise not? But now is Christ risen, and become the first Fruits of them that sleep; for since by Man came Death, by Man came also the Resurrection from the Dead.

1 Cor. 15.
20, 21.

5. But again, he that denieth the Resurrection of the Dead, he setteth open a Flood Gate to all manner of Impiety; he cutteth the Throat of a truly holy Life, and layeth the Reins upon the Neck of the most outrageous Lusts: For if the Dead rise not, let us eat and drink, that is, do any thing, tho' never so diabolical and hellish; let us eat and drink, for to morrow we die; and there is an end of us, we shall not arise again, to receive either evil or good.

1 Cor. 15.
32.

6. To deny this Resurrection, nay, if a Man do but say, It is past either with him or any Christian; his so saying tendeth directly to the Destruction and Overthrow of the Faith of them that hear him; and is so far from being according to the Doctrine of God, that it eateth out good and wholesome Doctrine, even as Cankers eat the Face and Flesh of a Man: How ill-favourably do they look, that have their Nose and Lips eat off with the Canker? Even so badly doth the Doctrine of no Resurrection of the Dead, look in the Eyes of God, Christ, Saints and Scripture.

Lastly, I conclude then, that to deny the Resurrection of the Bodies of the Just, it argueth,

First, Great Ignorance of God, ignorant of his Power to raise, ignorant of his Promise to raise, ignorant of his Faithfulness to raise; and that both to himself, Son and Saints, as I shewed before: Therefore saith Paul to those that were thus deluded, Awake to Righteousness, and sin not, for some have not the Knowledge of God; I speak this to your shame. As if he had said, Do you profess Christianity? And do you question the Resurrection of the Body? Do you not know, That the Resurrection of the Body, and Glory to follow, is the very Quintessence of the Gospel of Jesus Christ? Are you ignorant of the Resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and do you question the Power and Faithfulness of God, both to his Son and his Saints, because you say, There shall be no Resurrection of the Dead: You are ignorant of God, of what he can do, of what he will do, and of what he will by doing glorify himself.

1 Cor. 15.
32, 33, 34.

Secondly, As it argueth very great Ignorance of God's Power, Faithfulness, &c. so it argueth gross Ignorance of the Tenor and Current of the Scriptures; for as touching the Dead, That they are raised, have ye not read in the Book of Moses (saith Christ) how that God said unto him in the Bush, I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the Dead, but of the Living: ye do therefore greatly err.

Mark. 12.
26, 27.

To be the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, it is to be understood of his being their God, under a new Covenant Consideration; as he saith, I will be their God, and they shall be my People. Now thus he is not the God of the Dead, that is, of those that perish, whether they be Angels or Men.

Heb. 8. 10,
11.

John 8. 44

1 John 3. 8, 9, 10.

Hof. 6. 2.
Col. 3. 4.
Eph. 1. 4.

Now, I say, they that are the Children of God, as Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, they are counted the Living under a threefold Consideration.

1. In their Lord and Head, and thus all the Elect may be said to live; for they are from Eternity chosen in him, who also is their Life, tho' possibly many of them yet unconverted. I say, yet Christ is their Life, by the Eternal Purpose of God.

2. The Children of the new Covenant, do live both in their Spirits in Glory, by open vision, and here by Faith and the continual Communication of Grace from Christ into their Souls.

Gal. 2. 20.

3. They live also with respect to their rising again; for God calleth those things that are not, as though they were; to be born, dead, buried, risen and ascended, are all present with God, he liveth not by time, as we do; a thousand years to him, are but as the Day that is past. And again, one Day is as a thousand Years. Eternity, which is God himself, admitteth of no first, second, and third, all things are naked and bare before him, and present with him, all (his) live unto him. There shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and Unjust.

Rom. 4. 17

2 Pet. 3. 8.
Heb. 4. 13.

Isa. 46. 9, 10.

Rom. 8.
29, to 34.

A Resurrection, of what? of that which is sown, or of that which was never sown; if of that which is sown, then it must be either of that Nature that was sown, or else of the Corruption that cleaveth to it; but it is the Nature, and not the Corruption that cleaveth unto it that riseth again. And verily, the very term Resurrection, is a forcible Argument, to prove the Dead shall come forth of their Graves; for the Holy Ghost hath always spoke more properly, than to say, There shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and Unjust, when yet neither the good, nor the bad shall come forth of their Graves, but rather something else to delude the World withal.

Having thus in few Words, shewed you the Truth of the Resurrection of the Dead, I now come to the manner of their rising.

The manner of the Resurrection of the Dead: And first of the Just.

Ver. 35. THE Apostle, when he had in the fifteenth of the first of the Corinthians, proved the Truth and Certainty of the Resurrection, he descends to the Discovery of the Manner of it; and to the end, he might remove those foolish Scruples that attend the Hearts of the Ignorant, he begins with one of their Questions; But some will say, saith he, how are the Dead raised? and with what Body do they come? To which he answereth: first by a Similitude of Seed, that is sown in the Earth. In which Similitude, he inserteth three things.

Ver. 36. First, that our reviving or rising, must be after Death, That which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

Ver. 37. Secondly, That at our rising, we shall not only revive and live, but be changed into a far more glorious state, than when we were sown. That which thou sowest, thou sowest not that Body that shall be, &c. But God giveth it a Body as it pleaseth him, that is, he giveth the Body, more Splendor, Luster, and Beauty, as its Resurrection.

Ver. 38. But thirdly, Neither its quickening, nor yet transcendent Splendor, shall hinder it from being the same Body, (as to the Nature of it) that was sown in the Earth; for as God giveth it a Body, for Honour and Splendor, as it pleaseth him, so to every Seed his own Body.

And indeed, this Similitude by which he here reasoneth the Manner of the Resurrection of the Just, is very natural, and fitly suiteth each Particular; for, as to its Burial.

First, The Corn of Wheat is first dead, and after sown and buried in the Earth, and so is the Body of Man.

Secondly, After the Corn is thus dead and buried, then it quickeneth and reviveth to Life: so also shall it be with our Body; for after it is laid in the Grave and buried, it shall then quicken, rise, and revive.

Again, As to the Manner of its change in its rising, this Similitude also doth fitly suit; as,

First, It is sown a dead Corn, it is raised a living one.

Secondly, it is sown dry, and without Comeliness, it riseth green and beautiful.

Thirdly, It is sown a single Corn, it riseth a full Ear.

Fourthly, it is sown in its Husk, but in its rising it leaveth that Husk behind it.

Further, Though the Kernel thus die, be buried, and meet with all this Change and Alteration in these things: yet none of them can cause the Nature of the Kernel to cease; it is Wheat still. Wheat was sown and Wheat ariseth, only it was sown dead, dry and barren Wheat; and riseth living, beautiful, and fruitful Wheat. It hath this Alteration then, that it doth greatly change its Resemblance, though yet it hath this power, as still to retain its own Nature. God giveth it Body, as it pleaseth him; but to every Seed his own Body.

The Apostle having thus presented the Manner of the Resurrection of the Saints, by the Nature of Seed sown, and rising again: he proceedeth, for further Illustration, to three more Similitudes.

The first is, to shew us the variety and glory of Flesh.

The second is to shew us the difference of Glory that is between Heavenly Bodies, and those that are Earthy.

The third is to shew us the difference that is between the Glory of the Light of the Sun, from that of the Moon: and also how one Star differeth from another in Glory. And then concludeth, so is the Resurrection of the dead. As who should say, ^{1 Cor. 15: 39, to 43.} at the Resurrection of the Bodies, they will be abundantly more altered and changed, than if the Flesh of Beasts and Fowls were made as noble as the Flesh of Men; or the Bodies of Earth, were made as excellent as the Heavenly Bodies; or as if the Glory of the Moon should be made as bright, and as clear as the Glory of the Sun; or as if the Glory of the least Star was as glorious, and as shining, as the biggest in the Firmament of Heaven.

It is a Resurrection indeed, a Resurrection every Way. The Body ariseth as to the Nature of it; the self-same Nature; but as to the Manner of it, how far transcendent is it! There is a poor, dry, wrinkled Kernel cast into the Ground, and there it lyeth, and swelleth, breatheth, and one would think, perisheth; but behold, it receiveth Life, it chitteth, it putteth forth a blade, and groweth into a stalk, there also appeareth an Ear; it also sweetly blossoms, with a full Kernel in the Ear; it is the same Wheat, yet behold how the form and fashion of that which now ariseth, doth differ from that which then was sown, its Glory also when 'twas sown, is no Glory: when compared with that in which it riseth. And yet it is the same that riseth that was sown, and no other: though the same after a far more glorious Manner, not the same with its husk, but without it. Our brun shall be left behind us when we rise again. The Comparison also between the Bodies Heavenly, and Bodies Earthly, hold forth the same. The Glory of the Celestial is one, and the Glory of the Terrestrial is another. Now mark it, he doth not speak here of the Natures of each of these Bodies: but of the transcendent Glory of one above another. The glory of the Heavenly is one, and the Glory of the Earthly is another. Where ^{Luke 20: 36.}fore I say, at our rising, we shall not change our Nature, but our Glory; we shall be equal to the Angels; Not with respect to their Nature, but Glory. The Nature also of the Moon is one thing and the Glory of the the Moon is another: and so, one Star also differeth from another in Glory.

A Beggar hath the same Nature as a King, and Gold in the Ore, the same Nature with that which is best refined; but the Beggar hath not the same Glory with the King, nor yet the Gold in Ore the same Glory with that which is refined. But our state will be far more altered than any of these, in the Days when we like so many Suns in the Firmament of Heaven, arise out of the Heart and Bowels of the Earth.

These things thus considered, do shew you how vainly they argue, that say, our humane Nature consisting of Body and Soul shall not inherit the Kingdom of God, and also how far from their purpose, that saying of the Apostle is, which saith, (That flesh and Blood shall not inherit the Kingdom of God.) And now also because I am fallen upon the Objection it self, I shall not pass it, but with a short dash at it. Wherefore Reader, whoever thou art, consider, that frequently in Scripture, the word Flesh and Blood (as also in the Place alledged) is not to be understood of that matter which God made; which Flesh cleaveth to our Bones, and Blood runs in our Veins; but is taken for that Corruption, Weakness, Mortality, and Evil that cleaveth to it. Which Weakness and Corruption, because it possesseth all Men, and also wholly ruleth where the Soul is unconverted: therefore it beareth the Name of that which is ruled, and acted by it, to wit, our whole Man, consisting of Body and Soul; yet I say, is a thing distinct from that Flesh and Blood which is essential to our being, and without which, we are no Men. As for instance, he that is Christ's, saith Paul, hath crucified the Flesh,

Gal. 5.24. with the Affections and Lusts. Who is so vain as to think that the Apostle by these Words, should mean our material Flesh that hangeth on our Bones, and that is mixed with our natural Blood, Sinews, and Veins? And not rather of that inward Fountain of Sin, Corruption and Wickedness, which in another Place he calleth the

Eph. 4.22. old Man with his deceitful Lusts. Again, The Flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the Flesh: It is our Flesh that hangeth on our Bones, which lusteth against the Spirit? and that also against which the Spirit lusteth? Certainly, if the Spirit lusteth against our material Flesh, then it is our Duty not to nourish it at all, because, by nourishing of it, we nourish that against which the Spirit of God fighteth, and warreth. Nay, if the Spirit lusts against the Flesh on our bones, simply considered as flesh; and if it be our Duty to follow the Spirit, as it is, then we must needs kill ourselves, or cut our Flesh from our Bones. For whatever the Spirit of God lusteth against, it must be destroyed, yea, it is our Duty with all speed to destroy it. But wilt thou, know, O vain Man, that by Flesh here, is to be understood, not the Nature that God hath made, but the corrupt Apprehension, and Wisdom, with those Inclinations to evil, that lodge within us. Which in another Place is called, the Wisdom of the Flesh. Yea, in plain terms, Flesh and Blood, where Christ saith, Flesh and Blood hath not revealed this unto thee, but my Father Mat. 16.16 which is in Heaven.

Nay, observe it, all these places, with many others, do rather point at a corrupt Soul, than a corrupt Body: for indeed, Sin and all spiritual Wickedness, they have their Seat in the Heart and Soul of a Man, and by their using this or that Member of the Body, so defile the Man; the Weaknesses of the Body, or that attend our material Flesh and Blood, they are Weaknesses of another kind, as Sickness, Aches, Pains, Sores, Wounds, Defection of Members, &c. Wherefore, where you read of Flesh and Blood, as rejected of God; especially, when it speaks of the Flesh and Blood of Saints, you are not to understand it as meant of the Flesh, which is their proper humane Nature; but of that Weakness which cleaveth to it.

Paul in another Place, reckoneth up the Works of the Flesh, in many things, as in Witchcraft, Hatred, Variance, Strife, Emulation, Fornication, and many others. But can any imagine, that he there should strike at that Flesh which hangeth on our Bones? rather at that Malignity and Rebellion that is in the Mind of Man against the Lord, by reason of which the Members of the Body are used this Way, and also sometimes that, to accomplish its most filthy and abusive deeds. They are Enemies in their Minds by wicked Works. Gal. 17. 18, to 21. Col. 1.21.

Thus you see, that Flesh and Blood is not to be taken always for the Flesh that is upon our Hands and Feet, and other parts of our Body, but for that Sin, Weakness, and Infirmary, that cleaveth to our whole Man.

Further then, touching our real substantial Flesh, it may be either considered as God's Creature purely, or as corrupted with Sin and Infirmary. Now if you consider it as corrupted, so it shall not inherit the Kingdom of God: But yet consider it as God's Creature, and so all that God hath converted to himself, through Jesus Christ, shall, even with that Body, when changed, inherit the Kingdom of God. The Woman whose Cloaths are foul, can yet distinguish between the Dirt and the Cloth on which it hangeth; and so deals God with us. 'Tis true, there is not one Saint, but while he liveth here, his Body is arrayed and infected with many corrupt and filthy things, as touching Bodily Weaknesses; yea, and also with many sinful Infirmities, by Reason of that Body of Sin and Death that yet remains in us: But yet God, I say, distinguisheth between our Weaknesses, and his Workmanship, and can tell how to save the whole Man of his People, while he

he is destroying the Corruption of Weakness that cleaveth to them.

And now to return to the Place objected, Flesh and Blood shall not inherit the Kingdom of God. It cannot be truly understood, that that Flesh which is Man's Nature, shall not enter to the Kingdom: For then, as I said before, Christ must lose his Members, the Purchase of his Blood, the Vessels and Temples of his Spirit; for all this is our Body. Again, then Christ also in that his Body, which is also our Flesh and Blood, is not in Glory, contrary to the whole Current of the New Testament.

Yea it would be Nonsense to say, there should be a Resurrection, and that our vile Body shall be changed, and made like to the glorious Body of the Son of God; if this Body do not at all rise again, but some other thing, which is not in us and our Nature. But to be short, the Apostle here when he saith, Flesh and Blood shall not inherit, &c. speaks properly of that Mortality and Weakness, that now attends our whole Man, and not of our real substantial Body itself. For after he had said, Flesh and Blood shall not inherit the Kingdom of God; he adds, Neither doth Corruption inherit Incorruption. Which two Sayings are answerable to what he presently adds; saying, Behold! I shew you a Mystery, we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed in a Moment, in the twinkling of an Eye, at the last Trump, for the Trumpet shall sound, and the Dead, mark, the Dead shall be raised incorruptible; that is, the Dead shall be so raised, as that in their rising, Incorruption shall possess them instead of Corruption, and Immortality, instead of that Mortality that descended to the Grave with them. For this corruptible; mark, this corruptible shall put on Incorruption; and this mortal shall put on Immortality: Mark, I say, it is this corruptible, and this mortal, that must be raised, though not corruptible and mortal, as it was buried, but immortal and incorruptible: it shall leave its Gravecloaths of Corruption and Mortality behind it.

The Manner of which their rising, the Apostle doth more distinctly branch out a little above in four Particulars: Which Particulars are these that follow,

1. It is sown in Corruption, it is raised in Incorruption.
2. It is sown in Dishonour, it is raised in Glory.
3. It is sown in Weakness, it is raised in Power.

4. It is sown anatural Body, it is raised a spiritual Body.

First, It is raised in Incorruption: We are brought into this World by Sin and Corruption; Corruption is our Father, and in Sin did our Mother conceive us. And hence it is, that we have our Life, not only like a Span, Shadow, or Post, for Shortness, but also, that it is attended with so much Vanity and Vexation of Spirit: But now being raised from the Dead incorruptible, (which is also called a Begetting and Birth) these things that now in our Life annoy us, and at last take away our Life, are effectually destroy'd: And therefore we live for ever, as saith the Spirit; And there shall be no more Death, nor Sorrow, nor Crying, neither shall there be any more Pain; for the former things (that is, all our Corruptions) are passed away.

There shall be in our Resurrection no Corruption, either of Body, or of Soul; no Weakness nor Sickness, nor any thing tending that way; as he saith, He will present us to himself a glorious Church, not having Spot or Wrinkle, or any such thing. Therefore when he saith, it is raised in Incorruption, it is as if he had said, It is impossible that they should ever sin more, be sick more, sorrow more, or die more. They that shall be counted worthy of that World, and the Resurrection from the Dead, neither marry, nor are given in Marriage, (though 'twas thus with them in this World) neither can they die any more, for they are equal unto the Angels, and are the Children of God, being the Children of the Resurrection.

Secondly, It is raised in Glory; the Dishonour that doth attend the Saint at his departing this World, it is very great, he is sown in Dishonour; he is so loathsome at his Death, that his dearest Friends are weary of him, stop their Noses at him, see no Beauty in him, nor set any Price upon him, (I speak nothing here, how some of them are hanged, starved, banished, and so die, torn to Pieces, and not suffered to be put into Graves;) but it is raised in Glory. Glory is the Sweetness, Comeliness, Purity, and Perfection of a thing. The Light is the Glory of the Sun, Strength is the Glory of Youth, and grey Hairs is the Glory of old Age. That is, it is the Excellency of these things, and that which makes them shine.

Therefore to arise in Glory, it is first to arise in all the Beauty, and utmost Compleatness that is possible to possess a human Creature, I say in all its Features and Members, inconceivably beautiful: Sin and Corruption hath made mad Work in our Bodies, as well as in our Souls; 'Tis Sin commonly that is the Cause of all that Deformity, and Ill-favouredness, that now cleaveth to us, and that also rendereth us so dishonourable at our Death; but now at our rising, we being raised incorruptible, we shall appear in such Perfections, and that of all sorts belonging to the Body, that all the Beauty and Comeliness, Sweetness, and Amiability, that hath at any time been in this World, it shall be swallowed up a thousand times told with this Glory. The Psalmist saith of Christ, That he was fairer than the Children of Men, and that as I believe in his outward Man, as well as in his inward Part. He was the exactest, purest, completest, and beautifullest Creature that ever God made, till his Visage was so marred by his Persecutions: for in all things he had and shall have the Pre-eminence. Why our Bodies at our Resurrection will not only be as free from Sin, as his was before he died; but also as free from all other Infirmities, as he was after he was raised again. In a Word, if Incorruptibleness can put a Beauty upon our Bodies, when they arise, we shall have it. There shall be no lame Legs, nor crump Shoulders, no blare Eyes, nor yet wrinkled Faces, He shall change our vile Body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious Body.

Again, all the Glory that a glorified Soul can help this Body to, it at this Day shall enjoy. That Soul that hath been these hundreds or thousands of Years in the Heavens soaking in the Bosom of Christ, it shall in a Moment come spangling into the Body again, and inhabit every Member and Vein of the Body, as it did before its Departure. That Spirit of God also, that took its Leave of the Body, when it went to the Grave, shall now in all Perfection dwell in this Body again: I tell you, the Body at this Day will shine brighter than the Face of Moses or Stephen, even as bright as the Sun, the Stars and Angels. When Christ who is our Life shall appear, we shall appear with him in Glory.

Thirdly, It is raised in Power. While we are here, we are attended with so many Weaknesses and Infirmities, that in time the least Sin or Sicknes is too hard for us, and taketh away both our Strength, our Beauty, our Days, our Breath and Life, and all. But behold, we are raised in Power, in that Power that all these Things are as far below us, as a Grasshopper is below a Giant, at the first Appearance of us the World will tremble.

Behold the Gates of Death, and the Bars of the Grave are now carried away on our Shoulders, as Sampson carried away the Gates of the City. Death quaketh, and Destruction falleth down dead at our Feet: What then can stand before us? We shall then carry that Grace, Majesty, Terror, and commanding Power into our Souls, that our Countenances shall be like Lightning. For this Mortal must put on Immortality, and this Corruptible must put on Incorruption: So when this Corruptible shall have put on Incorruption, and this Mortal shall have put on Immortality: then shall be brought to pass that Saying which is written, Death is swallowed up of Victory.

Fourthly, It is raised a spiritual Body. This is the last Particular, and is indeed the Reason of the other three; it is an incorruptible Body, because it is a spiritual one; it is a glorious Body, because it is a spiritual one; it doth rise in Power, because it is a spiritual Body. When the Body is buried, or sown in the Earth, it is a Body corruptible, dishonourable, weak and natural; but when it ariseth, it doth rise incorruptible, glorious, powerful and spiritual. So that so far as Incorruption is above Corruption, Glory above Dishonour, Power above Weakness, and spiritual above natural: So great an Alteration will there be in our Body when raised again. And yet it is this Body, not another, this in Nature, though changed into a far more glorious State; A thousand Times further, than if a Hoggard was changed to be an Emperor. Mark, it is sown a natural Body: a very fit Word; for though there dwell never so much of the Spirit and Grace of God in it while it liveth, yet so soon as the Soul is separate from it, so soon also doth the Spirit of God separate from it; and so will continue while the Day of its rising be come. Therefore it is laid into the Earth, a meer Lump of Man's Nature: It is sown a natural Body: but now at the Day, when the Heavens shall be no more, as Job saith, Job 14. 12. then the Trump shall sound, even the Trump of God, and in a Moment the dead shall be raised incorruptible, glorious and spiritual. So that I say, the Body when it ariseth, will be so swallowed up of Life and Immortality, that it will be as if it had lost its own humane Nature; though in Truth the same substantial real Nature is every whit there still. 'Tis the same [it] that riseth, that was sown; it is sown, it is raised, saith the Apostle. You know, that Things which are candied by the Art of the Apothecary, they are so swallow'd up with the Sweetness and Vertue of that in which they are candied, that they are now, as though they had no other Nature than that in which they are boiled: when yet in Truth the Thing candied doth still retain its own proper Nature and Essence; though by vertue of its being candied, it loseth its former sourness, bitterness, stinking, smell, or the like. Just thus at the last Day it will be with our Bodies! we shall be so candied, by being swallow'd up of Life, as before is shewed, that we shall be as if we were all Spirit; when in Truth, it is but this Body that is swallowed up of Life: And it must needs be that our Nature still remain, otherwise it cannot be Us that shall be in Heaven, but something besides Us. Let us lose our proper humane Nature, and we lose absolutely our Being, and so are annihilated into nothing. Wherefore it, the same it, that is sown a Natural Body, it shall rise a Spiritual Body.

But again, as I said, concerning things that are candied, our Body, when thus risen, it shall lose all that Sourness and Stink, that now, by reason of Sin and Infirmity cleaveth to it; neither shall its Lumpishness or Unwieldiness, be any Impediment to its acting after the manner of Angels.

gels. Christ hath shewed us, what our Body at our Resurrection shall be, by shewing of us, in his Word, what his Body was at and after his Resurrection: We read, that his Body after he was risen from the Dead, though it yet retained the very same Flesh and Bones, that did hang upon the Cross, yet how Angelical was it at all Times, upon all Occasions? He could come in to his Disciples with that very Body, when the Doors were shut upon them: He could at pleasure, to their amazement, appear in the twinkling of an Eye, in the midst of them: He could be visible and invisible as he pleased, when he sat at meat with them. In a word, he could pass and repass, ascend and descend in that Body, with far more Pleasure and Ease, than the Bird by the Art of her Wing.

Now, I say, as we have in this World born the Image of our first Father; so at that Day, we shall have the Image of Jesus Christ, and be as he is. As is the Earthly, such are they that are Earthly; and as is the Heavenly, such are they that are Heavenly; and as we have born the Image of the Earthly, we shall (at our Resurrection) bear the Image of the Heavenly: It is so in part now, but shall so be in perfection then.

To mount up to Heaven, and to descend again at Pleasure, shall with us, in that Day, be ordinary. If there were ten thousand Bars of Iron, or Walls of Brass, to separate between us, and our Pleasure and Desire at that Day, they should as easily be pierced by us, as is the Cobweb, or Air by the Beams of the Sun: And the reason is, because to the Spirit, wherewith we shall be unconceivably filled at that Day, nothing is impossible. And the working of it at that Day, shall be in that nature and measure, as to swallow up all impossibilities. He shall change our vile Body, and fashion it like unto his glorious Body; Now mark, according to the working, whereby he is able to subdue all things unto himself. As who should say, I know that there are many things, that in this World hinder us from having our Bodies like the Body of Christ; but when God shall raise us from the Dead, because he will then have our Bodies like the Body of his Son: He will stretch forth such a Power to work upon, and in our Body, that he will remove all Impossibilities and Hindrances.

Nay further, we do not only see what Operation the Spirit will have in our Body, by the Carriage of Christ after his Resurrection; but even by many a Saint before their Death. The Spirit used to catch Elijah away, no Man could tell whither. It carried Ezekiel hither and thither: It carried Christ from the Top of the Pinnacle of the Temple into Galilee; through it he walked on the Sea; the Spirit caught away Philip from the Eunuch, and carried him as far as Azotus.

Thus the great God hath given us a Taste of the Power and Glory that is in himself, and how easily it will help us, by its possessing of us at the Resurrection, to act and to do like Angels; as Christ saith, They that shall be counted worthy of that World, and of the Resurrection from the Dead, they shall not dye, but be equal to the Angels.

Further, as the Body by being thus spiritualized, shall be as I have said; so again it must needs be, that hereby all the Service of the Body, and Faculties of the Soul, must be infinitely enlarged also. Now we shall see him as he is, and now we shall know, even as we are known.

First, now we shall see him; to wit, Christ in his Glory: Not by Revelation only, as we do now, but then Face to Face; and he will have us with him, to this very End. Though John was in the Spirit, when he had the Vision of Christ, yet it made him fall at his Feet as dead, and also turned Daniel's Beauty into Corruption; It was so glorious, and so overweighing a Glory that he appeared in; but we shall at the Day of our Resurrection, be so furnished, that we shall with the Eagle, be able to look upon the Sun in his strength: We shall then, I say, see Him as he is; who now is in the Light, that no Eye hath seen, nor any Man can see it till that Day.

Now we shall see into all Things: There shall not be any thing hid from us; There shall not be a Saint, a Prophet, or saved Soul, small or great; but we shall then perfectly know them: Also, all the Works of Creation, Election and Redemption, and shall see and know as thoroughly, all the Things of Heaven and Earth, and Hell, even as perfectly, as now we know our A, B, C. For the Spirit, with which we shall in every Cranny of Soul and Body, be filled, I say, that searcheth all things, yea the deep Things of God. We see what strange Things have been known by the Prophets and Saints of God, and that when they knew but in part.

Abraham could by it, tell to a Day, how long his Seed should be under Persecution in Egypt. Elisha, by it, could tell what was done in the King of Assyria's Bed-chamber. Abijah could know by this Jeroboam's Wife, so soon, yea before her Feet entred within his Door, though he saw her not.

The Prophet of Judah could tell by this, what God would do to Bethel, for the Idolatry there committed; and could also point out the Man by Name, that should do the Execution long before he was born. What shall I say, Enoch by it could tell, what should be done at the End of the World. How did the Prophets to a Circumstance prophecy of Christ's Birth, his Death, his Burial, of their giving him Gall and Luke 9. 33. and Vinegar, of their parting his Raiment, and piercing his Hands and Feet? Of his riding on an Ass also, all this they saw, when they spake of him. Peter also, though half asleep, could at the very first word, call Moses and Elias by their Names, when they appeared to Christ in the Holy Mount. He is very ignorant of the Operation of the Spirit of God, that scrupleth these things: But now, I say, if these things have been done, seen and known by Spiritual Men, while their knowledge hath been but in part, how shall we know, see, and discern, when that which is perfect is come? Which will be at the Resurrection; It is raised a Spiritual Body.

Thus in few words have I shewed you the Truth of the Resurrection of the Just, and also the manner of their Rising: Had I judged it convenient, I might have much enlarged on each particular, and have added many more: For the Doctrine of the Resurrection, however questioned by Hereticks, and Erroneous Persons; yet, is such a Truth, that almost all the Holy Scriptures of God point at, and center in it.

God hath, from the beginning of the World, shewed to us, that our Body must be with him, as well as our Soul, in the Kingdom of Heaven. I say, he hath shew'd; first he hath shewed us, how he will deal with those that are alive at Christ's coming, by his translating of Enoch. And taking him Body and Soul to himself: As Gen. 5. 24. Heb. 1. 5. 1 Kings 2. 10, 11. also, by his catching of Elias, up Body and Soul into Heaven, in a Fiery Chariot.

Secondly, He hath often put us in Remembrance of the Rising of those that are Dead, at that Day.

First, By the Faith he gave Abraham, concerning the Offering of his Son: For when he offer'd him, he accounted that God was able to raise him up, even from the Dead; From whence also he received him in a Figure. In a Figure of the Resurrection of Christ, for Abraham's Justification, and of Abraham's Resurrection by Christ at the last Day, for his Glorification. Heb. 11. 19.

Secondly, By the Faith he gave Joseph, consuming his Bones; which Charge the godly in Egypt did diligently observe; and to that end did keep them four hundred Years; and, at length, carried them, I say, from Egypt to Canaan, which was a Type of our being carried in our Body from this World to Heaven. Heb. 11. 22.

Besides, How oft did God give Power to his Prophets, Servants, and Christ Jesus, to raise some that were now dead, and some that had been long so; and all, no doubt, to put the present Generations, as also the Generations yet unborn, in mind of the Resurrection of the Dead. To this end, I say, how was the Shunamite's Son raised from the dead? The Man also at the touching of the Bones of Eli'a. Together with the Body of Lazarus, with Jairus Daughter, and Tabitha, and many others, who after their Souls were departed from them, Lazarus lying in his Grave four Days, were all raised to Life again, and lived with that very Body, out of which the Soul at their Death had departed. Luk. 8. 53, to 56. John 11. 43, 44, 45. Acts 9. 40, 41.

But above all, that notable Place in Matthew, at the Resurrection of the Lord Jesus, gives us a notable Fore-word of the Resurrection of the Just. Saith the Text, And the graves were opened, and many Bodies of Saints which slept, arose, and came out of their Graves after his Resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many. Mat. 27. 50, to 54.

When the Author to the Hebrews had given us a Catalogue of the Worthies of the Old Testament, he saith at last, These all died in Faith. In the Faith of what? That they should lie and rot in their Graves eternally? No, verily, this is the Faith of Ranters, not of Christians. They all died in Faith, that they should rise again; and therefore counted this World not worth the living in [upon unworthy Terms] that after Death they might obtain a better Resurrection. Heb. 11. 13, 35.

'Tis also worth the considering, that of Paul to the Philippians, where he saith, That he was confident, that that God that had begun a good Work in them, would perform it unto the Day of Christ. Phil. 1. 6.

Which Day of Christ was not the Day of their Conversion, for that was past with them already, they were now the Children of God; but this Day of Christ, it is the same which in other Places is called the Day when he shall come with the Sound of the last Trump to raise the dead. For you must know, That the Work of Salvation is not at an end with them that are now in Heaven; no, nor ever will until (as I shewed you before) their Bodies be raised again. God, as I have told you, hath made our Bodies the Members of Christ, and God doth not count us thoroughly saved, until our Bodies be as well redeemed and ransomed out of the Grave and Death, as our Soul from the Curse of the Law and Dominion of Sin.

Though God's Saints have felt the Power of much of his Grace, and have had many a sweet Word fulfilled on them; yet one Word will be unfulfilled on their particular Person, so long as the Grave can shut her Mouth upon them: But, as I said before, when the Gates of Death do open before them, and the Bars of the Grave do fall asunder; then shall be brought to pass that Saying that is written, Death is swallowed up of Victory: And then will they hear that most pleasant Voice, Awake and sing ye that dwell in the Dust; for thy Dew is as the Dew of Herbs, and the Earth shall cast forth her dead. Thus much touching the Truth of the Resurrection of the Just, with the manner of their rising. Isa. 26. 19.

Now

Now you must know, That the Time of the rising of these Just, will be at the coming of the Lord: For when they arise, nay, just before they are raised, the Lord Jesus Christ will appear in the Clouds, in flaming Fire, with all his mighty Angels; the effect of which appearing will be the rising of the dead, &c. For the Lord himself shall descend from Heaven with a Shout, saith Paul, and with the Voice of the Arch-Angel, and with the Trump of God, and the dead shall rise.

Now at the Time of the Lord's coming, there will be found in the World alive both Saints and Sinners. As for the Saints that then shall be found alive, they shall so soon as all the Saints are raised out of their Graves, not die, but be changed and swallowed up of Incorruption, Immortality and Glory; and have the Soul-Spiritual Translation, as the raised Saints shall have; as he saith, We shall not all die, or sleep, but we shall all be changed in a Moment, in the twinkling of an Eye; For the Trump shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. And again, For the Lord himself shall descend from Heaven with a Shout, with the Voice of the Arch-Angel, and with the Trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first, and then we which are alive and remain, shall be caught up together with them in the Clouds, to meet the Lord in the Air, and so shall we ever be with the Lord. As he saith also in another Place, He shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing, and his Kingdom.

Now when the Saints that sleep shall be raised thus incorruptible, powerful, glorious and spiritual; and also those that then shall be found alive, made like them: Then forthwith, before the unjust are raised, the Saints shall appear before the Judgment Seat of the Lord Jesus Christ, there to give an account to their Lord the Judge, of all things they have done; and to receive a Reward for their good according to their Labour.

They shall rise, I say, before the Wicked, they being themselves the proper Children of the Resurrection; that is, Those that must have all the Glory of it, both as to Preheminency, and Sweetness; and therefore they are said, when they rise, to rise from the Dead; that is, in their rising, they leave the Reprobate World behind them. And it must be so, because also the Saints will have done their Account, and be set upon the Throne with Christ as Kings and Princes with him, to Judge the World, when the wicked World are raised. The Saints shall judge the World; they shall judge Angels: yea, they shall sit upon the Throne of Judgment to do it. But to pass that:

Now when the Saints are raised, as ye have heard they must give an Account of all things in general, that they have done while they were in the World. Of all things, I say, whether they be good or bad.

First, Of all their bad; but mark, not under the Consideration of Vagabonds, Slaves and Sinners, but as Sons, Stewards, and Servants of the Lord Jesus. That this shall be, it is evident from divers Places of the Holy Scriptures: First, Paul saith, We must all stand before the Judgment Seat of Christ; We Saints: For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every Knee shall bow to me, and every Tongue shall confess to God. So then every one of us shall give an account of himself to God. Again, Wherefore we labour, that whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him: for we must all appear before the Judgment Seat of Christ, that every one of us may receive the things done in his Body, according to what he hath done, whether it be good, or whether it be evil.

2 Cor. 5.

'Tis true, God loveth his People, but yet he loveth not their Sins, nor any thing they do, though with the greatest Zeal for him, if it be contrary to his Word: Wherefore as truly as God will give a Reward to his Saints and Children for all that they have indeed well done: So truly will he at this Day distinguish their good and bad; and when both are manifest by the righteous Judgment of Christ, he will burn up their bad; with all their Labour, Travel, and Pains in it for ever. He can tell how to save his People, and yet take Vengeance on their Inventions.

Psal. 99.8.

That is an observable Place, in the first Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians, and the third Chapter, If any Man build, saith he, upon this Foundation (Christ) Gold, Silver, precious Stones, Wood, Hay, Stubble, every Man's work shall be manifest, for the Day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by Fire, and the Fire shall try every Man's Work of what sort it is. If any Man's Work shall abide that he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a Reward. If any Man's Work shall be burnt, that Man shall suffer Loss, but he himself shall be saved, yet so as by Fire.

1 Cor. 3.
11, to 16.

Now observe, first, as I said before, the Foundation is Christ.

Ver. 11.

2. The Gold, Silver, and precious Stones, that here are said to be built upon him, are all the Actings in Faith and Love according to the Word, that the Saints are found doing for his sake in the World.

2 Pet. 1. 7.
Rev. 3. 18.

3. To build on him Wood, Hay, and Stubble, it is to build, together with what is right in it self, humane Inventions and carnal Ordinances; fathering them still on God and his Allowance.

4. The Fire that here you read of, it is the pure Word and Law of God.

Jer. 23. 29.
John. 12.
48.

5. The Day that here you read of, it is the Day of Christ's coming to Judgment, to reveal the hidden things of Darkness, and to make manifest the Counsels of the Heart.

1 Cor. 4. 5.

6. At this Day, the Gold, Silver, Precious Stones,

8 S

Luke 6.
48, 49.

Stones, Wood, Hay, and Stubble, and that of every Man, shall be tried by this Fire, that it may be manifest of what sort it is; the Wind, the Rain, and Floods, beat now as vehemently against the House upon the Rock, as against that on the Sand.

Observe again,

1. That the Apostle speaks here of the saved, not of the Reprobates, He himself shall be saved.

2. That this saved Man may have Wood, Hay, and Stubble; that is, things that will not abide the Tryal.

3. That neither this Man's Goodness, nor yet God's Love to him, shall hinder all his Wood, Hay, or Stubble for coming on the Stage, Every Man's Work shall be manifest: the Fire shall try every Man's Work, of what sort it is.

4. Thus, a good Man shall see all his Wood, Hay, and Stubble burnt up in the Tryal before his Face.

5. That good Man then shall suffer Loss, or, the Loss of all things that are not then according to the Word of God. If any Man's Work shall be burnt (or any of them) he shall suffer Loss; but he himself shall be saved, yet so as by Fire, that is, yet so as that all that ever he hath done, shall be tried, and squared by the Word of God.

From all which, it must be unavoidably concluded, that the whole Body of the Elect must count with their Lord for all things they have done, whether good or bad, and that he will destroy all their bad, with the Purity of his Word, yea, and all their Pains, Travel, and Labour, that they have spent about it. I am persuaded, that there are now many things done by the best of Saints, that then they will gladly disown and be ashamed of: yea, which they have and do still do with great Devotion. Alas, what gross things do some of the Saints in their Devotion father upon God, and do reckon him the Author thereof, and so he also prompts them forward, to the doing thereof, and doth give them his Presence in the Performance of them! Yea, and as they father many Superstitions and Scriptureless things upon him; so they die in the same Opinion, and never come in this World, to the sight of their Evil and Ignorance herein. But now the Judgment day is the principal time wherein every thing shall be set in its proper Place; that which is of God in its Place, and that which is not, shall now be discovered, and made manifest. In many things now, we offend all, and then we shall see the many Offences we have committed, and shall our selves judge them as they are. The Christian is in this World, so candid a Creature, that take him when he is not under some great Temptations, and he will ingenuously confess to his God before all Men, how he hath Sinned and Transgressed against his Father; and will fall down at the Feet of God, and cry, Thou art Righteous, for I have sinned; and thou art Gracious, that notwithstanding my Sin, thou shouldest save me: Now, I say, If the Christian is so Simple and Plain-Hearted with God in the Days of his Imperfection, when he is accompanied with many Infirmities and Temptations: how freely will he confess, and acknowledge his Miscarriages, when he comes before his Lord and Saviour, absolutely stript of all Temptation and Imperfection. As I live, saith the Lord, every Knee shall bow to me, and every Tongue shall confess to God. Every Knee shall bow, and reverence God the Creator, and Christ the Redeemer of the World; and every Tongue shall confess, that his Will alone ought by them to have been obeyed in all things; and shall confess also, and that most naturally and freely; I mean, the Saints shall, in how many things they were deceived, mistaken, deluded, and drawn aside in their intended Devotion and Honour to God.

But yet take Notice, that in this Day when the Saints are thus counting for their Evil before their Saviour and Judge: They shall not then, as now, at the Remembrance and Confession of Sin, be filled with that Guilt, Confusion and Shame, that now through the Weakness of Faith attendeth their Souls: neither shall they in the least be Grieved or Offended, that God hath before the Angels and the rest of their holy Brethren, laid open to a tittle their Infirmities from the least and first, to the biggest and last.

For first, the God to whom they confess all, they will now more perfectly than ever, see he doth love them, and free them from all, even when and before they confess and acknowledge them to him; and they shall, I say, have their Soul so full of the ravishing Raptures of the Life and Glory that now they are in, that they shall be of it swallowed up in that Measure and Manner, that neither Fear nor Guilt, nor Confusion can come near them, or touch them. Their Judge is their Saviour, their Husband, and Head; who, though he will bring every one of them for all things to Judgment, yet he will keep them for ever out of Condemnation, and any thing that tendeth that way. Perfect Love casts out Fear, even while we are here: Much more then when we are with our Saviour, our Jesus, being passed from Death to Life.

Secondly, The Saints at this Day, shall have their Hearts and Souls so wrapped up in the Pleasure of God their Saviour, that it shall be their Delight, to see all things, though once never so near and dear unto them; yet now to perish, if not according to his Word and Will: Thy Will be done, is to be always our Language here; but to delight to see it done in all things, though it tend never so much to the Destruction of what we love: To delight, I say, to see it done done in the Height and Perfection of Delight, it will be when we come to Heaven, or when the Lord shall come to judge the World.

Mat. 6. 10.

But thirdly, The sole End of the counting of the Saints at the Day of God, it will be, not only for the Vindication of the Righteousness, Holiness, and Purity of the Word, neither will it center only in the Manifestation of the Knowledge and Heart-discerning Nature of Christ (though both these will be in it.) But their very Remembrances, and Sight of the Sin and Vanity that they have done while here; it shall both set off, and heighten the tender Affections of their God unto them; and also increase their Joy and Sweetness of Soul, and clinging of Heart to their God. Saints while here, are sweetly sensible that the Sense of Sin, and the Assurance of Pardon, will make famous Work in their poor Hearts. Ah, what Meltings without Guilt! what Humility without casting down! and what a Sight of the Creature's Nothingness yet without Fear! will this Sense of Sin work in the Soul. The sweetest Frame, the most heart-endearing Frame that possibly a Christian can get into, while in this World, is to have a warm Sight of Sin, and of a Saviour, upon the Heart at one time. Now it weeps not for fear, and thro' Torment, but by virtue of constraining Grace and Mercy, and is at this very time so far off of Disquietness of Heart, by reason of the Sight of its Wickedness, that it is driven into an Extasy, by reason of the Love and Mercy that is mingled with the Sense of Sin in the Soul. The Heart never sees so much of the Power of Mercy as now, nor of the Virtue, Value and Excellency of Christ in all his Offices as now, and the Tongue so sweetly enlarged to proclaim and cry up Grace, as now; now will Christ come to be glorified in his Saints, and admired in them that believe.

2 Thes. 1. 10, 11.

Wherefore, though the Saints receive by Faith the Forgiveness of Sins in this Life, and so are passed from Death to Life; yet again, Christ Jesus, and God his Father, will have every one of these Sins reckoned up again, and brought fresh upon the Stage in the Day of Judgment, that they may see and be sensible for ever, what Grace and Mercy hath laid hold upon them. And this I take to be the reason of that remarkable Saying of the Apostle Peter, Repent therefore, and be converted, that your Sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the Presence of the Lord, and he shall send Jesus Christ, who before was preached unto you, whom the Heaven must receive till the Resstitution of all things, spoken of by the Mouth of all the holy Prophets since the World began.

Acts 3. 19, 20, 21.

Psalm. 19. 12.

If a Sense of some Sin (for who sees all?) and a Sight of the Love of God, will here so work upon the Spirit of the godly: what will a Sight of all Sin do, when together with it they are personally present with their Lord and Saviour?

Yea, if a Sight of some Sins, with a Possibility of Pardon, will make the Heart love, reverence, and fear with guiltless and heart-affecting Fears: what will a general Sight of all Sin, and together with them an eternal Acquittance from them, work on the Heart of a Saint for ever?

Yea, I say again, if a Sight of Sin, and the Love of God, will make such Work in that Soul, where yet there is Unbelief, Blindness, Mistrust, and Forgetfulness: what will a Sight of Sin do in that Soul, who is swallowed up of Love, who is sinless and temptationless; who hath all the Faculties of Soul and Body strained, by Love and Grace, to the highest Pin of Perfection, that is possible to be in Glory enjoy'd and possessed? O the Wisdom and Goodness of God, that he at this Day should so cast about the worst of our things, even those that naturally tend to sink us, and damn us, for our great Advantage! All things that shall work together for good, indeed, to them that love God. Those Sins that brought a Curse upon the whole World, that spilt the heart-blood of our dearest Saviour, and that laid his tender Soul under the flaming Wrath of God, shall by his Wisdom and Love, tend to the Exaltation of his Grace, and the inflaming of our Affections to him for ever and ever.

Rom. 8. 28

Revel. 5. 9, to 15.

'Twill not be thus with Devils, 'twill not be thus with Reprobates; the saved only have this Privilege peculiar to themselves: (wherefore to vary a little from the matter in hand) will God make that Use of Sin, even in our counting for it, that shall in this manner work for our Advantage? Why then, let Saints also make that Advantage of their Sin, as to glorify God thereby, which is to be done, not by saying, Let us do Evil that Good may come, or, let us Sin that Grace may abound; but by taking Occasion by the Sin that is past, to set the Ground upon the Head of Christ for our Justification: Continually looking upon it, so as to press us to cleave close to the Lord Jesus, to Grace and Mercy through him, and to the keeping of us humble for ever, under all his Dispensations and Carriages to us.

Now having counted for all their Evil, and confessed to God's Glory, how they fell short, and did not the Truth in this or that, or other Particulars; and having received their Eternal Acquittance from the Lord and Judge, in the Sight of both Angels and Saints: forthwith the Lord Jesus will make Inquiry into all the good and holy Actions and Deeds they did do in the World. Now here shall all things be reckoned up, from the very first good thing that was done by Adam or Abel, to the last that will fall out to be done in the World. The good of all the holy Prophets, of all Apostles, Pastors, Teachers, and Helps in the Church: here here also will be brought forth and to Light, all the good Carriages of Masters of Families, of Parents, of Children, of Servants, of Neighbours, or whatever good thing any Man doth; but to be general and short, first, here will be a Recompence for all that have sincerely laboured in the Word and Doctrine; I say, a Recompence for all the Souls they have saved by their Word, and watered by the same.

¹ Cor. 3. 6, 7, 8. Now shall Paul the Planter, and Apollos the Waterer, with every one of their Companions, receive the reward that is according to their Works.

Now all the Preaching, Praying, Watching, and Labour thou hast been at, in thy Endeavouring to catch Men from Satan to God, shall be rewarded with spangling Glory. Not a Soul thou hast converted to the Lord Jesus, nor a Soul thou hast comforted, strengthened, or helped by thy wholesome Counsel, Admonition, and comfortable Speech; but it shall stick as a Pearl in that Crown which the Lord the righteous Judge shall give thee at that Day. That is, if thou doest it willingly, delighting to lift up the Name of God among Men; if thou doest it with Love, and longing after the Salvation of Sinners (otherwise thou wilt have only thy Labour for thy Pains, and no more.) If I do this willingly, I have a Reward; but if against my will, a Dispensation of the Gospel is committed to my Charge. But I say, if thou do it graciously, then a Reward followeth: For what is our Hope, our Joy, or Crown of rejoicing? are not even ye, saith Paul, in the Presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his Coming, for ye are our Glory and Joy. Let him therefore that Christ hath put into his Harvest, take Comfort in the midst of all his Sorrow, and know that God acknowledgeth that he that converteth a Sinner from the Error of his Way, doth even save that Soul from Death, and covereth a Multitude of Sins. Wherefore labour to convert, labour to water, labour to build up, and to feed the Flock of God which is among you, taking the Oversight thereof, not by Constraint but willingly; not for filthy Lucre, but of a ready Mind; and when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a Crown of Glory that fadeth not away.

² Tim. 4. 7, 8. that Crown which the Lord the righteous Judge shall give thee at that Day. That is, if thou doest it willingly, delighting to lift up the Name of God among Men; if thou doest it with Love, and longing after the Salvation of Sinners (otherwise thou wilt have only thy Labour for thy Pains, and no more.) If I do this willingly, I have a Reward; but if against my will, a Dispensation of the Gospel is committed to my Charge. But I say, if thou do it graciously, then a Reward followeth: For what is our Hope, our Joy, or Crown of rejoicing? are not even ye, saith Paul, in the Presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his Coming, for ye are our Glory and Joy. Let him therefore that Christ hath put into his Harvest, take Comfort in the midst of all his Sorrow, and know that God acknowledgeth that he that converteth a Sinner from the Error of his Way, doth even save that Soul from Death, and covereth a Multitude of Sins. Wherefore labour to convert, labour to water, labour to build up, and to feed the Flock of God which is among you, taking the Oversight thereof, not by Constraint but willingly; not for filthy Lucre, but of a ready Mind; and when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a Crown of Glory that fadeth not away.

Secondly, And as the Ministers of Christ's Gospel shall at this Day be recompensed: so shall also those more private Saints be with tender Affections and Love looked on, and rewarded for all their Work and Labour of Love, which they have shewed to the Name of Christ, in ministering to his Saints, and suffering for his Sake. Whatsoever good thing any Man doth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free. Ah! little do the People of God think how largely and thoroughly God will at that Day, own and recompense all the good and holy Acts of his People. Every Bit, every Drop, every Rag, and every Nights Harbour, though but in a Wisp of Straw, shall be rewarded in that Day before Men and Angels. Who-soever shall give to drink, to one of these little ones, a Cup of cold Water, only in the Name of a Disciple: verily I say unto you, saith Christ, He shall in no wise lose a Disciples reward. Therefore when thou makest a Feast, saith he, call the poor, the maimed, the Lame and the blind, and thou shalt be blessed; for they cannot recompense thee, for thou shalt be recompensed at the Resurrection of the Just. If there be any Repentance among the godly at this Day, it will be, because the Lord Jesus in his Person, Members and Word, was no more owned, honoured, entertained, and provided for by them, when they were in this World: For it will be ravishing to all, to see what Notice the Lord Jesus will then take of every Widow's Mite. He, I say, will call to mind, even all those Acts of Mercy and Kindness, which thou hast shewed to him, when thou wast among Men. I say, he will remember, cry up, and proclaim before Angels and Saints, those very acts of thine, which thou hast either forgotten, or through Bashfulness wilt not at that Day, count worth the owning. He will reckon them up so fast, and so fully, that thou wilt cry, Lord, When did I do this? and when did I do the other? When saw we thee a hungry, and fed thee? or athirst, and gave thee drink? When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? or when saw we thee sick, or in Prison, and came unto thee? and the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, in as much as ye did it unto one of the least of these my Brethren, ye did it unto me. The good Works of some are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise cannot be hid. Whatever thou hast done to one of the least of these my Brethren, thou hast done it unto me. I felt the Nourishment of thy Food, and the Warmth of thy Fleece, I remember thy loving and holy Visits, when my poor Members were sick, and in Prison, and the like. When they were Strangers, and Wanderers in the World, thou tookest them in. Well done thou good and faithful Servant, enter thou into the Joy of thy Lord.

Thirdly, Here also will be a Reward for all that Hardness, and Christian enduring of Affliction that thou hast met with for thy Lord, while thou wast in the World. Here now will Christ begin from the greatest Suffering, even to the least, and bestow a Reward on them all: from the Blood of the suffering Saint to the loss of an Hair: nothing shall go unrewarded. For these light Afflictions which are but for a Moment, they work out for us a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of Glory. Behold by the Scriptures, how God hath recorded the sufferings

ven. And every one that hath forsaken Houses, or Brethren, or Sisters, or Father, or Mother, or Wife, or Children, or Lands, for my Names sake, shall receive an hundred fold, and shall inherit everlasting Life.

Fourthly, There is also a Reward at this Day, for all the more secret, and more retired Works of Christianity: There is not now one Act of Faith in thy Soul, either upon Christ, or against the Devil, and Antichrist; but it shall in this Day be found out, and praised, honoured and glorified, in 1 Pet. 1. 7. the Face of Heaven.

2. There is not one Groan to God in secret, against thy own Lusts, and for more Grace, Light, Spirit, Sanctification, and Strength, to go thorow this world like a Christian; but it shall even at the coming of
 Mat. 6. 6. Christ, be rewarded openly.

3. There hath not one Tear dropped from thy tender Eye against thy Lusts, the Love of this World, or for more Communion with Jesus Christ, but as it is now in the Bottle of God; so then it shall bring forth such Plenty of Reward, that it shall return upon thee, with Abundance of increase.

again, bringing his Sheaves with him.

Having thus in brief shewed you something concerning the Resurrection of the Saints, and that they shall count with their Lord at his coming, both for the burning up what was not according to the Truth, and rewarding them for all their Good. It remains, that I now in few Words, shew you something also of that with which they shall be rewarded.

First then, those that shall be found in the Day of their Resurrection, when they shall have all their good things brought upon the Stage; they I say, that then shall be found the People most laborious for God while here; they shall at that Day enjoy the greatest Portion of God, or shall be possessed with most of the Glory of the God-head then. For that is the Portion of the Saints in general. And why shall he that doth Rom. 8. most for God in this World enjoy most of
 17. him in that which is to come? But because Lam. 3. 24. by doing and acting, the Heart, and every Faculty of the Soul is enlarged, and more capacitated, whereby more room is made for Glory. Every Vessel of Glory shall at that day be full of it; but every one will not be capable to contain a like Measure. And so if they should have it communicated to them, would not be able to stand under it; for there is an eternal Weight in the Glory that Saints shall then enjoy; and every Vessel must be at that Day filled, that is, have its heavenly Load of it.

All Christians have not the same enjoyment of God in this Life, neither indeed were they able to bear it, if they had it. But those Christians that are most laborious for God in this World, they have already most of him in their Souls, and that not only because Diligence in God's ways, is the means whereby God communicates himself; but also because thereby the Senses are made more strong, and able, by reason of use to understand God, and to discern both good and evil. To him that hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance.
 Heb. 5. 13. He that laid out his Pound for his Master,
 Mat. 13. and gained ten therewith, he was made 11, 12. Ruler over ten Cities; but he that by his Pound gained but five, he was made Ruler over but five. Often, he that is best bred in his Luke 19. Youth, is best able to manage most when he 16, to 20. is a Man (touching things of this Life) but Dan 1. 3. always he that is best bred, and that is most in the bosom of God, and that so acts for him here; He is the Man that will be best able to enjoy most of God in the Kingdom of Heaven. It is observable, that Paul saith, Our Afflictions work out for us a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of Glory. Our Afflictions do it, not only because there is laid up a Reward for the afflicted, according to the Measure of Affliction; but because Afflictions, and so every Service of God, doth make the Heart more deep, more experimental, more knowing and profound; and so more able to hold, contain, and bear more. Every Man shall receive his own Reward, according to his own Labour. And this is the Reason of such Sayings as these; Lay up for yourselves a good Foundation against the Time to come, that you may lay hold on eternal Life: which eternal Life is not the Matter of our Justification from Sin in the Sight of God; for that is done freely by Grace through Faith in Christ's Blood; (but here the Apostle speaks of giving of Alms) but it is the same that in the other Place he calls the far more exceeding and eternal Weight of Glory. And hence it is, that he in his stirring them up to be diligent in good Works, doth tell them, that he doth not exhort them to it because he wanted, but because he would have Fruit that might abound to their Account; as he saith also in another Place, Beloved Brethren, be stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the Work of the Lord; for as much as ye know that your Labour is not in vain in the Lord. Therefore I say, the Reward that the Saints shall have at this Day for all the good they have done, it is the Enjoyment of God according to 8 T their

their Works: though they shall be freely justified and glorified without Works.

Secondly, As the Enjoyment of God at that Day, will be to the Saints according to their Works and Doings: (I speak not now of Justification from Sin) so will their Praise and Commendations at that Day be according to the same, and both of them their Degrees of Glory; for I say, as God by communicating of himself unto us at that Day, will thereby glorify us, so also he will for the adding all things that may furnish with Glory every way, cause to be proclaimed in the Face of Heaven, and in the Presence of all the holy Angels, every thing that hath for God, his Ways and People, been done by us while here we have been. Whatsoever hath been spoken in Darkness shall be heard in the Light: and that which ye have spoken in the Ear in Closets, shall be proclaimed upon the House tops. Again, He that shall confess me, saith Christ, before Men, him will I confess before the Angels of God.

Now as he of whom Christ is ashamed when he comes in his Glory, and in the Glory of the holy Angels, will then lie under unconceivable Disgrace, Shame, Dishonour, and Contempt: so he whom Christ shall confess, own, commend, and praise at that Day, must needs have very great Dignity, Honour, and Renown, for then shall every Man have Praise of God, to wit, according to his Works. Now will Christ proclaim before thee, and all others, what thou hast done, and what thou hast suffered, what thou hast owned, and what thou hast withstood for his Name. This is he that forsook his Goods, his Relations, his Country, and Life for me: This is the Man that overcame the Flatteries and Threats, Allurements and inticings of a whole World for me; behold him, he is an Israelite indeed, the top Man in his Generation, none like him in all the Earth. It is said, that when King Abasuerus, had Understanding of how good Service Mordecai the Jew had done to and for him, he commanded that the Royal Apparel and the Crown, with the Horse that the King did ride on, should be given to him, and that he should with that Crown, Apparel and Horse be had through the City, in the Presence of all his Nobles, and that Proclamation should be made before him, Thus shall it be done to the Man whom the King delighteth to honour.

Abasuerus in this was a Type, to hold forth to the Children of God, how kindly he will take all their Labour and Service of Love, and how he will honour and dignify the same; as Christ saith, Let your Loins be girded about, and your Lights burning, and you yourselves like unto Men that wait for their Lord, when he will return from the Wedding: that when he cometh and knocketh, ye may open to him immediately:

blest are those Servants, whom the Lord when he cometh shall find watching. Verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and shall make them sit down to Meat, and shall come forth and serve them. The Meaning is, that those Souls that shall make it their Business to honour the Lord Jesus Christ in the Day of their Temptation, he will make it his Business to honour and glorify them in the Day of his Glorification. Verily, I say unto you, that he will make them sit down to Meat, and shall come forth and serve them; if any Man will serve me, saith he, him will my Father honour. It hath been God's Way in this World, to proclaim the Acts and Doings of his Saints in his Word, before all in this World, and he will do it in that which is to come.

Thirdly, Another thing that shall be yet added to the Glory of the Saints, in the Kingdom of their Saviour, at his coming, is, they shall every one of them then have his Throne and Place of Degree on Christ's right Hand, and on his left, in his glorious Kingdom, according to the Relation they stand in to Christ, as the Members of his Body; for as Christ will have a special Eye on us, and a Tender and Affectionate Heart, to recompense to the full every good thing that any Man doth for his Name in this World: so also he will have as great regard, that there be to every Member of his Body, the Place, and State that is comely for every such Member. When the Mother of Zebedee's Children petitioned our Saviour, that he would grant to her, that her two Sons might sit the one on his right Hand, and the other on his left in his Kingdom: though he did not grant to her the request for her Children, yet he affirmed, That there would be Places of degrees and honour in Heaven, saying, To sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father. In the Temple, there were Chambers bigger and lesser, higher and lower, more inward, and more outward: which Chambers were Types of the Mansions that our Lord when he went away, told us he went to prepare for us. In my Father's House are many Mansions, if it were not so, I would have told you, I go to prepare a Place for you. The Foot here, shall not have the Place prepared for the Eye; nor yet the Hand, that which is prepared for the Ear; but every one shall have his own Place in the Body of Christ, and the glory also prepared for such a Relation: Order, as it is comely in Earth, so much more in the Kingdom of the God of Order, in Heaven, where all things shall be done in their utmost Perfections. Here shall Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Moses, Joshua, David, with the Prophets, have every one his Place, according to the Degree of old Testament Saints. As God said to Daniel, Go thy way till the end be;

for 13.

for thou shalt rest, and stand in the Lot at the End of the Days. And here also, shall Peter, Paul, Timothy, and all other the Church Officers have their Place, and Heavenly State, according as God hath set them in the Church in the New Testament. As Paul saith of the Deacons, They that use the Office of a Deacon well, they purchase to themselves a good degree, and great Boldness in the faith which is in Christ. And so of all other Saints, be they here of what Rank, Quality, or Place in the Church soever, they shall have every one his State, his heavenly State, according as he standeth in the Body: As he saith, seeing those Members that are most feeble, are necessary, to them shall be given more abundant honour. Of this Heavenly Order in the Kingdom of Christ, when his Saints are risen from the Dead, was Solomon a notable Type in his Family, and among his Servants and Officers, who kept such Exactness in the famous Order, in which he had placed all about him, that it did amaze and confound Beholders. For when the Queen of Sheba had seen the Wisdom of Solomon, and the House which he built, and the Meat of his Table, the sitting of his Servants, and the Attendance of his Ministers, and their Apparel, his Cup-bearers also, and their Apparel, and the ascent by which he went up into the House of the Lord: There was no more spirit in her. Glorious things are spoken of thee, O thou City of God.

Having gone thus far, I shall now come to the second part of the Text, to wit, that there shall be a Resurrection of the Wicked. There shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and unjust. For as the Just go before the unjust, in Name and Dignity, and Honour, so they shall in the last Day, go before them in the Resurrection.

Now then, when the Saints have thus risen out of their Graves, given up their Accounts, received their Glory, and are set upon the Thrones (for there are set Thrones of Judgment, the Thrones of the House of David;) When I say, they are all of them in their Royal Apparel, with Crowns of Glory, every one presenting the Person of a King: Then come the unjust out of their Graves, to receive their Judgment for what they have done in the Body. As Paul saith, We must all appear before the Judgment Seat of Christ, that every one (both Saints and Sinners) may receive the things done in the Body, whether it be good, or whether it be bad.

But now because I would prove by the words, whatever I would have others receive for a Truth: Therefore I shall in few particulars, prove the Resurrection of the wicked.

First then, it is evident, that the wicked shall rise from the very terms and names that the raised shall then go under, which is the very same Names that they did go under when they lived in this World. They are called the Heathen, the Nations, the World, the Wicked, and those that do Iniquity; they are called Men, Women, Sodom, Sidon, Bethsaida, Capernaum, and Tyre. The Men of Nineve shall rise up in Judgment, the Queen of the South shall rise up in the Judgment, and it shall be more tolerable for Sodom in the Day of Judgment, than for other sinners that have resisted more light. The Heavens and the Earth that now are, are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men. Now these Terms, or Names, are not given to the Spirits of the wicked only; but to them as consisting of Body and Soul. Further, Christ tells his Adversaries, when they had apprehended him, and shamefully intreated him, That yet they should see him sit on the right Hand of Power, and coming in the Clouds of Heaven, as John also doth testifie, saying, Behold he cometh with Clouds, and every eye shall see him, and they also that pierced him, and all the kindreds of the Earth, shall wail because of him. Now none of these sayings are yet fulfilled, neither shall they, until his second coming; for though the Jews did many of them see him, when he did hang upon the Cross, yet then he was not coming in the Clouds of Heaven, neither did then all kindreds of the Earth wail because of him. No, this is reserved till he comes to judge the World; for then shall the ungodly be so put to it, that gladly they would creep into the most invincible Rock or Mountain under Heaven, to hide themselves from his Face, and the Majesty of his Heavenly presence. There shall therefore, that this may be brought to pass, be a Resurrection of the dead, both of the just, and unjust. For tho' an Opinion of no Resurrection may now lull Men asleep, in security and impiety, yet the Lord, when he comes, will rouse them, and cause them to awake; not only out of their Security, but out of their Graves, to their Doom, that they may receive for their Error, the recompence that is meet.

Secondly, The Body of the ungodly must, at the last, arise out of the Grave, because that Body and their Soul, while they lived in the World, were Co-partners in their lusts and wickedness. God is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed. He will therefore bring every work into Judgment, with every secret thing. And as he will bring into Judgment every work, so will he also the worker thereof, even the Dead, small and great. It is not in God to lay the Punishment where the Fault is not, neither to punish a Part of the damned for the whole. With Righteousness shall he judge the World, and the People with

Gen. 18. 25. with Equity; shall not the Judge of all the Earth do right? As therefore the Body was Co-partner with the Soul in sinning, so shall every Man receive the Things done in his Body, according to what he hath done. Wherefore he saith in another place, Behold I come quickly, and my Reward is with me, to give every Man according as his work shall be. There shall therefore be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and unjust.

Rev. 22. 12.

Thirdly, The Body of the Wicked must rise again, because as the whole Man of the just also that is the Vessel of Mercy and Glory: so the whole Man of the unjust, is the Vessel of Wrath and Destruction. There are saith Paul, in a great House, not only Vessels of Gold and of Silver, but also of Wood and of Earth, and some to Honour and some to Dishonour. Now as he sheweth us these Vessels to Honour, they are good Men, and the Vessels to Dishonour are the bad. Now as these

2 Tim. 2. 20, 21. Vessels to Dishonour, are called the Vessels of Wrath; so it is said, that God with much long suffering, doth suffer them to be fitted to Destruction. How they are thus fitted, he also further sheweth, where

Rom. 9. 22. he saith, They do after their hardness and impenitent Heart, treasure up wrath against the

Rom. 2. 5. Day of wrath, and the Revelation of the Righteous Judgment of God. Which Treasure of Wickedness, James saith, it is treasured up against the last Days, (which is the Time of Judgment,) and observe it, he

Jam. 5. 12, 13. saith, That then it shall eat their flesh as it were fire. Now then their Bodies being the Vessels of the Wrath of God, and again, seeing with this Wrath they must be possessed at the last Day, that their Flesh must with it be eaten, it is evident, that their Body must rise again out of their Graves, and before the Judgment Seat appear; for it is from thence, that each of them must go with his full load to their long and eternal home, where their Worm dieth not, and their fire is not quenched.

Mark 9. 47, 48.

Fourthly, The severity of the Hand of God towards his Children, with his forbearance of his Enemies, doth clearly bespeak a Resurrection of the ungodly, that they may receive the Reward for their Wickedness which they have committed in this World. We know, that while the Eyes of the Wicked start out with Fatness, the godly are plagued all the Day long, and chastened every Morning. Wherefore it is evident, that the Place and Time of the Punishment of the ungodly, it is another World. If Judgment begin at the Psal. 73. 3, to 15.

House of God, what will the End of them be, that obey not the Gospel of God? and if the Righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the Ungodly and Sinner appear? Alas, poor Creatures! They now plot against the Righteous, and gnash upon them with their Teeth, but the Lord laugheth at them, for

1 Pet. 4. 17, 18.

he seeth their Day is coming? for as he saith, the Wicked is reserved, or let alone in his Wickedness, to the Day of Destruction, and shall then be brought forth to the Day of Wrath, though in the mean time he may go to his Grave in his Banner, and rest within his Tomb. As Peter saith again, The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of Temptation, but to reserve the unjust to the Day of Judgment to be punished. And Jude saith, For them is reserved the Blackness of Darkness for ever. The Punishment of the ungodly, it is reserved till the Day of Judgment, which will be the Time of their Resurrection.

Observe, first, The Wicked must be punished. Secondly, The time of their Punishment is not now, but at the Day of Judgment. Thirdly, This Day of Judgment must be the same with the Resurrection of the Dead, at the End of this World. As therefore the Tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of this World. The Son of Man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his Kingdom all things that offend, and them that do iniquity, and shall cast them into a Furnace of Fire, there shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth. There shall then be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just, and unjust.

Fourthly, The Sovereignty of the Lord Jesus over all Creatures, doth plainly fore-shew a Resurrection of the bad, as well as of the good. Indeed, the unjust shall not arise, by vertue of any Relation they stand in to the Lord Jesus, as the Saints shall; but yet, because all are delivered into his Hand, and he made Sovereign Lord over them; therefore, by an Act of his Sovereign Power, they that are ungodly shall arise, this is Christ's own Argument, The Father judgeth no Man, saith he, but hath committed all Judgment unto the Son; that is, Count him, and fall before him as their Sovereign Lord, even as they honour the Father, and he hath given him Authority to execute Judgment also, because he is the Son of Man. And then he adds, Marvel not at this, for the Hour is coming, that all that are in their Graves shall hear his Voice, and shall come forth, they that have done good to the Resurrection of Life; and they that have done evil to the Resurrection of Damnation.

From hence also Paul argueth, saying, For this Cause he both died, rose and revived, that he might be Lord both of the Dead and living. And then adds, We must all stand before the Judgment Seat of Christ.

Pray mind these words, Jesus Christ by his Death and Resurrection, did not only purchase Grace and Remission of Sins for his Elect, with their Eternal Glory; but did thereby also obtain of the Father, to be Lord and Head over all things, whether they be Things in Heaven, or Things on Psalm 37. 12, 13. Job 21. 29. 1 Peter 2. 9. Jude 13. Mat. 13. 40, 41. Joh. 5. 22, 23, 27, 28. Rom. 14. 9, 10.

on on Earth, or things under the Earth, All Power, saith he, in Heaven and in Earth, is given unto me, and I have the Keys of Hell and of Death. So that all things, I say, whether they be visible or invisible, whether they be Thrones or Dominions, or Principalities or Powers; all Things were created by him, and for him. This being thus at the Name of Jesus, every knee must bow, and every Tongue confess that he is Sovereign Lord, to the Glory of God the Father. Now, that this may be done, he hath his Resolutions upon a Judgment-day, in which he, to shew himself, his People, his Way, and Word in their Glory, will have all his Enemies raised out of their Graves, and brought before him, where he will sit upon them in the Throne of his Glory, and will shew them then, who is the only Potentate, the King of Kings, and Lord of Lords.

Beloved, He comes with ten Thousand of his Saints, to execute Judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them, of all their ungodly Deeds which they have committed, and of all their wicked speeches which ungodly Sinners have spoken against him.

Fifthly, The great Preparation that God hath made for the Judgment of the Wicked, doth clearly demonstrate their rising forth out of their Graves.

First, He hath appointed the Day of their rising.

Secondly, He hath appointed their Judge to judge them.

Thirdly, He hath recorded all their acts and doings against that Day.

Fourthly, He hath also already appointed the Witnesses to come in against them.

Fifthly, The Instruments of Death and Misery, are already prepared for them.

For the first, he hath appointed the Day of their rising, which Day John calleth the time of the Dead, that they should be judged. Which time, Paul saith, is a time fixed; he hath appointed a Day, in which he will judge the World, &c. This Time and Day, Christ brings down to an hour, saying, The hour is coming, when all that are in their Graves shall hear his Voice, and shall come forth, &c.

Secondly, As he hath appointed the Day, so he hath appointed the Judge. He hath appointed a Day in which he will judge the World in Righteousness, by that Man whom he hath ordained, of which he hath given assurance to all Men, in that he hath raised him from the Dead. This Man is Jesus Christ; for it is He that is ordained of God, to be the Judge of the Quick and the Dead.

Thirdly, All their deeds and works, to a word and thought, and every one already Recorded and Inrolled in the Books of the Laws of Heaven against that Day. The sin of Judah is written with a Pen of Iron, and with the point of a Diamond, upon the Tables of their Heart. And again, saith God, Write it in a Table, and note it in a Book, that it may be for the time to come, even for ever and ever, that this is a rebellious House, &c.

Fourthly, God hath prepared his Witnesses against this Day.

Fifthly, The Instruments of Death, and Eternal Misery, are all already prepared. He hath prepared for them the Instruments of Death, he hath ordained his Arrows against the Face of Persecutors. Hell is of old prepared, he hath made it deep and large, the fire, the everlasting fire is also now of a long time prepared; the heavy weights of God's Curse are also ready, and their Damnation now of a long time slumbereth not.

But now I say, how ridiculous a Business would all this be, if these things should be all prepared of the only wise God, and there should be none to be judged; or if he that is ordained Judge, should not either through want of Power or Will, command these Rebels, and force them before his Judgment Seat. Glad indeed would the Sinners be, if these things might be true.

Glad I say, at very heart, if they might be in their secret Places of Darkness, and the Grave for ever; but it must not be, the Day of their rising is set; the Judge is appointed, their Deeds are written; the deep Dungeon is with open Mouth, ever waiting for them; wherefore at the Day appointed, neither Earth, nor Death, nor Hell, can hinder: There shall be a Resurrection of the Dead, both of the Just and Unjust.

Lastly, Besides what hath been said, I cannot but believe, there shall be a Resurrection of the Wicked at the last Day, because of the ungodly Consequences and Errors that do most naturally follow the denial thereof.

For first, He that taketh away the Doctrine of the Resurrection of the Wicked: He taketh away one of the main Arguments that God hath provided for to convince a Sinner, of the evil of his Ways; for how shall a Sinner be convinced of the evil of Sin, if he be not convinced of the certainty of Eternal Judgment? and how shall he be convinced of Eternal Judgment, if you perswade him, that when he is dead, he shall not at all arise? especially seeing the Resurrection of the Dead, and Eternal Judgment, must unavoidably be one the fore-runner of the other. It was Paul's reasoning of Righteousness, Temperance, and Judgment to come, that made Felix tremble.

'Tis this also he calleth the Argument of terrour, wherewith he perswaded Men. This was Solomon's Argument, and Christ's also, where he saith That every idle word that Man shall speak, he shall give an account thereof, in the Day of Judgment.

2 Cor. 5. Secondly, They that deny the Resurrec- 10, 11. tion of the wicked, they do both allow and Eccles. 11. maintain the chief Doctrine of the Ranters, 9. with most of the Debauched Persons in the Mat. 12. World. For the Ranters deny it both in 36. Principle and Practice, and the other in Practice at least. Now to me it is very strange, that these Men above all other, should both know and live in the Doctrines of the Kingdom of God: especially, seeing the Denial hereof is an evident Token of one appointed to Wrath and Destruction.

2 Tim. 2. But to be plain, There shall be a Resurrec-
 18. tion of the Dead, both of the Just and Un- just: Wherefore, whatever others may say or profess, being beguiled by Satan, and their own Hearts, yet do thou fear him that Mat. 10. can destroy both Body and Soul in Hell.
 28.

There shall be a Resurrection of the Dead
 Rev. 20. both of the just and unjust. And the Sea gave
 13. up the Dead that were in it, and Death and Hell delivered up the Dead that were in them.

Having in the first Place shewed you, that the wicked must arise; I shall in the next Place shew you the manner of their rising. And observe it, as the very Title of the just and unjust are Opposites, so they are in all other Matters, and in their Re- surrections.

First then, as the just in their Resurrection do come forth in Incorruption; the unjust in their Resurrection shall come forth in their Corruptions; for though the un-godly at their Resurrection, shall for ever after be incapable of having Body and Soul separate: Or of their being annihilated into nothing; yet it shall be far from them to rise in Incorruption; for if they arise in In-corruption, they must arise to Life, and also must have the Conquest over Sin and Death. But that they shall not; for it is the Righteous only that put on Incorrup-tion, that are swallowed up of Life. The Wicked's Resurrection, it is called the Resurrection of Damnation. These in their John 5. 28. very Resurrection shall be hurt of the second Death. They shall arise in Death, and shall be under it, under the gnawings and Terrors of it, all the Time of their Arraignment. As it were, a living Death shall feed upon them, they shall never be spiritually alive, nor yet absolutely dead:
 but much after that manner that natural Death and Hell, by reason of Guilt, doth feed on him, that is going before the Judge to receive his Condemnation to the Gallows. You know, though a Felon go forth of the Goal, when he is going to the Bar for his Arraignment, yet he is not out of Prison, or out of his Irons for that; his Fetters are still making a Noise on his Heels, and the Thoughts of what he is to hear by and by from the Judge, is still frightening and afflicting his Heart; Death like some evil Spirit or Ghost, doth continually haunt him, and playeth the Butcher continually in his Soul and Conscience, with Frights and Fears about the Thoughts of the sudden and unsupportable After-clap by and by he is to meet withal.

Thus I say will the Wicked come out of their Graves, having yet the Chains of eternal Death hanging on them, and the Talons of that dreadful Ghost fastned in their Souls. So that Life will be far from them, even as far as Heaven is from Hell.
 This Morning to them, is even as the Shadow of Death. They will then be in the Job 24. 17.
very Terrors of the Shadow of Death. As Christ saith, Their Worm never dies, and Mark 8. their Fire is never quenched. From Death 43, 44.
 to Eternity it never shall be quenched, their Bed is now among the Flames; and when they rise, they will rise in Flames; while they stand before the Judge, it will be in Flames, even in the Flames of a guilty Conscience: They will in their coming before the Judge, be within the very Jaws of Death and Destruction. Thus I say, the ungodly shall be far off from rising as the Saints; for they will be even in the Region and Shadow of Death. The first Moment of their rising, Death will be ever over them, ever feeding on their Souls; and ever presenting to their Hearts, the Heights and Depths of the Misery that now must seize them, and like a bottomless Gulf must swallow them up. They shall Mic. 7. 17.
come out of their Holes like Worms of the Earth, and be afraid of the Lord our God.

Secondly, As the Resurrection of the godly shall be a Resurrection in Glory: So the Resurrection of the Wicked, it will be a Resurrection in Dishonour. Yea, as the Glory of Saints at the Day of their rising, will be Glory unspeakable: so the Dishonour of the Ungodly at that day, it will be Disho-nour beyond Expression. As Daniel saith, Dan. 12. 2.
The good shall rise to everlasting Life, but the wicked to Shame and everlasting Contempt.
 And again, When thou, O God, awakest, that is, to judge them, thou shalt despise their Image. Never was Toad or Serpent more Psal. 73.
 loathsome to any, than these will be in the 20.
 Eyes of God, in their rising forth of their Graves. When they go to their Graves, saith Job, Their Bones are full of the Sin of Job 20. 11, their Youth, which lieth down in the Dust with them. And arise they shall, in the same noisome and stinking Condition; for as Death leaves, so Judgment finds them.
 At the Resurrection then of these ungodly, they will be in a very loathsome Condition.
 The Ungodly at their Death are like the Thistle-seed; but at their rising, they will be like the Thistle grown; more noisome, offensive, and provoking to rejection abundantly. Then such Dishonour, Shame, and Contempt will appear in them, that neither God nor Christ, Saints nor Angels, will so much as once regard them, or vouchsafe once to come near them. He beboldeth the Wicked

Wicked afar off; because in the Day of Grace they would not come to hand, and be saved, therefore now they shall, all as Thorns, be thrust away, as with Fences of Iron. Their rising is called the Resurrection of the Unjust, and so they at that Day will appear, and will more stink in the Nostrils of God, and all the heavenly Hosts, than if they had the most irksome Plague-sores in the World running on them. If a Man at his Birth, be counted as one cast forth to the loathing of his Person; how loathsome and irksome, dishonourable and contemptible, will those be that shall arise Godless, Christless, Spiritless, and Graceless, when the Trumpet sounds to their Judgment, they coming out of their Graves far more loathsome and filthy, than if they should ascend out of the most filthy Hole on Earth.

Thirdly, As the Just shall rise in Power, so the Wicked and Unjust in Weakness and Astonishment. Sin and Guilt bringeth Weakness and Faintness in this Life: how much more, when both with all their Power and Force, like a Giant, fasten on them, as God, saith, Can thy Hands be strong, and can thy Heart endure in the Day that I shall deal with thee? Now will the ghastly Jaws of Despair gape upon thee, and now will Condemnings of Conscience, like Thunder-claps, continually batter against thy weary Spirits. It is the Godly that have Boldness in the Day of Judgment; but the Wicked will be like the Chaff which the Wind driveth away. O the Fear, and the Heart-aking that will seize them in their rising! The frightful Thoughts that then will fill their throbbing Hearts: Now must that Soul that hath been in Hell-fire among the Devils, possess the Body again. Possess it, I say, with the hot scalding Stink of Hell upon it. They shall not be able to lift up the Head for ever, Pangs shall take hold on them, all their Hands shall faint, and every Man's Heart shall melt; They shall be amazed one at another, their Faces shall be as Flames. Every thing they see, hear, or think of, shall tend to their Discomfort. They must needs be weak, whom God hath left, whom Guilt hath seized, and whom Death is swallowing up for ever.

Fourthly, As the Just shall arise spiritual Bodies, so the Unjust shall arise only as mere and naked Lumps of sinful Nature: Not having the least Help from God to bear them up under this Condition. Wherefore, so soon as ever they are risen out of their Graves, they will feel a continual sinking under every Remembrance of every Sin, and Thoughts of Judgment; in their rising they fall, fall I say, from thenceforth, and for ever. And for this Reason the Dungeon into which they fall, is called Bottomless. Because, as there will be no end of their Misery, so there will be no Stay or Prop to bear them up in it. Only, as I said before, they shall not now, as afore, be separate Body from Soul, but both together be bound in the Cords of Sin and Iniquity, in which they shall now tremble as Thieves and Murderers, &c. as they go before the Judge, to hear what he will say unto them.

Now when the Wicked are thus raised out of their Graves, they shall, together with all the Angels of Darkness, their Fellow-Prisoners, be brought up, being shackled in their Sins, to the Place of Judgment; where there shall sit upon them Jesus Christ, the King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, the Lord Chief Judge of things in Heaven and Earth, and things under the Earth. On whose right Hand and left, shall sit all the Princes and heavenly Nobles, the Saints and Prophets, the Apostles, and Witnesses of Jesus: Every one in his kingly Attire, upon the Throne of his Glory. Then shall be fulfilled that which is written, As for these my Enemies, that would not that I should reign over them, bring them before me to slay them. ^{Joel 3. 11. Luke 19. 27.}

When every one is thus set in his proper Place, the Judge on his Throne, with his Attendants, and the Prisoners coming up to Judgment: Forthwith there shall issue forth a mighty Fire and Tempest from before the Throne, which shall compass it round about. Which Fire shall be as Bars and Bounds to the wicked, to keep them at a certain distance from the Heavenly Majesty. As David saith, Our God will come, and not keep silence, a Fire shall devour before him, and it shall be very Tempestuous round about him. And again, His Throne was like the Fiery Flame, and his Wheels like burning Fire. A Fiery Stream issued, and came forth from before him, &c. ^{Psal. 50. 3. Dan. 7. 9.}

This Preparation being made, to wit, the Judge with his Attendance on the Throne; the Bar for the Prisoners, and the Rebels all standing with ghastly Jaws, to look for what comes after: Presently the Books are brought forth, to wit, the Books both of Death and Life. And every one of them Opened before the Sinners, now to be Judged and Condemned. For after that he had said before, A Fiery Stream issued, and came forth from before him: He adds, Thousands, Thousands ministered to him, and ten Thousand times ten Thousand stood before him: The Judgment was set, and the Book was opened. And again, I saw a great white Throne, and him that sate upon it, from whose Face, the Earth and the Heaven fled away, and there was found no more Place for them; and I saw the Dead, Small and Great, stand before God, and the Books were Opened: and another Book was Opened, which is the Book of Life. And the Dead were Judged out of the things that were written in the Books, according to their Works. ^{Dan. 7. 10. Rev. 20. 11, 12.}

He doth not say, the Book was opened, as of one, but the Books, as of many. And indeed, they are more than one, two, or three, three, out of which the Dead shall in the Judgment be proceeded against.

First then, there is the Book of the Creatures to be opened.

Secondly, The Book of God's Remembrance.

Thirdly, The Book of the Law.

And fourthly, The Book of Life. For by every one of these, that is, out of what is written in them, shall the World of the ungodly be judged.

And the Books were opened.

First, The Book of the Creatures shall be opened, and that first as it concerns Man's Nature, and next, as it relates to all other Creatures. First, he will shew in what the Principles of Nature were, as they were God's Creation; and how contrary to these Principles the World have walked, acted, and done. The Principles of Nature are concluded under these three general Heads.

First, That Man by his own Natural Reason and Judgment, may gather, that there is a God, a Deity, a Chief, or first, or principal Being, who is over all, and supreme above all. This instinct, I say, Man meely as he is a Rational Creature, findeth in himself; and hence it is, that all Heathens that mind their own Natural Reason, do conclude, that we are his Off-spring; that is, his Creation and Workmanship. That he made Heaven and Earth, and hath made of one Blood, all Nations of Men; That in him we live, and move, and have our Being, &c.

It appears further, that Man by his own Nature, doth know that there is such a God.

1. By his being able to judge by Nature, that there is such a thing as Sin, as Christ saith, Why do ye not even of your selves, judge that which is right? As if he had said, you are degenerated even from the Principles of Nature and right Reason; as Paul saith in another Place, Doth not even Nature it self teach you. Now he that can judge, that there is such a thing as Sin, it must of necessity be, that he understandeth that there is a God, to whom Sin is opposite; for if there be no God, there is no Sin against him, and he that knows not the one, knows not the other.

2. It is evident further, that Man by Nature knows that there is a God, by those fits of Fear and Dread that is often begotten in themselves, even in every Man that breatheth in this World; for they are by their own Consciences and Thoughts convicted and reprov'd, judged and condemn'd, though they know neither Moses nor Christ. For the Gentiles which have not the Law, these are a Law to themselves, and shew the Works of the Law, written in their Hearts; that is, by this very thing, they hold forth to all Men, that God created them in that State and Quality, that they might, in, and by their own Nature, judge and know, that there is a God. And it further sheweth it self, saith he, by those Workings of Heart, Convictions of Conscience, and Accusations, that every Thought maketh within them, together with the Fear that is begotten in them; when they transgress, or do those things that are irrational, or contrary to what they see they shall do. I might add further, that the Natural Proneness that is in all Men to Devotion and Religion, that is, of one kind or another, doth clearly tell us, that they by the Book of Nature, which Book is themselves, do read, that there is one great and eternal God.

Secondly, The second Principle of Nature is, That this God should by Man be sought after, that they might enjoy Communion with him for ever. As I said before, the Light of Nature sheweth Man, that there is a great God, even God that made the World; and the end of its shewing him this is, that they might seek the Lord, if happily they may feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of them, &c.

Thirdly, This Light of Nature teacheth, that Men between themselves, should do that which is just and equal. As Moses said, and that long before the Law was given, Sirs, ye are Brethren, why do ye wrong one another? as who should say, you are of equal Creation, you are the same Flesh; you both judge, that it is not equally done of any to do you wrong, and therefore ought to judge by the same Reason, that ye ought not to wrong one another.

Now against every one of these three Principles, hath every Man in the whole World transgressed, as Paul saith; For both Jews and Gentiles, are all under Sin. For as touching the first, who is he that hath honoured, revered, worshipped, and adored the living God, to the Height both of what they saw in him, and also according to the Goodness and Mercy they have as Men, received from him? All have served and worshipped the Creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever, and so have walked contrary to, and have sinned against this Bond of Nature, in this first Principle of it.

Secondly, Men instead of minding their own future Happiness, as Nature teacheth, they have through their giving way to Sin and Satan, minded nothing less; for though Reason teacheth all Men to love that which is good and profitable, yet they contrary to this, have loved that which is hurtful and destructive. Yea, though Sense teacheth to avoid the Danger that is manifest: Yet Man, contrary to Reason and Sense both, even all Men have both against Light and Feeling, rejected their own Happiness, as Paul saith, Though they know the Judgments of God, that they which do such things, are are worthy of Death: not only do the same, but take Pleasure in them that do them.

Thirdly, Man instead of doing Equity, and as he would be done by, which Nature it self teacheth: he hath given up himself to vile Affections, being filled, by refusing the Dictates of Nature, with all Unrighteousness, Fornication, Wickedness, Covetousness, Maliciousness, Envy, Murder, Debate, Deceit, Malignity, Whispering, Backbiting: to hate God, to be despiteful, proud Boasters, Inventors of evil things, disobedient to Parents, without Understanding, Covenant-breakers, without natural Affections, implacable, unmerciful.

And observe it, he doth not say, that all these things are by every Man put into Practice; but every Man hath all these in his Heart, which there defile the Soul, and make it abominable in the Sight of God. They are filled with all Unrighteousness, which also appears, as Occasion serveth, sometimes one of them, sometimes more. Now Man having sinned against that natural Light, Judgment, Reason, and Conscience, that God hath given him: Therefore, though as I said before, he neither knew Moses nor Christ, yet he shall perish. As many, saith Paul, as have sinned without Law, they shall perish without Law.

Yea, here will Man be found, not only a Sinner against God, but an Opposer of himself, a Contradictor of his own Nature, and one that will not do that which he judgeth even of himself to be right. Their Sin is written upon the Tables of their own Hearts, and their own Wickedness and Back-sliding, shall both correct and reprove them.

It is marvellous (if we consider) how curious a Creature Man was made of God: To behold how much below, besides and against that State and Place, Man acts and does in this State of Sin and Degeneracy. Man in his Creation was made in the Image of God; but Man, by reason of his yielding to the Tempter, hath made himself the very Figure and Image of the Devil. Man by Creation was made upright, and sinless; but Man by Sin, hath made himself crooked and sinful. Man by Creation, had all the Faculties of his Soul at Liberty, to study God his Creator, and his glorious Attributes and Being; but Man by Sin hath so bound up his own Senses and Reason, and hath given way for Blindness and Ignorance of God, so to reign in his Soul, that now he is captivated, and held bound in Alienation and Estrangedness, both from God, and all things truly spiritually good; Because, saith he, That when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, but became vain in their Imaginations, and their foolish Hearts were darkened. And again, having the Understanding darkened, being alienated from the Life of God, through the Ignorance that is in them, through the Blindness of their Hearts.

Now for this abuse of the Workmanship of God, shall Man be brought forth to the Judgment, shall be convicted, cast, and condemned as a Rebel, against both God, and his own Soul, as Paul affirmeth, and that when he reasoned but as a Man.

When this Part of the Book touching Man's Nature, is opened, and Man convicted and cast by it, by reason of his sinning against the three general Principles thereof: then forthwith is the second Part of the Book opened, which is the Mystery of the Creatures; for the whole Creation that is before thee, are not only made to shew the Power of God in themselves, but also to teach thee, and to preach unto thee, both much of God and thy self; as also the Righteousness, and Justice of God against Sin; For the Wrath of God is revealed from Heaven, against all Ungodliness, and Unrighteousness of Men, who hold the Truth in Unrighteousness, because that which may be known of God, is manifest in them; for God hath shewed it unto them; for the invisible things of him, from the Creation of the World, are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his Eternal Power and God-head: so that they are left without Excuse.

The Creation then of the World, namely of the Heavens, Earth, Sun, Moon, Stars, with all other the Creatures of God: They preach aloud to all Men, the Eternal Power and God-head of their Creator. In Wisdom he hath made them all; To be teachable, and carrying Instruction in them; and he that is wise and will understand these things, even he shall understand the loving Kindness of the Lord; for the Works of the Lord are great, and sought out of all them that have Pleasure therein.

Secondly, As the Creation in general, preacheth to every Man something of God: So they do hold forth how Man should behave himself both to God, and one to another; and will assuredly come in, in the Judgment, against all those that shall be found Crossers, and Thwarters of what God by the Creatures doth hold forth to us.

As first, The Obedience of the Creatures both to God and thee; first to God, they are all in Subjection (set Devils and Men aside) even the very Dragons, and all Deeps, Fire, Hail, Snow, and Vapours, fulfilling his Word. Yea, the Winds and Seas obey him. Thus, I say, by their Obedience to God, they teach thee Obedience, and by their Obedience, shall thy Disobedience be condemned in the Judgment.

2. Their Obedience to thee also, teacheth thee Obedience to all Superiours; For every kind of Beasts, and of Birds, and Serpents, and things in the Sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed, and brought into Obedience by Mankind. Man only remains untamed, and unruly, and therefore by these are condemned.

Secondly, The Fruitfulness of all the Creatures, in their kind, doth teach and admonish thee to a fruitful Life to Godward, and in the things of his holy Word. God did but say in the Beginning, Let the Earth bring forth Fruit, Grass, Herbs, Trees, Beasts, creeping things, and Cattle after their kind; and it was so. But to Man he hath sent his Prophets, rising early, and sending them, saying, O do not this abominable thing that I hate; but they will not obey. For if the Gentiles which have not the Law, do, by some Acts of Obedience, condemn the Wickedness of those, who do by the Letter and Circumcision break the Law, how much more shall the Fruitfulness of all the Creatures come in, in the Judgment against the whole World! As Job saith, By the Obedience and Fruitfulness of the Creatures he judgeth, (and so will he judge) the People.

Thirdly, The Knowledge and Wisdom of the Creatures, do with a Check command thee to be wise, and do teach thee Wisdom.

1. The Stork in the Heaven, the Swallow and the Crane, by observing the Time and Season of their coming, do admonish thee to learn the time of Grace, and of the Mercy of God.

2. The Ox and the Ass, by the Knowledge they have of their Master's Crib, do admonish thee to know the Bread and Table of God, and both do and shall condemn thy Ignorance of the Food of Heaven.

Fourthly, The Labour and Toil of the Creatures, doth convict thee of Sloth and Idleness. Go to the Ant, thou Sluggard, consider her Ways, and be wise; for she provideth her Food in the Summer, and layeth up against the Day of Trial. But thou spendest the whole Summer of thy Life, in wasting both Time and Soul. All things are full of Labour, saith Solomon, only Man spendeth all the Day idle, and his Tears like a Tale that is told. The Coney is but a feeble Folk, yet laboureth for a House in the Rock, to be safe from the Rage of the Hunter.

The Spider also taketh hold with her Hands, and is in King's Palaces. 'Tis Man only that turneth himself upon the Bed of Sloth, as the Door doth itself upon the Hinges: 'Tis Man, I say, that will neither lay hold on the Rock Christ, as the Coney doth teach, nor lay hold on the Kingdom of Heaven, as the Spider doth bid him.

Fifthly, The Fear that is in all Creatures, when they perceive that Danger is near, it teacheth Men to fly from the Wrath to come; In vain is the Snare laid in the Sight of any Bird; but Man, Man only is the fool-hardy Creature, that layeth wait for his own Blood, and that lurketh privily for his own Life. How, I say, will every Creature fly, run, strive, and struggle to escape the Danger it is sensible of? 'Tis Man only that delighteth to dance about the Mouth of Hell, and to be knowingly smitten with Satan's Snare.

Sixthly, The Dependence that all the Creatures have upon God: They teach thee to depend on him that made thee; yea, and will in the Judgment condemn thee for thy unlawful Practices, and Dealings for thy Preservation. The young Ravens seek their Food from God, and will condemn thy lying, cheating, over-reaching, defrauding, and the like; they provide neither Store-house nor Barn; but thou art so greedy of these things, that thou for them shuttest thyself out of the Kingdom of Heaven.

Seventhly, The Love and Pity that is in their Hearts to their Young, and one another, will judge and condemn the Hard-heartedness that is in thee to thy own Soul. What shall I say? The Heavens shall reveal thy Iniquity, and the Earth shall rise up against thee. That is, all the Creatures of God, they will by their Fruitfulness and Subjection to the Will of their Creator, judge and condemn thee for thy Disobedience, and Rebellion against him.

Now as these Creatures do every Day call unto thee, and lay before thee these things: So he hath for thy awakening, in case thou be asleep, and senseless, Creatures of another Nature, as

1. Thy Bed when thou lyeest down in it, preacheth to thee thy Grave; thy Sleep, thy Death, and thy rising in the Morning, thy Resurrection to Judgment.

2. The Gaol that thou seeest with thine Eyes, and the Felons that look out at the Grate, they put thee in mind of the Prison of Hell, and of the dreadful State of those that are there.

3. The Fire that burns in thy Chimney, it holds forth the Fire of Hell unto thee.

4. The ugly Smell, Stench and Steam of the burning Brimstone, it shews thee the loathsome, odious and dreadful Torments of Hell.

The Darkness of the Night in solitary Places, and the Fears that do commonly haunt those that walk therein: it preacheth to thee the Fears and Frights, the Scares and Amazements, that will for ever attend all damned Souls.

6. By thy delighting when thou art cold, to lay Sticks on the Fire to warm thyself, not caring how fiercely they flame therein, so thou canst be warm, and be refreshed thereby: by this, I say, God preacheth to thee, with what Delight he will burn Sinners in the Flames of Hell, for the easing of his Mind, and the Satisfaction of his Justice.

Ab! saith he, I will ease me of my Adversaries, and avenge me of mine Enemies.

7. Yea, by thy blowing the Fire, that it may fasten upon the Wood the better: thou preacheest to thy self, how God will blow the Fire of Hell by the rigour of his Law, to the end, it may by its Flames, to purpose, kindle upon damned Sinners.

All these things, as inconsiderable and unlikely as they may appear to you now, yet in the Judgment, will be found the Items, and warning Words of God to your Souls. And know, that he who could overthrow the Land of Egypt, with Frogs, Lice, Flies, Locusts, &c. will overthrow the World, at the last Day, by the Book of the Creatures; and that by the least, and most inconsiderable of them, as well as by the rest. This Book of the Creatures, it is so excellent, and so full, so easy, and so suiting the Capacity of all, that there is not one Man in the World, but is caught, convicted, and cast by it. This is the Book, that he who knows no Letters may read in: yea, and that he who neither saw New-Testament, nor Old, may know both much of God, and himself by. 'Tis this Book, out of which generally, both Job and his Friends did so profoundly discourse of the Judgments of God, and that out of which God himself did so convincingly answer Job. Job was as perfect in this Book, as we are many of us in the Scriptures; yea, and could see further by it, than many now a days do see by the New-Testament and Old. This is the Book, out of which both Christ, the Prophets, and Apostles, do so frequently discourse by their Similitudes, Proverbs, and Parables: as being the most easie Way to convince the World, though by reason of their Ignorance, nothing will work with them, but what is set on their Heart by the Holy Ghost.

One Word further, and I have done with this, and that is, God hath sealed the Judgment of the World by the Book of the Creatures, even by Man's own Carriage unto such of them, which through any Impediment, have disappointed his Expectations. As thus, if thou hast but a Tree in thy Orchard, that neither beareth Fruit, nor ought else that is good: Why, thou art for hewing it down, and for appointing it as Fuel for the Fire: Now thou little thinkest that by thy thus judging, thou shouldest pass Sentence upon thy own fruitless Soul; but it is so, For now is that Ax laid to the Roots of the Trees, and every Tree that bringeth not forth good Fruit, is hewn down, and cast into the Fire. For as truly as thou sayest of thy fruitless Tree, cut it down, why doth it cumber the Ground? So truly doth thy Voice cause Heaven to eccho again upon thy Head: Cut him down, why doth he cumber the Ground?

Further, The inclination of thy Heart towards fruitless and unprofitable Creatures, doth fore-preach to thee, the Inclination of the Heart of God towards thee in the Judgment: If thou hast either Cow, or any other Beast, that is now unprofitable to thee, though thou mayst suffer them for some time to be with thee, as God suffereth Sinners in the World, yet all this while thy Heart is not with them; but thou wilt take thy time to clear thy Hands of them. Why, just so shall thy Judgment be, as God saith, Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, that is, to pray me to spare this People, yet my Heart could not be towards them, therefore cast them out of my sight, and let them go forth. Jer. 15. 1. Ezek. 14. 13, 14.

Thus I say, will God judge the World at the last Day; he will open before them, how they have degenerated and gone back from the Principles of Nature, in which he created them. Also how they have slighted all the Instructions that he hath given them, even by the Obedience, Fruitfulness, Wisdom, Labour, Fear and Love of the Creatures; and he will tell them that as to their Judgment, they themselves have decided it, both by their cutting down that which was fruitless, and by the withdrawing of their Hearts from those things, which to them were unprofitable: As therefore the Tares are gathered, and burned in the Fire, so shall it be in the end of the World. As Men deal with Weeds, and rotten Wood, so will God deal with Sinners in the Day of Judgment: And will bring in, I say, all the Counsels and Warnings he hath given Men by these things, both to clear up, and to aggravate their judgment to them.

The second Book that will be opened at this Day, it will be the Book of God's Remembrance. For as God hath in his Remembrance, Recorded all and every particular good thing that his own People have done to and for his Name, while they were in this World: So he hath in his Remembrance, Recorded all the Evil and Sin of his Adversaries; even every thing. Now God's Remembrance is so perfect every way, that it is impossible that any thing should be lost that is committed to it to be kept; and brought forth to the Judgment at the time appointed; for as a thousand years are but as yesterday, with his Eternity: So the Sins that have been committed thousands of Years since, they are all so firmly fixed in the Remembrance of the Eternal God, that they are always as fresh and clear in his Sight as if they were but just now in committing. He calleth again the things that are past, and hath set our most securest things in the Light of his Countenance. As he also saith in another Place, Hell it self is naked before him, and Destruction hath no Covering. That is, the most secret, cunning and hidden Contrivances of the most subtil of the Infernal Spirits, which yet are far more slethy than Men, to hide their Wickedness; yet, I say, all their Ways, Hearts, and most secret doings, are clear, to the very bottom of them, in the Eyes of the great God. All things are open and bare, before the Eyes of him with whom we have to do, who will bring to Light the hidden things of Darkness, and will make manifest the Counsels of the Heart. Heb. 4. 13. 1 Cor. 4. 5.

Ye that say, the Lord shall not see, neither shall the God of Jacob regard it; Understand, O ye brutish among the People, and ye Fools, when will ye be wise? He that planted the Ear, shall not he hear? He that formed the Eye, shall not he see? He that chasteneth the Heathen, shall not he correct? He that teacheth Man Knowledge, shall not he know? Can any hide himself in secret Places, that I should not see him? that is, when he is committing Wickedness, saith the Lord, Do not I fill Heaven and Earth, saith the Lord?

Ps. 94. 7,

Now to know and see things, it is the cause among Men, of their Remembrance. Wherefore, God to shew us that he will remember all our Sins, if we die out of Christ, he tells us, that he knoweth, and seeth them all, and therefore must needs remember them; for as is his Sight and Knowledge, so is his Remembrance of all things.

When this Book of his Remembrance therefore is opened, as it shall be in the Judgment: Then shall be brought forth of their hidden holes, all things whatsoever hath been done since the World began, whether by Kingdoms in general, or Persons in particular. Now also shall be brought forth to open view, all the Transactions of God and his Son, among the Sons of Men, and every thing shall be applied to every particular Person, in Equity and Justice, to whom they belong: The Sins that thou hast committed shall be thy own, and thou thyself shalt bear them. The Lord is a God of Knowledge, and by him Actions are weighed.

It will be marvellous to behold, how by thousands, and ten thousands, God will call from their secret Places, those Sins that one would have thought had been dead and buried, and forgotten; yea, how he will shew before the Sun, such things, so base and so horrid, that one would think it was not in the Hearts of any to commit; for all is recorded in the Book of God's Remembrance. While Men are here, they have a thousand Tricks to present themselves one to another, far more fair and honest than they are, or ever were. As Christ said to the Pharisees, Ye are they who justify yourselves before Men, but God knoweth your Hearts. I, God knoweth indeed, what a Nest, what a Heap, what Swarms; yea, what Legions of hellish Wickednesses, there is with Power lurking, like Cockatrices, in those Men, that one would swear a thousand times, are good and honest Men. The Way of Men in their Sins, It is like an Eagle in the Air, a Serpent upon the Rock, a Ship in the midst of the Sea, and of a young Man with a Maid, saith Solomon. That is, hiddenly, closely, covertly, burying all under fair Pretences, wipeth their Mouths in the Close of their Evil, saying, I have done no Wickedness.

Luke 16.
15.

Prov. 30.
19, 20.

But this though it may serve for the Time present, and no longer, God will not be deluded, nor blinded, nor mocked, nor put off. They consider not that I remember all their Wickedness, saith he, but I will reprove thee, and will set them in order before thine Eyes. Here will be laid open the very Heart of Cain the Murderer, of Judas the Traytor, of Saul the Adversary of David, and of those that under Pretences of Holiness, have persecuted Christ, his Word and People. Now shall every Drunkard, Whoremaster, Thief, and other wicked Person be turned their inside outward; their Hearts right open, and every Sin, with every Circumstance of Place, Time, Person with whom, with the Causes also that drew them to the Commission of every Evil, be discovered to all. Here will be no hiding yourselves behind Curtains, nor no covering yourselves with the black and dark Night. If I say, Surely the Darkness shall cover me, even the Night shall be light about me; yea, (O God) Darkness hideth not from thee, but the Night shineth as the Day, the Darkness and Light are both alike unto thee.

The piercing Eye of God beholds all Places, Persons and Things; the holy Hand of his Justice writeth them down in the Book of his Remembrance; and by his Power and Wisdom, will he open and read to all Men exactly, distinctly, and convincingly, whatever hath passed from them, or been done by them in their whole Life; For, for all these things God will bring thee into Judgment. Again, as God will bring out of the Book of his Remembrance, whatever hath passed from thee, against him; so also will he then bring forth by the same Book, all Things and Carriages of his towards thee.

Here will he bring to thy Mind every Sermon thou hast heard, every Chapter thou hast read, every Conviction thou hast had on thy Conscience: and every Admonition that hath been given thee in all thy Life, when thou wast in the Land of the Living.

Now will God lay open before thee, what Patience he extended to thee, how he let thee live one Year, two Years, ten, yea twenty and twenty Years, and all to try thee. Yea, now also will he bring to thy View, how many Times he warned, rebuked, threatened, and chastised thee for thy Wickedness; how many awakening Providences and Judgments he continually laid before thy Face; yea, how many a time thou didst like Balaam run upon the Point of the Sword of Justice, and how he gave back, as being loth to kill thee.

Now also again shall be brought before thee and all Men, how many Strugglings God had with thy Heart, on thy Sick-bed, to do thee good; yea, and at such times, how many Vows, Promises, Engagements, and Resolutions thou madest before God, to turn, if he would release thee from thy Affliction, and take off his Rod from thy thy Light and Knowledge; how often thou hast laid violent Hands on thy own Conscience; how often thou hast laboured to put out that Light that hath stood in thy the Christless Soul be in at this Day? how will every one of these things afflict the damned Soul? they will pierce like Arrows, der. With what Shame will that Man stand must have all things he hath done against

For as for God to forget Iniquity, is one of the chief Heads of the Covenant of Grace, and is an Argument of the highest Nature, to beget, and to continue Consolation in the

by the Lord, it is one of the heaviest Loads and Judgments that can befall any poor ber not against us former Iniquities. And again, If thou Lord, shouldest mark Iniquity, O Lord, who shall stand? And the Reason is, because that which the Lord forgetteth, is forgiven forever; but that which he remembreth, it is charged forever, and nothing can take it away. Though thou wash

Jer. 2. 22.

The third Book that will at this day be opened, and out of which God will judge the World; it is the Book of the Law, or ten Words given forth on the Mount Sinai. But this Book will more specially concern those that have received it, or that have had Knowledge thereof. Every one shall not be judged by this Book, as there delivered, though they shall be judged by the Works of it, which are written in their Hearts. As many as have sinned Rom. 2. without Law, shall perish without Law; 14.
Rom. 2. 12.

and they that have sinned in the Law shall be judged by the Law. That is, the Heathens that never knew the Law, as delivered on Sinai, they shall be judged by the Law, as it was written in Man's Heart in his Creation, (which is comprized within the Book of the Creatures;) but those that have Knowledge of the Law as delivered on Sinai; they shall be judged by the Law as there given.

Now then this Book when it is opened at the Day of Judgment, it will to those to whom it especially relates, be a most terrible Law, far surpassing the two aforementioned. This Law, as I may so say, it is the chief and most pure Resemblance of the Justice and Holiness of the heavenly Majesty, and doth hold forth to all Men the Sharpness and Keeness of his Wrath above the other two that I have before mentioned. I say, both because it hath been delivered more plain and open, both as to the Duty enjoined, and the Sin prohibited; and therefore must of Necessity fall with the more Violence upon the Head of all that shall be found within the Compass of it. This Law, it hath in it to be opened at this day these two general Heads:
First, A Discovery of the Evil of Sin, that is so against plain Light and Truth.

And Secondly, A Discovery of the Vanity of all things that will at this day be brought by Sinners, for their Help and Plea at the Judgment. Alas, who can but imagine, that the poor World, at the day of their Arraignment, should muster up all that ever they can think of, as Arguments to shelter them from the Execution of that fierce Wrath, that then with sinking Souls they will see prepared for them?

As to the first of these, the Apostle tells us, that the Law was added, that the Offence might abound, or be discovered what it is. As he saith again, I had not known Sin but by the Law. Thus it is in this Life, and thus it will be in the Day of Judgment; that is, those that see Sin, and that in its abounding Nature, and in its exceeding Sinfulness, they must see it by the Law, for that is indeed the Glass by which God discovereth Sin, and the filthy Spots of Leprosy that are in the Soul. Now those that have not the Happiness to see their Sin by the Law in this Life, while there is a Fountain of Grace to wash in, and be clean; they must have the Misery to see it at the Judgment, when nothing is left but Misery and Pain, as the Punishment for the same. At which day those little Tittles of this holy Law, that now Men so easily look over, and sin against with Ease, they will every one of them appear with such Dread, and with such flaming Justice against every Offence committed; that if Heaven and Earth itself should step in to shelter the Sinner from the Justice and Wrath due to Sin, it would turn them up

Luke 16. by the Roots. It is easier for Heaven and
 17. Earth to pass away, than for one Tittle of the Law to fail. If there appeared such Flames, such Thunderings and Tempests, as there were at the giving of the Law:
 what Flames and Blackness will there appear at the Execution thereof? And if at the giving of the Law there appeared so much Holiness and Justice, that it made Exod. 19. all Israel fly: yea, holy Moses exceedingly
 16. fear and quake: what will become of these
 Heb. 11. that God shall judge by the Rigour of this
 21. Law in the Day of Judgment?

O what Thunderings and Lightnings, what Earthquakes and Tempests will there be in every damned Soul at the opening of this Book? Then indeed will God visit them with Thunder and Earthquake, and great Noise; with Storm and Tempest, and the Flame of a devouring Fire. For behold, Isa. 29. 6. saith the Prophet, the Lord will come with Isa. 66. 15. Fire, and with his Chariots, like a Whirl- wind, to render his Anger with Fury, and his Rebukes with Flames of Fire.

The Lord will come with Fire, that is, in the flaming heart of his Justice and Holiness against Sin and Sinners, to execute the rigour of his threatnings upon their perishing Souls.

Secondly, The second general Head, that is contained in this Law, to be opened at this Day, is its Exactness and Purity, and Strickness as to all acts of good that any poor Creature hath done in this Life, whereby he in the Judgment will think to shelter, or secure himself from the Wrath of God. This is the Rule, and Line, and Plummets, whereby every act of every Man, shall be measured; and he whose Righteousness is not found every way answerable to this Law, which all will fall short of, but they that have the Righteousness of God by Faith in Jesus Christ: He Rom. 3. 21, 22. must perish, as he saith, Judgment also will
 Isa. 28. 17. I lay to the Line, and Righteousness will I
 18. lay to the Plummets, and the Hail shall sweep away the refuge of Lies, and the Water shall overflow the hiding places. That is, though Men may now shelter themselves under legal Repentance, cold Profession, good Meaning, Thinkings, and Doings: Yet all these Things must be measured, and weighed in the Ballance of God's most Righteous Law: And as I said, whatever in that Day, is not found the Righteousness of God, it will be found a refuge of Lies, and will be drowned by the overflowing of the Wrath of God, as the Waters of Noah overflowed the World. And hence it is, that all the ungodly will at this Day, be found as stubble, and the Law as Mal. 4. 1. Fire. As it saith, From his right hand
 Deut. 33. 2. went a fiery Law. And again, His Lips
 Isa. 30. 27. are full of Indignation, and his Tongue as a devouring Fire. For as fire, where it seizeth, doth burn, eat, destroy, devour and consume; So will the Law, all those that at this Day, shall be found under the Transgression of the least Tittle of it. It will be with these Souls at the Day of Judgment, as it is with those Countreys that are over-run with most merciless Conquerors, who leave not any thing behind them, but swallow up all with Fire and Sword, For by Fire, and by his Sword, will the Lord plead with all Flesh, and the slain of the Lord shall be many. There are two Things at the Day of Judgment, will meet in their height and utmost strength, and they are Sin and the Law; for the Judgment will not be, till the iniquity of the World be full ripe.

Now then, when Sin is come to its full, having play'd all its pranks, and done all the mischief it can against the Lord of Glory: Then God brings forth the Law, his Holy and Righteous Law, one of which will now reign for ever, that is, either the Law or Sin: Wherefore Sin and Sinners, they must tremble with all that help, and hold them up; for God will magnify the Law, and make it honourable.
 That is will give it the Victory over the World for ever; for that is Holy, Just, and Good: They are unholy, unjust and bad.
 Therefore by this Law, will the Lord rain snakes, fire and brimstone, and a horrible tempest, this shall be the portion of their Cup.
 Let no Man say then, that because God is so famous in his Mercy and Patience, in this Day of his Grace, that therefore he will not be fierce and dreadful in his Justice, in the Day of Judgment; for Judgment and Justice, is the last Thing that God intends to bring upon the Stage, which will then be to the full as terrible, as now his Goodness and Patience, and long sufferance, is admirable. Lord, who knoweth the Power of thine anger? even according to thy fear, so is thy Wrath.

You may see, if you will, a few of the Sparks of the Justice of God against Sin and Sinners: By his casting off Angels for Sin, from Heaven to Hell; by his drowning the old World; by his burning of Sodom and Gomorrah to ashes; condemning them with an overthrow, making them an example to those that after should live ungodly.

For whatsoever the Law saith, it saith it to them that are under the Law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the World become guilty before God.

Moses seems to wonder, that the Children of Israel could continue to live, when they did but hear the Law delivered on the Mountain; Did ever People, saith he, hear the Lord speak out of the midst of the Fire, as thou hast done, and live? O that ye did but know the Law and the wonderous Things that are written therein, before the Lord cause that fearful Voice to be heard, Cursed is every one, that continueth not in every thing that is written in the Book of the Law to do them: Which Curse must

Col. 2. 10. in Christ, who hath alone fulfilled them
all.

The Law is that which standeth at the Entrance of the Paradise of God, as a flaming Sword turning every way to keep out those that are not Righteous with the Righteousness of God; that have not skill to come to the Throne of Grace by that new and living Way which he hath consecrated for us through the Veil; that is to say, his
Gen. 3. 24. Flesh: for though this Law, I say, be taken away by Christ Jesus, for all that truly and savingly believe; yet it remains in full Force and Power in every tittle of it, against every Soul of Man, that now shall be found in his Tabernacle; that is, in
Col. 2. 14. himself, and out of the Lord Jesus; it lieth, Rom. 3. 19. I say, like a Lion rampant at the Gates of Job 18. 14. Heaven, and will roar upon every unconverted Soul, fiercely accusing every one, that now would gladly enter in through the Gates into this City. So then, he that
Joh. 5. 45. can answer all its most perfect and legal commands, and that can live in the midst of devouring fire, and there enjoy God and solace himself; he shall dwell on high, and shall not be hurt by this Law: His place of defence shall be the Munitions of Rocks; bread shall be given him, and his waters shall be sure; thine Eyes shall behold the King in his beauty, they shall see the Land that is very far off. Blessed then is he whose Righteousness doth answer every point of the Law of God, according to 1 Cor. 1. 30. he shall be able to escape all those things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man; for in himself, our

Now when these three Books are thus opened, there will without doubt, be sad throbbing and pricking in every heart that now stands for his Life, before the Judgment Seat of Christ the Righteous Judge; and without all question, they will be studying a thousand ways to evade and shift the stroke, that by the Sin that these three Books do charge them with, will immediately fall upon them.

But now to cut off all these at a blow, forthwith appear the Witnesses, who are ready to evince, and make full and Soul-killing proof of every particular charged against them.

The Wit- And the first is, God himself; I, saith nesses give he, will be a swift Witness against the Sor- in their E- cerers, and against the Adulterers, and a- vidence. gainst false Swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling of his Wages; the Widow and the Fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and that feareth not me, saith the Lord. Mal. 3. 5.

This must needs be of great sway with every Soul, that God should now come in. I will Witness, saith God, that these things of which you are accused before the Judge, are true. I have seen all, know all, and write down all. There hath not been a thought in your Heart, nor a word in your Tongue, but I have known it altogether, All things have always been open, and naked to mine Eye. Yea, my Eye-lids try the Children of Men, I have known your down-sitting, and your up-rising, and have understood your thoughts afar off. I have compassed your path, and am well acquainted with all your ways.

1. You have not continued in that state of Nature in which I did at first create you: You have not liked to retain that knowledge and understanding of God that you had, and might have had, by the very Book of the Creatures. You gave way to the Suggestions of fallen Angels, and so your foolish Hearts were darkened and alienated, and estranged from God.

2. All the Creatures that were in the World, have even condemned you, they have been fruitful, but you fruitless; they have been fearful of danger, but you fool hardy; they have taken the fittest opportunity for their own Preservation, but thou hast both blindly, and confidently gone on to thy Punishment. Prov. 22. 3

3. Touching the Book of my Remembrance, who can contradict it? Do not I fill Heaven and Earth, saith the Lord? Was not I in all Places to behold, to see, and to observe thee in all thy Ways? My Eye saw the Thief and the Adulterer, and I heard every Lye and Oath of the Wicked. I saw the Hypocrisy of the Dissembler. They have committed Villany in Israel, and have committed Adultery with their Neighbours Wives, and have spoken lying Words in my Name, which I have not commanded them, even I know and am a Jer. 29. 23
Witness, saith the Lord.

4. God will also come in against them for their transgressing his Law, even the Law which he delivered on Mount Sinai; he will, I say, open every Tittle thereof in such Order and Truth, and apply the Breach of each particular Person with such convincing Arguments, that they will fall down silenced for ever. Every Mouth shall be stopped, and all the World shall become guilty before God.

Secondly, There is yet another Witness, for the condemning the Transgressors of these Laws, and that is Conscience: their Consciences also bearing Witness, saith the Apostle. Conscience is a thousand Witnesses. Conscience, it will cry Amen to every Word that the Great God doth speak against

Rom. 2. against thee. Conscience is a terrible Accuser, it will hold Pace with the Witnesses of God, as to the Truth of Evidence to a Hair's Breadth. The Witnesses of Conscience, it is of great Authority, it commands Guilt, and fastneth it on every Soul which it accuseth. And hence it is said, If our Hearts or Conscience accuse us. Conscience will thunder and lighten at this Day; even the Consciences of the most Pagan Sinners in the World, will have sufficiently wherewith to accuse, to condemn, and to make Paleness appear in their Faces, and breaking in their Loins, by reason of the Force of its Conviction. O the Mire and Dirt that a guilty Conscience, when it is forced to speak, will cast up and throw out before the Judgment Seat: It must out, none can speak Peace, nor Health to that Man upon whom God hath let loose his own Conscience. Cain will now cry, My Punishment is greater than I can bear; Judas will hang himself; and both Belshazzar and Felix will feel the Joins of their Loins to be loosened, and their Knees to smite one against another when Conscience stirreth. When Conscience is once thoroughly awakened, as it shall be before the Judgment Seat; God need say no more to the Sinner, than Solomon said to filthy Shimei, Thou knowest all the Wickedness that thy Heart is privy to. As who should say, thy Conscience knoweth, and can well inform thee of all the Evil and Sin that thou art guilty of. To all which it answereth, even as Face answereth to Face in a Glass; or as an Echo answereth the Man that speaketh; as fast I say as God chargeth, Conscience will cry out, guilty, guilty, Lord, guilty of all, of every whit; I remember clearly all the Crimes thou layest before me. Thus, I say, will Conscience be a Witness against the Soul in the day of God.

Thirdly, As God and Conscience will at this day be most dreadful Witnesses against the sinful Man: so also will those several Thoughts that have passed through Man's Heart, be a Witness also against him. As he said before, Their Conscience also bearing Witness, and their Thoughts the mean while accusing, or else excusing one another, in the Day when God shall judge the Secrets of Men by Jesus Christ, according to the Gospel.

The Thoughts come in as a Witness for God against the Sinner, upon the Account of that Unsteadiness and Variety that was in them, both touching God and their own selves. Sometimes the Man thinks there is no God, but that every thing hath its Rise of itself, or by Chance or Fortune: The Fool hath said in his Heart, there is no God.

Sometimes again they think there is a God; but yet they think and imagine of him falsely. Thou thoughtest that I was altogether such a one as thyself, saith God, but I will reprove thee.

Men think, that because they can sin with delight; that therefore God can let them escape without Punishment. Nay, oftentimes they think, that God doth either quite forget their Wickedness, or else that he will be pleas'd with such Satisfaction as they are pleas'd to give him, even a few howling Prayers, feigned and hypocritical Tears and Weepings, which pass from them, more for Fear of the Punishment of Hell-fire, than because they have offended so holy, so just, and so glorious a God, and so loving and so condescending a Jesus.

Sometimes again they have had right Thoughts of something of God, but not of him together: either thinking so of his Justice, as to drive them from him, and also cause them to put him out of their Mind: Or else so thinking of his Mercy, as that they quite forget his Holiness and Justice. Now both these are but base Thoughts of God; and so erroneous and sinful Thoughts.

Sometimes also they have pretty right Thoughts of God, both as to Justice and Mercy, but then through the Wretchedness of their unsatisfied Nature, they, against this Light and Knowledge, do with shut Eyes and hardened Hearts, rush fiercely, knowingly and willingly again into their Sins and Wickedness.

Secondly, As Men have these various Thoughts of God, so also their Thoughts are not steady about themselves.

1. Sometimes they think they are Sinners, and therefore they have Need of Mercy.

2. Sometimes again they think they are Righteous, and so have not so much need; mark, and yet both alike rotten and base; because as the last is altogether senseless; so the first is not at all savingly sensible.

3. Sometimes again they think they are Gods, that they shall never die, or that if they do die, yet they shall never rise again; or if they do rise again, yet they shall be saved, though they have lived vilely, and in their Sins all the days of their Life. Now I say every one of these Thoughts, with ten thousand more of the like Nature, will God bring in against the Rebels in the Judgment-day. Which Thoughts shall every one of them be brought forth in their distinct Order. He sheweth to Man what is his Thought. And again, I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no Thought can be hid from thee. We read, that when the Strangers at Jerusalem did but hear the Apostles speak to every one of them in their own Language, how it amazed and confounded them. But I say, how will they look and be amazed, when God shall evidently, clearly and fully speak out all their Hearts, and every Thought they have had before them?

Now the Reason and Strength of this Witness will lye here, that God will by the Variety Variety and Crossness that their Thoughts had one to another, and by the Contradiction that was in them prove them Sinners and Ungodly; because that I say, sometimes they thought there was a God, sometimes again they thought there was none. Sometimes they thought that he was such a God, and sometimes again they thought of him quite contrary: Sometimes they thought he was worth regarding, and sometimes they thought he was not: As also, sometimes they thought he would be faithful, both to Mercy, and Justice, and Sinners; and sometimes again they thought he would not.

What greater Argument now can there be, to prove Men, Vanity, Froth, a Lie, Sinners, deluded by the Devil, and such as had false Apprehensions of God, his Ways, his Word, his Justice, his Holiness, of themselves, their Sins, and every Action?

Now they will indeed appear a very Lump of Confusion, a Mass of Sin, a Bundle of Ignorance, of Atheism, of Unbelief, and of all things that should lay them obnoxious to the Judgments of God. This will God, I say, by mustering up the Thoughts of Man, and by shewing of them, that every Imagination and Thought of their Heart was only evil, and that continually (by shewing of them what staggering, drunken, wild and uncomely Thoughts they have had, both of him and of themselves) convince them, cast them, and condemn them for Sinners and Transgressors against the Book of Creatures, the Book of his Remembrance, and the Book of the Law. By the Variety of their Thoughts, they shall be proved unstable, ignorant, wandring Stars, Clouds carried with a Tempest, without Order or Guidance, and taken Captive of the Devil at his Will.

Now while the Wicked are thus standing upon their Trial and Lives before the Judgment Seat, and that in the View of Heaven and Hell; they, I say, hearing and seeing such dreadful things, both written and witnessed against every one of them; and that by such Books and such Witnesses as do not only talk, but testify, and that with the whole Strength of Truth against them; They will then begin, tho' poorly, and without any Advantage to plead for themselves, which Plea will be to this Effect:

The Sinner's Plea for himself at the Judgment Seat.

Lord, we did find in the Scriptures, that thou didst send a Saviour into the World, to deliver us from these Sins and Miseries. We heard this Saviour also published, and openly proffered to such poor Sinners as we are. Lord, Lord, we also made Profession of this Saviour, and were many of us Frequenters of his holy Ordinances. We have eat and drank in thy Presence, and thou hast taught in our streets. Lord, we have also some of us been Preachers ourselves, we have prophesied in thy Name, and in thy Name have we cast out Devils, and done many wondrous Works. Nay, Lord, we did herd among thy People, we forsook the profane and wicked World; and carried our shining Lamps before us in the Face of all Men: Lord, Lord, open to us. Mat. 7. 21, 22, 23. Luke 13. 24, to 28. Matt. 25. 1, 2, 10, 11.

All the while they are thus pleading, and speaking for themselves: behold, how earnestly they groan, how ghastly they look, and how now the brinish Tears flow down like Rivers from their Eyes, ever redoubling their Petition, Lord, Lord, Lord, Lord: First thinking of this thing, and then of that, ever contending, seeking, and striving to enter in at this strait Gate. As Christ saith, When once the Master of the House is risen up, that is, when Christ hath laid aside his Mediation for Sinners, and hath taken upon him only to judge and condemn: Then will the Wicked begin to stand without, and to knock and contend, for a Portion among them that are the blessed. Ah, how will their Hearts twitter, while they look upon the Kingdom of Glory! And how will they ake and throb at every View of Hell, their proper Place! Still crying, O that we might inherit Life, and O that we might escape eternal Death!

But now, to take away all Cavils and Objections that of this Nature will arise, in the Hearts of these Men; forthwith the Book of Life is brought out for a Conclusion, and a final End of eternal Judgment. As John saith, The Books were opened, and another Book was opened, which is the Book of Life, and the Dead were judged out of those Things that were written in the Books, according to their Works. The Book of Life opened. Rev. 20. 12.

But this Book of Life it is not at this time opened, because there are not any godly to be tried; for as I have shewed before, their Judgment is past and over, before the Wicked rise. The Book of Life then, it is now opened for further Conviction of damned Reprobates, that their Mouths may be stopped for ever, as touching all their Cavils, Contendings and Arguments against God's proceeding in Judgment with them. For believe it, while God is judging them, they will fall to judging him again, but he will be justified in his Sayings, and will overcome when he is judged at this day. Rom. 3. 1, to 7. Yet not by a hasty and angry casting them away, but by a legal and convincing proceeding against them, and overthrowing all their Cavils by his manifest and invincible Truth. Wherefore to cut off all that they can say, he will now open the Book of Life before them, and will shew them what is written therein, both as to Election, Conversion, and a truly Gospel Conversation. And will convince them, that they neither are of the Number of his Elect, neither were they ever regenerate, neither had they ever a truly Gospel Conversation in the World.

By these three things then, out of this Book, thou, who art not saved, must at last be judged, and overcome.

First, Here will be tried, whether thou art within that part of this Book, wherein all the Elect are Recorded; for all the Elect are written here, as Christ saith, Re-joyce that your Names are written in Heaven, And again, in thy Book, saith he to his Father, are all my Members written.

Isa. 14. 18,

Ezra 2. 62.

Dan. 12. 1.

Now then if thy Name be not found, either among the Prophets, Apostles, or the rest of Saints, thou must be put by, as one that is cast away, as one polluted, and as an abominable branch. Thy Name is wanting in the Genealogies and Rolls of Heaven. Thou art not prickt for everlasting Life, therefore thou must not be delivered from that Soul-amazing misery; for there are no Souls can, though they would give a Thousand Worlds, be delivered at the Day of God, but such that are found written in this Book. Every one of those that are written, though never a one of those that are not written shall in that Day be delivered from the wrath to come.

But, O methinks, with what careful hearts will the damned now begin to look for their Names in this Book? Those that when once the long suffering of God waited on them, made Light of all Admonition, and slighted the Counsel of making their Calling and Election sure: would now give thousands of Treasures, that they could but spy their Names, though last and least among the Sons of God: But I say, how will they fail? how will they faint? how will they die and languish in their Souls? when they shall still as they look, see their Names wanting? What a pinch will it be to Cain to see his Brother there Recorded, and he himself left out? Abalom will now swoon, and be as one that giveth up the Ghost, when he shall see David his Father, and Solomon his Brother, written here, while he withal is written in the Earth, among the damned? Thus I say, will Sadness be added to Sadness, in the Soul of the perishing World, when they fail of finding their Names in this part of the Book of the Life of the Lamb, slain from the Foundation of the World.

Rev. 13. 8.

Secondly, The second part of this Book, is that in which is Recorded, the Nature of Conversion, of Faith, Love, &c. And those that have not had the effectual Word of God upon them, and the true and saving Operation of Grace in their hearts, which is indeed the true Life which is begun in every Christian, they will be found still not written in this Book; for the living, the holy living Souls, are they only that are written therein: As the Prophet saith, And he that remaineth in Jerusalem, shall be called holy, even every one that is written among the living in Jerusalem. Eternal Life is already in this Life, begun in every Soul that shall be saved; as Christ saith, He that believeth in me, hath everlasting Life. And again, Whoso eateth my Flesh, and drinketh my Blood, hath eternal Life, and I will raise him up at the last Day. And hence they are called the Living, that are written in this Book. Here then the Lord will open before thee, what Conversion is, in the true and simple nature of it, which when thou beholdest, thou wilt then be convinced, that this thou hast mist of; for it must needs be, that when thou beholdest by the Records of Heaven, what a change, what a turn, what an alteration the Work of Regeneration maketh on every Soul, and in every Heart, where the effectual call, or the call according to his purpose, is, that thou who hast lived a Stranger to this or that, hast contented thyself with the Notion only, or a formal and feigned Profession thereof: I say, it cannot be, but that thou must forthwith fall down, and with grief conclude, that thou hast no share in this part of the Book of Life neither, the Living only are written herein. There is not one dead, carnal, wicked Man recorded here. No, but when the Lord shall at this Day make mention of Rahab, of Babylon, of Philistia, and Ethiopia: that is, of all the cursed rabble and crew of the damned: then he will say, that this Man was born there, that is, amongst them, so hath his Name where they have theirs; namely, under the black Rod, in the King's black Book, where he hath recorded all his Enemies, and Traytors. It shall be said of this Man, of this ungodly Man, that he was born there. That he lived and died in the State of Nature, and so under the Curse of God, even as others; for as he said of wicked Coniah, Write this Man Childless: So he saith of every ungodly Man that so departed out of this World, Write this Man Graceless.

Isa. 4. 3.

Psal. 87. 4.

Jer. 22. 30.

Wherefore, I say, among the Babylonians and Philistines, among the unbelieving Moors and Pagans, his Name will be found in the Day when it will be enquired where every Man was born; for God at this Day will divide the whole World into these two Ranks, the Children of the World, and the Children of Zion. Wherefore here is the Honour, the Privilege and Advantage, that the Godly above the Wicked will have at the Day of their counting, when the Lord maketh mention of Zion, it shall be then acknowledged, that this and that (good) Man was born in her; the Lord shall count, saith the Prophet, when he writeth up the People, that this Man was born there.

Psal. 87.
5, 6.

This Man had the Work of Conversion, of Faith, and Grace in his Soul. This Man is a Child of Zion, of the Heavenly Jerusalem, which is also written in Heaven. Blessed is the People that are in such a Case.

Gal. 4. 26.
Heb. 12.
22, 23.
Psal. 144.
15.

But

But poor Soul, Counters will not go for Gold now; for though so long as thou didst judge thy self by the crooked rule of thy own Reason, and Fancy, and Affection, thou wast pure in thine own Eyes: yet now thou must be judged alone, by the Words and Rule of the Lord Jesus. Which Words shall not now, as in Times past, be wrested and wrung, both this way and that, to smooth thee up in thy Hypocrites hope, and carnal confidence; but be thou King, or Kefer, be thou who thou wilt, the Word of Christ, and that with this Interpretation only, It shall judge thee in the last Day.

John 12.

Now will Sinners begin to cry with loud and bitter cries, Oh! ten thousand Worlds for a saving Work of Grace. Crowns and Kingdoms for the least measure of saving Faith, and for the Love, that Christ will say, is the Love of his own Spirit.

Now they will begin also to see the Work of a broken and a contrite Spirit, and of walking with God, as living stones, in this World. But alas, these things appear in their hearts, to the damned too late; as also all do things else. This will be but like the Repentance of the Thief, about whose neck is the halter, and he turning off the Ladder; for the unfortunate hap of the damned will be, that the Glory of heavenly Things will not appear to them, till out of season. Christ must now indeed be shewed to them; as also the true Nature of Faith, and all Grace; but it will be, when the Door is shut, and Mercy gone: they will pray, and repent most earnestly; but it will be in the time of Great Waters of the floods of eternal Wrath, when they cannot come nigh him.

15.
Mat. 25.
10, 11.
Ps. 32. 6.

Well then, tell me Sinner, if Christ should now come to judge the World, canst thou abide the Tryal of the Book of Life; Art thou confident that thy Profession, that thy Conversion, thy Faith and all other Graces thou thinkest thou hast, will prove Gold, Silver, and Precious Stones in this Day? behold, he comes as a Refiner's fire, and as Fullers Soap, shalt thou indeed abide the melting and washing of this Day? Examine I say before hand, and try thy self unfeignedly; for every one that doth truth, cometh to the Light, that their deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.

Dan. 5. 27.

Thou sayest thou art a Christian, that also thou hast repented, dost believe, and love the Lord Jesus; but the question is, whether these Things will be found of equal length, heighth, and breadth with the Book of Life. Or whether, when thou art weighed in the balance, thou wilt yet be found wanting. How if when thou comest to speak for thy self before God, thou shouldest say Sibolet, instead of Shibo- leth: that is, though almost, yet not rightly and naturally the language of the Christians. Judg. 12.

4, 5, 6.

If thou miss but one Letter in thy Evidence, thou art gone; for though thou mayest deceive thy own heart with Brass instead of Gold, and with Tin instead of Silver: yet God will not be so put off. You know how confident the Foolish Virgins were, and yet how they were deceived. They herded with the Saints, they went forth from the gross Pollutions of the World, they every one had shining Lamps, and all went forth to meet the Bridegroom, and yet they miss'd the Kingdom. They were not written among the living in Jerusalem; they had not the true, powerful, saving Work of Conversion, of Faith and Grace in their Souls; they that are foolish, take their Lamps, but take no Oil, no saving Grace with them. Thus you see how Sinners will be put to it before the Judgment Seat, from these two parts of this Book of Life. But

Gal. 6. 7.

Mat. 25. 1,
to 5.

Thirdly, There is yet another Part of this Book to be opened, and that is, that Part of it in which is Recorded those Noble and Christian Acts, that they have done since the time of their Conversion and turning to Christ. Here I say, is Recorded the Testimony of the Saints against Sin and Antichrist: their suffering for the sake of God, their Love to the Members of Christ, their Patience under the Cross, and their faithful frequenting the Assemblies of the Saints, and their encouraging one another to bear up in his ways in the worst of times; even when the proud was called happy, and when they that wrought Wickedness, were even set up. As he there saith; Then they that feared the Lord, spake often one to another, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a Book of Remembrance was written before him, for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his Name.

Mal. 3. 14,
15, 16.

For indeed, as truly as any Person hath his Name found in the first Part of this Book of Life, and his conversion in the second: So there is a third Part in which there is his noble, spiritual and holy Actions Recorded, and set down. As it is said by the Spirit, to John concerning those that suffered Martyrdom for the Truth of Jesus, Write, Blessed are the Dead that dye in the Lord, yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their Labours, and their Works follow them.

And hence it is, that the Labours of the Saints, and the Book of Life, are mentioned together, signifying, that the Travels and Labours, and Acts of the Godly, are recorded therein. Phil. 4. 3.

And hence it is again, that the Lord doth tell Sardis, that those among them that stood it out to the last Gasps, in the Faith and Love of the Gospel, should not be blotted out of the Book of Life; but they, with the

the Work of God on their Soul, and their Labour for God in this World: should be confessed before his Father, and before his Angels.

This Part of this Book, is in another Place called, The Book of the Word of the Lord, because in it, I say, is Recorded these famous Acts of the Saints, against the World, Flesh, and the Devil.

You find also, how exact the Holy Ghost is, in recording the Travels, Pains, Labour, and Goodness of any of the Children of Israel, in their Journey from Egypt to Canaan, which was a Representation of the Travels of the Saints, from Nature to Grace, and from Grace to Glory. King Abasuerus kept in his Library a Book of Records, wherein was writ the good Service that his Subjects did for him at any time, which was a Type also of the Manner and Order of Heaven. And as sure as ever Mordecai, when search was made in the Rolls, was found there to have done such and such service for the King and his Kingdom: So surely will it be found what every Saint hath done for God at the Day of Inquiry. You find in the Old Testament also, still as any of the Kings of Judah dyed, there was surely a Record in the Book of Chronicles, of their memorable Acts and Doings for their God, the Church, and the Common-Wealth of Israel, which still doth further hold forth unto the Children of Men, this very thing, That all the Kings of the New Testament, which are the Saints of God, have all their Acts, and what they have done for their God, &c. recorded in the Book of Chronicles, in the Heavenly Jerusalem.

Now I say, when this Part of the Book of Life shall be opened, what can be found in it, of the good Deeds, and Heaven-born Actions of wicked Men? Just nothing; for as it is not to be expected, That Thorns should bring forth Grapes, or that Thistles should bear Figs: So it cannot be imagined, that ungodly Men should have any thing to their Commendation, Recorded in this Part of the Book of Life. What hast thou done Man for God in this World? Art thou one of them that hast set thy self against those strong Struglings of Pride, Lust, Covetousness, and secret Wickedness, that remain in thy Heart, like Job and Paul.

2. And do these Struglings against these things, arise from pure Love to the Lord Jesus, or from some legal Terrors and Conviction for Sin.

3. Dost thou, I say, struggle against thy Lusts, because thou dost in truth love the sweet, holy, and blessed Leadings of the Spirit of the Lord Jesus; its leadings of thee I say, into his Blood and Death, for thy Justification, and Deliverance from Wrath to come?

4. What Acts of Self-denial hast thou done for the Name of the Lord Jesus, among the Sons of Men? I say, what House, what Friend, what Wife, what Children and the like, hast thou lost or left, for the Word of God, and the Testimony of his truth in the World?

5. Wast thou one of them that didst sigh and afflict thy self for the Abominations of the Times? and that Christ hath marked, and recorded for such a one?

6. In a Word, Art thou one of them that wouldest not be won, neither by Fear, Frowns, nor Flatteries, to forsake the Ways of God, or wrong thy Conscience? or art thou one of them that slightest those Opportunities, that Satan and this World did often give thee to return to Sin in secret. These be the Men whose Praise is in the Gospel; and whose commendable and worthy Acts are recorded before the Judge of all the World. Alas, alas, these things are strange things to a carnal and wicked Man. Nothing of this hath been done by him in this Life, and therefore how can any such be recorded for him in the Book of Life; wherefore he must needs be shut out of this part also. As David saith, Let them be blotted out of the Book of the Living, and not be written with the Righteous.

Thus I say, the Wicked will find nothing for their Comfort, either in the first Part of this Book, where all the Names of the Elect are, neither will they find any thing in the second Part thereof, where is recorded the true Nature and Operation of effectual Conversion of Faith or Love, or the like; and I say, neither can any thing be found in this third Part, wherein is recorded the worthy Acts, and memorable Deeds of the Saints of the Lord Jesus. Thus when Christ therefore hath opened before them this Book of Life, and convinced the Ungodly at this Day out of it; he will then shut it up again, saying, I find nothing herein that will do you good, you are none of my Elect, you are the Sons of Perdition: For as these things will be found clear and full in the Book of Life, so they will be found effectually wrought in the Hearts of the Elect, all whose Conversion and Perseverance shall now be opened before thy Eyes, as a Witness, I say, of the Truth of what thou here seest opened before thee, and also of thy unregenerate Estate? Now thou wilt see what a Turn, what a Change, and what a Clinging to God, to Christ, and his Word and Ways, there was found in the Souls of the saved ones; here shall be seen also how resolutely, unfeignedly, and heartily the true Child of God did oppose, resist and war against his most dearest and darling Lusts and Corruptions. Now the Saints are hidden ones, but then they shall be manifest, this is the Marrow in which the Lord will shew who are his, and who they are that fear the Lord, and who that fear him not. Now you shall see how Abraham left his Country, how close good Lot did stick to God in profane and wicked Sodom;

How

 29. how they endured burning, starving, stoning, hanging, and a thousand Calamities; how they manifested their Love to their Lord, his Cause and People in the worst of Times, and in the Days when they were most rejected, slighted, abused, and abased, then shall the King say to them on his right hand (and that when all the Devils and damned Sinners stand by) Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the Foundation of the World, (you are indeed the truly converted Souls, as appears by the Grace that was in your Hearts.) For
I was an hungred, and you gave me Meat:
I was thirsty, and you gave me Drink: I was a Stranger, and ye took me in; naked, me. You owned me, stood by me, and denied yourselves to nourish me and my poor Members, in our low and weak and most despised Condition. This, I say, the World shall see, hear, and be Witnesses of, against themselves and their Souls for ever; for how can it be, but these poor Damned Sinners should be forced to confess, that they were both Christless and Graceless, when they shall find, both in the Book of Life, and in the Hearts of the Holy and Beloved Souls, that which themselves are quite bar-ren of, and greatest Strangers to. The Saints, by the Fruits of Regeneration, even in this World, do testify to the World, not only the Truth of Conversion in themselves, 1 Tim. 6. but also that they are yet Christless, and so

 12. Heavenless, and Salvationless, that are not
 1 Thes. 2. converted. But alas, while we are here,
 10. they will evade this Testimony, both of 2 Tim. 2. 2 our Happiness, by calling our Faith, Phantasie; our Communion with God, Delusion; and the sincere Profession of his Word before the World, Hypocrisie, Pride, and Arrogancy: Yet, I say, when they see us on the Right Hand of Christ, commingled among the Angels of Light, and themselves on his Left Hand, and commingled with the Angels of Darkness; and I say, when they shall see our Hearts and Ways opened before their Eyes, and owned by the Judge for honest Hearts and good Ways, and yet the same Ways that they hated, slighted, disowned and contemned; what will they,
 or what can they say, but thus, We Fools counted their Lives Madness, and their End to be without Honour; but how are they numbered with the Saints, and owned by God and Christ?

And truly, was it not that the World might, by seeing the turn that is wrought on the Godly at their Conversion, be convinced of the evil of their Ways, or be left without excuse the more in the Day of God

Nº XXXII.

(with some other Reasons) they should not,
 I am perswaded, stay so long from Heaven as they do, nor undergo so much Abuse and Hardship as frequently befalls them. God, by the lengthening out the Life of his People that are scattered here and there among Men in this World, is making Work for the Day of Judgment, and the Overthrow of the implacable, for ever and ever, and, as I have said, will by the Conversion, Life, Patience, Self-denial, and Heavenly-mindedness of his dear Children, give them a heavy and most dreadful Blow. Now when God hath thus laid open the Work of Grace, both by the Book of Life, and the Christians Heart; then, of it self, will fall to the ground, their pleading what Gifts and Abilities they had in this World, they will now see that Gifts and Grace, are two things; and also, that whosoever is graceless, let their Gifts be never so excellent, they must perish and be lost for ever: Wherefore for all their Gifts, they shall be found the Work-

 23. condemned. That is a notable Place in the Prophecy of Ezekiel, Thus saith the Lord, saith he, If the Prince (the Prince of Life) give a Gift to any of his Sons, that is, to any that are truly gracious, the Inheritance, or the Profit that he gets thereby, shall be, his Sons; that is, for the Exercise of his Gift, he shall receive a Reward; but if he give a Gift of his Inheritance to one of his Servants, (that is not a Son) then it shall be

 1, 2, 3. last, himself be no more than a very bubble and nothing.

But now, I say, at this Day they shall clearly see the Difference between Gifts and Grace, even as clearly as now they that have Eyes can see the Difference between Gifts and Ignorance, and very Foolishness: This our Day doth indeed abound with Gifts;
 many sparkling Wits are seen in every Corner, Men have the Word and Truths of Christ at their Fingers ends; but alas, with many, yea, a great many, there is nought but Wits and Gifts, they are but Words, all their Religion lieth in their Tongues and Heads, the Power of what they say and know, it is seen in others, not in themselves:
 These are like the Lord on whom the King of Israel leaned, they shall see the Plenty, 2 Kings 7. 17, to 21. the blessed Plenty that God doth provide,
 and

and will bestow upon his Church, but they shall not taste thereof.

Before I conclude this Matter, observe, that among all the Objections and Cavils that are made, and will be made, by the Ungodly, in the Day of the Lord Jesus, they have not one Hump about Election and Reprobation: they murmur not at all that they were not predestinated to eternal Life; and the Reason is, because then they shall see, though now they are blind, that God could in his Prerogative Royal, without Prejudice to them that are damned, chuse and refuse at Pleasure; and besides, they at that Day shall be convinced, that there was so much Reality, and downright Willingness in God, in every Tender of Grace and Mercy, to the worst of Men; and also so much Goodness, Justness, and Reasonableness in every Command of the Gospel of Grace, which they were so often intreated and beseeched to embrace, that they will be drowned in the Conviction of this, that did refuse Love, Grace, Reason, &c. Love, I say, for Hatred, Grace for Sin, and things reasonable, for things Unreasonable and Vain. Now they shall see they left Glory for Shame, God for the Devil, Heaven for Hell, Light for Darknes. Now they shall see, that though they made themselves Beasts, yet God made them reasonable Creatures, and that he did with reason expect that they should have adhered to, and have delighted in, things that are good, and according to God: Yea, now they shall see, that though God did not determine to bring them to Heaven against their Hearts and Wills, and the Love that they had to their Sins: Yet then they shall be convinced, that God was far from infusing any thing into their Souls, that should in the least hinder, weaken, obstruct, or lett them in seeking the Welfare of their Souls. Now Men will tattle and prattle at a mad rate, about Election and Reprobation, and conclude, that because all are not Elected, therefore God is to blame that any are Damned: But then they will see, that they are not Damned because they were not Elected, but because they Sinned; and also that they Sinned, not because God put any Weakness into their Souls, but because they gave Way, and that wilfully, knowingly, and desperately, to Satan and his Suggestions; and so turned away from the holy Commandment delivered unto them; yea, then they will see, that though God at some times did fasten his Cords about your Heads, and Heels, and Hands, both by godly Education, and smarting Convictions: Yet you rusht away with violence from all, saying, Let us break these Bonds asunder, and cast their Cords from us. God will be justified in his sayings, and clear when he judgeth; though thy proud Ignorance thinks to have, and to multiply Cavils against him.

But secondly, as the whole Body of the Elect, by the Nature of Conversion in their Hearts, shall witness a Non-Conversion in the Hearts of the Wicked; and as the ungodly shall fall under the Conviction of this Cloud of Witnesses: So to increase their Conviction, there will also be opened before them all the Labours of the godly, both Ministers and others, and the Pains that they have taken, to save, if it had been possible, these Damned Wretches: and now will it come burning hot upon their Souls, how often they were fore-warned of this Day; now they shall see, that there was never any Quarter-Sessions, nor general Gaol-Delivery more publickly foretold of, than this Day. You know that the Judges, before they begin their Assizes, do give to the Countrey in Charge, that they take heed to the Laws and Statutes of the King: Why Rebel, thou shalt be at this Day convicted, that every Sermon thou hast heard, and that every serious Debate thou hast been at about the things of God, and Laws of Eternity, they were to thee as the Judges Charge before the Assizes and Judgment began. Every Exhortation of every Minister of God, it is as that which Paul gave to Timothy, and commanded him to give in Charge to others. I charge thee before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the Elect Angels, saith he, that thou observe these things; and again, I give thee charge in the Sight of God, who quickneth all things, and before Jesus Christ, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good Confession, that thou keep this Commandment without spot, unrebukeable until the appearing of Jesus Christ; these things give in charge, saith he, that they may be blameless. This, I say, hast thou heard and seen, and yet thou hast not held fast, but hast cast away the things that thou hast heard, and hast been warned of, alas, God will multiply his Witnesses against thee.

1. Thy own Vows and Promises shall be a Witness against thee, that thou hast, contrary to thy Light and Knowledge, destroyed thy Soul, as Josua said to the Children of Israel, when they said the Lord should be their God. Well, saith he, Ye are Witnesses against yourselves, that ye have chosen the Lord to serve him; that is, if now you turn back again, even this Covenant and Resolution of yours will in the great Day be a Witness against you; and they said, we are Witnesses.

2. Every time you have with your Mouth said well of Godliness, and yet gone on in Wickedness; or every time you have condemned Sin in others, and yet have not refrained it your selves; I say, every such Word and Conclusion that hath passed out of thy Mouth, Sinner, it shall be as a Witness against thee in the Day of God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, as Christ saith, By thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned. I observe, that talk with who you will, they they will with their Mouth, say, serving of God, and loving of Christ, and walking in Ways of Holiness is best, and best will come of it. I observe again, that Men that are grossly Wicked themselves, will yet, with heavy Censures and Judgments, condemn Drunkenness, Lying, Covetousness, Pride, and Whoring, with all manner of Abominations in others; and yet in the mean time, continue to be Neglecters of God, and Embracers of Sin, and the Allurements of the Flesh themselves. Why such Souls, every time they speak well of Godliness, and continue in their Sins, they do pass Judgment upon themselves, and provide a Witness, even their own Mouth, against their own Soul, at the Judgment-Seat: Out of thy own Mouth, saith Christ, will I judge thee, thou wicked Servant; thou knowest what I was, and that I loved to see all my Servants zealous and active for me, that at my coming, I might have received again what I gave thee with increase: Thou oughtest therefore to have been busying thy self in my Work, for my Glory, and thy own good, but seeing thou hast against thy own Light, and Mouth, gone contrary; Angels, take this unprofitable Servant, and cast ye him into utter Darkness, there shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth; he sinned against his Light, he shall go to Hell against his Will.

26, to 31.

The very same, I say, will befall all those that have used their Mouth to condemn the Sins of others, while they themselves live in their Sins. Saith God, O thou wicked Wretch, thou didst know that Sin was bad, thou didst condemn it in others; thou didst also condemn, and pass Judgment upon them for their Sin, Thou art therefore inexcusable. O Man, whosoever thou art, that hast thus Judged; for thou that judgest, dost the same thing: Wherefore, wherein thou hast judged another, thou hast condemned thyself. I must therefore, saith Christ, look upon thee to be no other but a Sinner against thy own Mouth, and cannot but judge thee as a Despiser of my Goodness, and the Riches of my Forbearance; by which means, thou hast treasured up Wrath against this Day of Wrath, and Revelation of the Righteous Judgment of God, He that knoweth to do good, and doth it not, to him it is Sin. Thus will God, I say, judge and condemn poor Sinners, even from and by themselves, to the Fire, that Lake of Brimstone and Fire.

Rom. 2, 1,
to 6.

Thirdly, God hath said in his Word, that rather than there shall want Witness at the Day of Judgment, against the workers of Iniquity; the very dust of their City, that shall cleave to his Messengers that publish the Gospel, shall it self be a Witness against them; and so Christ bid his Servants say; into whatsoever City, ye enter, and they receive you not, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say, even the very dust of your City which cleaveth to us, we do wipe off against you, &c. But I say unto you, saith he to his Ministers, It shall be more tolerable for Sodom at the Judgment, than for that City. Luke 10.

10, to 15.

It may be, that when thou hearest that the Dust of the Street, (that cleaveth to a Minister of the Gospel, while thou rejectest his Word of Salvation) shall be a Witness against thee at the Day of Judgment: Thou wilt be apt to laugh, and say, the Dust a Witness! Witnesses will be scarce were Dust is forced to come in to plead against a Man. Well Sinner, mock not, God doth use to confound the great and mighty, by things that are not, and that are despised. And how saist thou? If God had said by a Prophet to Pharaoh, but two years before the Plague, that he would shortly come against him with one Army of Lice, and a second Army of Frogs, and with a third Army of Locusts, &c. and would destroy his Land; dost thou think it had been Wisdom in Pharaoh now to have laughed such Tidings to scorn? Is anything too hard for the Lord? Hath he said it, and shall he not bring it to pass? You shall see, in the Day of Judgment, of what force all these Things will be, as Witnesses against the ungodly.

Many more Witnesses might I here reckon up, but these at this time shall suffice to be nominated; for out of the Mouth of two or three Witnesses, every word shall be established. And at the Mouth of two or three Witnesses, shall he that is worthy of Death be put to Death. 2 Cor. 13.
Deut. 17.
John 8. 17.

Thus then the Books being opened, the Laws read, the Witnesses heard, and the Ungodly convicted, forthwith the Lord and Judge proceeds to Execution. And to that end doth pass the Sentence of Eternal Death upon them, saying, Depart from me ye cursed, into Everlasting Fire, prepared for the Devil and his Angels. You are now by the Book of the Creatures, by the Book of God's Remembrance, by the Book of the Law, and by the Book of Life, adjudged guilty of High Treason against God, and me; and as Murderers of your own Souls. As these faithful and true Witnesses here have testified, every one of them appearing in their most upright Testimony against you. Also you never had a saving Work of Conversion and Faith past upon you, you died in your Sins; neither can I find any Thing in the last Part of this Book that will serve your turn, no worthy act is here recorded of you. When I was an hungred, you gave me no Meat; when I was athirsty, you gave me no Drink; when I was a Stranger, you took me not in; I was naked, but ye clothed me not; I was sick and in prison, but ye visited me not. Matth. 25.

I have made a thorough search among the Records of the Living, and find nothing thing of you, or of your Deeds therein:

Depart from me, ye cursed, &c.

Thus will these poor ungodly Creatures be stript of all hope and comfort, and therefore must need fall into great Sadness and wailing, before the Judge; yea, crying out, as being loth to let go all for lost; and even as the Man that is fallen into the River, will catch hold of any thing, when he is struggling for Life, though it tend to hold him faster under the Water, to drown him. So, I say, while these poor Creatures, as they lye struggling and twining under the ireful countenance of the Judge; they will bring out yet one more faint and weak groan, and there goes Life and all; their last sigh is this, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and gave thee no Meat? Or when saw we thee thirsty, and gave thee no drink? When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee not in? Or naked, and clothed thee not? Or when wast thou sick, or in prison, and we did not minister unto thee?

Thou you see, how loth the Sinner is now to take a Nay of Life Everlasting. He that once would not be perswaded to close with the Lord Jesus, though one should have perswaded him with Tears of Blood: Behold how fast he now hangs about the Lord; what Arguments he frames with mournful groans; how with shifts and words, he seeks to gain the Time, and to defer the Execution. Lord open unto us!

Mat. 25.

willingly do they turn away from Christ? how loth are they to partake of the fruit of their ungodly doings? Christ must say, depart once, and depart twice, before they will depart. When he hath shut the door upon them, yet they knock, and cry, Lord open unto us; when he hath given them their answer, that he knows them not, yet they plead and mourn. Wherefore, he is fain to answer again, I tell you, I know you not whence you are, depart.

Luke 13.
25, 26, 27.

Depart! O this word, Depart! How dreadful is it? with what weight will it fall on the Head of every condemned Sinner! For you must note, that while the ungodly stand thus before the Judge: They cannot chuse but have a most famous view both of the Kingdom of Heaven, and of the Damned Wights in Hell. Now they see the God of Glory, the King of Glory, the Saints of Glory, and the Angels of Glory; and the Kingdom in which they have their Eternal abode. Now, they also begin to see the worth of Christ, and what it is to be smiled upon by him; from all which they must depart; and as I say, they shall have the view of this, so they will most famously behold the Pit, the bottomless Pit, the Fire, the Brimstone, and the flaming Beds that Justice hath prepared for them of old. Their Associates also will be very conspicuous and clear before their watry Eyes. They will see now, what and which are Devils, and who are damned Souls; now their great Grandfather Cain, and all his brood, with Judas and his Companions, must be their Fellow-sighers in the Flames and Pangs for ever. O heavy Day! O heavy Word!

Jude 4.

This word [depart] therefore, it looketh two ways, and commands the damned to do so too. Depart from Heaven, depart to Hell: Depart from Life, Depart to Death: Depart from me] now the Ladder doth turn from under them indeed. The Saviour turns them off, the Saviour throws them down. He hath given him authority to execute Judgment also, because he is the Son of Man. Depart from me. I would come to have done you good; but then you would not: Now then, though you would have it never so willingly, yet you shall not.

Joh. 5.27.

Depart from me, ye cursed] You lye open to the stroke of Justice for your Sins; ye forsaken, and left of God, ye Vessels of wrath, ye Despisers of God and Goodness. You must now have Vengeance feed on you; for you did, when you were in the World, feed on Sin, and treasure up wrath against this Day of wrath, and Revelation of the Righteous Judgment of God.

Rom. 2.3,
to 7.

Depart ye cursed into everlasting Fire.] Fire is that which of all things is the most insufferable and insupportable. Wherefore by Fire is shewed the grievous State of the ungodly after Judgment. Who can eat Fire, drink Fire, and lye down in the midst of Flames of Fire? Yet this must the wicked do. Again, not only Fire, but everlasting Fire. Behold how great a Fire a little matter kindleth. A little Sin, a little Pleasure, a little unjust Dealing and Doing: What Preparation is made for the Punishment thereof? And hence it is, that the Fire into which the Damned fall, is called the Lake or Sea of Fire. And whosoever, saith John, was not found written in the Book of Life, was cast into the Lake of Fire and Brimstone. Little did the Sinner seriously think, that when he was sinning against God, he was making such Provision for his poor Soul; but now 'tis too late to repent, his Worm must never die, and his Fire never shall be quenched. Though the Time in which Men commit Sin is short, yet the Time of God's punishing of them for their Sin is long.

Rev. 20.

Mar. 9.49.

Depart from me ye cursed into everlasting Fire, prepared for the Devil and his Angels.] In that he saith, prepared for the Devil and his Angels, he insinuates a further Conviction

tion

tion upon the Consciences of the Damned. As if he had said, as for this Fire and Lake that you must go to, though you thought but little of it, because you were careless, yet I did betimes put you in Mind of what would be the Fruits of Sin, even by preparing of this Judgment for the Devil and his Angels. The Devil in his Creation is far more noble than you; yet when he sinned I spared him not. He sinned also before Man, and I, upon his sinning, did cast him down from Heaven to Hell, and did hang the Chains of everlasting Darkness upon him, which might, yea, ought to have been a fair Item to you to take heed, but you would not. Wherefore, seeing you have sinned as he hath done; and that too after he had both sinned, and was bound over to eternal Punishment: The same Justice that layeth hold on these more noble Creatures must surely seize on you. The World should be convinced of Judgment then, because the Prince of the World is judged.

Joh. 6. 8, 9, 10.

And that before they came to this Condition of hearing the eternal Sentence rattle in their Ears; but seeing they did not regard it then, they must and shall feel the Smart of it now. Depart from me ye cursed into everlasting Fire, prepared for the Devil and his Angels.

God would have Men learn both what Mercy and Justice is to them, by his shewing it to others; but if they be sottish and careless in the Day of Forbearance, they must learn by smarting in the Day of Rebukes and Vengeance. Thus it was with the old World, God gave them one hundred and twenty Years Warning, by the Preparation of Noah for the Flood that should come; but for as much as they then were careless, and would not consider the Works of the Lord, nor his threatening them by this Preparation: therefore he brought in the Flood upon the World of the ungodly.

Mat. 24.
37, 38, 39.

As he doth here the last Judgment upon the Workers of Iniquity, and sweep them all away in their wilful Ignorance.

Wherefore I say, the Lord Chief Judge, by these Words [prepared for the Devil and his Angels] doth as good as say, this Fire into which now I send you, it did of itself, even in the Preparation of it (had you considered it) forewarn you of this that now is come upon you. Hell-fire is no new, or unheard of thing; you cannot now plead, that you heard not of it in the World, neither could you with any reason judge, that seeing I prepared it for Angels, for noble, powerful and mighty Angels; that you poor Dust and Ashes should escape the Vengeance.

Depart from me ye cursed into everlasting Fire, prepared for the Devil and his Angels. The Sentence being thus passed, it remains now, the Work being done, that every one goeth to his Eternal Station. Wherefore, forthwith this mighty Company, do now with heavy Heart return again from before the Judgment-Seat: And that full hastily, God knoweth, for their proper Center is the Hell of Hell; into which they descend like a Stone into a Well, or like Pharaoh Exod. 15. into the Bottom of the Red Sea. For all ^{10.}

Hope being now taken from them, they must needs fall with Violence into the Jaws of eternal Desperation, which will deal far worse with the Souls of Men, and make a greater Slaughter in their tortured Consciences, than the Lions in the Den with Daniel could possibly do with the Men that were cast in among them. Dan. 6. 24.

This is that which Paul calleth Eternal Judgment, because it is that which is last and final. Many are the Judgments that God doth execute among the Sons of Men, some after this manner, and some after that, divers of which continue but for a while, and none of them are Eternal, no, the very Devils and damned Spirits in Hell, though there is the longest and most terrible of all the Judgments of God yet on foot: Yet I say, they must pass under another Judgment, even this last, great and final Judgment. Heb. 6. 2.

The Angels that kept not Jude 6. their first State, but left their own Habitation, he hath reserved in Everlasting Chains under Darkness, unto the Judgment of the great day. And so also it is with damned Souls; for both Sodom and Gomorrab, with all other, though already in Hell in their Souls: Yet they must (as I have before shewed) all arise to this Judgment, which will be their final Judgment. Other of the Judgments of God, as they have an end, so the End of many of them prove the profit on those on whom they are inflicted, being I say, God's Instruments of Conversion to Sinners; and so may fitly be compared to those petty Judgments among Men, as putting in the Stocks, Whipping, or Burning in the Hand: Which Punishments and Judgments, do often prove profitable to those that are punished with them; but Eternal Judgment it is like those more severe Judgments among Men, as Beheading, Shooting to Death, Hanging, Drawing and Quartering, which sweep all, even Health, Time, and the like, and cut off all opportunity of good, leaving no place for Mercy or Amendment: These shall go away into everlasting punishment, &c. Mat. 25. 40. This word, depart, &c. is the last word the damned for ever are like to hear. I say, it is the last voice, and therefore will stick longest, and with most Power on their slaughtered Souls: There is no calling of it back again, it is the very wind-up of Eternal Judgment.

Thus then, the Judgment being over, the Kingdom ceaseth to be any longer in the Hand of the Man Christ Jesus: For as the Judges here among Men, when they have gone their Circuit, do deliver up their Commission to the King; So Christ the Judge, doth now deliver up his Kingdom to his Father. And now all is swallowed up of Eternity. The damned are swallowed up of Eternal Justice and Wrath; the Saved, of Eternal Life and Felicity; and the Son also delivereth up, I say, the Kingdom to the Father, and subjects himself under him that did put all things under him, that God may be all in all.

1 Cor. 15.
24, to 29.

For now is the End come, and not before, even the End of the Reign of Death it self; for Death, and Hell, and Sinners, and Devils, must now together into the Lake, that burns with Fire and Brimstone. And now is the End of Christ's Reign, as the Son of Man, and the End of the Reign of the Saints with him, in this his Kingdom, which he hath received of his Father, for his Work sake, which he did for him, and for his Elect. Then cometh the end, saith Paul, when he shall have delivered up the Kingdom to God the Father: But when shall that be? why, he answers saying, When he shall have put down all Rule, and all Authority and Power; for he must Reign, saith he, until he hath put all his Enemies under his feet, (which will not be, until the final Sentence and Judgment be over;) for the last Enemy that shall be destroyed, is Death. For God hath put all things under his Feet, but when he saith all things are put under him: It is manifested, he is excepted, that did put all things under him. And when all things shall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject to him, that did put all things under him, that God may be all in all.

All things being now at this pass, to wit, every one being in its proper Place, God in his, Christ in his, the Saint in his, and the Sinner in his; I shall conclude with this brief touch upon both the State of the Good and Bad after this Eternal Judgment.

1. The Righteous now shall never fear Death, the Devil, and Hell more: And the Wicked shall never hope of Life.

2. The Just shall ever have the Victory over these things: but the wicked shall everlastingly be swallowed up of them.

3. The Holy shall be in everlasting Light: But the Sinner in everlasting Darkness. Without Light, I say, yet in Fire ever burning, yet not consumed, always afraid of Death and Hell, vehemently desiring to be annihilated to nothing. Continually fearing to stay long in Hell, and yet certainly sure they shall never come out of it. Ever desiring the Saints Happiness; and yet always envying their Felicity. They would have it because it is easy and comfortable; yet cannot abide to think of it, because they have lost it for ever. Ever laden with the Delight of Sin: And yet that is the greatest Torture, always desiring to put it out of their Mind, and yet assuredly know they must for ever abide the Guilt and Torment thereof.

4. The Saints are always inflamed with the Consideration of the Grace that once they imbraced: But the Wicked most flamingly tormented with the Thoughts of rejecting and refusing it.

5. The Just, when they think of their Sins, they are comforted with the Thoughts of their being delivered from them; but the Ungodly, when they think of their Righteousness, will gnaw themselves, to think that this would not deliver them from Hell.

6. When the Godly think of Hell, it will increase their Comfort; but when the Wicked think of Heaven, it will twinge them like a Serpent. Oh this Eternal Judgment! what would a damned Soul give, that there might be, though after Thousands and Hundreds of thousands of Millions of Years, an end put to this Eternal Judgment. But their Misery is, they have sinned against a God that is Eternal; they have offended that Justice that will never be satisfied; and therefore they must abide the Fire that never shall be quenched. Here is Judgment, just, and sad.

Again, As it will be thus with Good and Bad in general, so again, more particularly, when the Wicked are thus adjudged and condemned, and also received of the fiery Gulph; then they shall find, That as he that busieth himself to do good, shall have more Glory than others; so they that have been more busie and active in Sin than others, they shall have more Wrath and Torment than others. For as doing good abundantly, doth enlarge the Heart to receive and hold more Glory; so doing evil abundantly, doth enlarge the Heart and Soul to receive Punishment so much the more. And hence it is that you have such Sayings as these, It shall be more tolerable in the Judgment for Sodom, than for others; that is, than for those that had sinned against much greater Light and Mercy: For these, as he saith in another Place, shall receive greater Damnation. Yea, it standeth to reason, that he who had most Light, most Conviction, most Means of Conversion, and that was highest towards Heaven, he must needs have the greatest Fall, and so sink deepest into the Jaws of Eternal Misery. As one Star, that is, as one Saint, differeth from another in Heaven; so one Damned Soul shall differ from another in Hell. It is so among the Devils themselves, they are some worse than others: Beelzebub is the Prince or the Chief of the Devils; That is, one that was most glorious in Heaven; Chief among the Reprobate Angels before his Fall, and therefore sinned against the greater Light, Mercy and Goodness: And so became the Chief for Wickedness, and will also have as the Wages thereof, the Chief of Torments. For that will be true of the Damned in Hell, which is prayed for against Babylon. How much she hath glorified her self and lived deliciously; so much Torment and Sorrow give her. Can it be imagined, imagined, that Judas should have no more Torment, who betrayed the Prince of Life and Saviour of the World, than others who never came near his Wickedness by ten Thousand Degrees? He that knew his Master's Will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his Will, shall be beaten with many stripes. With many more stripes, than others that through Ignorance did commit Sin worthy of many stripes. But what should I thus discourse of the Degrees of the Torments of the Damned Souls in Hell?

For he that suffers least, will the Waters of a full Cup be wrung out to him. The least measure of Wrath, it will be the Wrath of God, Eternal and Fiery Wrath, insupportable Wrath, it will lay the Soul in the Gulph of that Second Death, which will for ever have the Mastery over the poor Damned perishing Sinner. And Death and Hell were cast into the Lake of Fire; which is the Second Death. And whosoever was not found in the Book of Life, was cast into the Lake of Fire. Rev. 20. 14, 15.

A Caution to stir up to watch against SIN.

*The first Eight Lines one did commend to me,
The rest I thought good to commend to thee:
Reader, in reading be thou rul'd by me,
With Rhimes nor Lines, but Truths, affected be.*

I.

SIN will at first, just like a Beggar crave
One Penny or one Half-Penny to have:
But if you grant its first Suit, 'twill aspire,
From Pence to Pounds, and still will mount up higher
To the whole Soul: but if it makes its moan,
Then say here is not for you, get you gone.
*For if you give it entrance at the Door,
It will come in, and may go out no more.*

II.

SIN, rather than 'twill out of Action be,
Will pray to stay, though a short space with
thee,
One Night, one Hour, one Moment, will it cry,
Embrace me in thy Bosom or I die:
Time to repent [saith it] I will allow,
And help, if to repent thou know'st not how.
*But if you give it entrance at the Door,
It will come in, and may go out no more.*

III.

If Begging doth not do, SIN promise will Rewards to those that shall its Lusts fulfill:
Some pence in hand, yea Pounds 'twill offer
thee,
If at its Motion and its Beck thou'l't be.
'Twill Heaven seem to out-bid, and all to gain
Thy Love, and win thee it to entertain.
But give it not admittance at thy Door, Left it comes in, and so goes out no more.

IV.

If promising and begging will not do,
'Twill by its Wiles attempt to flatter you.

I'm Harmless, mean no Ill, be not so shy,
Will ev'ry Soul-destroying motion cry.
Its sting 'twill hide, 'twill change its native
Hue,
Vile 'twill not, but a Beauty seem to you.
*But if you give it entrance at the Door,
Its sting will in, and may come out no more.*

V.

Rather than fail, SIN will it self divide,
Bid thee do this and lay the rest aside.
Take little ones ('twill say) throw great ones
by,
(As if for little Sins Men should not die.)
Yea SIN with itself a Quarrel will maintain
On purpose that by it thou might'st be slain.
*Beware the cheat then, keep it out of Door,
It would come in, and would go out no more.*

VI.

SIN, if you will believe it, will accuse,
What is not hurtful, and it self excuse:
'Twill make a Vice of Vertue, and 'twill say Good is destructive, doth Mens Souls betray,
'Twill make a Law, where God has made Man free,
And break those Laws by which Men bounded be.
Look to thy self then, keep it out of Door, Thee 'twould intangle, and enlarge thy score.

VII.

SIN, is that beastly thing that will defile Soul, Body, Name, and Fame in little while;
'Twill make him, who some time God's Image was Look like the Devil, love and plead his Cause;
Like to the Plague, Poyson, or Leprosie,
Defile 'twill, and infect contagiously.
*Wherefore beware, against it shut the Door;
If not, it will defile thee more and more.*

[Will,

Holds them, as Sampson's grinding at the mill,

'Twill blind them, make them deaf; yea

[twill them gag,

And ride them as the Devil rides his Hagg.

Wherefore look to it, keep it out of Door,

Wherefore beware and keep it out of Door,

*Lest it should on thee as a Lyon Roar.*

But on thee as a Judge such Sentence pass,
As will to thy sweetmeats prove bitter sauce.

Wherefore beware against it, shut thy Door,

SIN is the living Worm, the lasting Fire, Hell would soon lose its heat, could SIN ex[pire

Better sinless, in Hell, than to be where Heav'n is, and to be found a Sinner there.

One sinless with Internals might do well,

But SIN would make a very Heav'n a Hell.

Look to thyself then, to keep it out of Door,

Lest it gets in, and never leaves thee more.

XIV.

[World,

No Match has SIN but God in all the Men, Angels it has from their stations hurl'd:

Holds them in Chains, as Captives in despite,

Of all that here below is called Might.

Release, help, freedom from it none can give,

But even he by whom we breath and live.

Watch therefore, keep this Giant out of Door,

Lest if once in, thou get him out no more.

XV.

[lieve,

Fools make a Mock at SIN, will not be-

It carries such a Dagger in its Sleeve;

How can it be (say they) that such a thing,

So full of sweetness, should e'er wear a sting?

They know not that it is the very SPELL

Of SIN, to make Men laugh themselves to [Hell.

Look to thyself then, deal with SIN no more,

Lest he that saves, against thee shuts the door.

XVI.

Now let the God that is above,

That hath for Sinners so much Love:

These Lines so help thee to improve,

That he to him thy Heart may move.

Keep thee from outward Enemies,

Help the Infernal to despise,

Deliver thee from them Infernal,

And bring thee safe to Life eternal. Amen.
